State Highway Stripers Paint Up the Town

By JEROME F. COLLINS
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Squish! Squash!

Just like that — a laborious highway striping job ruined. That's what happened to Coast Highway in Newport Beach overnight, and city officials are appalled and angered.

State Division of Highways crews Thursday had repainted the yellow and white lines, but apparently neglected to safeguard their work adequately.

As a result, autos slipped and skidded between apparently improperly spaced traffic cones. This morning the yellow and white lines were tracked all over the highway in many areas. Corona del Mar was an especially bad scene.

"Obviously," said City Manager Harvey L. Hurlburt, "there was very poor supervision of the project. Frankly, if we had a supervisor whose work turned out like that, we'd fire him on the spot."

City Traffic Engineer Robert Jaffe, on Hurlburt's instructions, personally inspected what the state had wrought. "I'm appalled," said Jaffe. "I can't believe it. Usually the state does an outstanding job of striping, and of protecting the striping until it's dry."

Jaffe called State Division of Highways officials in Los Angeles. He said they expressed great concern about the aesthetic disaster and would soon send down an inspector.

"The question now," said Hurlburt, "is how we can clean up the mess. The only solution we can see now is for the state to sandblast off the tracking. Cars just dragged the paint all over the place."

"But that's not the only problem. There was also some very poor workmanship in some spots."

Hurlburt suggested the possibility that the state had miscalculated the drying time of the paint.

"I'm not absolutely certain of that, but there is one thing we do know. The traffic cones were placed much too far apart."

He said what is especially upsetting is the situation in Corona del Mar. "The merchants and residents of that area have spent thousands of dollars of their own money to put flowerbeds in the traffic islands, to beautify the highway. And then this happens."

He concluded: "We're going to follow up on this very closely. That paint has got to be cleaned off the highway somehow."

Galt Tabbed As Prison Escapee

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The FBI Friday identified Eric Starvo Galt, sought in the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King, as James Earl Ray, an escapee from the Missouri State Penitentiary.

A warrant was issued Wednesday for a man identified as Galt in the April 4 sniper slaying of King in Memphis, Tenn.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said a systematic search of latent fingerprints uncovered in the case against the prints of more than 53,000 persons led to the determination "that Galt and Ray are identical."

Hoover said Ray, 40, was reported missing from the Missouri State Penitentiary at Jefferson City April 23, 1967. He had been serving a 20-year sentence for armed robbery.

OBJECT OF SEARCH

As Galt, Ray has been the object of a cross-country search which extended into Mexico, accused of conspiracy and murder in the assassination of King.

The civil rights leader, who won the 1964 Nobel Peace Prize, was shot to death from ambush as he stood on the balcony of a Memphis motel. His assassination was followed by rioting and disorders in dozens of U. S. cities.

The FBI, in a warrant issued earlier this week, charged Galt and an "alleged brother" with conspiracy in King's slaying. Memphis officials have sworn out a murder warrant for Galt.

The FBI released two front and side view photos of Ray apparently taken at the Missouri prison, where he had been an inmate since 1960. It said the photograph had been taken in 1960.

The photograph was identified as that of James Earl Ray, also known as Eric Starvo Galt, Harvey Lowmyer, John Willard, James McBride, James Walton, W. C. Herron and James (See MANHUNT, Page 2)

$840 Cash and Tools Stolen From Auto

Long Beach investment banker Nelson B. Cramer told Newport Beach police that $840 in cash and $50 worth of tools were stolen from the locked trunk of his Cadillac Thursday night.

Cramer said two flight bags — one containing an unmarked white envelope with the cash — were taken from the car while it was on a restaurant parking lot at 151 E. Coast Highway.

North Vietnam Rejects U.S. 10-country Plan

TOKYO (AP) — North Vietnam in effect rejected today the latest U.S. proposal on the site of preliminary peace talks on Vietnam. It described the proposal listing 10 countries as "tortuous maneuvers" to delay contacts.

Hanoi's official Vietnam News Agency said a spokesman of the North Vietnamese Foreign Ministry issued a statement on the U.S. proposal set forth by Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

VNA quoted the spokesman as saying: "Within three weeks only, the United States, which at first did not set any conditions with regard to the choice of a site for talks, have come to pile up extremely absurd and insolent conditions."

"Moreover the 10 places advanced by Mr. Dean Rusk fail to meet even the conditions posed by it."

The spokesman added: "The United States demands the choice of a site where the two parties have representations, but in the places advanced by Mr. Dean Rusk there are only U.S. embassies."

"The United States demands the choice of a neutral country, but many of the countries proposed by Mr. Dean Rusk are not neutral. Some are support bases for the U.S. war of aggression in Vietnam."

Mystery Veils Death of Newport Woman in Mexico

The father of a Newport Beach woman was awaiting the results of an autopsy today to learn why his daughter died while vacationing in Mexico.

The dead woman was identified as Mrs. Susan Haggott O'Donnell, 38, wife of Newport Beach physician Dr. Merrill O'Donnell.

The doctor's secretary said she understood Mrs. O'Donnell died of a heart attack March 18 or 19 on the island of Cozumel off the Yucatan Peninsula.

The dead woman's father, Ben Haggott of Torrance, said precise circumstances surrounding the death on the remote island appeared unclear.

Marina Auctioned Burroughs Bids $2 Million for Site

By ARTHUR R. VINSEL
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

A spokesman for 13 investors Thursday submitted a high bid of $2.085 million for purchase of the proposed Costa Mesa marina property at public auction in Newport Beach.

Final sale of the tax-burdened 139-acre site on the west side of the city is contingent on seven conditions imposed by the group and approved by sellers of the land.

One of the stipulations announced by bidder Walter Burroughs, is assurance of access to the sea for feasible development of the long-studied Keys Marina.

"We are making no promises," said Burroughs, president of the Orion Management Corp., following the auction at the Newport Beach Elks Clubhouse.

A number of problems are yet to be resolved if the property adjacent to the Santa Ana River, along both sides of Victoria Street, is to be developed as a marina.

"The only thing we will do is go ahead with the plans," said Burroughs, former publisher of the DAILY PILOT.

"We are willing to risk the money to save this marina for Costa Mesa," he added.

No development timetable has been set for realization of the long-discussed project, he said, but chances appear good that the Keys Marina will become a reality.

Phone Cables Cut as Strike In Second Day

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Phone lines and cables were reported slashed in three states today as the first nationwide telephone strike in 21 years entered its second day. Union officials said their members were not responsible for the cut lines.

"CWA doesn't condone acts like that," Joseph A. Bierne, president of the CWA, said. "It is not only wrong but no such act ever ended a strike by as much as a minute earlier."

Phone cables were reported severed in New Jersey, Indiana and Ohio as more than 200,000 Bell Telephone System and Western Electric Co. workers continued to strike for higher wages. They walked out at midday Thursday.

To most telephone users, there was little outward evidence that a strike was on. Automated dial telephone operations were not hampered.

Calls that require a telephone operator's assistance — collect, credit card, person-to-person — were more seriously affected, although management personnel tried to handle these duties.

Union officials claimed "nearly a 100 percent" turnout on picket lines across the nation.

One union member was arrested in Atlantic City, N.J., after allegedly moving a ladder from a pole where a supervisor was repairing a line.

The CWA actually called the strike in only nine states and the District of Columbia, where wage reopener clauses in local contracts had expired.

Reagan Voices Doubts On Peace Prospects

OAKLAND (AP) — Gov. Reagan said Thursday night he would use military force if necessary to compel North Vietnam to agree to a cease-fire at the start of peace talks.

Reagan, a possible candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, told 140 persons at a $250-a-couple dinner that he distrusted the present prospect of peace talks.

Newport Man, 65, Fights Robbery Try by 2 Thugs

Two young thugs attacked a 65-year-old Newport Beach custodian, choked him and slugged him in the mouth in a futile attempt to take his wallet, police reported today.

Balboa resident Peter C. Sharkey, of 915 E. Balboa Blvd., said he struggled, then began shouting, causing his assailants to flee.

Sharkey said he was walking across a darkened stretch of a parking lot Wednesday night near the now razed Rendezvous Ballroom.

One youth approached from behind and began choking him. The second thief tried to lift a wallet from his trousers, but failed when the custodian broke free and started to run.

Sharkey said the thugs then caught up to him and slugged him in the mouth.

He piped up with loud shouts and the attackers fled.

Sharkey told police the thieves failed to get his wallet. He declined immediate medical attention, saying he would report to a doctor later for an examination.

Inn's Expansion Plans Revised

Newport Inn officials were back at the drawing board today, revising plans for major expansion of the now 225-room hostelry.

They asked city planning commissioners Thursday night for a continuance of a hearing on a proposed 112-room addition. Planners set the new hearing for May 16.

Newport spokesmen explained they wanted to realign proposed interior driveways and also provide for the construction of new shops in the complex.

Just Another Towel?

Student, 19, Suns Self on American Flag, Arrested

Seattle college student Joe McClung, 19, today faced charges of defiling the American Flag after he was arrested for using a U. S. banner as a beach towel in Newport Beach.

Police said residents near 29th Street and Ocean Front called and complained that McClung was stretched out on an 8-foot by 12-foot flag.

"Well, I didn't have anything better to lay on besides, it's only a symbol," police quoted McClung as saying.

"I don't see anything wrong in it. I suppose if I knew it was against the law I wouldn't have done it," he reportedly said.

McClung, and a 19-year-old Seattle friend identified as Larry Allen, each had a 50-star flag, police said. McClung told police he bought the flags at a Seattle flag shop.

Police Lt. Ernest Laurin said McClung's friend was turned over to Orange County military police on suspicion of being absent without leave from Ford Ord, Calif. However, a records check cleared the youth and he was reported returning to Seattle today.

Vice Mayor In Mexico For Movie

Newport Beach Vice Mayor Lindsley Parsons heads for Mexico Saturday for one month of filming a motion picture starring Lana Turner and George Chakiris.

Moviemaker Parsons has the unanimous approval of his City Council colleagues for the 30-day leave of absence.

Parsons told councilmen about the film assignment just before they named him vice mayor. No one objected.

During his successful campaign for re-election to the council, Parsons had told voters that he would be producing movies out of the country for up to four months during the next four years.

Parsons said the name of the movie he is now producing is "The Big Cube." He described it as a "contemporary drama." It will probably be released through a major studio, he said.

While he's in Mexico, Parsons is expected to be nominated in absentia for re-election as chairman of the Joint Boards of the Orange County Sanitation Districts.

The Joint Boards, which oversee the operation of the county's principal sewer system network, meet May 8 in Fountain Valley.

Parsons, chairman for the past two years, has spearheaded plans for construction of a $15 million sewage outfall stretching from the Santa Ana River four miles out to sea.

Newport Mayor Doreen Marshall this week reappointed Parsons as Sanitation District No. 5 representative. She also named herself to the district, and appointed councilmen Howard Rogers and Donald McInnis as alternates.

McInnis was also named as District No. 6 representative; and Rogers, District No. 7.

Several districts throughout the county are represented on the Joint Boards of the Sanitation Districts.

MANHUNT...

O'Conner.

John Willard was the name used by the man who checked into a Memphis rooming house from which the shot that killed King apparently was fired.

O'Conner said Ray had a known arrest record dating back to 1949. Prior to his 1950 conviction in St. Louis, Ray was convicted of burglary in Los Angeles, 1952; armed robbery in Chicago in 1953; and forging United States postal money orders in Missouri in 1955.

The FBI said that in September 1966, while serving his sentence at the Missouri state penitentiary, Ray was confined for a time in the maximum security ward at Fulton.

He also served time in the Los Angeles County Jail in 1949; state prisons at Joliet and Pontiac, Ill., from 1952 to 1954; and the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan., from 1955 to 1958.

The FBI said Ray was an enlisted man in the Army from February 1946 to December 1948, when he was given a general discharge due to ineptness and lack of adaptability for military service.

During his time in the Army, Ray received a three month sentence at hard labor for being drunk and breaking arrest.

Ray was described as a white male, approximately 5 foot 10, weighing about 163 to 174 pounds with blue eyes and brown hair. The FBI said he has a small scar on the center of his forehead and a scar on the palm of his right hand.

The FBI said Ray claimed to have been born March 10, 1928 in Illinois. It said he further claimed to have attended school through the tenth grade in Alton, Ill.

Harbor Schools May Send 500 Students to Orient

Newport-Mesa schoolmen today are pursuing a far-out idea to send 500 high school students on a cruise to the orient in January, 1970.

The students would be dismissed from regular school and study a special shipboard curriculum of oriental studies.

"Maybe the idea is a little dreamy," Assistant Supt. Norman Loats told school board members Tuesday night. "But I hope we keep our head in the stars because that is how we will get some place."

Needed to make the program go are 500 students able to pay $750 each for the 35-day trip to Japan and Formosa. It is not expected enough students can be found in the Newport-Mesa district alone, so Laguna Beach, Tustin and other neighboring school districts will be contacted.

School trustees responded to the proposal with interest, but voiced some reservations. A couple of board members thought ninth and tenth graders too young, but the majority felt that was for the parents to decide.

All agreed it would be desirable if community groups could be persuaded to underwrite the trip for some students as the cost would make the program discriminatory.

Nevertheless, Loats was told to go ahead and see if he could locate enough interested students to book the ship — a Holland American Line vessel used by Chapman College as a floating campus but idle 35 days during the winter.

If all goes well, the students will sail from Dec. 27, 1969 to Jan. 31, 1970, putting in at Tokyo and Kyoto, Japan, and Taiwan, Formosa.

Seventy teachers, counselors, supervisors, nurses and other personnel will be on board with the 500 students. Their salaries will be paid by the student tuition.

The students will study oriental history, culture, philosophy and religion, the Japanese language and world economics. Physical education will be taken.

While ashore, students will visit shrines, temples, palaces, the Japanese Diet (parliament), and places of historical interest. They will observe oriental living patterns and hear lectures by Japanese educators.

There will be no monetary cost to the district, Loats said, but staff time will have to be spent developing the program.

Loats pointed out that Japanese is taught at Corona del Mar High School and Chinese will be taught beginning next fall at Newport Harbor High, so the district already has begun Asian studies.

The oriental cruise hinges on finding enough students able to go. Some may be able to work this summer to earn their passage, Loats suggested.

Trial Date Set In Interference

A water-prone Los Angeles youth today was free on $315 bail pending a Municipal Court trial May 7 on charges of interfering with Newport Beach policeman Chris Karamanos.

Karamanos said Bart A. Vaicaro, 20, fled from an apartment last weekend while Karamanos was checking the identification of several young people.

The officer said Vaicaro pushed him out of the apartment, then jumped from a balcony and plunged into the bay in an effort to swim away before he was captured. Vaicaro later denied Karamanos' story.

Vaicaro pleaded innocent in preliminary proceedings and demanded a jury trial.

thing," he cautioned.

Burroughs said his corporation, Maxwell C. King, former head of Pacific Finance Co., and 11 other parties are in the equity group putting up funds for the land purchase.

Development will come from a large eastern firm if intensive studies, supplemented by those conducted over the past few years by Louis Lesser Enterprises and Western Orbis Co., indicate the total cost would fall below a certain agreed-upon figure.

One of the primary problems would be negotiations to get permission for dredging a Santa Ana River channel canal across Newport Beach land, formerly used as a dump site.

A second problem to be dealt with is how much it would cost for a bridge to carry Pacific Coast Highway over the waterway at the Newport Beach west city limit.

Burroughs opened bidding in the auction conducted by the Milton J. Wershow Co., at 2:25 p.m. Thursday, offering $10,500 per acre for the property, which can be divided into nearly 1,000 lots.

The bids climbed eight times under prodding by Wershow himself, until Burroughs submitted the final, top offer of $15,000 per acre for the marina property.

Besides access to the sea, Burroughs and his colleagues require financing on terms acceptable to them, approval of an existing soil test study by their own engineer and no surface access for mineral exploitation without their consent.

The property is adjacent to Banning family property, leased by the G. E. Kadane & Sons Oil Company.

SUBJECT TO APPROVAL

The purchase is also subject to approval of preliminary title reports, adjustment of survey price to $15,000 per acre and extension of escrow past the 30-day period at the buyers' wish.

In such a case, the equity group would pay $27,000 per month in carrying charges to close of escrow.

"I think we'll know whether our conditions can be met within 60 days," Burroughs said Thursday, after handing over a $100,000 check as a deposit on the deal.

The auctioneer said the marina property is burdened by $2 million in back taxes and tax on the land is $30,600 at the current county rate.

Three individual parcels of almost equal size were offered at first Thursday, but none of the bidders present wanted less than the entire package.

It originally consisted of 144 acres, but approximately five acres were given to the Banning property owners, in order to get the oil developments out of the way of the proposed marina.

2.2 ACRE SQUARE

The land given away includes a 2.2 acre square in the southwest corner of the property, plus a 40-foot-wide strip along its 2,315-foot southern boundary line.

Representatives of Lesser Enterprises, present Thursday to give details, said it includes R-1W zoning, for single family waterfront homes; and R-4W, for waterfront apartments, duplexes and triplexes, with a final 13-acre section zoned C-2, for commercial use.

The land was originally to be auctioned off at the Sheraton Beach Inn, Huntington Beach, a month ago, but it was postponed, costing the owners nearly $1,000 per day in carrying charges.

County GI Killed

An Orange County soldier, Sp4 Patrick F. Scharosch of Garden Grove, has been reported killed in action in Vietnam, the Defense Department announced Thursday.

164 Reds Slain

Troops Overrun Cong Positions

SAIGON (UPI) — U. S. troops moving through 150-foot high jungles near Saigon killed 164 Viet Cong Thursday and today in a series of fights in which the Communists used rockets and tear gas. In the air war U. S. planes hit the North Vietnam panhandle with the heaviest attack of the war.

Military spokesmen said the GIs moved through the 12-story high jungle behind a curtain of 500 pound bombs that exploded only 100 yards in front of them. They overran a series of guerrilla positions threatening the Long Binh-Bien Hoa base complex just north of Saigon.

The spokesmen said the Americans killed 126 Communists in two fights Thursday in which the Communists made one of their rare uses of teargas. In a fight today in the same area the Americans killed another 38.

