

WCTU Pops Its Cork White House Wine Celler? For Shame!

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Women's Christian Temperance Union (WCTU) has popped its cork about President Johnson's plan to install a wine cellar in the White House.

And to serve beer to teenagers. For shame!

Mrs. Fred T. Tooez, president of the ladies of abstinence, scolded President Johnson personally on both counts last night at the opening session of the WCTU's 91st convention.

"John Barleycorn's boot is in the White House door," she said, "and the President of the United States is helping to keep it there."

The President's plan "to put a wine cellar in the White House and the White House innovation of serving beer to teenagers is to be condemned," she told the lady delegates.

In a mixture of nostalgic fervor and plans for a big centennial in 1974, the WCTU ladies celebrated the 91st year of their war on "king alcohol." The group's name to the contrary, it does not advocate temperance but total abstinence.

The ladies noted several signs of a grim future: —A total of 10 million "problem drinkers" in the United States and an increase in the number of alcoholics by 250,000 a year.

—An increase in alcoholism among housewives; admission of female alcoholics to mental institutions up 34 per cent in the decade.

—Since repeal of prohibition, a total of $24 billion spent for "strong drink," according to Mrs. Tooez.

Another dark spot was a $10 million libel suit filed against the WCTU recently by the United States Brewing Co. of Chicago. The suit was in reply to charges made by Mrs. Tooez that its non-alcoholic product Jet near beer was undermining teenagers' morals. She said they mixed it grain alcohol.

Vietnam Fires Generals Corruption Quiz Planned

SAIGON (UPI)—Four once-powerful generals, including strongman Nguyen Khanh, lost their jobs today. Khanh was ordered home from abroad for questioning about financial corruption.

The dismissals were announced at a news conference by Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, who said Khanh and Gen. Do Cao Tri would be asked about the alleged misuse of funds confiscated after the 1963 revolution that overthrew President Ngo Dinh Diem.

At Nha Trang, 200 miles northeast of here, U.S. military demolition teams were searching two square blocks of rubble for a dozen 250-pound bombs which apparently did not explode when a B57 Canberra jet crashed yesterday, killing at least 12 civilians and injuring 75, including eight Americans.

At least 4 of the 16 bombs carried by the twin-jet light bomber exploded when it crashed.

BODIES
Rescue teams were waiting to look for the bodies of the two pilots who were killed in the crash. The plane was seen to escape by a pilot before the crash.

There were only a few reports of action in the early hours today. Communist guerrillas launched a mortar attack before dawn on the Loc district headquarters, 14 miles southwest of Da Nang air base, but there was no report of government casualties. U.S. planes struck bridges, barges and an airfield under construction in Communist-held North Vietnam yesterday. The airfield runway was cracked.

Is Justice Not Speedy For Some?

SAN CLEMENTE — Who said justice isn't speedy? Two Camp Pendleton marines sure think it is.

Tuesday, James C. Tilley, 21, and Lawrence Helme, 19, were arrested on a burglary charge.

Wednesday they were arraigned in Laguna Beach-San Clemente Municipal Court here.

Friday the charge was reduced to petty theft; they pleaded guilty and a 30-day county jail sentence was suspended by Judge J. Parley Smith.

Today they are back at Camp Pendleton.

1st Action Today for Vote Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Johnson Administration strikes into the heart of the Deep South today in its first action under historic legislation to guarantee Negroes the voting rights to which they have been entitled for a century.

Justice Department lawyers were scheduled to file a suit in U.S. District Court in Jackson, Miss., challenging the constitutionality of the state's poll tax.

The suit was one of several planned under a provision of the new law, which is aimed at ending all discriminatory voting requirements. Johnson said the statute would "strike away the last major shackle" of the American Negro's chains of oppression.

The chief executive signed the bill into law in a ceremony at the Capitol attended by civil rights leaders and members of Congress.

He sat at a polished hardwood desk some historians believe had been used by Abraham Lincoln exactly 104 years before to sign a bill freeing Negroes who were forced to work for the Confederacy during the Civil War.

Before the signing, Johnson stood beneath a statue of Lincoln in the vaulted Capitol rotunda and told the nation that today's suit in Mississippi was the start of a legal process which "will very soon prohibit any state from requiring the payment of money in order to vote."

Johnson said similar suits, calling for three-judge federal panels to decide the constitutionality of poll taxes, would be filed Tuesday in Texas, Alabama and Virginia, the other states which still have poll taxes in state and local elections.

Plane Crash Kills Nine in Lakewood

LAKEWOOD (UPI) — A private plane crashed in a vacant lot near a heavily populated area this morning killing at least nine persons aboard, sheriff's deputies said. It did not hit any nearby houses.

The plane, a twin-engine Beechcraft, was apparently approaching the Long Beach airport in heavy fog. Visibility was down to about 150 feet, deputies said.

Bodies were hurled over a wide area and some debris reportedly damaged some houses. Deputies said one body was found hanging from the living room window of a nearby house. None of the occupants of the dwelling was injured.

EXPLOSION
Authorities said residents in the area told of hearing some type of explosion but it was not known if the explosion occurred in the air. The plane went down in the field about 3:12 a.m. and more than 25 members of the sheriff's search and rescue team were dispatched to the scene to locate the victims.

The area was blocked off to all traffic. Firemen were sent to the scene but there were no reports of fires. Power was blacked out to homes in the suburban Los Angeles community, indicating the plane struck utility lines before hitting the ground.

SEARCH
The search was continuing for possible additional victims. The plane was registered to James C. Thomas III, of Pasadena. Identify of passengers was not immediately available.

"It's mass confusion," said Deputy Edwin Moller at the Lakewood sheriff's station. "The plane apparently struck a power line," he added. "Some of the power is out in the area and we've sealed it off to all but residents."

Lakewood is about 15 miles south of Los Angeles. The plane crashed in a field a few yards from a row of houses, said Mrs. Sue Janzen, who lives a block away.

"Parts of the plane flew against fences that walls off the houses from the railroad tracks which run through the field," said Mrs. Janzen.

"The body of a man was thrown against the wall, too," she said.

THUD
"The first we heard was a muffled sound," she added, "then a big thud. Then the whole sky was orange."

"All the lights in our street went out. We could see a grass fire start. It's all kind of weeds and flowers and stuff in the field—and very dry."

'Nuts' to Dogs
Residents immediately complained about the hardship of having to go to the nearest post office, about three or four miles away, for their mail.

"Once or twice a lady from down the street brought my mail to me," said one woman. "My baby is sick a lot and I can't get out often."

Mrs. Bonnie Pitcher had offered to provide the mailman with a mother's escort. "If the postman is scared," she said, "we'll go down to the end of the street and bring him around."

Alleged Hair Oil Racket

By TONY PAYTON
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

SANTA ANA — A Harbor Area realtor and a chemist were jailed Friday in an alleged $50,000 phony hair oil scheme.

Booked at Orange County Jail and held on $10,000 bail was Richard T. (Dick) Riopelle, 38, of 235 E. Knox St., Costa Mesa, and Clyde Johnson, 45, of 125 Santa Fe Ave., Placentia.

A secret Grand Jury indictment handed down late Thursday charged both suspects with one count each of conspiracy and five counts each of grand theft.

MAN OF YEAR
District attorney's investigators took Johnson into custody Friday morning at the Placentia address. Riopelle, who was named man of the year in 1962 by the Newport Harbor - Costa Mesa Board of Realtors, was arrested at his Costa Mesa home Friday noon.

Riopelle, a long-time real estate broker in the Harbor Area, owns his own business at 126 E. 19th St., Costa Mesa. Investigators said Johnson headed his own small chemical company, known as Johnson Laboratories. The address of the firm was not known.

Both suspects face arraignment in Superior Court Monday morning.

ADVERTISES
Deputy District Attorney Joe Dickerson said Riopelle and Johnson advertised in at least four Southern California newspapers for "processors" to bottle a hair preparation at home. The preparation was known as "C.A.R.E."

The processors, Dickerson explained, were told that a 50-gallon container of the preparation would be delivered to their homes where they could bottle it in four-ounce containers. Bottles would later be picked up by the delivery man.

But before the deliveries would begin, Dickerson said, the processors were required to put up $900 each as a bond. They were told by Johnson and Riopelle they would make at least $180 per month by bottling the preparation.

WASHINGTON — About 70 pacifists staged a sit-down strike at the White House for almost 90 minutes Friday but dispersed when President Johnson refused to see them.

Indonesia Mob Stones Embassy Student Confesses Murder of 2 Coeds

JAKARTA (UPI) — A stone throwing mob of about 7,000 Indonesians attacked the U.S. Consulate in Surabaya today. The rioters tore down the U.S. seal, smashed windows and plastered the walls with anti-American slogans.

Some rioters climbed to the roof of the consulate. Police and troops prevented the mob from breaking into the building.

Consul Allan F. McLean III told embassy officials here the attack was "the most violent yet" in Indonesia, where mob onslaughts on official U.S. property frequently occur.

McLean identified the rioters as members of the government-sponsored National Front Organization. He said several rioters were injured by flying glass, stones, or falls from the consulate roof.

The consul said no American or Indonesian employees were injured in the riot. The consulate is closed on Saturdays. McLean was on hand today only because he had been warned that trouble was brewing.

There was no immediate estimate of damage to the consulate.

It was the third attack on an American government building since Ambassador Marshall Green arrived in this country a week ago.

The U.S. Consulate at Medan was stoned July 30, and Green's home was the target of a mob Tuesday.

Arraignment Postponed

SANTA ANA — A Superior Court arraignment for three men — including two former California Highway Patrolmen — charged with conspiracy and grand theft was delayed Friday for two weeks.

The delay was permitted to allow the suspects to obtain legal counsel.

Joel King, 37, and Robert Johnson, 38, both of Tustin and Jack Carnes, 35, of Santa Ana, are accused in Grand Jury indictments of defrauding three investment clubs of $40,000. They remain free on bail pending the August 20 hearing here in Superior Court.

King and Johnson are former CHP officers.

AUSTIN Tex. (UPI) — The handsome son of a Fort Worth department store executive has admitted strangling two pretty University of Texas coeds, police said today. The youth once dated one of the girls.

James C. Cross Jr., 23, a Texas University junior, was arrested last night after telephoning police to say he wanted to confess, authorities said. He was jailed without bond on a charge of double murder.

The nearly nude bodies of Shirley Ann Sark and Susan Rigby, both 21-year-old coeds from Dallas, were found July 30 in a weed-covered field in this capital city. They were slain July 18. Cross formerly dated Miss Sark.

"We have a motive," said Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety (DPS). But he would not say what it was.

Garrison was asked if abortion figured in the case.

'Lone Wolf'
Leaves Firm
In Wreckage

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — The death of an Indianapolis stockbroker in a helicopter crash left hundreds of investors facing the prospect today of getting only pennies back on their investment of millions of dollars.

Michael Dobich, 38, a brilliant, "lone wolf" brokerage operator, was a wheeler-dealer with a flare for luxury and a love for flying his own helicopter. He died in the crash of a helicopter, leaving his business empire, Dobich Securities Corp., in wreckage as well.

Although his own helicopter was being repaired last July 10, Dobich could not resist the Indianapolis party in a whirlwind and highlight the guests' evening with a trip aloft.

Dobich's rented helicopter faltered in flight and plunged into a field, killing him and injuring his young secretary. Three days later, his firm filed for bankruptcy.

A Few Chilling Statistics on Alcoholics

By WILLIAM ROWEN
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Alcoholism kills. It is right behind heart disease and cancer in the number of victims it claims yearly in America.

Orange County alone has 10,000 alcoholics; California, almost one million.

These are just a few of the chilling statistics Harrison Musgrave, Newport Beach businessman, has at his disposal in a campaign he is waging against the disease.

DISEASE
And that, says Musgrave, of 1115 Oxford Lane, is exactly what it is — a disease. It can be licked, too, he feels, like any other once-common disease.

As chairman of the newly-formed Orange County Council on Alcoholism, he hopes to do his bit to do just that.

Musgrave is well-acquainted with the subject. He readily admits that he has had "personal experience" with the problem.

At one time, he was a practicing psychologist, and once taught a course in alcoholism at Orange Coast College.

He explains there are many ways that alcoholism is often fatal.

EFFECTS
"Liver disease, malnutrition, and alcohol poisoning are just a few of the direct effects," he says. "It only takes .015 per cent of alcohol in your blood stream to kill you."

There is a world of difference between an alcoholic and an ordinary lush. "A heavy drinker can choose the time when he wants to get drunk. An alcoholic has no choice," Musgrave says.

"And most people can stop after the second, third, or fourth drink. But once an alcoholic takes a drink, he can't put the bottle down until he is thoroughly drunk."

ASSISTANCE
The Orange County Council on Alcoholism was formed recently with assistance from the Tuberculosis Association and St. Michael's Episcopal Church of Anaheim.

Also, the Orange County Medical Association recently contributed $500 and "has given us a lot of support," according to Musgrave.

Musgrave says current medical opinion shows alcoholism is not a psychological problem, as people used to think. "Doctors now feel that alcoholism is the symptom of a bodily disease, and that the only way to cure it will be with a drug."

NOT PERMANENT
"Today, the best cure is Alcoholics Anonymous, which is a good psychological treatment. But it is not a permanent cure."

Actually, Musgrave admits that the AA is about the only dependable treatment available. "All the successful treatments by doctors, psychiatrists, and clergymen amount to about 2 per cent of what (See ALCOHOLICS, Page 2)

Congressman's Son Held in Manslaughter

WEST POINT, Miss. — The son of a Wisconsin congressman, arrested in a civil rights demonstration, was charged with manslaughter last night when a highway patrolman dropped dead of a heart attack while searching him.

Civil rights worker Mike Reuss, 16, son of Rep. Henry Reuss, (D-Wis.) was charged in the death of B. Cowart, a highway patrol cattle theft investigator.

Sheriff Joe Strickland said Reuss, one of 45 demonstrators arrested yesterday, resisted being searched by Cowart in the Clay County Jail.

He turned his back on the officer, the sheriff said. When Cowart tried to turn him around to search his pockets, Strickland said, the youth whirled quickly and pushed Cowart. He said Cowart stumbled back, collapsed and apparently died instantly.

Ford Charges Dismissed

WASHINGTON — The White House has dismissed Republican leader Gerald R. Ford's latest gambit in the partisan debate over U.S. policy in Vietnam with a short but sharp one sentence statement.

"There is nothing I can contribute to any Republican desire to go to war," replied press secretary Bill D. Moyers Friday in answer to a question about Ford's suggestion that President Johnson declare war on North Vietnam.

Veteran Actor Feared Blindness

WEST LOS ANGELES — Veteran character actor Everett Sloane apparently committed suicide because he feared he was going blind, police said today.

The 55-year-old Sloane, an associate of Orson Welles in the Mercury Theater and noted for his role in "Citizen Kane," was found dead in the bedroom of his Sunset Boulevard home yesterday by his wife, Lillian.

Police said he had purchased 25 barbiturate capsules at a San Fernando Valley drug store Thursday morning.

Greek Crisis Near Climax

ATHENS — The Greek political crisis headed for a climax today. Informal sources said King Constantine would call for former Deputy Premier Stephan Stefanopoulos to form a new government.

