

Beer to Minors

Singer Cass Daley Convicted by Jury

By STEVEN GIBSON
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Seven men and five women deliberated 45 minutes this morning in Newport Beach Municipal Court then convicted singer Cass Daley of furnishing beer to her son, Dale, and contributing to his delinquency.

Outside the courtroom a few minutes later Miss Daley burst into tears and was helped from the courthouse by friends.

Her attorney, Donald Wagner, said he would appeal.

Meanwhile, Judge William Christensen suggested she apply for probation and return May 17 for a probation hearing and sentencing.

OUT ON BAIL

She was freed on $276 bail. Maximum sentence for contributing to the delinquency of a minor is $1,000 fine and/or one year in jail; for furnishing beer to a minor, $500 fine and/or six months in jail.

Furnishing alcohol to a minor is a misdemeanor violation of the state Business and Professional Code. Contributing to the delinquency of a minor is a misdemeanor violation of the state Penal Code.

"One thing I want to tell you," the judge told Miss Daley. "The best thing you have going for you now, or any time for that matter, is the truth."

"So when you go there (to the probation department for an interview), don't play games. Tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth. Do you understand me?"

"Yes," she replied in a breaking, scarcely audible voice.

BEER PARTY

The two-count complaint was filed against the entertainer after a beer party at a Newport Beach motel March 26 at which her son and 16 other juveniles were taken into custody. Police accused her of furnishing her son a keg of beer for the party.

It had previously been reported that Newport Beach police said the singer signed a receipt for a keg of beer confiscated at the party. Officer Richard Hamilton said her son had told him that he thought his mother signed the receipt. Later, it was learned the receipt was unsigned.

Miss Daley, in private life Mrs. Katherine U. Kinsella of 2411 Bayshore Drive, Newport Beach, took the witness (See GUILTY, Page 2)

BEFORE VERDICT — Singer Cass Daley and son, Dale, 16, wore smiles as trial adjourned Tuesday, but today was a different story as the noted singer was convicted of furnishing beer and contributing to the delinquency of her son.

Trustees Will Pay $1,095,000 for Site

Trustees of the Newport Harbor Union High School District Tuesday agreed to pay the Irvine Company $1,095,000 for a 39.6-acre piece of property overlooking Upper Newport Bay.

The property at Jamboree and Palisades roads has been designated as the site of the district's fifth high school, which district officials said will be needed prior to September 1967.

The price tag on the property, reached in an out-of-court settlement, amounts to $27,591.59 an acre, some $10,000 an acre less than the Irvine Company had sought, but about $2,600 an acre more than the school district originally claimed was the maximum worth of land.

FAIR

However, both parties agreed Tuesday that the fair market value of the land is $1.5 million. The $405,000 difference between this value and the price to be paid by the school district is considered a discount.

Under the purchase agreement, the Irvine Company can get the discount back if the district disposes of the property within the next 10 years. This portion of the agreement does not apply, however, if any other political body, such as the state Division of Highways, condemns any or all of the property. The site is adjacent to the future route of the Corona del Mar Freeway.

School officials said they were pleased with the arrangement, pointing out that the discount clause is designed merely as a guarantee of the district's intentions to build a school on the property.

A similar arrangement covered the purchase of the Corona del Mar High School site, school officials said.

UNANIMOUS

Approval of the agreement was by a unanimous 4-0 vote by the high school board. Trustee John Nettel was not present.

Simultaneously, the board voted to drop its condemnation suit involving the property. Attorneys fees already incurred by the district amount to about $10,000.

Funds for the purchase will come from a $1,620,000 bond measure approved by high school district voters in February.

Schools Week

Harbor Area schools are marking the 46th annual observance of Public Schools Week with traditional open house activities during evening hours this week.

Everyone is invited. Here's tonight's schedule: Newport Beach elementary district — open house starts at 7 p.m. at both Horace Ensign School and Abraham Lincoln School. Activities at Lincoln include a new twist — Creative Arts Day — as well as the usual Science Fair.

Marines Told to 'Kill'

Major Forces On Offensive

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. Marines struck out from Da Nang Air Base today in their biggest operation of the Vietnam war while Corps Commandant Gen. Wallace M. Greene arrived here for first-hand look at the situation.

Size of the Marine search and clear force was not announced but it involved several companies. Gen. Greene said his men will fan out as far as necessary to defend the Da Nang air and missile base from attack.

"The one job I want them to do is to find Viet Cong and kill them," Greene told newsmen at a briefing at the end of an official inspection tour. "We got one today and we're going to get more."

There are almost 10,000 Marines in the Da Nang area 350 miles northeast of Saigon and there were reports a new battalion was ready to land shortly.

A U.S. military spokesman said other planes of the U.S. Air Force, Navy and the South Vietnamese air force carried out a series of strikes against ferry facilities, military barracks and naval patrol vessels in the north.

U.S. planes pounded the Bai Duc Thon Bridge for the fifth time with rockets and 21 tons of bombs but again failed to drop any of the three spans of the 160-foot stressed steel bridge.

The leaflet drop was the fourth made since the United States launched its air war against the north.

A total of 250,000 leaflets was dropped over each of the towns of Muong Sen, Cua Rao, Khe Bo and Con Cuong. All are located along Highway 7 which runs towards the Laotian border and is a key supply route for Communists infiltrating into the south.

The leaflets explained the planes were hitting military and communication targets used to support the Viet Cong, warned civilians to stay away from prospective targets and said no harm was intended to civilians.

An Air Force spokesman said F105 Thunderchiefs found no targets while making an armed reconnaissance run and unleashed their 2.75 inch rockets and 750-pound bombs on the Bai Duc Thon Bridge. He said the damage was "moderate" and that the bridge apparently is beyond use but not down.

Priest Sees Krueger in Texas Jail

CORPUS CHRISTI — A Catholic priest visited triple murder suspect Paul Eric Krueger in the Nueces County Jail here Tuesday afternoon. The priest, Father Goff, told reporters he had not been called to the jail but understood the youth was Catholic. "He is in my parish now," the priest said.

Father Goff visited with Krueger, 17, of San Clemente, for over half an hour.

The youth's Corpus Christi attorney, Luther Jones, today said he would not allow Krueger to be taken to the tiny island in the Laguna Madre where the slaying occurred. Over a week ago Nueces County Sheriff John Mitchell took the second suspect in the case, 16-year-old John Phillip Angles, to the island where the youth allegedly re-enacted the slaying of three Corpus Christi fishermen.

Jones said Krueger can stand on his constitutional rights and cannot be forced to go to the island.

New Freeway Plea Rejected by State

Anti-route Measures Introduced

SACRAMENTO — Two Orange Coast legislators today stepped squarely into the Pacific Coast Freeway debate after introducing bills here opposing the adopted route through Newport Beach.

Assemblyman Robert E. Badham (R-Newport Beach) authored the most drastic of the anti-route measures. His Assembly Bill 2913 would remove Pacific Coast Highway from state control and make it a city-county road.

Badham's bill would have the state surrender to local control a stretch of Coast Highway from Highway 39 in Huntington Beach southeast through Newport to MacArthur Boulevard in Corona del Mar.

The 71st District lawmaker told the DAILY PILOT he has no alternative routing to suggest.

KILL PLANS

Badham believes local control of the state highway would kill plans to utilize part of the right-of-way for the future freeway.

The Corona del Mar sector of the adopted freeway route isn't affected by Badham's measure. This portion of the adopted line flanks Fifth Avenue from MacArthur Boulevard southerly to Buck Gulley.

Meanwhile on the Senate side of the Legislature, State Senator John Schmitz (R-Tustin) offered a different anti-freeway law.

COURT FIGHT

Schmitz' Senate Bill 1366 would provide that cities or counties could fight the state in local superior courts if local governments felt an adopted freeway route was "damaging or a nuisance."

Assemblyman Badham's measure, however, has five major aims directed specifically against the coastal routing. They are:

—Remove Coast Highway from the state's highway system of designated routes through Newport Beach.

—Halt conversion of Coast Highway into a freeway.

—Declare a moratorium on further purchase of Coast Highway land for the freeway.

—Provide Newport Beach with a forum before the California Legislature on the city's freeway appeal.

—Halt all coastal freeway work until the routing is "amicably determined."

Badham said his measure (See ROUTE, Page 11)

There will be more of this early morning overcast Thursday, says district forecaster Oscar Nichols. The temperatures will be a bit lower, and the fog will creep farther into the canyons, but there is no drizzle anticipated.

Badham Under Fire

Mesa's Reaction Swift and Violent

By TOM TITUS
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Stung by legislative maneuvers in the battle over the proposed Pacific Coast Freeway, the city of Costa Mesa today opened fire against abandonment or alteration of the state-adopted route.

In a series of extraordinary steps, Costa Mesa switched to an aggressive attitude following the introduction of bills by Assemblyman Robert Badham (R-Newport Beach) and Sen. John Schmitz (R-Tustin) opposing the coastal alignment.

REACTION

Mayor Robert M. Wilson, in swift reaction to the news from Sacramento, today took the following action:

—Called a special City Council meeting for 8 a.m. Thursday to take several strong steps — among them initiation of a study for a municipal hospital and investigation of bribe reports involving state officials over the freeway route hassle.

—Sent City Attorney Donald Dungan and his assistant, Roy June, to Sacramento to notify Badham and Schmitz of the city's opposition to their bills and take "all necessary steps" to defeat them.

—Dispatched a telegram to the California Highway Commission promising to demand rehearings on the San Diego, Newport and Corona del Mar freeway routes if the

Telford Says Badham Bill May 'Ease Load'

LOS ANGELES — Informers of proposed legislation to remove Pacific Coast Highway from state control, District 7 Highway Engineer Edward T. Telford conceded here today that such action would certainly ease his district's problems.

"I haven't had the privilege of reading the bill, but it would certainly take a burden of responsibility off of our hands," Telford declared.

The proposal by Assemblyman Robert E. Badham (R-Newport Beach) is AB 2913. It would make Coast Highway a local road from Highway 39 in Huntington Beach to MacArthur Boulevard in Corona del Mar.

Telford made it clear in an interview with the DAILY PILOT that he is neither advocating nor opposing Badham's measure.

"But the bill as I understand it would certainly take from the Division of Highways the responsibility for the coastal route and the development of a new freeway. This would have the effect of reducing the deficiencies in the state highway system in Orange County.

"I suppose the bill could be expanded to remove the highway from the system along the entire Orange Coast."

"This would further reduce our deficiencies in Orange County and make more state highway funds available for Los Angeles County."

Telford added in an almost amusing tone, "Perhaps Mr. Badham actually introduced this measure just to bring the entire highway and freeway issue to a head."

The state's Los Angeles-Orange County chief highway engineer made it clear that regardless of state or local control of Coast Highway, he believes more traffic capacity is mandatory for the coastline.

"Clearly, a freeway is needed to handle your traffic down there," Telford declared. "It must be recognized somewhere that somebody has to accept the responsibility to serve the area and move the traffic."

County Cautious On Route Actions

SANTA ANA — Orange County officials, apparently caught off guard today by legislation introduced in Sacramento opposing a coastal alignment of the Pacific Coast Freeway, reacted cautiously.

Fifth District Supervisor Alton E. Allen, however, said he was "not optimistic" about the success of the bills.

Allen, who has not taken a stand on the route, said he doubts the bills would make it through both houses of the Legislature.

The first bill, introduced by Assemblyman Robert Badham (R-Newport Beach) would remove a segment of the Pacific Coast Highway from the state's highway system and block the right-of-way from being used for freeway purposes. Senator John Schmitz (R-Tustin) has a similar bill to introduce into the Senate. Both measures provide methods for local communities to fight freeway decisions.

County Road Director Al Koch said, "Any legislation regarding procedures of the state road department demands extremely careful study."

"We've had great, even amazing success in California with the freeway systems under the present situation," he observed.

"I'd like to see the bills before I say whether I'm for them or against them," Koch added.

Second District Supervisor David Baker said, "Perhaps there is some merit to the legislation. Right now there is nobody to whom local agencies can appeal route decision. Maybe it's good, maybe it isn't."

Baker, like Allen, declined to discuss the coastal freeway route itself. However, the Board of Supervisors is on record in favor of a Harbor Area routing removed from the coastline.

Board Vote Rejects New Debate

By THOMAS MURPHINE
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

SACRAMENTO — The California Highway Commission late this morning rejected a bid by the city of Newport Beach for reconsideration of the adopted Pacific Coast Freeway route.

The commission voted 4 to 2 with one abstention against re-opening consideration of the route alignment between Highway 39 in Huntington Beach and Buck Gulley in Corona del Mar.

Commissioner James A. Guthrie of San Bernardino offered a motion to open the issue. It was seconded by Joseph C. Houghteling of Sunnyvale.

OPPOSED

On the roll call, Guthrie and Houghteling voted yes, Commission Chairman Robert Bradford abstained. The four-member majority opposing reconsideration are Roger S. Woolley of Santa Fe Springs, William S. Whitehurst of Fresno, Abraham Kofman of San Leandro and Franklin S. Payne of Los Angeles.

Newport's new freeway plea, the city's fifth major appeal in recent years, wasn't listed on the Commission's formal agenda today.

Chairman Bradford brought the appeal before commissioners by presenting a telegram from Newport officials.

Newport Mayor Paul J. Gruber addressed the commission, vowing that Newport will never sign a freeway agreement on the adopted coastal alignment.

Gruber cited figures indicating an inland routing would be between $8.3 and (See DENIED, Page 2)

Hoag Chiefs Still Oppose Coastal Line

Hoag Memorial Hospital directors today went on record as continuing their opposition to the adopted Pacific Coast Freeway route westerly of the hospital.

The board issued a statement clarifying its freeway stand following a meeting at the hospital Tuesday afternoon.

Directors cited alleged detrimental effects of exhaust gasses, encroachment of freeway right-of-way on hospital property, curtailment of building permits and lack of access as reasons for their route opposition.

Board Vice President George Hoag II explained today, however, that right-of-way figures given in the statement by directors were based on information gathered prior to a meeting of hospital officers two weeks ago with District 7 Highway Engineer Edward T. Telford.

The directors' clarification issued today said that Newport and coastal freeway ramps would be within 75 feet of patient rooms and the right-of-way is within 18 feet of these same rooms.

Telford told Hoag and others two weeks ago that the right-of-way would clear the most westerly of the hospitals newly proposed two-story (See HOAG, Page 2) addition by 45 feet on one plan, and up to 100 feet on others. The engineer said some alternatives might not require any hospital property.

STATEMENT

The directors' statement issued today indicated that "no building permit for planned (hospital expansion) construction would be issued" because of the freeway right-of-way.

In a separate communication, Hoag dispatched a letter to Telford thanking him for his assurances of expediting construction of the hospital during a luncheon meeting with hospital authorities April 13.

"While we are not qualified professionally to determine the most acceptable freeway route, we do believe that the presently adopted route for the proposed scenic coastal freeway is intolerable from the Hoag Memorial Hospital viewpoint," Hoag told Telford.

OPPOSED

He concluded that Hoag Hospital will continue to oppose the route. "We respectfully suggest that if an alternate cannot be arranged, then it should be abandoned altogether."

Telford told the hospital authorities two weeks ago that he saw no reason to delay Hoag's new high-rise building and pledged to aid in processing the building permits.

Hospital directors also cited detrimental effects of a gas tunnel — but Hoag explained this was based on information given by the hospital medical staff and the architect.

NO STUDY

"All I can say is we have information from other hospitals. We haven't made a study here. We know the freeway will force us to install air conditioning, which we do not have now and which will greatly increase our construction costs," the board vice president explained.

Based on comparisons of old freeway plans and new information supplied by Telford two weeks ago, Hoag commented, "All I can say is there are many things in the new proposals that are still unacceptable to the hospital."

Hoag directors, in their official statement, contend that the future freeway will fail to provide adequate access to the hospital and its facilities. They cited 15,000 emergency cases handled at Hoag in 1964 and an estimate in 1965 of more than 18,000 emergencies.

"The Hoag hospital board has never attempted to tell anyone where it thinks the freeway should be located, but has made a statement of fact that in its present proposed position between the hospital and the prevailing wind, the freeway would be intolerable."

"We also believe the proposed interchange (at Newport Boulevard and Coast Highway) would hinder access to the hospital and the communities which it serves," the directors declared.

Hoag directors concluded that they are "not concerned where the freeway begins or ends, or even if one is built" but only to protect the hospital to the best of their ability.

"We hope and trust the people of the coastal areas which this hospital has served and will continue to serve, will appreciate our position and join with us in our efforts," directors stated.

