The selection process itself will take place immediately after the newly elected council members take their oaths of office and are seated.

City Clerk Laura Lagios will administer the oaths and serve as chairman during the mayoral nominations - or nomination, if one only is needed. A majority vote by the sevenmember council is sufficient for the appointment.

Usually the balloting is conducted openly. Two years ago, however, councilmen for the first time in the city's history called for a secret ballot. Mayor Paul Gruber was re-elected

First duty of the city's new mayor will be to appoint various sanitation district committee members. He - or she — will do that Tuesday and then adjourn the meeting until the regularly scheduled April 22 council session.

Schmitz Facing Legal Action On 'Fraud' Book

A San Bernardino County supervisor said Sunday he and other count officials may take legal action against the author of a paperback book and against Sen. John Schmitz (R-Tustin) who wrote the book's introduction.

The 250-page story claims to be the "inside" on welfare fraud in San Bernardino County. Author is Belva Detloff, a former employe of the county's welfare department.

Supervisor Ruben Ayala said that he challenged the accuracy of the book's account of a San Bernardino County family living in incestuous relationship.

Sen. Schmitz said some weeks ago he planned to use evidence provided by Mrs. Detloff to support his bill which would put a ceiling of $400 on monthly payments to welfare recip-

The book which is not yet in general circulation claims that a family which came to California from Colorado did not meet residency requirements. It is alleged that payments of nearly $1,000 a month were authorized.

It also charges that the mother of the family continued to produce illegitimate children, as did her older daughter after moving to San Bernardino.

Bal Week Dead Officially Now

By BRUCE BENSON of the Daily Pilot Staff

Bal Week '68 is dead and buried, the unwanted child of another era.

The surf was up, the sun was out and schools were closed, but the usual hordes of vacationing students never checked in.

Newport Beach wasn't exactly spurned. Visitors who gamboled on its sandy shores numbered considerably more this year than last.

But they kept going home at night. The traditional Bal Week features of noisy house parties, for example, were

And as a result, arrests were way down, from about 550 the year before

Assorted crimes also were down and most of those committed were not of a violent nature. The leading category of transgressions appeared to be petty thefts, according to Assistant Police Chief Merrill Duncan.

Lifeguard Bill Mills pegged the weekend beach crowd at about 85,000. The water hovered just under 59 degrees, while the air temperature was in the low 70s.

A year ago the same weekend, slightly colder weather drew about 55,000 people.

The sluggish pace of Bal Week frolics was laid to two principal

Marines Seize Hill in Bloody Easter Battle

SAIGON (AP) - U. S. Marines seized a hill northwest of Khe Sanh from its North Vietnamese defenders in an Easter Day battle. An American source said South Vietnamese, troops soon will take on a bigger share of the fighting along the northern frontier.

The battle for Hill 881 north, five miles from the Khe Sanh combat base, was one of several sharp fights over Easter. AP correspondent John Lengel reported from Marine headquarters at Da Nang that 106 North Vietnamese were killed on 881 North - most of them by artillery and air strikes that preceded the Marine assault.

Six Marines were reported killed and 12 wounded.

Troops of the 26th Marine Regiment stormed up the slopes. Sporadic shooting continued after the hill was declared secure early in the afternoon.

The hill was the scene of hard fighting in the spring of 1967, and the North Vietnamese hung on to it after the siege of Khe Sanh was lifted this

The 26th Marine Regiment had been in Khe Sanh during the 77-day siege. After the encirclement was broken the regiment moved out to sweep the surrounding area.

The U. S. Command is preparing to replace American troops along the demilitarized zone with South Vietnamese forces, an American source said today. N. Koreans Attack; U.N. Protests

SEOUL (UPI) - U.N. officials lodged a formal protest today against an Easter night Communist ambush that killed two American and two South Korean soldiers 800 yards from the truce village of Panmunjom. South Korean officials said President Johnson will be asked for stronger U.S. military aid.

They said President Park Chung Hee would ask for the "firmer" U.S. commitment to guarantee Korean security. Park meets Johnson at Honolulu Wednesday.

North Korean infiltrators poured an estimated 200 rounds of automatic weapons fire into a U.S. Army truck carrying six men. The two survivors, both Americans, were wounded.

The truck, its lights on, was traveling on the main road to Panmunjom, moving from the U.N. advanced camp just outside the demilitarized zone to the joint security area which surrounds the truce village.

It was the first major incident involving infiltrators since North Korean terrorists raided Seoul in January. It followed North Korean carried U.N. security guards into the joint security area in a regular change

A U.N. spokesman said a second military vehicle found the ambushed truck about 10 minutes after it was attacked by an undetermined number of infiltrators. Occupants of the second vehicle said they heard about 200 rounds of automatic weapons fire and two explosions.

The American dead were not identified. A patrol sent into the area by the U.S. Second Infantry Division found none of the attackers. The attack occurred 800 yards south of Panmunjom, the village where the U.N. and Communist truce supervisors meet.

Rear Adm. John V. Smith, U.N. senior delegate to the Korean Military Armistice Commission, sent a message to his North Korean counterpart calling on the Communists to cease "murderous attacks" on U.N. personnel. He asked for a joint investigation, but no reply had been received Monday morning.

The ambush brought U.S. casualties in Korea this year to four killed and 14 (See KOREA, Page 2)

Witness Identifies Photo As King Killing Suspect

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) - The owner of a boarding house said today he had identified a drawing of a man sought in the slaving of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. as a roomer known by the name Eric Galt.

"It's him, I'm sure," said Peter Cherpes, 72, who runs a boarding house on Birmingham's South Side. Cherpes consented to talk after the FBI responded to his request to be released from a secrecy pledge.

Cherpes said FBI agents showed him drawings about last Wednesday, or two days before a car registered in the name of Eric Starvo Galt was found abandoned in Atlanta. reported today.
"It's a protest hearing, but we don't expect any protest from the Irvine Co.," he said. "We do, however, expect to hear from Mr. Pease." Harvey D. Pease is a former Newport Beach elementary school board president who has protested every step of the annexation along the way. Last week he objected when council-—Approved pre-zoning of a 543-lot portion of the 212-acre territory above Harbor View Hills. -Accepted a tentative tract map for the first stages of development. The annexation hearing date was then set. All actions by the council were unanimous. Pease has objected to the Irvine project from th coutset because the company's development plans include an eight-acre elementary school site for purchase only. He would like Irvine to give the land to the Newport-Mesa Unified School District, which already faces a classroom shortage problem. Irvine officials, however, contend that it would be inequitable for the company to adopt such a giveaway policy. They point out that other developers are not asked to contribute land or money for new schools.

Councilmen, in approving all the annexation steps to date, have emphasized that it is to the city's and the school district's advantage to have the area (east of MacArthur Boulevard at Ford Road) developed according to municipal standards. Annexation, they say, is the only means of assuring this. City officials argue that if the territory is developed under county standards, greater population density would be possible, if not likely. This, they note, would intensify school district problems. Pease, however, still insists that the council, by delaying annexation, could compel the Irvine Co. "to negotiate" a better deal for the school district. In response to this, City Atty. Tully Seymour says it is not within the city's legal responsibilities to delay annexation procedures for that reason. Pease and other citizens are expected to have more to say on the subject April 22 Meanwhile, the Donald L. Bren Co.

Police Invade Easter Love-ins; 90 Arrested

LOS ANGELES (UPI) - Police raids on hippie Easter Sunday love-ins netted about 90 narcotics arrests, with officers encountering crowd hostility at Elysian Park.

Police estimated the Elysian Park crowd at 3,500 to 4,000, and said another 5,000 hippies were gathered at Tapia Park.

Police Lt. Billy E. Sanderson, field commander at the Elysian Park disturbance, where 35 persons were taken in, said narcotics officers encountered crowd harassment every time an arrest was made, with rocks and bottles being thrown at police.

"It got to the point that a police car could not drive through the park," he said. "One black-and-white car had the windows broken."

Both Sides Choosy

Site Bickering To Peril Talks?

LONDON (UPI) - Both western and Communist diplomats feared Monday that bickering about a site for talks between Hanoi and Washington might mean the collapse of a Vietnam peace meeting.

Open and quiet appeals have been issued from both sides of the Iron Curtain for a speedy agreement on a mutually acceptable site in order to avert a possible breakdown of the recent peace initiative.

No further progress on naming a site was reported Monday.

Diplomatic sources said both Hanoi and Washington had their reasons for being choosy about the place where they will make the first contacts concerning a possible full-scale peace con-

The United States does not want to find itself in hostile surroundings, where its communications are inadequate or insecure. Hanoi is worried lest it will be surrounded by a great deal of publicity because it has built up in advance any confrontation at a conference table with the Americans as a major Communist victory. Hanoi fears above all that any concession it may have to make would be publicized and would result in a loss of

The Communists, for instance, may be prepared to make some reciprocal gesture for a complete American bombing pause in North Vietnam. But they probably would pull back if such a move were to become publicly known at an early stage of the negotiations.

The current difficulties over choosing a site for the Vietnam peace soundings recalled the situation which prevailed in Europe during the worst phases of the cold war.

When Russia and the west agreed in 1954 to meet to discuss the possibility of negotiating an end to the French Indo-China war, Berlin was approved as the place for the talks. But to save face and prestige the conference alternated daily between West and East Berlin, with two different conference centers established in the two parts of the divided city.