The 25-year-old monarch's expected choice of Stefanopoulos followed two days of intensive consultations with political leaders searching for a successor to Premier George Athanassiadis-Novas. The Novas government collapsed early Thursday.

Thunderstorms Hit Plains

Thunderstorms spread across much of the nation Friday from the Great Plains east to Pennsylvania and the south Atlantic states, with especially heavy storms locally from the Gulf Coast north to the Canadian border.

With the storms came cooler temperatures. Funnel clouds also were reported near the Gulf Coast and near Milwaukee.

A funnel cloud was spotted 10 miles east of Corpus Christi, Tex., where nearly 2 inches of rain fell. Other funnel clouds were seen near Vero Beach, Fla., over the ocean off Miami Beach, Fla., and on Lake Michigan near Milwaukee, Wis.

Conservative Author Blasted

LOS ANGELES — Conservative author William F. Buckley Jr. has lost his standing in the right-wing movement because of recent attacks on the John Birch Society, according to evangelist Billy James Hargis.

Hargis, founder and director of the Christian Crusade, holding its seventh annual convention here this weekend, told newsmen Friday that Buckley "has committed suicide as far as his standing with anti-Communists in this country is concerned."

"This is the first time I have ever criticized Bill Buckley," Hargis said, "but his declaration of war on the John Birch Society will ruin him."

Hargis referred to a recent column in the Los Angeles Times in which Buckley wrote:

"I regret to say that it is in my judgment impossible to defend the leadership of the John Birch Society if one reads closely even its contemporary utterances."

"One continues to wonder how it is that the membership of the John Birch Society tolerates such paranoid and unpatriotic drivel."

Freighter Rams Bridge

GROSSE ILE, Mich. — A Great Lakes freighter rammed the Grosse Ile toll bridge late today, knocking a bridge span into the Detroit River and dumping an automobile and a truck into the 30-foot Trenton channel between the island and the Michigan mainland.

The front of a second car was dropped into the water and another car and another truck hung precariously on the sloping span. There were no injuries.

SNIPER SEARCH — A U.S. Marine lunges toward a Vietnamese hut under cover of a buddy in search of snipers. The action came during a three company tered and construction equipment and an anti-aircraft site were destroyed. The communists in South Vietnam announced they are asking the North Vietnamese government to "actively assist" them.

VARIATION

The statement represented only a minor variation in the constant Communist hints about possible escalation of the war. It made no mention of Red China.

A Peking broadcast denounced President Johnson's bid for peace through the United Nations as a new attempt by the United States to get itself off the hook in Vietnam.

Cambodia denied charges leveled Thursday by U.S. Army intelligence officers here that the North Vietnamese 325th Infantry Division has established its headquarters in a backwoods corner of Cambodia where it is immune to American bombing raids.

The Cambodians invited "an American journalist—for example, the New York Times correspondent" to inspect a village near the Cambodian border where Radio Thailand said the division headquarters was located.

Appeals Delay Sentencing

SANTA ANA — Sentencing of aluminum siding salesman Sidney Lipkowitz, 34, of Los Angeles, was delayed here Friday to Feb. 1, pending outcome of two similar cases before the Fourth District U.S. Supreme Court.

Lipkowitz, who pleaded guilty to a forgery charge, was one of six southern California men indicted in Orange County in a statewide aluminum siding fraud last year.

the AA does," he says.

But he draws a parallel between the way people consider alcoholism now and the way people used to feel about tuberculosis.

"In the old days, tuberculosis was called consumption, and it was a social disgrace if anyone in your family had it."

SHUT UP

"People with tuberculosis were shut up in a back room so that visitors would not know they existed. Nobody realized that this state of health was caused by a virus."

It's the same way with alcoholism, he says. "Someday, scientists will find a drug to cure it."

So far, many drugs have been tried, but none have proved entirely effective. California clinics administer a drug called Disulfiram. Anyone who takes it will become violently ill if he takes a drink.

"But, obviously, this will only work with people who have already made a good recovery," Musgrave suggests.

CENTER

The Council currently operates the Alcoholics Information Center in Santa Ana. It does not provide treatment of any sort, but will give information on where to get help.

The council itself provides free speakers for any club or organization which would like to learn more about alcoholism. "We already have spoken to most of the police and nursing groups in the county," Musgrave says.

The group also raises funds for research into the cure of alcoholism.

This is one big difference from AA. According to Musgrave, "Alcoholics Anonymous will not accept money from anybody. They believe that all their expenses should come strictly from their own pockets."

Also, the AA does not support research into alcoholism. The National Council on Alcoholism has been operating for more than 20 years. "When we have enough community support, we will probably affiliate with it," Musgrave says.

Order Too Late, Mongoloid Dies

RED BANK, N.J. (UPI) — Doctors said only surgery could save the life of eight-day-old Kathleen McCauley, a critically ill mongoloid infant.

Her parents, William and Doris McCauley of nearby Middletown, N.J., said they would rather see her dead than to survive surgery and have to spend a hopeless life in an institution.

A court of law was called into the impasse. The judicial process sided with the parents' point of view—but only by default. It moved too slowly.

Kathleen died yesterday before doctors could perform a courtordered operation which she had only a 20 to 30 per cent chance of surviving.

"I'm sorry," her father said when told of her death. "But I have nothing to say." Mongolism is a congenital idiocy of unknown ultimate cause. The child is born with slanting eyes, a broad short skull an d broad hands with short fingers. A child's chances of normalcy, even with surgery, are nil.

The McCauleys, who have four other children, had refused to allow surgery because they feared Kathleen, if she survived, would still have to be institutionalized.

McCauley, a businessman, claimed his wife was not emotionally geared to raise an impaired child.

Composer Steams Across Channel

By THOMAS FORTUNE
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

The S. S. Clutha, with famed composer-conductor David Rose at the helm, made the first steam powered crossing from Newport Harbor to Catalina Island known of in the past half century Friday.

With its boiler belching full blast, and to the toot of a hellishly low-pitched whistle, the Clutha chugged from the harbor at 9 a.m. It was the maiden voyage since Rose plunked close to $60,000 into investing it with new life.

Five hours later, the party of 20 that decked the Clutha and its escort ship, Kahlua, a 57-foot yacht owned by Jules Berman, docked in Avalon. They will make the return crossing Sunday morning.

BUILT IN 1926

The Clutha is a 52-foot harbor escort built in Hamburg, Germany, in 1926. Rose had the rather ugly 69-ton black boat shipped over on a freighter about a year and a half ago.

He says he bought it for the steam engine, which will generate a propeller thrust of about nine knots. He's outfitted it with gadgets originating from such far flung places as Thailand and Sweden.

Steam has been a passion with Rose since he was 7½. The composer of "Holiday for Strings," "Our Waltz," and "The Stripper" admits to owning "quite a collection" of steam paraphernalia, including a one-eighth size locomotive which will carry 30 and travels on 1,000 feet of track around his Sherman Oaks home.

THIRD STEAMBOAT

Clutha is his third steamboat. Twelve-foot Four Roses and 30-foot Kobenhaven are also docked in Newport Harbor.

"The great thing about a steam engine is its quietness, its lack of vibration," Rose says. "It's just like riding in a sailboat."

"Then there is the romance. Kids still say choo choo, even though that's a sound foreign to a diesel engine."

Edgar Bergen, the man Charlie McCarthy made famous, couldn't agree more. Bergen, who has a steamboat docked next to Clutha at Seaspray General Boat Service, 226 21st St., contends that "there is something very dramatic about a steam engine. You can control tremendous power, it runs smoothly, smells better than gasoline, and is comparatively simple to understand."

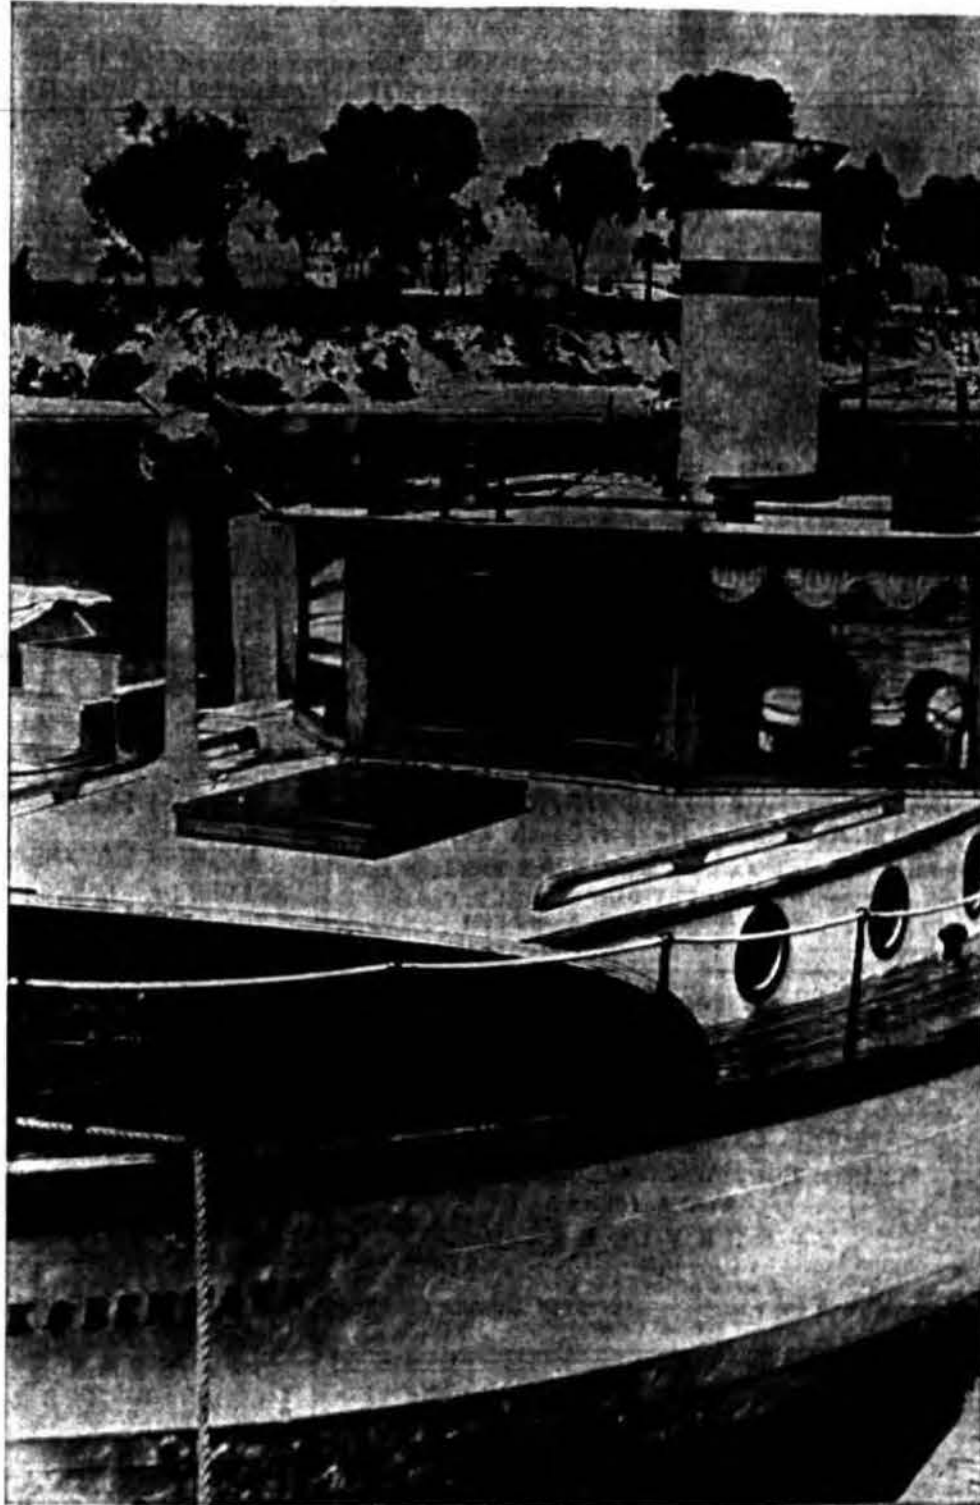

CHARACTER BOAT ENTRANT

His steamboat, Poopalong, measures 27 feet and is painted in red, white, blue and lavender. It is an annual entrant in the harbor character boat parade. Clutha will make its debut in the parade Aug. 28.

When Rose and the party of celebrities, including actress Shirley MacLaine, television actor John Brownfield, producers Steve Parker and Parke Long, return from the island, Rose will not make a beeline back to Sherman Oaks.

His favorite summer haunt is the Lido Shores Motel where he is close at hand to all that brass on his boats he loves to polish.

"I'm a little boy as long as I can play with this," he said, burnishing the flared-at-the-top smoke stack.

The Melodaires, of Pasadena College, will present a program of sacred music at the Huntington Beach Church of the Nazarene, 18971 Main St., Tuesday, 7:30 p.m.

The four Melodaires are students at the college. The public is invited, according to Rev. Mr. Frank Brickley, pastor of the church.

The leader and baritone is Bob Harrison, a senior from Fullerton; soprano, Janette Flory, senior from Richmond; also, Bernadette Schroeder, junior from Mohall, N.D., and accompanist, Janice Dickinson, a freshman from Pasadena.

SUNDAY services will be conducted by the Rev. Frank W. Gunn, pastor, at the Lutheran Church of the Master, 3545 E. Coast Highway, Corona del Mar. He will preach on "Searching for White Against All the Shades of Grey," based on Matthew 7:15-21, at both the 9 and 11 a.m. services. Sunday Church School is part of the 9 a.m. family service. A nursery attendant is on duty throughout the morning.

On Monday, the Vacation Church School will begin its second week, meeting from 9:30-noon Monday through Friday. Youth from the community are welcome during the final week of the course. The theme is "God and His World." Classes include those who enter public school kindergarten this fall up to those who have completed the sixth grade.

SPECIAL services are planned for Sunday at the Glad Tidings Assembly of God Church, 15th and Monrovia, Newport Beach. Pastor Thomas Benvenuti will speak at the 10:50 a.m. service on the theme, "The Concern of God." He will continue the same theme at the 7 p.m. service, and the Melodymen of San Diego will render special music.

Following the regular 7 p.m. service, the monthly "Afterglow" singingspiration will take place with the Melodymen as the main feature. Local church talent also will participate. The public is invited.

TEMPLE Sharon, Hebrew Orange Coast Conservative Congregation, holds regular Friday night services in the Universalist Fellowship Hall, 1259 Victoria St., Costa Mesa, at 8:30 p.m. The ancient hymns and chants are sung. An Oneg Shabbat (refreshments and social) follows the services.

THE FIRST Methodist Church, 420 W. 19th St., Costa Mesa, will have duplicate worship services at 9:30 and 11 a.m. Sunday. A supervised nursery is provided at both hours.

The sermon topic chosen by the Rev. Herbert G. Johnson, associate minister, will be "Picking Up the Pieces" based on the Scripture lesson in Romans 12.

Church School classes for all ages are held at 9:30 and 11 a.m. Youth groups meet at 7 p.m.

"FAITH In Our Time" will be the sermon subject of the Rev. Clayton H. Wilson at Harbor First Christian Church. Services are held at

PASTOR RETURNS
Dr. Richard H. Poss

Mesa Church Ex-minister Will Visit

Dr. Richard H. Poss, pastor, First Baptist Church, Bryan, Tex., will be the guest preacher during the morning worship service, 11 a.m. Sunday, at First Southern Baptist Church, 650 Hamilton St., Costa Mesa.

