Melodyland Wins Topless Battle With Anaheim

Melodyland Theater Thursday won its battle with the city of Anaheim when Superior Judge Charles A. Bauer granted the entertainment company a permanent injunction barring the city from further attempts to enforce its ordinance prohibiting bare-breasted dancing girls.

The theater had brought suit against the city after local authorities attempted to stop last fall's presentation of the topless Las Vegas show "Vive Les Girls."

The city's topless law was passed by the council last year after efforts the year before to stop the bare-bosomed show failed.

The decision coincides with similar rulings throughout the state which have held that the state has preempted the right to legislate in the area of morals and obscenity.

Police Pressing Manhunt For NYC Killer of Trio

NEW YORK (AP) - Police today pressed a massive manhunt for a Bronx gunman who killed three persons and wounded a fourth with a hail of fire from an automatic carbine.

Bronx Asst. Dist. Atty. Burton Roberts said a 15-state alarm was issued for one Bobby Rogers, alias Bobby Pugh, 31, who was superintendent of the building in front of which the shootings occurred Thursday evening.

The rapid-fire shooting brought more than 200 policemen armed with rifles, revolvers, shotguns and teargas and wearing bullet-proof vests to the dingy orange tenement into which the gunman fled.

As thousands of spectators swarmed to watch, police searched the five-story building but failed to find the man. They concluded he had escaped through a basement connecting three buildings on the block.

The dead were identified as Manuel Angel Figueroa, 19, Efrain Castro, 21, and Jose Rivera, 18. Roberts said preliminary evidence indicated the man being sought knew all three.

Police said Figueroa was dead on arrival at Lincoln Hospital and that Castro and Rivera died at the hospital. Roberts described Rogers as a lightskinned Negro, about 5 feet 11, 160 pounds. He said the man had been honorably discharged from the Army in 1962 and took the superintendent's job on Dec. 1, 1967.

The shooting came just eight days after police killed a Central Park sniper, Angel Angelof, who had shot to death a young woman and wounded three other persons.

The violence began at about 6:27 p.m. when the gunman appeared near the stoop of the tenement on East 138th Street and started firing a .30caliber automatic carbine which had been sawed off at both the stock and barrel police said.

Roland Ronan, 35, walking on the opposite side of the street was hit in the shoulder. He fell to the sidewalk bleeding and saw "a man in a green shirt and a little hat on his head" firing the gun.

"He was still shooting the people lying on the ground," Ronan recalled. He was sweeping this gun back and forth like a broom across them.".

Across East 138th Street, the "main street" in the largely Negro and Puerto Rican section of the South Bronx, Rafael Adell, 22, was sitting in a men's store.

"I saw this guy shooting at two guys in the street," Adell said. "They fell to the ground. Then he started shooting here. I hit the floor and stayed there. Three bullets shattered the store's display window. The crowd began gathering as quickly as police. Youths climbed atop cars to get a better view and police roped off the block to keep spectators back.

"If this guy opened up from the window," one police official said, "we couldn't even fire back because of these people gaping out of their windows."

As police marksmen made their way to neighboring rooftops, teams of police began a room-by-room search through the tenement and the two adjoining buildings.

In the street the crowd listened to transistor radios carrying accounts of the action as they watched it. Onlookers smiled and waved for (See MANHUNT, Page 2)

Santa Ana Man Shot by Trio In Drug Slaying

A Santa Ana man who allegedly gypped his buyers in a $1,000 marijuana deal was abducted and executed gangland style in Long Beach Thursday and two of the three suspects are in custody today. Willie E. Keeten, 23, whose Santa Ana address was not immediately determined, was dead at the scene, with bullet wounds in the head and shoulders. A stakeout at a Cudahy home early today netted the suspected killer, bearded Roger C. Powell, 23, who was identified by a teenaged arrestee as triggerman in the sudden pistol-

Long Beach Detective Sgt. Lew Lyons said Keeten was abducted from a Central District apartment while his 18-year-old girlfriend and a 24-year-old buddy watched helplessly.

Once outside the door, police said Keeten grabbed a mailman just walking up to the apartment as a shield, jostling a group of playing children in his desperate escape

Slugs from a .32 caliber revolver pistol ripped into the swirling group, but only Keeten was cut down in the hail of bullets.

Daniel Lord, 19, was arrested at his home in Cudahy following a sevenhour stakeout by Long Beach detectives and implicated Powell as Keeten's killer.

He said Keeten had taken $1,000 from Powell, himself and another man still not in custody, then failed to deliver a load of marijuana as promised.

Lord said he didn't know Powell was armed until they arrived at Keeten's apartment in the predominantly Negro central district and rousted the victim and his two companions from sleep.

The mailman involved in the slaying, Artis Lang, 31, said two shots whipped by his head and Keeten loosened his grip, apparently mortally wounded by a bullet in the chest.

