

Rogers: 'A Threat to the People'

City Accepts Smith Report—Gingerly

By BRUCE BENSON
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Newport Beach city councilmen, carefully choosing their words, Monday night voted to acknowledge official receipt of the controversial Wilbur Smith report on city traffic and parking ills.

They made it abundantly clear, in debate led by Councilman Howard Rogers, that receipt of the report reflected no endorsement or acceptance of any part of the report's conclusions.

The study deals exhaustively with auto-related problems and carries suggestions for handling traffic up to the year 1990.

What upset Rogers, and a good number of the several dozen people in the audience, was the "suggestion for consideration" of either a 33-block long highway along the Newport-Balboa Peninsula beachfront, or a similar road along the harbor side of the Peninsula.

Also scattered throughout the report were suggestions for several large parking lots along the Peninsula.

"This, as it stands, is a threat to the people," said Rogers angrily as the council moved to acknowledge receipt of the study.

Rogers had at first moved to receive the Smith report with a string of qualifications to the effect that its conclusions could not be construed as an official city plan.

He withdrew his motion, however, in favor of a modified motion of the same intent put forward by recently elected Councilman Don McInnis.

Council debate was sparked after a lengthy review of the study given by Keith Dellaway, project manager of the $32,500 study. Also present was Henry K. Evans, vice president of Wilbur Smith & Associates, Inc.

Councilman Robert Shelton said he felt the report offered "a number of very reasonable ideas" on dealing with projected traffic. However, he quizzed Dellaway on his premise of why a beach highway merits City Council consideration.

Dellaway, reviewing the report with the aid of a slide projector and screen in the darkened chambers, said residential growth on the Peninsula was pegged at 12.5 percent by 1990.

Would a beach or bayside highway be needed to handle only the increased traffic generated by Peninsula residents, asked Shelton.

And secondly, could all the non-resident beachgoers anticipated in the future be handled by some form of public transit, such as tram, conveyors or aerial train?

Dellaway said his studies showed (See TRAFFIC, Page 2)

South Viet Troops Cut Red Lines

SAIGON (UPI) — Elite South Vietnamese troops today cut the main North Vietnamese supply route into the A Chau Valley, then beat off a classic ambush in what was once undisputed Communist territory.

In a series of other sharp clashes involving both American and South Vietnamese troops the Communists lost 550 killed, most of them units which had been supplied through the A Chau Valley.

The 2,000-man South Vietnamese force — one of the best in the South Vietnamese army — was airlifted through drizzling rain into the valley to seize the crossroads at Ta Bat, 28 miles southwest of Hue and eight miles from the Laotian border.

They took control of an airstrip, permitting easy landing of supplies and reinforcements, and linked up with elements of the U. S. 1st Air Cavalry Division which moved into the valley under conditions of extreme secrecy.

The Vietnamese, first to be issued U. S. M16 rifles and already recommended for a U. S. unit citation, moved southward down Route 548 to consolidate control of Ta Bat and ran into a well dug-in band of North Vietnamese hiding on each side of the road.

The North Vietnamese opened up with automatic weapons but the South Vietnamese were expecting such a move and suffered no casualties, a spokesman said.

Rocky Running Again Says He Must Give Voters 'Choice'

ALBANY, N. Y. (UPI) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller made his third bid for the Republican presidential nomination today and said his about-face decision was taken in order to give GOP voters a choice.

The governor announced his bid for the nomination, pitting himself against Richard M. Nixon, at a news conference in the Capitol's historic red room. He will begin his campaign tonight with a speech in New York and will make a foreign policy speech in Philadelphia Wednesday.

Rockefeller said he had told California Gov. Ronald Reagan of his decision to reverse a March 21 announcement that he would not run for the nomination. He said Reagan had wished him "good luck." Asked by reporters if he favored Reagan as a vice presidential running-mate, Rockefeller replied:

"That is a matter of later decision."

The governor's bid was hailed by Gov. George Romney of Michigan, who dropped out of the race earlier this year, as "good for the party and for the country."

Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-N. Y.), said the times demanded Rockefeller's candidacy, which he described as "the American political system working at its best."

The former President underwent blood tests and an electrocardiogram which were now being evaluated by the doctors, the spokesman said.

Gen. Eisenhower's pulse and blood pressure were normal, the spokesman said.

Says City Manager

Harbor Takeover No Big NB Tax Threat

By JEROME F. COLLINS
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

If the Orange County Harbor District should fold, the city of Newport Beach could take over operation of Newport Harbor with only a "relatively small" hike in the municipal tax rate, City Manager Harvey L. Hurlburt disclosed Monday.

He told city councilmen that the additional financial burden would amount to no more than five cents on the property tax rate.

It could be less, and perhaps nothing at all, depending on other sources of revenue, he said.

In a five-page report laden with figures, Hurlburt also said studies indicate it would be "neither necessary or desirable" to establish a city harbor department.

Services now performed by the Harbor District, he explained, could be absorbed by existing municipal departments.

ASSUMPTIONS

Hurlburt said his analysis of the impact of Harbor District dissolution on the city was based on a number of assumptions. First of these was that in the event of dissolution, the city would assume principal responsibility for the operation and maintenance of its own harbor.

Among other assumptions: —The county would continue to provide harbor development and maintenance services elsewhere in the county.

The city of Newport Beach would receive Harbor District tax revenues now being levied within the city.

Space now occupied by the Harbor District in the city would become surplus and would be made available to the city at no cost.

—The county would continue to provide financial assistance to the city for lifeguard services, beach erosion control projects and some bulkhead construction projects "in recognition of regional benefits derived from Newport Harbor."

ACT IN GOOD FAITH

"These assumptions," said Hurlburt, "are drawn on the premise that the county will act in good faith with the cities and will work toward a cooperative transition in the best interests of the entire county."

Councilmen, on a motion by Paul J. Gruber, unanimously authorized the city staff to continue working for an "orderly transition" of harbor responsibilities and authority to the city — in the event of dissolution or reorganization of the district.

Mayor Doreen Marshall and the staff were also directed by the council to work for this kind of transition in Harbor District legislation now pending in Sacramento.

ANNUAL COST

Hurlburt told municipal lawmakers that the cost of operating and maintaining the harbor would range annually from $180,000 to $200,000, after the first year.

In the first year, he noted, there would be additional expenses of about $80,000 for four police boats, one fire boat and other marine equipment, including uniforms for police and fire-fighting personnel.

The revenue to meet these various expenses, he said, could be obtained partially through property taxes now going to the Harbor District and (See HARBOR, Page 2)

From President Johnson to President Johnson. That, so far, covers the life span of Mrs. Ruth Carpenter.

Born in a log cabin when Andrew Johnson was president, Mrs. Carpenter celebrated her 100th birthday with Lyndon Baines Johnson as President.

Friends, relatives and neighbors came to her home, 363 Avocado St., Costa Mesa, to congratulate her.

"I worked hard all my life and I guess it never hurt me," the spry little lady said.

She was born in Clintonville, Wis., "when Wisconsin and I were both young together," she laughed.

"I washed clothes on a washboard and ironed with a flat iron heated over a wood burning stove. Never did me any harm."

Mini-skirts and long hair make girls look ridiculous, she thinks. "I braided my three girls' hair and they looked neat when they went to school," she commented. "Don't know why they can't do that today."

Mrs. Carpenter has lived in five states and Canada. Her 15 grandchildren, 48 great-grandchildren and six great-great-grandchildren are scattered to nearly every state of the union.

Traffic Report's Beach Road Idea Scored

Another highway would not be needed to handle only Peninsula residents by the year 1990.

But he cautioned that residents elsewhere in Newport Beach also use the Peninsula. He said he felt they would add too heavy a burden to Balboa Peninsula by 1990, even if it is expanded to a six-lane highway as the report proposes.

In answer to the second question, Dellaway said he believed public transportation could be developed to handle all outside visitors. He said the problem would be identifying non-residents and compelling them to use public transit along the Peninsula instead of their cars.

Remarkably, Rogers during Dellaway's report, "It would seem you've conceded every man's God-given right to his place in the sun and you've assigned him 100 square feet of our beaches."

Rogers asked if the numbers of beachgoers could be diminished by simply not providing facilities to allow increased access to and use of the beaches.

The Wilbur Smith expert responded that he was sure such a policy would "ease some of the growth." But he warned that municipally sponsored tourist facilities help to fend off the day when "some state or regional agency" will step in and impose its larger will on the area.

"How about double-decking Balboa Boulevard?" queried Shelton.

"Yes, heaven forbid," reacted

Dellaway. He said the drawback to a sandwiched highway was its difficulty of allowing frequent egress and exit for those who tour the Peninsula to sightsee and shop.

The dilemma of a beach highway was summed up by one woman from the audience, who identified herself as Mrs. Garland White, of 109 31st St.

"If you put a four-lane highway in, then bring all those thousands of more people, where are you going to put them?"

"The cars are noisy, and unhealthy, because all the gas fumes would blow right onto the homes from the ocean breeze that comes from offshore."

"Doesn't anybody else have any other ideas?"

No one did.

Bertea Given $20 Million Jet Contract

Bertea Corp. located in the Irvine industrial tract near the Orange County Airport has been awarded a $20 million contract to design, develop and manufacture the control system for the tail of the L-1011 jetliner.

The announcement was made jointly by Robert A. Bailey, Lockheed-California Co. vice president for the L-1011, and Richard Bertea, president of Bertea Corp.

The award will enable the company to develop tools and manufacture the servo control package for the first 350 jetliners.

Currently Bertea Corp., which moved to the Orange Coast area from Pasadena in 1966, is developing integrated electrohydraulic control system for the U.S. Army Cheyenne, the world's most advanced helicopter; U.S. Navy P-3 Orion, long range patrol aircraft; and the U.S. Air Force C-5A Galaxy, the world's largest aircraft.

According to Herman Gammell, vice president of administration, the 1,000 employee corporation is negotiating for a contract on the DC-10.

Bertea has, in addition, developed systems for the DC-8, DC-9, Boeing 707, Boeing 727, Boeing 737 and the Boeing 747, Gammell said.

UCI to Dedicate New $5,200,000 Science Building

It stands six stories high and will have a nuclear reactor in the basement.

The physical sciences building, the first major building to be added to UCI campus since it opened, will be dedicated Thursday.

Leland J. Haworth, director of the National Science Foundation, will be featured speaker at the 10 a.m. ceremony at the construction site.

The $5.2 million building, standing tall above other campus structures, already is well along toward completion. It will be opened early next year.

The building will provide classroom and laboratory space for 750 students. It will also contain research equipment financed from a $2.5 million federal grant, including the reactor which will be encased in a deep tank of water.

Architecture is of the neoclassical buildings.

Principal speaker at the 7 p.m. session will be State Sen. John G. Schmitz (R-Tustin) author of Senate Bill 678, a measure designed to protect medical men from unjust malpractice suits.

The controversial bill will be discussed beginning Thursday in senate hearings in Sacramento.