Dr. Poss is a former pastor of the Costa Mesa church, having served from 1954 to 1961. The present auditorium of the church was built under his leadership.

Mrs. Poss, an accomplished musician, son Ricky, and daughter, Judy, also will be in the services.

The church will have a potluck fellowship meal in honor of the Poss family immediately following the morning worship service.

The public and former members of the church are invited to attend the services and remain for the fellowship. Nursery facilities will be provided for children under 4 years of age.

Harper School, 425 E. 18th Street, Costa Mesa. Church school meets at 9:45; worship is at 10:45.

At 3 p.m. the church will conduct a service at the California Christian Home, 8417 E. Mission Drive, Rosemead. Choir, youth and pastor will participate. Following the service will be a family picnic on the grounds.

MORNING worship service begins at 10:30 a.m. at Central Bible Church, 23rd and Orange, Costa Mesa. Pastor Henry Jones will be explaining about "Babylon in Scripture." Sunday School for all ages begins at 9 a.m.

At the 7 p.m. Sunday service the ninth film in the series on "The Living Christ" will be shown, entitled "Fate of John the Baptist." The public is invited.

Registration for the Daily Vacation Bible School this year will be held in each department between the Sunday School and morning worship services. Mrs. Fred Merkle is the Vacation Bible School superintendent. School will begin on Monday, Aug. 16, 9 to noon each week day for two weeks.

LUTHERAN Church of the Resurrection, will conduct its first vacation church school Aug. 16-27 at the John R. Peterson School, 20611 Farnsworth Lane, Huntington Beach. Children from kindergarten through eighth grade are invited to attend.

The school will meet from 9:15 to 11:30 a.m. each morning, Monday through Friday. The theme of the school is adapted to each age level with stories, filmstrips, handcraft projects and field trips.

Registrations are now being accepted by Mrs. Dale B. Johnson, the director. The Rev. Dale B. Johnson is pastor. Services are held each Sunday at the Peterson School with Church School at 9:30 a.m. and morning worship at 11 a.m.

THE REV. Charles Stilwell, minister, evangelist and CFO leader, will use the subject, "The Wonderful Effects of Divine Love," when he speaks at the Galilean Hour of the Orange County Camps Farthest Out today, at the Community Methodist Church in Seal Beach, 10th and Central.

The meeting begins at 4:30 p.m. with meditations led by Dr. Peter Stoner, professor emeritus of science at Westmont College, Santa Barbara. His theme will be "The Wonders of God." The prayer group will be led by Mrs. Pearl Maddox.

At 6 p.m. there will be a potluck dinner.

At 7:15 p.m. the Galilean Hour starts with inspirational singing and special music followed by the speaker. Rev. Mr. Stilwell has been pastor of the Chollas View Methodist Church in San Diego for the last five years.

THE PROTECTING influence of God in the life of the Apostle Paul will be brought out in the Bible lesson at Christian Science church services this Sunday. The subject is "Spirit" and the responsive reading will include this statement from Paul's first letter to the Corinthians: "The manifestation of the Spirit is given to every man to profit withal."

A central theme of the service will be presented in these lines from the Christian Science textbook: "The history of Christianity furnishes sublime proofs of the supporting influence and protecting power bestowed on man by his heavenly Father, omnipotent Mind, who gives man faith and understanding whereby to defend himself, not only from temptation, but from

Rev. Robert Larsen

Lutherans Organize Grace Church in HB

The Rev. Robert W. Larsen has begun work in north Huntington Beach as pastor of Grace Lutheran Church, now under construction. Plans for the first worship service on Sunday, Sept. 12, are nearing completion.

The new congregation at Edinger near Golden West is established by the Division of American Missions of The American Lutheran Church. A native of South Dakota, Rev. Mr. Larsen completed undergraduate studies in chemistry at South Dakota State University in Brookings before attending Luther Theological Seminary in St. Paul, Minn. During this period he served two terms as national president of the Lutheran Student Association of America. He and his wife also spent one year in northern Germany as student volunteers in the Lutheran World Federation's postwar Service to Refugees. Advanced studies were pursued at the Ecumenical Institute, Bossey, Switzerland. Ordained in 1952, Rev. Mr. Larsen has served parishes in Casper, Wyo., and Ames, Iowa. From 1954 to 1957 he was the assistant executive secretary of the Division of College and University Work, National Lutheran Council, with headquarters in Chicago. (See CHURCH, Page 5)

UNCLE LEN'S CORNER

It's that time again, boys and girls, time for Uncle Len's Corner.

Uncle Len's daughters, Ursula and Linda, are visiting their grandmother and grandfather in San Diego and wrote they are having a lot of fun.

They have gone to the Zoo, Sea World and a lot of other places, but they say they are really anxious to come back home and visit all their friends.

How about some of you other kids, haven't you been on vacation this summer? I'll bet a lot of you have been to camp, visiting relatives or on vacation trips with your parents.

Why don't you write Uncle Len and tell him all about your summer fun. I'll print the letters and then all your friends will know what you have been doing.

SCHOOL will be starting in about another month, boys and girls. I hope you are getting ready and plan to have a lot of fun.

Do you know what Uncle Len's favorite subject in school was? It was art. How about you kids, what's your favorite?

Write Uncle Len and tell him.

ENTRIES in all the contests were really great again this week. The art and Sir Limrick contests seem to be the most popular, but I get a lot of nice entries in the poem and

★ PRIZE WINNER ★

This week's art contest winner is Scott Angle, 9½, 281 Del Mar Ave., Unit C, Costa Mesa

Any child under 12 can enter Uncle Len's Art Contest. Here's all you do. (1.) Draw picture on piece of plain, white paper 5½ inches wide and 4 inches deep. Use black ink and make lines black. (2.) Do not copy or trace picture. It must be your own work. (3.) Put your name, age and address on back of drawing. Mail it to Uncle Len's Art Contest, Box 1560, DAILY PILOT, Costa Mesa.

RAIN

PERRY
I have a little dog,
And his name is Perry
Winkle.
When I give him some food,
His little toes twinkle.

The rain is raining all around,
It falls on field and tree.
It rains on the umbrellas
here,
And on the ships at sea.

He has a black nose,
And freckles on his toes.
Add all that he knows,
Is that his middle name is Mose.

SUMMER TO FALL
Fall is on the way,
And summer will have to come another day.
Soon leaves will fall from the pretty trees,
And nothing but branches
will be left in the breeze.

★ PRIZE WINNER ★

DAY AFTER DAY

Day after day
Light turns to dark,
And in the night
A dog does bark.

It is so peaceful
When you lay down to rest.
You can see all the stars
That shine all their best.

Then comes the moonlight
In its glow,
But it will soon vanish
That we all know.

Now you wake up
And open your door,
Day after day
For evermore.

A Kennedy half-dollar goes to Deborah Jones, 11, 842 W. 10th St., Newport Beach, for this winning entry in the story and poem contest. Mail your poem or story to Uncle Len, Box 1560, Costa Mesa, California.

SIR LIMRICK

A FARMER ONCE SAID WITH REGRET—

THAT SALESMAN, I'LL GET HIM, YOU BET!

CAUSE THAT INCUBATOR
HE SOLD ME, I HATE 'ER!

MOTHER-TOE
INCUBATOR

★ PRIZE WINNER ★

If you're 12 or under, you can win a Kennedy half-dollar for the best ending to this limrick. Think up a rhyming last line and send it to Uncle Len, Box 1560, DAILY PILOT, Costa Mesa. Last week's Uncle Len Limrick contest winner is Janice Tomlinson, 10½, 19202 Clady Lane, Huntington Beach, who supplied the last line to the limrick: My brain is not sticky or weak, it thinks out the thoughts that I seek; however, it's shrinking and seems to quit working whenever the boss starts to speak.

Dennis the Menace

"DON'T WORRY, JOE. MRS. WILSON WILL UNLOCK IT!"

Carol's Corner RIDDLES AND JOKES

★ PRIZE WINNER ★
Dear Carol: There were two Mexicans standing in a corral. One was tall and one was small. The small one was the son of the tall one. But the tall one was not the small one's father. Why?
Because the tall one was the mother.

A Kennedy half-dollar goes to Jan L. Cohen, 8, 2867 Highland Drive, Newport Beach, for her winning riddle. See riddle below.

Dear Carol: What do you call a cat that drinks lemonade?
"sour puss."

Tommy Hotlapd, 4, 20121 Bayview, Santa Ana

Dear Carol: Doctor: Have you ever had any trouble with appendicitis?
Boy: Only when I try to spell it.

Berry J. Parker, 9, 8732 Adams Avenue, Huntington Beach

Dear Carol: City Lady: Look at the bunch of cows.
Cowboy: Not bunch, herd.
City lady: Heart of what?
Cowboy: Heart of cows.
City lady: Sure I've heard of cows.
Cowboy: No—a cow herd.
City lady: Why should I care what a cow heard? I've got no secrets from a cow.

Pam Allen, 1887 Moorpark, Art. 3, Costa Mesa

Dear Carol: What's the difference between a light bulb and a heavy bulb?
The weight.

Debbie Jones, 11, 1144 Canyon Street, Newport Beach

Dear Carol: Which member of Congress wears the largest hat?
The one with the largest head.

Ron Bailey, 11, 1144 Canyon Street, Costa Mesa

Honorable mention goes to Anthony Robinson, 10, 1700 S. Ocean Blvd., Newport Beach; Linda Olson, 11, 401 Pajaro Road, Newport Beach; Linda Barry, 11, 240 Woods Drive, Costa Mesa; Jari Murray, 10, 2722 Woodman, Costa Mesa; and Cynthia Ann Hall, 10, 1000 West Balboa Blvd., Newport Beach.

With a PRIZE—Carol will send a Kennedy half-dollar for the best idea you send and be older than 12 to author. Be sure to give your name or initials at the end. Mail your entry to Carol, Box 1575, Newport Beach, address and age. Send only one entry each week, please.

It's a Jungle Fess Parker Learns Rules of the Game

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Don Knotts, the great nervous wreck, is suffering from a double dose of the jitters under pressure of starring in his first motion picture.

The spindly twitcher heads the cast of a movie tentatively titled "Running Scared." It may be retitled "The Ghost of Mr. Chicken."

Either way, the title fits Knotts like Phyllis Diller's leotard.

Knotts nervously pecked away at a hamburger in the Universal-Studio commissary. He abandoned the security of a sixth year with the popular "Andy Griffith Show" on television to gamble on becoming a movie star. But his hands still trembled from tossing the dice.

UNCERTAIN
"Everything is so uncertain," he said uncertainly. "I don't know how I'll do at the boxoffice. This is a whole new experience for me. It's a wonderful opportunity, all right, and Lew Wasserman (Universal's big chief) was willing to take the chance."

He said there is room for my kind of comedian to do the type of pictures that Harold Lloyd and some of the old timers used to make. So we're giving it a whirl. If this picture is successful I'll do some more.

"If not, there's lots of things I can do — like clerking in a department store or something."

In fact, Knotts has a long-term contract with the studio. If the movie bombs, the nervous little comic will almost certainly be starred in a television series of his own.

But he recoils at the thought.

WEEKLY SHOW
"I did a weekly TV show for nine straight years," he cried. "Four years with Steve Allen, and then right into five years and Andy Griffith. I can't stand it. The grind is terrible. It's like being in a big tomb. That's how confining it is."

Knotts paused, shaken by the thought of the tomb.

"It's a short distance from here to Forest Lawn," he added meaningfully. He thrummed his fingers on the table and fiddled with the silverware. Then he giggled nervously and rolled his eyes.

Unmistakably, Knotts was tied in knots.

"I'm using the old nervous man routine in the picture when the character I play gets up to give a speech and goes to pieces," he grinned.

"His notes blow away and there he is."

"There's also a touch of Barney Fife (the chicken-livered deputy he portrayed with Griffith) in this man. He's a type-setter who wants to become a newspaper reporter."

GUEST SHOTS
"After this picture I may go back for a couple of guests' shots with Andy. He's the best friend I've got. I'd love to make a movie with him. But I've wanted to be a movie star since I was seven years old. Can you imagine that, me dreaming of being a movie star."

"And now that it's coming true I'm frightened to death." You could see that Don Knotts was telling the absolute truth.

Bit Parts: Eleanor Parker is the latest major star to join the cast of "The Oscar." Brian Keith signed for a comedy role in "The Russians Are Coming." Joby Baker will replace Paul Anka in a comedy role for "When the Boys Meet the Girls."

About Your Problems

By ANN LANDERS

Plumber's Rouge Traps Welsher

DEAR ANN LANDERS: On New Year's eve my husband and I made a pact to quit smoking. Hank was a much heavier smoker than I was so I knew it would be more difficult for him to quit. Well, Ann, he hasn't touched a cigarette since the night we made the agreement, but I started three weeks ago when I found half everything was monogrammed at the bottom with the initials of the nut's last name. I hate to see this stuff around and I've told my wife how I feel. Her answer is as follows: "My folks spent a fortune on these things and I'm not going to throw them out."

I appreciate my wife's practical nature, but I think my feelings should count for something, too. Any ideas, Ann? —HACKLES UP

DEAR HACK: Suggest that your wife cut the initials off and re-burn everything. It would mean a lot of work and shorter towels and bed linens but it's the best compromise I can think of.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Ten years ago my brother died. My husband had just gotten out of the service. He took over my brother's business which was then barely breaking even. My brother's widow was to be a 50 per cent partner and my husband was to own the other 50 per cent for running the business.

My husband has built the company into a very successful enterprise. Three years ago my brother's widow married a jerk who is forever sticking his nose into the business. He knows nothing about the business but he pesters my husband to do this and do that.

Is it fair that my husband should continue to knock his brains out for those two? He is getting headaches from the brother-in-law and so am I. Any suggestions?

—ANNOYED
DEAR ANNOYED: Your husband can (and should) do either of two things. He can have an attorney draw up an "I'll buy you or you buy me" agreement, or he can effect a dissolution of the business and start again on his own. No one should remain in business with a partner he doesn't want.

I am very upset. My folks want to see me in the wedding procession and I want them to be there. Who is wrong and what should be done? —OFFENDED
DEAR OFFENDED: The parents of the attendants should always be invited to the wedding — regardless of the size of the church. Tell the bride exactly how you feel. If your parents don't receive an invitation promptly your friend's family is guilty of atrocious taste.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This may sound like a very insignificant problem compared with some you get, but it really does annoy the heck out of me.

I married a wonderful gal who had been married before, but only for a few months. I won't go into the details, but the marriage was annulled. (Her first husband was a real nut.)

My wife had a beautiful trousseau of bedsheets, pillow cases and towels. Everything was monogrammed at the bottom with the initials of the nut's last name. I hate to see this stuff around and I've told my wife how I feel. Her answer is as follows: "My folks spent a fortune on these things and I'm not going to throw them out."

Death Takes 675-pound Woman, 38

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A 675-pound woman died Thursday at San Francisco

General Hospital from "massive obesity and shortness of breath," according to her doctors.

Doris A. James, 38, a 5-foot-2 brunette, had been in the hospital less than 24 hours when death came.