The troubles over a meeting site give a foretaste of what may be in store, once the talks get under way.

The Communists are great sticklers regarding the establishment of a conference agenda. The agenda's phrasing is a key point in conference preparations. It took several weeks of long daily meetings to establish an agenda for the 1955 east-west conference on an Austrian settlement.

to meet "to discuss a bombing pause", they proceed from the firm assumption that this phrasing implies American advance acceptance of such a bombing pause.

On past experience, the forthcoming talks therefore will require the most careful and diligent preparations. Diplomats estimate they might extend over months rather than weeks. Pessimists anticipate it may take a year or more to reach a settlement, even if Hanoi already has decided to

Family of Three Rescued From Sinking Cruiser

Lifeguards and surfers rescued a Santa Ana family of three from their overturned 16-foot cabin cruiser which turned turtle Sunday at noon just inside the 23rd Street beach surf line in Huntington Beach.

Lifeguards said William Waters, 24, of 4109 5th St., his wife, Patsy, 25, and daughter Nadine, 2, were on a maiden cruise in their new outboard when the engine stalled.

The craft drifting toward shore flipped while Waters was attempting to start to engine.

Mrs. Waters and Nadine were sitting in the bow of the boat when it overturned. Nearby surfers Mike Holmes, 17, Rubin Chavira, 18, and Paul Robinson, 18, all of Compton, rescued the trio.

After being checked at Huntington Intercommunity Hospital, the family was sent home. Lifeguards pulled the swamped boat to shore where it was later hauled away by Waters.

Runyon, 48, less successful than his father, was dead on arrival at Georgetown University Hospital 15 minutes after he plunged from the P Street Bridge in Rock Creek Park, police said.

His 52-foot fall into a shallow creek was witnessed by scores of people lounging at the "P Street Beach," a popular gathering place for Washington's hippie community.
The junior Runyon was a correspondent for the weekly Washington Examiner at the time of his death. He previously worked for a number of newspapers, including the late New York Herald Tribune and its successor, the World Journal Tribune, and the old International News

Of editors, he said: "I don't know what makes a good editor. You have to have empathy with people. There's a certain amount of bastard in every editor. I used to be a prima donna. But after some time on the other side of the desk, I shut up. I don't argue

He blamed the death of the Herald Tribune on the lack of good writers. "We couldn" find any good writers, so we trained copy boys. Unfortunately, they all became editors. Then we had the printers' strike. That killed us."

Runyon, whose last major assignment with the Examiner was covering the civil disorders in the capital last week, said recently newspapering was not as much fun as it used to be.

"It's tough to be a newspaperman here in Washington. Most of your news comes from knowing people. There's no humor here now. This isn't a funny administration.

ABA President Claims News Media Unhampered

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) - The president of the American Bar Association said today there is nothing in the ABA fair trial and free press standards to inhibit the news media from "reporting fully to the public the facts of crime and law enforcement."

21 Persons Hurt In Coney Island Subway Rioting

NEW YORK (UPI) - At least 21 persons were injured Sunday night during a Coney Island-to-Manhattan subway rampage by white and Negro youths angered by being turned away from the famed amusement park.

At least 42 persons, mostly aged 12 to 18, were arrested on charges ranging from juvenile delinquency and disorderly conduct to felonious

The trouble began when hundreds of youths were turned away from the Coney Island amusement park on grounds it already was jammed by an Easter Sunday capacity crowd.

Part of a crowd estimated at 3,000 to 5,000 surged through streets around the park, blocking traffic and smashing liquor and jewelry store law enforcement' simply are not

Morris said the standards. formulated by an advisory committee headed by Justice Paul C. Reardon of the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts, "do not impose any restrictions on the news media themselves; they apply only to lawyers, judges and law enforcement officers."

He said the objective of the guidelines was "to eliminate at its source the release of information by lawyers and law enforcement officials that may prejudice fair trial, without preventing the news media from reporting fully to the public the facts of crime and law enforcement."

The bar has a duty, Morris sale to protect the public against the delays in justice and the expense of reversals of convictions resulting from claims of prejudicial publicity. He said the U.S. Supreme Court in the last decade has overturned six convictions on this ground, and "the most familiar recent examples are the Dr. (Sam) Sheppard and Billie Sol Estes cases.'

Morris said that under the Reardon guidelines, lawyers and police officials will continue to "release for publication all of the essential facts about criminal arrests and procedures necessary to keeping the public in-formed." He said this includes arrests, charges, circumstances of arrests and physical evidence seized.

"Potentially prejudicial" in-formation which will not be released, he said, includes prior criminal record, existence or contents of confessions, results of tests or opinions of lawyers about the trial.

The restraints will not interfere with media reporting of criminal investigations in progress, exposing official corruption or criticizing courts or law enforcement. Morris said. He added that they will not enlarge the contempt power of the courts or restrict "in any way the reporting of everything that occurs in open court."

Prolonging War Israel Charges

Reds to Blame

United Press International Israel charged the Soviet Union today with prolonging the danger of Middle East war by "fanning the aggressiveness" of the Arab states.

The charge followed an Easter Sunday which saw the Mideast ceasefire violated anew by fighting between Israeli and Jordanian troops on the Jordan River south of the Sea of

The Israeli foreign ministry reacted to a Soviet statement that Israel has no right to pursue Arab guerrillas across the ceasefire line. The Soviet newspaper Pravda said Saturday "Israel's claim to right of pursuit against nations waging a war of liberation is reminiscent of propaganda.

In Jerusalem, an Israeli statement said that if the Soviet Union were faithful to her United Nations obligation she would urge the Arab states to "arrive at a peace, based on negotiation and peaceful coexistence and on cooperation among all states in the region. Instead, an Israeli spokesman said, the Soviets have armed the Arab nations with lethal weapons and given onesided support to their political positions. In the Beisan Valley Sunday Jordanian and Israell troops engaged in two exchanges of machinegun fire. A Jordanian military spokesman in Amman said Israeli forces fired on a Jordanian observation post.

The Israelis said the Jordanians fired on a frontier Kibbutz and later on an army patrol. The Israelis reported one soldier wounded. The Jordanains said they sustained no casualties. Dr. Gunnar Jarring, the U.N. peace envoy, scheduled more talks in his efforts to bring a settlement of June's Mideast war. He was to confer with the Israelis Tuesday and with the Egyptians later in the week. The Arabs were reported ready to take the matter again before the U.N. General Assembly.

Cosmos 212 Launched By Soviets

MOSCOW (UPI) Cosmos 212 - The Soviet Union's 12th space probe of the year - whirled around the earth today in what apparently was a trial run for a manned flight.

It was launched Sunday. the first Cosmos of 1968 to fly in the "manned flight lanes.

Its parameters were almost identical to those of Soyuz-1, the last Soviet manned space flight last April which ended in a re-entry crash that killed Cosmonaut Vladimir Komarov. Cosmos 212 passed around the earth every 88.75 minutes at altitudes ranging from 127 to 148 miles.

(West German space observatories reported receiving signals from the Cosmos which indicated it was manned. A spokesman for the Berlin observatory said signals were being received on the frequency normally reserved for communication between manne satellites and their ground stations. In Bochum Germany, the Bochum Institute also reported receiving the signals but did not speculate on the type of experiment concerned.)

Tass, the Soviet news agency, gave no specific information on the Sputnik's mission. It said the satellite was "functioning normally."

So far the list of endorsements looks like this: Humphrey can boast of endorsement by the highestranking Democrat who has gone on record, former President Harry S. Truman.

From the 24 Democratic governors, Kennedy gets the edge with the backing of two: Kenneth M. Curtis of Maine and Philip H. Hoff of Vermont. Humphrey has the open endorsement of one, William L. Guy of North Dakota, plus the tacit backing of another John J. McKeithen of Louisiana.

WASHINGTON (UPI) - McCarthy has yet to break- William F. Ryan, Richard L. ed labor's political arm. into the gubernatorial ranks. Among senators, it's just about a dead heat between Humphrey and Kennedy, with the latter getting the edge only because of the support he gets from his brother, Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts. Two senators, Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota and Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma, have announced for Humphrey; two others, Joseph D. Tydings of Maryland and Stephen M. Young of Ohio have given their blessings to Kennedy. Young favors a Kennedy-McCarthy ticket, in that order. McCarthy gets into the endorsement race at the House level, but Kennedy has the edge there on numbers, with 17 representatives having announced support for him, against 5 to date for Humphrey and 4 for

McCarthy. The Kennedy 17 are mostly from California and New York. They are Robert L. Leggett, John V. Tunney, Thomas M. Rees, and Phillip Burton of California; Benjamin S. Rosenthal,

The congressmen backing McCarthy are Henry S. Reuss and Robert W . -Kastenmeier of Wisconsin, and George E. Brown Jr. and Don Edwards, of California.

Each candidate has something special going for him in the way of endorsements.

McCarthy has been endorsed by the executive board of Americans for Democratic Action (ADA), He also has going for him impressive showings in the New Hampshire and Wisconsin primaries.

Each candidate also has some minus points.

Humphrey's camp started late but its initial list of endorsements lacks any of the nationally known doves on Vietnam. His position on Vietnam has estranged him from the liberal community.