"The Guild is spearheading a drive in California to remove third party interference from the practice of medicine and dentistry," said Dr. Jack Hagadorn, president.

The Costa Mesa physician is founder and head of the statewide organization, which is loosely affiliated with similar groups in other states.

An estimated 450 doctors and dentists are expected to attend the Balboa Bay Club dinner meeting, which is expected to become an annual tradition.

"The unusually large attendance anticipated exemplifies the concern the private practicing physicians and dentists have over the present malpractice situation in California," says Dr. Hagadorn.

Sen. Schmitz' bill would set certain limits on the amount of malpractice judgments and place stringent rules for the filing times and procedures.

No limit, however, is proposed for judgments won in the case of malicious or intentional malpractice, under the Schmitz bill.

There appears to be no middle ground among those offering opinions on SB 678, with the CPDG and similar agencies urging its passage and others calling for its defeat.

Critics contend that, although it is a needed measure, Schmitz' proposed bill is too restrictive and will not effectively do the job it is intended to do.

The Costa Mesa Chamber of Commerce legislative committee last week voted 14-3 to endorse the bill, after deadlocking 11-1 one week earlier on endorsement.

Both votes came after panels of physicians, attorneys, and insurance men discussed the pros and cons of the Schmitz malpractice bill.

The California Physicians and Dentists Guild is similar in nature to older and larger professional societies, but is not handicapped by inability to take political action.

A five-point battle plan aimed at forcing change by putting pressure on objectionable people and situations has been drawn up by the Guild.

It ranges from discussing the situation with the offending party or agency to ceasing all but emergency medical service required to save or sustain a person's life.

Dr. Hagadorn said such a program could have been used to assure appointment of someone better-liked by the medical profession than Wilbur Cohen, new Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

Looking down on the hubbub were the portraits of previous governors who bid for the presidential nomination or got it — Hughes, Smith, the two Roosevelts, Dewey, and Harriman.

During the question-and-answer series that followed his announcement, Rockefeller said he would try to solve urban problems on the national scale with methods he had found workable in New York State. He sidestepped taking a position on bringing the Viet Cong into a coalition Vietnam government by saying that was a decision that must be taken by negotiators at the peace table.

Seated near Rockefeller as he tossed his hat into the ring were five former national GOP chairmen — Sen. Thurston B. Morton, Ky., Leonard Hall, William Miller, Sen. Hugh Scott, Pa., and Meade Alcorn. Morton played an important role in getting the governor to change his mind.

"Today I announce my active candidacy for the nomination by the Republican party for the presidency of the United States," Rockefeller told a cheering crowd who gave him a two-minute standing ovation. The governor leaned over and kissed his wife, Happy.

"I do this because, first, dramatic and unprecedented events have revealed the gravity of the crisis that we face," he said. "A comment from the sidelines is not the way to deal with this. Men and women in all walks of life within the Republican party and outsiders have urged me to take this step."

classes. There are 70 MORF yachts and 17 catamarans.

Scratch boat of the fleet is the 88-foot yawl Saluda, entered by the Navy Electronics Laboratory at San Diego. It will be manned by a Navy crew.

An unusual feature of this year's race is that the classes are divided more or less according to boat size rather than handicap allowances. Most of the Class C Ocean Racing boats, for example, carry less time allowance than yachts in Class B.

John Gettle, race committee chairman, said this was done to even up the number of entries in the various classes.

Class A lists yachts from 50 feet overall to the 89-footers. Class B Ocean Racing lists boats from 41 to 48 feet; Class C is composed largely of 40-footers with a few 37-footers.

By far the largest number in Class C are the Cal-40s with 18 entries. The rest of the class is made up of K-40s, Islander-37s, Columbia-38s and others about the same size.

Class D is dominated by the Cal-36s with 17 entries. Others include L-36s, Ohlson-36s, and Alberg-35s.

Class E contains a large fleet of Cal-34s, totaling 19. Others in the class include Cal-28s, Newport-30s, Cal-25s, Columbia-28s and Ericson 30s.

The MORF division has the largest concentration of class boats, dominated by Cal-28s and Cal-25s, with a sprinkling of Coronado-25s, Columbia Defenders and Cal-24s.

Largest catamaran in the fleet is the 58-foot Sea Smoke owned by TV actor Jim Arness of LAYC. Another celebrity-owned "cat" is Buddy Ebsen's new 35-foot Polynesian Concept. Smallest catamaran is the 28-foot Bold I skippered by Ronald Bobinsky.

County Board Order

OCC Must Take All Comers

By THOMAS FORTUNE
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Orange Coast Junior College District was ordered by county school board members Monday to accept all students who want to attend—with or without seat tax payment.

The county board's ruling appeared to be another victory for the new Saddleback Junior College District which is now setting up a Mission Viejo campus to serve students from Laguna Beach, Tustin and San Clemente-San Juan Capistrano areas.

The Orange Coast district operates two campuses, OCC at Costa Mesa and Golden West at Huntington Beach. The choice of Saddleback transfer students is likely to be OCC because it is closest to them.

South county students who cannot get the course of study they want at Saddleback may attend the county junior college of their choice, the board said.

But today it seems quite possible the Orange Coast district will play a final trump card. College officials are threatening to adopt a policy of preferential registration, giving first priority to students residing within the district.

If an enrollment limit also is set, Saddleback area students could be frozen out.

Neither district, then, would foot the bill both believe the other should be paying. South county students, without a campus to attend, would be the losers.

The county school board action apparently does not prevent preferential registration. Deputy County Counsel John Anderson said he could find nothing in the Education Code to make it binding that students be enrolled. Only that they be registered.

"We employ just so many instructors and have just so many facilities," Orange Coast Superintendent Norman Watson said. "When those classes are filled, they are filled, gentlemen. Once again I say it is a matter of equity, gentlemen."

Orange Coast trustee Worth Keene declared his first obligation is to students within the district. He said preferential registration is "not illogical after discussion here today."

Santa Ana College Superintendent Glenn Tabor was even more to the point. He said flatly his district "will be forced because of space to go into some sort of preferential registration."

Saddleback Trustee Michael Collins objected, to the logic of what Dr. Watson and Tabor were saying. "If we pay the seat tax there will be room for the students, but if we don't pay there won't be room. I don't think this is the situation," he observed.

He said seat tax money would not come in until 1969, and would not affect the budgets for next year.

Officials of the two battling junior college districts spoke sharply during the heated, two-and-a-half hour discussion.

Watson charged the seat tax savings would not go into new buildings but instead into the pockets of Saddleback taxpayers.

Speaking of legislation advocated by Orange Coast, Collins said, "It is short-sighted and downright wrong to try to ram a shotgun approach through the Legislature."

Referring to a broadside put out by Watson, Saddleback Superintendent Jack Roper said caustically, "I compliment Orange Coast on telling our story statewide. It is precedent setting for one district to tell the story of another."

At issue is whether Saddleback should pay $300 per student seat tax on students sent to other districts. Under state law, it is exempted for three years as a new district from doing so.

The seat tax, for building and maintenance, helps finance the seat occupied by the transfer student.

The county board vote for blanket admission of out-of-district students was 5-0. Previously, the county board had approved two appeals of Saddleback area students served with notices of restriction by Orange Coast.

Presently enrolled at Orange Coast are 1,200 Saddleback area students for which the district will receive $360,000 in seat tax payments. Those who will be sophomores next year or are in vocational programs will not be accommodated on the first-year Saddleback campus next fall.

One student who falls in this category, Marilyn Spivey, of Tustin, appeared Monday to urge the county board to take action.

She said she had been refused permission to register that morning and needs to register early to assure getting the courses she needs to transfer to a university.

There is provision in the county board action that no junior college district shall get more Saddleback transfer students than it has this year. North Orange County Junior College District, with relatively few Saddleback students, urged adoption of this formula to preserve the status quo.

The North County lobbying prompted Orange Coast Trustee Keene to remark angrily, "This is a case of their being pretty free with someone else's money."

winter home on the Southern California desert.

Shortly after the 77-year-old war hero and former President was carried into the hospital on a stretcher at dusk Monday, one of his aides made a brief announcement that "the doctors felt it is best for a period of medical observation and bed rest."

Asked whether Eisenhower, who twice has recovered from heart attacks, had suffered a third, the aide snapped: "I didn't say anything of the sort."

He disclosed that Eisenhower played a round of golf Monday morning and "complained of some chest discomfort in the afternoon, long after the golf."

A visit by King Olav V of Norway to Eisenhower's home at Eldorado Country Club in Indian Wells, scheduled for Monday afternoon was canceled.

About 6:45 p.m. PDT, two helicopters from the Air Base landed at the country club. Ten minutes later they were airborne, carrying Eisenhower the 34 miles to the five-story, 200-bed hospital.

One visitor in the hospital at the time of Eisenhower's arrival said he saw the former President carried in on a stretcher.

He said Eisenhower looked pale. A nurse walked beside the stretcher holding up what appeared to be a bottle of fluid for intravenous injection.

Newsmen were barred from the base by the commanding officer, on the grounds March is a Strategic Air Command activity closed to civilians.

A spokesman at the base called Eisenhower's visit a "routine checkup."

"He didn't feel good so he came in for a checkup," the Air Force spokesman said.

Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower did not accompany her husband to the hospital. She was expected to join him there today.

Eisenhower's first major illness was a heart attack, suffered in Denver in September, 1955, late in his first term as President. He recovered and won reelection in 1956. In June of that year he underwent surgery at Walter Reed Army hospital in Washington for ileitis, a blockage of the small intestine.

In November, 1957, he suffered a mild stroke at the White House, but was able to attend a NATO meeting in Paris three weeks later.

through on and offshore mooring fees now being collected by the county agency. That adds up to $62,000.

"There is little questioning that we could count on this income," he said. "I'm sure the county will agree to the transfer of these revenues to the city."

Additional revenue, the City Manager suggested, could be obtained by doubling offshore mooring fees.

But the biggest potential source of income to meet harbor operating expenses is dependent on the transfer of County tidelands grants to the city. Hurlburt said. He pointed out that some $115,000 is now collected annually by the county for such county tidelands leases as Newport Dunes, Balboa Yacht Club and the Channel Reef Apartment boat slips.

Also, there is the possibility of additional future revenue from county tidelands in the Upper Bay. Hurlburt cited as an example plans for a major marina on county tidelands at the mouth of Big Canyon on the east side of the bay.

LONDON (UPI) — Diplomatic sources said today Hanoi has told its allies it stands firmly by its four key conditions — including complete American withdrawal — as the "unalterable basis" for Vietnam peace negotiations.

The only issue on which the Communists appear to hold out some degree of compromise is the timetable for the American withdrawal from Vietnam.

Nor is Hanoi in any way prepared to modify its demand that the National Liberation Front of South Vietnam, the Viet Cong's political arm, should participate in peace negotiations, the sources said.

They said the idea of any softening of Hanoi's political stand in regard to a Vietnam settlement "can be safely dismissed."

Hanoi wants a return in principle to the Geneva Agreement of 1954, with the ultimate but not too distant aim of unifying Vietnam under its leadership.