Her arrival and her departure posed some problems, doctors said. No stretchers could accommodate her, so a door was removed from its hinges and used instead. It took 20 persons in shifts to carry her up to her ward.

Two beds were together and the mattresses turned crosswise to provide for her. She died early yesterday, her heart apparently over- come by strain. Eight fire- men helped remove the body.

Miss James was transferred here from Solano County Hospital. Her weight had been down to 350 pounds a year ago, according to doctors, but then ballooned again. There was no sign of glandular trouble, but hospital administrator Leonard Swanson explained her obesity this way: "briefly, she loved to eat."

More Trouble For Gillman

By BUD TUCKER

LOS ANGELES — If there is an ounce of sympathy in you, you are doubtless disturbed to note where good old Sid Gillman has again been visited by trouble.

Good old Sid is still coach and general manager of the San Diego Chargers but his existence is not a happy one. Having something to do with this is the fact Gillman is widely despised. He is hated by most of the people who work and play for him and by the people of San Diego and by the press which covers his team and by the rest of the American Football League.

Good old Sid's latest rub had to do with money. Several of his veteran players, Ernie Ladd and Earl Faison to name a couple of names, recently became highly disturbed at the bonus money Gillman was unloading on rookie hotshots.

The old guys asked for a few dollars for themselves and were told by Gillman to take a hike. Whereupon they told Gillman what to do with his football team. They will play out their options.

Discussing contract with one of his players Gillman said, "I think too much of you to argue about a lousy thousand dollars."

"Is that a fact?" replied the player, "I think too much of a lousy thousand dollars not to argue about it."

Gillman Always Popular

Good old Sid has always had this remarkable talent for getting along with his fellow man. He got along so well around here when he was coach of the Rams the ownership fired him for his own good, which is how he came to join the Charger organization.

When the position of general manager was thrust upon him in addition to his coaching duties, good old Sid crept into the hearts of everyone in the front office.

Don Klosterman, football's most capable talent scout, was so deeply in love with Gillman he couldn't stand it. He went to the Kansas City Chiefs.

Les Land, a highly talented business manager, followed Klosterman out the door. Bob Burdick, termed by San Diego journalists as an excellent publicity man, was not too distant behind both of them.

This type of thing richly endeared Gillman to the citizens of San Diego. He gained further adulation by announcing to the population of the town that if it did not come out to see his football team play, he would pull the damn thing out of town.

Actually, too little credit is given good old Sid for the wonderful job he does. His task is not easy.

For one thing, he is attempting to sell major league sports to San Diego, an undertaking which can be compared to the statement somebody made about refrigerators and Eskimos. Nothing has ever gone over in San Diego with the possible exception of the zoo.

Old Sid Likes Movies

Another thing, good old Sid can hardly be expected to pay attention to every little detail. He is an extremely busy man. Watching films, mostly.

Gillman is the most dedicated movie viewer on the face of the earth. He would rather watch a game movie of his team than eat. When he does eat, it is while he is watching a film.

When Gillman was coach of the Rams, reporters approached him every Sunday afternoon and respectfully requested his opinions on the game just concluded.

"I won't know," good old Sid always replied, "until after I have seen the films."

On Monday, at the Football Writers' luncheon, the gentlemen of the working press would try again.

"I have seen the films," Gillman would say, "but I have not yet had time to review them."

The story is told that Gillman once attended the wedding of one of his players. A reporter asked him later how the affair turned out.

"I won't know," Gillman replied, "until after I have seen the films."

After Bob Burdick, the publicity man, took his leave of the Chargers, he was generous in his remarks regarding his association with good old Sid.

"Actually," Burdick said, "our main disagreement was over office space. I had no place to sit."

"You couldn't move in the joint for cans of film."

Dodgers Nipped, 5-4

Redlegs Win In Overtime

CINCINNATI, (UPI) — Pinch-hitter Jim Coker's 11th-inning single off Ron Perranoski scored pinch-runner Marty Keough from second base to give the Cincinnati Reds a 5-4 victory over the league-leading Los Angeles Dodgers Friday night.

The victory, which ended a Red losing streak at four games, went to Billy McCool, who blanked the Dodgers the last two innings.

Home runs by Tommy Harper, Don Pavletich, Deron Johnson and Pete Rose accounted for the other four red runs.

All four of the homers came off Dodger lefty Johnny Podres, who bowed out after five innings.

Joey Jay started for the Reds but departed in the fifth inning when he developed arm trouble. The big right-hander walked four and yielded two hits and gave up two of the Dodger runs during the 4 1/3 innings he worked.

John Tsitouris followed Jay to the mound and was nicked for two more runs before departing for a pinch-hitter in the ninth.

Maury Wills walked, stole second, went to third when Charlie James dropped Jim Gilliam's fly and scored on Jim Lefebvre's sacrifice fly as the Dodgers pulled within one run in the seventh.

Deer Hunt Opens Today

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California's coastal deer season opened today with the experts predicting about the same hunter success as last year.

If the forecasters are correct, opening day firing should be good throughout most of the Coastal area.

Shooting hours are one-half hour before sunrise to one-half hour after sunset. The season runs through Sept. 19, with the inland shoot taking over Sept. 18. The coastal season limit is two bucks, forked horns or better. Last year, hunters bagged 21,440 animals.

The hunting area comprises the western half of the Central Valley and Coastal region from Humboldt through Orange Counties, except Los Angeles.

State fish and game biologists say Southern California deer generally are "in good shape."

"Their numbers are still relatively low but there has been a good carryover of bucks," the F&G Department says. "Forage and water right now is still fair to good, and many deer are in the higher elevations. As water becomes more scarce, however, deer will be driven to the lower elevations and will become more vulnerable to the hunter."

In Central and Northern California, hunting is expected to be slightly better south of San Francisco Bay, and possibly not quite so good north of it.

The Department says the buck kill again will dip in Mendocino, Lake, Sonoma and Napa Counties; stay about the same in around Marin, Contra Costa, Alameda, Santa Clara, Santa Cruz, San Mateo and San Benito counties and increase slightly in Monterey and San Luis Obispo Counties.

Four Games

Football Hogs TV Spotlight

Professional football invades the television scene with reckless abandon this weekend with no less than four grid tilts on tap for hibernating football fans.

The College All-Star game got the show on the road Friday night with the Cleveland Browns, defending National Football League champions, facing the College All-Stars.

CBS picks up the tempo today, screening an exhibition game between the Philadelphia Eagles and the Washington Redskins on Channel 2 at 11 a.m. Channel 2 follows this with the Baltimore Colts' annual intra-squad game Sunday at 11 a.m.

NBC gets into the act at the same time Sunday, screening an American Football League clash between the Buffalo Bills and the Boston Patriots on Channel 4. These two teams finished one-two in the AFL's Eastern Division a year ago, with the Bills going on to whip the San Diego Chargers in the playoff game.

Grand Prix auto racing gets a large share of the spotlight also, with no less than two championship races on tap.

ABC's Wide World of Sports starts the ball rolling with films of last week's Grand Prix of Germany — the race in which Scotland's Jimmy Clark clinched the 1965 driving championship. Costa Mesa's Dan Gurney finished third in that one to move higher in the drivers' standings. The show gets under way today at 5 on Channel 7 and also features a special preview on the 1965 PGA Golf Classic.

Gurney, America's foremost auto jockey, will be trying to reverse things in the Dutch Grand Prix, which NBC will screen on its Sports In Action show Sunday at 6:30 p.m. on Channel 4.

Other international grand prix drivers who will be featured include John Surtees, Graham Hill, Jack Brabham and Ronnie Bucknum. The latter, a Californian who is driving the grand prix circuit for the second year, will be piloting a Honda — a car that has proved to be very fast, but not too durable.

Speaking of speed, Native Diver will attempt to carry 131 pounds over his favorite distance, one and one-sixteenth miles, in the $20,000-added San Diego Handicap at Del Mar. Channel 2 will carry all the action today at 5, with Harry Henson calling the race and Gil Stratton supplying the color.

Among those who will try to overhaul the black flyer are Colorado King, with Bill Hartack and 121 pounds, Siempre, ridden by Bobby Jennings and carrying 115 pounds, Carang, Alvaro Pine and 111, and Nearsco Blue, Miguel Yanez and 110 pounds.

Biggest threat to Native Diver, who will be a prohibitive favorite, appears to be posed by Colorado King.

Browns Win, 24-16: Huarte's Rally Short

JOLLY ROVER FLIES HIGH — All-Star quarterback Roger Staubach (12) enjoys one of his few moments of glory in racking up eight yard gain during first half of Friday night's game with Cleveland Browns. streak and located Lopez' record to 11-9. He weakened in the ninth, loading the bases with one out but retired the side without a run scoring.

The Senators felt apart defensively on five errors and a passed ball, but only one of the Angels' runs was earned. That came in the second inning when Merritt Ranew singled and went to third on Vic Power's single.

Senator catcher Doug Camilli overthrew second after catching a pop foul and Ranew scored on the error. Paul Schaal scored Power with a sacrifice fly.

The Angels tallied three runs in the fourth on four straight singles off losing pitcher Phil Ortega before Bennie Daniels could take over. Ranew's single that drove in Jim Fregosi and Willie Smith was the key hit off Ortega.

The Angels added another run in the fourth on two singles and Fregosi's sacrifice fly.

The Senators got their first hit and only run in the sixth when Schaal's error put Woody Held on base. He scored on Frank Howard's double, which ended Lopez' hitless string.

Leading Pro Bowlers At Kona Lanes Today

By ED GIBSON

Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Records are expected to fall by the handful as 112 bowlers open fire at Kona Lanes in Costa Mesa today in the Pacific Coast Professional Bowlers' Costa Mesa Open.

The top professional bowlers on the West Coast have turned in entries, including four of the Professional Bowlers Association's touring pros: Glenn Allison, Ed Bourdase, Norm Meyers and Ev Collins.

Other top stars in the field include defending West Coast Match Game Eliminations champion Bob Ramirez, Don Hooper of Costa Mesa, who rolled a 300 game Monday at Kona and has rolled the only two recorded in PCPB competition, Bob Jones, the current leader in the "Elms" and Dick Stoeffler, the Kona host who finished third in the Southern California Open at Kona last January.

These are but a few, as the field also contains all 16 of the finalists in the West Coast Eliminations. In addition, there are several PCPB champions in the field including Dick Jensen, Ramirez and Bourdase, who is a two-time champion.

The field is divided into two 56-man squads, with both squads bowling two six-game blocks today. The six-game blocks will be rolled this morning at 10:30 and this afternoon at 1:30, 7:30 and 10:15.

At the end of Saturday's shooting, the field will be pared to the top 16 bowlers for Sunday's match game finals. Two eight-game blocks will be bowled Sunday, one at 1 p.m. and the other at 7:30.

CM Mackers Open Play In Area Playoffs Tonight

Costa Mesa's Orange County Connie Mack champions journey to Long Beach's Blair Field tonight for the first round of the area playoffs.

The Mesans are slated to meet an undetermined opponent at 8:30 p.m.

John Clay will be on the mound for Mesa if his sore right arm is well enough to allow him to work. The big righthander had to come out of Wednesday's game when the arm began to bother him.

If Clay is unable to go, either Frank Reyes or Pete Lynch will be on the hill. Reyes is the likely choice, since Lynch is the only

Too Little, Too Late For Stars

CHICAGO (AP) — John Huarte of Notre Dame and the New York Jets, entering the game with Cleveland leading 24-3, passed the College All-Stars to a brilliant rally that fell short against the Browns Friday night.

Cleveland finally won the 32nd annual All-Star game 24-16 before 68,000 and Vice President Hubert Humphrey but not before Huarte had thrown a thorough scare into the National League champions.

In the final period Huarte passed the All Stars to one touchdown in an 80-yard drive in which he threw six passes for 68 yards, and to another in which he completed three out of four for 54 yards including one for 40 yards to Lance Rentzel of Oklahoma.

In the end it was sweeping punt returns, the hard running of Jimmy Brown and the hard passing of Frank Ryan that broke the back of the Collegians.

Intermittent rain failed to dampen the enthusiasm of the crowd which cheered Huarte.

With four minutes to play, the All-Stars blocked a field goal try of the Browns from the 25 and again Huarte took over. This time, however, the Browns smothered the attack.

There were two costly injuries. Paul Warfield, Brown flanker, received a broken left clavicle, and Roger Staubach, the Navy quarterback who was the early spark of the All-Stars, received a possible dislocated left shoulder after only 19 minutes of play.

The punt returns cost the Collegians dearly plus a blocked kick close to their own goal. Walter Roberts set up the first Brown touchdown with a 45-yard return and LeRoy Kelley the third with a 37-yard return.

'20-High'Different Living Concept Offered

This week a new concept in California housing is being launched at two Orange County locations, with the introduction of "20-High" which combines a sportsman's garage, a conventional garage and a rumpus room. The sportsman's half of the unit, 20 feet from floor to ceiling, can house a travel trailer or camper, while above it a 10-foot motor boat or sailboat can be suspended from a heavy overhead beam.

The other half of the unit provides the space for a large car under a standard height of ceiling, and above that, to balance out the unit's 20 feet, a rumpus room.

Built by R. E. and Tom Plumleigh, Orange County developers, "20-High" is offered as the answer to aspiring boaters and campers who hesitate to buy a boat or trailer because there's no place to store them.

"In many neighborhoods, a boat or camper or trailer is regarded as out of place if they're parked in backyards, driveways or in the street," reports R. E. Plumleigh, president of Townhouse Condominiums, Inc., Santa Ana. Plumleigh stated that, "We feel the '20-High' design will enhance the demand for boats, campers and travel trailers far beyond the market today for beach, desert and mountain use."

"Many people also hesitate to buy a sailboat or a motor boat, simply because of the docking and marina charges in addition to the monthly payments on the boat," Plumleigh said. "With the '20-High' year 'round docking feature at home sales volume should rise considerably above that margin of buyers who can afford the boat, and maybe some varnish and sandpaper but not the marina fees. We feel that the '20-High'

Firm Born on a Day of Infamy

On a day noted internationally for its infamy, the fledgling real estate firm of Walker & Lee opened the doors to its first model home.

The day was Sunday Dec. 7, 1941.

It was, of course, the day the Japanese bombed Pearl Harbor. Most prospective visitors heading for the model home in Lakewood heard the news on their car radios, lost all interest in Lakewood and hightailed it home.

The same catastrophic event that made the opening of Walker & Lee take on a suddenly insignificant and futile aspect brought on necessary adjuncts to war — shipyards — and in no time Lakewood was a boom town.

The late Robert K. Walker, present president DeWitt R. Lee and founding secretary Ruth P. Shepherd joined the rest of the nation in collecting their wits as fast as they could and then pitched in with a staff of 17 salesmen to provide housing for the hordes of Midwesterners who poured in to build the ships.

The realtors even got hold of three huge busses, painted them red, white and blue, and turned them over gratis to new arrivals who didn't have cars to get them to the shipyards.

Headquarters for Walker

& Lee at that point was a small structure surrounded by bean and mustard fields.

SUBDIVISION

A 598-house subdivision emerged from that structure — the largest subdivision in the United States at the time. Walker & Lee officials believe more houses were sold from that office than from any other in the country.

It was a strange period for the three realtors, all of whom had just left the Janns Investment Corporation (developers of Westwood) after some 20 years to strike out on their own.