'COLONEL MAGGY' GETS FREEDOMS FOUNDATION AWARD IN COUNTY Martha Raye Flanked by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Knott in Buena Park

Kuchel Bill Given Push

ANAHEIM - U. S. Senator Thomas H. Kuchel (R-Anaheim), today said he would co-sponsor and support an expanded bill to encourage work-study cooperative education programs.

Under cooperative education plans, college students alternate periods of fulltime academic work with periods of full-time employment in a field related to their studies.

Such a program, he said, would provide a means for industry to aid in the higher education of the nation's disadvantaged and minority group young people.

The bill would provide seed money to get colleges started on such projects.

At the hippie-proclaimed puff-in, Bergess wore his police uniform without a revolver but with bright red socks. A red ribbon was wound around his hand and an iris was stuck in a buttonhole near his badge.

"I am trying to prove have the right to do what I want with my own body Bergess explained. "I feel the present laws against marijuana and LSD have reached the same absurdity as those against alcohol during prohibition."

Hippies clapped and cheered. They strewed flowers in his path and said he was Sergeant Sun-

Rocky's Backers Have Difficult Goal Set

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) - A group of Republicans promoting the presidential cause of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has set for itself a difficult task: To change in a month or two the course of their party.

That course appears to be propelling Richard M. Nixon toward the presidential

This is not the first time Rockefeller partisans have organized in an attempt to alter it.

The new Rockefeller-for-President Committee is counting heavily on recent changes in the Democratic picture to turn the GOP in its direction. The crucial change: President Johnson's March 31 announcement that he would not seek or accept renomination.

Ten days earlier, Rockefeller had stepped back from the brink of active candidacy, declaring himself available but not running.

"I am not a candidate of the United States,

Rockefeller said then. That pronouncement led to the dismantling of the draft committee set up by Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew. It was geared to a May 28 Oregon primary contest between Rockefeller and Nixon.

Sen Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky., and his assistant, Duff Reed, took the next step, announcing creation of something called the Coalition for a Republican Alternative.

WHAT NEXT?

Actually, it was a coalition of little more than those two men. It was designed to hold things together, if possible, while the Rockefeller group figured out what to do next.

The committee represents that next step. One of its organizers, Rep. Charles E. Goodell of New York, conceded "It's an uphill fight. The odds are against us.' But he said the organization can succeed in its efforts to turn the party toward Rockefeller.

Morton said this could be done in a month. "We'll have more delegates lined up in four weeks than a mule can haul," Morton

But that figurative mule could face what amounts to a Nixon steamroller.

The Rockefeller partisans are counting on several things - none of which is in evidence yet - to bolster their cause.

SECOND THOUGHTS

First, they believe Republican leaders who tended toward Nixon will have second thoughts now that Johnson has stepped out of the competition.

That leads to the prospect of a GOP race against New York Sen. Robert F. Kencampaigning, directly or in- nedy, undeclared Vice Presidirectly, for the presidency dent Hubert H. Humphrey, or Minnesota Sen. Eugene J.

McCarthy. Rockefeller men feel the changes in the Democratic picture warrant a change in the Republican outlook. But there was no open rush to Rockefeller after Johnson stepped aside.

Morton said his group also is looking toward the Republican governors as a party constituency. Its predecessors have looked there before and found few governors ready to declare themselves for Rockefeller —or anybody else. The Kentucky senator said he expects 19 or 20 of the 26 Republican governors will wind up in the Rockefeller camp.

Tet Offensive Robs Viet People's Security

By BARRY KRAMER

SAIGON (AP) - The Communist Tet offensive robbed a million South Vietnamese of security, official U.S. statistics showed today. Millions of others are living in areas with less security than before.,

The figures, compiled by computer with information from South Vietnam's cities and 12,736 hamlets, also showed that the Viet Cong brought 326,000 more people under total control.

Hundreds of thousands of persons who formerly lived in secure areas now live in areas classed as "con-

The statistics are those of the U.S. Embassy's Hamlet Evaluation System - HES - which has been providing computer analyses of security in South Vietnam since last December.

The HES analysis showed 61 percent of South Vietnam's 17.2 million people living in secure areas on March 31. This compares mediately before the Tet offensive, a drop of 6.2 percent and the lowest in more than a year. The population living in contested areas grew from 16.3 percent to 20.7. Now under Viet Cong control are 18.3 percent of the popula-tion compared with 16.4 percent before Tet.

This means that 1,093,000 persons who formerly lived in secure areas are now in contested or Viet Cong areas. The number of people in secure areas dropped from 11.5 million to 10.4 million. The number of people in Viet Cong-controlled areas jumped from 2.8 million pre-Tet to 3.1 million

March 31. There were 5,331 secure hamlets before Tet and 4,559 at the end of March. The number of contested hamlets went from 3,593 to 4,084. Viet Cong control expanded from 3,838 hamlets

Political Specters Spooking Presidential Campaigns

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) television "s pot" com - The political ghost of President Johnson and the flickering television image of Ronald Reagan are haunting the campaigns of three active candidates in Oregon's presidential primary.

:Despite his announcement that he would neither seek nor accept nomination for another term, Johnson's name will appear on the Democratic ballot May 28 against Sens. Robert F. Kennedy and Eugene Reagan, the California governor who insists he is not running for higher office, is entered in the Republican primary against former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

CUT PRESTIGE

It is unlikely that Johnson or Reagan could win without campaigning actively but a good showing by either noncandidate could cut into the prestige of the winner.

With only 18 Republican and 35 Democratic national convention delegate votes at stake, prestige is the biggest prize in the West's most wild and woolly primary.

Oregon law places on the ballot the names of all "nationally recognized' presidential candidates. An individual can withdraw from the race only by swearing he will not run for the presidency. Reagan refused to take the oath and Johnson announced he would not run after the deadline for withdrawal.

An active ' Reaganfor-President" organization is conducting a campaign on behalf of the California governor despite his continued refusal to become an active candidate.

USING FILM

The group, headed by Portland savings and loan executive Robert Haze, is using a 30-minute film on Reagan's public life as a stand-in for the noncandidate. The film has been shown on a statewide television network and is being screened at "Meet the Candidate" gatherings.

In addition, shorter mercials are being used to boost the fermer actor.

The "Citizens for Johnson-Humphrey" organization, created to support the President, has become inactive since Johnson announced that he would not run. But the group has not disbanded.

Even before Johnson's decision not to run, Kennedy was favored to win the Democratic primary. His chances probably were enhanced by the President's announcement.

STILL OPTIMISTIC

But McCarthy's state organization, which was established long before Kennedy entered the race, is still optimistic.

'We haven't lost anyone to the Kennedy camp that we know of," said McCarthy's state coordinator, Gene Hogan of Eugene. "Our biggest organizing job is finding things for all of our volunteers to do." Gov. Tom McCall, Republican and an astute political observer, said in an interview he thinks Kennedy win. He emphasized he was making a prediction, not an endorsement.

'Kennedy is a very crafty politician and he has a lot of money," McCall said. just have the feeling that when the Kennedys get moving, they are hard to

Nixon is the odds-on favorite to win the Republican primary. Even Reagan's backers concede that the governor has little chance of winning as long as he refuses to become an active candidate. Haze said he could consider anything over 11 percent of the vote to be a victory.

Scalpel

Stops Blood

CHICAGO (UPI) - The picture was clear. Guided by a surgeon's hand, an eight-inch-long cylinder with what looks like a spark shooting out of the tapered point was cutting through the skin on a monkey's head. There was no blood.

The cutting edge of the surgeon's "scalpel" was gas hotter than the surface of the sun is believed to be. The incision could not bleed.

The new surgical scalpel was shown in operation for the first time publicly in a film flashed over a 10-inchsquare screen at the 36th annual meeting of the American Association of Neurological Surgeons.

LONG TESTING

The exhibit was prepared by the University of Utah College of Medicine, where Dr. Theodore S. Roberts, 41. chairman of the division of neurological surgery at Utah, has exclusively tested the "bloodless scalpel" during the last 16 months in more than 100 operations on guinea pigs, rabbits, rats and monkeys.

Roberts said further research will be conducted before any plans are made to use it on human tissue, but he said the scalpel shows particular promise in the field of neurosurgery.

Roberts explained the new surgical device as interested doctors watched the screen. The instrument, called the "plasma scalpel," uses radio frequency energy and argon to produce a highly ionized gas that flows through the tip of the insulated hand piece at a temperature above 10,000 degrees centigrade (the sun's surface is said to have a surface temperature of 6,000 c.) that vaporizes the moisture in tissues, leaving a hemorrhage-free incision, he said. The devivice is operated by electricity.

GOOD RECOVERY

The neurosurgeon said the animals experimented with have made a routine recovery and that year-old tissue history indicates normal wound healing. nermal scar tissue, no adverse side effect and no damage to surrounding tissue.

The name plasma, when applied to the new scalpel, denotes a high-temperature ionized gas.

The device was developed by Forrest G. Brayshaw, 37, rn electrical engineer, at the University of Utah Medical Center in association with Hogle-Kerns, a private Salt Lake City firm which has experimented with plasma gas for use in mineral separation.

The primary advantage of the "plasma scalpel, Brayshaw explained, is that it eliminates bleeding, and thus cuts the time a surgeon spends on an operation by as much as 80 percent.

"The length of the plasma 'torch' is adjustable from 1-64th to 1/2 inch," he said. Although it cuts through tissue with seemingly no interference, "it will not ignite combustible gas."