The regime of President Ho Chi Minh may in effect demand and advance assurance from the United States for a settlement on the basis of its key terms before it agrees to come to the conference table.

Hanoi's four conditions for a settlement call for an end to foreign interference, complete American withdrawal, acceptance of the National Liberation Front and reunification as the penultimate stage of a peace accord.

The sources indicated there is apparently leeway on the demanded American withdrawal, envisaging a timetable for a phased pullout — but within months rather than years.

There is also some leeway in the Communists' timetable for unification of North and South Vietnam which Hanoi demands. A period of two or three years is tentatively mentioned in this context.

These ideas reflect the tough mood with which Hanoi is approaching negotiations with the United States — if such negotiations get under way at all.

Hanoi appears moreover set on continuing the fighting even while negotiating until it is assured of a settlement.

The fencing for a site for preliminary talks to decide whether formal talks can be arranged suggests that Hanoi is in no hurry to negotiate. It is seen by diplomatic observers to be marking time, with an eye to the U.S. presidential election, to differences within the American government and parties and world pressures generated by a systematic and studiously nourished propaganda campaign.

Some diplomatic observers did not rule out the possibility that Hanoi is in effect still hoping for a "defection" of Saigon through a new military offensive, initiating the third and final stage in the progress towards revolutionary victory, which it prefers to a negotiated settlement.

Brush Fire Under Control; No Orange County Threat

Weary fire fighters said they had the state's first major brush fire of 1968 "95 percent contained" this morning in the Riverside County area northwest of Elsinore. They hope to conquer the blaze late today.

A U.S. Forestry spokesman said "We have only one bad hot spot remaining at the extreme south end of Cow Canyon and we are moving in on it now." He said the terrain was straight up and down so it was giving the fire fighters some trouble.

A total of 10 helicopters and tank planes were dropping chemicals and water on the spot this morning.

The blaze, which devoured almost 300 acres of brush and timber was started Sunday by children playing with matches near the small community of Alberhill, six miles northwest of Lake Elsinore, forestry officials said.

There were 554 men still on the line this morning including 26 hand crews and seven forestry service fire trucks.

"The weather is much better today with winds down to six to 12 miles an hour on the ridges with the temperature lower and the humidity rising," the official said.

"With this break in the weather, we're almost certain to have it licked by tonight," the official said.

Monday the fire threatened to burn over Trabuco Peak into Orange County but was contained and the nearest line is one and a half miles from the Orange County boundary.

There were no buildings of any kind destroyed. There were only a few minor injuries among the fire fighters, mostly muscle strains.

Student Body Candidate Shows Hers

STANFORD (AP) — A Stanford University coed running for president of the student body is taking no chances on her assets going unnoticed.

Posters are going up all over the campus showing Vicky Drake, 21, a Spanish major, clothed only in a smile. "I am proposing nothing useful," she said. "Nothing more than a little distraction for a lot of book-weary students."

Miss Drake, whose political platform is 38-22-36, plans a whistle-stop tour of the men's dorms.

Stanford officials said she has a scholastic average "just over B."

Pill Blood Clot Scare Brings Label Revision

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) proposed today a "prompt revision of uniform labeling" of American-made oral contraceptives to reflect British studies linking use of the pill to possibly serious blood clot problems.

The British studies, published April 27, found occurrence of blood clotting in one out of every 2,000 women who took birth control pills. The effects ranged from generally minor to fatal strokes.

Called thromboembolic disease, the problem involves a moving blood clot within the body. Such a clot can lead to very minor damage or in some cases can cause serious illnesses and result in strokes. A report on the British studies said a great majority of the women found with the disease suffered only minor effects.

An estimated six million to 6.5 million women use oral contraceptives in the United States. Millions more use them in other parts of the world, particularly in underdeveloped nations.

The proposed new FDA labeling would "reflect the findings of the British studies," a spokesman said. Labeling of the pills would be aimed at prescribing physicians.

Dr. Herbert L. Ley Jr., director of the FDA Bureau of Medicine, notified U.S. manufacturers by telegram of publication of the British report last weekend. The wire was made public today.

7th Heart Transplant Patient Dies

PARIS (UPI) — Clovis Roblain, 66, the world's seventh heart transplant patient, died today 51 hours after he received the heart of a 23-year-old auto accident victim. Doctors blamed irreparable brain damage caused by a drop in blood pressure just after the operation.

Dr. Maurice Mercadier, chief surgeon at La Pitie Hospital, said the new heart continued to beat strongly at the end but that Roblain succumbed to secondary causes due to low resistance. Doctors later gave details of the "secondary causes."

Death of Roblain, a truck driver, left only one of seven persons who have undergone heart transplant operation alive. He is Dr. Philip Blaiberg, 58, a South African dentist who underwent a transplant operation Jan. 2 at Cape Town. Blaiberg, a patient of pioneer transplant surgeon Dr. Christian Barnard, has been released from the hospital and is doing well.

Surgeons finished the operation on Roblain at 7 a.m. Sunday but an hour later the patient's blood pressure took a drastic drop.

Doctors said they revived Roblain and that a few hours later the donated heart was beating "normally." But in a few minutes the blood stopped circulating, both his brain and his kidneys were damaged.

The blood transports oxygen to the brain and without it the brain is damaged. Because of this damage Roblain never regained consciousness and he was still in a coma when he died. During the night doctors became so fearful they started artificial respiration in a last desperate effort to keep him alive.

For a few moments it appeared the brain once more was "commanding" Roblain to breathe and he rallied for a relatively short time.

U.S. Summary

Spring has finally blossomed across much of the nation, the U.S. Weather Bureau announced today.

The stormy weather that has kept away the sweetest of all seasons faded into the southlands, where tornado warnings were posted Monday.

The weather bureau said a large and stable mound of high pressure straddling the nation's heartland would provide a large area of the nation with fine spring weather for a couple days at least.

Balmy weather with widespread sunshine prevailed over most of the nation today.

'Poor People's' Leader Demands 2 Million Jobs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Rev. Ralph Abernathy led an advance guard of the Poor People's Crusade to Capitol Hill today and demanded that Congress create a minimum of 2 million new jobs for the hard-core unemployed.

"Existing programs for creating jobs simply are not working," Abernathy told the Senate antipoverty subcommittee. "We need those jobs badly. We need them now. We need to have money in our pockets, to be able to hold up our heads."

"We must not, we cannot, we will not continue this way," he said. Abernathy, who took over leadership of the Poor People's Campaign conceived by the late Dr. Martin Luther King, said the nation must provide 1 million jobs immediately and another million over the next four years.

"We are here because we want to work but we are tired of being told there are no jobs for which we are qualified," Abernathy said. "Despite America's widely publicized affluence, hundreds of thousands drag out their lives in an economic depression as bad as any ever known."

"We certainly hope this Congress will realize the Negro — the black man — has been waiting 350 years, and I don't think we can be expected to wait forever for something that was guaranteed us by the Constitution," Abernathy said before entering the hearing room.

One of the poverty crusaders, Mrs. Martha Grass, an Indian woman from Ponca City, Okla., broke into sobs as she told the Senate panel "too many of our people are out of jobs."

"It is just a miracle we keep alive," she said. Mrs. Grass, mother of 11, said "our men break their health pitching hay for 2 cents a bale because they can't even get dishwashing jobs."

"We shared our country with you but you took all of it and we're starving," she added. "It's very hard when your child asks for something to eat and you've got nothing to give him when all around you you see how rich everybody else is in this country."

FORCIBLY REMOVED — Motorcycle policemen carry out dissident coed student from besieged Columbia University building in New York early today. More than 1,000 policemen moved on campus and scores were injured as students were dragged and carried from the buildings.

628 Arrested

Police Take Over At Columbia U.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Nearly 1,000 policemen moved onto the Columbia University campus early today and forcibly ejected hundreds of students from five buildings they had seized a week ago in a protest against university policy.

Police reported that 628 persons had been arrested, most of them on trespassing charges. About 100 of them were girls.

Scores of persons were injured as police, swinging nightsticks, dragged and carried screaming students from the building.

Officials at nearby St. Luke's Hospital reported 76 persons were treated for injuries. About 40 others received treatment at a campus first aid station.

Of those treated at the hospital, 60 were students, four were faculty members, and 12 were policemen. One policeman was admitted to a coronary unit, apparently suffering heart trouble.

Classes at Columbia College were ordered canceled today but other divisions of the university scheduled sessions for the afternoon.

Hours after police had cleared the campus, a group of students issued a statement calling on fellow students to stage a strike. They also demanded the resignation of University President Grayson Kirk and Vice President David Truman.

Kirk said he had no intention of resigning.

This morning, groups of 10 to 12 policemen patrolled the campus. They were jeered by small bands of students.

At least three rallies were scheduled for the day by various student groups. About 300 students milled around Low Library, one of the five buildings from which police began evicting the protesters early today.

The police were met at the doors by pushing and shoving students shouting: "We shall not be moved!" But the buildings were cleared within two hours of the policemen's arrival on the campus at 2:20 a.m. at the request of the university's board of trustees.

Of the 500 protesters, about 100 were Negroes and about 75 were women. Some were led from the buildings handcuffed and bleeding. The tinkle of glass and the banging of doors could be heard outside as police swept through the buildings.

Highway Patrol Standing Guard At Ohio State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Highway patrolmen stood guard at each door to the Ohio State university administration building today to prevent another takeover by Negro students.

It was the second day the patrolmen were present at the request of university officials following Friday's siege of the administration building by 75 students.

Emergency meetings were scheduled by the board of trustees and the faculty council today and tonight to discuss the action of students who held two vice presidents and other employees in the building by 75 students.

Draft Here to Stay

Task Force Rejects Reforms

WASHINGTON (UPI) — After months of public and congressional debate and a full-dress presidential study, the draft system is virtually where it was when controversy erupted.

Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey confirmed Monday that most of the much-discussed reforms proposed for the 20-year-old system have been rejected along the way.

Hershey met with reporters after news reports indicated a three-man task force of which he was a member had decided against most recommendations of the National Advisory Commission on Selective Service. Both panels were appointed by President Johnson.

Hershey said the task force, whose two other members were then Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and then Budget Director Charles Schultze, had done "a very fine job" in reviewing the recommendations of the advisory commission.

The task force finished its report on the commission's recommendations Oct. 16, 1967, but it was not previously made available to the public. Most of these proposals were rejected by Congress in 1967 when it extended the selective service laws for four years.

The commission, headed by former Assistant Atty. Gen. Burke Marshall, said there was confusion in the decentralized system under which some 4,000 separate draft boards administer the laws.

It called for creation of some 300 to 500 centralized regional offices, automated record-keeping, drafting of 19-year-olds first, selecting draftees by lottery, discontinuing student and occupational deferments, and other reforms.

Only one major recommendation has been carried out, and that one only in part. Graduate school deferments in fields other than medicine and general occupational training were abolished earlier this year.