DeWitt Lee recalls that the 'Okies' who arrived with mattresses atop their cars and chickens along with children inside viewed him with distrust when he tried to talk to them. Lee, a Stanford graduate and city man, decided something about his tailored appearance made them uncomfortable so he decided on a gimmick.

He showed up one morning wearing a janitor's jacket and leaning on a push-broom. The gimmick worked. The newcomers suddenly found him easy to talk to. And, of course, once talking was under way, sales were under way too.

FOREMAN

Robert Walker, a graduate of Iowa State, didn't have any trouble talking to the arrivals since his first job in California had been that of foreman of a hog ranch — a job he made memorable by coming up with a miniature railroad to haul garbage about the huge ranch to the hogs. So Walker just forgot any urbanity he had learned in Westwood, talked turkey with the Okies and made sales galore. Robert Walker continued actively with the firm

Better Management Topic of Seminar

How better management techniques in today's competitive business climate assure success and growth will be demonstrated at the Western Regional Seminar on Management for Greater Profits in Los Angeles Aug. 11.

The one-day seminar, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., will be presented at Hancock Hall on the University of Southern California Campus, said Larry Armour, president of the Home Builders Association of Los Angeles, Orange and Ventura counties, co-sponsors with the Business Management Division of the National Association of Home Builders, Washington, D.C.

Instructors for the major meeting of its kind in the West this year for the home building industry, will be four national authorities in their respective fields. This faculty will include:

Lee S. Evans, chairman and professor, Department of Building Industry and Real Estate, College of Business Administration, University of Denver.

Neil R. Bersch, tax manager in charge of the tax department of the Los Angeles office of Touche, Ross, Bailey & Smart.

Gene T. Skrivan, manager of marketing program planning, Weyerhaeuser Company, Tacoma, Washington.

Arthur S. Carruthers, senior vice president, United California Bank, Los Angeles.

All home builders, community developers and subdividers in the 11 Western states, and others allied with the home building industry, have been invited to attend. Membership in an HBA or affiliate of the NAHB is not required, said Armour.

A special luncheon is scheduled for Town and Gown on the USC campus (included in the seminar registration fee) at which a major address on the conference theme will be presented.

By KAREN PETERSON

Of the Daily Pilot Staff

A man who looked all over the world for a place to settle his family and finally chose Newport Beach has won a citation for maintaining one of the best homes in the city.

The A. J. Strutz family was honored by the Women's Division of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce at a recent luncheon at the Newport Inn. Buccola Construction Co. was given a similar award for commercial effort.

At the event Strutz gave his formula for maintaining such a nice home:

'PRIDE'

"It is my belief that in this beautiful city every resident owner should have the pride of home ownership — that no one should let either his front yard deteriorate into a rats nest or his back yard into a nice place to spit in."

Their home, second to be built in the Baycrest subdivision, is at 1724 Irvine Ave. It was built in 1957 and they bought the home in 1958 after deciding to leave the Beverly Hills area.

"We designed our home, not so much by originality, but by looking at our neighbors' homes and back yards and picking out the things we liked best about each one," Strutz said.

GARDEN

Now included in their back yard is an Oriental miniature garden designed by his daughter, Diane, 18, and a waterfall and fountain made of giant clam shells, some weighing up to 150 pounds. They also use the shells as reflectors with 450 watts of light behind them.

In addition they have imported Tiki heads from Honolulu and have constructed an Oriental design for their otherwise plain garage door. "I waited three weeks for the landscape architect we had hired to come," Strutz said. "He never showed up, so my daughter and I started doing it ourselves, and to this day we have never had a gardener."

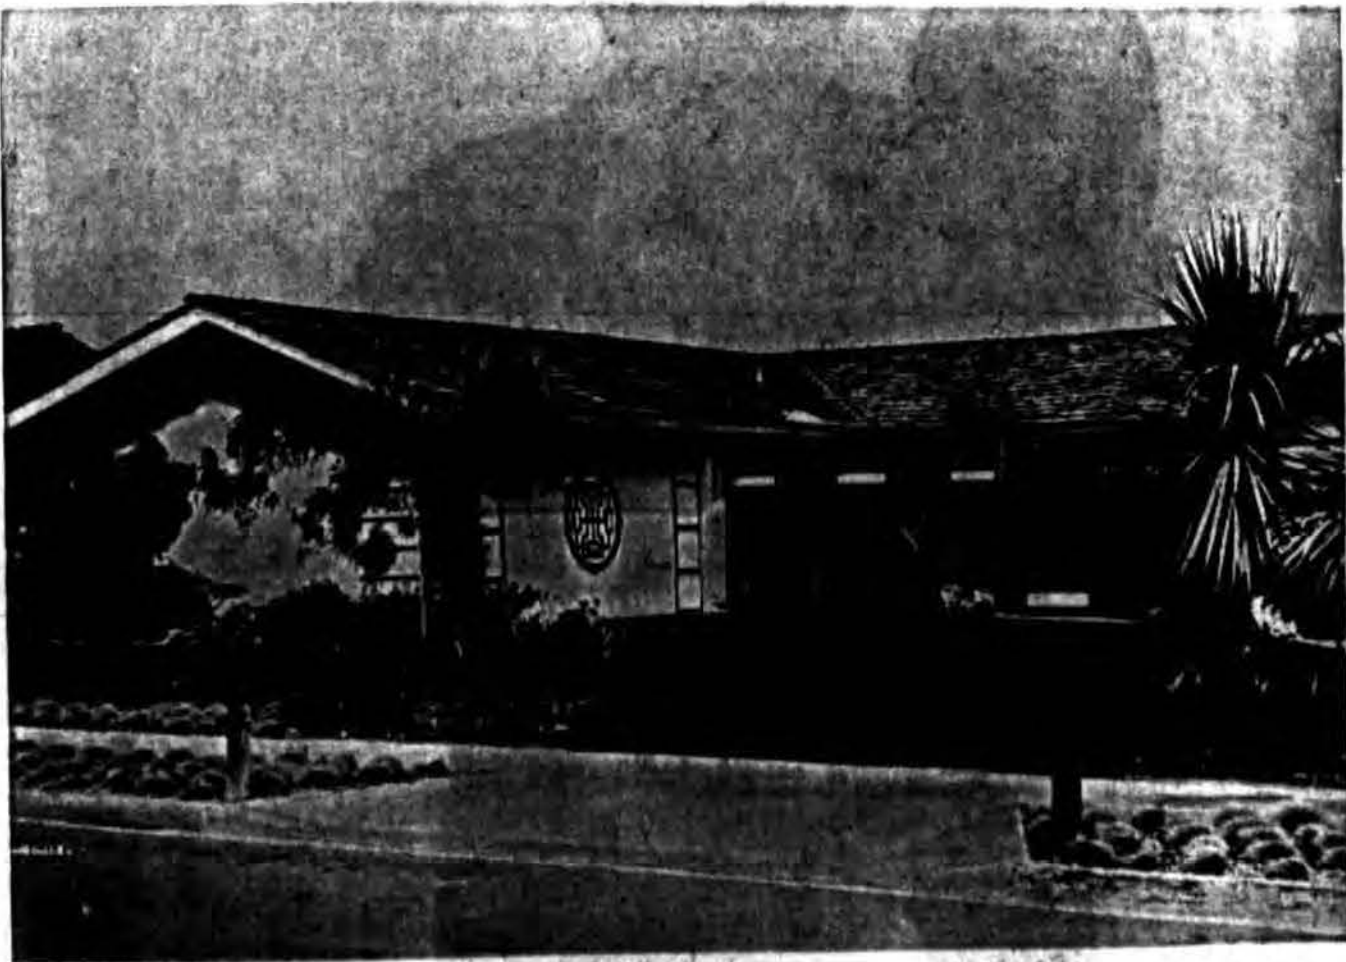

Mrs. Strutz has also decorated the interior herself, giving the home a Far Eastern atmosphere.

"Our theory in planning the living area is that if you're not looking out a window, you should be looking at a wall that gives an outdoor feeling."

The Strutzes were recently convinced their hard work was worth it when they were offered $56,000 for their home — $22,000 more than they paid for it.

ORIENTAL MINIATURE GARDEN, DESIGNED BY DAUGHTER

Pacesetter Homes Moves Into New Quarters

John W. Klug has announced the move of all executive and office personnel of Pacesetter Homes, Inc. to the new Pacesetter Headquarters at 4540 Campus Drive in Newport Beach.

The new, 10,000 square foot building is of contemporary Spanish design. The entrance opens onto a 100-foot corridor of Mexican hand-made tile. Five massive, wrought iron chandeliers are suspended from the vaulted, domed ceiling. Amber glass and Spanish wrought iron grilles are utilized on facade windows, while glass walls open onto enclosed gardens from the executive offices.

Designed by Will Foster & Associates, the new building houses 21 employees and includes additional space for architectural services, legal counsel and recreational facilities.

John W. Klug formed

Pacesetter Homes in 1961, beginning in a one-room office on the Pacific Coast Highway in Newport. Since that time, he has been a principal in six major developments and has sold more than 1,600 Pacesetter homes in the Southern California area. Key factor in this remarkable growth has been the coastal location of every Pacesetter community, near ocean recreation facilities, in areas where a predicted increase in property values is imminent.

In April, 1961, ground was broken for the first Pacesetter community, the $12 million Mesa Verde development in Costa Mesa, adjacent to Newport Beach. Some 400 homes, priced from $24,950 to $32,950, were built near the Mesa Verde Country Club and golf course. During the same year, Hillcrest, the second Pacesetter development, was opened. Located on 125 acres of ocean-view property overlooking San Clemente, the community project is already 70 per cent complete.

In 1963, homebuyers waited in lines at the construction trailer to reserve homesites at Pacesetter Laguna Niguel. A 1200-acre master-planned community located in the hills of South Laguna, Laguna Niguel provides Pacesetter homes in the $20,950 to $27,950 price range. The homes overlook the El Niguel Country Club and golf course. Membership is available to all Pacesetter homeowners in both the country club and beach club.

In 1964, 200 acres of low lying, sandy, coastal property were drained, elevated and carved into channels to provide choice waterfront property on the outskirts of Ventura. In May, 1964, the $35 million Ventura Keys project opened. 206 homes of the planned 450 were sold by the end of the first week at prices ranging from $25,000 to $33,950. The offered Pacesetter Homes in the $22,950 to $33,950 price range. The first 100 homes were sold while the project was being graded. Both Mesa Verde and Hillcrest Pacesetter developments are now sold out.

Prior to the opening of the Pacesetter Shorecliffs development in 1962, an 18-hole golf course, country club and beach club were planned and developed for future residents. This $21 million master-planned community attracted hundreds of commuters and second home buyers to the $50 to $76,500.

Rancho Margarita, largest Pacesetter development to date, is a $150 million, master-planned development commanding 2000 acres of choice hillside property overlooking the ocean at San Clemente. The first 200-home unit of the planned 5000-home community offers ocean-view homes priced from $23,950 to $28,950. Included in the completed development will be shopping centers, commercial and apartment sites, industrial park, 5 elementary schools, an 18-hole golf course, country club, stables, equestrian trails and "green belt" areas of parkland. Preview homebuyers have already reserved many of the choice ocean-view sites in the first unit, selecting from the 3 and 4 bedroom floorplans displayed in the recently completed sales office. Four model homes are now being landscaped for the Grand Opening.

PACESETTER HOMES HEADQUARTERS, NEWPORT BEACH

Three Models Open At Westland Park

More than 450 Orange County residents attended the preview opening of Henry C. Cox's homes at Red Hill Ridge, Tustin.

Featured at the party were two of the 12 individual, architect-designed homes planned for the $8 million Red Hill Ridge development. The New Orleans French and the California Hacienda models were completely furnished for the more than 100 features, including a kitchen with 26 built-ins.

Distinctive styling for the ultimate in modern living includes a master suite with separate "his and hers" dressing rooms and "his and hers" baths with adjoining shower room and full-sized sauna-steam room.

Among notables attending the advance showing, were State Sen. and Mrs. John Schmitt, County Supervisors C. M. Featherly and David Baker, Gerald Mack, mayor of Tustin and Tustin City Councilmen Duane Ring and Tony Coco, Huntington Beach city representatives — City Manager Doyle Miller, Councilmen Jake Stewart and Bob Lambert, City Clerk Paul Jones, and Newport Beach Mayor Paul Gruber.

The homes, designed by Raymond Levanas, AIA, are now being shown to the public at 2111 and 2132 Saitair Drive, Red Hill Ridge, said.

Golf Club Gets Credit For Increase

An early July increase in sales of Pacesetter Homes at Shorecliffs has been attributed, according to Pacesetter officials, to an increase in play by couples at Shorecliffs Country Club because of scheduled golf tournaments at the San Clemente community.

The beach community already into the fourth unit of home sales, surrounds and overlooks the fairway of the Shorecliffs course. With the opening of the second 9 holes earlier this Spring, the challenging 18-hole course now stretches out more than 6,100 yards through the gently rolling San Clemente hills. Homebuyers, seeking proximity to the golf course as well as the beach, are eligible for membership not only in the Shorecliffs Country Club but, also, in the Shorecliffs Beach Club. The beach facility, walking distance from the community, features a club house, barbecue and picnic areas, showers, children's play area, shuffleboard and volleyball court and a private beach.

7,924 Lots 134 Subdivisions Open in 6 Months

During the first half of 1965, 134 subdivisions comprising 7,924 lots in 2,060,157 acres were developed in Orange County, according to figures compiled by First American Title Insurance & Trust Company's plant services department.

This compares with 153 tracts having 10,756 lots in 2,559,034 acres recorded during the same period of 1964.

The tracts recorded during the first half of this year included three subdivisions with a total of 641 lots at the site of the new University of California, Irvine, Campus. The title insurance policies for all three developments are being issued by First American Title Insurance & Trust Company, Santa Ana. At the newly-named community of McFadden, formerly the town of Irvine, one subdivision containing 21 lots was recorded.

Huntington Beach, which has led the county in subdivision development since 1961, continues its domination. During the first six months of 1965, 24 tracts hav-

Shorecrest Sets Opening Weekend

Shorecrest, a Kaufman and Broad community oriented to seashore living, will stage its grand opening this weekend on Brookhurst Avenue a mile south of Adams Avenue in Huntington Beach.

Constructed on land adjacent to the Orange County-approved marina, the single-family residences, selling from $22,000, are a mile from Huntington Beach State Park.

Jack Scougall, vice president of marketing for Kaufman and Broad, said the nautical development consists of several types of architectural design by Santa Ana architect Earl Kaltenbach, but the general motif of the community is for seashore living.

Scougall said the homes are from three to six bedrooms, and they have luminous ceilings in both cathedral and beam styles and patio kitchens. Models have been named Sandpiper, Miramar, Capri, Mariner and Coral Reef.

Homebuyers are given grant deeds to their homes and a five-year warranty against structural defects on their homes.

450 Attend Opening At Red Hill Ridge

Three furnished models are open at the 10-acre, $2.2 million Westland Park Towne Homes community, Tustin, where construction is 80 per cent completed, announced developer Alvin R. Stitch.

While the development at Red Hill and Sycamore Avenues features 96 town houses of two, three and four bedrooms, 70 per cent of the project will be devoted to landscaping and recreational areas including an 1,800-square-foot recreation building, 30 by 60-foot swimming pool, putting green, handball court and children's play sections, he added.