SEALED OFF

The scalpel does not leave the walls of the incision burned." he said. "Instead, the blood vessels are sealed off by a thin layer of coaguium. The "loel sterilizes and cauterizes the blood as it

During one operation on a monkey's back, Roberts said, forceps accidentally runtured a small vessel With a touch of the plasma tip, he said, the bleeding stopped immediately.

The operations have included deep incisions in the most vascular parts of the body without drawing any blood, he said, thus saving considerable time usually required to clamp off bleeding vessels. He said this negated the problem of blood obscuring vision and reduced the need for transfusions.

Peace Site Hassle Indication of Results

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) -U. S. officials say the lengthening hassle between Washington and Hanoi over a site for preliminary talks signals the kind of difficulties expected when and if peace negotiations get under way.

They noted it has been more than a week since the contacts. And on the record, the maneuvering to date has involved only initial talks rather than negotiations aimed only at setting the stage for an actual peace conference.

The White House objected to Warsaw, which the North Vietnamese proposed ThursPoland would not provide a neutral, fair setting.

The new Mercedes-Benz 220 Diesel: so "over-engineered" you may still be driving it in 1988.

Some Mercedes-Benz Diesels just won't quit. In the 32 years since Mercedes-Benz invented the Dieselpowered passenger car, over 500,000 Diesels have been made, and 87% are still running! One owner in Stockholm recently started his second million miles.

The newest Mercedes-Benz Diesel is the 220 (so-called because its engine displaces 2.2 liters). It costs $4,580,* and from the million-dollar way it looks and rides, many people believe it should be classified as a luxury car.

An unconventional economy car

Mercedes-Benz says the 220 Diesel is an economy car. Yes, an economy car, because it could save you more money in the long run (say, 100,000 miles or more) than the flimsiest little economy car you could buy.

The 220 Diesel is so economical it doesn't even use gasoline. It sips inexpensive Diesel fuel at a miserly rate, vet has enough power to cruise at 80 (where the law allows). This amazing power plant does away with carburetors, spark plugs, and other paraphernalia of the conventional gasoline engine.

But the engine is not the only unconventional thing about the new Mercedes-Benz 220 Diesel. The whole car is "over-engineered." That's the way one critic put it. He was right. By conventional standards, it is built to far more exacting standards than ordinary motor cars,

What else "over-engineering" can mean to you

The remarkable longevity of the Diesel engine is one good example of how "over-engineering" works for the man who buys a Mercedes-Benz. But by no means does it tell the whole story. Here are some more examples:

A superior braking system

Many ordinary cars still use old-fashioned drum brakes.

Today's 180-mph Grand Prix racing cars use disc brakes. So does the Mercedes-Benz 220 Diesel. And not just on the front wheels, but on every wheel. Drum brakes are cheaper, but tests prove that disc brakes provide the most precise braking possible-at any speed. So Mercedes-Benz engineers insist on 4-wheel disc brakes as standard equipment. With 421.1

square inches of braking area, it's virtually impossible to outrun the 220 Diesel's brakes.

10,000 body welds

Most conventional cars have a separate body and chassis, held together with bolts. After a while, the bolts can work loose. On a washboard road, the rattles can be deafening.

Mercedes-Benzeliminated the body bolts. In their place are over 10,000 individual welds. Result: a structure of immense strength and rigidity. After 50,000 miles or so, you'll wonder if your 220 Diesel will ever rattle.

A patented suspension

Conventional sedans usually have a little device called an "anti-sway bar" nestled in the front suspension. It prevents the car from leaning on hard turns. Without it, the car would wallow (or the springs would have to be made so stiff that the ride would be ruined).

Mercedes-Benz engineers took this idea one step further. They added a second anti-sway bar at the rear, part of the 220 Diesel's new-and patentedindependent rear suspension. This allowed the Mercedes-Benz engineers to make the rear springs softer, too. Result: a vastly superior ride, but still no mush, sway or wallow-even in hairpin turns.

"Fatigue-proof" seats

Take a day-long trip in some cars and you'll wind up feeling like a damp washrag.

The Mercedes-Benz 220 Diesel is engineered as much for human comfort as it is for mechanical efficiency. Orthopedic physicians were consulted in the design of the 220 Diesel's seats so you'll have proper support on cross-country tours as well as short hops to the supermarket. When you first slip into one of the 220 Diesel's carefully contoured seats, it may seem firm, but once you get used to it, you'll never settle for marshmallow" seats again. Mercedes-Benz engineers have respect for your backbone.

My wife considers the boys-"normal." I say they have been

Due to the popularity of the annual International Walk, sponsored by Corona del Mar Chapter of the American Field Service, the event this year is being limited.

The idea of the traditional progressive dinner has met with great response. Everyone attending will have an opportunity to meet and visit with the current exchange students attending Corona del Mar High School. Reservations will be stopped at 300.

Homes for the three courses featuring exotic dishes are located in Cameo Shores and will be open from 4 to 7 p.m. Sunday, April 21.

Hosting at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Burns where appetizers will be served will be Victor Gattini of Chile and Enrique de Mestral of Paraguay, while greeting guests in the James Ray home for the main course will be Zeenat Aman of India.

Diners will then travel, either by foot, car or London bus, to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Finster where they will meet Frank Gregory of South Africa.

Chairing the event is Mrs. J. R. Longley, and reservations are being taken by Mrs. Joseph Bell at 673-5047 or Mrs. Robert Underwood at 673-5280.

WASHINGTON (UPI) -President Johnson's daughter Luci says she would like to write a book some day.

Psychic Income

It's Spending That Counts

By DOROTHY A. WENCK

County Home Advisor

(Editor's Note: Mrs Wenck is home advisor for the University of California Agricultural Extension Service. This is the second of a series of articles in which Mrs. Wenck will discuss problems

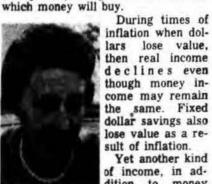

In our materialistic society money is very important. It functions as a medium of exchange, simplifying the trading of goods and services.

Money also serves as a measuring stick of value. We measure the worth of a product in terms of its cost in dollars.

Money also functions as a store of value. We save money for future use. and our savings give us a sense of

When we exchange money for goods and services we convert money income to real income. Real income is the quantity of goods and services sult of inflation. Yet another kind of income, in addition to money DOROTHY WENCK income and real income is psychic income - the satisfaction gained from spending. Families vary even more in psychic income than in money income. One family with the same money income as another may get considerably more satisfaction from its spending than the other. Why?

During times of

The answer is management. Families who take a businesslike approach to handling their money generally get more satisfaction from their spending than the families who "drift and spend."

A family actually is a miniature business. And "family economists" need to use the same management techniques that businessmen use.

Management can be defined very simply as, "getting what you want with what you've got through wise decisions.

In other words, as managers we must make choices between alternative ways of using what we've got our resources of money, time, energy, abilities, equipment, etc. - in order to achieve what we want - our

The steps in management follow logically from this definition.

First we must establish goals know what we want. Then we must develop a plan for reaching our goals. Third we must carry out the plan. And finally, we need to evaluate, or check up on ourselves to see how we did.

GOALS DIRECT SPENDING

The family that drifts and spends probably has no real goals. Goals are important. They give direction to our spending. Families who have future goals are more likely to save for them.

Different families have different goals because they have different values. What's important to one family is not necessarily important to

For example, while one family wants to spend a lot of money for an expensive automobile with all the "extras," another family might prefer to drive a less expensive car in order to save money for a child's college education.

Each family must decide on its particular goals. This takes conscious

Some families decide on family spending goals in a family conference. Before the conference each family member, including older children, makes a written list of wants or goals for spending (or saving) and numbers each want in order of its importance

Then the family gets together and makes a preference list, which combines the wants of each member. Since each family member may have different wants, compromises will need to be made.

The worth of one want will have to be weighed against the worth of others in terms of total family welfare before a priority listing can be made. When the list is completed, the family has made conscious choices over the direction they want their spending to

The next very logical step is developing a family spending plan based on these wants. This plan should be worked out by the family together so that all family members are satisfied with it. It should be custom tailored to the specific needs of this particular family.

It involves deciding in advance how money should be spent. Some people call this a budget, which it really is. But the word budget often scares people. They think of a budget as rigid and restrictive - a forced conforming to what someone else tells them they should spend. But actually the purpose of a budget is not to keep us from spending for the thirgs we want, but rather to plan for distributing our income in a way that gives us the utmost satisfaction from

A spending plan or budget needs to be realistic - based on the family's real way of life - and also flexible so that it will fit changing needs.

Developing a spending plan involves three steps: 1. knowing your income; 2. knowing your expenses, and 3. setting up the plan to distribute income among expenses.

Your income is what you have to spend after all deductions for income tax, social security, pension plan, etc. have been made. Your net salary in other words. Other sources of income - interest on savings, profits on sale o stocks or bonds, pension, rent, tips, etc. —s hould also be included.

If your income is irregular - for example a salesman's commission - an estimated monthly average should be made, for example by dividing last year's net income (from income tax forms) by 12. It's better to estimate low than high.

Your expenses may be difficult to determine unless you have been keeping some kind of spending records.

Some expenses are "fixed" and easy to ascertain - like rent or house payment, utility bills, installment payments and the like.