Hershey spoke scornfully of the Marshall Commission's proposals. "I think they were pretty far out on the use of machines," he said. "I don't think they used the experiences of the past."

Of the proposal to replace the volunteer boards with paid professionals, Hershey said it would be a return to the "Civil War system."

The task force comment on this proposal contended that "local citizens send their young men to serve their country. Under the commission's proposed statute a federal official sends for them. In an unpopular war this could be of critical importance."

The task force in its own report to Johnson recommended steps to streamline administration of the draft, including expanded procedures for review of questionable decisions and stepped up development of national criteria for selection.

But Hershey said it would take $40 million to carry these out and it was not anticipated Congress would be asked for the money.

The task force accepted one commission recommendation long sought by Rep. John Moss (D-Calif.), chairman of a House subcommittee on freedom of information — public disclosure of the names of local draft board members.

"Although it is recognized that the local board members are sometimes harassed at their homes by appeals and protests, much of the public confidence value of having outstanding citizens as members of local boards is lost if the names of board members are withheld," the task force said.

Tito Ends Conference In Moscow

BELGRADE (UPI) — President Tito flew home today from a three week Asian tour capped by two day talks with Soviet leaders in Moscow.

No communication was expected on his Moscow discussions.

Tito spent three and a half hours Monday talking with Soviet Party Chairman Leonid I. Brezhnev, President Nikolai V. Podgorny and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin.

Informed sources said they discussed Vietnam and the Middle East — on which the two nations agree — and the situation within the Communist bloc, on which they do not always agree.

War With Israel 'Inevitable'

Nasser Blasts Parade Plans

United Press International U.N. diplomats today predicted the next few days would be their most crucial period since the June mid-east war because of Israel's plans to hold a military parade in Jerusalem's Arab sector in defiance of a security council ban.

Other indications of a brimming crisis were an unexpected and unexplained trip to London by Jordan's King Hussein and a fiery speech by President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt promising that Israel will "pay the price" for a parade. In a broadcast speech Nasser said another war with Israel was "inevitable."

In the Holy City of Jerusalem itself U.N. troubleshooter Gunnar Jarngren conferred with Israeli officials, apparently seeking some way to bring together Jordan and Israel for talks on solving their differences.

2 MEETINGS

At the United Nations security council members held strategy sessions today to prepare for two critically important meetings on the Middle East Wednesday and Thursday.

The Israeli ambassador, Joseph Tekoah, said the Israeli independence day parade Thursday will take place despite the security council ban.

"The Jewish people have waited for this for 2,000 years," he said.

Tekoah made the comment shortly after the council voted the ban Saturday. He took the position that the council's call to abandon the parade was an "advice" and not an "order."

The unanimous council vote urged Israel "to refrain" from staging the parade which will include a display of tanks, armor and warplanes through the formerly Arab-held sector of Jerusalem captured in the June 5-10 war.

SURPRISE

King Hussein flew to London Monday on a visit that took officials by surprise. The trip was officially described as "essentially private" but diplomatic sources said the Jordanian king would meet with Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart and probably with Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

The semi-official Middle East News Agency reported from Amman that Hussein would be visiting with European officials for about two weeks. The tour recalled one by Hussein last year when he went to Washington and to major European capitals seeking arms and political support.

Nasser said in a nationwide broadcast Monday that "no matter what resolutions are adopted by the United Nations, the battle will come inevitably whether we want it or not."

But the Egyptian president warned that the nation should guard against being drawn into battle before it is ready "and before we are absolutely confident we are fit for battle and have remedied our deficiencies."

The Egyptian armed forces suffered a crushing defeat in the June war but have been built up again, largely with Soviet help. Nasser acknowledged that assistance by saying, "our friends in the Soviet Union stood by us in our time of ordeal."

North Korea Infiltrators Kill 2 More

SEOUL (UPI) — Two South Korean soldiers were killed and two others wounded in a new attack by North Korean infiltrators in the Demilitarized Zone Monday. Korean military spokesmen said today.

In the second Communist attack in three days, the North Koreans ambushed a seven-man South Korean patrol in the eastern sector of the 15 mile zone that divided the two Koreas, the spokesmen said.

Newspapers in Seoul said the South Korean patrol called for artillery support and batteries near the scene fired 100 shells. South Korean army headquarters, however, refused to confirm the report.

Saturday North Koreans attacked a United Nations command patrol near the Panmunjom Truce Village, killing one South Korean soldier and wounding two American soldiers.

Tass Attacks U.S. Flights

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet news agency Tass said today U.S. planes invaded North Vietnamese air space over Hanoi. It did not say they bombed Hanoi.

According to the Tass dispatch from Hanoi, "American air pirates invaded today the air space of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam over its capital Hanoi."

"The city's anti-aircraft units met them with a powerful barrage of fire."

Scientists Reveal Oldest Human Skull in West

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Scientists have put on display here what they describe as the oldest human remains ever discovered in the Western Hemisphere — 11,000 to 13,000 years.

They took to the office of Sen. Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.), Monday a charred and broken skull found at a site in southeastern Washington State soon to be flooded by a federal dam.

Describing the findings were Assistant Prof. Roald Fryxell and Prof. Richard B. Daugherty, both of Washington State University.

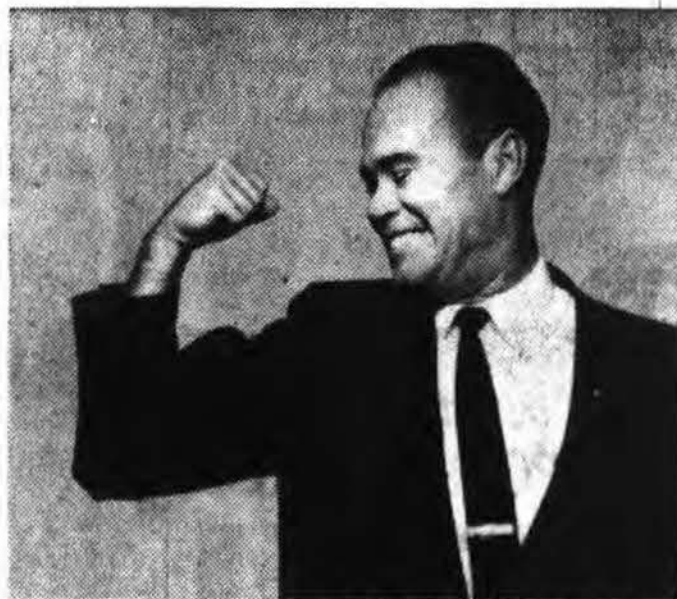

Fryxell found the remains, and Daugherty directed past excavations at the site.

The skull was found in 1965, Fryxell told reporters, but it was dated accurately less than two weeks ago with discovery of other objects at the same site.

The skull and remains of other human bones were dug out of a 13-foot pit about 1½ miles from where the Snake and Palouse Rivers come together. The area will be flooded by the $181 million lower monumental dam being built by the corps of engineers.

Socialite Kidnaped, Held Under 'Gruesome' Threats

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Authorities today sought a man who kidnaped a wealthy woman, held her for three days under "gruesome" threats and then released her without picking up a ransom of $250,000 in small bills.

The abduction of Mrs. Margaret E. Louis, 61, from her swank home in Lafayette across the bay from San Francisco last Tuesday evening was revealed Monday by Dist. Atty. John Nejedly of Contra Costa County.

She was released unharmed in San Francisco's Golden Gate Park Friday night. But the kidnaper never picked up the ransom, lying in a zippered bag by a statue overlooking the Pacific Ocean two miles away.

The FBI was preparing an artist's sketch of the abductor but said it would not enter the case actively because it appears Mrs. Louis was not transported across state lines.

Nejedly said disclosure of the kidnaping was delayed until Monday to insure the woman's safety and allow police time to check out leads that proved fruitless. He said he believed the kidnaping was the work of more than one person and was "well-conceived and well-executed."

He said the detailed ransom note was typed on 1½ pages of legal sized paper and threatened Mrs. Louis with sexual assault and acid burning. She is the wife of T. E. Louis, 68, president of Louis Stores, Inc., a chain of 40 supermarkets in the San Francisco Bay area.

Louis was working at his office 10 miles away in Emeryville when a man about 6-feet, 2-inches tall and weighing about 180 pounds rang the doorbell at his home. Mrs. Louis, napping on a living room couch, opened the door and was overpowered, blindfolded and led to a car.

Land of Free Objectors Must Put Son in School

RIVERSIDE (UPI) — The parents who would not allow their 13-year-old boy to attend junior high because they objected to the history textbook "Land of the Free" have been placed on one year probation and ordered to enroll the boy in a full time school.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Guyaux, Riverside, were sentenced Monday in municipal court, after they were found guilty of violating the state education code for not sending their son, David, to a social science class where the text was required.

The parents were ordered to place the boy in a full time school by May 6. He was expelled from Central Junior High School in November, 1967.

Mrs. Guyaux said, "I have no regrets although we were not permitted to offer a defense." She said the boy would be sent to a private school.

Critics of the text have charged that it places over emphasis on the roles of minority groups in the history of America.

Actor Aids McCarthy

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — Actor Paul Newman said Monday night there is "not a chance in hell" that Gov. Ronald Reagan of California will be the next president of the United States.

Newman told an estimated 700 people at the Lincoln Airport that Reagan, the former movie and television star, doesn't have the political credentials to serve the country.

Newman was in Nebraska to campaign for Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota.

Withholding Bogs Down

SACRAMENTO (AP) — State income tax withholding is bogged down in the Assembly Ways and Means Committee today, and Democrats say the proposal will remain there until Gov. Reagan accepts it.

But Assemblyman John G. Veneman (R-Modesto), author of the withholding bill, said chances "are pretty thin at this point" of the Republican governor changing his mind and backing the payroll deduction plan.

Veneman's bill failed, by a 7-7 vote Monday, to clear the Democratic-controlled committee. Afterward, Ways and Means Chairman Robert W. Crown (D-Alameda), told him:

"Your best approach is to secure the support of the governor. If you do that I think you'll find you have sufficient votes." It takes 11 for committee approval.

The committee argued about the bill for an hour and a half. Most Republicans defended the governor, but Veneman, who is at odds with him on taxes, criticized Reagan's plan for a voluntary type of withholding — something like the banks' "Christmas clubs."

"I'm afraid this plan was not given too much thought," he said.

But Veneman didn't agree with Democrats who like withholding but won't vote for it unless the governor abandons his opposition. Expressing the official position of the Democrats, who control the Assembly 42-38, was Democratic caucus chairman Winfield A. Shoemaker, D-Lompoc, who said "we should not be in the position of ramming down the governor's throat anything he doesn't want."

PE Teacher Shapes Up With Diet

LARKSPUR (UPI) — The extra pounds threatening the job of high school gym teacher Betty Blodgett will become a thing of the past if she sticks to her diet, her doctor said Monday at a personal hearing.

The hearing by a state official was called after Miss Blodgett's principal said last week he would not renew her contract at Redwood High School because she was overweight.