Prices range from $19,725 to $23,275 at the community where construction financing was provided by Ralph C. Sutro Co., Los Angeles-headquartered mortgage banking firm which also is handling 30 rose to a record $295,985, permanent FHA and VA 30/000 from $254,045,000 a year or 35-year loans at 5 1/2 per cent interest.

The modern units with double door entries are fully carpeted and soundproofed, Stitch said. Included are fireplaces and extensive use of decorated wallpaper. Kitchens feature built-in range and oven, dishwasher and customized ash cabinets. Units are ducted for air conditioning. All utilities are underground.

Westland Park Towne Homes is one-half mile from the Newport Freeway or the Santa Ana Freeway, one and one-half miles to Tustin Union High School and five miles from the new University of California, Irvine, campus.

The Sutro Co., Los Angeles, has branch offices in Orange, La Jolla and San Jose. One of the nation's largest mortgage banking firms, its loans being administered on June firm which also is handling 30 rose to a record $295,985, permanent FHA and VA 30/000 from $254,045,000 a year or 35-year loans at 5 1/2 per cent interest.

concept should be a major contribution to sportsmen and fun lovers everywhere."

In an interview with R. E. Plumleigh, president of Townhouse Condominiums, Inc., Santa Ana, he stated, "After analyzing the condominium and planned development market, we found that the person who is attracted to this relaxed maintenance-free way of life is also more enthusiastically involved with sporting and recreational activities than the average. Therefore, the family has the time, funds and energy to put into boat, trailer and camper fun. Basically, this is why we conceived the "20-High" concept.

The "20-High" unit, separated from the living unit by a 300-square-foot patio, is currently available at the new Chateau Blanc and Paradise Manor townhouse developments in Fountain Valley. Paradise Manor homes, with custom interiors, offer one, two or three bedrooms, most with two baths; prices start at $15,950.

The Normandy styled Chateau Blanc homes also offer one, two or three bedrooms, some with three baths; prices start at $16,950.

In addition to the unique sportsman's "20-High", the features for the developments include attractively landscaped lawn and drive areas, large swimming pools, putting greens, volleyball courts, shuffleboard, badminton and tennis courts, recreational halls with a conference room, a stage, a fireplace and a serving bar.

The developments are near industrial, business and professional districts. Boating and beach facilities are within a five minute drive, and three colleges are nearby. Upon completion, the San Diego Freeway will reach within a half mile of both properties.

"Realizing that all Southlanders don't own a boat, a camper or a trailer," Plumleigh quipped, "we've put up a luxury Santa Fe Trailer and a smart Lido 14 Sailboat for a lucky drawing winner, to break in the "20-High" feature. The winner needn't be a homeowner but we really think he'd enjoy his boat or trailer more if he lived here."

New Techniques Meeting Topic

New techniques of selling will be reviewed by Edwin A. Ramp, general sales manager for Ducommun Metals and Supply Company, Los Angeles, at the dinner meeting of the Sales and Marketing Council on Monday, Aug. 9, at Rodger Young Auditorium. "Creative Sales Management" will be the subject of his talk.

The SMC is the marketing group of the Home Builders Association of Los Angeles, Orange and Ventura Counties. The dinner will start at 7 p.m., with a social hour at 6 p.m., according to Josef Citron, president of the SMC.

Can a bachelor on a budget find happiness in a Balanced Power apartment?

That's the whole Balanced Power idea—happiness. First of all, if you're a bachelor and you're budgeting, you're no doubt doing it so that you'll have more money for the important things—like Saturday night dates.

However, if you ever hope to have enough for these, you've got to cut down somewhere else. But where... records? skiing? ball games? guitar lessons? Ridiculous!

The place to conserve is on the fringe items. Like food. And utilities. Start by crossing the stuffed olives off the shopping list. Then, pack up and find yourself a Balanced Power Apartment. You see, in a Balanced Power Apartment, you're not stuck with just one fuel. You get two. Both gas and electricity. You have economical gas keeping everything warm and cozy. Economical gas keeping you supplied with plenty of hot water. And economical gas giving you instant on and off heat for controlled cooking. (By now you may have guessed where you save money in a Balanced Power Apartment.) As for electricity, it runs the other appliances—the hi-fi, the mixer and the sun lamp. That's Balanced Power at work. Saving you money (whether you pay the utilities or the landlord pays them and adds them to your rent)...and bringing you happiness.

And so we say to you, Southern California bachelors on a budget, go seek your happiness in your Balanced Power Apartments. Set out and look for the Balanced Power symbol. Insist on Balanced Power living. Save your money and some day, who knows, you may be able to put the stuffed olives back on the shopping list.

$12 Million Villa Park Development Open in HB

Villa Pacific, a $12 million development by Cedric E. Sanders, held its grand opening recently. The new community, located at Huntington Beach, offers one to four-bedroom, one- and two-story villas.

Offering buyers a "Wonderful World of Park and Sea," Villa Pacific is located less than 5,200 feet from the Pacific shoreline on an eight mile stretch of white, clean beach. Thirty acres of landscaped park and recreation are within the development and a half-mile long park is directly adjacent.

The Mediterranean and Contemporary styled villas are priced from $15,200 with 5 1/4 per cent interest; 35-year FHA financing is available.

The homes are offered in nine activity - zoned floor plans and 27 exterior designs.

The new community offers an expansive recreation complex. The 6,100-square-foot central clubhouse provides game and bridge rooms; a modern kitchen with catering equipment for 450 people; a large lounge with fireplace; billiard and ping-pong tables; separate Sauna baths for men and women; shuffleboard courts; showers and locker rooms; a therapeutic pool with Jacuzzi whirlpool and an Olympic-size, heated swimming pool.

Also included are four cabana clubs, each with its own swimming pool, showers, furnished kitchen, barbecue pits and spacious lounge rooms. Each villa is just a few steps away from one of the cabana clubs.

Other facilities include a private tennis club; pitch-and-putt golf course, plus a putting green.

Utility lines are underground to further preserve the natural beauty of the community.

The villas are built in California Contemporary, French Regency and Classic architecture. Both single and two-story models present one or more private patios; attached 2 1/2-car garages with ample tool storage and hobby-working areas; shake roofs, and built-in planters. Exterior walls include decorative brick and stone.

INDIVIDUALIZED EXTERIORS — Furnished models at Villa Pacific offer 27 individualized exteriors, nine floor plans and complete recreation facilities combining activities of both park and sea.

New, $12 million community just opened in Huntington Beach.

ONE OF FOUR — Typical cabana club at Villa Pacific, new $12 million "park and sea" community just opened in Huntington Beach. In addition to four such clubs, residents also enjoy a 6,100-square-foot central club house, tennis, pitch and putt golf.

COMMERCIAL WHIRLWIND

Like the stars beginning to twinkle at dusk, a rash of new and glittering shopping, office, and commercial developments is illuminating the local scene. Costa Mesa's South Coast Plaza, which will house the May Co. and Sears has completed dirt moving and has settled down to construction. Huntington Beach's booming Broadway regional shopping center is beginning to dwarf action on the San Diego freeway at Beach Boulevard.

Newport Beach has just stolen a lot of show from Laguna Beach with its new Coast Highway Art Center. This cleverly conceived and designed array of shops is a must for lovers of the unconventional. It is very functional for touring and shopping, but allows one to do so with exciting appreciation of architecture and old world charm.

College Center, housing the new Howard Johnson's restaurant at the entrance to Orange Coast College, is another new jewel. Johnson's glamorous eatery is only a small part of the over-all complex. A number of new shops as well as Costa Mesa's truly first "Class A" office building rises at this strategic Harbor and Adams intersection. Moving down the boulevard one cannot help but gasp in awe at the new nursery dome and the Kerm Rima Hardware edifice.

IT TOOK A LONG TIME

For the past ten years, oldtimers and new residents, moaned for the lack of major shopping facilities along the Orange Coast. Newcomers from the big city were so oriented to shopping the big stores they kept on doing so.

Driving to Los Angeles to shop was one of the biggest pains of many a local housewife. Oddly it didn't pain them nearly as much as the city fathers. That four cents of every dollar they spent uptown stayed in the big city instead of our own community. That sales tax dollar buys a better police and fire department, more, and greener city parks and holds residential property taxes down.

A SHOPPERS PARADISE

Realtors have been banging the doors of the major stores for years telling them of the wonders of the coast. Telling them this was the fastest growing county in the nation with a financially affluent resident was hard to do. Like the fog that turns into a rain storm, finally "big name" merchants from all across the nation are arriving. Sears Roebuck is going into the South Coast Plaza with a store that will make its once large Santa Ana facility look like pup tent.

That long trek to the big city for shopping will be a thing of the past. Irvine Company's center in Corona del Mar will be capping everything else with a batch of the Beverly Hills branch outlets. Jammed into this dynamic coast will be the most fabulously extensive lines of merchandise found anywhere in the world.

FOUNTAIN VALLEY SLEEPER

Tucked snugly between Huntington Beach and Costa Mesa is tomorrow's "corner," the city of Fountain Valley. With its romantic name many people think at times it is just another subdivision. If you travel Brookhurst, you drive through the center of town. Once the heart of the Japanese farming community, it is now explosive with a vital new population and booming subdivisions.

Some of the boom bombed initially, but like a Roman candle it is spurring ahead again vigorously and colorfully. Builder George Holstein was probably the prime developer who lit the wick and today controls much of the town's future. Many other prominent builders have their hands in the molding of Fountain Valley. A few "wood butchers" bruised the remarkable sales records, but these errors have been culled out.

Costa Mesa Developers Dike and Colgrove opened their 68 homes some four weeks ago and have scored 48 sales. That is nearly as fast as a salesman can write an order. Watch this little fountain blossom into a beautiful valley—Fountain Valley.

PLENTY OF ROOM — Newport Riviera Townhouse apartments is ideal place for raising a family. It has about 20 acres of rolling green malls, a Teen Center, children's playground and $225,000 recreation center. The two and four-bedroom apartments, with two or three baths, are available on a year's lease. They are located on Tustin Avenue in Back Bay area.

LANDSCAPED YARD — Exterior view of a Capistrano Highlands home shows planted landscaped front yard, sprinkler system and double garage, included in purchase price. Prices range from $23,950 to $29,450. Underground utilities are provided within the development.

Capistrano Highlands

Landscaped Yards Offered

One of the many features included in the purchase price of each Capistrano Highlands home in Orange County is a planted landscaped front yard with an underground sprinkler system which, according to William Markas, sales manager of the development, has become very popular among the homebuyers.

"Homebuyers at Capistrano Highlands tell us that this pre-installed sprinkler system saves them 'out of pocket' funds. They can immediately move into their homes and they do not have to spend the time or cost for installation."

Markas added, "With the sprinkler system, the homebuyers can maintain the pre-planted landscaping simply by operating the turn-on valves, which are located at their front door. The inconvenience of attaching and transporting cumbersome hoses is eliminated."

Other features included in the purchase price of the Capistrano Highlands homes are a double garage, shake and single roofs, wall-to-wall carpeting, large woodburning fireplace, all-electric kitchen with range and double oven, dishwasher, ceramic tile baths and a various array of kitchen conveniences.

Capistrano Highlands homes are designed in arrangements with up to five bedrooms, a large family room and spacious living room. Prices of the homes range from $23,950 to $29,450 with low down payments, long-term financing at a low interest rate, and convenient monthly payments.

The homes at Capistrano Highlands are certified for air conditioning; curbs and sidewalks are installed and paid for, and underground utilities are provided within the development.

Furnished models may be seen by taking the Santa Ana-San Diego freeway to either the La Paz or El Toro turn-offs and following Leadership Home signs to the Capistrano Highlands development.

Dollar Down VA Finance At A La Mode

American Housing Guild recently added dollar down VA financing to terms available at its A La Mode subdivision in Corona.

Charlotte McDonald, sales manager, said A La Mode is the first subdivision in the area to offer such terms.

Additionally, FHA and conventional financing is available, she said.

The final unit of A La Mode now is under construction. The sales office and furnished models are reached by taking the Corona cutoff and River Road from the Riverside Freeway in Corona.

A La Mode is near existing schools, churches and shopping centers.

By freeway, it is a short commuter's drive to Orange County industrial areas. It also is close to mountain and beach resorts.

Four models and 12 exterior stylings are available. Houses have air conditioning, fireplaces, central heating, large windows, sliding glass doors, landscaping and fenced rear yards.

Authentic 'Touches' At Bluffs

Trend making Spanish design that offers private front patios, balconies, open beamed ceilings and other authentic California "touches," plus the utilization of wide green areas, curved streets and recreation facilities are combining to make the Bluffs development in Newport Beach one of the nation's most unique.

Two-story, single-level and split-level homes in choice of two, three, and four-bedroom plans give the buyer a wide selection. The pool, park, and close proximity to school and churches are also appealing to families, at the Newport Beach site.

The Bluffs offer complete exterior maintenance and give the buyer leisure time to enjoy the natural pleasures of the Newport Beach area along with the recreational center and other play facilities included at the award winning development.

Prices at the newest unit of the fast-selling Bluffs start at $28,000 with some homes overlooking Upper Newport Bay set at $42,000.

The vacation plan is also popular with Bluff buyers as it offers the home owner a complete service of landscaping and maintenance while the buyer is away. "It's a trend in any resort area and very popular with the 'Bluff people,'" developer, George M. Holstein and Sons reports.

The Bluffs are located just west of Jamboree Road, overlooking Upper Newport Bay, just north of the Newport Inn.

UNIQUE CHARM — Spanish tiles and authentic balconies blend with scenic views and relaxed Newport Beach atmosphere at George M. Holstein and Sons'

Bluffs development west of Jamboree Road overlooking Upper Newport Bay just north of the Newport Inn.

What is leasehold? How does it benefit me? Why did it come about in the first place? Isn't this a rather new idea? Are leasehold properties becoming more popular? Why? Is this concept of leasing land used anywhere else besides Orange County?

M. Martin
Corona del Mar, Calif.

Leaseholding properties are becoming more predominant in our area. More and more of the properties being purchased are purchased on the leasehold system. Much of the prestige properties in our area are on leasehold. Fine areas—such as East-bluff, Cameo Shores, Irvine Terrace, Dover Shores, Lido Sands—are leasehold properties.

In real estate terms, leasehold means that you buy the home, as always, but you do not buy the land—you rent it. The title to the land remains with someone else. You rent the land under the terms of a lease that extends anywhere from 25 to 99 years. The most common lease is for between 55-75 years.

In the lease agreement you agree to abide by the covenants and conditions laid down by your landlord, the owner of the land. These restrictions are for the mutual protection of everyone involved.

1,000 FAMILIES A WEEK

Restrictions on all properties must necessarily increase as the population increases; the available amount of land remains the same. The population does not remain the same. Here in Southern California alone, we increase at the rate of 1,000 families each week.

The idea of leasehold property is not a new idea. It is an old practice throughout Europe; some leaseholds there are for as long as 400 and 500 years. Much of Baltimore, Md., is leasehold. Our new state of Hawaii utilizes much of its property to the leasehold system. At least one expert on the staff of the Stanford Research Institute believes that leasehold is definitely the coming thing—there is no question about it.