In the air, American jets struck North Vietnam's southern panhandle Thursday with the most massive raid of the year — 145 missions. Despite clouds that limited visibility to 2,000 feet, the pilots pounded supply dumps, troop centers, roadways and bridges under the 19th parallel, the farthest north allowed under the curtailed bombing program to get Hanoi to the conference table.

But disaster struck two Army helicopters 60 miles south of the South Vietnamese coastal city of Qui Nhon. They collided today and crashed, killing all eight American crewmen and the 18 Montagnard mountain tribal warriors they were ferrying, spokesmen said.

Near the former imperial city of Hue, 400 miles above Saigon, U. S. paratroopers closed in on three hamlets vacated by civilians but housing about 300 North Vietnamese. U. S. jets dropping napalm and artillery barrages burned each hamlet.

UPI correspondent Raymond Wilkinson reported 11 North Vietnamese killed in the first part of paratrooper sweep into the ruins.

To the west of Hue, Air Force B52 Stratofortresses continued their round-the-clock pounding of the A Shau Valley, the key supply route feeding five Communist divisions in South Vietnam's northern provinces.

In the jungle fighting less than 30 miles above Saigon, first reports put American losses at eight men killed and 18 wounded.

Lt. Col. Kenneth W. Hall of Columbus, Ga., led up to 1,500 men of the Army 199th Light Infantry Brigade into the 150-foot-high jungle against the Viet Cong rocket bases threatening the allied bases. The push began Thursday. It roared today.

One American captain fell wounded three times. Each time he rose and fought on. The Communists, apparently desperate to keep their strategic bases, fired rocket grenades and tear gas at the Americans.

The major fighting broke out just south of the Dong Nai River, 25 miles north of Saigon and within rocket range of Bien Hoa's sprawling air and troop base and the sister base of Long Binh.

A short distance away, a U.S. Army 1st Infantry Division armored column rumbled into the jungle and swept into a Viet Cong base camp. A company of guerrillas — up to 150 men — tried to fend off the armor.

The Viet Cong hurled tear gas grenades. They aimed rocket grenades at the armor. But the U. S. column cut through their ranks.

Two vehicles wove in and out through the camp, spraying automatic fire to the front and sides. At fight's end, GIs counted 57 Communist bodies. Three Americans were killed and three wounded in the camp fight.

In the Mekong Delta, below Saigon, government troops today reported finding about 50 bodies of Communist troops killed in a B52 strike Wednesday.

Deborah Andorka National Winner In Elks Contest

A Balboa coed who attends Mater Dei High School in Santa Ana is the national winner in the Elks Club's annual Youth Leadership Contest.

Deborah A. Andorka, 18, of 304 E. Ocean Front, competed with more than 40,000 other students for the national honor.

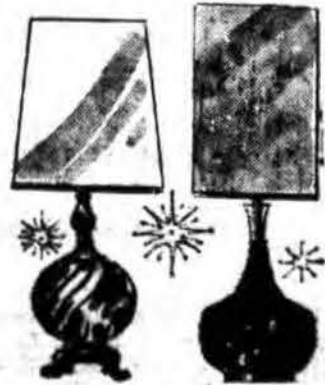

The award winner currently is student body president at Mater Dei, secretary of the school's student council and maintains an A-minus grade average.

She holds a life membership in the California Scholarship Federation and is a member of the National Honor Society.

Among other honors, she was named Daughter of the American Revolution Good Citizen for 1968, has served as student body secretary and is a member of Mariners and Tutors as part of the LULAC (League of United Latin American Citizens) program.

Though college plans are not definite, she currently is considering UCI, Stanford and Marymount. She plans to be a doctor.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bela J. Andorka, are both teachers. Her father is a professor of English at Rio Hondo College in Whittier and her mother is an English teacher at Alhambra High School.

Bullet-spattered Chase Nets Four Theft Suspects

Four teen-aged burglary suspects who apparently outgrew Oklahoma and graduated to Buena Park are in jail today, after a bullet-punctuated foot chase into a residential area Thursday night.

Two of the suspects were quickly captured near their Beach Boulevard motel, but the other two were picked up by police and one armed citizen while hiding in the neighborhood.

Emanuel Riddle, 18, Eddie Teague, 18, Thomas N. Rhodes, 17, and Gary L. Corbit, 17, were booked on suspicion of Buena Park burglaries and on arrest warrants issued by Oklahoma authorities.

Information supplied to Buena Park police led to a motel where the youthful quartet of suspects was supposedly hiding out, investigators said.

Officer Edward Ryan went to the address, arrested Corbit on the street nearby and was told the other three youths inside were armed with a rifle and a pistol.

Police surrounded the motel and ordered the trio to come out with their hands up, but the suspects fled out a rear window of the unit.

Rhodes was caught within seconds, but Teague and Riddle dashed toward a nearby residential tract, ducking bullets fired by pursuing officers.

Officers then stopped shooting to avoid hitting innocent bystanders.

Teague was found hiding in a parked vacation trailer nearby and a neighborhood resident poking about his yard spotted Riddle hiding in some bushes.

Leo E. Wurm, 29, held Riddle at gunpoint while yelling for officers across the street, who arrived on the scene and took the suspect into custody.

SA Schools Sued Over Poverty Aid

Suit was brought against Santa Ana Unified School District Thursday for failure to accept federal funds to aid children of low income families.

The unprecedented legal action was filed in Orange County Superior Court by attorneys for the Western Center on Law and Poverty, a legal-aid agency financed by the Federal Office of Economic Opportunity. It is on behalf of 11 Santa Ana students and their parents.

A hearing was set by Judge James F. Judge for May 10.

The school district has failed to accept $1,270,000 in federal funds available during the last three years.

Santa Ana school officials declined comment on the lawsuit which conceivably could result in a landmark decision.

The suit contends children of low-income families are denied educational opportunity equal to that of students in districts that accept federal aid.

The suit comes after faculty criticism of the board's policy of not accepting federal funds.

Although urged to by the district teacher association and minority group representatives, the board has continued to spurn federal aid because of philosophical conviction.

The legal petition notes the district has a high number of disadvantaged students and scored the lowest of all county districts in a statewide reading test.

School Supt. Glenn Tabor has said a major factor in the poor showing was the relatively high proportion of minority students, 34.4 percent of the 28,205 enrollment.

The petition charges these children have special educational needs which the district's schools have not met, and as a result the students are denied equal educational opportunity compared to students from other districts.

Most all county school districts have received federal aid for pre-kindergarten "Head Start" programs to help children from families of less than $3,000 annual income or whose parents are on welfare.

The petition further notes that acceptance of federal funds does not mean "surrender of control to any federal agency," concluding "there is no reasonable basis for the (district's) refusal to apply for and accept the funds."

New Layoffs Seen After GM Walkout

DETROIT (UPI) — A surprise strike by some 2,800 United Auto Workers members at a General Motors Corp. stamping plant threatened today to start off a new wave of layoffs in the giant auto company.

Showdown Vote on Fees Due at UC Regents Meet

DAVIS (AP) — University of California regents prepared today for a vote on increasing student fees by about $80 a school year as Gov. Reagan continued to press for full UC tuition.

Some regents have indicated the board will approve the newest fee increase proposal — about half the $156 yearly fee boost originally proposed by a special regents' committee.

Any new fee would be in addition to the current resident charges of about $240 a year.

Reagan told a group of state college student editors in Sacramento Thursday that "I'm not going to be fooled" by increases in fees that would be used for "frivolities and boondoggles."

Student fees are used chiefly to pay for student services and organizations. Reagan favors tuition to help pay instructional costs and boost scholarship help.

Reagan was scheduled to attend a closed-door regents' session this morning.

Regents also face a decision on an antidraft rally scheduled for May 17 on the Berkeley campus. Chancellor Roger W. Heyns refused permission for the rally after Thomas Cunningham, UC counsel, said the gathering would be an illegal use of university facilities in violation of Selective Service laws.

The American Civil Liberties Union has written to the regents, saying cancellation of the rally would hinder constitutional guarantees of free speech.

The ACLU also said there was no "clear and present danger" of law violations. But if the law is broken, the "ordinary processes of arrest and prosecution" would be available.

Regents have considered a decision on student fees since last August, when they rejected tuition but authorized a study of new student charges coupled with increased student aid.

Reagan's tuition plan also called for using some of the proceeds for student aid and other benefits.

The Reagan administration plans to ask for new fees at state college cam-

County Mental Care

Health Budget To Hit Record

By THOM BARLEY
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Orange County supervisors Tuesday will be asked to approve a record $2,921,420 budget for mental health programs during 1968-69.

Proposed by the Orange County Medical Center, the new budget will be almost double that of the current year. And it will, if approved, expand the present staff from 50 to 159 employees.

The county hospital seeks $1,685,689 for existing programs. It is estimated that the cost of four new child guidance clinics will add $501,457 to the proposed budget.

These clinics were first proposed to supervisors one year ago. But they were deleted from the medical center's program when promised state funds were not made available to the county.

It could happen again, County Administrator Robert Thomas has warned the board. He assured supervisors that the proposed budget is being submitted on the understanding that matching funds from federal and state sources are made available.

An estimated 64 percent of the county's mental health programs is underwritten by federal and state funds. Much of that aid is drawn from funds made available under the federal Short-Doyle Act, a measure which is designed to financially back local authorities who establish mental health services.

Thomas said that "much will depend" on Governor Ronald Reagan's economy drive.

The administrator has warned the board that funds for new and expanded programs of the type outlined by the medical center have not been provided in recent months by the state.

Board approval will not commit the county to the programs for which funds are requested, Thomas has assured supervisors.

AWOL Sailor, 76, Receives His Discharge

LONG BEACH (AP) — A gaunt 76-year-old man received a discharge under honorable conditions from the Navy Thursday after being absent without leave 42 years.

"Your mental anguish and financial problems have been more than enough penalty for you," said Lt. Cmdr. Ted Oliverio to William J. Rowen of Santa Monica.

Rowen, gray-haired and supported by a cane, told an administrative discharge board he went AWOL in 1926 because of his part in a romantic triangle.

Rowen said he, then a chief electrician's mate aboard the USS Aroostook, and a shipmate both sought the favor of a Vallejo girl when the ship was in that Bay Area town.

"Rather than mess up two careers, I left the ship and took off for Seattle," Rowen told the board at the Long Beach Naval Station.

Rowen said he suffered lung and stomach injuries in 1920 by accidentally inhaling battery acid fumes aboard a submarine. He said he spent 26 weeks in a hospital and was sent back to duty.

Tustin Man Dies In Orange Crash

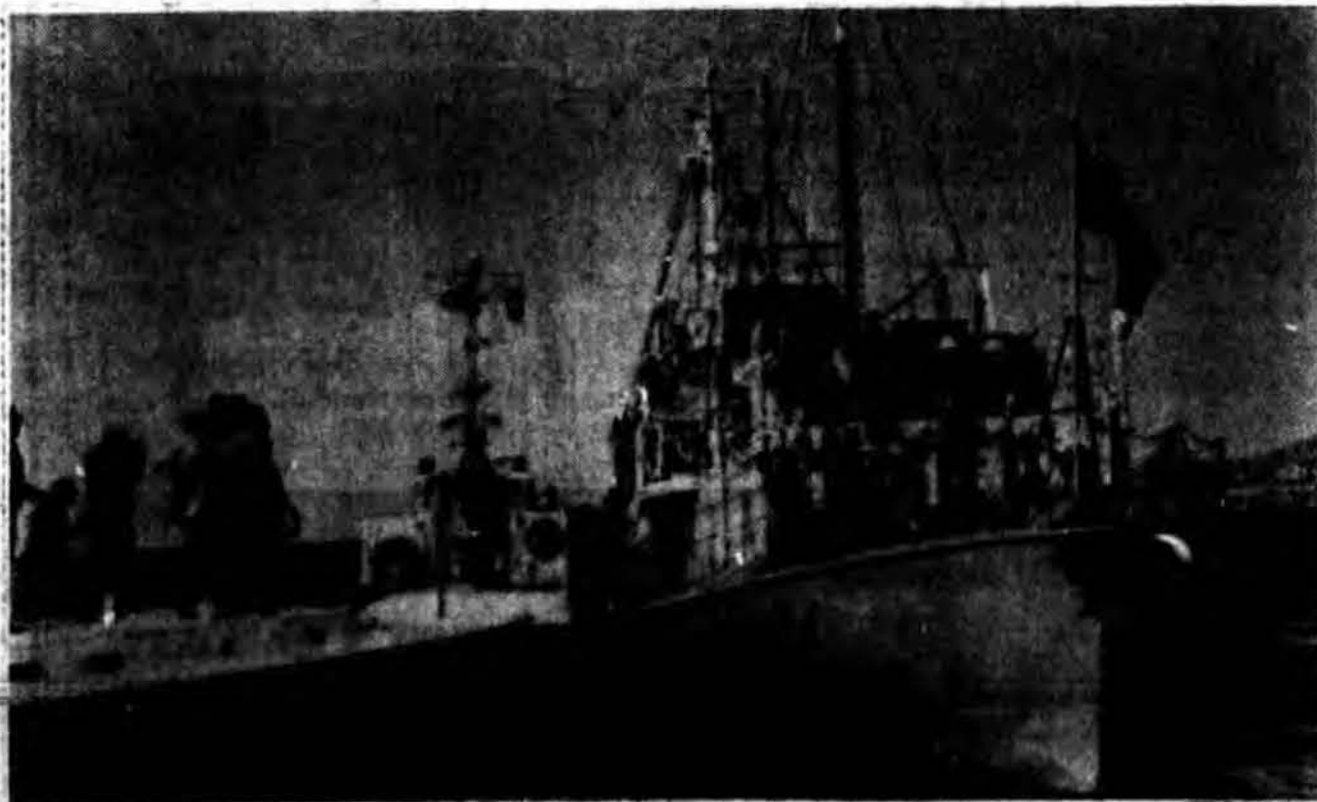

A Tustin man was killed Thursday night when the car in which he was riding went out of control at high speed and smashed into a power pole in Orange.

Police said Norman F. Woodson, 29,

'Cowboy Killer' Hunt Launched

In an attempt to prove that the tongue is mightier than the sword, Pasadena Radio Station KRLA announced that the way to lick the gold crisis is to switch to the trading stamp standard. Each nation would build redemption centers for its products and wait for the rush. When there were problems in the economy, nations could merely declare a double bonus day. "Instead of exchanging ambassadors, nations would swap redeemers thereby stamping out speculation," the station prophesied. An appropriate slogan would be: "Nations that lick together, stick together."

LONDON (AP) — A Royal Air Force Shackleton patrol plane slammed into a Scottish hillside in thick mist today with 11 men aboard. Four bodies were recovered and there was little hope of any survivors.

Police said they arrested five other persons at a West Los Angeles home, where they found Freedman, and booked him on suspicion of possession for sale of dangerous drugs.

Americans Tolerate Violence?

LONDON (AP) — The Americans' greatest fault is "an undue toleration of violence," a Briton declares, and a Japanese man says he is puzzled as to why the United States does not outlaw possession of firearms.

After the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and the widespread disturbances that followed, an Associated Press survey showed a number of foreign commentators upset by violence in the United States and its possible repercussions overseas.

Paul Johnson wrote in the British left-wing weekly New Statesman: "The Americans are themselves to blame for their predicament."

"The motiveless brawl—I can beat any man in this bar—is the basic national joke and is played, with variations, at a thousand cocktail parties in respectable suburbs."

"Only in America will you see two middle-aged, $50,000-a-year executives taking off their coats and rimless specs and squaring up for a bout of fisticuffs."

Writing to the Tokyo newspaper Asahi, Rokusuke Arii, 58, an office worker, said, "American leaders certainly are aware of the fact that civilized society cannot condone a situation that permits the use of lethal weapons to kill in broad daylight."

He mentioned the assassinations of King and President John F. Kennedy. L'Humanite, the Communist newspaper in Paris, said "the tanks, the machine guns, the paratroops thrown into operations of civil war in Washington, Chicago and a dozen other cities can restore the racist order for a time, but they are impotent to resolve the real problems."

In Britain, the conservative Evening Standard said: "The whole world is involved... If this United States, one of the twin pillars of the world power structure, should collapse, severing its alliances, leaving a sinister vacuum in Europe and Asia, the consequences are terrible to contemplate."

Antarctica Journey Ended Successfully

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States announced today that "the exploration of Antarctica has now been virtually completed."

This was accomplished, a commerce department report said, with successful conclusion of a two-month, 815-mile scientific journey "across the last major expanse of the great white continent."

The expedition, which started Dec. 5 and ended Jan. 30, was led by Norman Peddie, a geophysicist of the commerce department's coast and geodetic survey. The nine-man party consisted of U.S., Belgian, and Norwegian scientists.

The traverse covered a region in Queen Maud land which lies between the South Pole and the Princess Ragnhild coast in the direction of Africa.

In reporting the trip, made with special tractors called sno-cats, Peddie said "there are now no major areas (of Antarctica) which have not been explored, although many of the details still remain to be filled in."

During the journey scientists measured the earth's magnetic field and thickness of the snow and ice, which ranged from two miles deep at the 12,000-foot plateau station where the trek started, to one mile thick at the point where it ended.

Other traverses by other scientists had covered all other major areas of the frozen south polar continent.

Peddie said his expedition found no surprises.

"The area was largely a flat, white desert of hard-packed snow and ice, one to two miles thick, with no mountains or valleys," he reported. "Occasionally the monotony of the wintry landscape was broken by a few miles of sastrugi, wind-sculptured ice hummocks up to 1½ feet high."

Shortly after starting the gap-closing trip, the scientists crossed the trail of a Russian traverse made nine months before. They saw tracks of vehicles used by the Soviet explorers.

The fact that the tracks were still visible "emphasized," Peddie said, "one of the peculiarities of Antarctica — the small amount of snowfall on the high plateau — and impressed upon us how long it must have taken for the snow and ice to cover the continent."

You won't know how little it costs until you trade it.

Most people know the VW is economical to buy. And to run. But surprisingly few people ever think about how economical it is to trade. (We're surprised because that's where most cars cost their owners the most money.)

Volkswagen holds its resale value so well because we don't change the way it looks. (You get more for a car that doesn't show its age.) In fact after three years, a VW actually sells for more than a lot of domestic cars costing $500-$600 more originally.

Of course if you drive a car that never goes out of style, you probably won't be in a big hurry to trade. But it's nice to know that when you do decide to sell, you'll get a good return on your investment.