Hoag Gives Figures On CM Hospital Use

Hoag Memorial Hospital directors today issued a reply to Costa Mesa city authorities indicating the hospital treated 9,238 Costa Mesa residents during 1964.

Costa Mesa city councilmen had formally requested a report from the hospital on the use of facilities by people of their city.

The reply was sent today to Costa Mesa City Clerk C. K. Priest by Hospital Administrator Winifred Bacon. She offered these statistics for 1964: —About 40 per cent of the annual in-patient cases were Costa Mesa residents, amounting to 4,675 persons.

—Emergency cases originated in Costa Mesa amounted to 4,563 cases, or 37 per cent of Hoag total emergency load.

—Costa Mesa residents comprise 45 per cent of the hospital's total staff. These 252 employees drew $924,533 in 1964 salaries.

—Hoag purchased a total of 36 per cent of all its supplies and services in Costa Mesa from 65 vendors, amounting to $417,541.80 during 1964.

"We are pleased to submit these facts and figures and we trust that they will provide you with a better understanding of what Hoag Hospital means to your community from a standpoint of service as well as economic well-being," Mrs. Bacon wrote.

She also noted, "We are impartial and assure you we do not favor any particular community within our service area."

Hearings Next Week

SANTA ANA — Orange County supervisors Tuesday were handed a recommended county budget that soared to record heights — $98,876,783.

The budget, as proposed by Administrative Coordinator David Hitchcock, sailed $15.2 million — or 18 per cent — over the current fiscal year budget.

Included was a $3 million allotment for construction of a new county jail.

Public hearings on the proposed spending program will begin a week from today at 2:30 p.m. before supervisors. Adoption of the 1965-66 proposed budget is slated for June 9. Final approval is set for July 15.

Hitchcock said 75 per cent of the increase over the present year is due principally to three major items, capital projects, road construction and welfare expenses.

The capital projects budget of $11.3 million is up $4.3 million. Hitchcock noted most of his increase represents a $3 million allotment from the general fund for construction of a new jail.

"This is a mandatory facility," said Hitchcock, "and it has failed to carry in three general obligation bond issues."

The $12 million road construction request is up $1.4 million from current costs. Hitchcock noted, however, that revenues would be from highway users taxes, traffic fines and other "non-property tax" sources. Only $350,000 for bridge construction will be financed by property taxpayers.

Biggest individual slice of the unprecedented budget is for the County Welfare Department. The total request is for $23.5 million, almost $6 million above the 1964-65 figure.

coastal route hearing is reopened.

Costa Mesa lashed out strongly at Newport Beach and Hoag Memorial Hospital, proponents of an anti-free-way fight which has generated strong support among Newporters.

BRIBES?

On its agenda for the Thursday morning session is an item calling for the Costa Mesa council to "instruct the city attorney to investigate reports of bribes and blandishments of state officials in connection with the coastal freeway matter."

And, in a pointed action at Hoag Hospital, the council is scheduled to "take necessary action to establish a municipal hospital for the city of Costa Mesa."

Wilson, in his telegram today to the highway commission, notified that body of the special meeting and added the following comments: "The City Council will take all actions necessary to declare to the highway commission... that if the matter of the coastal freeway route adoption between Highway 39 and MacArthur Boulevard is ever reopened by that body, then this city has but one course of action."

"We will declare that the highway commission... must concurrently reopen the route adoption hearings on the San Diego Freeway route, the Newport Freeway route and the Corona del Mar Freeway route in our city and show why the highway commission and the state of California should not compensate the city of Costa Mesa for monetary damages which would be sustained by this city."

OFF TO CAPITAL

Duncan and June left this morning for Sacramento to represent Costa Mesa on the state level of the freeway fight. June was the city's representative last December when the highway commission rejected the last attempt by Newport Beach to have the route hearing reopened.

Thursday's council meeting was called to ratify the mayor's actions, but Wilson indicated today the council is in full accord with the decisions. Councilman and former mayor Alvin Pinkley today amplified that point.

"We will do everything in our power to see that the due processes of law are not overturned — in the process, some people, legislators and hospital men will be hurt."

"The city has never lost a fight of this type before, and we do not propose to lose this one," he added.

REJECTED

The California Highway Commission last Dec. 16 turned down a Newport Beach bid for new hearings on the route question by a vote of 4-2 with one abstention.

This decision left the route as originally adopted May 22, 1963, aligned parallel and adjacent to the Coast Highway between Beach Boulevard in Huntington Beach and Newport Bay.

Newport Beach has fought for an inland route, running roughly along 15th Street along the southern boundary of Costa Mesa. Hoag Hospital joined the Newport fight because of the proximity of the adopted route to its boundaries.

After the latest state action, Newport citizens and Hoag officials organized a "Freeway Fighters Association" which has collected $4,233 to date. A separate fund of Newport city donations totals $4,557. The funds are earmarked for possible legal action against the state.

FUND

The FFA was officially organized April 9 at a dinner meeting held at the hospital, attended by 151. Its founding was spearheaded by Newport councilman Al Forgit.

A hint of Costa Mesa's reaction to Hoag's participation in the freeway battle came April 19 when Vice Mayor Willard T. Jordan, speaking at a City Council meeting, asked information on Hoag's revenue and benefits from the city of Costa Mesa.

The letter was drafted by City Clerk C. K. Priest and sent to the hospital. Wilson declined to elaborate today on the reported bribery attempts, but indicated this information would come out of the special council session Thursday.

$17.5 millions cheaper than the coastal line.

Bradford also read a telegram from Costa Mesa Mayor Robert Wilson, who declared if the coastal routing question reopened, Costa Mesa wants reconsideration on three routings in its city. These would be the Corona del Mar, Newport and San Diego freeways.

Mayor Wilson also declared Costa Mesa would want to be recompensed for damages in any re-routing of Pacific Coast Freeway.

Commissioner Woolley asked Mayor Gruber if there isn't a later council resolution than the one of Jan. 11.

"Isn't there a resolution to hire attorneys," he asked. Newport City Attorney Tully Seymour replied that the City Council resolved to sign a contract with a law firm for this purpose, but no decision has been made as yet to file a suit.

There was no further discussion before the vote. The commission dispatched the matter in about 10 minutes.

DEATH WEAPON FOUND — Newport Lifeguard Arnie Douglas hands Sheriff's Ben Oxandabour part of stock of shotgun he found Tuesday afternoon in probe of murky depths near County Dock Property. Weapon is believed to have been 410 gauge shotgun used to slay 36-year-old paraplegic Jack Raymond Flager.

Wife Held In Stabbing Of Husband

BUENA PARK — A mother of three was held in city jail here today as police sought a complaint charging her with the stabbing death of her husband.

Held without bail on suspicion of murder was Carmen Recio, 41, of 6545 Berry Street, Buena Park.

Her husband, Charles, 43, died at 7 p.m. Tuesday at Lincoln Community Hospital. He bled to death from deep stab wounds in the groin and arm, police said.

The wounds were inflicted with a foot-long butcher knife, officers alleged. Police said they were called to the Recio home at 6:45 p.m. They found the victim lying in a pool of blood on the kitchen floor.

The couple's three young children said Recio and his wife had been arguing, police asserted.

Just prior to the stabbing, according to investigators, Recio had ordered one of his children to bring a long weed cutter into the kitchen from outside the house.

The couple then scuffled over the cutter and Recio was stabbed with the butcher knife that had been lying on a kitchen counter, police said. Mrs. Recio was arrested at the home.

The children were turned over to juvenile authorities. Police said they did not know if the youngsters, aged 9 to 12, witnessed the stabbing.

Boy Critical

George Myette, 14, of 115 34th St., Newport Beach, injured April 21 when struck by a car on Coast Highway, remained in critical condition today at Hoag Memorial Hospital. He is the son of Mrs. Dorothy de Malignon.

Suspected Death Gun Found on Bay Bottom

A Newport Beach lifeguard ended two months of searching when he pulled part of a shotgun, believed to be a murder weapon, from the bottom of the Newport bay Tuesday morning.

The weapon is believed to be the one used to slay Jack Flager, a 36-year-old paraplegic on Jan. 27.

The diver Arnie Douglas found only the trigger housing and sawed off stock and a fore-grip near the Arches in 20 feet of water.

The barrel of the weapon, 410 gauge shotgun, is still in the bottom of the bay, sheriff's deputies said.

Douglas will dive again Thursday in an effort to locate the barrel of the weapon.

Two suspects in custody and charged with murder are Jesse M. Leal, 27, of Los Angeles and Kai H. Henriksen Jr., 22, of City of Commerce.

Sheriff's deputies began searching the harbor in mid-February after Leal told them he had thrown the gun there the night of the shooting.

Beating Trial For Youth Set June 21

SANTA ANA — A 19-year-old Fullerton youth, accused of savagely beating an elderly man who let him in out of the rain, will be tried in Superior Court here June 21.

Gordon W. Cox, 1412 W. Commonwealth Ave., was ordered to stand trial after he pleaded innocent to two counts of assault and one of burglary, before Superior Judge William L. Murray Tuesday.

Victim of the alleged attack, Marion A. Glasgow, 68, of 2942 Silverado Canyon Road, told police he let Cox and some companions into his home the evening of April 3 after the youths had a flat tire in a driving rain.

Glasgow said he helped change the tire, let the youths drink some of his beer, but when he suggested they leave, he was attacked. Police said Glasgow suffered numerous cuts on his face, neck and arms. The cuts were inflicted with a beer can opener, officers said.

Another suspect, Eugene D. Hood, 19, Fullerton, will be arraigned on an assault charge in Superior Court Friday.

Charges against Cox's brother, Henderson, 20, were dismissed earlier.

Sun Drawing Beach Crowd

Summer weather again today continued to draw good weekend crowds to city beaches. Newport Beach lifeguards reported.

An estimated 8,500 persons were on the beach Tuesday. Traffic was heavier than usual on the Peninsula today and another good crowd was expected.

Lifeguards said there were no rescues Tuesday.

Air temperature Tuesday was 70, water temperature 65.

stand Monday afternoon. "I can't understand why I'm being persecuted and the other parents aren't," she complained as deputy district attorney Michael R. Capizzi questioned her. "This isn't fair!"

Also called to the witness stand was Dale Kinsella, a student at Newport Harbor High School. He pleaded the Fifth Amendment and refused to answer questions more than two dozen times because he said he didn't want to incriminate himself.

Prosecutor Capizzi contended in his argument that the boy and a friend rented a motel room for the party, and on March 26 had a keg of beer delivered to the Kinsella's Bayside home.

The liquor store delivery boy, John Naylor, testified that Mrs. Kinsella answered the door when he arrived with the keg, some ice and 50 beer cups.

"I told her how much it would be and then her son came up. He was short and said, 'Mom, I'm $5 short.' She gave him the money from her purse."

Officer Hamilton testified that he called Mrs. Kinsella at 2 a.m. March 27 and told her that Dale was at the Newport police station. He said she arrived to pick him up at 3:15 a.m.

"I told her about the statement Dale gave me and she said that Dale was the guilty one," Hamilton recalled.

Later in their conversation, Hamilton said, Mrs. Kinsella told him, "I guess you might say I'm guilty because I permitted Dale to do it... This afternoon Dale asked me to get a keg of beer for the party. I said no, I wouldn't contribute to his delinquency."

She said Dale called the liquor store, continued Hamilton, and that the boys paid for the beer.

FORGET IT

"She said why don't we just forget the whole incident. She promised me she would never do it again," Hamilton said. Still later, Hamilton said, the singer told him: "Why make a big deal out of it? The kids have to have some fun."

When it came her turn to testify, Mrs. Kinsella said she didn't know Naylor was a liquor store delivery boy. She thought he was one of Dale's friends. And she said the $5 she gave Dale was his weekly allowance. She said she never saw the keg.

About her conversation with Hamilton at the police station, she said, "I said many things that night because I was tired and trying to protect the kids... I probably said things I didn't mean to say because I was interested in protecting the children. When I found out about the beer I couldn't believe it."

NO MEMORY

She said she didn't remember giving Hamilton some of the statements he attributed to her.

She said Dale stays home week nights and does his homework. On March 26, she said, he told her he was going to a party at the Kilroys' house in Newport Beach.

"What about the statement about having some fun?" asked Capizzi as he cross-examined her.

Mrs. Kinsella dabbed her moist eyes with a handkerchief and said: "Well, that's just a figure of speech. I can't understand why I'm being persecuted and the other parents aren't. This isn't fair!"

March Charges Denied

Solon Claims Immorality

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ministers, priests and nuns who took part in the Selma-Montgomery march today categorically denied that sex orgies, drunkenness and other immoral conduct occurred during the demonstration.

The charges were made yesterday on the House floor by Rep. William Dickinson, R-Ala. He read into the record a series of statements he described as sworn affidavits from police officers and citizens who said they had witnessed acts of debauchery by white and Negro marchers.

Eight Protestants and Catholics who took part in the march called a news conference today to deny the charges. They displayed supporting letters, telegrams and affidavits from scores of other church men and women who took part in the march.

The Rev. Richard Dickinson, a United Church of Christ minister, said separate tents were provided for men and women for overnight campouts and the whole area was "very closely patrolled at all times."

The Rev. Mr. Dickinson supervised night security patrols at camps set up for the marchers along the 50-mile route from Selma to Montgomery.

The minister said "absolutely nothing took place to substantiate any of these wild charges" by the congressman of sexual promiscuity.

The Rev. Mr. Dickinson is a missionary to Japan now home on furlough taking postgraduate study at San Francisco Theological Seminary.

The Rev. Dom Orsini, a Pittsburgh Episcopal priest who marched the entire 50 miles, said "Congressman Dickinson is trying to defame and debunk the whole civil rights movement with a new type of McCarthyism."

Reds Said Now Using AA Weapons

SAIGON (UPI) — Reliable American sources disclosed today that Communist forces in South Vietnam are now equipped with high-altitude 37 mm anti-aircraft guns.

It was reported that U.S. military officials have confirmed evidence of the presence of the weapons which are similar to those currently being used in the air defense of Communist North Vietnam.

The first of the anti-aircraft guns spotted and positively identified was northeast of the village of Truong Khanh in Binh Dinh Province about 280 miles north of Saigon, the sources said.

Because of the short distance from the coast it was believed that the anti-aircraft weapons were being brought in by sea from North Vietnam or Red China's Hainan Island.

The movement of the anti-aircraft guns into the central highlands of South Vietnam appears to be part of a general Red buildup for a possible all-out spring offensive to cut the country in two.

Other pieces of the pattern of this apparent major buildup have been disclosed recently by high level U.S. military officials.

The most recent was the announcement of confirmed evidence of the presence of a battalion of North Vietnamese army regulars in the central highlands region near Kom-tum.

Vietnam Dominates LBJ Press Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says he is very hopeful a way can be found to spark Vietnam peace talks. But he says the American desire for peace is coupled with a "refusal to retreat."

The air-jungle war in Southeast Asia dominated Johnson's 34-minute news conference late Tuesday before 300 reporters gathered around television and radio microphones in the historic East Room of the White House.

On the home front, Johnson announced some good budget news. He said red-ink spending by the federal government in the bookkeeping year that ends June 30 now is estimated at $5.3 billion or less—a drop of $1 billion from the January prediction.

Johnson also replied to critics of the antipoverty program — "I think it will be one of the great monuments to this administration" — and announced eight appointments to high government jobs.

Asked about criticism of his postponement of planned Washington visits by the leaders of Pakistan and India, Johnson said he had explained to them it would be better if they came after Congress acts on foreign aid, which both will be seeking.

In his statement, Johnson said he would continue a Vietnam policy which he described in these words: "Firmness with moderation, readiness for peace, with refusal to retreat."

Johnson argued that defeat in South Vietnam would endanger "our own welfare, our own freedom." He said that from Munich to the present, the clearest lesson of our time is that "to yield to aggression brings only greater threats and brings even more destructive war."

Soviets Okay New Meeting On Cambodia

PARIS (AP) — Soviet foreign minister Andrei Gromyko has expressed Russia's agreement to take part in an international conference on Cambodia, a spokesman for the French cabinet announced today.

French Information Minister Alain Peyrefitte disclosed that Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville told a meeting of the French cabinet today that Gromyko agreed on Soviet participation in a conference. The agreement came in the course of meetings Monday and Tuesday in the French foreign ministry.

Gromyko is in Paris on an official visit. The United States and Britain already have signified their willingness to take part in such a conference, which could enable participants to begin talks on ending the war in neighboring Vietnam. France long has supported the idea for such an international meeting.