"Miss Blodgett does not serve as an appropriate image for physical health and vigor," said Principal Donald Kreps. "My professional opinion is that she is not an effective teacher."

However, her doctor, Wendell H. Butler, said Monday she had already come down from 220 pounds to 212 in the last week.

If she continues on the special diet prescribed for her the 41-year old Miss Blodgett will weigh between 142 and 154 pounds by September, Butler said.

The hearings, conducted by Paul A. Winton of the state office of administrative procedure, will continue Wednesday and Thursday. Winton will then make a recommendation to school trustees whether Miss Blodgett should be retained or dismissed.

"WHERE COURTESY IS A WAY OF BUSINESS LIFE"

CHICK IVERSON saved a retired couple almost $68.50 cash...every month

This is not a ridiculous story...read on.

When this man retired, he was driving a popular make larger car. He couldn't afford to maintain the high cost of his present car every month, yet he and his wife needed transportation every day. He went to see Chick Iverson about a smaller car...a Volkswagen, and he and his wife were amazed at the amount of cold cash they could save every month. Chick Iverson showed them that they could save approximately $68.50 a month over a 5 year period. This comparison involved substantial savings on purchase price, gasoline, insurance, license plates, tires, interest on car payments, repairs, and on and on. Not only could they now afford a car, but they also saved enough to take some trips that they hadn't planned on. Saving money is not ridiculous. If you would like to enjoy Instant Economy regardless of your occupation, then call Chick Iverson on the Peninsula and get the full comparison—Free, of course.

Most Voters Against State Withholding

Assemblyman John V. Briggs (R-Fullerton) today released results of a questionnaire on major issues facing the California Legislature.

The poll was taken throughout the 38th Assembly District in both Orange and San Bernardino counties. Over 62,000 questionnaires were mailed to voters of the two counties.

Fifty-six percent of Briggs' constituents who responded voted in favor of retaining the present personal income tax system, while 40 percent voted to allow the employer to withhold taxes in the same way that federal income taxes and social security are withheld.

Concerning medical cuts, 63 percent declared that even more cuts should be made and only 23 percent voted that the cuts were unnecessary and should be restored.

In other major issues, 72 percent favored legislation that would guarantee secret elections for all unions. Of the total amount, only 22 percent who answered were union members.

Opinions were diversified on the question of rapid transit financing. Forty-three percent suggested bonds voted by local approval; 20 percent saw no need for the system due to adequate freeways; 14 percent suggested an increase in gasoline taxes and an additional 11 percent wanted increased automobile sales and license taxes.

The remaining questions dealt with campus demonstrations, educational jurisdiction, student government and smog.

City Settled Grove Finally Gets Mayor

GARDEN GROVE — Two weeks of bickering came to an end here Monday as the Garden Grove City Council finally elected a mayor.

Chosen to head the city's third largest city was H. Reece Ballard who was elected to the council in 1964. Ballard was elected when the other nominees for mayor, Vice Mayor Kathryn Barr, nominated him, thus making for a unanimous vote.

Mrs. Barr was then re-elected vice mayor. Ballard, a 53-year-old private investigator, headed the Garden Grove police department from 1957 to 1962.

The earlier stalemate for the city's top post resulted when newly elected Councilman John R. Dean refused to support either candidate, thus depriving both Ballard and Mrs. Barr of the necessary three votes to be elected by the five-man council.

Dean indicated that he was ready to support Laurence Schmidt for the position, but after Mrs. Barr's nomination of Ballard he said he went along with the vote in the interest of unity.

Mrs. Barr said, "As senior member of this City Council, I feel deeply the deliberate breach in legislative continuity which reflects adversely on our city, the council and each of us individually."

Marine Force Lands Near San Clemente

CAMP PENDLETON (UPI) — A 4,000-man reinforced Marine Corps regiment landed at White Beach midway between Oceanside and San Clemente in war games at this Marine base Monday.

The Marines were put ashore by a 46-strip first fleet task force using landing craft and helicopters.

By Monday night the invaders had pushed about 12 miles inland to a mock-up "combat town," where a major house to house battle was to be staged today.

The house-to-house training could be related to recent action in Vietnam, a spokesman said. The exercise will end Friday.

The hypothetical problem of the invaders was to offer assistance to an imaginary nation called Redonda which asked for help against infiltrators from neighboring Marines on the north. The Marines' job was to drive out the infiltrators, whose part was taken by a force of 400 Marines intended to represent a much larger force.

Man Killed In Accident

ANAHEIM — A motorist was fatally injured Monday when his car struck a tree on West Orange Avenue here.

Police said Harold P. Ward, 58, of Anaheim, was driving alone at the time of the accident. The County Coroner's Office said he died at the West Anaheim Community Hospital of head injuries.

Orange GI Dies in Viet

ORANGE — Army Spec. 4 Gary A. Stading, 21, of Orange was among 126 U.S. Servicemen identified by the Defense Department Monday as killed in Vietnam.

Stading was the son of Fred D. Stading, 1042 E. Mayfair St., Orange. He graduated from Orange High School in 1964, and entered the Army in August, 1964.

Judge Cites DAV Lawyer

SANTA ANA — David Cadwell, attorney for the embattled Disabled American Veterans (DAV) of Santa Ana, is the newest target today in the months-long legal maneuvering between the State Attorney General's Office and local DAV Leaders.

Cadwell Monday was ordered by Superior Judge James F. Judge to allow the attorney general's office to examine his personal bank account.

Cadwell threatened to appeal to a higher court before the May 15 deadline set for revealing the account which he maintains for personal and business reasons.

The attorney is representing the DAV Jack Fischer Chapter and the DAV Foundation of Santa Ana in civil action brought by the state last year alleging that the organizations have commingled charitable and fraternal funds.

For months, legal maneuvering has been going on before Judge Judge. The attorney general's office at one time contended that Cadwell diverted "at least $44,500 of DAV trust funds" into his own account.

Cadwell maintains the transfers were for his fees and expenses.

Deputy Attorney General Charles Rumph told the court that he is not sure that Cadwell's assertion is correct and wishes to determine "whether the entire amount diverted to Cadwell's account was used in compliance with a previous stipulation in the original suit last year."

The stipulation required that any funds spent for the DAV be distributed only by the board of directors of the DAV Foundation, a charitable group set up to administer the assets of the local DAV chapter and its thrift stores until the suit is settled.

We can make a sweet deal sweeter by $50 or more.

Free checking account. You can get a car loan most anywhere. But at First Western Bank you can get a free checking account included. No matter how low your checking account balance, there's no service charge for the length of the loan. And service charges average a little over $2.00 a month.

So if you borrow the money for 24 months, you'll be about $50 ahead. If you borrow the money for 36 months, you'll be over $72 ahead. And that's not the only way you'll save.

Bank interest rate. There are all kinds of interest rates on car loans, but all things considered, nobody will give you a better deal than our $900 million bank will.

There are no strings attached. You don't have to be a regular customer. You don't need a big down payment. And we think foreign cars are simply wonderful.

To put it simply: Loans have prices just like cars do. And if you can beat our deal, you probably own your own bank.

He's reading the eighth chapter in a record of dramatic growth. We've reserved a copy for you too!

As in each of eight preceding years, 1967 reflects another year of dramatic growth. In 1967 gross revenues rose to $2.7 billion, and earnings per share, after the recent 2-for-1 split, were equal to $2.27.

Our 1967 Annual Report is a story of change. From a corporation earning less than $31 million in 1960, we have become a corporation with earnings of $119.2 million. Almost a fourfold growth in eight years.

Our annual report tells how a single concept—"management must manage"—has helped build our global network into the efficient corporation it is today, with a task force of 236,000 people in offices and factories throughout 67 countries, and sales outlets in 56 more.

We forecast that sales and net income would double in 5 years and again in 5 years, and that per share earnings would continue to increase at 10-12% annually. We have hit these targets.

Profit isn't the whole story, though. In this report, you will see how our grouping of companies has resulted in a more efficient use of manpower and material resources.

LAWYERS ON STAND — F. Lee Bailey, above, with attorneys Melvin Belli, Percy Foreman, Louis Nizer and Edward Bennett Williams will appear on an hour program, "The Trial Lawyer," tonight at 10 on Channel 2. The moderator of the program, Harry Reasoner, will put all five famed lawyers on the stand.

TELEVISION VIEWS Changes Dues On Networks

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — The television networks, as usual about this time, are having some second thoughts about their fall schedules.

ABC, for one, has decided to renege "N.Y. P.D.," the police-action series shot mostly on location in New York.

The half-hour program costarring Frank Converse and Robert Hooks was canceled, but later started to pick up some extra Nielsen steam when "It Takes a Thief" was placed in the Tuesday night schedules ahead of it.

THE PINK SLIP has now been withdrawn, and the show will return to the same Tuesday night spot next September. Meanwhile, "Felony Squad," which squeaked through to a renewal for a third season will be moved to Friday night—and "Dream House," an audience participation show, will be dropped as evening entertainment although the daytime version will continue.

There may be some changes at CBS, too. Although the network originally decided to drop "He and She" after one season, its stars, Dick Benjamin and Paula Prentiss are still under option by the network, and the show may get another chance.

"FELONY SQUAD" whose fate was in the balance for awhile, turned up with an episode Monday that seemed to have little plot but plenty of violence. The show opened with the detective hero viciously slugging his young partner to persuade the bad guys that he was unhappy and quitting the force.

From that moment on the show consisted of a series of fist fights and gun-slinging. It wound up with one heavy being shot, another run over by a train and a third beaten senseless.

"PEYTON PLACE," on ABC is one series that will not be rerunning old episodes during the summer season, but the viewer who plans to include its Monday and Thursday night episodes in his schedule is advised to give himself two or three weeks to understand what all the suffering is about.

If one has been inattentive for a short period, it is difficult to pick up all the tangled threads. For instance, there's a nice young minister in town, and he has an alcoholic wife. Constance and Eliot Carson have acquired an infant, but it seems to be on loan. Dr. Rossi now has a young brother around and he looks like a bad 'un.

BETTY ANDERSON, who last time this viewer looked was married to Steven Cord, is now getting engaged to Rodney Harrington — but wasn't she married to him when the series began?

Throngs Flock to Tourney

Flights Take Off for Blind

Birds of different feathers will be flocking together for Harbor Guild's Friendly Bridge Tournament.

Flamingo, Roadrunner, Ibis, Eagle, Nut-hatch, Dialbird, Lyrebird and Yellowbird flights will take off during weekly games.

Flight members had a chance to meet their "fine feathered friends" at a kick-off coffee in the Shorecliffs home of Mr. and Mrs. John Killefer.

There was much chirping about the fact that the tournament, the first fund-raising event by the guild, was over sold.

The five-week competition will raise funds for the Services for the Blind, Santa Ana, which needs financial support to expand its facilities and personnel in order to serve more than 3,000 blind persons in Orange County.

A new program, being initiated, will work with blind infants and preschoolers and will offer counseling to their parents.