That's where our styling gets fancy.

Presidential Candidates Call for New Leadership

By United Press International

The failure to get Vietnam peace talks started and the nation's urban crisis held the center stage politically today with leading Democratic and Republican presidential hopefuls calling for new leadership to meet both problems.

The two active Democratic candidates, Sens. Robert F. Kennedy and Eugene J. McCarthy, continued their primary campaigns with charges that the inability of the current administration to get peace talks started was unnecessarily prolonging the war.

Kennedy, barnstorming in Oregon Thursday, called for a start to peace talks "while something still remains of the country."

Speaking to Oregon State University students at Corvallis, he said despite the administration's pledge to "go anywhere, anytime to seek a negotiated end" to the Vietnam war, "preliminary talks, much less genuine negotiations, have yet to begin."

Stopping in numerous small towns seeking votes for the state's May 28 primary, the New York Senator repeatedly said that "every day the war is prolonged — whether by inability to reach agreement on a site for talks, or any other reason — every such delay costs us $35 million a day."

McCarthy, speaking to a group of clergymen in Indianapolis, said the war was far from over. This is emphasized, he said, by "differences over where the peace conference might be held... and the callup of reserves."

Both Kennedy and McCarthy continued to call for new programs to erase racial divisions in the United States. On the Republican side, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, unannounced but available candidate for the GOP nomination, also called for new programs to meet domestic problems.

Kennedy told a Salem rally, "we must learn to live together. We can't exist as a society with such deep divisions. We must make it clear that we won't tolerate violence and lawlessness but we must also make it clear that all people will be treated justly and given an opportunity."

McCarthy called for "job equality, job opportunity, decent income and access to help in housing" for Negroes.

Rockefeller told a convention of the American Society of Newspaper Editors in Washington that America needs new leadership to set new national priorities.

He said the first task should be to rebuild the cities at a 10-year cost of $150 billion.

Richard M. Nixon was scheduled to speak to the editors today.

In other political developments:

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey — two youthful Senators, Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota and Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma, announced they would be co-chairmen of United Democrats for Humphrey, a move interpreted as a sure sign that Humphrey's declaration of his candidacy is imminent.

Indiana — Gov. Roger D. Branigan, running as a favorite son candidate, sniffed at a suggestion by McCarthy that he moderate a debate between McCarthy and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. Said Branigan: "Since President Johnson got out, Senators McCarthy and Kennedy have been looking for an issue. The only thing they can swing at is the referee."

South Dakota — McCarthy's supporters entered his name in the June 4 South Dakota primary in which Kennedy also is a candidate.

Discharged By Marines

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mary Elizabeth Burns, whose views on the Vietnam war led to her courtmartial, was discharged from the Marine Corps Thursday for "the convenience of the government."

Miss Burns was court-martialed a week ago for refusing to wear her uniform or report to duty, actions she said were necessary because of her views on the war.

She was demoted from corporal to private, fined $30 and sentenced to 45 days restriction to quarters. The restriction to quarters was eliminated later.

The Grand Junction, Colo., 21-year-old was discharged at her lawyer's request. Acting with extraordinary speed, Marine officials sent her through a final physical examination Thursday morning, then issued her a discharge "for the convenience of the government," a catchall phrase meaning psychological moral or other conditions that make a person unsuited for military service.

The separation was under "honorable conditions," Marine spokesman said.

HELD FOR TWO MURDERS — A handcuffed Henry F. Anderson, 32, of Worcester, Mass., is being held without bail today on two counts of murder in the brutal, bloody ax slaying of his foster mother and another woman Thursday.

Foster Son Held

Two Women Slain With Ax

WORCESTER, Mass.

(UPI) — A 32-year-old Worcester man, charged with the bloody ax slaying of his foster mother and her maid Thursday, was undergoing psychiatric examination today in Bridgewater State Hospital.

Henry F. Anderson, was ordered held without bail Thursday in Worcester District Court and committed to the hospital for 35 days observation.

He is charged in the slaying of Mrs. Eino Puskala, 57, of Worcester and Mrs. Maria W. Putkisto, 69, of Holden, Mass., Mrs. Puskala's cleaning woman.

Police identified Anderson as the foster son of Mrs. Puskala, a first grade teacher at the Thordike school here. He had lived with her for about 12 years, according to police.

Anderson, wearing blood-stained sneakers, a white T-shirt and dark pants, reportedly was sitting about five feet from the bodies in front of the small ranch-style house when police, alerted by a neighbor, arrived Thursday morning.

He was smoking a cigarette and holding a can of soft drink, witnesses said.

One woman apparently was attacked by her hatchet-swinging assailant inside the home and was either dragged or ran outside, police said. The second woman was slain outside.

Both bodies were in the street, their feet on the small embankment which serves as a gutter and sidewalk in the Greendale section. They were about 30 feet from the house.

The ax flopped over the right arm of one woman. Mrs. Putkisto was dressed in a grey cleaning dress and Mrs. Puskala was in a dress.

The bottom pane of the back storm door was broken, police said, and glass was found near the bodies. Detective Capt. Halstead Taylor said the attack apparently began in the home and the second woman was believed pursued outside in the street.

France Owes NATO $773.5 Million Debt

WASHINGTON (UPI) —

A member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee said today he is preparing legislation that would demand France repay $773.5 million which the western allies invested in North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) facilities.

Rep. Lee H. Hamilton (R-Ind.), said that since France evicted NATO from its soil, the French government is taking over NATO facilities without compensation. He said U. S. investments in NATO facilities there totaled $362.5 million.

"It's not a matter of revenge," Hamilton said, "even though American people are understandably angered at the way in which their assistance to France in two World Wars has been repaid."

TV News Executive Addresses Editors

WASHINGTON (AP) — A television news executive says he believes live coverage of racial disorders gives viewers an inaccurate picture — but that television is accused of withholding news if it doesn't provide on-the-scene coverage.

Richard S. Salant, president of CBS News, also told the American Society of Newspaper Editors that the arrival of TV equipment on the scene of a demonstration can set off crowd action that had not occurred before.

"We've been agonizing over that," Salant said. "My orders to cameramen in such cases are: Cap your cameras and get the hell out of there."

"Those are our orders, but they cannot be enforced from a head office. The decisions are up to the men working on the story, and no newsmen want to quit on a story while it is happening."

The discussion of TV coverage — which along with newspaper coverage was subjected to some criticism in the recent report of the President's Commission on Civil Disorders — came at Thursday's sessions of some 550 members of the society.

They prepared to close the three-day convention today with the installation of a new president of their own. Vincent S. Jones, a deputy editor of the Gannett Newspapers, Rochester, N. Y.

Mother Says Letter Fake

AMARILLO, Tex. (UPI)

The letter was too formal, "too educated," and Mrs. Alfredo Escamilla and her son, Froilan, were suspicious when they read it.

It was from her other son, PO 2. G. Victor Escamilla, 26, one of the crewmen of the intelligence ship Pueblo seized by the North Koreans.

"I doubt that my son wrote the letter," Mrs. Escamilla said.

Froilan said the signature looked like his brother's, but he could not be sure. He felt the letter had been dictated by somebody and perhaps written by Victor.

One other letter from Escamilla went to Gov. John Connally. It was in block printing.

"I have never seen Victor print anything," Froilan said.

Froilan and his mother had one other sure way of thinking the North Koreans set up a false letter home.

Victor always writes his mother in Spanish.

The letter from North Korea was in English.

Cop Looting Investigated

CHICAGO (UPI) — Reports that Chicago policemen were seen looting stores during the recent riots are being checked, one by one, by the Chicago Police Department's internal inspection division.

Capt. Raymond Clark, chief of the division, said Thursday he had assigned detectives to interview merchants and residents in the riot areas of the west and south sides to learn if the reports are accurate.

But he said his investigators thus far had found no "evidence whatsoever" to incriminate any officer.

Looting was second only to arson as a major source of loss in the violence that erupted in Chicago after the assassination of the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr.

$510,000 Theft Suspect Arrested

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Thomas Nelson Truax, charged in California with embezzling $510,000 from city and county aid projects, was arrested today.

Truax, 28, assistant executive director of the Association of Bay Area Governments at San Francisco until he vanished Feb. 8, was recognized Thursday afternoon by a motorcycle policeman who had seen an FBI wanted poster.

Truax faced a hearing today before U. S. Commissioner Edgar Hamilton.

"We tracked him bar to bar, bartender to bartender, until we found him in O'Hara's," said Palm Beach Police Lt. Joe Gaffney who joined with two FBI agents in making the arrest.

Truax had been sought coast-to-coast since warrants were issued on the state embezzlement charges and on federal charges of cashing government checks, converting them to his own use and unlawful flight to avoid prosecution.

Truax's wife, Sherri, a third grade school teacher in the Mount Diablo Unified School District, continued to work when Truax disappeared even after she was served with a tax lien for $153,480 by the Internal Revenue Service. The IRS said it was seeking tax payments on the embezzled funds.

Gaffney said Truax lived under the name Bob Clark while in West Palm Beach. The officer said Truax had been in town a week or more.

The bartender in O'Hara's said the arrest was so smooth he was unaware of it until informed several hours later by a newsman what had happened.

"He didn't have a lot of money on him," said Gaffney.

News Strike Panel Quits

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The three-man panel appointed by Mayor Sam Yorty in an effort to solve the 126-day old strike at the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner has resigned.

Quentin Ogren, the mayor's liaison man to the panel and a professor at Loyola University, said the group went out of business because officials of the Hearst Corp., which publishes the paper, declined to meet with them.

Bailey Out As Kirschke Attorney

BEVERLY HILLS (AP) — Boston defense attorney F. Lee Bailey and his Beverly Hills associate have been relieved as counsel for Jack Kirschke, condemned to die for two murders, the associate says.

Robert K. Steinberg said Thursday Kirschke told him he wanted George Davis, a San Francisco attorney, to represent him on a full-time basis in filing motions for a new trial May 7 before Superior Court Judge Kathleen Parker in Los Angeles.

Kirschke, a former Los Angeles deputy district attorney, was convicted in January of shooting to death his wife and her boyfriend. He was condemned by the same jury to die in San Quentin's gas chamber.

Another attorney, Albert C. S. Ramsey of Long Beach, represented Kirschke during the four-month trial but was dismissed when Kirschke took over his defense during the penalty phase of the trial and once sentenced turned his defense over to Bailey and Steinberg.

Russ Would Rather Puff Than Fight

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Soviet ship, saying it needed fuel, put into Los Angeles Harbor for the first time in nearly two decades, and the first thing a Russian crewman grabbed for was a pack of American cigarettes.

The 208-foot Druzhni, described by the U.S. State Department as a whaling research trawler, had radioed a request for fuel, food and water.

It got permission Thursday to anchor inside the harbor.

The vessel was boarded and cleared by officials from customs, public health and immigration. A port pilot guided the vessel inside the breakwater. A harbor official said no observable spy equipment was reported aboard.

The vessel's request for diesel fuel was forwarded by Mobil Oil to the U.S. Commerce Department, which said an export license would be needed since the fuel technically would be imported by Russians.

The license wasn't immediately approved.

An exchange of a pack of American cigarettes for a Russian pack between a newsman and crewmember occurred before a Coast Guard vessel ordered boatloads of curiosity seekers, newsmen and photographers to stay at least 50 feet away.

Kennedy Says Head Start Cut Would Cause Bitterness

FRESNO (UPI) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy today said Congress would risk sowing "the seeds of despair and bitterness" by chopping funds for 13,000 children from the anti-poverty Head Start program.

The New York lawmaker planned a one-day campaign for votes in California's June 4 winner-take-all presidential primary.

He scheduled an airplane trip that would carry him nearly 1,000 miles in one day and touch agricultural, industrial and urban centers.

In a speech prepared for a breakfast meeting in the agricultural center of Fresno, Kennedy said budget cuts now being studied by Congress would trim $25 million from the Head Start program.

"Instead of building Head Start, we are undermining it—and in this willingness to cut the program, the seeds of despair and bitterness will be sown and our children will harvest them," he said.

The Head Start program, part of the War on Poverty, is designed to educate preschool children in minority areas so they can start in kindergarten on the same level as other youngsters.

The senator's chartered jet landed in Fresno Thursday night an hour late. A chilly crowd estimated by police at 5,000 greeted him warmly.

Kennedy predicted that if he won California's 182 votes at the Democratic National Convention, he could win the nomination and election.

The Kennedy slate in the June 4 primary is opposed by a slate pledged to Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota and a group comprised of party regulars originally supporting President Johnson but expected to back Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, should he enter the race.

Kennedy came here after a two-day swing through Oregon, which holds its primary May 28. At Klamath Falls, he took a parting shot at new White House conditions for Vietnam peace talks.

He recalled that the administration two years ago pledged it would go anywhere at any time to end the conflict.

"Now, these new conditions," he said, "I don't think we should raise other terms and other positions in connection with the negotiations."

CRL Backing for Kuchel Seen Despite Challenge

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel is expected to win enthusiastic endorsement of the moderate California Republican League this weekend despite an in-person challenge by Max Rafferty.

It will be the first — and probably the only — time the two GOP Senate rivals appear at the same meeting of a volunteer GOP organization before the June 4 primary. But there will be no face-to-face encounter.

Kuchel will address the convention Saturday morning. A standing Assemblyman George Milias of Gilroy, will make the formal pitch for Kuchel during the Sunday morning endorsement session.

Rafferty, the state superintendent of public instruction, will present his own endorsement appeal Sunday. Kuchel's campaign schedule takes him to Los Angeles that day.

Kuchel aides said this will be the senator's only attempt to win the endorsement of any GOP volunteer group in California.

He is at home with the CRL, a group with an estimated 4,000 members. It was formed in 1965 with the stated purpose of providing a haven for "all forward-looking, moderate Republicans."

Rafferty already has won the uncontested backing of the larger and more conservative California Republican Assembly. The United Republicans of California are expected to follow suit early next month.

RANCHO CALIFORNIA

WEEKLY ALMANAC

This Weekend April 20 & 21

Gem Show and Cutting Demonstrations

AT THE PLAZA

The Plaza at Rancho California will be the setting, this weekend, for a lapidary exhibition. You can view precious collections and watch the meticulous craftsmanship of stone and gem cutting, presented under the auspices of the National Lapidary Information Center.

Be sure to plan enough time to examine carefully the many facets of Rancho California. There's country fun for kids at our Fishin' Hole and Play Corral, sophisticated bargains for you in The Plaza's treasure packed gift shops.

You can choose from a string of rental horses and ride miles and miles of bride trails, or pack the family in the car and tour thousands of acres of thoroughbred horse ranches, dairy farms, orchards, vineyards, homesites, and recreation lands. Stop in at our Visitors Center in The Plaza, and we'll help you get started.

NEXT WEEKEND: GOOD PICKINGS AT THE PLAZA COUNTRY BANJO AND FIDDLE CONTEST!

Rancho California, 87,500 acres of master-planned farms, ranches, dairy farms, thoroughbred horse ranches, homesites, business and recreational areas, is owned by wholly-owned subsidiaries of Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Corporation, Kaiser Industries Corporation, and Macco Realty Company (a subsidiary of Pennsylvania-New York Central Transportation Company).

The Unbeatables prove:

If you can afford a Ford, you can afford a Chrysler.

Chrysler Newport now priced about $3.78 a month more than Ford LTD

Chrysler Newport now priced about $3.78 a month more than a Ford LTD* (which is still a Ford, a high-price, low-price car). Chrysler Newport now priced about $2.29 a month more than a Chevy Caprice* (which is still a Chevy, a high-price, low-price car). That little more now moves you up into a big, full-size, elegant Chrysler—and that's an unbeatable deal. Afford a Chrysler? The way we're dealing, can you afford to pass it up?

*Based on comparison of manufacturers' suggested retail prices for Chrysler Newport, Ford LTD and Chevrolet Caprice 2-dr hardtops, comparably equipped. With 3-speed automatic transmission, power brakes, power steering, radio, white side-wall tires, wheel covers. Comparisons are based on one-third down, 36 monthly payments excluding other optional equipment, destination charges, state and local taxes, interest, insurance and licensing fees.

Two for The Show

Wally Boyko, sales manager of George Colouris Productions, explains floor plan for 1968 Orange County Home and Decorators Show to Andy Dudics (seated), president of Orange County Builders Association, which will sponsor show May 17-26 at Anaheim Convention Center. More than 74 percent of space for big show already has been reserved.

Infectious Diseases Take Drop in 1968

ORANGE — Incidents of infectious disease reported during the first three months of 1968 are down by 23 percent over the same period last year, an Orange County Health Department report indicates.

Military Welcomed In Anaheim

ANAHEIM — More than 40,000 military men and their families will be guests of Anaheim for four consecutive weekends beginning today.

Officials of the city's Visitor and Convention Bureau are coordinating the massive salute to servicemen which will involve Disneyland, Melodyland, the Angels baseball team, the Orange County International Raceway and hotels and motels in the area.

The weekend program includes special reduced prices to all events and accommodations. This weekend the Marines land, the Navy sends its flotilla of men on April 26-28, the Air Force on May 3-5 and the Army on May 10-12.

However, the bureau points out that all servicemen are welcome each weekend.

Included will be a special two-day weekend "pass" ticket book to Disneyland, low priced tickets to an Angel game and special events at Melodyland and the Convention Center.

The staff will be on hand to explain the equipment.

Cerebral Palsy Drive Set

SANTA ANA — A month-long campaign for funds to support services for victims of cerebral palsy in Orange County will get under way Wednesday, May 1, according to Mrs. Lowell Baker, campaign chairman of United Cerebral Palsy Association of Orange County (UCP).

Goal for the drive has been set at $65,000 and 12,000 volunteers are needed to help bring the appeal to every Orange County resident, Mrs. Baker said.

The UCP spokesman said the agency's program has helped a number of youngsters who were unable to walk or speak intelligently when they were admitted to the center to improve to the point where they can now attend regular school classes.

25 percent of the money raised will go to the support of UCP's national research program and the rest will provide needed equipment at the local center.

Those wishing to serve as volunteers should contact the UCP center at 546-5760.

County Gets Road Tax

State Controller Houston I. Flournoy today announced the distribution of $684,860.58 as Orange County's share in the February apportionment of highway users taxes.

Appointment within the county gave Laguna Beach $8,727.63 and Costa Mesa $44,454.15.