U.S., Russia Agree Once

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department says that the United States and the Soviet Union have agreed for the first time to check up on each other's obedience of international fishing regulations.

The department said yesterday that on May 5 three American representatives will join a Russian fishing fleet at Halifax, Nova Scotia, for a 10-day cruise off New England.

Voting Rights

Javits Refuses Poll Tax 'Deal'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Jacob K. Javits, a leader of the liberal Republican bloc, today rejected any negotiations or "deal" to remove the poll tax ban from the voting rights bill.

The New York senator challenged the opinion of Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach and others that eliminating state and local poll taxes by statute would be unconstitutional. As a lawyer and 16-year member of Congress, he insisted its constitutionality would be upheld.

Javits' stand appeared to rule out any advance agreement to compromise on the bill by swapping the poll tax ban for elimination of the 60 per cent "escape" provision which the liberals dislike.

Liberal Democratic senators met again today in Democratic leader Mike Mansfield's office, with Katzenbach attending. But they failed to work out any agreement to modify the poll tax section.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., a sponsor of the poll tax ban, said the liberal Democrats were just "trying to keep some doors and windows open" and had reached no conclusions.

On leaving Mansfield's office, Katzenbach grinned and said he had just "dropped by for a cup of coffee."

In a statement prepared for Senate delivery, Javits took direct issue with President Johnson's statement that he opposes poll taxes but sees no need to include an outright ban on them in the bill.

Javits pointed out that 37 senators voted for his bill in 1960 to abolish poll taxes by statute, rather than by constitutional amendment, and that 34 senators voted against tabling a similar statutory provision he offered in 1962.

The pending provision is now in the bill and "no negotiations, no deal, no trade should be allowed to remove it," he said.

BANK GETS DEAL TAKER

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — As a gimmick, a Cleveland bank ran a newspaper ad which said, "Want to borrow $15 million?"

It got a taker, Edward J. DeBartole, shopping center developer, clipped the ad and sent a letter requesting the loan.

The loan, for $14,350,000, was approved Tuesday by the Cleveland Trust Co. to finance construction of a shopping center in Akron.

Rainier, Grace See De Gaulle

PARIS (UPI) — Prince Rainier III and Princess Grace of Monaco had lunch with President Charles de Gaulle in the Elysee Palace yesterday.

It marked Monaco's formal reconciliation with De Gaulle who three years ago threatened to decree an economic boycott of the tax-free principality.

High Court Defends Silence

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court, in a landmark decision, declared today prosecutors and judges in state criminal trials violate the federal constitution if there is comment on an accused person's silence, or a statement by the judge that silence is evidence of guilt.

Justice William O. Douglas, ruling on an appeal by a California Negro who was sentenced to execution, held that comment on a refusal of a defendant to testify is a remnant of an inquisitorial system of criminal justice which the Fifth Amendment outlaws.

"It is a penalty imposed by courts for exercising a constitutional privilege," Douglas declared.

Justice Potter Stewart wrote a dissenting opinion, in which Justice Byron R. White joined. Justice John M. Harlan wrote an opinion concurring with the result, but said he did so with great reluctance. Chief Justice Earl Warren took no part in the case.

Steel Pact Okay Seen

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The United Steelworkers executive board, a rift growing in its ranks, met today to recommend official acceptance of a strike-preventing wage contract extension.

"There is growing opposition to the extension," a union source disclosed. "But I am positive that it (extension) will be approved anyway."

The 3-member board, split almost down the middle between supporters of USW President David J. McDonald and Union Secretary-Treasurer I. W. Abel, had been scheduled to meet at 10 a.m. But the meeting was delayed about an hour.

Workers Battle Water

ROCK ISLAND, ILL. (UPI) — The bulging Mississippi tore through three battered dikes today and kept relentless pressure along miles of river front.

Hundreds of exhausted workers kept up their battle against the upper Mississippi's worst flood in history. For three weeks the river has swollen out of its banks, sending thousands of homes fleeing from their homes from Minnesota to Missouri.

The crest was expected in the Illinois-Iowa quad cities industrial complex today and was expected to hold at the peak level for three days.

DIKE BREAKS

Water broke through a seawall at Davenport, Iowa, and poured through a 1,000-foot section. It rolled onto East River Drive and flowed back into the river on the other side of the International Milling plant.

Workers built a dike of heavy rocks along the drive. The water endangered $2 million worth of boats drydocked at Quad City Marine Co.

Across the river in Rock Island, workers piled the last of 100,000 sandbags along the swollen channel near the armory. The J. I. Case Co. threw up a secondary dike west of its Bettendorf, Iowa, plant, near Davenport.

SIREN WAILS

The river burst through the Chaney Lane dike at Milan, a small town adjacent to the Illinois-Iowa quad cities industrial complex where the Rock River flows into the Mississippi.

With a siren piercing the nighttime air, muddy waters poured through about six blocks of lowlands, and the weary workers threw themselves into the task of piling sandbags into a secondary dike along railroad tracks.

Milan Mayor Glenn Reid had said that if the Chaney Lane dike, which runs for three miles along the rock, were to break, the whole town would be threatened. The 2,400 residents were alerted to move out.

The other break came downstream.

PASSES DAM

The Mississippi, gorged with debris, swept past Dam 15 upstream only one-tenth of a foot below the predicted crest. The River reached its crest at some measuring points in this area of more than a quarter-million population.

"Now of all times there should be no complacency," said Col. Howard Coffman, chief of the Army Corps of Engineers. "Around the clock levee patrols must be maintained."

Despite leaky dikes and a last-minute push to shore up danger spots — especially in Rock Island and Milan — optimism was in the air.

"Rock Island is going to beat this thing," said a young policeman at a street barricade. "See the way those people are working? We're not going to stop until we've licked it."

WEAK SPOTS

The steady hum of portable generators feeding electricity to floodlights filled the air at Milan. Work crews rushed about to shore up weak spots in the dike while teen-agers stalked the area looking for leaks. Snakes wriggled across the highway near the dike.

At the town's fire house — center of flood operations — rain-soaked high school girls brushed back wet hair from their foreheads and rested between patrols. A big kettle of soup and chile simmered on the stove.

In Rock Island itself, volunteers were putting the finishing touches on a giant semi-circular dike thrown up near the downtown area behind another levee that had been called the city's "last line of defense" against the swollen river.

The earthen, safety-valve dike was about five feet high. Between it and the leaking levee nearer the river, about 2½ feet of flood water had seeped in.

Rock Island is riding it out, civil defense director James Taylor said early today. "I think we're in good shape."

FLOODED — The northern business area of Clinton, Ia., a city of 36,000 is unprotected from flooding Mississippi waters. Arrow points to Mississippi View Motel. Fifty blocks are inundated.

20 Years Later

Only a Mound Recalls Hitler

BERLIN (AP) — If you stand atop a wooden platform at Potsdamer Platz in downtown Berlin and look slightly to your left across the concrete and barbed wire of the Red wall, you will see a grass-covered mound.

Occasionally East German Communist border guards walk past the gently sloping, 15-foot mound. Sometimes the guards walk up on it and observe the area around them, watching for refugees.

It is a macabre spectacle, considering that under their feet, beneath this mound, lies the tomb of Adolf Hitler's Third Reich — the bunker where history's murderous madman gave his last orders, before shooting himself.

It will be 20 years ago Friday that the fuhrer's suicide ushered in the Goetterdaemmerung of Nazi Germany and was the climax of Berlin's collapse in flames.

The guns of the Red army were pounding the city and Soviet infantrymen were less than a mile from the Reich

Anti-Tunis Riots Held In Cairo

CAIRO (UPI) — Thousands of anti-Tunisian students battled police to within 300 yards of the Tunisian Embassy today.

Police used tear gas against the angry students who hurled rocks and swung sticks and tree limbs as clubs.

The students were protesting President Habib Bourguiba's proposal that Israel and Palestinian Arab leaders seek a settlement of their differences through direct talks.

Yesterday a mob of 20,000 students in Tunis stormed the Egyptian Embassy in protest against hostile reaction by President Gamal Abdel Nasser to the Bourguiba proposals.

The students threw stones and hurled ink bottles at the embassy and attacked several other anti-Bourguiba Middle East embassies.

At the ambassador's residence in Cairo about a hundred students first stoned the two-story villa, then forced open a gate.

Before police arrived, they had entered the ground floor and set fire to furniture. Police then ejected the invaders and a fire brigade put out the flames.

As they did, students outside ripped up portraits of Bourguiba and his wife. Ambassador Mohammed Badra, who arrived last night from Tunis with a message from Bourguiba for UAR President Nasser, had left the residence for the Arab League headquarters. No one was in the residence.

Prices Rise Some Over Food Costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Higher prices for fresh vegetables and medical services caused consumer costs to rise one tenth of one per cent in March, the Labor Department said today.

Costs also were slightly higher for rent, furniture, clothing and recreation during the month.

The government's index of consumer prices—the cost of living index—in March was 109 per cent of the 1957-58 average. That meant it cost $10.90 last month to buy goods and services which cost $10 during the base period.

The 1958 index compared with a 108.9 figure for February. It was 1.2 per cent above the figure for March 1964.

Increases in food prices accounted for about half of the monthly price rise. A Labor Department official said most of the food price rise could be traced to unseasonably cold and windy weather conditions in Florida early this year.

Bus Strike Hits Tokyo

TOKYO (UPI) — Millions of Japanese huffed, puffed their way to work today in a mad-cap scramble to overcome a major rail and bus strike in the world's largest city. Even junior's bicycle got into the act.

Rush-hour traffic is normally congested in Tokyo. But the strike has made even the normal pushing and shoving rush-hour crowds look in a massive drive in 120 communities, where voter registration drives will occur.

King Asks Students for Drive Help

WEST LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. yesterday called for 2,000 student volunteers for a "domestic freedom corps" to work this summer in a voter registration drive in 120 southern communities.

Speaking before 4,500 students at the University of California at Los Angeles campus, King said there already had been much progress in the Negro civil rights movement.

"But," he added, "we have a long way to go before the problem of racial injustice is solved."

The Nobel Peace Prize winner said that the solution of the civil rights problem is "morally compelling" and referred to those who have died in its pursuit.

"If a man has not discovered something he is willing to die for, he isn't fit to live," King added.

The Baptist minister called upon the students to join him in a massive drive in 120 communities, where voter registration drives will occur.

AF General Anti-Bosch Forces In Dominica Control

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — A military junta dominated by Air Force Brig. Gen. Elias Wessin y Wessin appeared in the prospect for the Dominican Republic today following the collapse of an army revolt to bring back President Juan Bosch.

During the night the country was without a central government. The Presidential Palace was occupied only by a woman telephone operator and the palace guard. Provisional President Rafael Melina Urquena, installed by the rebels, took asylum in the Colombian Embassy.

Wessin's forces were still mopping up pro-Bosch holdouts in Santo Domingo. One center of fighting was a housing project in the northern part of the city where a number of poor young people live.