Services for the Blind, Inc. is a California based, non-profit corporation which began operation in July of 1963 in Santa Ana. It is totally dependent upon private donations of time, equipment, facilities, and funds for its continued operation and expansion.

Instruction is provided in several areas including mobility, Braille transcription, vocational skills such as typing, household techniques and personal management. Social activities are also arranged.

The Harbor Guild Friendly Bridge Tournament will conclude with a cocktail party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Weedon of Corona del Mar, June 9.

But winners of the tournament may be up in the air long afterward as they wing their way to San Francisco as guests of an airline which donated the flight as prizes.

which will enhance the garden scene for their May 11 fashion show, entitled Fashions 'n Flowers. Bullock's, Santa Ana will be the setting for the benefit.

Teen Fashions Flower

To finance needy children for orthodontia through the Newport Beach Assistance League's Children's Dental Health Center and to continue their welfare program, Assistees will present a Fashions 'n Flowers benefit brunch Saturday, May 11, in the tearoom of Bullock's, Santa Ana.

Unusual aspect of the parade will be the feature of only teen-age styles.

Members modeling will be the Misses Carroll Badham, Susan Badham, Diane Barrett, Gail Broering, Linda Busche, Becky Carver, Cathy Clarkson, Sue Chapman, Libby Crowner, Jane Fletcher, Brynn Garner, Tracey Gayner, Sandy Holstein, Julie Jarvis, Benita Lillegraven, Laura Manning, Kim Parker, Lisa Pennington, Wendy Peterson, Deanna Peyton, Diane Plumb, Susan Rott, Anne Storch, Sally Storch and Sue Wachter. Guests will be greeted by Miss Carver, Assis-teens chairman and the Misses Polly Boyd, Kristin Lillegraven and Kathy Koch, hostesses.

Mrs. Walter Gayner is coordinator, assisted by Mrs. William Pennington, and Mrs. Robert Crowner is hostess chairman of mothers.

A profusion of paper flowers, which will adorn the garden setting, is creation of the Misses Pennington and Gayner and their committee. Other chairmen are the Misses Clarkson, models; Sally Storch, Fletcher and Pennington, invitations; Wachter, reservations; Carver, program, and Peyton, prizes.

Accepted into provisionalship are the Misses Lucia Andrews, Cathy Brandmeyer, Michele Edelblute, Teri Huston, Katherine Klug, Koch, Lillegraven, Linda Lord, Jennifer Manning, Jaena Puskaski, Leslie Reed, Laurie Snyder, Jana Thagard, Teri Tiberg and Lynn Weddington.

CM Friends Write New Chapter

First chapter in the 1968-69 edition of Costa Mesa Friends of the Library was written last week when new leaders were elected and installed during a luncheon in the Costa Mesa Golf and Country Club.

Because of the volume of activities, a double slate was named for most offices.

Directing both groups will be Dr. Hilda McCartney, and serving with her as first vice presidents and program chairmen are Mrs. William Stainforth and Mrs. James Walsworth, while accepting the second vice presidency and chairmanship of education-great books are Mrs. Robert Bergman and Mrs. Michael Sultan.

Named as third vice presidents and publicity chairmen are Mrs. William Collum and Mrs. Malcolm Ehlers; fourth vice presidents and chairmen of membership are Mrs. Clifford Staton and Mrs. John Cannady, while Mrs. Carl Stevens will handle ways and means as fifth vice president.

Serving as sixth vice presidents in charge of public relations are Mrs.

STEPPING INTO OFFICE—Heading the Costa Mesa Friends of the Library is Dr. Hilda McCartney, assisted by Mrs. Paul Friebertshausen and Mrs. William Collum (left to right), who were installed with other officers last week.

Alvin Pinkley and Mrs. John Kemmerer; seventh vice presidents and social chairmen, Mrs. Richmond Applegate, and recording Johnson and Mrs. Leo secretary, Mrs. Paul Rovin; treasurer, Mrs. John Friebertshausen.

Employer's Father Image Gives Secretary 'Paw' Complex

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I had to smile when I read the letter from the secretary whose boss couldn't keep his hands to himself. She said his "fatherly" pats had become bold pinches and squeezes and she wanted your advice on how to keep him in line without jeopardizing her job.

It so happens that I am a boss and my problem is a secretary who won't keep her hands off ME. I am 59 and no handsome lover type. My secretary is 24 and extremely attractive. She also is very competent and knows this office from top to bottom. If I fired her it would take months to break in a new girl. This pawing has been going on for nine years. Please tell me what to do. I am in urgent need of an answer. — ALSO UPACRICK

DEAR ALSO: If you have been "suffering" with the problem for nine years it can't be very urgent. I will give you the same advice I gave the secretary who wrote. Kwtcherkiddin'.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This letter may sound terribly stupid but it is a problem that bothers not only me, but some of my friends. Maybe you can help.

I am a girl, 16, and have been dating for over a year. I go with nice fellows and my folks have met and approved of them all. The problem is that whenever I leave the house my mother and father both kiss me good-bye as if I am going to Europe or something.

The other evening my dad was in the back of the house and my mother shouted to him, "Come kiss Ellie good-bye — she's leaving." I felt like a fool.

Please tell me what to do about this? — KISSING KIN

DEAR KIN: Stop complaining. Your parents sound like warm-hearted people who love you and aren't ashamed to show it. If you could read the letters

I get from teen-agers whose parents give them the deep freeze you'd appreciate yours.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently you printed a letter dealing with parents, children and money. You gave the impression that you are opposed to parents giving adult children money. Have you considered the age of the parent and the amount of money involved?

Giving money does not necessarily result in loss of income or security. It might merely require an investment that would yield more tax-free dollars. An annual gift of $3,000 would not only endear the parent to the child, but yield greater net results after estate taxes. And no gift tax would be involved either.

Since you generally consult experts why didn't you consult an estate planner before you answered the mother's letter? — GREAT NECK ATTORNEY

DEAR GREAT NECK: I didn't need to consult an expert on that one. I knew the answer. And it has nothing to do with estate planning or gift tax.

Your notion that an annual present of $3,000 will "endear" a parent to a child is rubbish. Too many confused parents have the notion that money and gifts are appropriate substitutes for time and attention. Irrevocable trust funds are appealing because "it's cheaper than giving the money to the government." Granted, some trusts make a great deal of sense, especially where there is an incompetent or foolish wife who would blow an estate if she had the chance. But the other side of the coin should not be ignored. If a kid knows he is due to inherit a staggering sum at 21 it may kill his incentive to stay in school or go to work (heaven forbid). And then you have a bum on your hands.

Mayor's 'Better Half'

Experience to Share

By JODEAN HASTINGS
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

"It's an experience I wish more people could go through," claimed petite, blonde Mary Schwerdtfeger, whose husband Robert is serving his second term as Fountain Valley's mayor.

"I guess I just happened to have been reared in a very large and very patriotic family. I feel people should let their views be known and take a part in government if government is going to work for the good of all the people."

Deeming her husband's election to serve both terms a very great honor, she still was surprised since, she explained, "elections are like ball games and you never know what will happen until the very last out."

The Schwerdtfegers, Fountain Valley residents for more than four years, are the parents of Julie, who was 7 years old on Easter, and Jennifer, 10.

Although the city's first lady has been active in many community organizations she finds she has had to drop many of her own activities because with Bob's official duties "we couldn't both be going."

Mary's community contributions in 1966 were responsible for her being presented with an award for outstanding service by the Fountain Valley PTO. With Mrs. Fran Donovan and Mrs. Dorice Jesko, Mary started the very active Friends of the Library and the Fountain Valley High School chapter of American Field Service. She also serves on the board of directors for the Boys' Club, is a member of the woman's club and Las Brisas del Mar, auxiliary to Children's Home Society.

Mary's major interests, other than her family, always has been working with and for children and schools and she misses not having hours enough to do more of it now. Her efforts were responsible for the forming of the junior choir in the First Methodist Church, and she has been very active in scouting.

Being the mayor's wife does present wardrobe problems, but she laughed, "Isn't it a problem for every woman? I don't think any woman can say she has all the clothes she wants! I have learned not to buy high fashion clothing. A bright orange and green plaid may be very pretty but it is remembered every time you wear it. I guess I'm pretty conservative."

She met her husband when an older sister's fiancé brought over a "best friend" who later became engaged to another sister. This friend in turn brought over another friend, who turned out to be Bob, and the couple were married within a year.

Mary is the youngest of the five daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Church of Long Beach, and the whole family is anxiously awaiting the arrival of the only boy who is coming home from Vietnam.

"Our family always has been very close," Mary commented. "We all get together for holidays and things. The thing I want most of all for my birthday is my brother home again."

In January she obtained a real estate license which she feels helps her share some of Bob's burden since she can at least answer questions for him. She feels that gardening (which they both enjoy) and golf are absolute "musts" for her husband as the physical exercise relaxes him after mental strain. The Schwerdtfegers also like to go for walks on evenings when they are able to be at home.

The mayor also enjoys cooking and is a good cook, Mary said. "When we were first married, I didn't know how to cook so Bob had to teach me," she recalled. "He wouldn't let me use anything canned or frozen—I had to learn to prepare everything from scratch."

Being the mayor's wife can be a little hectic at times, she admitted, but even though she finds she can't fit everything in to her busy schedule, pride in her husband's accomplishments in the city more than makes up for curtailing many of her own activities.

Time Gets Credit for Savings

By DOROTHY WENCK
Orange County Home Advisor

(Editor's Note: Mrs. Dorothy Wenck is home advisor for the University of California Agricultural Extension Service. This is the fourth in a series of articles on the problems facing today's consumer.)

In the "old days" families did not use credit, or if they did they didn't admit it as it was considered not quite respectable.

But our ideas about credit are changing—now it's respectable—and we are, in fact, living in a "credit society."

Credit buying has made goods and services available to more people. It has promoted mass production, lower costs, more jobs and a higher standard of living.

"Saving is proceeding at a greater rate than if consumer credit were not available," according to George W. Mitchell, member of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

All to the good. But unwise use of credit can lead to misery. Some consumer economists put overuse of installment buying at the top of the list of leading consumer problems.

Many families use installment credit as a substitute for budgeting, for it takes budgeting to save money to pay cash for things.

But the credit buyer has to budget in order to save enough to pay his debts. He hasn't really gained anything except the use of the goods sooner.

And instead of receiving a reward

(interest) on his savings, he must pay rent (interest) on the use of someone else's money.

Credit buying costs you more for other reasons too. It encourages impulse buying.

Credit buyers also tend to buy higher priced merchandise. They are easier to "trade up" to a fancier model.

The amount of purchase per credit sale is typically enough larger than a cash sale to compensate for the extra overhead of credit selling.

For example, people who use credit cards in restaurants spend 25 to 30 percent more than cash customers. This more than covers the 5 percent fee the restaurant pays the credit card company for use of this service.

Revolving charge accounts are profitable to merchants. The earnings from the service charges on revolving charge accounts frequently are equal to or better than the net return from the markup on the merchandise.

Few people realize what the true date of interest is on a revolving charge account.