Leasehold offers a solution to the problems of haphazard development of California's ever-scarcer prime residential, commercial, and industrial property. At the moment, thousands of Orange County residents are living in homes on land they are only leasing.

HALF A MILLION

It is predicted that in Orange County alone 200,000 people will be occupying leased land on the Irvine Ranch within 16 years. Over half a million people will be living on leased property by the turn of the century.

There are good reasons for buying leasehold property. Strange as the idea of owning a home and renting the land may seem presently, it is going to become more of a common-place thing. Some of the arguments used by salesmen in favor of buying leasehold property are that you will have less of an out-of-the-pocket cash outlay. You are not buying the land; you are only renting it; therefore, your down payment can many times be much less.

What could possibly be an $85,000 home if you had to buy the land as well as the home, you now under the leasehold system may be able to buy for $60,000. Therefore, your monthly payments will be more and you will be getting a home for thousands of dollars more than you thought you could possibly afford.

Of course, this also enables you to live in a better planned and cared for neighborhood.

Critics say that it is a poor investment. They argue that when the lease expires you have nothing, that although the leasehold may be fine for your children. They claim that leasehold houses permit families to live unrealistically, beyond their incomes, which is not good for the family, the community, or the nation.

The real estate taxes on the land are paid for by the owner of the home rather than by the owner of the land.

INCOME TAX LAWS

The major reason behind the leasehold system today here in Orange County are the income tax laws. Orange County real estate has appreciated in value many-fold. For the land owner to sell it would be ruinous, because as much as 70 per cent of what he received from the sale could be paid in taxes. But by collecting rent on the land over a period of 50 to 75 years instead of selling it, the land owners are permitted by law to stretch their tax payments on their profit over an indefinite period and, of course, by owning the land they continue to profit from rising land cost for generations to come.

Leasehold is not an evil thing, neither is it a panacea. Whether it is advantageous or a detriment depends upon each individual situation. It must be said, however, that the leasehold properties in Orange County and especially in the Newport Beach area have been very successful.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Would you like to know more about some phase of real estate? If you have any questions, comments, or suggestions, write Randall R. McCardle, 1700 Newport Blvd., Costa Mesa.

Community Presented 2 Awards

Casitas Capistrano, a community of Spanish-style homes in San Juan Capistrano four blocks from the famous San Juan Capistrano Mission, has received its sixth and seventh awards for architectural excellence.

The awards of merit were presented by the San Juan Capistrano Historical Society.

Don Durnford, mayor of San Juan Capistrano and president of the society, said his organization selected Casitas Capistrano for the awards for "adhering to the Spanish style of architecture of early California."

Paul Moore, secretary-treasurer of Town & Country Homes Inc. of Santa Ana, received the award for Richard Kempa, president of the firm who was in Washington, D. C., on business.

Architect Robert E. Jones of La Jolla, who designed the Casitas Capistrano project, was represented at the dinner attended by 50 persons at El Adobe Restaurant by architect Dan Salerno of Jones' office.

"The awards were made because of the efforts of these parties to encourage the preservation of the architectural heritage of old San Juan Capistrano," said Durnford.

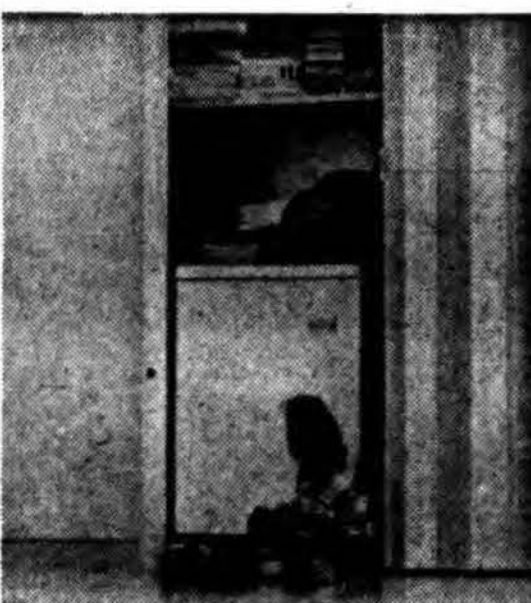

Casitas Capistrano has received five other awards for outstanding design, three of them national.

Present at the dinner was Lyn Sherwood, publisher of Clarin, a bullfight publication, who described the history of bullfighting in the San Juan Capistrano area and as it exists today in Spain and Mexico.

AWARD WINNER—Casitas Capistrano homes in San Juan Capistrano has received sixth and seventh awards for architectural excellence. Awards were presented by San Juan Capistrano Historical Society. Other awards for outstanding design included three national. Latest awards were presented at dinner attended by 50 persons, including architect Robert E. Jones of La Jolla, who designed Casitas Capistrano.

Sales Manager Awarded Post

Donald D. McBride has been named sales manager for John D. Lusk & Son, Inc., developers of residential communities, it was announced. He will direct sales operations from the company's headquarters in Whittier.

John D. Lusk, whose organization has built thousands of homes in the Southland, said that the appointment of McBride and expansion of the company's merchandising staff reflect growing sales activity in the home-building market. The firm's current developments include East-bluff-Newport, Country Hills East, Nohl Ranch and Countrywood.

McBride, 32, was elevated to his new post from his former position as assistant sales manager. He attended Glendale College and UCLA, where he majored in business administration.

Firm Was Born on a Day of Infamy

until his death in 1959.

Ruth Shepherd was an English major and graduate of Northwestern University but she could easily fall back on her girlhood upbringing in the tiny town of Algona, Iowa, to make friends with newcomers. She wore a big hat (a trademark she had established long before) and sat under a sunshade and played the role of mother to the newcomers. "You save your money," she told the Okies and Arkies who gathered around the 'pretty lady in the hat.' "Get a piggy bank and put something in it, even if it's only a dollar a week." And while she was mothering her new friends she sold house after house.

She made such an impression that to this day some of those early home buyers stop by the Lakewood office of the now sprawling Walker & Lee empire to inquire if "the lady with the big hat is still here?"

STABILITY

And some of those stoppers-by, Walker & Lee staffers note with amusement, 'now drive Cadillacs and vote Republican.' The equity in their Lakewood homes was the beginning of the first economic stability in their lives.

In the course of the war the prices of homes rose from $3,500 to $8,000. But when the war ended, widespread jubilation at victory and the cessation of bloodshed was brief in terms of cold financial reality.

A Federal Housing Administration official made a trip to Lakewood to tell the realtors they had "better go home." "This place," he said, "will be a ghost town. There's going to be a depression and you'll all be selling apples."

GRIM

Walker, Lee and Mrs. Shepherd decided to stick it out although for a while the going was almost as grim as the FHA man had predicted.

Lee recalls that "we'd work all weekend and get a $25 deposit on a house. Then the customer would panic and cancel on Monday."

But somehow, the faith

the three had in their business paid off in the post war years. They didn't buy the apple-selling prophecy and they even managed to continue selling a few houses.

And soon they were selling a huge amount of homes. The chipyards had converted to peacetime industry, unemployment didn't prevail after all, and all the babies born during the war were growing up and their families needed more and bigger houses than ever.

EXPANDING

Walker & Lee decided it could use a little more space too so it began expanding — first to Long Beach, then inland to Anaheim (where its head office is now located) on to blanket nearly all of Orange County, from Buena Park to Newport and Dana Point — and the firm has now grown to include Ventura County.

One man who joined forces with the Walker, Lee and Shepherd combine as a salesman 16 years ago rose to become DeWitt Lee's second-in-command in 12 years.

He is Executive Vice President Frank R. Hart, a Pomona College graduate who had headed out to be a lawyer until he met Robert Walker. Walker, he says, "looked me over like a hunter would stalk a deer. . . he wooed me. . . and I got my real estate license in February of 1949."

Hart was an outstanding salesman from the beginning, was promoted repeatedly and achieved his present post in 1961.

Paraphrasing, Hart has an avocation that makes him even more unique in the hobby area than he is in the area of business success. He's a big game hunter who goes to Africa on safaris every couple of years and has racked up an enviable total of trophy kills. (Walker was a fisherman on the avocation side and both Lee and Mrs. Shepherd are devotees of ocean cruises.)

Hart's attitude toward real estate is a homespun one. Says he: "I'm sincere about it, even naive. I am convinced that for people in California an investment in real estate that they can handle is one sure way that they can have security."

Over the years, the combination of Walker, Lee,

Mrs. Shepherd and Hart has produced an organization which boasts 19 offices with 265 sales people manning them. And last year was the second consecutive year the firm sold property valued in excess of $100 million.

Today Southern California's Walker & Lee is the largest residential real estate firm in the entire United States.

20 Veterans Buy Homes At Somerset

Twenty of the 62 homebuyers at Somerset Place, town home project of Kaufman and Broad Homes Inc. at Chapman and Haster avenues in Garden Grove, are veterans who have participated in international police actions of the United States.

Gene Rosenfeld, vice president and general manager of Kaufman and Broad, said as soon as the President signs the bill to provide benefits to Cold War veterans who have served in Vietnam, Lebanon, Dominican Republic and Thailand, the veteran homebuyers at Somerset Place will be able to convert their financing and save thousands of dollars.

Rosenfeld said Somerset Place homes, which sell from $16,990, will be available under the new financing program for Cold War veterans with no down payment up to $15,000; 10 per cent of the balance between $15,000 and $20,000, and 15 per cent of the balance from $20,000.

Somerset Place, centrally-located in Garden Grove on Chapman Ave. 1 block south of Harbor, offers homes of two, three and four bedrooms and up to three baths.

A recreation-oriented community, Somerset Place has a clubhouse with billiard tables, kitchen and card tables; two swimming pools, one for adults and the other for children; volleyball and basketball courts, and a tot lot fully equipped with playground paraphernalia.

Homes also feature the patio kitchen, designed for outdoor living and dining.

Irvine Asks Delay On Map of Center

The official map of the Irvine Company's $20 million Newport Center will be held over until the Aug. 19 meeting of the Newport Beach Planning Commission at request of Irvine officials who want to research water and sanitation problems.

However, once the final map is approved by the city planners, the Irvine Company will break ground on the 147-acre site located on East Coast Highway between MacArthur Boulevard and Jamboree Road.

The Irvine Company also requested a delay on a subdivision of two lots at 2222 and 2300 University Drive.

Other planning commission action included the following: —Held over for 30 days a request for a use permit to sell liquor.

The Planning Commission honored a Balboa Improvement Association request to postpone the public hearing on a permit to sell beer at Art's Landing, 503 E. Edgewater St., Balboa.

Arthur Gronsky, owner of the fishing complex, already has an off-sale beer license and now wants to sell beer at the landing's coffee shop.

But the Improvement Association, which has raised a storm recently over alleged blight in Balboa, wants time to study the permit and make a presentation to the commission.

The planners approved Mrs. Eve MacDonald's request to build an apartment above the real estate office, at 319 Marine Ave., Balboa Island.

The commission denied William Gerhart's request to add an extra story to his duplex at 201 Opal Ave., Balboa Island.

"This would be extending the life of a bad situation," stated Commissioner Ray Copelin, referring to the fact that the current duplex does not have adequate front and side yard setbacks.

The commission approved Victor Wilson's request to rent motorcycles with an outdoor display at the gas station at 4625 W. Coast Highway.

HB Family 'Adopts' Girl in Philippines

Picture a grass shack beneath a century old mango tree in the Philippines near an extinct volcano on the beach.

Romantic? Not if you're an undernourished 6-year-old girl whose mother has to toil all week to bring a dollar's worth of food to your fatherless family of four.

Such was the case of Erlinda Curitomo and her family, before she was financially "adopted" by Mr. and Mrs. James J. Guerin, 9192 Christine Drive, Huntington Beach, through the Foster Parents Plan, Inc.

For $8 a month, the Guerins have seen that their "daughter" has proper medical attention, diet and clothing.

They write each month to little Erlinda, who reports that she is very industrious. Each morning the child rises before the rest of her family and cooks breakfast, cleans the yard and gets ready for school.

Erlinda's mother, 49, was forced to gather fruits and sell them in the market each day after her farmer husband died in 1962, leaving the family penniless.

Before the Guerins "adopted" Erlinda her school supplies were bought by neighbors and she was frequently absent from school.

Now she attends regularly and plans to be a teacher so she can help unfortunate children in her village.

Foster Parents Plan Inc. headquarters in New York reports that Erlinda's case is similar to countless children without foster parent aid.

Further information on the program may be obtained by writing the headquarters at 352 Park Avenue South, N. Y., N.Y. 10010.

Judge Rules

Candidate Can't Sue

SANTA ANA — A legal move to eliminate the John Birch Society and its founder, Robert Welch, from a $2.5 million law suit has succeeded.

Welch, the society, as well as Birch public relations chief John Rousselot, were stricken from the action by Superior Judge Stephen K. Tamura, Thursday.

Still subject to litigation, in the suit filed by Robert Battin, defeated Democratic candidate for the state Senate, are Orange County state senator John Schmitz (R-Tustin) and Frank L. Magana, a Schmitz campaign worker. Battin has charged LeMagna conspired with Schmitz to make a false citizen's arrest of Battin two days before the November general election.

Battin claims the resultant publicity damaged his chances of winning the election.

Judge Tamura also ruled Thursday that Battin had failed to submit any evidence in support of his claim that the arrest was malicious.

Still named in the suit with Schmitz and LeMagna are "1,000 John Does."

What Is Television's Future?

EDWARD R. MURROW

"Let us have a little competition... in informing a troubled, apprehensive but receptive public."

When Edward R. Murrow died on April 27, most of his legacy lay in his achievements in radio and television news documentaries. But he also had deep convictions about the destiny of the broadcast medium and set forth his doubts and fears about the future of television in a speech Oct. 15, 1958. These remarks were taken from that speech.

But this nation is now in competition with malignant forces of evil who are using every instrument at their command to empty the minds of their subjects, and fill those minds with slogans, determination, and faith in the future. If we go on as we are, we are protecting the mind of the American public from any real contact with the menacing world that squeezes in upon us. We are engaged in a great experiment to discover whether a free public opinion can devise and direct methods of managing the affairs of the nation. We may fail. But we are handicapping ourselves.

Let us have a little competition. Not only in selling soap, cigarettes, and automobiles, but in informing a troubled, apprehensive but receptive public. Why should not each of the twenty or thirty big corporations which dominate radio and television, decide that they will give up one or two of their regularly scheduled programs each year, turn the time over to the networks, and say in effect: "This is a tiny tithe, just a little bit of our profits. On this particular night we aren't going to try to sell cigarettes or automobiles; this is merely a gesture to indicate our belief in the importance of ideas."

The networks should, and I think would, pay for the cost of producing the program. The advertiser, the sponsor, would get name credit, but would have nothing to do with the content of the program.

Would this blemish the corporate image? Would the stockholders object? I think not. For if the premise upon which our pluralistic society rests — which, as I understand it, is that if the people are given sufficient undiluted information, they will then somehow, even after long, sober second thoughts, reach the right decision — if that premise is wrong, then not only the corporate image but the corporations are done for.

There used to be an old phrase in this country, employed when someone talked too much. It was: "Go hire a hall." Under this proposal the sponsor would have hired the hall; he has bought the time; the local station operator, no matter how indifferent, is going to carry the program — he has to. Then it's up to the networks to fill the hall.