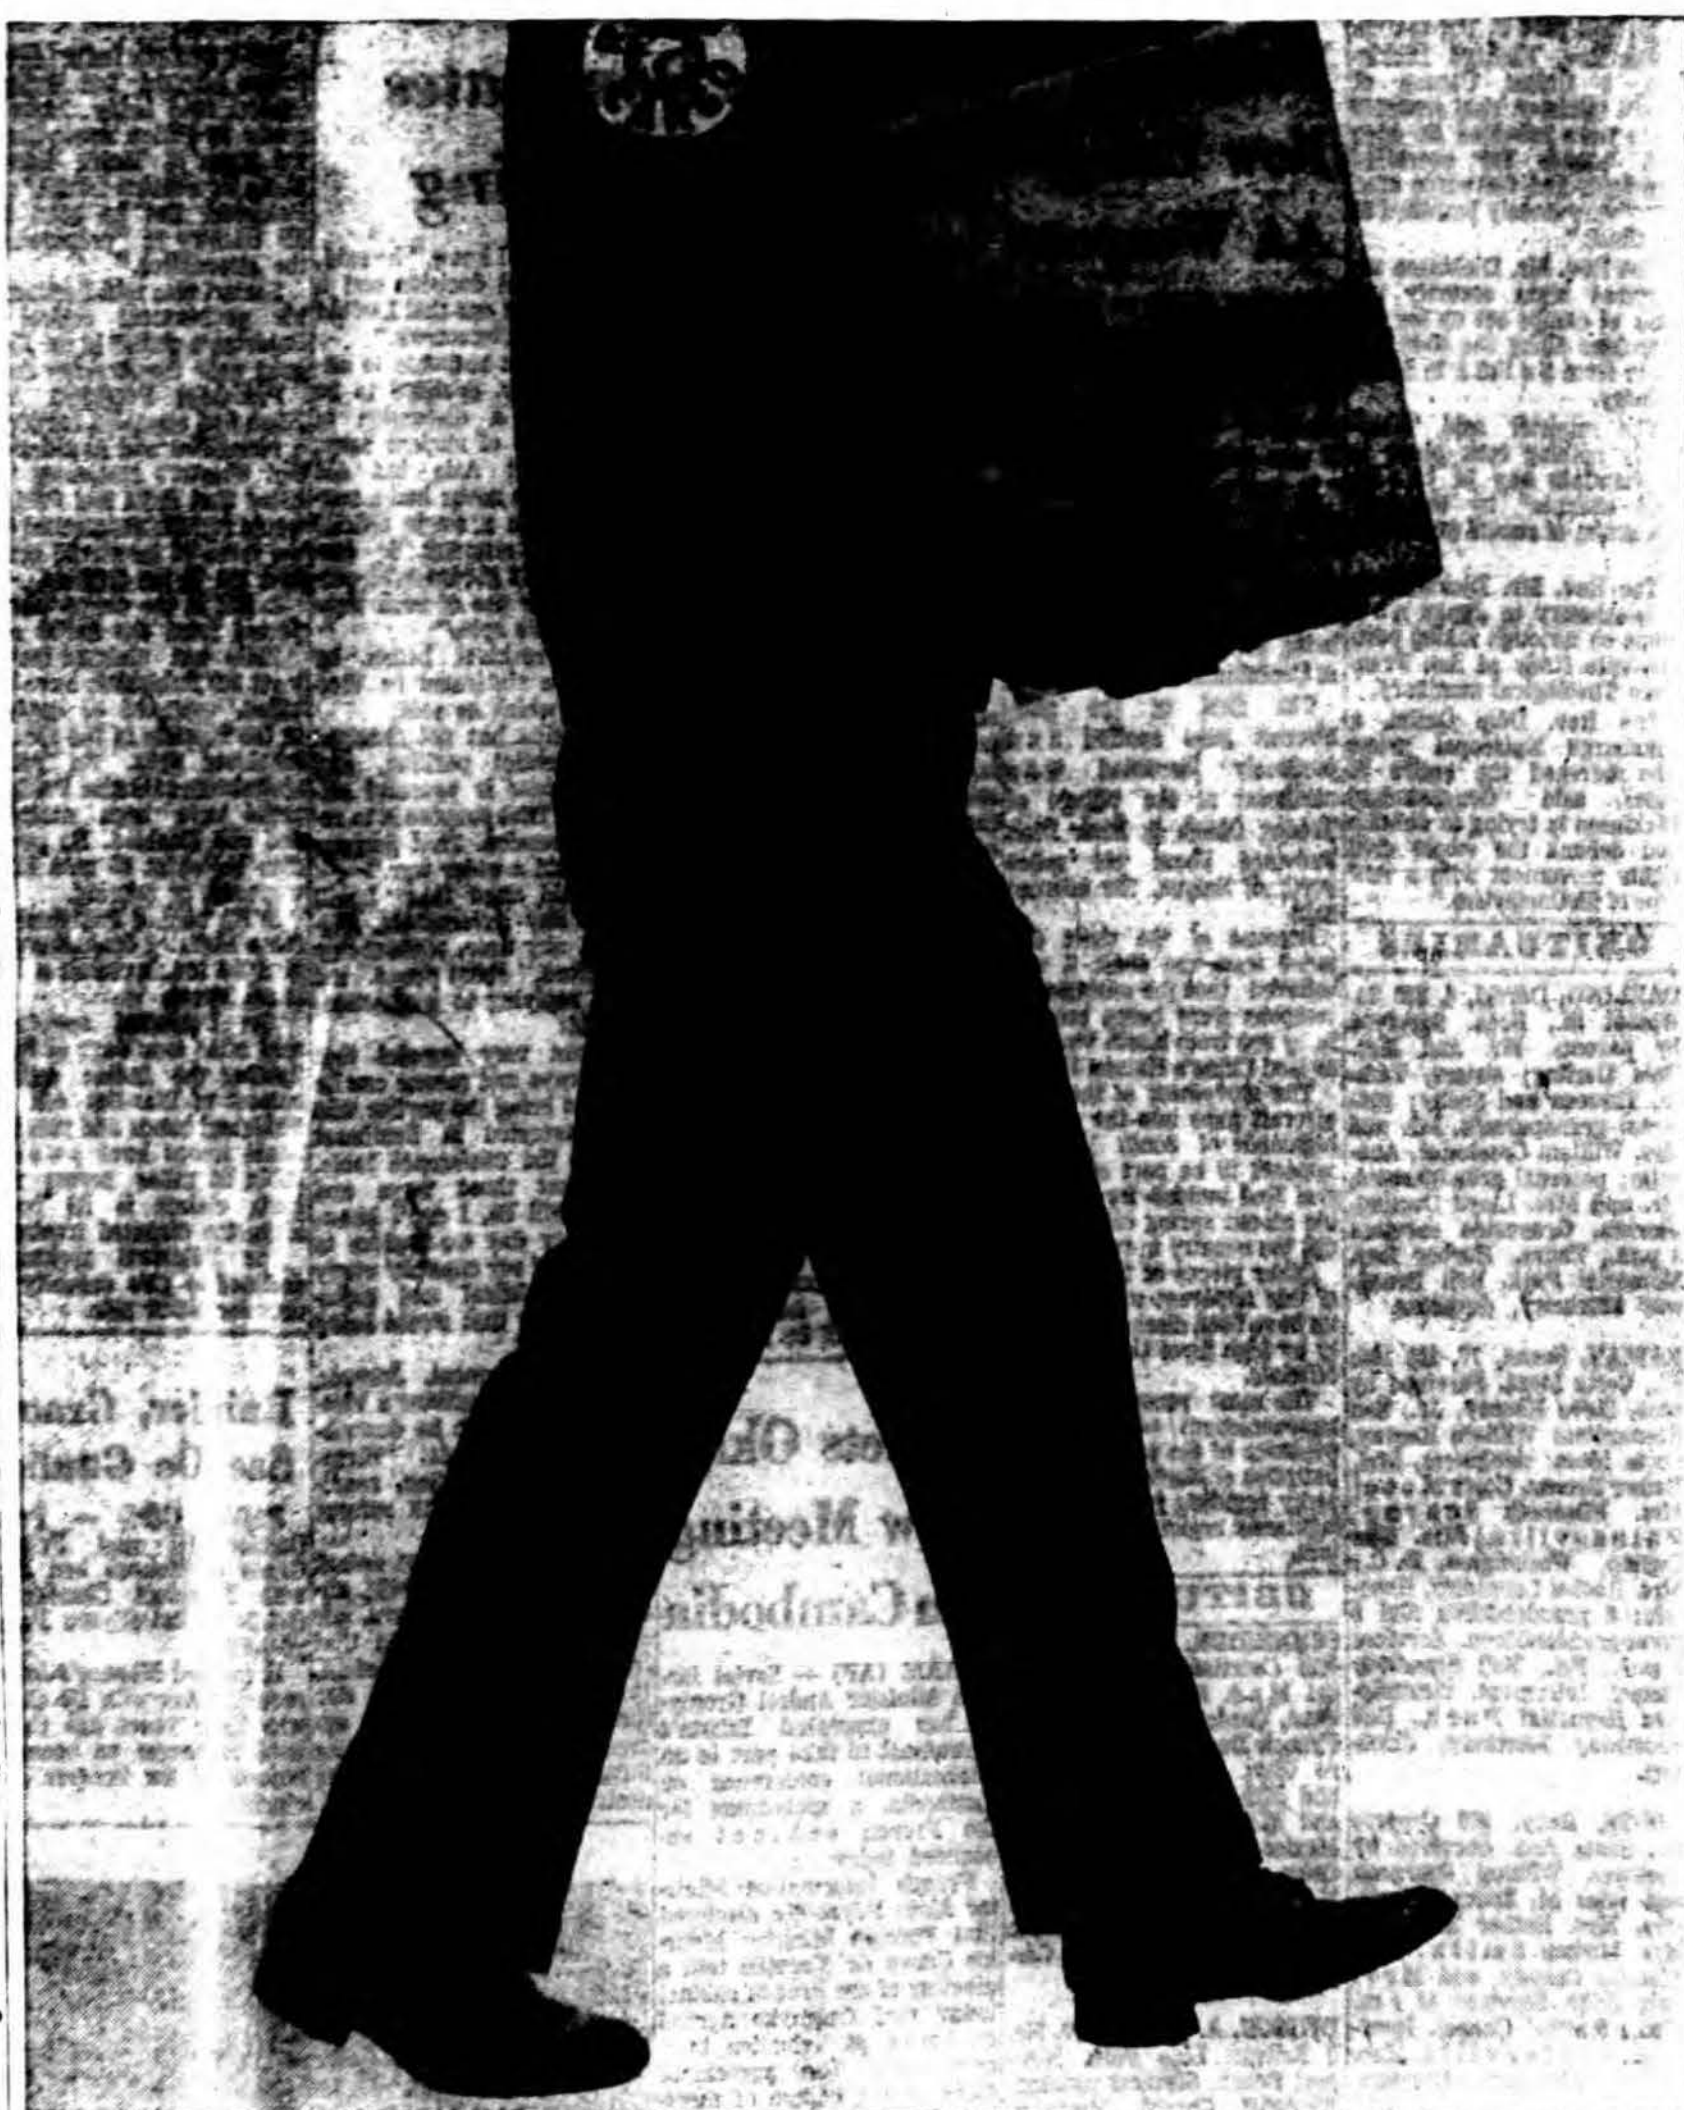

They were armed with machine guns, gasoline bombs and small arms distributed by the rebels.

Scattered snipers were also active, but Wessin said civilians were turning in the weapons the rebels had distributed to them. He said 3,000 weapons had been delivered to the police.

There were reports that hundreds were killed in the fighting that erupted Sunday when army rebels overthrew the civilian junta Wessin and other military leaders had installed after they ousted Bosch in 1963.

The rebels then split into two factions—those favoring the return of Bosch and those against him. The anti-Bosch forces, led by Wessin, pushed into Santo Domingo Tuesday after their planes and warships bombarded the capital.

Wessin charged that the former president was backed by Communist Cuba, the Soviet Union and Red China. Similar charges were aired in 1963 when Bosch was overthrown and fled to Puerto Rico. Bosch says he is an anti-Communist fighting to establish democracy in the Dominican Republic.

Obscenity Bill Caught in Dispute

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The first modification of California's anti-obscenity law since 1961 was approved, then rejected, early today after an assemblyman angrily objected to how a key committee vote was cast.

DAILY PILOT/NEWS-PRESS
Wed., April 28, 1965

Almost two hours after first approving the police-desired measure, the Assembly Criminal Procedure Committee revoked its earlier action and reset the bill for another hearing.

The net result of a 4½-hour hearing on measures making it easier to move against allegedly obscene material was defeat for tough bills and a doubtful fate for the milder one initially agreed to.

The measure booked for reconsideration deals with state law, defining obscene matter as that "utterly without redeeming social importance."

The bill by committee Chairman Pearce Young, D-Napa, retains that definition but adds it applies only if the social importance makes up a "substantial part of the matter or is connected with or material to the dominant theme of the matter."

It first cleared the committee on a 6-2 vote, the minimum required in the 10-member body. Assemblyman George S. Zenovich, D-Fresno, voted in favor to provide the swing vote, although he has opposed such legislation in the past.

But he told Young the vote would come only if the author agreed to oppose all amendment attempts in either house and if he would agree to drop the bill if it were changed.

Young, who said later the Zenovich restrictions came as a surprise to him, accepted them because he knew the bill would die without that vote.

At 12:15 a.m., as the committee prepared to adjourn, Assemblyman E. Richard Barnes, R-San Diego, angrily attacked the way Zenovich cast his vote.

"I think he tied the hands of 80 people on the floor. He put a condition on my vote. I object to that kind of unethical treatment of me in this committee," Barnes declared.

Zenovich wasn't present, but Young replied he would be happy to reconsider the measure—and a tougher bill, sponsored by Barnes, defeated solidly last week.

The motion to reconsider carried without dissent and Young said the measures would be reset for hearing some evening soon.

Young's bill was the first to get through the committee since the state's anti-obscenity law was revamped in 1961. The state attorney general's office and other law enforcement officials testified it would make it easier to prosecute and convict those accused of selling smut.

Not Really Tommy Gun

CHATSWORTH (AP) — Floyd Alexander, 32, ran a classified ad asking for the return of his stolen Tommy gun — with no questions asked.

Responding Tuesday were Los Angeles police officers and agents from the California Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation.

Possession of a machine gun is illegal. Alexander was told.

But Alexander, a plastering contractor, explained that his Tommy gun was the pneumatic type — it shoots only plaster.

GOP Asks Speedup

Wrangling Disrupts Legislative Session

SACRAMENTO (AP) — With only 38 working days left, Republicans want a speedup in a legislative session hit by new partisan wrangling over mental hospital staff shortages and higher education tuition fees.

Assembly Minority Leader Robert T. Monagan, R-Tracy, warned that almost 4,000 measures were still before the legislature. He called for a faster pace and harder work in committees and on the Assembly floor.

Meanwhile, more disputes broke out between Democratic Gov. Brown and the Assembly Republican delegation.

Assemblyman Don Mulford, R-Piedmont, the GOP caucus chairman, took issue with Brown charge that Republicans for years were to blame for a lack of psychiatric technicians in that caused the lack of staff.

Envoy Defects

NEW YORK (UPI) — The fifteenth Cuban diplomat to defect from the Fidel Castro regime in the past three years has been granted political asylum in this country.

The top Cuban diplomat, Julio Cesar Del Castillo, said on his arrival here yesterday aboard the liner Queen Mary that he could not face life in Cuba under the present conditions of the Castro regime.

1 Killed, 13 Injured As Car Runs Amok

VENICE (AP) — Police say a car lurched out of a parking lot and plowed into a crowd of beachgoers, killing one and injuring 13 others when a 77-year-old motorist pushed the wrong button on his automatic gear shift.

Investigators said the car gained speed when the driver, Nathan Hundert of West Los Angeles, evidently stepped on the gas pedal Tuesday while trying to find the foot brake.

Killed was Bessie Gottlieb, 67, of Los Angeles. Four persons were hurt seriously.

Hundert told officers he was trying to back out of a lot on

Let's have a PIZZA PARTY

heat the oven | toss the greens | chill the Olympia

In less time than it takes to say mozzarella cheese (and phone a few friends), you can put a pizza party underway. Most grocers have fresh pizza, frozen pizza, or a mix for the do-it-yourselfers. And there are varieties, of course, to suit the most adventuresome taste. Serve yours fresh from the oven in giant wedges. Ladle up a green salad. And pour the Olympia tall and cold. If you've a prized Caruso album around the house, now would be the time to play it. While famous as a light beer, you'll find that Olympia has the body and character to hold its own with the spiciest pizza. The two tastes go refreshingly well together. In fact, whether your favorite party fare is pizza or pumpernickel, cold Olympia should have a place in your plans. What makes light Olympia the beer of good taste: "It's the Water"

Visitors are always welcome at the Olympia Brewing Company, Tumwater, near Olympia, Washington, 8:00 to 4:30 every day. *Oly*

Mussolini's Grand Dreams 'Shot' 20 Years Ago Today

ROME (UPI) — A woman asked the partisans for permission to join him. That night the bodies were taken to Milan and strung up by the heels from the roof of a half-finished gas station in Piazzale Loreto.

There, with kicks and curses, an enraged crowd tried to avenge a nation for the death of a man who had tried to lead Italy to greatness.

Mussolini's lovely young mistress, Claretta Petacci, who had cried out, "You can't do it, you can't," was the first to die. Then Mussolini, photographed in his utter humanity, fell dead beside her.

Mussolini had been captured by the partisans the previous day near Dongo as he fled to the country in a German truck. Claretta had been separated from her lover in their flight but lawed in postwar Italy and the followers of Mussolini's ideas now call themselves the Italian Social Movement (MSI).

But the ranks of the MSI are thin — an odd mixture of nostalgic oldsters and youths who had not been born when a black shirt was a symbol of power.

The neo-Fascist MSI usually polls about 5 per cent of the vote in national elections. It appeals to the younger generation with a combination of militant nationalism and fierce anti-communism. But this younger generation appears more interested in the Beatles, marathon dance sessions and cars.

The surviving Mussolinis themselves — the first family of Fascist Italy — have to a surprising degree adapted to the new postwar Italy.

The "Duce's" youngest son, Romano, is a jazz pianist and it is a toss-up whether his contemporaries know him better as "Mussolini's son" or "the man who married Sophia Loren's kid sister."

Mussolini's youngest daughter, Annamaria, is the wife of a nightclub entertainer and master of ceremonies. Her sister, Edda, who as Countess Ciano held court in Fascist Rome, is now a grandmother.

The late dictator's widow, Rachele, runs a restaurant in the Mussolini's home town of Predappio. She caters in part to visitors to Mussolini's tomb but mostly to prosperous family groups on Sunday outings with a taste for the robust cooking of the Romagna countryside.

Claretta Petacci rests in an elaborate tomb in Rome's Verano Cemetery. The luxurious love-nest Mussolini built for her high on a hill over Rome is now a fashionably expensive restaurant.

The Palazzo Venezia, from which Mussolini launched his country into war with the slogan "Vincere, Vincere," (Win, Win) is used for art shows.

Here and there throughout Italy one may still occasionally glimpse a wall on which the words "Duce, Duce" are still decipherable.

State's Big Cities

School Classes Smaller

BURLINGAME (AP) — search executive, said, in Los Angeles dropped from California's largest cities have reduced the size of their elementary classes.

A survey covering 99 per cent of the school districts in the state was released Wednesday by the California Teachers Association and the California Department of Education.

The study showed that the average elementary class size is 29.5 pupils. The National Education Association's Department of Classroom Teachers says the most workable class size is 25 pupils.

"Assuming the presence of a qualified and competent teacher," Garford Gordon, the teachers association's research executive, said, in Los Angeles dropped from 32.6 to 30.7; in San Francisco from 28.8 to 28.2; in Oakland from 31 to 29.9; in San Diego from 32.6 to 30.9 and in San Jose from 33.7 to 29.9. The size of classes was also reduced in Sacramento, Fresno and Long Beach.

Gordon said the improvements are especially significant when it is realized that the new figures include kindergarten classes and the former 1962 figures didn't.

The CTA man said the figures still represent "appalling overcrowding." But he said it would cost $25 million a year to reduce class size by one pupil on a statewide basis.

No Salute

HAMBURG, Germany (UPI) — City fathers, meaning no disrespect, decided yesterday not to fire a 21-gun salute to Britain's Queen Elizabeth II when she visits here next month. A city spokesman explained that "not even in the darkest medieval days did we tolerate salutes."

Two straight-A students, eighth graders Bob Keigh and Jan Schwarz, led all scholars named to the third quarter honor roll at Horace Ensign School in Newport Beach, school officials have announced.

Easter Week

NB Lifeguards, Police Praised

Newport Beach police and lifeguard departments were praised Monday by two members of the City Council for the way they handled the large crowds and heavy traffic during Easter Week.

"They should be highly commended and praised," said Councilwoman Doreen Marshall. "Easter Week was handled in a very fine manner."

"Easter Week is never pleasant," she noted. "The problems were handled much more smoothly than in the past."

Councilman Donald Elder agreed. "They did do a beautiful job," he admitted. A letter from Mr. and Mrs. Warren Bolten of 5016 Seashore Drive praising the police department was received and filed by the City Council.

"Thank you for a job well done during Easter Week," the letter said. "Our West Newport area has been such a hassle all winter that we all really expected a bad week. But because of the fine work of our police chief and officers in cars and on foot, we had a well controlled area."

During the week, police arrested 1,070 vacationing students compared with 725 last year. Crime was down—405 reported crimes compared with 1,308 during Easter Week last year.

Jury Finds Driver Guilty in Death

SANTA ANA — After six hours of deliberation, a Superior Court jury Tuesday ruled an Anaheim man responsible for an accident that turned a gay Christmas holiday outing into tragedy for a Garden Grove family.

Jurors found Herman Paul Ludwig, 40, of 2130 Catalpa Ave., guilty of manslaughter with gross negligence and felony drunk driving.

Ludwig was the driver of an auto that crashed into the rear of a stopped car last Dec. 23 at Euclid and Glen Oaks streets in Anaheim. The accident triggered a rear-end chain collision that took the life of 3-year-old Patricia Ann McGhee.