Alerted Saigon For Viet Cong Suicide Squads

SAIGON (AP) - Extra guards were posted in Saigon today after officials reported Viet Cong suicide squads may strike inside the capital this weekend. Some thought this might be a prelude to an offensive by strong enemy forces waiting outside the city.

Shortly after security was tightened, a U.S. soldier was shot to death in a populous district in downtown Saigon. Police said he was slain by two men and they found two enemy shells believed to be from AK47 assault rifles, the standard weapon of the ene-

Extra guards were placed around the U.S. Embassy, the presidential palace where President Nguyen Van Thieu has his offices, and other major installations and buildings. A U.S. mission spokesman said the beefed up security guards were "to provide extra safety in case the attack does come off this weekend."

Police and paramilitary police units were placed on 100 percent alert. More were sent to guard bridges leading into the city and to checkpoints on the outskirts.

U.S. authorities believe a new attack on Safgon will be designed to show the government cannot defend its own capital and to bolster North Vietnam's position at the Paris peace talks with the United States. About 1,000 Viet Cong have intitrated Saigon recently, highly placed Vietnamese sources said.

The sources said government authorities "do not feel the infiltrators will do anything until they get outside support.'

This was taken to mean the Viet Cong who have come in were terrorists, demolition experts.

Many Supreme Court 'Cronies'

Dirksen Asks End to Attack on LBJ Over Fortas

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois declared today Presidents Lincoln, Truman and Kennedy all appointed "cronies" to the Supreme Court. He said it's about time that line of attack on President Johnson's nominations be dropped.

"You don't go out and look for an enemy to put on the court," Dirksen sternly lectured GOP Sen. Robert P. Griffin of Michigan at a Senate Judiciary Committee hearing.

Griffin heads a group of Republican senators intent on blocking nomination of Abe Fortas, now an associate justice, to be chief justice and Homer Thornberry to be an associate justice of the Supreme Court.

The young senator-he is 44-took his fight to the committee today, charging President Johnson with practicing "cronyism" by nominating these two old friends.

Griffin also labeled Johnson a "lame duck" president who was trying to keep his successor from filling court member of the Dirksen, committee, listened quietly while Griffin read his statement. Then, beginning slowly, he said the phrase "lame duck" was "entirely improper and a very offensive term" that should not be used for a president who voluntarily retires from office.

The GOP leader; 72, reminded his colleagues that nine senators who have announced their retirement still serve and asked: "Are we going to offend them and affront them by referring to them as lame duck senators?

Continuing his defense of the Democratic President, Dirksen said it "is about time we be a little more circumspect about the kind of language we use."

He then ticked off the names Harold Burton, Tom C. Clark, Sherman Minton and Fred Vinson as "cronies" of Truman appointed by that president to the Supreme Court,

"I don't know that anyone got up on his hind legs and shouted crony, Dirksen said of the appointement of Vinson, a poker-playing friend of Truman, to be chief justice.

President Kennedy, he said, appointed Byron R. White, a campaign manager of his, to the court and if a campaign manager "isn't a crony I don't know what is."

In a heavy, drawling fashion, Dirksen then unraveled the appointment by Lincoln a century ago of David Davis, his campaign manager in 1860, to the Supreme Court and said he hated to think Lincoln was guilty of cronyism. Thornberry, scheduled to testify later, sat with his wife in a front row seat and heart his nomination criticized by Griffin and then Johnson's action defended by Dirksen. Thornberry now is a judge on the federal Court of Appeals in New

Hitch Charges Reagan Causes UC to Decline

BERKELEY (AP) - University of California President Charles J. Hitch said today Gov. Reagan's new state budget continues "an actual decline in the standards and quality of education" on the nine UC campuses.

In his strongest statement on university finances since he took office Jan. 1, Hitch said UC has three alternatives: to cut back on quality, reduce services or to convince the public, the legislature and the governor that UC needs more money. Hitch's 10-page report mentioned budget limits approved by the legislature as well as vetoes made by

The governor's $5.7 billion budget contains $276.5 million in university operating funds. Regents requested $311 million.

The new budget cut UC's requested state construction funds from $80 million to $45 million. Reagan cut the legislature's 5.5 percent faculty pay raises to 5 percent.

"It will now be necessary to reconsider and reassess all of the major priorities and programs of the university," Hitch said, adding that he will make an additional report in September.

He said that construction budget cutbacks offer "no alternative" to a new voter bond issue for funds, now before the legislature. "I urge you to give it your full support," Hitch told

Property Values In Orange County Hit $12 Billion

The rapid rise in assessed valuations in the past few years in Orange County has slowed, County Assessor Andrew J. Hinshaw indicated today.