Some expenses are irregular and may come up only once or twice a year - like auto license, insurance payments, taxes. Yet money needs to be allotted for them in your plan.

The best method of planning for irregular expenses is to make a complete list for the whole year, add them up, then divide by 12 to get a monthly average. If this amount is set aside each month, as part of your spending plan, then when these bills come due you'll have the money to pay them.

A third part of your spending plan will be more difficult - allotting money to "flexible" expenses, like food, clothing, recreation, transportation, medical and miscellaneous.

In some cases you may have to take a guess at what you think you might spend, then change your plan if spending records show your estimates are way out of line.

The most challenging (and frustrating) part of developing a spending plan is to get income and expenses to balance. Most families have too many wants and not enough money. So some trimming has to be done here and there to bring planned expenses into line with income.

This is why planning is important. It helps you face reality - see what you can really do with what you've got.

A spending plan also will help you save money, if saving is part of your plan. And it helps you look ahead to big, infrequent expenses and set aside money for them. It helps you stretch your money to the end of the month and allot money fairly among your many spending categories.

In other words, by distributing your income among your many wants your spending plan will help you get more satisfaction from your spending. And all this is easy and fun to do. The difficult part is the doing - carrying out your plan. We will discuss this and methods of evaluation in our next article.

Harborites Marry in Mesa Rites

Methodist Church was the setting for the vow and ring exchange of Judith Kathleen Cornwell and John Dodge Wyatt III. Performing the ceremony was the Rev. Herbert Johnson.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max T. Cornwell of Costa Mesa, was given in marriage by her father. She wore a full length gown of chantilly lace. A fabric bow caught her mantilla style veil which flowed into a train, and she carried white chrysanthemums, centered by a white orchid.

Wearing spring green frocks with pink trim and carrying pink roses were Karen Jean Cornwell, maid of honor; Kathie Zentgraf, Mrs. Annette Ham and Phyllis Freeman, bridesmaids, and Kayla Ann Cornwell, junior bridesmaid.

The bridegroom, son of Mrs. John Dodge Wyatt of Newport Beach, asked Elwood Hathaway to be his best man. Guests were ushered to their seats by Tom Cornwell, Tony Anderson, Val Fadely, Hal Foreman and Stan Benson. Jeff Cornwell was the ring bearer, and Merilee Bennett was soloist.

Circulating the guest book during the reception in the home of the bride's parents was Patti Torreyson. Afterward the newlyweds left on a honeymoon to Idvllwild.

The bride attended the University of Utah and California State College at Long Beach where she affiliated with Alpha Omicron Pi. Her husband is a graduate of the Army-Navy Academy, Oceanside, at-tended Pasadena City College and will graduate in

TELEVISION VIEWS TV Returns To 'Normal'

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) - In the wake of the stress and preempted programs of recent days, network television settled back to something like normal over the weekend.

THERE WAS nothing extraordinary going on, and it was sort of relaxing. Contributing to the "business as usual" look was another of those teenage beauty contests on ABC Saturday night. There were all the reruns, of course. And there was baseball and on CBS the Masters Golf Tournament.

NBC's Telephone Hour Sunday was primarily devoted to fine solo and choral singing by the choir of the famous Bach festival of Bethlehem, Pa. There was some attempt to give the early evening hour the form of a documentary but just enough to provide a peg for the music.

"PBL," the educational network's Sunday evening program, managed to touch some sore spots by scheduling, on the eve of the income tax deadline, a short feature on tax loopholes not available to the vast majority of citizens.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy presented some statistics about loopholes - one man worth more than a billion dollars who paid less than $700 in taxes two years in a row; 35 persons with annual incomes of more than $500,000 who paid no taxes at all.

AND THEN, to the jaunty strains of "Nice Work If You Can Get It," the program demonstrated the way the laws about capital gains, oil depletion allowances, municipal bonds and even joint returns by husbands and wives can chop down the debt of some lucky taxpayers.

No television reviewer can ever become a regular viewer of any one television series, so it has to be by chance that almost every time this writer tunes in on "Bonanza" it seems to be Dan Blocker's night to be the principal star of the show, and almost every time Hoss is having woman troubles.

SNDAY NIGHT'S show was a sudsy affair, with Hoss busily meddling in a family situation and straightening out the bent if not broken relationship of a man and his wife and children. The man, it seems, had withdrawn to whisky and brooding. after the death of an older son in an accident.

The amazing Julie Harris, who is as likely to turn up in "Tarzan" of a Western as in "Victoria Regina" or Florence Nightingale in a drama special, was the lonely, neglected wife.

HOSS WASN'T really in love with her - gosh, no - but he was a gentle, understanding giant who brilliantly got the husband to quit belting booze and back to his family by the simple expedient of having a fist fight with him.

It was an interesting way to attack the problem, but one must remember there was practically nothing in the story to indicate that it was really a Western. The fight put the show back in its proper CBS WILL devote its Tuesday night news hour to a report of the recent visit of its correspondent, Charles Collingwood, to Hanoi.

Seven offshore power Jenkins' 32-foot Gold in Chevy engines. The roar had hardly died away before Jenkins radioed that he was out of the race five minutes after the start.

> Fifteen minutes later the single 427 cu. in. Ford in Dave Puckett's Ol' Whatserface conked, followed at short intervals by David Eyraud's Thunder (whose single 427 cu. in. "blown Ford" was appropriately named) and Bob Nordskog's Holocaust.

As the three survivors nosed into calmer seas in mid-channel it became apparent that it was a small boat race with Bob Spratte's 18-foot Glastron The Trav'ler with three Chrysler outboards rounding the west end of Catalina Island at 10:33 a.m. - just 33 minutes after the start.

Two minutes and 30 seconds behind Trav'ler was Maury Fortney's Zenor Zippe from Newport Beach. and 11 minutes behind Zenor Zippe-was Otis Chandler of San Marino in his 23-foot Thunderbird Formula powered by a 427-cu. in. Chevy

And that's the way they finished. For some unexplained reason, Zenor Zippe was never reported around the east end of Catalina.

Fortney, incidentally was the defender in the race. winning last year with a smaller version of his current 32-foot orange and white Bertram.

Trav'ler blasted across the finish line at 11: 48:20 for an elapsed time of one hour and 11 minutes for the 101 mile circuit. She averaged 56.6 miles per hour.

Senor Zippe finished at 12:13:10 and Chandler's Seven C's crossed the line at 12:23:22. The race started at 10 a.m. As the overall winner

Trav'ler picked up the Catalina Challenger Perpetual and the Hal Roach Perpetual for the first boat to round the east end of the island

Are You Active Investor?

By SYLVIA PORTER Are you one of America's "active" investors, a person who makes 25 or more stock trades a year and accounts for 75-85 percent of all transactions by individuals in stocks? If so, what sort of person are you?

We've never breakdown to give us specific answers to this question but perhaps the clues are in the findings of a survey just made by the stock firm of Paine. Webber, Jackson & Curtis of active traders at its 60 branch offices across the country. When scientifically weighted to apply to the shareowning population as a whole, the findings show that as an active investor, you:

- Are 48 years old and a man. This is about the average age of all shareholders reported in the New York Stock Exchange census. It rings true, for you are old enough to have money to invest but still young enough to want to take risks.

Are a college graduate. A majority of active stock traders have college degrees against only one out of three in the total shareowning population.

 Earn on average around $22,000 a year. This is considerably above the $9,500 average income reported in the New York Stock Exchange's 1965 census of shareholders.

- Have a stock portfolio valued at around $72,000 about five times the amount of stock owned by the average inactive investor. This figure sticks out, for it suggests that the big-time trading is still being done with big-time money. The implication is that the little fellow is either hidden as a long-term investor in mutual funds or is among the inactive group (six or fewer trades a year.)

- Have a full 61 percent of your assets in the stock market, another 14 percent in other marketable securities and only 16 percent in such liquid savings as cash, checking accounts, U.S. Savings Bonds.

- Have capital gains as your key investing goal preferably long-term because of the more favorable tax treatment but you'll strive for short-term gains too.

- Have not changed your objective of capital gains since you started investing 10 years ago. But if you have changed in any way. you have become more interested in speculation, and you have shifted to more speculative issues listed on the American Stock Exchange or trades over-the-

- Put virtually no emphasis on dividends. In fact, less than ½ of 1 percent give "mainly dividends" as a financial objective.

 Place a "comfortable retirement" first on your list of reasons for trading in stocks. You also seek to build an estate, to finance a college education for your children. You would spend some of your gains to buy goods and services you want

- Rely heavily on your broker's guidance, Only three out of 10 of you shrug off your broker's advice.

- Expect to be as active in stocks in 1968 as in 1967 and expect the stock market to be higher at the end of 1968 than at the end of 1967. You hold these views despite the fact that you believe your country is facing major economic problems.

Brunet Survives Scare; Finally Wins Game

BALTIMORE—A weaker man than George Stuart Brunet might have applied for a room at the funny farm after king eight straight pitching verdicts over a span of eight months, six days . . . especially when most of those setbacks were of the 1-0, 2-1, 3-2

But the Angels' southpaw rode out the string of nightmares and finally on Easter Sunday in Baltimore he won a game, 6-2, which caused him to later remark "maybe my luck is changing."

And perhaps the 32-year-old whiz was right.