The youngster was in a car with her parents, Marine Capt. and Mrs. Thomas McGhee, 11722 Blue Jay Lane, Garden Grove, and two other children. The family was en route to Christmas Card Lane in

Car Wash On Again

Members of the senior class at Corona del Mar High School have re-scheduled their oft-cancelled spring car wash Saturday.

Patricia Ann, seated in the rear of the McGhees' small foreign auto, was crushed to death. With the exception of Capt. McGhee, the other members of the family were seriously injured.

Ludwig, who was ordered by Superior Judge Robert P. Kneeland to return for sentencing May 2, escaped injury.

Judge Kneeland also suspended Kneeland's driver's license.

ROUTE FIGHT GROWS...

supported by Newport Mayor Paul J. Gruber. He has also contacted Huntington Beach and Laguna Beach city authorities to explain the bill. Badham said he is seeking talks with Costa Mesa and Orange County officials. Badham met with Costa Mesa Mayor Robert Wilson in Sacramento last Friday on the day he introduced his anti-freeway bill on the Assembly floor.

But Badham said he didn't talk to Wilson about the freeway measure at that time.

USH
"You have no idea the rush we were in here on the last day for introduction of bills," Badham explained. "I was conferring with Mayor Wilson about plans for a city golf course on state land near Fairview Hospital."

"I didn't get into the freeway matter at that time. I'm trying to contact Mayor Wilson on the freeway bill now."

Meanwhile, over on the Senate side of the Legislature, Schmitz made it clear his SB 1366 is also aimed directly at the Pacific Coast Freeway hassle in Newport.

LEGAL PATH
His bill is an effort to provide a clear legal path for judicial appeals against adopted freeway routes. The Orange County senator believes the legal grounds are hazy now. "Lacking special cause, the Huntington Beach and Newport Beach freeway fighters must either win their case in a trial by newspaper, or sway the same people who planned the route," Schmitz concluded.

Badham and Schmitz plan to coordinate their anti-freeway efforts in the Legislature. Schmitz said they would sponsor each other's bills in their respective houses.

In explaining the development of his bill, Badham said he authored the anti-freeway measure on his own. "This specific bill wasn't requested by anybody," he said. "I discussed it with people in Newport and Costa Mesa, but it's basically my own."

DECLINED
The assemblyman declined to identify "at this time" all the persons conferred with on the legislation. Badham did acknowledge that Newport Beach interests have been making a concerted effort to obtain anti-freeway legislation.

The 71st District lawmaker UCI Analyst Admits Guilt; Sentence Due
A University of California, Irvine, employee pleaded guilty Monday in Newport Beach Municipal Court to a charge of disorderly conduct.

James Albert Jensen, 31, a personnel analyst at the university, was ordered to return to court May 10 for a probation hearing and sentencing.

He was arrested early Monday by a Newport Beach policeman who was walking home from work.

Officer Stanley Wells arrested Jensen at 2 a.m. after Jensen spoke to Wells from his car at 22nd Street and Newport Boulevard.

Jensen lives at 121-A E. Bay St., Costa Mesa.

Dimes Aide Will Speak
ORANGE — Charles L. Massey Jr., vice president of The National Foundation — March of Dimes, will be guest speaker before the Orange County Chapter, March of Dimes, annual meeting today.

The dinner will be held at the County Medical Association building, 300 S. Flower St., at 7:30 p.m. A social hour starts at 6:30.

Art McKenzie, chapter chairman and campaign director, will report on the annual fund drive and present awards to community leaders and special events chairmen who made it successful.

Workshop
A Red Cross training workshop for volunteers will be held Thursday at the Santa Ana Chapter, 8th and Flower streets, at 9:30 a.m. Mrs. Harriet Enderly announced today. Information may be obtained by calling 542-1137.

wouldn't hazard a guess on the chances of his freeway-killing bill clearing committee, passing the Legislature or winning Gov. Edmund G. "Pat" Brown's signature. "I wouldn't want to guess and prejudice the position of the bill at this time," Badham answered. "I might advocate passage and signature just to get the California Highway Commission off the hook on this routing."

FAVORED
Badham, however, obviously favored the idea of legislators reviewing the long-standing route controversy.

"The time is ripe for the Legislature to examine some of these controversial freeway routings," Badham declared. "I might drop any push for passage of my bill if it would serve as a freeway forum before the Legislature."

Badham explained his "forum" concept envisions local officials appearing before the Legislature or its committees to air freeway grievances.

AID
"I would like to see the cities of Huntington Beach, Newport Beach, Costa Mesa and the county of Orange, appear before the Legislature to aid in future route adoptions," the coastal assemblyman said. "These local officials should address themselves to this coastal freeway route that has caused so much inter-municipal chaos."

The so-called "Green Line" Pacific Coast Freeway route through Newport, generally adjacent to the existing highway, was adopted by the California Highway Commission May 22, 1963.

Newport opposed the coastal line before adoption and is still fighting it. Costa Mesa at first said it had no room for another freeway. Later Costa Mesa city officers endorsed the coastal route.

NO FORUM
"While the coastal freeway has been a bone of contention for many years, there has never been a forum on it before our state Legislature," Badham noted. "After all, the Legislature appropriates the money for these freeways."

The assemblyman disclaims any preferences for the freeway location. "My bill was introduced simply to say that this coastal location isn't the route," Badham explained.

"Had I been pro-Newport or anti-Costa Mesa, or the other way around, I could have put dots on a map in my bill and run the route through anybody's town or property."

MOVING
Until recently, Badham listed himself as a Costa Mesa resident, although he lived in county territory. He is now in the process of moving into a Newport Beach home. His office is in Newport Beach.

Since the adopted route leaves Costa Mesa untouched by the freeway, does Badham think his proposal might be interpreted by Costa Mesans as anti-Costa Mesa?

He replied, "I'm trying to protect the best interests of all the people concerned with this coastal freeway. In so doing, I don't consider my legislation pro or anti anybody. It's merely a vehicle by which I hope this highly controversial problem can be settled."

OFF THE HOOK
Badham concluded, "I have some information that would indicate many officials at the state and local level would like to get off the hook on this coastal freeway routing issue."

"But no matter where you place the route — even if you place it nowhere — there will be much ill will."

'King Lear' Series Topic
"King Lear and the Falling Heavens," the second in Orange Coast College's spring lecture series on the literature of ideas, will be presented tonight at Newport Heights Elementary School.

Author John Robert Clarke will speak at 7:30 p.m., followed by an informal discussion with members of the audience. The series is sponsored by the OCC Evening College.

In succeeding lectures, May 5 and 12, Clarke will discuss the works of psychoanalyst Sigmund Freud and Russian novelist Boris Pasternak.

Clarke, a historian and traveler, is the author of the best seller, "The Importance of Being Imperfect."

Parents Sue Disneyland

SANTA ANA — The parents of a Long Beach teen-ager who was fatally injured in a bobsled accident at Disneyland filed a $500,000 suit in Superior Court here Tuesday.

The youth, 15-year-old Mark Maples, died four days after he fell from the amusement park's ride on the Matterhorn last May 15.

Jack Maples and Mrs. Bella Jo Harvelle, the boy's parents, alleged negligence by Disneyland in their complaint.

Investigation by the county coroner's office and Anaheim police last year led to an accidental death ruling. Police said young Maples and some companions had been engaging in "horse play" when the youth fell from the ride.

Fairview Will Show Fashions

Fairview State Hospital will jump the gun on May Day finery and hold its annual spring fashion show Friday with two performances, 2 p.m. and 7 p.m.

Spring Fantasy is the theme of this year's show, and decorations will carry through in this vein. The stage setting will be a gazebo, or garden house, and the spectators will be enclosed in an atmosphere of flowers, greenery and other wonders of nature.

Resident patients of Fairview will model clothing selected from donations that are appropriate to the various activities of their daily routine. The models are selected by ward personnel and members of the rehabilitation staff.

Patients from the school and rehabilitation music and dance classes will perform during the intermission. A King and Queen have been chosen to represent each division of the hospital.

Parents, patients and hospital staff have been invited to attend either performance, according to Dr. Anthony N. Toto, superintendent-medical director.

Delegates Set for UROC Convention

By LES WAGNER
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

United Republicans of California hold their annual state convention in Sacramento Friday, Saturday and Sunday and the Costa Mesa delegation will include John J. Purdum, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel W. Emory, Mrs. David Abbott and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beckner.

The Costa Mesa unit of UROC, established only two months ago, now has a roster of 23 members and is growing. Purdum, of 3077 Johnson Ave., was elected unit chairman recently.

Emory, who is vice chairman; Mrs. R. G. McCormick, secretary; Mrs. Eugene Fleet, treasurer, and Mrs. Charles Beckner, immediate past chairman, were named to the executive board.

Next meeting will be May 3, 7:30 p.m., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Fleet, 2916-B Pepper Tree Lane. Those interested in attending or joining the organization should call Mrs. John Misher, membership chairman, at 545-1909.

A "SPRING Fling," sponsored by the ways and means committee of the 34th Congressional District Republican Assembly, will be held May 7 at the Jolly Roger Restaurant, Katella Avenue and Harbor Boulevard, Anaheim.

Chairman Charles McLuen of Rossmore says that O'Reilly Brothers orchestra will play for dancing from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Proceeds will be used in candidate development work looking toward the 1966 political campaigns.

SEN. JOHN C. SCHMITZ (R-Tustin) has figured out a new way to fix legislative pay raises. He says it is revolutionary in concept.

Revolutionary or not, his net decrease shown in the constitutional amendment adopted budget. In other (SCA 39) provides legislator's words, the more that can be salaries be raised by the pruned from a budget, the same percentage of adjusted higher the pay.

New Art Museum Proves LA Culture

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The museum, consisting of three pavilion-like structures, is the largest museum built in a quarter-century. The nation for a quarter-century arranged on a central raised plaza, has 209,866 square feet of modern architecture and floor space and is the largest art of the ages — was dedicated since 1939 when the second National Art Gallery in Washington, D. C., was dedicated. This community's cultural advancement. Not only is the complex — set like a white geodesic dome in a pool of water — one day soon may be known but it houses priceless art as Taj Mahal-West because of its elegance. The large, four-level from downtown Los Angeles. But it is the cultural cousin of the $18 million music center which was dedicated in December.

Each project exists largely only because of huge private contributions. Each becomes a landmark of the city by opening its doors.

The Lytton Center, a three-foot-thick solid concrete slab. The entire complex, as the past, is virtually floating on the liquid tar that lies beneath the park which already is famed as the site of the La Brea tar pits. The museum has been seen by thousands in a series of previews, and most are unanimous in their delight. Most praised perhaps has been the general beauty of the museum, and the attempt to put each art form in an appropriate setting. The Renaissance art is in a gallery, appropriately rich in tapestry and subdued in lighting. The modern art is given a contemporary frame, and each theme is carried out to similar extremes.

Parents Are Most To Blame For Problems of Children

Small ones already are operating in San Francisco, Santa Clara, Marin and Contra Costa counties. Skilled social workers are needed, Dr. Billingsley says, to investigate cases. Neglect may be physical, such as failure to feed and clothe the child and keep him clean. It may be emotional neglect. Abuse may be physical injury from beating, or non-physical tormenting, creating such family turmoil that the youngster's development is retarded.

Dr. Billingsley's field research involves a $50,000 grant from the U.S. Children's Bureau and is being conducted through a joint arrangement between the university and the State Department of Social Welfare.

APATHETIC
Parents who neglect their children, research already has shown, are likely to be apathetic, disorganized, not very competent. Those who abuse their children are more likely to have psychological quirks. In either case, the parent is most likely overwhelmed by his own problems.

This Woman Judge Not Afraid

By LEE LINDER

Philadelphia (AP) — "I'm not afraid — and won't ever be. Show fear and you're finished."

Judge Juanita Kidd Stout shuffled papers on a cluttered desk in her City Hall office and calmly analyzed her battle — despite threats on her life — to get juvenile gang members, mostly school truants, off the streets.

"Maybe in institutions we can help these boys and girls become useful members of society."

About those threats? "I sleep just as well as I ever did. I regard them as an unfortunate part of my job. But you can't knock down to threats, otherwise law and order vanish."

But if Judge Stout shows unconcern, city officials aren't ignoring possible danger. Policemen are with the 46-year-old jurist — the first Negro woman to hold such a post in Pennsylvania-wherever she goes.

Every man, woman or child who enters her courtroom is searched. So far, more than 100 knives, scissors, razors and other weapons have been confiscated.

Mrs. Stout, a Democrat, has been a judge of the County Court since 1960. She has been sitting in the court's Juvenile Division in recent months.

"Gangs must be broken," she said, pounding a book she held in her hand. "Whatever it takes to do it, must be done. If it means jailing boys and girls for 10 days or 100 days or more it has to be done. If a juvenile refuses to go to school he should be taken off the streets."

Most of the trouble, she feels, lies with disinterested parents "too busy or too lazy to properly teach and guide their children."

Judge Stout believes jail is the only immediate solution "or at least some kind of detention institution where a pattern or responsibility can be developed."

But juvenile centers are overcrowded. Judge Stout said Pennsylvania has bed space for 3,222 juvenile offenders "yet the average number of boys and girls now held in custody each day is more than 4,500."

Pennsylvania's welfare secretary, Arlin M. Adams, said it would take $2.5 million or more to provide proper quarters and personnel. He suggests more probationary sentencing.

Disagreeing, Judge Stout said, "I think it will be even more costly to do nothing and let the cost of crime, in dollars and human suffering, continue to rise."

Born in Wewoka, Okla., she is married to Dr. Charles O. Stout, a member of the Maryland State College faculty. She received her law degree at Indiana University.

Small But Potent

Communist Chinese Navy, Soon a Problem?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Pentagon leaders are studying the possibility that the motley and poorly manned Red Chinese navy could cause considerable trouble for the armed patrol being maintained off the South Vietnamese coast.

They also are seriously concerned over prospects that the Red China fleet could become an efficient sea force in five or six years, and might be fashioned into a deadly instrument for nuclear destruction in 10 years.

At present, however, they do not believe the Chinese fleet could last long in a major war.

Like the Soviets, the Chinese tend to concentrate on submarines — they are estimated to have 28. They may choose submarine-borne rockets as their primary nuclear weapon.

Reports of the London Institute for Strategic Studies, which U.S. Navy sources regard as substantially accurate, place the Chinese navy at 136,000 men, including marines; 830 vessels and 500 land-based planes.

This force, even without its Soviet-built submarines and eight destroyers, is suitable for close-in coastal operations. But it lacks the stamina and strength to bid for power on the high seas.

SMALL FLEET

The Chinese fleet includes 14 small warships described as frigate escorts, 150 motor torpedo boats, 25 submarine chasers, 60 gunboats, 38 mine-sweepers, 60 amphibious craft and 50 auxiliary ships as well as junks.

Whereas the powerful U.S. 7th Fleet in the Far East is short of small craft, the Chinese navy is ideally suited for movement among the 72,000 oriental junks which daily fish and carry cargo and passengers along Vietnam's Pacific Coast.

Should the United States become involved in inspection and seizure operations to stop arms traffic along the coast, the 7th Fleet probably would have to use amphibious vessels not much bigger than Chinese junks and carrying only improvised armament.

GOOD BASE

U. S. Navy sources believe that even the Chinese submarine fleet needs a larger industrial and ship overhaul base and more crew training to become formidable on the high seas.

They point to, however, that Red China has laid down a considerable industrial base — it hopes soon to equal Britain in steel production. A well-planned program, they believe, could wipe out the deficiencies in a few years.

Similarly, according to these sources, there is little doubt that in 10 to 15 years China could have Polaris-type submarines to carry nuclear explosives.

The most realistic assessment of the possibilities still leaves China far short of sea power. U.S. leaders believe that in a real shooting war the Chinese navy would disappear almost overnight. Adm. David L. McDonald, chief of naval operations summed up the problem recently by saying:

COMPETENCE

"With the growth of Red China's technical competence her interest in the sea can also be expected to increase. Some day she may challenge the established order of the sea in order to use it as an avenue to force her influence into other parts of the world."

"Thus, one of our major continuing problems is to improve our means of combating the submarine, both in its traditional role against ships and in its more recent one of launching missiles against land targets."

Trio Goes To Annual Girls' State

Three Harbor Area high school juniors have been tapped to represent their respective schools at the 22nd annual Girls' State convention June 21-29 at the University of California, Davis.