I am not talking about editorializing, but about direct straightaway exposition as direct, unadorned and impartial, as fallible human beings can make it. Just once in a while let us exalt the importance of ideas and information. Let us dream to the extent of saying that on a given Sunday night in the time normally occupied by Ed Sullivan is given over to a clinical survey of the state of American education, and a week or two later the time normally used by Steve Allen is devoted to a throughgoing study of American policy in the Middle East.

Would the corporate image of their respective sponsors be damaged? Would the stockholders rise up in their wrath and complain? Would anything happen other than that a few million people would have received a little illumination on the subjects that may well determine the future of this country, and therefore the future of the corporations.

This method would also provide real competition between the networks as to which could outdo the others in the palatable presentation of information. It would provide an outlet for the young men of skill, and there are some even of dedication, who would like to do something other than devise methods of insulating while selling.

To those who say: People wouldn't look, they wouldn't be interested, they're too complacent, indifferent, and insulated — I can only reply: There is, in one reporter's opinion, considerable evidence against that contention. But even if they are right, what have we got to lose? Because if they are right, and this instrument is good for nothing but to entertain, amuse, and insulate, then the tube is flickering and we will soon see that the whole struggle is lost.

This instrument can teach, it can illuminate; yes, and it can even inspire. But it can do so only to the extent that humans are determined to use it to those ends. Otherwise it is merely wires and lights in a box. There is a great and perhaps decisive battle to be fought against ignorance, intolerance and indifference. This weapon of television could be useful.

Stonewall Jackson, who knew something about the use of weapons, is reported to have said: "When war comes, you must draw the sword and throw away the scabbard." The trouble with television is that it is rusting the scabbard — during a battle for survival.

Shocked

Editor Hits Viet Policy

A magazine editor has returned from Vietnam distressed and shocked by the American management of what, he declares, is already the longest losing war that Americans have been engaged in since the French-Indian wars of the 18th Century.

Charles J. V. Murphy, who was at one time special assistant to the late Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg, former Air Force Chief of Staff, asserts in a special report for Fortune's August issue that "it is time the E-Ring in the Pentagon stopped kidding the troops, and that the rest of us stopped kidding ourselves."

RECALLING Gen. MacArthur's dying advice to President Johnson, "Son, don't ever get yourself bogged down in a land war in Asia," Murphy declares that "it makes no sense to send American foot soldiers, rifles and grenades at the ready, into the rain forests and the rice paddies... to grapple with a foe whom they cannot distinguish by face or tongue from the same racial stock they seek to defend. On every count — disease, tropical heat and rain, the language curtain — the odds are much too high against their making much of an impression."

Murphy advocates instead shifting the main weight of the American counterattack from a ground war below the 17th parallel to an air offensive in North Vietnam itself, accompanied by a blockade of the North Vietnamese coast. Denying that this would mean leveling Hanoi, he believes the target should be the North Vietnamese infrastructure — the plants, railroads, power systems and ports with which Ho Chi Minh supports his aggression in the south.

The object, says Murphy, is to lift from South Vietnam, at all possible speed, the terrible pressure on its hamlets, a task "manifestly beyond the competence of the Army and Marine Corps except in a prolonged and costly test of endurance... What has made the American fighting man better than his enemies, is his higher technological proficiency. It seems folly for (the U.S.) to fight in Asia without drawing on this technological advantage."

MURPHY RECOUNTS a visit to the American air base at Bien Hoa, 18 miles northeast of Saigon, crowded with aircraft collected around a single strip. "It was the dirtiest, most slovenly, ramshackle air operation I have ever visited. One can excuse a lot in war, but the confusion, disorder, and disarray were beyond excuse." The next day 22 planes blew up, and more were damaged in a disaster the cause of which the Air Force was unable to identify. However, a dozen or so simple concrete and earth revetments to protect the planes had not been finished because funds for new construction were difficult to come by in Washington.

"The penny-pinching that contributed to this episode, and the timidity that impelled experienced officers to endure a scandalous situation," says Murphy, "did credit to no one... Under the very eyes of the two-star Air Force theater commander, the four-star Army general in command of the entire war, and even the former chairman of the joint chiefs who sat in Saigon, the squalid, inefficient, and dangerous operation in Bien Hoa was tolerated and left to an overworked Air Force colonel to manage as best he could."

True American Spirit

I do not choose to be a common man. It is my right to be uncommon — if I can. I seek opportunity — not security. I do not wish to be a kept citizen, humbled and dulled by having the state look after me. I want to take the calculated risk; to dream and to build, to fail and to succeed. I refuse to barter incentive for a dole. I prefer the challenges of life to the guaranteed existence; the thrill of fulfillment to the stale calm of utopia.

I will not trade freedom for beneficence nor my dignity for a handout. I will never cower before any master nor bend to any threat. It is my heritage to stand erect, proud and unafraid; to think and act for myself, enjoy the benefit of my creations and to face the world boldly and say, this I have done.

All this is what it means to be an American.

— DEAN ALFANGE

Niven Should Have Known Not to Tangle with Shirley

Herb Caen

SAN FRANCISCO — David Niven is a fast man with a needle, but even he should know better than to tangle with the redoubtable Shirley Temple Black. In a London magazine interview this month, he said the low point in his career was co-starring with Shirley — "an experience that should really happen to dogs, rather than actors." Shafts Shirley: "He's right about one thing — that picture ('A Kiss for Corliss') was a dog. I could have done better with Lassie — David was 20 years too old for the part THEN. And there must be some significance to the fact that it was my 35th — and last — picture."

NOTES & QUOTES: Poet Gary Snyder was complaining to his mother, Lois Snyder Hennessy, that since he won a $10,000 Bollingen Award, all his friends are hitting him for handouts. Lois: "So get some new friends — your friend Kerouac did." (Pause). "Migawd, I sound like a Jewish mother!"... One of Mel Belli's young Stanford graduate lawyers arrived at the office the other day in a brown suit, prompting Ol' Bellicose to roar: "Only a fruit or an FBI man would wear a brown suit!" Red-faced brown-suited lawyer left in blue funk, returned in blue serge. Lawrence Lipton, author of "The Holy Barbarians" and "The Erotic Revolution," also in a roaring mood: "I've just been dropped by UCLA Extension. Two Little Old Ladies from Pasadena listened to my lectures and complained that I'm pornographic. I came to San Francisco to tell the world about this outrage. Los Angeles is occupied territory."

BEAUTIFUL PEOPLE: The most expensive meal of the year might have been the one eaten by TV's David Brinkley in a restaurant which, he said on the air, "serves bad food garnished with pinballs." He's being sued for $150,000. J. George Lemont, heaving a world-weary sigh: "I guess we're all getting older. Today I had to take my teddy bear downtown and get him a pair of bifocals." Tom McMillan, ruminating: "If cows gave wine instead of milk, babies would be more fun at parties."

SENTENTIOUS thought for today: Little boys never grow up. They just become bigger little boys. Case in point:

When Jim Killian was 10 years old, his father (George Killian, president of American President Lines) promised him a Mickey Mouse watch and didn't come through — an oversight that Jim has never forgotten or forgiven. So the other day, Father George decided to make good, but wat & bo, the wonderful Mickey Mouseers of yesteryear, with the white-gloved hands and arms to indicate the time, are no longer on the market. Result: He is having one made by a jeweler, on an Accutron body, with a price tag of $450.

Nest Eggs Target

Callous Con Men Prey on Elderly

By KENNETH B. WILLSON
President
National Better
Business Bureau

An 80-year-old man gave a bogus termite control expert $1,790 for ridding his house of termites that were never there.

An elderly widow was persuaded twice within three years that her furnace was dangerous and needed replacing — at a cost of $3,847.

AN 80-YEAR-OLD woman was induced by a fake bank examiner to withdraw her savings of $3,300 and to turn them over to him for redeposit in the interest of trapping an allegedly dishonest teller.

These few examples of the callous exploitation of the aged point up the more incredible aspects of a problem that has been the subject of two Senate committee investigations in the past few years.

Reports received by the National Better Business Bureau indicate that the nation's 18 million elderly citizens are bilked of hundreds of millions of dollars each year by quacks and swindlers who prey on their loneliness, fears, infirmities and financial desperation.

THE NUMBER of Americans living through the "sunset years" after 65 is increasing steadily and now represents about 10 per cent of the total population. It is estimated that by 1980 the over-65 population will hit 25 million.

Although most of the nation's elderly citizens have meager incomes, many have nest eggs of a few thousand dollars which the con men consider easy pickings. Collectively, these life savings represent a rich haul.

Wistful older people are a natural and willing target for an ingenious array of frauds and swindles — from quack medicines to uninhabitable homesites, from shady matrimonial agencies to funeral and cemetery schemes.

THE ELDERLY are particularly vulnerable to health quackery, one of the more widespread and insidious rackets in the country today. The incidence of illness and disease is greatest among them and their limited funds and desperation make them susceptible to so-called wonder cures. Sophisticated promoters and quacks are exploiting the aged in such diverse areas as cancer, nutrition, health devices and gadgets, and phony and questionable clinics and spas that claim to specialize in the treatment of diseases that primarily afflict the elderly.

A prime target of the health gyp is the arthritis victim. It is estimated that America's 12 million arthritics — most of them older people — are fleeced of $250 million a year for quack remedies and pseudo-scientific claptrap of all kinds.

NATIONWIDE mail-order promoters appeal to older women with skin rejuvenators, wrinkle removers, and various types of cosmetics, reducing aids and vitamin preparations. Men are besieged with potency pills, hair restorers and various stimulants and devices.

The elderly are hounded by "hearse chasers" who present them bills for goods their dead mates never ordered. They are taken by glib sales pitches for submarginal land for retirement homes, risky investment situations, home improvement gyms, business opportunity rackets, misleading medical and hospital insurance plans and work-at-home schemes.

Con men invaded the dance studio business and designed high-pressure sales programs aimed especially at lonely older women. They sell them not only lifetime memberships but even multiple lifetime memberships.

RETIRED PEOPLE moving to their "land of milk and honey" have often found that their lot is not a homestead with utilities but undeveloped land in remote, desolate areas. One hopeful purchaser found himself the owner of a lava bed.

A small band of itinerant con men constantly prey upon the gullibility of older people. There is the gutter repairman, the chimney repairman, the roofing expert, the siding expert and the promoter of lightning protection devices that are not only worthless but may be harmful.

There are probably thousands of homes around the country with unneeded new roofs, new furnaces or new wiring because some high-pressure salesmen convinced elderly homeowners they were in imminent danger.

ONE WOMAN signed up to pay $5,800 in monthly installments for aluminum siding. The job was later estimated at $660 by a local contractor.

Three roving swindlers bilked an 89-year-old woman of nearly $4,000 over a few months, posing as city sewer, roofing and wiring inspectors.

What can be done to thwart the con men and quacks?

The best advice is these common sense rules:

—Beware of "miracle" cures. Take medical problems to your physician.

—BEWARE THE man who rings the doorbell and says he just happens to be in the neighborhood with his home repair equipment. Secure price quotations from firms of established reputation on all home repairs.

—Check "amazing" bargain offers before any money is spent or any investment is made.

—Read and understand all written agreements and contracts. Better yet, take them to your lawyer.

—SEEK INFORMATION from Chambers of Commerce on unknown firms and individuals.

The National Better Business Bureau has also recommended:

—That government and private agencies, national and local, carry continuous programs to inform the aged of the problems they face in their everyday purchases and investments.

—That responsible members of the community — relatives, friends, neighbors, clergymen, lawyers, doctors — make themselves available for guidance, assuming a social responsibility for the aged.

—THAT EXISTING laws and regulations be promptly and vigorously enforced, particularly at the local level.

—That greater and more effective use of self-regulatory codes be encouraged to bring together responsible representatives of commerce and the professions interested in preventing abuses.

THE DAILY PILOT

La Dolce Vita?

Actress Nanette Fabray, posing as an Italian seductress, borrows a page from Anna Magnani and "The Rose Tattoo" as, in the story, she tries to be something she isn't—an earthy Italian actress. With one significant difference: Nanette plays it for laughs, not pathos, for Chrysler Theatre's colorcast, "In Any Language," 8:30-9:30 PM, NBC-TV.

In her role as "Hanna King," veteran movie star whose claim to fame is a series of old-style Hollywood musical extravaganzas—no longer in vogue with the throngs at the box office—she decides to make a triumphant comeback as a dramatic actress.

Ricardo Montalban co-stars as the Italian film director.

Sagebrush Saga

Jean Arthur plays a woman torn between her outlaw son and her newborn grandson on Gunsmoke, Saturday, August 14, 10:00-11:00 PM, on the CBS Television Network.

In this repeat episode Miss Arthur portrays Julie Blane, a former New Orleans saloon owner who stops in Dodge City for an unexpected visit with her old friend Kitty Russell (Amanda Blake). It's a warm reunion and a cause for celebration when she announces that she is en route to Wichita to see her son and help bring her grandson into the world.

There's an air of mystery about her travels, however, when she slips away from town in the middle of the night in the company of a gunman. Only when she reaches her son and has to send for Doc Adams (Milburn Stone) to help deliver her grandson is it revealed that her son is a man wanted for murder.

Ed Ames bet a long shot that paid off. He left his singing brothers at the peak of their popularity to hopefully score as an actor and solo singer and so far there is no cause for regrets.

Being picked to play Mingo, the Oxford-educated half-breed Indian in NBC-TV's adventure series, Daniel Boone, is an indication that Ed's versatility promises a busy theatrical future.

Early in his career, Ed's exceptionally clear and resonant speaking voice almost lead him into radio announcing. Several recording companies were interested in promoting his singing voice, but he chose in favor of the family combination—the Ames Brothers.

After a long, successful association with his brothers, in which the quartet appeared in every top club, hotel and TV variety hour and sold upwards of 25 million records, Ed decided to go it alone . . . a good choice, according to his fans.

ROMPER ROOM IS EIGHT YEARS OLD

Romper Room is celebrating its 8th year on KTLA, Channel 5 (9:30-10:30 AM.)

The internationally syndicated live television program originated in Baltimore, Maryland in 1953 under the guidance of Nancy and Bert Claster.

It is estimated that Sally Mc-

Crae, KTLA's Romper Room teacher, has the largest preschool classroom in Southern California. Her pupils number over 160,000.

The program aims at preparing children for grammar school by familiarizing them with subjects they will be taught in the early grades.

She was a Child Actress

Natalie Wood is grateful she was a child actress, not a child star. She is seen frequently as the child in many late night movies on TV.

"I played every type of part," Natalie recalls. "I was sad, bad, plain, pretty, sympathetic. I had no image like Shirley Temple or Jane Withers."

In Natalie today there is a haunting resemblance to the little girl who appeared in such films as "No Sad Songs for Me" and "Happyland." But she has acquired additional depth, charm and beauty with the years, plus a marked technical skill in acting.

"Child stars bring out the mother-father-brother-sister aspects of fans," Natalie says. "When an adorable child star grows up this makes the fans feel older themselves and this they resent."

"Life is chance," she continued. "I didn't mind growing up personally and on the screen. In the years to come, I hope to be able to make the change from romantic roles to character parts."

Natalie, currently, is enacting the part of a teen-age Hollywood star of the 1930's in "Inside Daisy Clover" at Warner Brothers.