Property assessments are up only 8.6 percent over 1967-68 which compares with a 16.8 percent jump last year over the previous 12 months. Hinshaw said total market value of property in the county had climbed to more than $12 billion. Total assessed valuation, 25 percent of the market value, is $3.06 million, Hinshaw said.

The assessor attributed the slowing rate of value increases to a reduction in taxable new improvements, a leveling effect in the assessment of properties as those assessments approach the mandatory 25 percent, the continuing depletion of reserves in the county's oil fields, and the disappointing results of the industry's secondary oil recovery program.

Value notice cards were mailed to each taxpayer on July 1, Hinshaw said. He said property owners with questions should contact his office by phone or in person immediately.

Huntington Beach and Seal Beach on the Orange Coast showed a reduction in assessed valuation. Hinshaw said this was due to the big cut on taxes on oil reserves granted by his office last year. Huntington Beach property is assessed at 2.1 percent less than last year, Seal Beach, .4 percent.

Councilmen Eye Motorcycle Track

By WILLIAM REED

The roar of motorcycles rounding the far end of the oval and screaming toward the finish line will not be heard in Huntington Beach unless the City Council is more receptive to the idea than was the Planning Commission.

Council on Monday will consider the appeal of Donald R. England of 13671 Sutter Drive, Westminster, to the planners denial of a permit for a motorcycle racetrack on Talbert Avenue west of Beach Boulevard.

The requested site is less than a quarter mile from the proposed location of a new central city library and a park complex containing a natural area and a golf course. Four letters favoring the racetrack and one opposing it have been received by the city clerk. The matter will be heard during the 7:30 p.m. session in council chambers of Memorial Hall, 5th Street and Pecan

The lone letter of dissent is from Vista Marlin, 315 Rose St., Los Angeles. The letter claims the motorcycle park would be "detrimental to the area" which is zoned for manufacturing. Two boys, Tony 11, and Ruby Greaves, 12, wrote that "I want to safety." Mrs. J. W. Greaves, of 8341 Amsterdam Drive, points out that motorcycle ownership is on the increase and that the motorcycle

Dirksen Asks End to Attack on LBJ Over Fortas WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois declared today Presidents Lincoln, Truman and Kennedy all appointed "cronies" to the Supreme Court. He said it's about time that line of attack on President Johnson's nominations be dropped. "You don't go out and look for an enemy to put on the court," Dirksen sternly lectured GOP Sen. Robert P.

Griffin of Michigan at a Senate Judiciary Committee hearing. Griffin heads a group of Republican senators intent on blocking nomination of Abe Fortas, now an associate justice, to be chief justice and Homer

Thornberry to be an associate justice of the Supreme Court. The young senator-he is 44-took his fight to the committee today, charging President Johnson with practicing "cronyism" by nominating these two old friends.

Griffin also labeled Johnson a "lame duck" president who was trying to keep his successor from filling court

Dirksen, a member of the committee, listened quietly while Griffin read his statement. Then, beginning slowly, he said the phrase "lame duck" was "entirely improper and a very offensive term" that should not be used for a president who voluntarily retires from office.

The GOP leader, 72, reminded his colleagues that nine senators who have announced their retirement still serve and asked: "Are we going to offend them and affront them by referring to them as lame duck senators?

Many Supreme Court 'Cronies'

Continuing his defense of the Democratic President, Dirksen said it "is about time we be a little more circumspect about the kind of language we use."

He then ticked off the names Harold Burton, Tom C. Clark, Sherman Minton and Fred Vinson as "cronies" of Truman appointed by that president to the Supreme Court.

"I don't know that anyone got up on his hind legs and shouted crony,' Dirksen said of the appointement of Vinson, a poker-playing friend of Truman, to be chief justice. President Kennedy, he said, appointed Byron R. White, a campaign manager of his, to the court and if a campaign manager "isn't a crony I don't know what is."

In a heavy, drawling fashion, Dirksen then unraveled the appointment by Lincoln a century ago of David Davis, his campaign manager in 1860, to the Supreme Court and said he hated to think Lincoln was guilty of cronyism. Thornberry, scheduled to testify later, sat with his wife in a front row seat and heart his nomination criticized by Griffin and then Johnson's action defended by Dirksen. Thornberry now is a judge on the federal Court of Appeals in New

"I saw this guy shooting at two guys in the street," Adell said. "They fell to the ground. Then he started shooting here. I hit the floor and stayed there.' Three bullets shattered the store's display window.

The crowd began gathering as quickly as police. Youths climbed atop cars to get a better view and police roped off the block to keep spectators

"If this guy opened up from the window," one police official said, "we couldn't even fire back because of these people gaping out of their windows.'

As police marksmen made their way to neighboring rooftops, teams of police began a room-by-room search through the tenement and the two adjoining buildings.