They are Karen Sutherland of Newport Harbor High School, Donna Fuller of Costa Mesa High School and Nancy E. Jarvis of Corona del Mar High School.

All three were chosen on the basis of scholarship and participation in school affairs. The week-long Girls' State conclave is sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary. It is aimed at giving high school student insight into the workings of U.S. and California government.

Miss Sutherland, 16, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Judson Sutherland, 233 Flower St., Costa Mesa.

Miss Fuller, 16, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Fuller, 354 Villanova Road, Costa Mesa.

Miss Jarvis, also 16, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Jarvis, 345 Evening Canyon Road, Corona del Mar.

Off-campus Housing at UCI Sought

Off-campus rentals within commuting distance of the University of California, Irvine, are needed for listing by the university's newly formed housing office.

Apartment and houses are desired by many faculty members due to arrive in July. Rentals will be needed in September for married students and single students not living at home or in the residence cottages currently under construction on the campus.

"We hope to have accommodations in all price ranges," said Mrs. Ellene J. Sumner, director of UCI's housing and food services. Listing in the housing office is provided without charge to either landlord or tenant, although facilities must meet minimum standards established by the Regents and the housing office.

No listing will be accepted which are restricted because of race, religion or national origin. This is in keeping with the university's non-discrimination policy, Mrs. Sumner said.

A detailed list of minimum standards for student rooms and apartments, together with applications for listing with the UCI Housing Office, may be obtained by calling 546-1500, EXT. 59, or writing the Housing Office, University of California, Irvine.

AWARD-WINNER

The DAILY PILOT has won more awards than any other newspaper in the Orange County area.

Kids Invited To View 'Farm'

It's spring down on the farm — the Orange Coast College farm, that is. Elgin L. Hall, OCC agriculture division chairman, has issued his annual invitation to elementary school children to pay a visit to the college farm.

Hall said elementary school classes may tour the agriculture area Mondays through Fridays until May 15.

Jaycees Slate Dinner-dance

Newly elected officers of the Huntington Beach Junior Chamber of Commerce will be installed at a dinner-dance May 8 at the Huntington Beach Country Club.

They are John Hall Jr., president; Ron Farle, internal vice president; Dan Danis, external vice president; John Hathaway, secretary; Paul Harenski, treasurer; Rick Troxell, state director; Bob Walker, internal director; and Bob Rivas, external director.

Easter Seal Funds Needed

This will never do! The Orange County Society for Crippled Children and Adults is 20 per cent short of its $50,000 goal through sale of Easter Seals.

The contributions thus far have reached only $39,050, said Dr. Howard Fradkin, executive director.

This means that too few of the 250,000 county residents, who received the Easter Seals through the mail, promptly tucked some money or a check in the return envelopes. The stamps apparently have been squirreled away in cubbyholes. They won't increase in value, like the postage stamp with the inverted airplane.

"Easter Seal sales provide entire support for our rehabilitation program, and we are badly in need of that final 20 per cent to reach our goal," said Dr. Fradkin.

"We rendered some 15,000 treatments to more than 1,000 patients, victims of polio, arthritis, muscular dystrophy, multiple sclerosis and other crippling diseases last year," he added.

"We hope to double the number of patients this year with our new rehabilitation center. But we can't if we don't get the money."

The society headquarters is at 585 S. Tustin Ave., Orange.

Ed Murrow Legacy: Courage, Conviction

By RICK du BROW
 HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — There is a special sorrow that Edward R. Murrow, who died yesterday of cancer, will not be with us to take part in the new era of transatlantic satellite television that begins Sunday.
 On that day, the Early Bird satellite, which will be capable of continuous transmissions between America and Europe, will inaugurate the era with a one-hour broadcast at 10 a.m. PDT. And no one was more responsible than Murrow for making broadcasting aware of its potential and necessary maturity in international reporting, starting with his memorable and often heroic radio programs from Europe in World War II.
BEST KNOWN
 These programs were not only the start of his journey to becoming one of the most influential and best-known newsmen of his time, but led to the building by CBS of the first overseas broadcasting reporting staff of any scope. Later, in television, though he is best remembered for his "See It Now" and "Person to Person" programs, he again was pointing the way to broadcasting's international potential with his "Small World" shows, linking guests in far-flung locales.
 Broadcasting, by simple technical progress or perhaps with another pioneer, surely would have developed competent overseas reporting staffs anyway eventually. But no one can deny Murrow's prominence in speeding the day when the news and public affairs workers of television unseated the enter aiment tucksters in terms of value to the medium, and became virtually its only justification for existence.
 Most important, what Murrow brought to his job and to the image of his profession in broadcasting was every bit as crucial as the technical developments that helped him and others in television news grow in significance. What he brought was courage and a conscience. To many, he symbolized the conscience of the best in television news. Even those who disagreed with him at times could not gainsay his courage. After such times, is it any wonder that there are many viewers who are distressed at what a mouse video has become in controversy?

SPECTACULAR
 The technical achievements become more spectacular, and the commentary becomes more bland, offering perhaps some Bob Hope-type satirical comments that hardly scratch, or a juvenile show like "That Was the Week That Was," or some fearless remarks about an event or person in another land, thousands of miles away, while the home front goes relatively unscathed. Distant, historical and futuristic documentaries are much preferred to those that might offend, with only a rare exception. Earlier this year, the Alfred I. DuPont Awards Foundation declined to name a winner for its annual commentator prize for the first time in 23 years, saying:
 "American broadcasting appears to be giving decreasing encouragement to the type of public service represented by the so-called commentator who is willing to give forthright expression to his personal insights and convictions."
 "CBS Reports" still does its job honorably, of course, and once in a while it gets some help. But things have been much quieter for a long time, unhappily, without Murrow on television. In one's mind there is always the picture of him sitting and talking with his trademark — a cigarette — in his hand, and somehow being able to reach for the heart as well as the mind. It is legend, of course, how, during World War II, he put his microphone to the ground so that radio listeners could hear Londoners walking — not running — to shelter during the Nazi blitz.

'Oklahoma!' Scheduled

One of Broadway's greatest musical successes will be recreated Friday and Saturday at the Newport Harbor High School auditorium when Harbor High students present their version of Rodgers and Hammerstein's "Oklahoma!"

The ambitious production, involving approximately 180 students in the cast, orchestra, dance numbers, chorus and stage crew, will be seen at 8:15 both nights.

Starring as Curly will be Steve Shuck, with Mary McKeever in the role of Laurey. Bill Keele and Elaine Blakely take the roles of Will and Annie, with Charlotte Hanna cast as Aunt Eller.

Completing the main cast are Jerry Sait as Jud Fry, Mike Manson as Ali Hakim, Helen Johnson as Gertie and Wesley Smith as Andrew Carnes. Three musical groups — the Chantelles, the A Capella Choir and the orchestra—will provide the musical background.

Directing the production is Les Van Dyke, chairman of the Harbor High music department. The stage crew and dancers are under the direction of the drama department's Frank Wright.

"CAIN'T SAY NO"—Bill Keele and Elaine Blakely are seen in supporting roles of Will Parker and Ado Annie in the Newport Harbor High School production of "Oklahoma!" to be seen Friday and Saturday at the school.

'Dear Charles'

Something Like 'Peyton Place'

By TOM TITUS
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

If "Peyton Place" were reincarnated as a French comedy, chances are it would turn out something like "Dear Charles," presented by the Lido Isle Players' Club last week.

Simply stated, it's the tale of a lady novelist who has to tell her three grown children that she never got around to marrying their fathers — any of them.

With this for an opening situation, it's not hard to imagine the complications that set in when mama (played beautifully by Thais Wickland) learns her eldest two are planning to marry into a pedigree-conscious family of sardine heirs and heiresses.

FIELD
Conscience sets in and she removes the painting (to which she's been "widowed" all these years) and sets out to get a genuine husband from her field of three former lovers of 20 odd years ago.

From there on, it's pretty predictable, but fun nevertheless as the trio (all unmarried, of course)—an Englishman, a Pole and a Frenchman vie with middle-aged ardor for their Denise's belated hand.

Mrs. Wickland, who carries the entire first act, turns in a glittering performance, one of three exceptionally bright spots in Alan Melville's rather lengthy comedy under the direction of Ross Dixon.

The others are from Joseph Charles, as the passionate Polish pianist who gleams the evening's top acting honors, and Ron McCommon, as the eldest son, Walter, hilariously reflecting his British heritage.

Laddie Reday as the blustering Briton and Bill Bunting as the deadpan Frenchman also come in for accolades, along with Elsie Painter, who is on-stage all to infrequently as the indignant maid.

Others in the cast include Russell Robinson as the doctor and family friend, Ralph Innes and Lee Munce, the other two children, and Constance Mitchell, Michele Reday and Harry Van Ornum as the dowager sardine czarina and her two children.

While the play is not always crackling with its witticisms and innuendoes, there are saving lines such as Denise's "I always seem to have been short one husband" to pep it up.

Probably the best line, however, comes when the three suitors are turning the living room into a miniature UN meeting and Bunting suggests, "Let's try to behave as adults, not adulterers."

Another choice moment is when Denise fixes a drink for her English, Polish and French lovers—promptly gagged upon by each. The ingredients, it seems, are one third each whiskey, vodka and wine.

Island Hopping

By ALMA OVERHOLT
OF THE DAILY PILOT STAFF

AVALON — The Southlands pleasure craft armada took over Avalon Bay for the inaugural of "Mooring Owners Day", vanguard of the 1965 yachting season, hosted by the city of Avalon.

Dick Evans was the busiest man on the float of the Catalina Island Yacht Club marshalling the nautical event. Lindsley Parsons of Newport Harbor and mate Susie aboard the Bonaventura led the parade of 40 yachts past the clubhouse where each received a cannon salute. Lindsley is president of the Mooring Owners; Hal Gartner is vice president and Ed Foster, secretary.

The Garters flew in for the event from Alphen, Holland, where for 11 months they have been supervising the construction of their new yacht, a 66-foot all-steel hull cruiser. The entire superstructure is teakwood. The craft has three double staterooms and two baths. The new yacht will reach the coast from Holland by freighter in June.

A dinner dance in the beautiful Casino ballroom was enjoyed by more than 400 yachting folk. Chef John Leonhardt of the Hotel St. Catherine outdid himself catering the sumptuous buffet.

Commodore Ted and Sally Radewill arrived on board their new flagship, "We're Ready". Marv and Wilene Whiteman had John and Mona Martin, Ona and Charles Kelly as guests aboard their beautiful cruiser, "Sun Dance," and at the Casino.

There was great excitement among their many friends at the Tuna Club when Dwight and Margo Hirsch arrived with Ed and Jane Greendyke for a brief visit from their plantation in Tahiti. Also arriving at the Tuna Club were Don and Middle Allison, Hubert and Pat Crosby cruised up from San Diego aboard their new "Reverie 13."

Dick and Hazel Evans brought Robert and Ruth Manning with them aboard their "M-Lady II". Odin and Leone Rich entertained Dr. George and Ruth Williamson aboard their "Arriverdise". Lee and Kenny Thoman had Robert and Jean Rollins as guests aboard their "Sharide".

Rear Commodore Bill and Louise Winter had their son, William III and his fiancée, Nan Griffin, aboard their "Weezy II". The couple will be married June 24 at the bride's home in Modesto.

Wes and Marnel Smith brought Commodore Larry and Vera McDowell and Commodore Ed and Frances Riesen aboard their "Wesmar." Out and Dort Rieth arrived aboard their "Mardor."

Claude and Rosalie Short brought their children aboard the "Mustang". Andy and Edna Hichox cruised over on board their "El Toro."

Sierra Club Talk Slated

SANTA ANA — Techniques of mountaineering will be explained by Ken Stichter before the Orange County group of the Sierra Club at 8 p.m. May 4, in the Spurgeon Room of the Public Library.

Stichter, 20, of Garden Grove, last summer was accepted as one of a group of climbers who were instructed at Mt. Rainier by several men who have taken part in Mt. Everest expeditions.

Some of the slides he then made to show types of rescue procedures, rope work, crossing glaciers, and methods of climbing out of crevasses, will be exhibited. The youth is also a swimming instructor at the Greta Anderson swimming school in Los Alamitos.

Doctor to Speak

ANAHEIM — Dr. Milton Bornstein, director of the County Diagnostic and Development Clinic, will speak on "Sex and the Retarded Child" before the Exceptional Children's Foundation at the Board of Education Building, 412 E. Broadway, at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

Civic Center Purchase Plan Before Council

A proposal by acting West-of-the-land at the agreed-upon land will be dropped if the City Administrator price of $770,000, he revealed, court approves the figure proposed by ex-City Administrator Raymond A. Cassidy aimed and will reassure the county proposed by Reg Foster and accepted by Mrs. Kunisawa.

City officials will be in court Monday, meanwhile, Cassidy said. Moving ahead on another front, Cassidy said he will propose a meeting of the City Council and financial consultants to study a $1,067,000 purchase agreement for the 20-acre parcel on West-Dyke Water Co. lines in Westminster. Cassidy said he wants a condemnation proceedings to go into details of the "plan minister Avenue just east of Beach Boulevard" before it is pre-empted by the City Council. It should expedite purchase now under way to acquire the meeting as soon as possible.

of the City Council, Stone and Youngberg, water bond salesmen and O'Melvey and Myers bond consultants, to discuss terms of the agreement. Also set for discussion tonight is the advisability of hiring a city industrial coordinator at the present time.

Ensenada Race

Sailboats Gather For May 1 Start

By ALMON LOCKABEY
Boating Editor
Sailing yachts from San Diego to the San Francisco

Bay area are converging on Newport Harbor this week for the Saturday noon start of the 18th Newport to Ensenada race sponsored by the Newport Ocean Sailing Association.

The final count of 474 competitors plus a dozen official power escort vessels cinched it as the world's largest international yacht race — with little possibility that it will be rivaled in years to come.

The entry list includes sailing yachts ranging from 22 feet to 100 feet in over-all length.

The activity will begin Saturday at about 10 a.m. when the majority of the 474 boats heads out through the jetty to the twin starting lines off the entrance buoy. It will be climaxed at 11:50 a.m. when the warning signal for the Midget Ocean Racing Fleet is hoisted aboard Louis C. Vierck's official race committee boat, La Osa. Starting signal for the MORF will be at noon.

After that a new class will hit the line every 10 minutes until 1 p.m. when the fleet catamarans are started.

THE LINEUP

For the benefit of shore-side watchers, here is the official starting lineup and signals:

The starting line west of the entrance buoy will be divided into two parts, the near end for Pacific Handicap Racing Fleet and Midget Ocean Racing Fleet yachts, and the outer or seaward portion for the Ocean Racing Handicap division. The official committee boat will be stationed in the center of the two lines. The check-in boat, Sirene, will mark the shoreward end of the line at the bell buoy, and another check-in boat, Imperator, will be stationed at the seaward end.

The PHRF and ORR fleets are divided into five classes, A, B, C, D, and E. Starts will be in reverse order, with the Class E yachts in both divisions starting simultaneously from their individual starting areas, the other classes will follow at 10-minute intervals.

For those who are able to spot the committee boat, these are the signals that will be hoisted and heralded by a cannon shot:

At 11:50 a.m. a white cone will denote the 10-minute warning for the Midget Ocean Racers; 11:55 the blue preparatory cone, and at 12 noon the red starting cone. Each signal will be lowered 30 seconds before the hoisting of the next signal.

After the start of MORF the other signals will be in this order: 12:10 p.m., white cone, start of Class E in PHRF and ORR; 12:20 p.m., blue cone, start of Class D PHRF and ORR; 12:40 p.m., white start Class B, PHRF and ORR; 12:50 p.m., blue cone, start Class A, PHRF and ORR; 1 p.m., red cone, start catamarans.

STAND CLEAR

All spectator vessels are requested to stay clear of the starting area until after the final class has started.

The race has been rated as 125 nautical miles. There are no marks of the course between Newport and Ensenada. The fleet usually splits after passing Point Loma as skippers choose courses inside or outside the Coronados Islands in an effort to outguess the weather.

The inside course is slightly shorter and has the advantage of picking up offshore zephyrs in the event the wind dies at night. Those who choose the outside course are gambling that the onshore morning breeze will fill in from the west and send the outsiders on their way long before it reaches those snaking along the mainland shore.

This, and multiple heads' changes and spinnaker jibes, is about the only strategy connected with the Ensenada race.

The yachts will finish off the outer breakwater at Ensenada, leaving the committee boat to port.

All yachts are required to notify the race committee or the Coast Guard if they abandon the race or arrive at Ensenada under power. This is to prevent the possibility of a needless search for yachts not accounted for by the committee at the finish. Any yacht failing to comply with this rule will be disqualified from future races.