When you sign the contract with the store to open your account, you agree to pay a service charge of 1 1/2 percent per month on the unpaid balance.

If you use their easy payment plan, the seemingly small service charge of 1 1/2 percent per month is a true annual interest of 18 percent per year.

This 18 percent per year can now be compared with the 6 percent per year that you may be paying on your home loan. Few people take the time to make this comparison.

On an installment loan, for example for a refrigerator, the service charge may be stated as 10 percent per year. But this is not the true annual interest rate and cannot be compared with a 6 percent home loan.

The true annual interest on an installment loan is nearly double the stated rate. Thus 10 percent per year is in truth 18.5 percent per year.

The reason for this is that you don't have the use of all the money you borrowed for the whole year.

The average amount of money you use is only about half of the total amount of the loan. So the true annual interest is nearly double the stated rate. Thus 10 percent stated becomes 18.5 percent true annual interest.

On an auto installment loan California law allows a top rate of 12 percent per year. But this is not true annual interest. As true annual interest it is about 22 percent.

The only way that consumers can compare interest rates intelligently is to have them all stated in the same terms, namely as true annual interest. Otherwise it's like trying to compare feet with inches or oranges with rabbits.

This is why the Federal Congress is in the process of passing the Truth in Lending law. The bill is now awaiting a Senate-House conference after being passed in both houses.

In the House passed measure, interest rates must be stated as true annual interest on all credit contracts so consumers can compare rates easily.

The Senate passed measure excludes from this requirement revolving charge accounts and loans under $100 (which often have an interest charge of 2 1/2 percent per month or 30 percent true annual interest).

The purpose of this legislation is to make it easier for consumers to shop intelligently for credit. It has been strongly opposed by the credit merchandisers and the lending industry who say that consumers don't care what interest rate they pay. Do you agree?

Newlyweds to Reside In Huntington Beach

Martha Jane Sowers and Charles Edward Holcomb Jr. exchanged vows and rings before baskets of white chrysanthemums and gladioli in Los Alamitos Naval Air Station Chapel.

Chaplain E. Dean Cook, U.S. Navy, presided at the ceremony uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac L. Sowers of Huntington Beach and the son of Lt. and Mrs. Charles E.

Holcomb of Huntington Beach.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a chantilly lace gown with a sabrina neckline, a tiered skirt over a hoop, long pointed sleeves and a chapel train. Her veil of French silk was caught to a handmade crown of silk rose petals and leaves. A bouquet of white roses centered with an orchid completed her ensemble.

Miss Judy Lindgren of Naples was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Roberta Sowers, the bride's sister and Miss Terry Holcomb, the bridegroom's sister. Attendants were groomed in long, sleeveless, A-line frocks with an overlay of white lace on pink satin. They carried daisies with streamers.

Best man was Bruce Nash. Ushers were Kerry Redican and Bill Rothwell.

Sixty-three guests attended the reception in Villa Sweden.

Assisting were the Mmes. Wayman Turman of Lomita, James Brakefield of Wilmington, Kenneth Sossaman of Long Beach, Thomas Brakefield, Garden Grove and the Misses Jovianne Osuch and Aletha Jackson, both of Huntington Beach.

Special guests included Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Vincent Sr. of Benicia, grandparents of the bridegroom; Mrs. Robert Brakefield of Wilmington, grandmother of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Case and family of Vallejo, aunt and uncle of the bridegroom; Mrs. Emily McCowen of Martinez, and Mrs. Ella Gable of Benicia, both great-aunts.

The newlyweds are both graduates of Marina High School. After a wedding trip to Santa Barbara they will make their home in Huntington Beach.

Happier Days for Sox

FROM BAD TO WORSE — Things have not gone right for the Chicago White Sox and manager Eddie Stanky since the end of the '67 season when they dropped five straight games to drop out of the American League pennant picture. They had already printed these World Series tickets when disaster befell them. Things are even worse in 1968, however, with the Pale Hose losing their first 10 tilts and resting in the loop basement to-day. Headlines and standings reflect Stanky's woes.

Olympic Hassle

Readers Disagree With Stand on South Africa

Two DAILY PILOT readers have penned disagreement with my stand on the squabble between the Union of South Africa and the International Olympic Committee.

Writes Daniel Dennett of Irvine: "In decrying the barring of South Africa from the Olympic Games, Glenn White reveals himself to be either misinformed or a bigot. He says the South Africans agreed to integrate their Olympic Squad "thus satisfying IOC requirements." In fact South Africa agreed under pressure not to exclude black athletes from its squad, but planned to hold segregated trials against the clock.

"In the trials, no white contestant would be permitted to compete directly, on the same track or field at the same time, with a nonwhite contestant.

"If Mr. White did not know this, what business does he have calling himself a sports reporter? If he did, and thinks a team so chosen would be truly integrated, he needs some elementary lessons in sportsmanship and human dignity.

"Moreover, the South African delegation certainly fails to meet another of the IOC requirements: Clause 25, which requires national committees to be free from political direction from their governments.

"White talks a very pure line about the 'ironclad code of Olympic ethics that was reputedly devoid of political and racial influence.' Does he suppose South Africa's committee is free from political and racial influence?"

Excerpts from a letter sent by Costa Mesa's Stanley Gottlieb: "Your April 23 column reflects most vividly the 'white racism' which is documented in the recent Federal Riot Commission reports. Your column completely fails to recognize the reasons for the objections of many countries to the invitation of South Africa to the 1968 Olympic Games.

"The protest was a result of the close vote which originally approved the invitation to South Africa. This secret vote indicated to the Olympic

Dodgers Send Singer Against Cards Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Los Angeles Dodgers gave Walter Alston a warm welcome.

With Manager Alston in uniform for the first time this season, the Dodgers snapped St. Louis' six-game winning string Monday night by edging the National League leaders 3-2 at Los Angeles.

The Dodgers will try for a sweep of the two-game series tonight when they

The 56-year-old pilot had missed the Dodgers' first 16 games while recovering from surgery for the removal of kidney stones.

Jobless Hannum Searches for Dream

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Alex Hannum is westward bound in search of a dream, which leaves only one question: In which direction are the Philadelphia 76ers headed?

That remained to be answered to-day, and in the days ahead, as the National Basketball Association team continues a search for a coach to replace Hannum, who resigned Monday.

The dynamic, 44-year-old Californian announced at a press conference that he was leaving the 76ers for a variety of reasons, including:

—There is no opportunity in Philadelphia for him to move up to general manager, or even part owner.

—He wants to return to his native California and "build something" — start a new franchise from scratch or resume his Los Angeles construction business.

Lakers, Celts Resume Playoffs; West to Play

BOSTON (AP) — The showdown between the Boston Celtics and the Los Angeles Lakers for the National Basketball Association championship becomes a best-of-3 affair tonight on Boston Garden.

With the best-of-7 series tied 2-2, the Celtics rule a slim favorite to rebound from a 118-105 defeat at Los Angeles and move to within a single victory of regaining the NBA crown they surrendered to Philadelphia last spring after an eight-year reign.

Laker ace Jerry West twisted his left ankle in the final minute Sunday, but said later the injury doesn't bother him and he'll be ready for action tonight.

The fourth game loss was a bitter disappointment for the Celtics, who had hoped to sweep the pair of meetings in Los Angeles and then close out the series tonight.

Tonight on TV
Channel 5 at 5

"We played poorly all the way, right from the start," Boston player-coach Bill Russell said.

"If we play any kind of game, we win. They (the Lakers) shot well, otherwise they played almost as bad as we did."

The Celtics hit on only 17 of 45 field goal attempts in the first half and finished with 36 of 84 for 42.8 percent as the Lakers squared the series.

"We're going to have to run," Russell said. "Our game is a running game, and we didn't play it the other night. We didn't get the good shots because we weren't running."

The Celtics hope their running offense also will slow down the Lakers' West and Elgin Baylor while piling up Boston points. Russell and Co. also hope to contain unheralded Los Angeles players such as Archie Clark.

"Baylor and West are super stars," Russell said. "The player who really hurt us Sunday was Clark with his 17 points in the second half."

"You're not going to stop Baylor and West all the time. You've got to shut off the other guys."

After tonight's game, the two teams will play in Los Angeles Thursday.

A seventh game, if necessary, will be contested at Boston Garden Sunday afternoon.

Russell debunked any so-called home court advantage for the Celtics, declaring, "we just have to play our game."

He noted Boston losses at home and victories on the road in the Eastern Division playoffs against Detroit and Philadelphia.

Angels Win, 3-2

Brunet vs. Tribe, Cardinal Raps Rig

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland's Jose Cardenal is tough on Angels, but the Indians needed a few more like him on the field Monday night as they lost 3-2 to California.

George Brunet, 1-2, will be on the mound tonight for the Angels as they seek their third win in a row and third straight over the Indians.

Brunet's opponent will be Sonny Siebert who has a 2-2 record.

Rick Reichardt smacked a two run single to highlight the three-run seventh inning. His blow came after singles by Roger Repoz and Jay Johnstone and a walk to Don Mincher loaded the bases. It gave the Angels a 2-1 lead.

Reichardt injured his ankle sliding into second base on the play and was removed from the game. The extent of the injury was not immediately determined.

Cardenal, a former Angel, got on base in the first inning on an error, walked in the third and singled and scored a run in the sixth — the first hit off California hurler Jim McGlothlin.

The centerfielder also threw out Mincher in one of the finer plays of the evening. That was in the ninth, when Mincher tried to score from second on a single.

Cardenal hadn't had a hit in 23 times at bat going into the game, and that,

"I go 0 for 23 there, and I don't play for two months," he said. "With Rigney (Angel Manager Bill Rigney) you have to get a base hit every day."

"Chuck Hinton is finding that out. He has a few days without hits, and he's out of the lineup."

"That puts a lot of pressure on a fellow. I know I'm here. Now I'm relaxed. I differ now I'm going to hit."

Answers Still Needed

A movement to convert the Orange County Harbor District from a separate taxing agency into a regular county department hangs in the balance. County cities want a change but still don't know what or how to do it.

At least the Orange County League of Cities now is taking a more reasonable approach, no doubt reflecting a realization — after the first flood of emotion had subsided — that answers to important questions must be found before any action is taken.

Testifying to the complexity of the problem is the league's acknowledgement that two of its committees studied the situation but could not come up with a satisfactory proposal.

Among numerous unknowns is what will happen to existing projects and capital expenditures if the district is turned into an integrated department of parks, beaches, harbors and recreation.

The Board of Supervisors appointed a committee to develop the facts. County Administrative Officer Robert Thomas is coordinating work with the county's delegation in the Legislature and researching administrative pros and cons in any change.

County Counsel Adrian Kuyper is looking into the effects of district dissolution on tideland holdings, contracts and district assets. Kenneth Sampson, director of harbors, beaches and parks, is auditing the district's present functions, salaries, equipment budget, costs and other facets of current operations.

Only the objective report this committee promises will shed factual light to calm the emotional approaches of the recent past. The cities demanding the change have been suspicious of what the county has now, yet they admit finding no fault with the district's administration. And they acknowledge the change will not reduce taxes.