A total of $49,722,771 was distributed among the state, with the greatest percentage derived from gasoline tax.

By UC Davis Professor County Water District Tax Studied

DAVIS — Louis F. Weschler, political scientist at the University of California campus here, describes and analyzes the Orange County Water District and its pump tax system in his study, "Water Resources Management: The Orange County Experience."

The study, published by the UCD Institute of Governmental Affairs in its California Government Series, analyzes the system as it represents models for other public agencies in his study.

It is Weschler's determination that the OCWD has functioned well in meeting the needs of its constituents but he questions the equity in the use and distribution of water, often alleged to favor a special interest group or company.

Among his suggestions for improving district performance is to raise the pump tax to a level where the cost of producing ground water is higher than the cost of importing water, thereby encouraging ground water producers to use this water primarily for seasonal peaking purposes.

He also suggests a sharp reduction in ad valorem taxes which are borne equally by producers regardless of the amount of water they produce.

If nothing else, concludes Weschler, the pump tax has served to remind OCWD water users that water is expensive and that public administration is desirable in maintaining a relatively steady flow.

State Welfare Plan Blocked

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A Democrat's plan to have the state take over administration of county welfare programs is blocked by Republicans in the Senate Social Welfare Committee.

The committee on Thursday voted 4-3 to take the measure under submission, leaving it slim chance to reach the Senate floor.

CHICK IVERSON saved a housewife $83.50 cash ...every month

Sounds like a ridiculous story doesn't it?

She bought a new VW from Chick Iverson because she needed a car she could hurry around town in. She uses her car to deliver and pick up the kids from school, shopping, and dozens of quick trips around town every day. Within a few months she realized she was spending far less on the VW than on her previous car... a savings of cash every single month of about $83.50 over a 5 year period. This was pointed out to her by Chick Iverson at the time she was considering the purchase of a new car. Chick Iverson showed her that by buying a Volkswagen she would save every month on gasoline, tires, interest on her payments, purchase price, license plates, depreciation, repairs and on and on and on.

If you want to enjoy instant economy every month, call Chick Iverson on the Peninsula and get the full story. It's not so ridiculous when you can save money like that every month. This kind of savings applies to students, retired people, business men, doctors, etc.—no experience needed to qualify for instant economy.

Chick Iverson is the Harbor area's only authorized VW and Porsche dealer.

Authorized for your protection.

Golden Angels Gild a Ball

All that glitters may not be gold, but the precious metal (now even more precious) will be evident at the seventh annual ball, which has been gilded by Angelitos de Oro, auxiliary to Orange County Big Brothers.

The glitter will be added in the form of elegant ball gowns by the "golden angels" who with guests arrive for the only fund-raising event of the year tomorrow evening in the Newporter Inn.

At each place setting will be a Gold Book, a pictorial appointment calendar which is published by the auxiliary each year and is distributed as souvenirs at the black-tie gala.

Tables again will be decorated with traditional gilded angels holding bouquets of flowers, and music for dancing will be provided by Manny Harmon.

Mrs. Ernest Saftig, president and her husband have invited Judge and Mrs. E. Avery Cray, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Reafsnider, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ward and Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Danielson as their table guests.

Seated with Mrs. George Holstein and her husband will be the Messrs. and Mmes. Charles Wheeler, George Woodford, Richard Nabers and George Godfrey, while the Bewley Allens will greet Mrs. Eileen Richardson and the Messrs. and Mmes. Guillermo Cini, Carl W. Coslo, Gus G. Brelm and H. E. Blanchette as their guests.

Also hosting a table are Mr. and Mrs. Don Ayres Sr., whose guests will be the C. S. Brokaws, Lyman Farwells and H. J. Marchs.

Ball chairman is Mrs. George H. Jones, and serving on her committee are Mrs. Allen, invitations; Mrs. Cecil Shirar, decorations; Mrs. Kenneth Nelson, menu, and Mrs. Paul M. Rogers, pre-cocktail party.

Bahia Corinthian Club

Star-spangled Rites Open Yachting Season

A star-spangled ceremony, complete with a 13-gun salute, will officially open the 1968 season for Bahia Corinthian Yacht Club.

Formal flag raising is scheduled at 10 a.m. Sunday, April 28, at the club's channel front facilities, located at 1221 W. Coast Highway, Newport Beach.

A special Marine Corps color guard will assist in the flag ceremony, and Staff Commodore Myron Sheward, as cannonier, will be aided by uniformed Sea Scouts during the special salute to two Marine two-star generals, Charles J. Quilter, commanding general of the Third Marine Aircraft Wing, El Toro and William G. Thrash, commanding general of the Marine Air Corps Air Station, El Toro and commander of Air Bases West.

Following will be an hour-long band concert by the Third Marine Aircraft Wing Band, and at noon the Opening Day Reception will take place in the club. Afterward members and guests will break up into their own parties for lunch. Mrs. Hyde Braly will serve as hospitality chairman.

Commodore and Mrs. T. Patrick Dougan will host a buffet luncheon aboard their luxurious motor yacht, Patrician and a sightseeing tour of the bay. Honored guests will be the Marine generals and their wives.

The club's fleet dresses ships for the gala under the supervision of Fleet Capt. Jack Hart, with Port Capt. James Garner in charge of land-side operations. Flagship, the 12-meter yacht Columbia, the 1958 Americas Cup winner and West Coast's contender last year, will welcome all who wish to come aboard.

Mrs. William L. O'Bryon, hostess chairman, will be assisted by staff commodores' wives in directing visitors, dispensing information and conducting tours of boats dockside.

Official guests of the day include Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wrather; Mr. and Mrs. Ken Sampson of the Orange County Harbor Department; Harbor-master Al Oberg and Mrs. Oberg; Frank Muller of the yacht Mojo with his captain Dave Gogerty and Mrs. Gogerty; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stevens, and U.S. Coast Guard Lt. (j.g.) Ronald D. Blendu.

Senior Staff Commodore Howard Langley will be ceremonies director. Officers of the flag include Vice Commodore William C. Adams and Rear Commodore Robert E. Poole Jr.

OF COURSE — Bahia Corinthian Yacht Club's Opening Day Flag-raising Ceremonies Sunday, April 28, will find Commodore and Mrs. T. Patrick Dougan (center) at the wheel of their famed Americas Cup contender, Columbia, while Rear Commodore and Mrs. William C. Adams sing out, "Gala Affair Ahead." Ceremonies will begin at 10 a.m. at the club's channel front facilities, 1221 W. Coast Highway, Newport Beach.

Stop Being a Flop, Listen to Pop Who Says Hop to Top

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a high school senior who gets along OK. The problem is my father. He's a self-made man and doesn't let me forget it for a minute. He keeps badgering me to be "tops," although I have tried to make him understand that not everybody can make the grade, or wants to.

Is there anything wrong with being just an average guy? The double domes and eager beavers in our school are laughed at behind their backs. Average guys seem happier and are better liked. They aren't always in a sweat. They also are better rounded because they aren't breaking their heads to excel in one thing — like grades. I am satisfied to just get by. Please tell my dad that there is nothing wrong with being an average guy and to get off my back. When I try to tell him he gets mad.

—ME

DEAR YOU: I don't think you have to worry about being tops. With your attitude there's little danger.

Not everyone can be a world-beater. It takes energy, drive, tenacity and discipline. You seem quite proud of the fact that you have none of these qualities.

Since you are content to "just get by" I trust you also are prepared to settle for everything that goes with mediocrity. I trust, too, that you won't be bitter when you see your ambitious, hardworking buddies reap the rewards that come with making it big in this highly competitive world.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am going crazy and I need your help. I took this secretarial job three weeks ago. It pays extremely well and the people are pleasant. The problem is my boss. The first thing he does when he comes to the office is turn on the radio and it stays on until he leaves. I go home at the end of the day completely exhausted. It is only 9:45 a.m. as I write this letter and already the side of my head is numb. I am taking tranquilizers and have tried ear plugs but they make me nervous because I am afraid I will not hear the boss' buzzer.

The station my boss prefers is a high frequency station and there must be something about the tone that reacts badly on my ears. He once had the radio on FM and it didn't bother me at all. Perhaps an ear specialist could explain this.

I must work to support my children, and this is a dream job. Dare I suggest to my boss that he turn the radio off, change stations or wear earphones? What do you say?

—SOUND AND FURY

DEAR S. and F.: A job that makes a nervous wreck out of a woman is not a dream job — no matter how much it pays.

My advice is to give notice — explain why you are leaving and check the classified sections of this paper. You have no right to ask the boss to turn off the radio, change stations or wear earphones.

CONFIDENTIAL TO SPOOKED BY HER PREDICTIONS: I don't believe your Aunt Mabel has any supernatural powers. It may be that she gets her "inside information" from a union or an old fracture — or perhaps she is just a good guesser.

Is alcoholism a disease? How can the alcoholic be treated? Is there a cure? Read the booklet "Alcoholism — Hope and Help," by Ann Landers. Enclose 35 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of the DAILY PILOT, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

FIFTY YEARS — Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Daggett of Balboa admire the memento of their 50th anniversary reception, a framed invitation. The Daggetts were married April 12, 1918 in Pasadena.

Golden Anniversary

Party Fetes Harborites

Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Daggett of Balboa were guests of honor at a reception honoring their 50th wedding anniversary Easter Sunday.

Seventy guests attended the fete in the home of their daughter, Mrs. Lloyd E. Blaupied Jr. of Newport Beach. Hosts were the honorees' children, Mrs. Blaupied, Robert S. Daggett Jr. of Corona del Mar and William C. Daggett of Arcadia, and grandchildren, Richard, Kenneth and Corrine Daggett, Robert S. Daggett III and brother John, and Carol Ann and John Blaupied.

Mrs. Daggett is a native of Rockford, Ill. and her husband is a native of Hutchinson, Kan. Both moved to California around 1908, spending their childhood and married life in Pasadena. They were married April 12, 1918 and moved to the Harbor area in 1960.

Mrs. Daggett, a member of PEO for more than 40 years is affiliated with the QV chapter of Newport Beach. She has recently been honored for her volunteer service in teaching oil painting at the Girls Club of the Harbor Area, and is a member of Senior Ebell Club. Her husband has been a 30-year member of Rotary.

Guests at the reception included Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Daggett of Glendora, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Deems and Mrs. William F. Daggett, all of South Pasadena, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth B. Cutlers of Tustin, Mrs. Carolyn Scott of Laguna Hills and Horace Cutler of Los Angeles, all brothers and sisters and their spouses of Daggett.

Beta Sigma Phi

Anniversary Celebrated

Newport Harbor Area Council chapters of Beta Sigma Phi will celebrate the 37th anniversary of the organization's founding next Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Costa Mesa Golf and Country Club.

In addition to the banquet, traditional ceremonies will be observed, new members will be welcomed and the girl-of-the-year award will be presented from each chapter.

Serving as chairmen are Mrs. Del Golden and Mrs. John E. Maher. Assisting are Mrs. James Clifford, Mrs. Frank W. Reed and Mrs. Joel Vail.

New officers to be installed are the Mmes. Golden, president; Reed, vice president; Maher, recording secretary; Michael Hoegge, corresponding secretary, and Jane Fullerton, treasurer.

The first chapter was introduced in Abilene, Kan. Now there are approximately 9,000 chapters and 200,000 members in the United States, Canada and 15 foreign countries.

Town and Gown

Fashion Tips Aired

Some of the more elusive dos and don'ts of attire and current fashion trends will be noted when members of Town and Gown of Chapman College gather at 10:30 a.m. next Monday in the Saddleback Inn, Santa Ana.

Tips From a Paris Fashion Expert will be the topic of Genevieve Antoine Dariaux, from the couture house of Nina Ricci.

Members of the organization from Newport Beach are the Mmes. Dwight P. Anderson, W. Edward Crane, Lyman H. Farwell and William W. Wright.

From Balboa Island are Mrs. Bewley Allen and John

H. Scudder and from Corona del Mar are the Mmes. Arnold O. Beckman, Thurmond Clarke and John Hamilton.

Mrs. Adrien Charles Pelletier is from the Laguna Beach area.

Homelands Described

Visiting students of the American Field Service will be guest speakers at the public meeting of the Costa Mesa and Estancia chapters, next Monday.

Annick Chapoy of France, Maria Van Hecken of Belgium, Horacio Diana of Argentina and David Guest of England will be present at the 7:30 p.m. meeting in the Costa Mesa Presbyterian Church of the Covenant.

Diana Dreiss, an American abroad student also will tell of her experiences in Germany.

GOP Women Eye Systems Of Governing

Mrs. Jan Boer will review the System of Orange County for Mission Viejo Republican Women Federated meeting at 10 a.m. Tuesday, April 23 in the Laguna Hills Home of Mrs. Robert Price.

A market analyst, "for the last eight years Mrs. Boer has been a watch dog of city and county government," said Mrs. Richard H. Cole, press chairman.

During the meeting two dinner tickets to the Orange County Coordinating Assembly Sample Ballot Ball to take place in the Santa Ana Elks' Club, May 28, will be awarded.

Slides Shown

Tillotsons Roses in Watsonville will be shown on slides to the Orange County Rose Society at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, April 23, in the Washington School, Anaheim. Further information is available by calling Terry Thomas at 538-4424 or Walt Westpheling, 533-4971.

Peering Around

MR. AND MRS. Lendell Richie of Costa Mesa will celebrate their parents' 50th wedding anniversary this evening in the Newport Inn.

Flying out from Chicago to visit their children are Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Elermann.

Also on hand to welcome their grandparents are Larry, Carol and Robert Richie and Mrs. Raymond Dubbs and daughter Bonnie Rae of Costa Mesa.

Tomorrow another party is planned in the Richie home.

MRS. JOHN W. ALDERSON
Former Judith Anne Clark

Newlywed Aldersons Home in Costa Mesa

Costa Mesa will be the home of newlywed John William Alderson and his bride, the former Judith Anne Clark who exchanged vows and rings before the Rev. Edmund Maechler in Our Lady Queen of Angels Church, Newport Beach.

Parents of the bridal couple are Mr. and Mrs. George J. Clark of Newport Beach and Mr. and Mrs. John T. Alderson, also of Newport Beach.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an imported bridal silk gown with alencon lace and seed pearl trim. Matching lace covered her pillbox which caught her illusion veil, and she carried a rosary made of pink and white rosebuds. Maid of honor was her sister, Molly Clark, another sister, Peggy Clark with Mrs. Robert Bushard and Nancy Alderson, the bridegroom's sister, served as bridesmaids. They wore floor length gowns of pink pique.

Serving as best man was Mike Pierce, and ushers were Tom Alderson, the bridegroom's brother, Bob Boardman and Gary Boler. Katherine Clark, the bride's sister was flower girl, and her brother, Peter Clark was ring bearer.

A reception followed in the Newport Beach home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Harvey Hewitt. Presiding at the guest book was Mrs. Steven Hollen, another sister of the bride.

The bride is a graduate of Newport Harbor High School and attended Orange Coast College. Her husband is an alumnus of Corona del Mar High School and is an OCC student.

Wins Josephine Seaman Award

Valleyites Sweep Fetes

It truly was An Enchanted Evening for member-delegates from the Fountain Valley Woman's Club as it swept the medium-club classification by claiming 16 first and 10 second-place honors in addition to the coveted Josephine Seaman award during the Orange District awards banquet last night.

More than 900 women representing clubs throughout all of Orange County attended the dinner in the Disneyland Hotel, where this year's district convention is taking place.

Other area winners in the medium-club category of between 100 to 299 members were the Woman's Club of Seal Beach, Huntington Beach and Costa Mesa, Ebell Club of Newport Beach and San Clemente Woman's Club.

Seal Beach captured four first-place and two second-place awards; Costa Mesa and Huntington Beach each won a first prize, while the Ebell Club took two second-place awards and San Clemente, one.

Westminster Woman's Club led the accomplishments for small area clubs with three first and three second-place awards. Also recognized was Coast Woman's Club of Corona del Mar with one first and four second-place awards, and Midway City Woman's Club, with three second-place honors. Largest number of awards in the small club category, a total of 22, went to West Garden Grove Woman's Club while Rossmore Woman's Club garnered 18 first and 15 second-place prizes awarded to clubs with a membership of 300 or more.

FV's PRESIDENT
Mrs. William Pulford

The only area winner in the large club category was the Woman's Club of Leisure World, Laguna Hills.

In keeping with the convention theme of South Pacific Cruise, and the banquet's theme of Some Enchanted Evening, music from South Pacific was played as the formally-gowned club presidents, each carrying a section of orange chain, filed in to open the program. As each president took her place on the stage the chains were attached, forming a solid link of friendship.

Receiving special acclaim this year is the district's newest club, Rancho Viejo, Laguna Beach.

Others awarded personal recognition included Mrs. Walter Daetweiler of Brea Woman's Club, who was named Clubwoman of the Year during today's closing luncheon, and Mrs. Leon De Boynton, of the San Clemente club, a torch winner.

From Beans to Orchids

Guest Tells Spicy Tale

A little flower.

An orchid, growing in clusters on a vine in Mexico produces a bean... plucked before ripe, when it's center is full of a thick, musty smelling substance. It is wrapped in woolen cloth and set out in the sun.

The bean perspires. And if you stand over it long enough during this process you might become intoxicated.

Such is the nature of the vanilla bean, one of several spices discussed by H. K. Banks of Costa Mesa at a meeting of the women who care for the Memorial Garden Center on the site of the old Santa Ana Air Base.

"We must go to faraway places to find spices," said Banks. "Perhaps that's why they have always been so romantic and interesting."

One such place is Jamaica, where the very best allspice is grown.

"On May 4, 1494, on his second voyage to the new world Christopher Columbus described Jamaica as 'the fairest site eyes have ever beheld,'" said Banks.

"Allspice was growing wild then, and even in the 1920s big stands of it could still be found in the mountains."

Allspice grows on a tree that has big clusters of white flowers.

"The flowers are clean, bright, and white. That's what they say about detergent, isn't it," quipped the horticulturist, with his brisk English accent.

"The spice comes from a berry which is picked when it isn't matured. It is then placed out in the sun on a barbecue, not the kind we use here, but an area where things like coffee and chocolate are cured.

"It's the dried up little rascals that we buy."

Cloves, too, grow on trees — the best coming from the Moluccas, islands in the East Indies.

"Cloves are flowering trees, not very big but very numerous," said Banks.