His curve ball was not at its best. Yet two of Baltimore's hardest smashes went for fouls instead of home runs as they hooked away from the playing area, into the left field

His mates backed him handsomely with keen fielding and 10 hits including Roger Repoz' homer on the first pitch of the game.

He began to feel discomfort in the

However, Brunet had to live through two agonizing minutes in the bottom of the eighth when it appeared the curse against him would again assert itself.

The Orioles had loaded the bases, thanks to the wildness of relief hurler Jack Hamilton. And standing at the Lefty Clyde Wright was called in from the Angel bullpen to throw curves by the Oriole giant. And Brunet's fate hung on the effectiveness of the Tennessee-born relief ace.

The count ran to a pair of balls and strikes - the latter coming when Boog connected with the Wright offering - but there was no danger. It was hauled down in right field and the inning was over.

Sagging Celts Down by 3-1 To Philadelphia

BOSTON (AP) - Coach Alex Hannum of the 76ers wanted Luke Jackson out of the game, and even had a replacement waiting on the sidelines. But before the move could be made the big Philadelphia forward popped in enough long bombs to wreck the Boston Celtics.

"That shows what kind of a coach I am," Hannum joked in the 76ers' dressing room Sunday after the 110-105 victory. It gave his club a commanding 3-1 lead and a chance to wrap up the best-of-7 National Basketball Association Eastern Division finals tonight in Philadelphia.

The 76ers had seen a 15-point lead melt to four early in the final period and appeared in trouble when Hannum decided upon the move he didn't Boston had switched its defenses, with Wayne Embrey guarding Wilt. Chamberlain while Player-Coach Bill Russell, who normally handles Chamberlain, guarded Jackson. Russell, however, was hanging back challenging Jackson to shoot from outside.

Jackson responded by hitting one shot which was offset by a Boston basket, then connected on three straight long jumpers to open up a 10point lead.

Hannum explained that he didn't want the situation the Boston defense was creating. He sent Chet Walker, who was out for a brief rest, back to the scorer's table to replace Jackson.
"I figured if they were going to give us the outside shot, Walker is a better shot than Jackson," Hannum said.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Claude Osteen of the Los Angeles Dodgers doesn't know much about astrology, but he can't help thinking he was born under the wrong sign.

Kings Seek Knockout In Stanley Cup Playoffs

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Center Gordon Labossiere had scored only two goals since Feb. 8 and was on the verge of giving up on himself. So were the Los Angeles Kings of the National Hockey League.

But today Labossiere is the hero of the team and the latest reason the Kings hold a commanding lead of 3-2 in the best-of-7 series in the semifinals of the West Division's Stanley Cup playoff.

The Kings fly away to St. Paul-Minneapolis to meet the Minneapolis North Stars in game No. 6 Tuesday night. If the Kings win, it's all over. A loss brings the final game back to the Forum on Friday night.

What Labossiere did was score two goals within 15 seconds in the first period against the North Stars at the Forum Saturday night as the Kings

Hord Hardin, president of the U.S. Golf Association and chairman of the rules committee, made the bombshell announcement: "Under the rules of golf, he (de Vicenzo) will be charged with a 66, which does not leave him in a tie with Bob Goalby, who is 11 under par. "He is second, 10 under par." De Vicenzo, playing a round that was just one shot off the Masters record, tapped in a two-foot birdie putt on the par-4, 400 yard 17th hole, just as Goalby was catching him with a 10foot eagle putt on the 520-yard 15th.

Through a split-screen account of it shown by CBS-TV, a national television audience saw the two putts drop almost together.

But Aaron marked down a four on de Vicenzo's card, instead of three. Roberto went on to bogey the last hole. Blinded by pressure and the frustration of the bogey, he signed his card. And he was stuck with it stuck with a 66 instead of a 65.

Major Leagues Eyeing LePage

By EARL GUSTKEY

Can a high school pitcher who doesn't even have a mound to practice on become a red-hot league prospect?

Joe LePage, strong-armed Mater Dei High righthander, is living proof it's possible. LePage has thrown two no-hitters this season and has been contacted so far by scouts representing 11 major league clubs.

"I think it's really a tribute to Joe to see how well he's done in view of the conditions he has to cope with in practice," says LePage's coach, Bob Wigmore.

"Mater Dei High doesn't even bave a baseball diamond or a pitcher's mound. We work out in a cornfield. The only time Joe or any of our players see a diamond is when we play a game."

Mater Dei plays its home games at Memorial Park in LePage has literally exploded into stardom.

He saw spot pitching duty at Mater Dei as a sophomore on the junior varsity and played shortstop last year as a junior.

Then last summer Wigmore used him regularly on the mound with the Costa Mesa Connie Mack League team. Wigmore helped his pupil with his curve, slider and change of speed deliveries.

"He always did throw beebees," Wigmore says.

"But he worked hard last summer and it's really paid

He's not kidding. Against Verbum Dei last Thursday, the 5-10, 170pound LePage struck out 19of-21 batters. He struck out 15 Servite hitters two weekends ago in registering his first 1968 no-hitter.

He'll go after another one next Tuesday against St. John Bosco.

And he's no slouch with the timber. Hitting around the .400 level, Wigmore uses LePage in the infield when he isn't pitching so as not to keep his bat out of the lineup. He's hit two home runs so far.

Largely because of LePage, Mater Dei is in the midst of one of its finest baseball seasons.

Mater Dei's Walsh Sets Area Pace

By ROGER CARLSON

Tom Waish of Mater Dei has pulled into the top spot among Orange Coast area batters, with a healthy .462 average.

Walsh, with 18-for-39, moved from the previous roll where he stood fourth with a .407.

His bat and teammate Joe LePage's pitching are chiefresponsible for the Monarchs' 11-3 record. In second place is Wayne Kiefer of Westminster with 428. That, along with Bob Weiler's .357 - good for the ninth spot of the list - are two reasons why the Lions sport an 8-3-1 mark. Dan Meyer, another Monarch, is 10th with a .341.

A third .400 hitter is Bob Wickersham of Huntington Beach. Wickersham sports a .416 on 15 hits in 36 attempts. Just under the .400 mark is Tom Bullard of Estancia with a .395. Bullard led the last Top 10 list with a .419 - but slipped slightly.

Bullard is joined by two other mates - Chuck Perry and Bill Powell.

Perry sports a .380 in seventh and Powell follows with a .378 - good for the eighth spot.

Newport Harbor's Bob Leavy holds the fifth position with a .392 percentage. A minimum of 28 at bats is required for selection in the top 10.

A lifetime fisherman who has just returned from a month-long tournament in the South Pacific has cast a strong vote for the waters off Baja California.

Manny Stever and his wife, Vi. 217 Santa Ana Ave., Newport Beach, just returned from competing in the Air New Zealandsponsored "Southern Cross Tournament" in Australia, Tahiti and New Zealand.

Stever, 59, is a semiretired angler who belongs to the Balboa Angling Club and Los Pescadores, a Southland fishing club.

Mrs. Stever was overall winner for the tournament, defeating 31 other American anglers. "The fishing generally poor in the South Pacific," Seaver said Thurs-"From my experience, I'd have to say the best marlin fishing in the world is off Baja California. There are bigger marlin elsewhere, but not as many." Stever boated a 203-pound marlin in Baja last year and his wife landed a 266pounder two years ago. The Stevers left Los Angeles on their South Pacific expedition Jan. 19.

They flew to Honolulu for some preliminary angling before departing for Cairns, off the east coast of Queensland, Australia Cairns was the first of three

"The fishing was poor oft New Zealand," Stever said. "We caught two blue sharks that week and that's

Now, About The Oscars

By VERNON SCOTT Now, about last week's and that she'd rather be Academy Awards:

The show, as usual, ran too long.

Some of the celebrities appeared as if they were disguised as priests with white turtleneck shirts and black Nehru jackets.

Biggest surprise was Katharine Hepburn's winning best actross. She mostly cried through "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner.

Academy members were not stampeded into voting for the modish, trend-setting "Bonnie and Clyde," which won only a single award.

That Oscar, incidentally was justified. Estelle Parsons was awarded the best supporting actress laurels. She was terrific as the moronic Blanche Bar-

Angela Lansbury stole the show in the entertainment department with her singing and dancing, a truly versatile performer.

Unquestionably, the best picture of the year, "In the Heat of the Night," was justifiably rewarded.

Just as surely. Rod Steiger has become one of America's foremost actors and earned his Oscar the hard way - through sheer talent and dedication.

Was there ever a better master of ceremonies anywhere than Bob Hope?

Peculiar, wasn't it, that Mike Nichols won the best direction award although his film, "The Graduate," was an also ran. Equally strange that Norman Jewison did not win the directing award for his winning "In the Heat of the Night".

Too bad 18 out of the 20 actor nominees were collected at Santa Monica Civic Auditorium for the big blast only to have one of the two absent contenders, Kate

Cast Provides 'Lightning' As Original Drama Debuts

Who Goes to Films? Only 18% of Public

By BOB THOMAS HOLLYWOOD (AP) -The film industry is enjoying its annual euphoria in the wake of the Academy Awards. But soon the gloom will return.

The film capital has been depressed, mentally as well as economically. The movie unions have been making dire statements about the condition of the industry, and their leaders have petitioned legislators for help.

Things have never been this bad." remarked a veteran labor leader. "We took salary cuts during the depression, but at least we kept on making pictures."