Powerboats Give Big Assist to Ensenada Yacht Race

The hard-working powerboat fleet has long been an important adjunct to the Newport-Ensenada race, sponsored by the Newport Ocean Sailing Association.

The power boaters serve as official committee boats and escort boats ready to lend assistance to any of the sailing yachts that get into difficulty on the 125-mile course. The race committee, headed by Don Morden, will be aboard Louis C. Vierck's 83-foot La Osa. Other power boats serving in an official capacity in this year's race are Robert L. Barneson's 50-foot Woolahra; G. H. Gummess' 45-foot Su-Nan-G; Milton Bren's 57-foot Lady Claire;

Neil Compton's 53-foot Happy Cees; Bruce Murchison's 85-foot Dreamboat II; Lindsey Parsons' 63-foot Buena Ventura; E. B. Spordled-er's 47-foot Rapparee; William Winberg's 47-foot Little One, and Ralph P. Williams' 65-foot Carmen Marla.

Parisian Atmosphere Prevails at Art Soiree

Spirit of Soiree d'Art effervesces as planners ready the "uncorking" of their biennial benefit, a champagne supper and art auction.

And a Parisian atmosphere will prevail at the fund-raising event, to be sponsored by Newport Harbor Auxiliary of Children's Home Society of California at 7 p.m. Friday, April 20, in Irvine Coast Country Club.

Diners will be seated in a formal French garden, which is being created by Mrs. E. Richard Sorensen, decoration chairman, and her committee. Tables will be adorned with plum candles entwined with leaves and plum and lime bows will encircle champagne buckets.

As guests move upstairs for the auction of 33 paintings, contributed by prominent Southern California artists, the garden motif will be continued as the entire backdrop will be a bower of lemon leaves.

Included in the outstanding array of paintings, to be auctioned by John Scott Trotter assisted by Robert Guggenheim Jr., master of ceremonies, will be works by Thelma Cardin, Claude Taylor, Ruth L. Osgood, Rex Brandt, James Fuller, Anne Von, Ruby Hufford, Roger Kuntz, David Rosen, Harold Noyes, Robert E. Wood, Diana J. Nies, Mary Lind, Herbert Griswold, Dixi Hall, Don Shreves, Priscilla Frazer, Frances Williams, Mifford Zornes and Vashti Whitnah.

Also offering their works will be Lt. Cmdr. S. J. Sowinski, USN, Joan Irving Brandt, Frank Hamilton, Thelma Paddock Hope, Melva Rue, Gloria Bradson, Louise Lieber, Caro Eaton, Ralph Hulett, Bernard Zalusky, Clair A. Weidenaar, Jan Kasprzycki, Duncan McKerracher, Phil Dike and Olga Higgins.

An innovation, Le Petit Salon, started at the last art soiree will be repeated, according to Mrs. Ira W. Smith, auxiliary president. The salon differs from the auction in that the collected art is sold outright at designated prices, but all under $50.

Offered in the salon, distinguished by its red and white striped awning and overflowing flower carts, will be serigraphs, etchings, pen and ink sketches, oils, watercolors, ceramics, jewelry, bas relief, collages and stitchery.

Mrs. William F. Krumpholtz, soiree chairman, is being assisted by the Mes. George W. Gurr Jr., paintings; Charles Stilgenbauer, reservations; Edward F. Ward Jr., programs; Bruce W. Sumner, invitations; Alfred B. Nedeau, supper, and Renfro C. Newcomb, transportation.

EXCELLENCE IN DESIGN—Matching the excellence in achievements of outstanding women leaders, who will receive Athena awards from Newport Harbor and Southern Orange County Panhellenic, will be the design of the medallion itself. Ready-sketches for competition are (from left) Mrs. William Telkamp, Mrs. Lloyd McCollum and Mrs. George Wyman of the Newport Harbor group.

'Pageant of Panthanaea'

Panhellenic to Recognize Outstanding Achievements

Outstanding women leaders will be recognized by Newport Harbor and Southern Orange County Panhellenic during their "Pageant of Panthanaea," a re-creation of an ancient spring festival.

Gold medallions featuring Athena, Greek Goddess of wisdom and art, will be presented to modern-day Athenas to be selected and announced during this exciting affair, which will be continued as an annual event.

Nominations are being made by service and philanthropic organizations as well as Panhellenic alumnae groups. Selections will be made on the basis of excellence in achievement and community service.

Setting for the benefit dinner dance and fashion show, which will aid Panhellenic's Dollars for Scholars program, will be the court at Bullock's Fashion Square Saturday, May 15.

The fashion show, entitled "Your life in Color Key," will be presented by Robert Dorr, a foremost color expert who has designed the fashionable Las Vegas Dunes and other smart hotel and theatrical settings. He is the creator of Color Key Dictionary, a color tool based on continuous and intensive research. Each guest will receive a copy of the dictionary.

Strolling musicians will entertain throughout the evening, and provide music for dancing under the stars.

Mrs. Worthington Lee, ways and means chairman, is directing the philanthropic project for Newport Harbor Panhellenic.

Assisting her are the Mes. Laurence Danver, Robert Kearns, George Newton and Jack Griffiths. Publicity is being handled by Mrs. Lloyd McCollum and Mrs. Newton. Mrs. Ronald Sims, president, is coordinating committees.

Avoid Reaping Whirlwind by Airing Breezy Topic

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Why are teen-agers (almost without exception) obsessed with the desire to know all there is to know about sex?

My husband and I are not prudes nor do we believe that silence and secrecy should surround this topic. But we do feel that entirely too much emphasis has been placed on sex talk. Is it healthy to give teen-agers so much information so soon?

Although we are Canadian parents we feel this problem exists in the U.S. as well. Thank you, MR. and MRS. J.

DEAR MR. AND MRS. J.: Sex is equated with love in the movies, on TV and in novels. Everyone wants to be loved, and kidsglom onto the idea that sex is love.

I do not believe teen-agers today are more interested in sex than we were 30 years ago but they are certainly less self-conscious about it.

Nor do I regard the teens' insistence on knowing all about sex as unhealthy. They SHOULD know about it. They should know that sex belongs in marriage. They should know that when it is employed as entertainment it can be dangerous and destructive. I have never heard of a teen-ager getting into trouble because he had too much information, but a great many teen-agers have met with disaster because they had either too little information—or the wrong kind.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A friend of mine lives on the other side of town. We speak on the telephone almost every day. I have more free time than she does so I usually call her.

Several times in the last few months she has said to me, "I have to get off the phone now because I am expecting an important call." This is irritating. In fact I think it's an insult. What do you think?—SLAPPED AT A DISTANCE

DEAR SLAPPED: Before I can give you an opinion I'd have to know some details, such as: When does your friend say she must get off the phone—after two minutes, after ten minutes, or after 55 minutes?

Some people are trapped by long-winded phone pests and in an effort to shake loose, they will say almost anything.

Since you have more free time than your friend, why not let her call you when she finds it convenient?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Before I met my wife she was engaged to someone else. The engagement was off long before I came along so I had nothing to do with it. I think they knew each other pretty well, if you get what I mean.

My wife and I have been married several years and I have no reason to doubt that she loves me. She has been 100% loyal and true.

Every few months we run into her former boyfriend—usually at a wedding or a funeral. My wife always greets this man in a friendly manner. Sometimes they exchange a few sentences.

It burns me up to see them act like casual acquaintances when a great many people know what went on between them. I think she should not speak to him at all. I get so mad when they put on this innocent act that sometimes I won't talk to her for two days. Do you think I am wrong?—AGAINST PHONY ACTS

DEAR AGAINST: You're not only wrong, but you're childish and maybe a little bit nutty, too.

It would be unnatural for these two not to speak at all. In fact, it would appear to those who knew them that something was still cooking.

You should be pleased that they behave in a civilized manner. Now why don't you?

Do you learn anything from this? You may regret it later. Send to: ANN LANDERS, 1001 E. 10th St., Portland, Ore. 97232. Send your request in care of this newspaper. ## RAMBLING ROUND RICHARDS

WITH SALLIE

Biggest steak story ever told... or if you want to renew old acquaintances, ask to be put on our mailing list of specials for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Now we'd like anybody who wants to receive these first of the week specials to have them, but our mailing list has been accumulated by request. If you would like to be on it, please ask.

WHY GERTIE'S FRIENDS

Gertie is our fictitious untypical shopper who holds sway over the mailing piece each week and she's the gal who's always gathering up the goodies and whipping up the recipes... Now... the steak story. You "Bring the Gertie in to take advantage of the unmarked specials and you could win enough steak for 4 people." The 5 winning names are printed in the lower left hand corner.

Now a Mrs. Leddy was one of the lucky winners a couple of weeks ago. A Mrs. Kenison on the other hand received her Gertie and was checking to see if she had won any steaks when she noticed Mrs. Leddy's Name. Years back, Mrs. Kenison had had a buddy friend called Mrs. Leddy. "I wonder if it's the same Mrs. Leddy," Mrs. Kenison searched for the telephone number. She called, and it was. They hadn't seen each other for 35 years, so there was a big old lost people reunion over a free steak dinner. Please ask if you'd like to receive Gertie. Maybe you will find a lost someone.

HOT BREAD

AT 11 AND 2

On the Gertie, you'll usually find one of the 34 or was it 39 at the last count, specialty breads, home baked in our own bakery at a special price. "Just for my special friends," sez Gertie. Right now butter-milk bread is the big staff of life thing, making the rounds of the bakery ovens... Big round fluffy white loaves... an extra rich dough, so exceptionally moist and nicely tender you'll want to tear off big chunks, melt big blobs of butter over it and have a mouth melting ball. Our Dale Dutton has arranged for buttermilk bread to come out of the oven every day at 11.

If you happen to miss the 11 in the morning hot shift... try 2 in the afternoon...

Another great favorite... Sheepherder bread makes its savory hot appearance. Sheepherder bread, so called because the original was made around the campfires of the sheepherders while they watched their flocks... Slow baked and delicious, a different brick oven taste... MM... so good.

BREAD

AND BOATS

Galley Bread... I ran across a barbecued chicken sandwich in the coffee shop made with Galley bread and became excited over this wheaty goodness all over again... 'Tis said to be the dream bread of Captain Bligh and Fletcher Christian while they were adventuring in Ports of Paradise... ground whole grain wheat and rye, dark molasses, flax meal and sesame... All strength and energy eating. Boat bread for boats... The bakery has a special bake to take on long sails or cruises... Lasts for 2 weeks. Richard's Boat baked bread will be the most popular item on the big Trans Pac race.

A gal was going to Italy by boat, and a few friends had a going away luncheon. In the center of the table was an Italian bouquet which went this-away. Two loaves of French bread were scooped out for the container. The bouquet... Real Amore... with pink, white and red carnations, intermingled with white lilies, bellies of Ireland all perfectly coordinated with spaghetti and bread sticks... what fun. Our designer wanted to further enhance this with green onions and flowers of garlic, but was afraid the girls might turn up their noses. But the French bread did smell delicious.

How a Fledgling Steno Founded International Legal Secretaries

By SHIRLEY HUTTON
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Amid pomp and gaiety of convention glitter, the Costa Mesa founder of Legal Secretaries, International, still will be haunted by happenings of a dismal afternoon many years ago.

But the poise of Mrs. Eula Mae Jett will not falter when she installs California officers during a state convocation in Disneyland Hotel May 21-23. . . for the memory is an inspiration, not a hindrance.

She will recall the day in 1929 when a frightened young steno was nearly reduced to tears in the office of the Long Beach County Clerk when informed that the forms she had laboriously completed to file before deadline were obsolete!

ADMONITION

Shaking his head severely, his remark, "I don't know why you gals don't find out what is required," penetrated Eula Mae's bewilderment not as the admonition it was intended to be. . . but as a challenge. . . one to be met head-on and wrestled with for the next 36 years.

Taking the bull by the horns (after completing the proper forms) with a no-nonsense attitude, Eula Mae sent orders (couched in legal terms of her newly acquired vocabulary) to every attorney's office in Long Beach to "Show Cause" why their secretaries should not attend a meeting that would form the basis of educational sessions for the secretaries.

ORGANIZATION

Eighty secretaries in varying stages of knowledge and confusion turned out for the first meeting in September, 1929, and almost 50 signed to attend regular workshop meetings.

Encouragement poured in from all sources. The president of the Bar Association helped map an educational program, and judges described the refinements they would like in presentation of pleadings and court documents. The County Clerk, whose impatience had triggered the movement, launched a program to keep "his gals" informed about new legal rulings and forms with personal instructions of how to handle them!

The term "legal secretary" was born as attorneys enumerated the qualities they required in secretaries as opposed to requirements in other fields.

COMMUNICATION

Word spread to other cities in California and the

IT'S REALLY VERY SIMPLE, NOW — But the why and wherefores of a legal secretary's duties were a mystery to the stenographers performing them back in 1929. Mrs. Eula Mae Jett of Costa Mesa (seated) rallied the forces in the legal profession and became the founder of Legal Secretaries, International. She and Mrs. Robert Matthews review points to be discussed at a state convention slated for May 21-23 in Disneyland Hotel.

existing club helped new chapters form. In 1934 following the first state convention of legal secretaries an article in "Case and Comment" brought the group to national attention. Work for the out-of-state membership chairman became voluminous as chapters sprung up from coast to coast.

Today Legal Secretaries is international with chapters in Europe, the Orient and South America. From its inception the association has stressed that its members are not trying to practice law but to become better secretaries specializing in the legal field.

This month Mrs. Jett will be honored as founder of the association when Orange County Chapter is host to more than 30 state chapters.

and the Hon. William J. Murray, judge of Superior Court will be master of ceremonies at the banquet. Walter B. Chaffee, Orange County Legal Secretaries' Boss-of-the-year will be honored and community approval of the association will come from Dr. David P. Bundy, who will gavel the Sunday morning brunch.

When it is all over, Mrs. Jett will probably spend an evening after work in a Newport Beach office, reminiscing with cronies of Lex-X-Prexies, past presidents of Long Beach Chapter, mulling over the days gone by when a lawyer's steno didn't know a codicil from a catalog.

MRS. ROBERT MCKEEVER
Married in Altadena

McKeever-List Vows Recited in Altadena

First Methodist Church, Pasadena, was the setting for the marriage linking Sandra Gayle List and Robert McKeever, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel McKeever Jr. of Newport Beach. The Rev. David H. McKeithen directed the vow exchange.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar George List of Altadena, was given in marriage by her father. She wore a floor-length A-line gown of ivory satin fashioned with an alencon lace bodice and train. Her shoulder-length veil was held by an ivory satin bow, and she carried a cascade of white roses, stephanotis and ivy.

Olive-colored crepe gowns with matching hats and cascades of daisies were selected for the bride's entourage. Miss Patricia Louise List was her sister's maid of honor; bridesmaids were Mary McKeever of Newport Beach, Lynne Wilcox of Altadena, Mrs. Douglas Wright Jr., Duarte, and Beverly Bentley, Santa Barbara.

Robert McClelland of Newport Beach attended as best man. Ushers were Daniel McKeever III, the bridegroom's brother; Jack Gaffey, Arcadia; Philip Pierpont, Altadena, and Benjamin Miller, Hemet.

After honeymooning at Big Bear, the couple will live in Riverside.

The bride is a graduate of John Muir High School, Pasadena; and majored in English at California State Polytechnic College, San Luis Obispo.

Her husband was graduated from Newport Harbor High School and is attending University of California, Riverside where he is a math major, active on the track team and president of the cycling club.

GETTING INTO THE SPIRIT — Looking forward to International Night, Wednesday, May 5, in Costa Mesa Presbyterian Church of the Covenant are (from left) Mrs. J. Fred Anderson and Mrs. J. A. Joyce, program chairman, dressed in Chinese gown.

International Dinner Slated by Association

Exotic costumes, menu, music and even guests will be the order of the evening when the Women's Association of the Costa Mesa Presbyterian Church of the Covenant present International Night under the chairmanship of Mrs. John A. Joyce at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 5, in the church.

Special guests will be American Field Service foreign students Reiko Takahashi of Japan, Toulia Spanou of Greece, Anne Shenton of Northern Rhodesia, Robin Lane of Australia, Giovanni Donelli of Italy, Eddie Jafafer of Switzerland and Caroline Barnier of France.

After dinner, which will offer menu choices from China, Japan, Italy and Russia, the Mesa High Madrigal Singers will perform, followed by an informal discussion with the AF's students led by Mrs. Joyce. Costumes of foreign countries may be worn to the dinner, which will cost $1.25 per person. Reservations are requested by May 3 and may be made by calling the church secretary, 545-4304, or Mrs. J. Fred Andersen, 546-2826.