"The shade tree is ornamental. It gives off a fragrance and is not at all drab.

"The cloves are really the buds of the flowers, picked before they reach full maturity. If left alone, a bluish purple flower pops out of the end of the cloves as we know them.

"Initial curing is simple. The buds are merely plucked and spread out in the sun to dry."

But nutmeg goes through more of a process before it reaches canning plants.

"Nutmeg comes from off the coast of Sumatra; the best is from Bangka Island," said the horticulturist.

"The tree is rather good looking, but the flower doesn't amount to much. When it is polonized, it sends out a longer shoot and produces a red berry.

"When the berry splits we can see the nutmeg inside enclosed in a thin shell, like an unripe hazelnut but jet black. Surrounding it is an aril, a covering.

"Mace comes from the aril. Mace is tricky, it must be removed and then dried carefully for shipment. If it is too moist or too warm it will rot or get wormy. When cared for properly it is a brittle substance.

"That leaves the nutmeg. Heat is applied until the nut rattles. Then it is treated with seawater and lime. This preserves it. When it is shipped to the factory it's packed in lime so that the nut will not germinate, like a potato."

Cinnamon, on the other hand, takes little or no preparation for market, but almost prepares itself.

"As you know, cinnamon is a bark," said Banks.

"The branches of the tree are cut and the bark is peeled. When it is stripped it wants to curl up and that's exactly how it's shipped. Small coils are slipped inside larger ones."

There are differences in cinnamon and one must be careful if one wants the best, warned the speaker.

"The thicker barked cinnamon substitute is called Cassia and isn't as good. The thinner barked cinnamon comes from Ceylon and is the finest," he said. "Naturally some may try to pass off Cassia as the best. They can make more money that way."

Banks also discussed the American Allspice plant which is a bush producing small yellow flowers.

"It's a good ornamental plant, but I don't believe it has been used for culinary purposes."

Fountain Valley Senior Claims District Award

Fountain Valley High School senior Robert Hanna is the winner of a $200 art scholarship awarded by the Orange District, Federation of Women's Clubs, during its convention taking place in the Disneyland Hotel.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Hanna, the youth was sponsored by the Fountain Valley Woman's Club who presented his portfolio of art to Bowers Museum for district judging.

The scholarship award was made during the luncheon Friday.

Young Hanna plans to use the funds to attend either Golden West College or Brigham Young University, where he will pursue his art studies.

He praised his teacher, Floyd Cornaby, for his encouragement and instruction, particularly in the use of oils.

Hanna will display his paintings in the Top Talent Art Show which will take place in Balboa.

Break Out the Confetti! The Yankees Are Gone

Toni Hewitt Seeks AAU Finals Berth

Special to The DAILY PILOT

Top-seeded Toni Hewitt of Corona del Mar entered her first serious competition in the National AAU Women's indoor swimming championships at the University of Pittsburgh today.

The Corona del Mar High whiz was competing in the prelims of the 200-yard butterfly (short course) this afternoon and assuming she qualifies, will return to the waters tonight for the finals.

Miss Hewitt, American record holder for the 200 meter fly outdoors, has the fastest short course time in the nation this year — a snappy 2:08.8.

She figures to get her most serious competition from Ellie Daniel and Claudia Kolb, each of whom has clocked a 2:09.0.

The number three challenger appears to be Debbie Watson (2:10.8). Defending champion Lee Davis will not be on hand to shoot for the gold medal.

Miss Hewitt goes back to action Saturday in the 100 fly, where she is seeded fifth.

Favorites in that event are Miss Daniel (58.6), Miss Kolb, Sherrill Lawrence and Susy Shields (all 59.3) and Miss Hewitt (59.4).

Debbie Meyer and Kaye Hall set records in the afternoon trials, then broke their own records in the finals Thursday night at the AAU spring swim meet for women.

Miss Meyer, owner of several world freestyle records, splashed the 500-yard freestyle in 4:54.1 in the night finals after swimming it in 5:00.9 in the afternoon.

The old record was 5:06.9 by Pam Kruse of Pompano Beach, Fla.

Miss Hall set a similar double record in the 100-yard backstroke. She covered the distance in 1:00.1 in the afternoon preliminaries, bettering the old mark of 1:00.7 by Elaine Tanner, then came back at night to break that mark with a 59.3.

Los Angeles (AP) — "It will be a very tough series, but it's great to be in the Western finals," declared Minnesota coach Wren Blair after his North Stars blasted Los Angeles 9-4.

The deciding game of the first Stanley Cup playoff series for Minnesota in the National Hockey League proved no contest.

Five goals within 7½ minutes during the second period clinched the showdown game for Minnesota which captured the series 4-3 and sent the North Stars against the Blues in St. Louis on Sunday in the start of another playoff series.

Minnesota finished fourth and St. Louis third in the West or expansion division of the NHL.

Los Angeles goal keeper Terry Sawchuk, a veteran of 200 playoff games, drew the boos of the fans who threw debris onto the ice at the Forum.

"I've been knocked down before," the veteran said quietly after the game, "but at least I tried my best."

Coach Red Kelly of the Kings thought Sawchuk took the rap for some spotty playing by several on his club but blamed overall inexperience for the loss.

"We just didn't have the experience in the playoffs that the other team had," commented the rookie coach who built an enviable record as NHL player.

A lot of guys stood around and we weren't checking like we had been."

Both Blair and Kelly agreed the turning point of the series came in Minneapolis when the North Stars rallied from a two-goal deficit to win the sixth game in overtime.

Thus it would be an unprecedented feat for the Celtics to whip the 76ers again in the deciding game tonight in Philadelphia.

Such an accomplishment would give Boston the Eastern Division final playoff title and put the Celts in position to win back the NBA championship.

They had won an unprecedented eight consecutive NBA crowns until Philadelphia took the championship last year.

Tonight's winner will oppose the Los Angeles Lakers in the championship playoff series with the first game scheduled for Sunday at either Philadelphia or Boston.

Junior varsities will go at 9 a.m. OCC's varsity boat competes with JV squads from Irvine, Loyola, and San Diego.

Varsity eights, the category in which OCC is not allowed to compete, go at 9:30 a.m. with Irvine, Loyola and San Diego.

Olympic Squabble World Awaits Verdict On South Africa Fate

Sporting world types are focusing attention on Switzerland this weekend — site of the International Olympic Committee board meeting which may decide the fate of the Union of South Africa vs competition in the 1968 Olympic Games at Mexico City.

It's not that the South Africans are behind in their dues or that they have not amended their racial policies so Negro athletes might have a chance to make the Olympic team.

The segregationist nation agreed to relax certain restrictions so the black man could vie for a position on his country's squad.

In fact, the Union of South Africa went so far as to pick a Negro to carry its national colors into the Olympic Stadium for opening ceremonies.

However, that hasn't been enough to appease the hypocrites that make up the African nation bloc and the Communist countries.

They say that if South Africa accepts the invitation to attend the Mexico City extravaganza, they will decline to attend the affair.

The premise is that South Africa is still holding to its political policies of segregation, whatever that has to do with the spirit of the Olympic Games — an event supposedly free of political and professional influence.

Communist powers, headed by the Soviet Union, got on the African bandwagon and also threatened to unpack their travel bags if indeed the Union of South Africa participates in Mexico City.

Drastic Reduction

Therefore, the original field of 115 participating nations would thereby be reduced to 50 or so, depending how many countries actually carry out the boycott.

The idea of this quite understandably has our Mexican neighbors in a state of fright. They've committed themselves to an investment of $86 million to put on the world show, figuring to get a healthy hunk of that amount back in tourist revenue.

But if 50 nations of the Nicaragua class show up instead of the grand package of 115, they'll draw more tourists to a burro parade.

The disgusting thing about the matter is that politics are the criteria for the whole fuss.

South Africa may take the segregation route. But what about the Communist countries? Is the wall around East Berlin there to make the city more beautiful?

Did all of Stalin's political enemies die of old age? What about the concentration camps in Kolyma and Karaganda?

Are all the native rites in black Africa in keeping with our so-called civilized way of life?

It would seem that a great deal of stones are being thrown by people who live in glass houses.

Why Appear?

Possibly, the invite to South Africa could be withheld to appease the black Africans and Communists.

Or perhaps the IOC could bring enough pressure to bear to produce voluntary departure, which would again save the festering controversy.

But to heck with either of those ideas.

Why appear anyone? The South Africans conformed to the IOC's standards after being barred from the '64 Games.

And if we lose Dahomey, Ghana, Tanzania, Chad and Gabon, so what? Frankly, I think the Communist threat is a bluff, created to win points with black Africa.

It's just a shame that a great spectacle like the Olympic Games has to be defaced by political chess games.

Angels Call on Brunet To Stop Orioles Tonight

By RAY PLUTKO
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

ANAHEIM — Someone break out the confetti — the Yankees left town. It's not often a visiting club receives the red-carpet treatment back to the airport, but there's an exception to the rule for the California Angels, namely the Bronx Bombers from New York way.

In fact Manager Bill Rigney's Halos have gone out of their way to ease the pain for the once perennial power — a team that finished ninth in the standings last season and at rock bottom in '66.

Thursday night the Yankees slapped their Orange County cousins with a 6-1 setback, marking the third time they've shackled the Angels this season and the lone junior circuit foe they've managed to master in seven outings.

SECRET WEAPONS

Rigney wasn't exactly receptive to his club's third straight loss and vowed afterwards, "I'm going to change a few faces tomorrow. Somewhere I must have a few secret weapons I haven't used yet."

Enter Baltimore.

Rigney and the Angels will be out to slap the skids to their tumble via the southpaw slants of George Brunet at 8 tonight when the Halos open a three-game stand with the Baltimore Orioles.

The Angels and Birds split a two-game series in the east last week and it was Brunet who claimed the credit sign on the strength of a 7-2 decision.

He'll be opposed by Bruce Howard (0-1), who was on the short end of the decision to Brunet (1-1) last Sunday in Baltimore.

Ah, but what about those Yanks — the new look version with just a sprinkling of the great era still in uniform?

Unfortunately, for the Angels, the great era hasn't quite passed.

Such was the case in Thursday night's win for the Yankees as a converted first baseman who's virtually on Medicare for a pair of battered legs and a reject hurler from the Boston Red Sox reminded the 11,170 fans in attendance how it used to be.

"Who was that pitching against us tonight, Grover Cleveland Alexander?" asked Rigney in the dressing room.

Not exactly Rig, but William Charles

Monbouquette will do — an 11-year veteran of the ranks who made it big with the Boston Red Sox before going "downhill."

Monbo kept tumbling in his nine-inning stint Thursday in fashioning a nifty five-hitter and walking just one.

MANTLE GIVES POWER

As for the Yanks' offensive power, none other than No. 7 provided the punch. However, don't get the idea Mickey Mantle has regained the form that netted him 52 home runs in the '55 campaign.

In fact Mantle is the first to admit he's slipping and it was evident when he struck out three times Thursday. However, sandwiched between his second and third K, Mantle drilled his 519th career homer over the fence in dead centerfield just to show he can still stroke the ball over 400 feet.

That circuit blast moved Mantle to within two blows of the No. 4 spot on the all-time home run list.

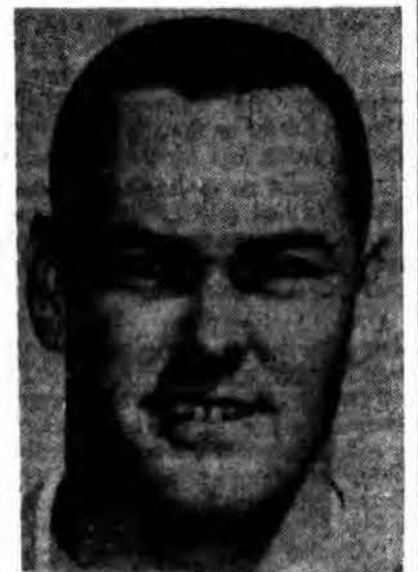

"If I could get past Jimmy Fox (534) it would be a great thing," said Mantle. "I think I might be able to do that if I stay healthy (Mantle knocked on wood), but I really don't think I'll ever reach Willie Mays (565)."

While Mantle was totaling his four-baggers, Monbouquette was on the opposite side of the dressing room adding another notch to his life story — a win that made him No. 3 among active pitchers for most wins (110).

SOUTH CAGE BOSS
Bill Bloom

SOUTH GRID BOSS
Jim Coon

Coaches Named Coon, Bloom, Hill, Hawk Tabbed

By GLENN WHITE
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Two Orange Coast area high school coaches have been singled out to coach Orange County summer all-star attractions, the DAILY PILOT learned exclusively today.

Bill Bloom of Corona del Mar was tabbed as South boss for the annual basketball classic at Orange Coast College. He'll be opposed by Russ Hawk (Sunny Hills).

Jim Coon of Marina was named tutor for the South in the All-Star football game which is scheduled for Santa Ana Bowl this August.

He'll match Herb Hill of Loara, and formerly of Orange Coast College.

The two area chieftains are bucking contrary sets of streaks. The South basketball contingent has never lost in the three years it has battled the north with Jules Gage, Elmer Combs and Bill Trumbo the victorious coaches.

In the football attraction the North has been the dominant factor, copping six of eight decisions.

Only winning coaches for the Rebels have been Westminster's Bill Boswell and Mater Dei's Bob Woods.

Bloom will have a fantastic set of talent from which to draw with such stars as Mark Soderberg and Bill Moore (Marina), Greg Snyder (Huntington Beach), Al Gage (Newport) and the CdM duo of Phil Jordan and John Yule heading the parade.

Originally the South basketball job was to have gone to Marina's Lute Olson. However, previous school commitments put Olson on the sidelines.

NL Expansion
On Tap Today

CHICAGO — The National League may follow the American League and expand to 12 teams for the 1969 baseball season at a meeting of club owners here today.

Warren Giles, NL president, met Thursday with the league's Expansion Committee of Walter O'Malley of Los Angeles, John Galbreath, Pittsburgh, and Roy Hofheinz, Houston.

Among recommendations expected to be presented at today's session is the adding of two new franchises next year.

"It will be up to the league owners to decide what year we will expand," said Giles. "That could be Friday, or maybe later."

Giles admitted that representatives of San Diego, Buffalo, Dallas-Fort Worth, Montreal and Milwaukee were in Chicago.

"They can be called in at the meeting at any time if need be," said Giles. "They have already made their presentations."

So far, the only definite stand the NL has taken on expansion was to vote to do so not later than 1971.

Tars Pick
In District
Trackfest

The fifth annual Newport-Mesa District Track and Field Meet goes off tonight at Davidson Field with host Newport favored to make it five in a row in the varsity division.

Discus starts at 6 p.m. with the rest of the field events beginning at 7. The first running event will commence at 7:20.

The district consists of Newport, Costa Mesa, Estancia and Corona del Mar Varsity, Bee and Cee classes will compete.

Sailor coach Bob Hickey will be counting on a bevy of athletes in defending the Tars' title.

Big guns are Stu Aldrich in the discus and Pat Hickey in the hurdles along with Dan Mooney, Dick Jaffe and Bruce Corrine.

The last three will go in events ranging from the 880 to the 2-mile.

Mooney has a 9.41.0 to his credit in the 2-mile and Jaffe has done a 1:58.4 in the 880 previously.

Others expected to score heavily in the meet are Ron Love, a 21-4 long jumper and Lance Powers, a 5-10 shot putter.

Coach Brian Springer's Costa Mesa crew boasts a 14' pole vaulter - Kevin Manix - and the best time in the area in the 440 relay with a 44.1 effort.

Mesa can add to that total with Greg Beal in the mile, where he has a best of 4:32.2 this season along with Bob Orlauski and John Whytock in the sprints.

Bob Raymond and Larry Yard will handle most of the weight efforts for the Estancia while George Barnett will carry most of the Eagles' hopes in the long jump and high jump.

Corona del Mar goes into the meet with John Johnson's 14.8 mark in the 120 high hurdles. Other good marks compiled by the Sea Kings are Steve Leech's 6-3 in the high jump and Court Fikes' 149-7 in the discus.

Mustang Spikers
Win 4th Straight

Costa Mesa and Estancia posted track and field victories Thursday afternoon in Irvine League action while Fountain Valley and Corona del Mar were taking it on the chin.

Mesa's Mustangs won their fourth dual meet in a row with a 69-58 decision over Magnolia and Estancia rolled, 96-31, over Brea.

Fountain Valley, however, dropped a 76-51 verdict to Loara while Valencia was dumping Corona del Mar, 76-50.

Eric Fristed, a junior, won the long jump with a 20-9½ leap and Kevin Manix pole vaulted 14-0 to lead the Mustang uprising.

Estancia's blitzing of Brea came on the heels of double wins by Tom Veach, Richard Wood, George Barnett and Larry Yard.

Veach took both sprints, Wood both hurdles, Barnett the high jump and long jump and Yard finished it off with wins in the shot put and discus.

The Eagles won every event except the mile run. Veach had times of 10.2 and 22.2.

Court Fikes set a school record for Corona del Mar in the Sea Kings' loss to Valencia with a 158-2 effort in the discus.

John Harmia, a Cee, set a school standard in the high jump with a 6-1 leap.

Alan Cotter was the only bright spot for the Barons in Fountain Valley's loss to Loara. Cotter took both hurdles in 15.3 and 20.7.

Buckland, Lion Distancemen
Combine to Smash Anaheim

Westminster High won its first dual track meet of the year in Sunset League hostilities, breezing by Anaheim, 73-45, on the winner's oval.

Other Sunset action saw Newport getting by Marina, 67-51, at Davidson Field in Newport and Santa Ana taking Huntington Beach by a 92-36 score.

Charles Buckland led the Westminster dash (with wins in the 100 yard dash (10.2) and 180 low hurdles (21.4).

That double, plus single victories by Kerry Mann, Dennis Lyman, John Nichols, Daryl Berg and wins in both relays were more than enough for coach Jack Hedges' crew.

The Lions swept the 440, 880, mile and 2-mile.

Newport Harbor's middle distance strength carried the Tars to their victory over Marina with wins in the 440 on up through the 2-mile.

Pat Hickey took both hurdles, winning the 120 highs in 15.1 and coming back to take the 180 lows in 20.4.

Marina's Dave Lacey countered with double wins in the sprints, capturing the 100 in 10.0 and the 220 in 22.3, but it wasn't enough to offset the Newport distance strength.