Much has been said and written about the economic stresses that have brought about Hollywood's ills: the rise of labor costs, the crushing overhead of maintaining the big studio plants, foreign subsidies and lower costs that cause film makers to shoot abroad, etc. Such matters are not the entire cause. Variety has reported on a survey authorized by the Motion Picture Association. The report was submitted to association President Jack Valenti by Danie Yankelovich and Associates, and it analyzes what Americans go to the movies and how often.

It should surprise no one that the film audience is young. Almost half of those who attend theaters are between the ages of 16 and

The startling part of the survey is the report that only 25 million Americans can be regarded as frequent moviegoers. That represents only 18 percent of the 138 million Americans over 16. Those 25 million film fans each see an average of 39 pictures a

The report indicated that of the remaining 113 million Americans over 16 -Forty-one million never go to the movies. Seventy-two million see an avarage of only 4.2 pictures

Who are the most frequent film goers? According to the survey, most of them are young and single. Film attendance falls precipitously with marriage and age, the movie habit generally being broken by the age of 29.

with cynical, sophisticated and sinfully rich bride that sets the scene for the drama really to begin.

Miss Evans, a former Columbus, Ohio television hostess for her own show with many theatrical credits to her name - including authorship of a movie in which she starred - is so believable as the brittle, bitchy bride that one expects her lacquer job to crack at any moment. McCommon, whose blond, blue-eyed handsomeness is familiar to Rowan and Martin fans (he's a regular on "Laugh-in"), is type cast in the preening, self-centerd role of the athlete who has had things his way so long he has a lot of growing up to Both McCommon and Ap pell, the Gordon brothers, suffer their growing pains believably (and Appell's offcamera growing up in the bedroom of his elder brother's beautiful brunette bride is handled skillfully by the young actor who might be tempted to play the situafor its innate bawdiness).

Not to be overlooked in strong supporting roles are Sandra Simpson as the brothers' younger sister. Susan: Dick Taylor as their father: and Carol Benson their mother, the latter two buff and entertainment editor of the DAILY PILOT. In fact, his byline is often seen in this spot. FIRST EFFORT Lest there be any doubt about his play receiving the criticism it deserves however, this reviewer must hasten to say that the work shows definite signs of being a first effort. Its first two acts are fraught with cliches, both in dialogue and situation conceited big brother returns after leaving small town sweetheart pregnant and rebuffed little brother with large uphill climb to make out of big brother's shadow; little brother is led astray by comb-wielding, pat phrase making teen-aged friend (the drunk scene was one of Appell's best) and little sister is awed by glamor of big brother's sophisticated wife from the outside world.

It is the third act in which this Peyton Place beginning vindicated. Strong dialogue and solid character delineation pay off in a climax worth waiting for.

When "Lightning" strikes, you know you've been hit. We hope the audience noticed. The play runs Fridays and Saturdays through April 27 at the new Westminster theater, 6659 Westminster

We Begin to Mature

A civil rights bill giving the United States its first nationwide open housing law has been passed.

How much it resulted from genuine desire to provide equal treatment for ail Americans and how much from emotional pressures following the assassination of Martin Luther King is beside the point. The fact to face is that it is now the law of the land.

What do its open housing features mean? Here are answers to the questions most frequently asked.

-The law prohibits discrimination on grounds of race, color, religion or national origin in connection with the selling or renting of most housing. Private property is already subject to much more severe governmental regulation limiting the use of property under zoning laws and health and safety measures.

-Under charges of discrimination, the complaining party will have the burden of proof.

-The law does not preempt state housing laws. -Property values in integrated neighborhoods are at least as high as those in comparable segregated neighborhoods, and often are higher, according to evidence presented before the Congress. Their report said, "The fear that property values will collapse if a neighborhood is integrated is generally unfounded in fact.'

-Lenders remain free to evaluate the loan applicant as a credit risk. What is prohibited is a refusal to lend or a discriminatory change in the terms or conditions of a loan based on race, color, religion or national origin of the applicant, or an associate of the -Property owners will continue to be free to refuse to deal with persons whose financial resources are insufficient or who do not meet their price.

—Protections are provided against "festers," those who aren't bona fide buyers but are looking for test cases for punitive damages.

The bill was thoroughly debated in Congress. Its passage may have been hastened by tragic events but it is not the result of emotionally-driven action.

It would be wise to accept the law as another step on the rocky road to prevention of anarchy and the advancement of equality and justice for all citizens under the law, regardless of race, creed or color.

In a world of fascinating and wonderful diversity, America is finally beginning to mature.

A Silly Compromise Law

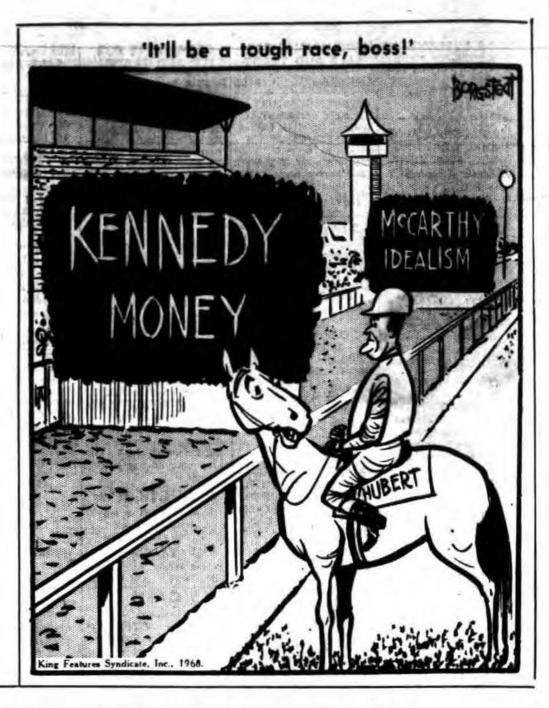

Back in the 19th century when the flow of immigrants was at its peak, New York City saw a lot of hanky panky at election time. Votes were "bought" in various ways, one of them being free drinks at the corner saloon. So laws were passed all across the nation closing all bars during voting hours on election day.

An obvious anachronism today, the bar closing laws hang on. Here in California the League of California Cities tried to eliminate the discrimination against a legitimate business. The league's committee on elections urged repeal of all such closing laws and the league as a whole recommended this to the Legislature.

The Legislature acted in 1964, but it was a com-promise. Bars are now permitted to do business on the days of elections other than state and national elections.

Despite this, some confused bar owners on the Orange Coast decided to play it safe last Tuesday and refused service when they were legally entitled to

There are those voters who admit that the candidates often drive them to drink - figuratively, and sometimes literally. For those who like to plan ahead, however, the bars WILL be closed June 4, California primary election day.

Brotherhood Is Real in Science

Who invented the steam-engine? Most of us would say "Watt" - but before him there had to be Rivault, Porta, de Caus, Worcester, Savory, Desaguliers, Blakely, Papin and Huygens.

Did the American, Benjamin Franklin, discover the identity of lightning and electricity in June, 1752? So did the French scientist, D'Abilard, in a similar experiment - a month

Did Joseph Henry lay claim to the electric motor? But, simultaneously, the electric motor appeared in the U.S., England, France, Germany, and

I DREDGED UP some of these interesting and little-known parallels awhile back, as we were celebrating something called "National Brotherhood Week." It's sadly ironic that the greatest evidence of "brotherhood" in the 300 years since the Industrial Revolution has been in the field of science and technology, more than in religion, education, citizenship, or any other form of human association.

The "progress" we are proudest of is the result of collaboration among men of many nations. Although the instruments devised by science have often been used for conflict, the scientific enterprise itself has always rested on a broad basis of brotherhood and the international exchange of ideas, help and good will.

THERE WERE SIX inventors of the thermometer, and nine of the telescope - all in different countries. There were four converging discoverers of sunspots in 1611: Galileo in Italy, Scheiner in Germany, Fabricius in Holland, and Harriott in England.

The important discovery of the cellular basis of both animal and vegetable tissue was made by Schwann, Henle, Turpin, Dumortier, Purkinje, Muller and Valentin. Anesthetics (both ether and nitrous oxide) were discovered in 1845 by no less than four men of different nationalities.

TWO YEARS LATER, in 1847, the law of conservation of energy was formulated by Joule, Thomson, Golding and Helmholz. A method of liquefying gases was devised by Cailletet, Pictet, Wroblowski, and Olzewski in 1877. The laws of heredity were worked out by Mendal, De Vries, Correns and Tschermarck.

The fact that this scientific brotherhood has worked practically proves - more than all the idealistic sermons - that human beings are capable of advancing themselves only through active cooperation, not through hate, envy, bigotry and aggression. Whatever is important in modern living has come from the efforts of men joined in a common quest: to seek greater knowledge and welfare for all mankind.

When next we switch on an electric light, gulp down a vitamin, take a child's temperature - let us recall some of the names to thank.

Cuba, Castro Are Still Synonymous

Castro's Cuba refuses to fall apart. Some 4,000 Cubans a month leave for the freedom Miami represents. Castro's secret police have jailed some 10,000 political prisoners perhaps more. The American economic blockade continues to pinch painfully. But Cuba and Castro remain synonymous.