A change may ultimately be found desirable — but on the other hand, maybe taxpayers the county over have a better deal under the present Harbor

District. A lot more facts are needed before the weight can be given to either the pro or con side of the proposed change.

DST 365 Days a Year

We're back on Daylight Savings Time — and isn't it a good feeling!

The only thing wrong with the change is that it had to be made at all. DST makes so much sense that we should have it 365 days a year. Among the benefits it provides are these:

- More than 180 hours of extra daylight each year.
 - Children arriving home as late as 5 p.m. still arrive in daylight in winter as well as summer.
 - An hour less of darkness at the end of the day saves money on fuel and electrical bills.
 - Safer highway driving in daylight.
 - An end to confusion over what time it is in other states, relieving phone callers and travelers.
- We should recognize that only 7.5 percent of Americans now live on farms. To go on serving the needs of a bygone society makes no sense.

Let's have DST year round.

'Only a Lawful Society'

Orange County lawyers have been speaking, and the DAILY PILOT has been reporting, on tomorrow's Law Day theme, "Only a lawful society can build a better society."

Obviously true as the statement is, it is lost on the militants in behalf of various causes who carry their dissents over the line into violent lawlessness.

The Law Day theme deserves a high priority among the advocacies of aspirants for the White House in the present campaign.

Easier to Feel Than to Think

What I Wish I had Known at Eighteen:

—That every day marks a fork in the road, in some little way; and that by the time the big fork comes along we have already made so many little decisions that we have no real choice left in the crucial turnings.

—That it is easier to feel than to think, and easier to feel hate than to feel love, and easier to act on hate than to act on love — and we must resist the easier path every inch of the way every day of our lives.

—THAT WE SHOULD be firmly resistant toward ideas we believe to be wrong, but immensely tolerant toward the people who hold such ideas, never for a moment confusing the person with the idea, which is the besetting sin of bigotry in all of its manifold forms.

—That every time we use a person for our own purpose, ignoring his needs, we diminish ourselves more than we diminish him, for his is a wound that can heal, while ours is an amputation that cannot grow back.

—THAT OUR differences are superficial, and our similarities are profound; and those who are afraid to acknowledge the similarities are forced to live — and die — by the differences.

—That most of what we call "love" is a form of vanity, and that the genuine thing (far from being as common as grass) is as rare as holiness or courage or wisdom, which have a million counterfeits for every one real manifestation.

—THAT WE LEARN only what becomes a part of us; abstract knowledge is not only useless but dangerous unless we have assimilated it to the core of the personality.

—That human society is confined in a lifeboat, not dispersed on an ocean liner; and unless each one is permitted the same rights, he will not assume the same responsibilities, and the craft has no chance to survive.

—THAT "EDUCATION" is not a formal discipline, but an attitude, an approach, an appetite, even a tone, that must begin in the home atmosphere if it is to be successfully translated to the outer world.

—That the two greatest threats to the security of civilization come from the "absolutists" who think they know precisely what is right and wrong, and from the "relativists" who insist there is no right and wrong — for each doctrine, pushed to its ultimate, leads to death by suffocation or by dissection.

Jaywalking And Other Great Crimes

Chicago Mayor Richard Daley's recent order that police "shoot to kill or maim" arsonists and looters has caused a nationwide furor.

Probably no group is more gravely split on the issue than the National Society for the Prevention of Jaywalking.

Meeting behind closed doors — through which shouts of "Fascist pig" and "bleeding-heart dupe" could be heard — the society attempted to hammer out a compromise policy.

After six hours of discussion, the executive secretary, Mr. Homer T. Pettibone, emerged with a torn lapel and a nasty gash over his left eye to explain the bitter schism.

"HALF THE MEMBERS feel strongly that police, on catching jaywalkers in the act, should shoot to kill," he said shaking his head, "and the other half feel equally strongly that they should shoot to maim."

A reporter noted that Mayor Daley had been talking only about arsonists and looters.

Mr. Pettibone looked surprised. "Arsonists, looters, jaywalkers," he said with a shrug, "a criminal is a criminal and a crime is a crime."

"What Mayor Daley was talking about was respect for law and order without which our society cannot survive. The law requires pedestrians cross at official intersections and order demands it."

"AND SURELY NO criminal more flagrantly flaunts his disrespect for law and order than the jaywalker. The arsonists, the looters — they're furtive, sneaky. But the hardened jaywalker commits his crime in the broad light of day, openly parading his contempt for law and order before all the world — even little children."

"And you can't argue with Mayor Daley on one point: There's nothing that instills a little respect for law and order in a man like a bullet through the head."

Mr. Pettibone was asked about the "shooting-to-maim" faction.

"They prefer to think of themselves more realistically as advocates of a 'shoot-to-cripple' rehabilitation program," he said. "They point out that a well-placed bullet at the base of the spine will permanently curb the most incorrigible jaywalker."

"WE ARE NOW attempting to compromise on a sliding scale of penalties ranging from instant death for public jaywalking to warning shots through the kneecap for children under 7 who unpremeditatedly chase balls into the street."

A reporter asked why jaywalkers couldn't simply be arrested.

"Good heavens!" said Mr. Pettibone. "With the way the Supreme Court has handcuffed our police and tipped the scales of justice in favor of the criminal? Why, the most nefarious jaywalker, given a clever attorney, can get himself turned loose once again on society in 30 days."

"No, Mayor Daley's right. Unless we empower the local cop on the beat to act as arresting officer, prosecutor, judge, jury and executioner on the spot," said Mr. Pettibone firmly, "we'll never instill a respect for the law."

Senate Passed it; Up to House Agreement Due on Surtax

Allen Scott

President's proposed surtax. The Ways and Means Committee, which originates all revenue legislation, has persistently blocked House consideration of the surtax by refusing to submit it to the full chamber.

In taking that adamant stand, the 25-member committee (15 Democrats, 10 Republicans) supported the position held by Mills. He has insistently demanded a $6 to $8 billion slash in federal spending as a condition for a tax boost.

THE SENATE, in voting the 10 percent surtax, also adopted a provision calling for a $6 billion reduction in the $186 billion budget submitted by the President in his State of the Union message. This statutory limitation on spending, if enacted into law, would meet Mills' requirement for a tax hike.

Mills' apparent changed attitude is further indicated by a remark he is credited as making to a top House Democratic leader, "The problem is to work out something the House will accept. We know how the Senate feels, but the House is untested on this question. It's very important to be sure of our ground before we put this matter up to the full House membership."

Federal Reserve Board Chairman William McChesney Martin's recent stern and forceful warning that the nation faces a dire financial crisis has unquestionably had decisive impact on the House-Senate conferees.

PRIVATELY, members of the committee readily admit that. One stated, "Martin's bombshell is definitely triggering action towards an agreement. That won't come overnight, but it is in the making. You could sense that at our last meeting, particularly on the part of House conferees who had been very stiff-necked until Martin's blast. "But they aren't talking that way now. And that includes Mills. There is a distinct inclination on the part of all the conferees to work out something. I would say the outlook is definitely for an agreement on a 10 percent surtax."

Lowering Voting Age

To the Editor:
I am against lowering the voting age to 18. The average 18-year-old is usually a senior in high school or is just graduating and has not yet established himself, as to his future. Even though he must register with Selective Service (draft), the prime age group for induction is 19. For this reason I feel the legal voting age should be at least 19.

PROVIDED IT is not unconstitutional, I would like to see the age requirement at 19 and a high school graduate, or 21.

By state law the high school graduate must have a semester of civics. He must also have had one year of U. S. history. I feel this makes him one of the better-educated voters in this country. The 19-year-old has also been out of high school for about a year. During this year he either works and pays taxes as a productive individual or he is on a campus of higher education where political awareness is usually very keen by the nature of the environment.

I hope to see progressive action soon on this archaic law.

Demand a Stop

To the Editor:
I am glad to have lived to see the mad rush to change Orange County into something that looks like downtown Los Angeles. A maze of freeways.

What Orange County people should do is to demand a stop to this mass destruction of our beautiful country. This was done in San Francisco a few months ago, on one freeway project.

The displacement of people and the tearing up of homes and soil proves to me the stupidity of the entire planning for Orange County.

May I suggest they simply forget the Orange route freeway.

Yale's Admissions Policy

Editorial Research

"You will laugh," wrote William F. Buckley, Jr., in his syndicated column some time ago, "but it is true that a Mexican-American from El Paso High with identical scores on the achievement tests, and identically ardent recommendations from the headmaster, has a better chance of being admitted to Yale than Jonathan Edwards XVI from St. Paul's School." Yaleman Buckley (class of 1950) presently is running for the alumni seat on the 19-man Yale Corporation on the proposition that Yale should favor its sons in its admissions policy.

"My position," Buckley writes in a blithely Socratic self-interview, "has been that all other qualifications being equal, the son of the Yale alumnus should have preference over the son of a non-alumnus, no matter what school the respective candidates have been attending." The position is Buckley's central reason for having himself nominated by petition for the corporation. Under the university's charter, the corporation "shall have the government, care, and management of the college . . . and make such reasonable laws . . . as they think fit."

CONSERVATIVE Bill Buckley, who will be 43 years old next Nov. 24, characteristically is swimming upstream. A survey of Ivy League colleges published on April 14 shows an increase in number of Negroes admitted this year over 1967 running as high as 200 percent at Princeton and 70 percent at Yale and Brown. Other institutions that did not provide specific numbers said that the rise of Negro students admitted was "substantial." A similar trend is apparent among the Seven Sisters women's colleges — Barnard, Bryn Mawr, Mount Holyoke, Radcliffe, Smith, Vassar, and Wellesley.

Yale recently sent its alumni some interesting data. In the entering class of 1964, alumni sons accounted for 36 percent. The ratio in the 1971 freshman class was 14 percent alumni. The like figures for Princeton were, respectively, 20 and 16; for Harvard 18 and 20; for Dartmouth 17 and 19.

The Yale Alumni Board reported last October: "During attendance at meetings of the Admissions Committee, one is aware of a sense of importance of the application of each applicant, and a particular importance to the application of a legacy. The prevailing attitude seems to be 'let's find reasons to take him'."

By George

Dear George:
I have found a way to beat the rising prices of cigarettes. Simply purchase a cigarette holder and a pack of king-size cigarettes and cut them in half! What could be simpler?

INGENIOUS

Dear Ingenious:
Well, lots of things could be simpler. For instance, after you cut them in half, which half of the cigarette holder do you use? Furthermore, you wasted three full days of my entire research department. Why didn't you tell us you cut the cigarette and holder crossways instead of longways?

(Send your problems to George and watch how life clears up for you overnight. Of course, if you follow George's advice things may be pretty tough again tomorrow.)

Dear Gloomy Gus:

That spot of fabric showing through on a tire, for which the woman was cited by the highway patrol (Gus, April 22), is a direct threat to many people's lives, my friend. I know, for I'm a killer of four.