Santa Ana's slaughter of Huntington came as the Saints piled up 12 first place finishes in 14 events.

Jack Meier of Santa Ana set a Saint record in the shot put with a final heave of 56-6¼ to edge out Kurt Clemens of Huntington. Clemens had led with a 55-8 effort.

MIRROR IN HOUSE — Julie Christie, above, appears in "Young Cassidy," tonight at 9 p.m. on Channel 2. The motion picture was adapted from Sean O'Casey's autobiographical "Mirror in My House." It traces Casey's career from laborer to fame as a literary spokesman for the Irish working class.

Enormous Egg Was Just That

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Fantasy is a delicate business, and sometimes it comes off better in book form than in visual form. Thursday night's NBC broadcast of "The Enormous Egg" was an example of the difficulty.

THE HOUR-LONG "Children's Theatre" special was adapted from a book about a little boy and his pet dinosaur. It started with Nate Twitchell's hen, Henrietta, producing a very large egg which ultimately hatched into a pound-and-a-half dinosaur, the first in millions of years.

This in itself must have presented parents throughout the nation with a difficult question to answer. How come a hen laid a dinosaur egg? Well, the author of the book had to get into his story somehow.

AT ANY RATE, the dino, named Uncle Beazley grew to enormous size, was moved to the Smithsonian Institution for care, got into trouble with the authorities when it tipped over a milk truck and narrowly escaped extermination at the hands of an overzealous and ignorant senator. Then Nate appealed for help on television, and of course, TV saved the day and dino.

The idea of a huge, gentle dinosaur pet with a taste for marigolds had charm, but conversion into TV had problems. Uncle Beazley, for instance, was played by a series of dinosaur models ranging in size from tiny to enormous, but were patently unmovable.

THE NARRATION of excerpts from the book frequently had Ed McMahon's deep, adult voice incongruously matching the lip movements of the young boy.

The action did give young viewers an incidental tour of the nation's capital from the Washington monument to the Senate.

UNTIL LAST YEAR, Broadway's "Tony Awards" were given out with little public fanfare. Then Alexander H. Cohen, one of the top producers, volunteered to put a "Tony Awards" show on network television. He persuaded colleagues to permit numbers from their hit shows to be shown on television. He played down the envelope-opening and the thank-you speeches. He came up with one of the brightest, fast-moving and entertaining shows of the season.

Cohen's second "Tony Awards" comes up next Sunday night — 90 minutes long this year, live, with numbers from eight Broadway hits. It is the principal coming attraction of the TV weekend.

Newport's New Council

"That was the end. This is the beginning."

Newport Beach Mayor Doreen Marshall was talking about the final moments of the old City Council and the hopeful future of the new council.

And there is good reason for hope — hope that the new council will, as she stated Tuesday, "close ranks, settle down and work together constructively and in a spirit of good will."

One of the reasons for this hope is, of course, the selection of Mrs. Marshall as mayor.

In her six years on the council, she has demonstrated many of the qualities required of this city's chief executive. She has a high boiling point, is not easily rattled, is knowledgeable on the workings of state as well as local government, is almost totally familiar with the community's various interest groups — and she is available.

That last point is important. For the job of mayor is more than just ceremonial. He — or she — must be on call continually as the city's principal spokesman on all matters. The mayor must maintain personal liaison with clubs, homeowners' associations and with the news media.

The mayor of any town is that town's image.

Doreen Marshall presents a fine image for Newport Beach.

And so does her city council. Collectively and individually.

There are engineers, Don McInnis and Ed Hirth. There's movie producer Lindsay Parsons, a man used to handling million dollar projects. There's school teacher Howard Rogers, who knows from the inside what classroom shortage problems can be like. There's Paul J. Gruber, who knows better than anybody else what a tough wicket a mayor can have.

Finally, there is Robert Shelton. A one-time Newport city manager and now a major Los Angeles land developer, Shelton is one of the ablest, most reasonable council members the city has ever had.

They'll all be there, giving the little lady a big hand. We hope everybody does.

A 'Horrible Conservative'

George Zebal describes himself as a "horrible conservative."

This, he says, is what motivated him when he voluntarily undertook several months ago a complex study of West Newport's gas seepage odor problem.

The results of Zebal's research are now in:

— The seepage areas are pinpointed.

— The methods of coping with the problem are recommended.

The Philco-Ford Aeronutronic research scientist's efforts didn't cost the city a dime.

Municipal officials asked him what in the world he did it all for. He explained:

"I'm a horrible conservative. I just thought here is one way I could do something for local government and help hold down the tax rate."

Perhaps there are other "horrible conservatives" out there. They're needed — because someone is going to come up with the possibly $30,000 needed to implement Zebal's recommendations.

The line, as they say, forms to the right. So far George Zebal is the only one in it.

And that's still an impressive turnout.

False Notions About Social Drinking

Everyday Problems

By NORMAN NIXON, M.D.

Many false notions are accepted uncritically to justify imbibing alcoholic liquor. Particularly, myths associated with social drinking such as "one more for the road but I'll drive carefully," a bloody Mary to sober up the morning after, or a two- or three- Martini lunch to enhance business decisions.

But nearly 70 percent of drivers killed in single-vehicle accidents had been drinking; most had high blood alcohol levels to confirm inebriation. Even drunk pedestrians have difficulty getting home safely or back to the office; three out of four walkers who are fatally injured in auto accidents had been drinking. In a majority of non-fatal accidents and driving offenses the drivers had been drinking.

ANOTHER MYTH surrounds the belief that reasonable and proper use of alcohol will make you live longer. Yet statistics from the Life Underwriters Association show that mortality rates are 27 percent higher than expected, even in moderate drinkers. In most heavy drinkers and chronic alcoholics the rate is much higher. Even though many physicians defend alcohol as a boon to the convalescent and the aging, particularly those with cardiovascular disease, the evaluation of alcohol as a medicinal agent is more impressionistic than scientific.

Careful studies of alcoholics have not revealed any biochemical changes which underlie the addictive urge to drink.

ALTHOUGH SOME psychological factors may contribute, it is the discovery early in life that alcohol gives pleasure, reduces pain and fear, raises self-esteem and enhances conviviality in social situations by lessening anxiety and inhibitions, that leads to dependence on alcohol to achieve these gains.

There are approximately five million alcoholics, individuals who are addicted to alcohol; another 10 million are "heavy drinkers" and at least 60 million more are "social drinkers". The dividing line between a heavy drinker and an alcoholic is indistinct; many heavy drinkers are alcoholics but won't admit they have a problem. Most important, every problem drinker was once a social drinker.

WITH ITS EASY availability and wide acceptance, alcohol certainly heads the list of dangerous drugs. It is the panacea for millions of adults, just as countless youths today use marijuana, LSD or "speed" as a solution for their problems and anxieties.

Dr. Max Hayman, research psychiatrist at the UCLA Alcoholism Clinic, believes we need another category, "antisocial drinking," to replace much of what we call "social drinking". Says Hayman: "Can we say those persons are 'social drinkers' who have, because of drinking, hurt others by hostile criticism; made unwelcome passes at other men's wives; had unreasonable fights; driven while in a drunken state; had accidents coming home from a cocktail party; or sat detached from wife and children in front of the TV set evening after evening in a semistupor state following several 'social' drinks before dinner?"

OBVIOUSLY, WE need more facts regarding antisocial drinking and the problems which it raises. Otherwise, the prevalent myth in our society that social drinking is harmless will continue unabated.

To the Editor:

The United States government no longer has space in national cemeteries for burial of veterans and their families — and no plans are being made to dedicate space to this purpose on the ample federal lands in California and elsewhere. Why?

Once upon a time the government promised every man who served his country in its armed forces that he and his immediate family could be buried in a national cemetery if he or his family so desired. National cemeteries were established for this purpose.

ALL SUCH SPACE except for a handful of graves has been used up, yet the Department of Defense an-

The Boston Marathon, to be run today with 700 entrants, is the best known and probably the oldest classic marathon of all. No footnote has a richer or more quirky history than the marathon. Pheidippides, a Greek soldier, started it all in 490 B.C., when he ran all the way from Marathon to Athens, nearly 25 miles to the southwest, to announce the defeat of the Persian army. More on Pheidippides later.

When the modern Olympic games were opened in April 1896, one of the new events was a footrace from Marathon to Athens. Appropriately it was won by a diminutive Greek shepherd, Spiridon Loues.

The standard length of a marathon since the 1908 Olympics in London has been 26 miles, 385 yards. Originally, British officials had laid out a 26-mile course. They tacked on the additional yardage so that the race would start at Windsor Castle and end in front of Edward VII's box at the Olympic stadium.

THE MARATHON has a way of bringing out the best in people. At the conclusion of the 1908 Olympic marathon at Athens, Prince George went to the stadium entrance to welcome the Greek runner who had been expected to win. Instead, the first runner to appear was William J. Sherring of Canada. George ran with Sher-nounced within the past year that it has no plans for creating new national cemeteries.

As a result, our firm and other mortuaries have been forced to send families to private cemeteries to purchase graves at a cost above the government's burial allowance.

Right now there are more than 40 million Americans, of whom some two million are over 70 years of age, who are eligible for national cemetery burials when they die — a privilege established by law since the Civil War.

NOW THE GOVERNMENT has decided it has no place for them. Why? To increase burial allowances would not solve the problem; that would only increase taxes on an already overburdened taxpayer, including non-veterans.

The closest national cemetery with any space at all is in Oregon, and it will soon be gone. Fort Rosecrans at San Diego is full; so is San Bruno in the San Francisco area. Yet the Department of Defense controls that whole section of oceanfront land from San Onofre to near Oceanside, and stretching back I don't know how many miles. A relatively tiny piece of Camp Pendleton land could provide a huge and beautifully-located national cemetery.

AND, TOO, there's the closed Camp Roberts, where the Watts children were sent last year. Land for a national cemetery there wouldn't be missed.

All veterans and their spouses, and all those who have a son or husband in Vietnam, should register a vigorous protest with California's congressmen and senators.

ring the length of the stadium to the finish line, applauding vigorously.

The Boston Marathon is run at the classic distance along a route from the starting point in Hopkinton, Mass., to the Lenox Hotel finish. Last year's race was typically whacky. Two girls tried to compete — the race is officially non-coeducational — and one got within a foot of the finish line before being restrained by an official. She would have been 26th in order of finish.

THE ALSO-RANS included 15 physicians, nine school teachers, two college professors, two divinity students, a Methodist minister, and a priest. One of the finishers was 59-year-old John A. Kelly, a two-time former winner.

Older runners stand a fair chance of winning the Boston Marathon. Perhaps the most remarkable was Clarence DeMar, of Melrose. He entered the 1909 race against the advice of his doctor, who predicted he would die of heart failure. Not only did DeMar outlive the doctor, but he won the Boston Marathon seven times. His final victory, at age 42, was in 1930. DeMar started and finished his 1,000th road race 21 years later.

BACK TO PHEIDIPPIDES. He dropped dead at the end of his run from Marathon to Athens, from exertion. But it was his fourth run between the two cities.

Pheidippides should have taken it easier. The new view is that running is good for you — but in moderation. The new emphasis is on what is called "jogging."

In New Zealand jogging is practically a way of life. The winner of last year's Boston Marathon was a 24-year-old New Zealander.

One of several new books about jogging — alternately running and walking — is written by William J. Bowerman, Oregon University track coach, and Dr. W. E. Harris, heart specialist. They say the exercise — "a graduated program of moderate exercise" — will reduce the waistline, improve your appearance, and help prolong your life.

Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.) jogs four miles every day to his office on Capitol Hill and four miles back to his home in Northwest Washington. But not all joggers are winners — the most famous jogger in politics is Gov. George Romney of Michigan.

Viewpoints—I, You, He

Antics With Semantics:

"I am making a 'total commitment,' but you are 'putting all your eggs in one basket.'"

When I am for mingling, I declare that "it takes all sorts to make a world," but when I am against your kind of mingling, I remind you that "oil and water don't mix."

My exaggeration was merely "a figure of speech," but your exaggeration was "a false analogy."

I "adapt to circumstances," but you "are all things to all men."

It is true that I was found "in flagrante delicto," but you were "caught redhanded."

INDEPENDENT sharpshooters who favor our side are "partisans;" independent sharpshooters who favor their side are "guerillas."

I "slipped away quietly," but you "took French leave."

Nobody who prefaces a judgment with the phrase, "in my humble opinion," is ever humble enough to refrain from expressing it.

Likewise, anyone who prefaces a statement with the phrase, "I don't want to sound like bragging, but..." always sounds like the worst sort of bragging.

I "withdrew discreetly," you "took to your heels;" he "ran away like a stuck pig."

Sydney Harris

MOST PEOPLE actually believe there is something called "the unwritten law" which they can invoke when they commit the irrevocable crime.

It is always others who have "vested interests;" what I have are "assigned rights."

The summation "When all is said and done..." usually indicates that too much has been said and too little done.

"Moral victory" is a philosophic term meaning "defeat."

ONLY IGNORANT persons imagine that the poet said "Ignorance is bliss;" what he said was: "Where ignorance is bliss, 'tis folly to be wise."

Our side is making "defensive preparations;" their side is "armed to the teeth."

Giving the matter "due consideration" means hoping the problem will go away in time if a decision is indefinitely postponed.

It's depressingly ironic how the Biblical phrase, "an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth," which originally was a demand for strict justice and no more, has been turned into a justification of revenge by everyone who appeals to the saying.

By George

Dear George:

I've tried to show my daughter-in-law how to clean house properly. I've tried to show her how to manage money affairs, and I've tried to show her how to cook the kind of things my son has liked ever since he was a little boy. The other day she had the absolute nerve to say flatly to me, "Mind your own silly business!"

Don't you think this was terribly impolite?

WOUNDED

Dear Wounded:

I most certainly do — there is no excuse for rudeness. She should have said, "Mind your own silly business, please!"

(NOW is the time to write to George! Of course, it might not help you much but he's short of reading material since the library burned his card for overdue fines.)

What Our Schools Fail to Teach

English is a language of glory.

It is a great tongue for saying memorable things, such as, "Give me liberty or give me death," "Don't give up the ship," "United we stand, divided we fall," "Keep off the grass," and "Pleeez stop arrear ennadabus."

Every schoolchild soon learns a number of these deathless utterances. He quotes them at every opportunity throughout the rest of his life as proof that he has been educated.

What our schools fail to teach, however, is that the English language can also become a disaster area. It is full of pitfalls. No other form of communication makes it simpler for a person to put his foot in his mouth in public.

HERE, FOR EXAMPLE, is a brief catalogue of remarks that often only catapult a fellow deeper into woe:

"If you don't see it, ask for it."

"Only one to a customer."

"I think I'll have to meet the last raise of yours just to keep the game honest."

"This year I'm not going to ask for advice on how to figure out my income tax. I think I know enough to do it myself."

"I think your problem, boss, is that you're gripping your putter wrong. Let me show you how I do it."

"We don't really have enough to retire on yet, but of course we plan to start a small business. Anybody can make money these days."

"OKAY, DOUBLE or nothing."

"I'd like to take you away from all this, Myrtle."

"It's an easy trick anyone can do. I just take the tablecloth in both hands, then give it a quick jerk. It comes off so fast it leaves your glasses and dishes standing there intact. Now watch as I—"

"Don't miss the show just because

Makes Time For Kids And Pop Warner Football

Meet the People

heard that another door to a flying career was through the Navy's V-12 program, which paid some enlisted men's way through college. Taking a chance Bob joined the program in 1943 and studied engineering at the University of South Carolina. In 1944 the opportunity he had been waiting for came and he transferred to the naval air force where he served as a gunnery instructor in Corpus Christi, Texas.

After his tour of duty, Bob enrolled at Northwestern University to finish his college education. There he switched to business administration and majored in marketing. In addition to his academic work, he lettered three years in basketball and four years in football.

After he was graduated in 1950, Bob played professional football for the Chicago Bears. It was during this time that his love of flying became a family affair. While flying home from a game, he met a charming stewardess named Helen, whom he married in 1951.

The following year Bob entered the business field as a consultant on sales training and later joined the Consumer Products Division at Raytheon's where he was promoted to manager of branches in Milwaukee, Detroit, Philadelphia and New York.

In 1956 when Raytheon was sold to Admiral, Bob decided the time had come to move to California. About this time, he and a friend visited an acquaintance who had invented a toy for his children — the first low cost, eight millimeter movie projector that automatically loaded, fed and rewound film.

Seeing the possibilities in marketing the projector, Bob and his friends started the Baskon Corporation to manufacture and sell it. Soon other major companies came out with similar products and Baskon sold its product and patent to Argus Mansfield.

In 1959 Bob became Western Sales Manager for Ador/Hillite, the largest manufacturer of aluminum building products in the United States and in 1965 he moved to Fullerton.

With his four sons, Bill, 15, Robert, 12, Brian, 10, and David, 7, he became interested in Pop Warner Football. While working with the organization, he met Carl Belvedere, managing director of Rosil Company Inc., who told him of the New Town and Country Shopping district he was about to build in Huntington Beach. Bob was so impressed he invested in

From a little boy whose greatest desire was to fly an airplane, Robert C. Baggot, marketing director for the new Town and Country Shopping Center in Huntington Beach, grew up not only soaring high in the naval air force, but also in the world of big league football and business.

While growing up in Chicago, Bob used to cross the lake each summer, from the time he was eight years old, to visit his grandfather in Ludington, Michigan. There he would pick cherries until he made enough money to take a ride in the barnstorming airplanes at county fairs.

After he was graduated from Leo High School in Chicago, he tried to enlist in the Air Force but learned only drafted men were accepted. He

GARDEN NOTES

Improper Watering Often Kills Citrus Trees

In our mild coastal area there is never any worry about citrus trees freezing. This is not to say, however, that any variety of citrus tree will be successful in our area. Some require more summer heat than do others in order to ripen properly.

Grapefruit requires a lot of summer heat in order to become sweet. On the other hand, naturally sour fruit, such as lemons and limes, require little summer heat. Grapefruit, therefore, are poor trees for this area while lemons and limes are good ones.

Valencia oranges require less heat than navels but even navels can be grown here although the fruit isn't as good as those grown further inland. The tarocco, or blood orange, is a very good one for the coast. It will show good color here and be very sweet.