Castro has made grievous mistakes. A huge industrialization program has proved pretty much an expensive failure. The sugar crop, which earns about 60 percent of the island's foreign exchange, was neglected. Last year provided the second best zafra, or harvest, since Castro took over in 1958 - 6.1 million tons as against 6.8 million in 1961. But it fell short of a 7.5 million-ton goal.

This year looks to be worse. The London sugar brokerage firm, C. Czarnikow. Ltd., estimates the 1958 crop at 5.15 million tons. Worse, the broker says Cuba can't achieve its sugar goal of 10 million tons by 1970 without rebuilding some 114 sugar mills of the 152 in operation throughout the island.

CUBA IS TIED to the Soviet Union by economic assistance of about $400 million a year. A recent visitor, Ronald Steel, observes: "So long as Washington remains hostile, the Cubans have to look to Moscow for their protection, for this is their only guarantee of survival."

Castro so far has been unable to export his brand of revolution elsewhere in Latin America. Luis E. Aguilar of Georgetown University suggests: "The Castroite theory of revolutionary tactics that Ernesto 'Che' Gnevara and (Regis) Debray were testing in the Bolivian hacklands ended not only in death for the one and prison for the other but also in exposure of the weakness of their credo."

NEVERTHELESS. whether-Castroist communism can be a model for revolution elsewhere or not, Cuba seems to be a going concern. The Cuhans carry on nearly one-quarter of their foreign trade with non-Communist nations - Spain, Carada, Britain, and Japan among the foremost, They are trying to increase their trade with Western Europe and Japan.

Castro recently has nationalized more than 48,000 small businesses. He threatens to close down the national lottery. He has shut the bars and the fancy night clubs - at perhaps a considerable risk of popularity. Rumors from time to time have him stepping down as premier but retaining what ha now likes to call the "general secretaryship" of his party.

THE CASTRO REGIME in a decade has virtually eliminated illiteracy and doubled the number in school. Cuba has 1.3 million pupils in grade schools, 140,000 in secondary schools, and 40,000 in the university. There are militarism and political indoctrination in the schools. But many of the pupils are the children of workers and peasants who had not previously had a chance at education of any quality.

Freedom of speech and assembly are not guaranteed in Castro's Cuba. Parliamentary institutions are missing. Cuba is hardly to be considered free or democratic in a political sense.

Vignette of a City in Turmoil

The Looters and Burners

WASHINGTON — They raced on cat's feet in front of the downtown store selling the snappier versions of Kuppenheimer and Louis Roth men's clothing. They were in the 16-18-20 year bracket, lithe, restless, aware.

A ninth-floor office window across the street afforded a fine view of their stalking movements. There were eight, sometimes 10 or 12 of them. A police patrol car stopped and they faded noiselessly from view until it had passed.

They materialized again. A car halted at the curb, went away and then returned. Then they committed the act, smashing the windows and escaping to the waiting car with fancy men's slacks, snappy sports coats and shirts and other attire to satisfy a young man's vanity.

THESE WERE THE looters and burners. In the same general vicinity a large shoe store was rifled, another men's clothing store selling popular brand clothing was looted and burned. But left untouched was the city's largest and most expensive women's specialty store, several small jewelry stores, several liquor stores - all filled with articles more valuable and saleable than the sharp togs the looters wanted.

The vignette of a city in turmoil remains in the mind's eye because the young, panther-like men fitted the description of the National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders of the typical rioter as a teen-ager or young adult alienated from the society in which he lives, hating both whites and the middle class of his own race, distrustful of anything connected with government, proud, challenging - and dangerous.

IT WAS NOT ALL LIKE that in Washington. Many of the looters were older, most were employed, relatively few had criminal records, some worked for the government, some were college-educated. All were caught up in the misguided hysteria of Martin Luther King's unconscionable murder.

clothing store fix one's attention because it is they and those who will follow them who could make today's looting and burning merely the curtain-raiser of tomorrow's catastrophes, enveloping whole cities instead of their drab and sordid parts into which white people rarely venture except as sightseers after riots.

The young alienated men are those to whom Stokely Carmichael speaks in terms of guerilla warfare. No other leader, including Martin Luther King, has reached them. They long ago rejected King, whose leadership along with his principles of non-violence was fading, and whose deification may prove to be a stronger force than his living presence.

THE FEDERAL government's attempts to reach the young and alienated have been a ludicrous failure, ending in such fiascos as that in Nashville where the young firebrands, under government sponsorship, taught children the arts of hating and revolt. Employment programs for the young alienated have proved more attractive to middle-aged women.

One saw in Washington the only known measure for holding such elements in check. Discipline. Military discipline. Passers-by and police alike stood helplessly and idly by while the looting and burning mounted.

Order was not restored until federal the Capitol, began to patrol the streets and, in effect, sealed off some 300,000 Negroes in their relatively small section of this huge metropolitan area under a strict curfew.

PASSAGE OF OPEN housing legislation, desirable as that may be, is not likely to be considered a realistic solution by the young alienated. They are not interested in buying houses at the moment. The poverty program, and the department of urban housing and development are at a loss to know how to spend enough money fast enough to stem the deeply running emotional and revolutionary currents in the Negro community.

Undercover Power Grab

WASHINGTON - Stokely Carmichael, fiery advocate of racial revolution, bloodshed and destruction "to bring this country to its knees," is making a vigorous grab for control of the late Dr. Martin Luther King's "poor people's march" on Washington.

Actively aiding and abetting this attempted undercover power grab are leading Black Power and allied leftist elements, foremost among them:

The Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), with close Communist ties and formerly headed by Carmichael; the Communist-front W. E. B. DuBois Clubs; the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE), headed by Floyd McKissick, and Black Panthers. m l'ant nationalist organization. Also, reputedly, the Revolutionary Action Movement (RAM), a highly secret extremist group with Chinese Communist orientation, that preaches urban guerrilla warfare to achieve its goal - overthrow of the U. S. government and rule by Negroes along Chinese Communist lines.

Primary aims of the covert scheme o gain Black Power control of the 'poor people's march" are:

(1) Stage a series of turbulent propaganda demonstrations and disturbances in the capital ostensibly to "force" Congress to enact farreaching multi-billion dollar jobcreating and urban renewal legislation; (2) establish Carmichael as a powerful Negro spokesman to enable him to wield influential political pressure in this year's momentous na-

As a consequence of the undercover grab for control by the Black Power militants and the greatly intensified doubts of moderate Negro leaders about the advisability of the "march," its future is very dubious.

Obtuse Blindness of Evil

On the morning after Dr. Martin Luther King's murder in Memphis, Tenn., a man telephoned the writer's office. To the secretary he said, "I just want to say that the death of old King is the greatest news since the Sccond World War ended." He banged up the phone.

He was one of a very few such, mingled with a vast number expressing grief, regret and wish to be sure that Dr. King's native city continued to do all possible to assuage grief and express regret.

That one symbolic call was, of course, from a spiritual brother in madness and hate to the killer. They exits everywhere. They appear to kill a Lincoln in Washington, D.C., a Gandhi in India, a Kennedy in Dallas, Texas, a Martin Luther King in Memphis.

IT IS INTERESTING that Dr. King's career from obscurity to the position of an international leader was made possible by stupid, evil white racism. Always there was enough of the senseless racism to enable him to

Dear Gloomy Gus:

Gov. Reagan said he's against withholding because taxpayers ought to really feel it when they pay. Okay, governor, but I'm feeling it a little too much. My state income tax went up from $145 to $320 this year.

move from victory to victory. Always the mean and witless discrimination provided him with opportunities not merely to defeat it, but to expose it for what it was - an unjust, wicked force that distorted and degraded Southern institutions and which, exported, now is a national problem. Always evil played into his hands.

We begin at the beginning.

On the evening of December 1, 1955, in Montgomery, Alabama, Mrs.Rosa Parks, aged 43, was sitting on a bus enroute home. She was tired. Her feet hurt. Her job was that of a seamstress ir a department store.

WHITE PASSENGERS boarded in some number. The driver came to Mrs. Parks and ordered her to move to the rear so one of the white women who had entered might have a seat.

Mrs. Parks refused. She does not yet know precisely why she did not obey. At the moment she knew she was weary and that her feet hurt. Her decision, which somewhat surprised her, was, she thinks, precipitated by an accumulation of psychological weariness. Already that year five Negro women and two children had been arrested for refusing to obey bus drivers. One mon had been killed for the same reason.

The driver angrily summoned a coliceman Mrs. Parks was arrested. fingerprinted as a criminal, and jailed.

HERE, OF COURSE, was a clear exposure of a silly, indefensible situa-tion — a law that said where passengers, all paying the same fare, must sit on a public bus. It is one of the more Gothically grotesque pieces of our history that Southerners across several generations argued expensively and violently about where passengers should sit on a bus or train or where children would sit in school.

Martin Luther King was a young, relatively unknown minister, lately arrived in Montgomery, when Mrs. Parks was arrested. He was not present at the first conference. But when he did come in, his personality and ability made him a leader.

SENSELESS, indefensible racist resistance on bus seating continued. It was, in time, defeated. This was the first step. In Birmingham the stupidity of segregat d practices released vicious dogs on children and women, turned fire hoses on them, and otherwise exposed its evil and injustice. Dr. King won again. In Selma and in place after place, this obtuse blindness of evil created a stairway up which he climbed.

The height of stupidity was the killing - to think that death kills an idea, a moral force, a legal obligation.