NEW YORK (AP) — Imagine, housewives shopping for your groceries in a supermarket without clerks, without market baskets and with all the products behind glass.

And with an electronic device to add up the bill and record charges in place of the usual checkout counter.

It's coming in perhaps five to 10 years the experts say. Forerunners already have appeared in France and Sweden.

"Of course, the ultimate step may be elimination of all supermarkets," said Herbert R. Brinberg, who as market research director of American Can Co. studies such possibilities. "I mean it very seriously. If people become accustomed to buying without touching, there's no reason they couldn't get used to ordering by video telephone two or three times a week."

Brinberg sees an automated supermarket, as working like this: The shopper enters a display section that occupies a fraction of the floor; space now required. Products are arrayed in customary groupings — preserves, breakfast foods, and the like — behind a transparent partition dotted with key slots.

The shopper takes a key from her purse. The key would operate a micro-miniature electronic tape-recording device.

Choosing her brand of coffee, the shopper inserts the key into the slot in the partition, turns and withdraws it. Then she moves on to the soups, detergents and so on.

At the conclusion of her shopping, she inserts the key into an electronic scanner, charge-reckoning and clearing device hooked into a computer that starts things moving in a warehouse some of the store.

The arrangement presupposes that the housewife will be billed at the end of the month. Provision could be made for cash collection.

The shopper then elects whether to have her purchases delivered or bagged for loading into her car.

"The bulk of space in this type of store would be devoted to an automated warehouse. It would employ technologies now rapidly growing in use in commercial warehousing," Brinberg said in an interview.

These boil down to computer directed, mechanical means of discharging cans, packages and jars from storage bins into belts and chutes that collect the items at a delivery point.

A "White Ribbon Re-eruit" service will be featured during the next meeting of the Costa Mesa Woman's Christian Temperance Union at 1 p.m. Friday, May 14. Mrs. Hubert Groody will supervise the service and Mrs. Hallie Manning and Mrs. Lavina Porter will be hostesses.

An all-day local institute was held at the April meeting during which Mrs. J. E. Fishback presided. Mrs.

Elin Myrehn, local director of the institute presided over reports and work of the departments of health and medical temperance, with Mrs. Fishback reporting; flower mission and relief, Miss Maude Speicher, and legislation - Christian citizenship, Mrs. Julius Christenson.

Mrs. Fishback also discussed parliamentary law. Mrs. Sadie Bland reviewed international relations for peace, and Mrs. Margaret Clark told of current needs of Veterans' Hospitals.

Prayer and faith in God as answers to world problems was the theme of noontide devotions given by the Rev. Lester Sund.

Mrs. Guy Churchill discussed an article about cigarettes in a national magazine.

Hostesses for the luncheon were Mrs. Gertrude Schenk and Mrs. Harry Speth, with Miss Lura Smith acting as replacement for Mrs. Speth in her absence. Sack lunches were supplemented with salads, cake, coffee, tea and fruit juice.

Strife in Santa Ana

Politically speaking, Santa Ana is in shambles. Of all cities in Orange County Santa Ana, as the county seat, should set a shining example of efficient, harmonious municipal government.

It is the county's first city, with roots running deep in the region's history and culture.

Instead of carrying on a tradition of forward-looking leadership, Santa Ana has managed to project an image all across the nation as a municipality torn by strife.

Police Chief Edward Allen and City Manager Carl Thornton became the principal targets — rightly or wrongly — of a campaign to oust them from office. The John Birch Society was involved, but to what extent, no one knows because of a plethora of claims and counter-claims.

To try to get at the facts and end the verbal donnybrook, the Santa Ana City Council hired James C. Bigler, a Los Angeles investigator, to dig into the situation and report his findings.

The resulting Bigler Report was in the category of a raw file such as the FBI assembles for evaluation and not for publication. Such files contain hearsay evidence, undocumented claims and libelous assertions.

Such parts of the report as the city council saw fit to release to the public served only to complicate the issues in the city election campaign then going on. But a new council was elected and there was hope that the issues would be settled on a merit basis and that would end the acrimony.

Instead, persons still unidentified printed several hundred copies of the full, unprocessed, unevaluated report. These were distributed to local businessmen and they were published by one newspaper with only minor editing.

What has happened in Santa Ana is that the truth has been buried under an avalanche of unsubstantiated charges.

The new city council faces an immensely complicated task of reconstruction as a result of the vicious and irresponsible release of the Bigler Report.

Orange Countians of good will wish the councilmen and all responsible Santa Ana citizens all success in restoring order.

Another Forward Step

Another long step was taken in Sacramento last week toward protecting the people's right to know what their public servants are doing. The Assembly voted overwhelmingly (53-9) to strengthen the Brown Act, the state's anti-secrecy in government law.

The measure, authored by Assemblyman Milton Marks (R-San Francisco), would plug loopholes used by some public agencies to hold their meetings in private, excluding the public and their "eyes and ears," the press.

If the bill now passes the Senate, all duly constituted local government committees, including subcommittees of only two members, will be required to meet in public whether or not a quorum is present. Personnel matters could be taken up in closed "executive" session.

Local agencies would be permitted to go into executive sessions to discuss litigation only if they are a direct party to the litigation. Those executive sessions would be permitted only during special meetings publicized ahead of time.

Although the Brown Act has been used as a model for reform in other states, it has had its flaws. This bill, if enacted into law, should go far toward correcting these.

For Right to Work

Having passed a civil rights law to protect Negroes from discrimination in employment, Congress is now preparing to debate a labor-sponsored bill that would deliver to unions now practicing discrimination the working fate of millions of Americans of all races.

The AFL-CIO, from its Washington headquarters, talks nobly of ending racial bias and fulminates against the South. But the fact remains that unions do practice discrimination against Negroes, openly and energetically. That discrimination will be sanctioned by force of law and political muscle if Congress repeals Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act. This provision of the labor-management law allows individual states to legislate against compulsory unionism.

PRESIDENT Lyndon Johnson has said that he favors repeal of Section 14(b). But having taken soundings, he is not ready to destroy the "consensus" which has marked his administration by an open battle against a majority of the American people and in favor of the labor minority. In his labor message on May 10, Mr. Johnson will not mention 14(b) repeal, but in a covering communication he will call for its repeal. The publicity will go to the message, not to the covering letter — so Mr. Johnson will not publicly associate himself with legislation Congress would like to forget.

CONGRESS reads its mail and some Congressmen read the newspapers. They know that voluntary unionism — or right-to-work, as it is called — infuriates labor to the extent that great sums of money and tremendous effort are used to defeat candidates who refuse to support union compulsion. At the same time, all reliable polls show that the American people, including many members of unions, oppose compulsory unionism and repeal of 14(b).

In fact, Opinion Research of Princeton, among the most reliable of polling organizations, has just completed a survey which shows that by a preponderance of two-to-one, Americans say, "Do not repeal 14(b)."

THE SAME poll shows that nearly two-thirds of adult Americans favor a national right-to-work law, that seven out of ten college graduates favor making all unionism voluntary, and that only 40 per cent of union family members want compulsory unionism.

Interestingly enough, two-thirds of the Negroes polled stated flatly that unions practice racial discrimination. For them, compulsory unionism can mean not getting a better job, or being consigned to certain menial fields of employment. Unions that discriminate, work through employers to perpetuate this custom.

AS I NOTED, therefore, repeal of 14(b) can largely negate whatever has been accomplished under the Civil Rights Act of 1964 to open up new employment opportunities for Negroes. No employer is going to battle the unions in his plant in order to provide jobs for qualified Negroes.

Yet the very people who clamored loudest for civil rights legislation now agitate most feverishly for repeal of 14(b). And the courts, which breathe fire in the "defense" of the Bill of Rights, refuse to honor the First Amendment when dealing with compulsory unionism.

THIS FACT is frequently forgotten by the pundits who talk so glibly of freedom. In labor matters, the Supreme Court has held that unions have a right to compel individuals to join. Section 14(b) was specifically written to give people who wished to exercise their rights under the First Amendment legislative sanction to do so.

The labor unions do not tell us about this. They continue to hail compulsory unionism as a principle stemming from the Magna Carta, the Declaration of Independence, and the 23rd Psalm. Whoever questions this is marked down as a reactionary, a stooge of management, and a thoroughly unpleasant fellow who probably beats his wife.

IF AND WHEN a bill repealing 14(b) is introduced, it should be debated thoroughly and dispassionately so that the full significance of the provision be made clear. Organized labor should be asked to show with facts, rather than angry diatribes, that right-to-work laws have hurt unions in those states which have enacted them. All they have done that my eye can discern is to force labor leaders to act as if the dues-payer were a member in good standing rather than a pawn in the power struggle.

No one wants to hurt the unions. But the kind of arrogant excess which led to the attempted election theft of the International Union of Electrical Workers presidency, has pointed to some ugly and anti-democratic practices in labor's house. To compel a man to surrender his right to work under these circumstances is to condemn him to cruel and unusual punishment.

Deserve Pensions

To the Editor:

There are some 22 million war veterans in the United States. Two million or so are men who served in World War I, all of them over 65 and 90 per cent of them in need.

There is a lot of talk about a war against poverty, but the President has not suggested that a pension be paid to these men. We can spend and throw away billions of dollars on countries that despise us, call us names, burn our libraries and confiscate our property. The President does not order foreign aid stopped but he does recommend closing 31 VA hospitals. He is opposed to helping the aged, needy veterans of 1917-19.

Shades of McCarthy

Once upon a time there was a nondescript Senator who wasn't getting anywhere. But one day in his cups he took an old parking ticket out of his pocket and waved it aloft in front of an audience in Wheeling, W. Va., and cried:

"I have here in my hand a document proving conclusively that 87 higher-ups in the Attorney General's office are sheet-wearing members of the Ku Klux Klan!"

THE CHARGE created a sensation. The Attorney General issued a flat denial. But couldn't prove it. The Senator hailed him before the Unlikable Activities Committee. "Do you deny," demanded the Senator, "that on the night of October 31, 1927, you placed a bed sheet over your head and, carrying a hollowed-out pumpkin (which I will link up later), extorted candy and other favors from your neighbors on the threat of doing physical harm to their property?"

The Attorney General took the Fifth Amendment. The Senator called him "a Fifth Amendment Klanner" and said he was "broadening the scope of the investigation" to include Nazis, Black Muslims and the PTA. The nation was in an uproar.

THE RADICAL left formed The Christian Anti-Ku Klux Klan Crusade and proposed the Senator for President. The Liberals said, "Well, we don't approve of his methods, but you have to admit he's getting results." The Conservatives said the Unlikable Activities Committee was downright unlikable. But they didn't say so very loudly. The Radical Right went underground.

In daily headlines, the Senator decried "anti-Klanners," "fuzzy-minded muslim lovers" and "the d-room whites." After nine months of hearings, he proved that two janitors at the Lincoln Memorial were avowed Black Nationalists and that several Pentagon Generals had consorted with Nazis during World War II peace negotiations.

THE DIRECTOR of the FBI wrote a book, "The Enemy Between the Sheets." Three State Department officials resigned under pressure for having negotiated in 1932 with the Bey of Algiers, a known Moslem. Across the land, at the mention of the Senator's name, frightened children pulled the sheets up over their heads. The Senator promptly launched an investigation of the Bey Scouts.

In an historic press conference, he disclosed that "Klan-type bed sheets are being openly sold in supposedly - American stores throughout the country, even to our red-blooded, mindless youths."

JANUARY White Sales were cancelled. In every home, patriotic housewives ripped their sheets into dust rags or contributed them to neighborhood "sheet burnings." Ordinances were passed banning the sale or possession of sheets and proscribing "blanket oaths" for all public officials. By June sheets had vanished from the American scene.

The nation retired each night to toss and turn on lumpy mattresses under itchy blankets, only to arise each morning scratchy-eyed, sleepless and unable to think clearly. But as the Senator said: "Our comfort is a small enough price to pay for our freedom!"

MORAL: If you investigate and investigate and investigate, eventually you will make everybody uncomfortable.

By WILLIAM D. JOHNSON
Life Member
Illinois Bar
Orange Coast Resident

Last July the DAILY PILOT published my review of the movement to amend the Constitution to "nullify" the Supreme Court's decisions in the Engle and Murray cases pertaining to Bible reading and prayer in public schools.

Many readers have since inquired concerning the final outcome of the tremendous effort put forth last year in this attempt. And now and then an article appears by folks who still bemoan the alleged erosion of religion in our public schools.

THESE PERSONS assert that the country has gone to the bow-wows because of these decisions. They claim our youth has been deprived of religious training, as if our public schools had suddenly become Sabbath Schools.

Alarms are often registered by parents either too indolent or incapable of doing the job of training their children in the important role of religious education right at home. With all the printed helps available, this should not be too difficult.

By way of reminder, last year more than two million petitioners, at the behest of certain mistaken prophets, appealed to Congress to have the Constitution amended to bring about this much desired "nullification," asserting that it had become imperative that this be done speedily, before all was lost.

WHEREUPON no fewer than 146 proposed constitutional amendments were dropped into the hopper of the House of Representatives for the express purpose of complying with the desires of these petitioners. It is said that practically all Protestant churches in America, and many others, were approached by totally misinformed youth groups procuring signatures to these petitions as though a religious crusade were about to take place.

Special hearings were held in April and May, 1964, by the Judiciary Committee of the House — 17 days in all. Nearly 2,800 closely printed pages of testimony and arguments pro and con resulted. Wordage totaled more than a million, most of it repetitious. (Copies are available either at the public library or by writing to the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D.C.)

AT THE CONCLUSION of these hearings it evidently dawned on members of the committee, consisting of some able constitutional lawyers, that it was about time to disillusion these misinformed but well-intentioned youth groups, to let them know that someone had either misconstrued the Supreme Court's language or had not studied the decisions.

This was clearly demonstrated by the fact that under the free exercise clause of the First Amendment these rights remained exactly as before. No one had been denied the privilege of offering prayer anywhere, including our public schools, public buildings and legislative halls — if carried on without being coercively prescribed by some governmental authority (school boards), as more fully set forth in the review and numerous other publications appearing at the time.

The Judiciary Committee did not even deem it worthwhile to report its conclusions to the House. The whole subject, as the saying goes, "died in committee." It was an honorable demise. The money wasted must have amounted to an enormous sum, mostly at taxpayers' expense. Only in America could this happen, where every adult, male and female, is a "constitutional lawyer."

It might also be well to remind Californians that ours is one of the few states which some years ago adopted an amendment doing away with all religious exercises in public schools. It stands to reason that practically every teacher and all school boards welcomed the move. It would seem that before Californians made another attempt in this respect, their first job should be to appeal to the Legislature at Sacramento, not to Washington.

Hal Boyle

Off to Vietnam

EN ROUTE TO SAIGON — Many firms have a policy of rewarding employees after long service.

So does mine. On completing 30 years at the same old typewriter stand, I was summoned by an executive who told me:

"We are giving you a free two-month trip, all expenses paid. Where do you think is the worst place in the world to be right now?"

"Vietnam," I replied without hesitation.

"Well, isn't that a strange coincidence?" exclaimed my kindly superior. "That's the very place we got you a ticket to."

THEN HE ADDED as an after thought:

"Better get over there as soon as you can. The monsoon season is about to start — and you certainly wouldn't want to miss that."

So it was that I learned I had volunteered to help cover a third war. The others were World War II and our "police action" in Korea.

When I informed friends that I was going to Vietnam they were of two opinions. Some said they envied me, because they felt sure it would be an interesting and educational assignment. The others, whose views I happen to prize more highly, ly, simply said, "You must be out of your mind."

A FRIENDLY cab driver to whom I confided my mission had still a different reaction. Turning and looking critically at my thinning hair and bulging waistline, he shook his head and remarked:

"Gee, now I'm really worried I didn't know the situation out there was that desperate. Lyndon Johnson sure is scraping the bottom of our manpower barrel."

The first action in approaching any war is always a battle with red tape. It took two weeks and 12 dull needles to go through a series of medical shots protecting against smallpox, plague, cholera — and practically everything else except the inconvenience of sudden metallic ventilation. Modern medicine doesn't seem to have a wonder drug to prevent that.

THEN YOU have to go to the Vietnam Embassy in Washington, D.C., for a visitor's visa. Then you drop by the Pentagon for a chocolate milkshake, a briefing, and a wallet identity card from the Department of Defense which warns our public information officers abroad that you are a newsmen.