Mandarin oranges, which include tangerines, are also good fruits for the coast. In fact, the Owari Satsuma Mandarin is the best citrus of all for this climate. It is a fair sized fruit with the typical tangerine loose skin. It is virtually seedless, a heavy bearer that starts fruiting young, and the fruit ripens at Christmas time. There is little more that one could ask of a fruit tree.

Tangelos do fairly well in this area. They are a cross between a grapefruit and a tangerine and there are two varieties generally available. One, Sampson, favors the grapefruit parent. For that reason it is not as popular as Minneola which is more like its tangerine parent.

Citrus trees are available in two forms, standard and dwarf. Dwarf citrus are grafted on a dwarfing rootstock and will not grow over six to eight feet high. Four dwarf citrus will fit into the same space required by one regular citrus. Dwarf citrus are also very good for growing in tubs.

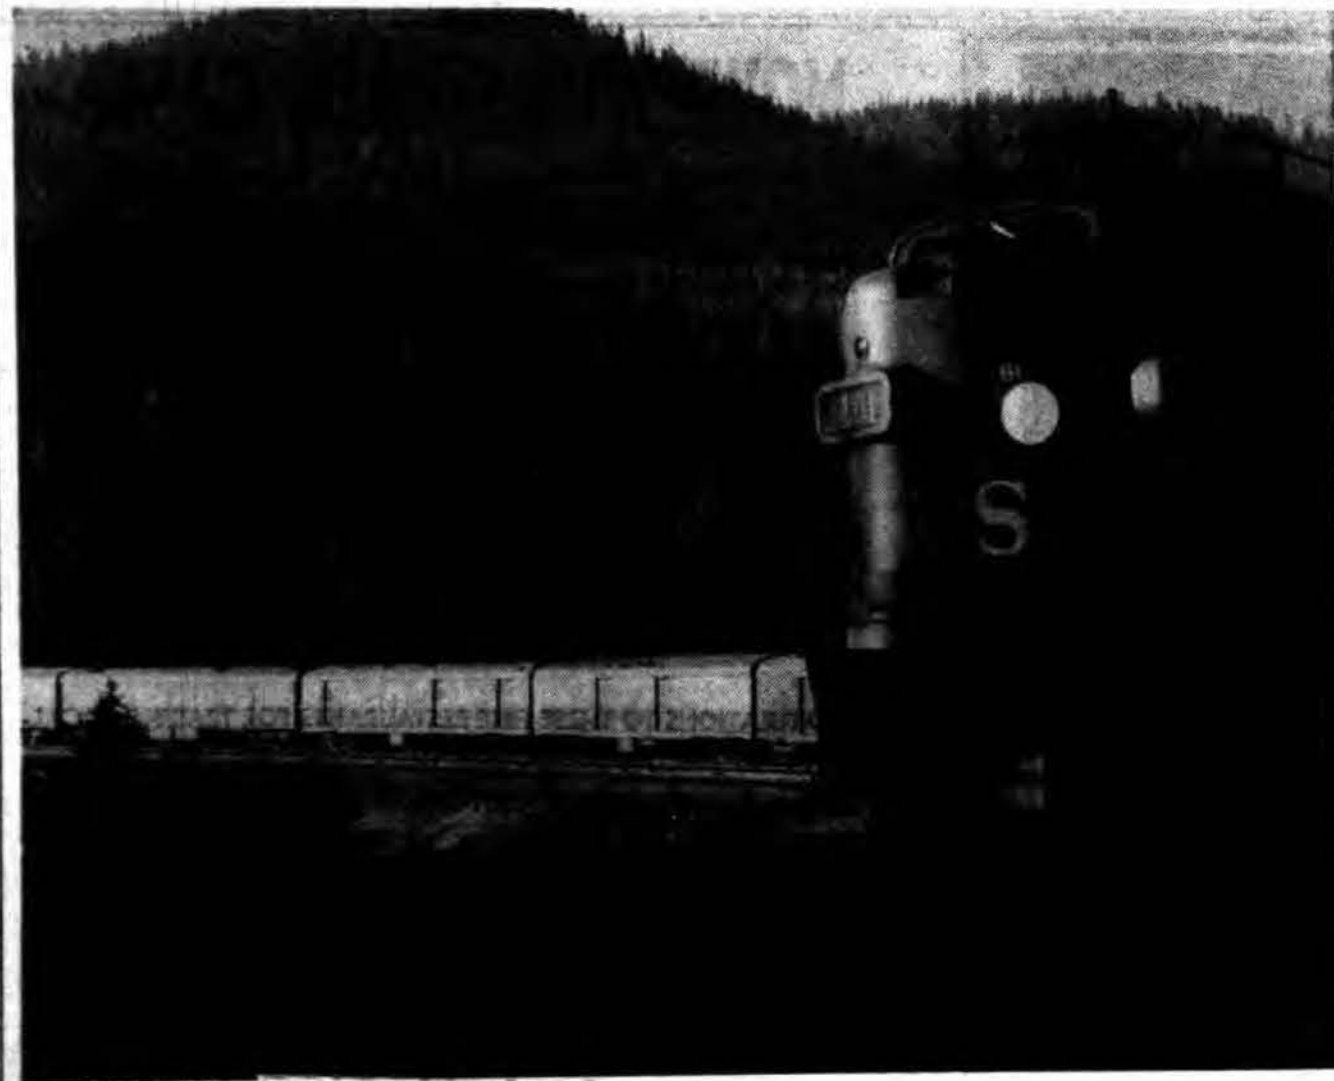

The worst enemy of citrus is the watering hose. In the home garden probably more citrus trees are killed by too much water than by all other causes combined. They should be soaked well and deeply when they are watered but allowed to dry out fairly well in between times. The frequency of watering depends on the size of the tree and the type of soil it is growing in. The deadliest kind of watering is frequent shallow waterings and for this reason citrus should not be planted in lawn areas.

Our alkaline soil and water here cause citrus to get chlorotic but this can be corrected by feeding the trees chelated iron and zinc.

—Don Horton

TRAIN TRIP THE KIDS WILL LOVE

"I think I can. I think I can." may have been the song of the little Puffer-belly Engine, but for Southern Pacific's climb up the Tehachapi Mountains, it's "I know I can." And just to prove it they are offering "Springtime in the Tehachapis," a one-day excursion train leaving Los Angeles Union Station at 8 a.m. and returning at 8:30 p.m. Sunday, April 28.

It's a unique opportunity for many youngsters who have never ridden on a train and promises to be an interesting enjoyable day for the adults. The special train, carrying reserved seat cars plus five dining and lounge cars will also feature an old-time open observation platform car.

The train will take passengers through "Africa U.S.A.," a compound of wild animals used in television and motion pictures, through the Joshua tree forests of Antelope Valley and climb to the summit of the Tehachapis. Stops will be made at points of interest.

See Guide To Fun, Page 2, for ticket information.

the company and became its marketing director.

Marketing will hold a major place at Town and Country because the retailers and professionals selected for the center will have to meet certain quality standards for both their products and their services and there will be continued supervision of their merchandise and advertising.

Bob is also a special consultant for the Economic Development agencies of the Department of Commerce. He sets up marketing plans for small companies beginning in under-developed areas such as Appalachia. In the past 18 months he has written and directed the sales and marketing programs for four companies in four states.

He most enjoys spending his spare time helping boys in the Pop Warner program and attending coaching clinics which he hopes will upgrade the quality of coaching available to the boys. He is vice president of the program in Fullerton and a director of the Orange Empire Conference. He is also a member of Los Coyotes Country Club and Phi Delta Theta.

With Bob Baggot in the pilot's seat, Town and Country Shopping district will soon find itself one of many successful enterprises under his wing.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second in a series of features on the "House of Tomorrow" as conceived by Philco-Ford Corporation. The Weekender will continue the series as space allows, in future weeks.

"No man is an island," wrote poet John Donne, but he couldn't have been referring to 1999 A.D. and the House of Tomorrow, where housewife and family, secure with computer controls, can be as remote as Robinson Crusoe yet with the outside world only an electronic fingertip away.

Philco-Ford Corporation says that tomorrow's house for all practical purposes will be an island of self-sufficiency, independent of nearly all utility services.

The House of Tomorrow will have a self-contained fuel cell as the major power source and extensive wireless communications with the outside world. Telephone lines and water and sewer pipes will disappear.

Cybernetics, the science of doing work through computers, will be the major impetus of the house. The computer, the amazing electronic machine that has packed centuries of progress into the past decade, will be at the beck and call of the average householder by 1999 or sooner, according to George C. Crowley, vice president — engineering and research, Philco-Ford Consumer Products Group.

To give you some idea of what to expect from your family computer, Crowley noted that this tireless brain will supervise every function of every device in the House of Tomorrow 24 hours a day. It will check the hundreds of electronic circuits required by the house every few seconds and will insert a back-up circuit if trouble develops. It also will alert the community service agency to replace the failed circuit.

Through an environmental control system, the family computer will analyze the air in the home for impurities, odor, temperature and moisture content. The air will be filtered, warmed or cooled, moisture added or removed as needed and a pleasant odor injected — all directed by the computer.

Using its reels of memory tapes, the computer will keep in order every entry in your checking account, collate and post accounts receivable and payable, methodically arrange taxable and tax-deductible items and pay your taxes automatically and on time — assuming, of course, that you have the money to pay them. (So far, Philco-Ford hasn't arranged for that little detail.)

The reference memory tape of your family computer will contain every word in your favorite encyclopedia. When it is fun-time, it will enable you to play any game electronically — a game that exists or one of your own invention. You can play checkers with a fellow human or compete against the computer (you'll have trouble beating the computer, but you can always try).

Music will be composed electronically in the House of Tomorrow. This device will reproduce the sounds of all instruments separately or in unison and play Masters stored on memory tapes.

An electronic auto-composer in the recreation room will reproduce the sounds of all instruments, either separately or in unison. You will be able to compose your own music by means of the computer and then command your electronic orchestra to play it. The instrument also will reproduce the works of composers other than yourself, in case you prefer Richard Rodgers or Claude Debussy to your own cybernetic symphonies.

The family computer will order food from the supermarket and process (cook in computer language) the food at mealtime.

"It is not impossible to conceive," said Crowley, "that the computer's record of the weight of the family, individually and collectively, will determine the quantity and types of food ordered and the method of cooking."

The family computer will allow the housewife to shop and be billed electronically. It will manage a message center which will systematize engagements — birthdays, ballet classes for the children and the dinner date you made.

The computer will allow the husband to pay his bills electronically, give him an instantaneous picture of his budget and tax payments, and afford him instant access to his home library and a central community library computer for answers to any questions in written or pictorial form.

It will control the family health room in the House of Tomorrow and will keep health records of every member of the family. A "medicouch" devised by the nimble, many-circuited minds of Philco-Ford each morning will read your pulse, take your temperature, record your weight, take an electrocardiogram and measure your blood pressure. This information will be fed into the computer, which will determine the amount of energy you should expend and how long you need to exercise.

Preposterous? Not at all. Some of these devices already are operative, while others will be available in a few short years, according to Philco-Ford engineers.

And remember that 1999 A.D. — the turn of the 21st Century — is only 32 years away.

The photographs used are from a 16mm color movie, now available on loan without charge, from the film library of the Ford Motor Company in Dearborn, Michigan, 48121. Requests for the film should be made at least three weeks in advance of the showing date.

A GOOD WEEK TO VISIT A LIBRARY

SOME ARE ON WHEELS NOW, ALL ARE KEEPING UP WITH GROWTH

SHHH! April 21 through April 27 is National Library Week. The 14 municipal and Orange County Branch Libraries servicing this area may prefer to think of themselves as quiet organizations but the truth is, they have been booming. New services, new buildings and more staff have been added to the facilities in an attempt to grow with the area's population and needs.

Not only are there more people living along the Orange Coast now, but more of them are using their libraries than ever before. Special services offered by the local libraries include everything from story hours for the pre-school patron to bookmobile stops for those who find it difficult to get to regular libraries. Careful attention is given at each library to the development of a collection which will meet the needs of the individual area. Schools and libraries work together providing materials for school assignments and in teaching the children how to use the card catalogue and where to find books for reference and pleasure reading.

The bookmobile, an Orange County Branch Library on wheels, began in 1959 with one vehicle to service areas not close to a regular library. It was soon found to have an added value, as the library system expanded, serving as an indication of where permanent libraries were needed and what kind of reading material was of special interest in the area. Today there are two Orange County Bookmobiles, each traveling 1000 miles per month with a stock of approximately 2500 books. They perform most functions of a regular branch library, take requests for reading material and issue library cards.

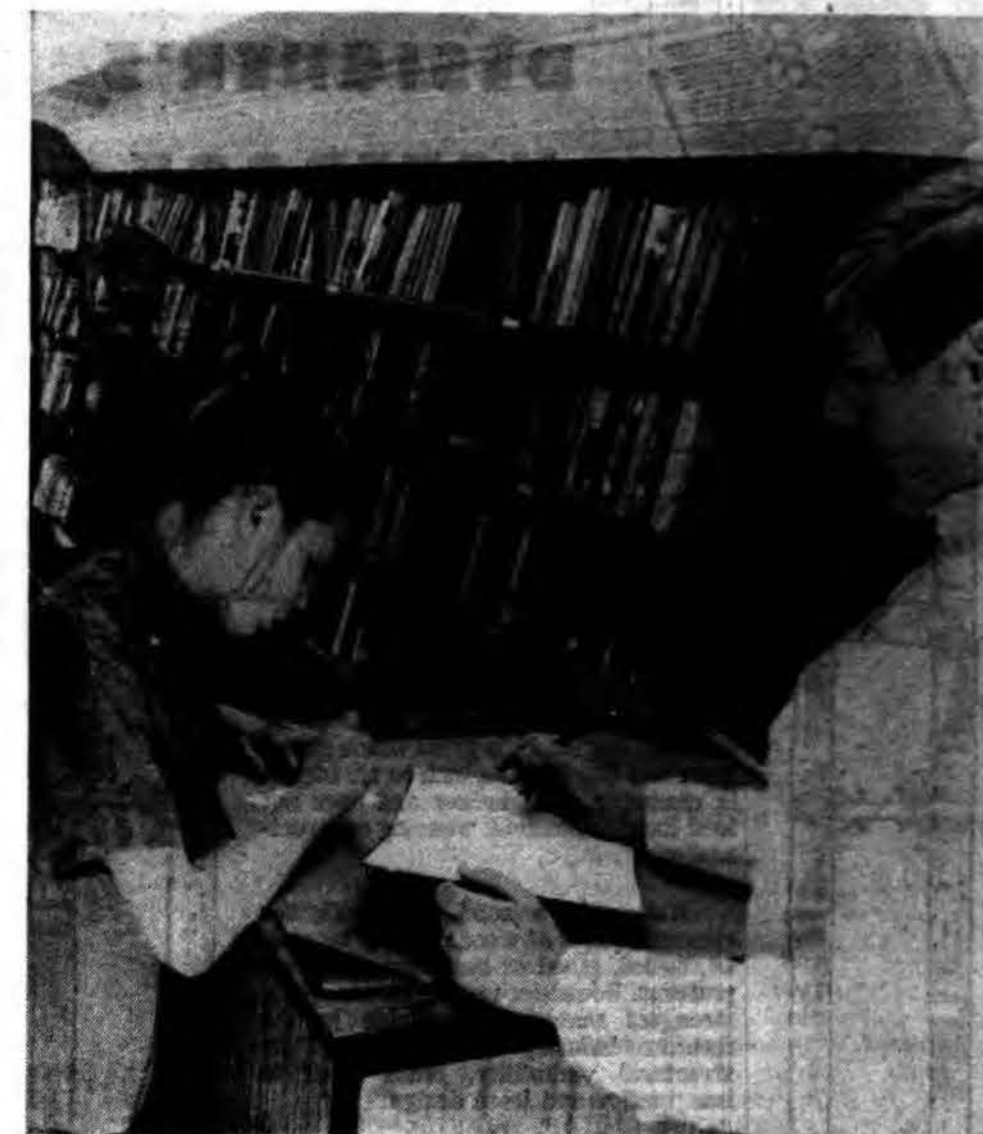

The newest traveling service will begin April 25. A children's librarian from the Newport Beach municipal libraries will take approximately 500 books for pre-school children to The Bluffs, 2414 Vista del Oro, each Thursday, from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. and help them choose and check-out books.

Pre-schoolers also get special attention at story hours held in many of the libraries. Picture books, stories and discussions often lay the foundation for a real love of reading later on.

In addition to books, many libraries are stocking a collection of records which can be checked out with a library card. An educational film and film strip service also is available through the Orange County library system.

Local libraries, in celebration of their special week are holding teas, special exhibits, guided tours and their 52 weeks-a-year special, good books.

—Kristin Goff

A library on wheels, the bookmobile, travels as much as 1000 miles per month in Orange County, servicing hospitals, institutions and areas not close to regular libraries. The interiors of the bookmobiles look much like any small library.

Below, seven-year-old Kathy Miller seems to be finding what she's looking for. Schools and libraries cooperate to teach students how to use reference facilities.

Story hours for the pre-schoolers are offered at many area libraries. From the looks on the faces of these children at the Mesa Verde Library in Costa Mesa, it is an hour well spent.

DESIGNER'S NOTEBOOK

Rattan

BY J. RUSSELL TUMELSON, ORANGE COUNTY DESIGNER-DECORATOR

Many people confuse rattan with bamboo. Bamboo is a grass which grows from one fourth of an inch to six inches in diameter. It is hollow and does not lend itself to bending, weaving or structural work.

Rattan is a solid vine with the characteristics of wood. It may be sawed, nailed, glued or bent into attractive patterns. Pound-for-pound it is one of the strongest materials available in the furniture industry and because of its structural versatility, lends itself to imaginative and fresh design.

Rattan, like wood, has an outer cover of cane as its bark and a reed within, much like wood pulp. The cane is used in numerous pieces of furniture, back and seats of chairs and as inserts on tables and cabinet pieces.

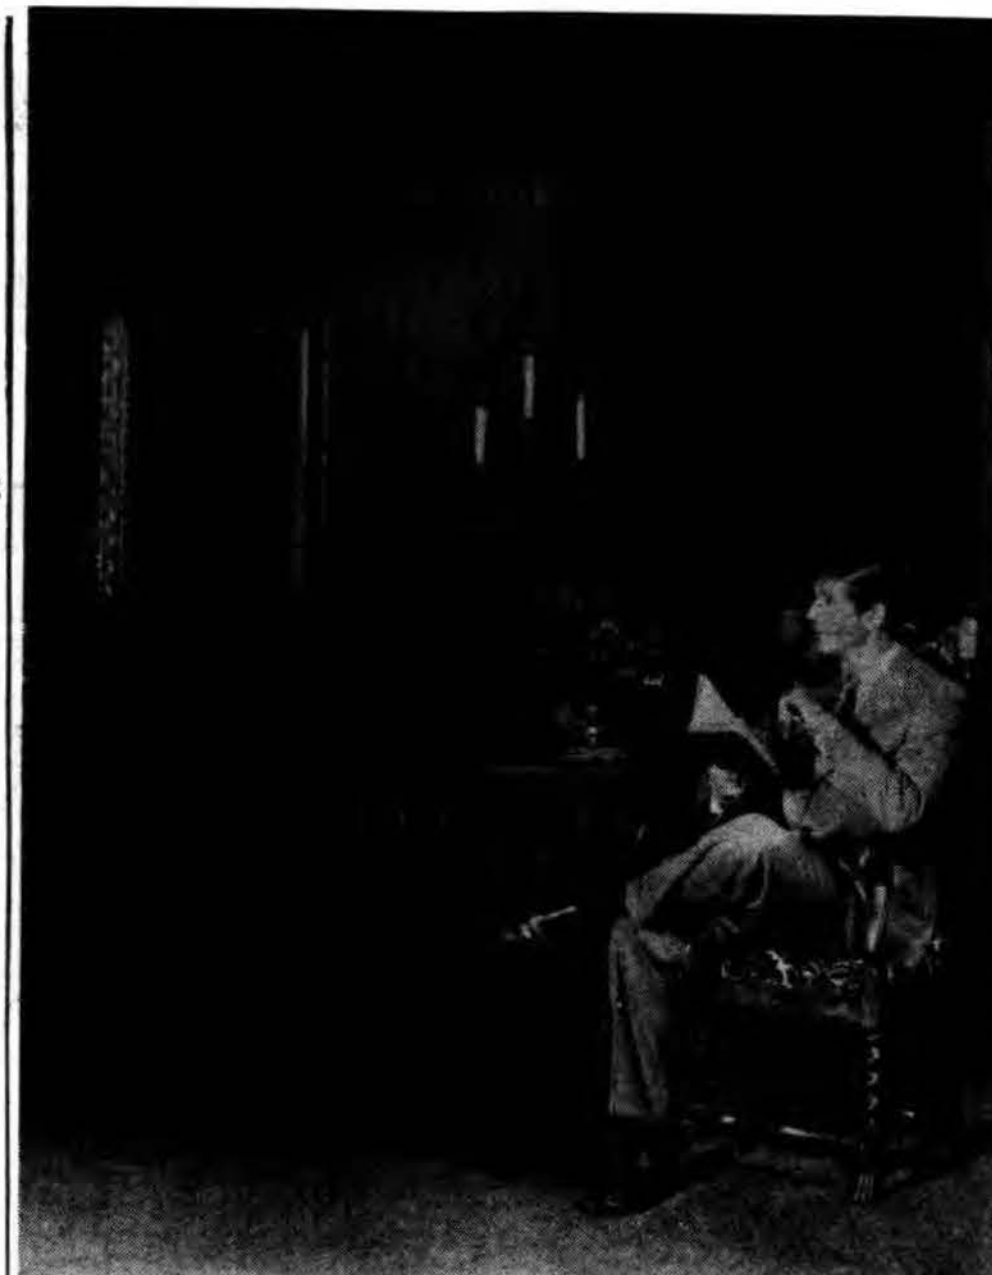

Rattan furniture is often blended successfully with most traditional and contemporary decors and is available for almost every room in the home including bedrooms, dining room and provided it is adequately protected, the terrace.

The colors and finishes range from deep wood tones to imaginative colors to match fabrics or wallpaper. It may be repaired and refinished as easily as any wood.

Prices for this type of furniture vary according to design, workmanship and quality. Good pieces of rattan furniture compare with the cost of any quality furnishings in the home, but the quality rattan furniture is well worth the investment in terms of lasting value.

NEXT WEEK: WOOD WEAVE

DIPLOMAT WALNUT PANELING

Today's California homeowners express a preference for a feeling of opulence in decorating such as created with Diplomat English Walnut paneling. The rich, natural tone and bookmatched patterns are separated by dark, half-inch grooves, dramatizing the woodgrains. Whether for den, library or living room, these Masonite panels offer prestige appearance, great durability and easy maintenance at reasonable expense. A lighter effect may be obtained through the use of French Walnut.

And... now looking back over those months, those meals... one thought comes forcibly to mind.

Orange County food fanciers are a most fortunate group, indeed, because rarely has this supper seeker encountered what could truly be called a "bad" meal hereabouts.

Try some of the "house specials" listed above... and you will undoubtedly find yourself agreeing all the way.

KITTENS PREENING FOR PUBLIC

CELEBRITY CATS CONGREGATE ON APRIL 27-28 FOR SHOW

A Celebrity Cat Show, sponsored by the Southwest Region of the Cat Fanciers Association, will be held in the Retail Clerks Auditorium, 8520 Stanton Blvd., Buena Park, on Saturday and Sunday, April 27 and 28.

It is a first of its kind, bringing together 31 different clubs in Southern California to present the biggest show ever held on the west coast.

While the whole show should be an entertaining and delightful experience to cat lovers, the added celebrity entertainment note will be contributed by Frank Inn, trainer of feline movie and television stars. He will present some of his most famous actors including those seen in "Mission Impossible," "Beverly Hillbillies," "Bell, Book and Candle" and "I Love Lucy." Each day at 2 p.m. he will put his stars through their paces showing the audience just how the tricks are accomplished. He will also give suggestions on the training of animals for film work.

A special category for household pets has been set aside in order that non-pedigreed cats, any and all cats, will have a spot in the competition. Six different judges will present appropriate awards in each of many classes, including this one.

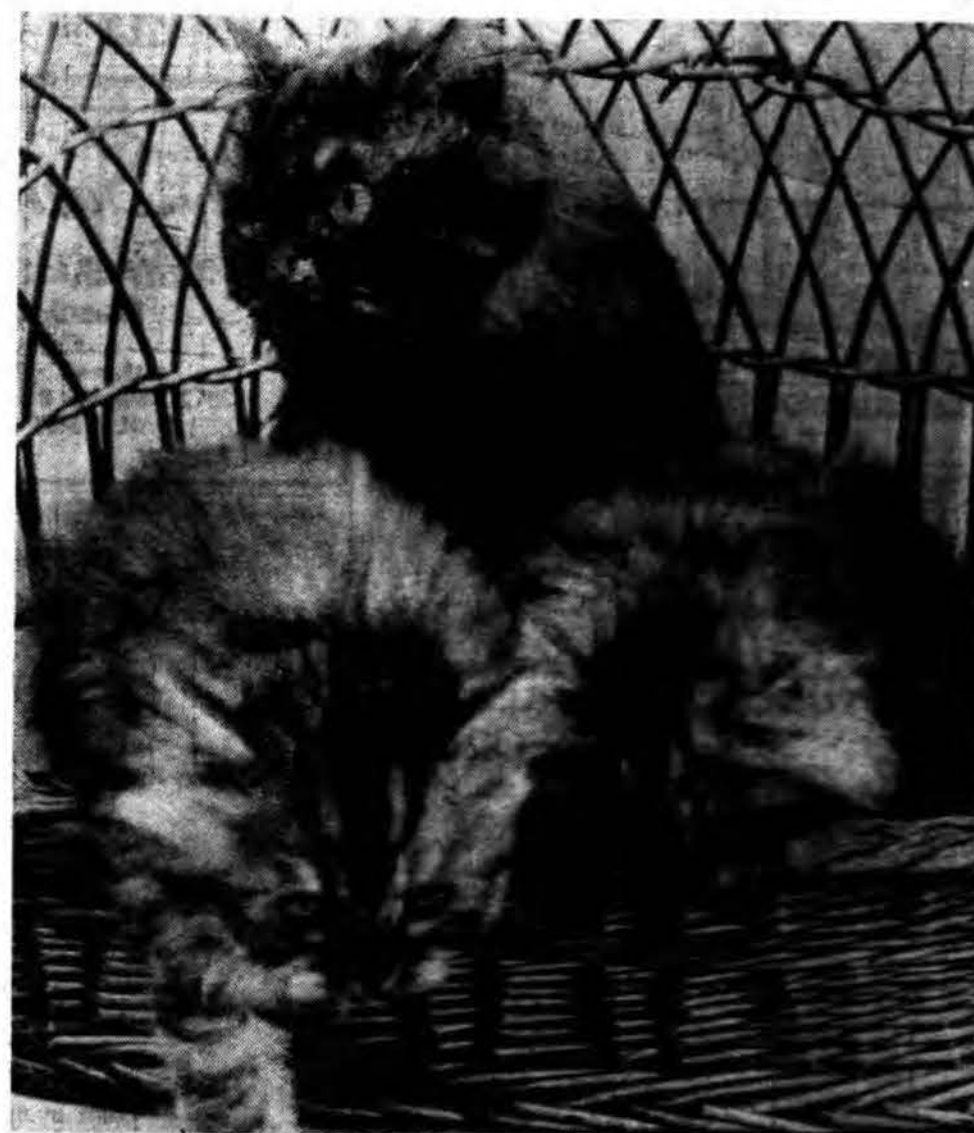

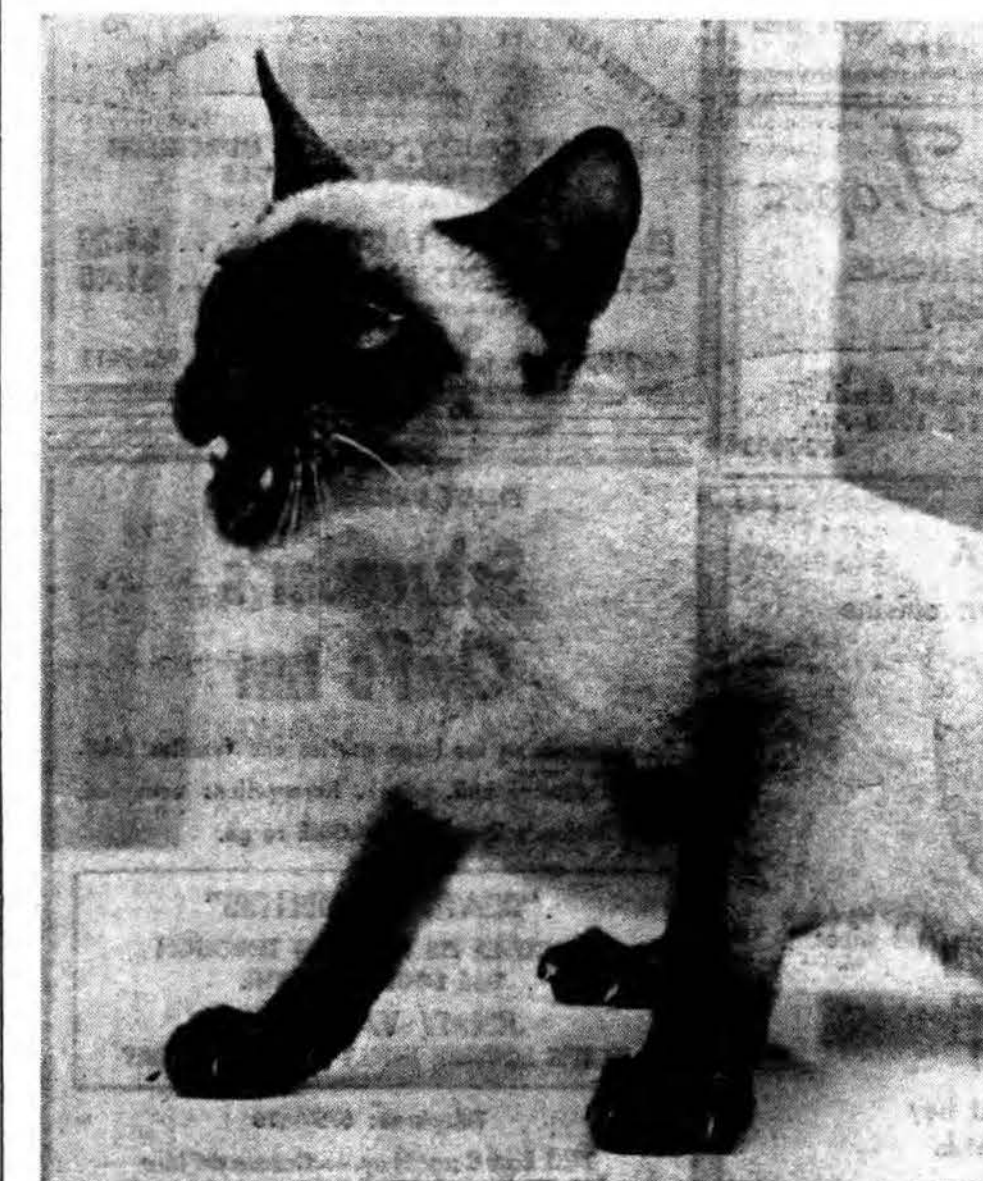

Some new breeds will be entered also, including the Short-haired Silver Persians (now called Exotic Shorthairs), and other experimental breeds.

See Guide to Fun, Page 2, for ticket details.

"For such an important occasion I bought a beautiful new bonnet!"

...Trainer to Show His Movie Star Felines

Menu Meandering

In the course of gathering material for the many, many Out 'N' About columns that have appeared in Weekender Magazine during the past year-and-a-half, this scribbler has amassed a most formidable collection of restaurant menus.

It might prove interesting to review some . . . to point up once again those "house specialties" that wait your trial and judgment at this sip-n-sup salon or that.

First, however, before re-examining the "old," let's take a look at two of the "new" bills of fare never before discussed in detail herein.

COSTA MESA CUTEY

Gerard Thiry, who established his "Bienvenue Chez Gerard" in Laguna Beach three years ago, now invites you to sample the French Fantasies at his second drink-dine den, located in Costa Mesa.

Although this out-n-about has yet to personally visit the newest Thiry Taster, some who have, report a warm and charming atmosphere, excellent cuisine and prices that would please anyone.

Word has it that the menu here is almost identical to that offered at the artist colony original . . . and if that be true . . . this restaurant reviewer says heartily, "Go!"

BIENVENUE BREAKDOWN

Perusing the menu at Bienvenue Chez Gerard (Costa Mesa) these items seem worth the passing on for condiment consideration.

Dinners include soup or salad, vegetable and beverage . . . accompanying such entrees as canelloni premontaise, $2.95; chicken in wine and mushroom sauce, $3.40; demi-chicken diplomat with sherry sauce, $3.65; veal cordon bleu (with ham and cheese), $3.50; veal Oscar (Gerard's Specialty), $3.85; shrimp provencale, $3.50; filet of sole, $2.85; trout stuffed with crab meat, $3.85; roast duckling with orange sauce, $4.25; tripe a la mode de Caen, $3.75; sweetbreads saute chasseur, $3.75; ground sirloin with mushroom sauce, $2.75; New York steak smothered with mushrooms, $4.75; pepper steak flambe, $4.95 and double entrecote with garni (for two), $12.95.

Hors d'oeuvres include escargot, shrimp cocktail, herrings in sour cream, caviar with toast and/or spinach salad with bacon dressing.

As in all fine French restaurants, a taste-tempting array of desserts are also available at BCG. Creme caramel, 40-cents; chocolate moca roll, 40-cents; creme de menthe parfait, 75-cents; chocolate parfait, 65-cents; cherries jubilee (for two), $2.50; crepes Suzette (for two), $3.75 and ice cream or sherbet, 35-cents.

Voila! Who could ask for more?

White Horse Winners

At White Horse Inn, Newport Beach, owners George Olsen and John Ryder have come up with a much enlarged menu that contains several new and interesting items to pique the taste buds of gastronomical gadabouts.

Among these "droolers" you will still find roast prime rib of beef basted in Watney's ale but now served with red cabbage, $5.25; roast duckling with red cabbage, served flaming, $4.95; Yorkshire sausage with red cabbage, $3.25; abalone steak served with parsley and lemon butter, $4.95; filet of English sole, princess, stuffed with crab then poached in pink champagne and fresh cream, $3.95; fried Gulf shrimp, Louisiana style, $3.25 and Dublin Bay shrimp, baked in white wine and served with lemon butter, $4.50.

Mmmmmmm-m-m-m-m-m!

All dinners, incidentally, served with tossed crisp field greens, choice of Stilton cheese dressing, White Horse dressing with baby shrimp, oil and vinegar dressing or Caesar salad. Added: choice of baked potato or rice pilaf, garden vegetables and home-made cottage bread.

Again . . . mmmmmmm-m-m-m-m-m!

Delightful desserts also on hand at WHI . . . including authentic English sherry trifle pudding, liquor chocolate cake, farmhouse cheesecake, English toffee ice cream or fresh orange sherbet.

End of mmmmmmm-m-m-m-m-m!

All served in the warm and wonderful atmosphere of either the White Horse's most unusual pub or more formal dining room.

Other Outstanders

Now . . . on with those "reminders" where other Orange County dineries are concerned.

At Daniel's, Costa Mesa, try the steak sandwich, the prime rib of beef.

Woody's Wharf, Newport Beach, the abalone steak, the Sunday morning huevos rancheros.

Villa Nova, Newport, scallopini and canelloni, combo, piatto Villa Nova and canelloni ditto.

Bob's Big Boy, Costa Mesa, the chili size (with beans or spaghetti).

Dillman's, Balboa, chicken livers saute, tenderloin tips, saute.

Surf and Sirloin, Newport Beach, prime rib of beef, au jus.

Ocean Front Cafe, Newport Beach, fish and chips.

Villa Marina, Newport Beach, mahi, mahi steak, Waikiki; abalone cutlets, saute Monterey; the Treasure Chest (relish tray, soup or salad, five different kinds of seafood, cooked vegetables).

Port Edward, Westcliff Plaza, hamburger Italiano (with pizza sauce, mozzarella cheese and fresh chopped parsley).