In the street the crowd listened to transistor radios carrying accounts of the action as they watched it. Onlookers smiled and waved for television cameras.

Even the sight of one of the victims lying on the sidewalk where he had fallen did not deter the crowd. A police inspector did not send anyone immediately to see if the man could be

"He appears to be gone, and I don't want to jeopardize any of my men to be sure," the inspector explained. Later a police department chaplain reached the man and administered the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church.

Even after it was apparent the gunman had escaped, the curious remained. Some children set devotional candles on the sidewalk in front of the tenement and sat in a circle to pray.

Later a wooden cross was tied to a parking meter and 15 candles burned in a circle around the rim of a garbage can lid. Coins had been thrown into the lid by passersby to help the victims'

$25 Building Fee Defended In Huntington

It costs the Huntington Beach city staff at least $21 to process a building permit for construction in the harbor area and a $25 fee for permits is not out of line.

This is the reply of Director of Public Works James Wheeler to a question by Councilman George McCracken about whether the $25 fee was too much for a permit to build or repair docks in the harbor area.

Wheeler said it costs $1.50 for clerical services, $3.30 for engineering staff review, and $16.70 for three inspections of the work area and the work. Total is $21:50 and does not include overhead or transportation costs, he said.

Average float cost in the Huntington Harbour area is about $3,000. Cost for a building permit for a structure valued between $2,000 and $3,000 is $34.50,

Wheeler noted. He pointed out that cost of obtaining a harbor permit in Newport Beach was increased this year from $50 to

Laguna Top Spot to Live

Newsman Ranks Carmel Right Up There, Too

By TOM GORMAN of the Delty Pilot Staff

Where are two of the most popular locations in the world to live?

According to John Morley, a news correspondent imminence, one location is Carmel, California.

And the other is Laguna Beach. Morely was guest speaker at the Laguna Beach Chamber of Commerce Annual Membership Dinner Meeting, Thursday evening at the festival

He told the gathering of city officials and community leaders that he hears more about Carmel and Laguna Beach than any other spot in term of the best place to live. He said this is the reason he has chosen Laguna as his home. Morley was born in Paris.

Morely said that, in addition to the beautiful setting of Laguna, the spirit of its citizens generate a "creative intellectuality that is vital to life and progress and cannot be easily duplicated anywhere else," he added. Tom Johnston, outgoing president of the chamber, commented on the fact that Morley's summation of Laguna's vitality and unique drawing power formed the basis for all of the volunteer efforts devoted to chamber by its members. Johnston reported a that the membership of the chamber has a burgeoned from 288 to well over 400. He said many more members became actively involved in chamber projects.

Incoming president Harry Lawrence said Laguna has beauty unique among cities. He called for a united effort to capitalize on the beauty in a successful drive during the coming

Lawrence told the gathering that he hopes to meet all of the Chamber members he didn't already know. He detailed his plan for the coming year. Following the dinner, Chamber members and guests moved into Irvine Bowl's natural amphitheater to help preview the 33rd Pageant of the Masters.

2,400 Given Preview Of Pageant

The woodsy amphitheater of Irvine Bowl in Laguna Beach came alive again Thursday night to the magic of the 33rd annual Pageant of the

A preview audience of about 2,400 persons was blessed with a balmy night and good theater, the greatest Pageant yet.

Festival grounds with featured exhibits opened to the public at noon today and the first public living pictures production goes on the Irvine Bowl stage tonight.

The 27 works at living pictures and statuary presented under the stars ranged from a reproduction of Winslow Homer's powerful painting "Undertow" to a surprise.

It was a striking reproduction of the 25-peso coin issued for the Mexican

As the coin's big case opened slowly, dramatially, the audience did not realize that the polished "living picture" was an eleventh hour addition to the spectacular.

It is the work of artist Lorenso Rafael and depicts an ancient Mexican ball player in commemoration of the Olympic Games.

NARRATOR HUMOROUS rich voice of narrator Howard "Hap" Graham added theatrical dimension as he backgrounded the commenting by humorously or dramatically.

The 20-piece orchestra led by Vic Schoen performed Schoen's original scores well with only a first night hitch or two in coordination.

The music was effective and in a less strident key than last year's score to accompany the pictures.

The production moved well in programming and change of pace (See FESTIVAL, Page 2)

Police Brutality Labeled Hogwash By City Manager

A complaint of alleged Laguna Beach police brutality has been labeled "so much hogwash" by City Manager James D. Wheaton.

The complaint was of alleged improper confiscation of private property by police.

UC President Hitch Blasts Reagan Budget

BERKELEY (AP) - University of California President Charles J. Hitch said today Gov. Reagan's new state budget continues "an actual decline in the standards and quality of education" on the nine UC campuses.

In his strongest statement on university finances since he took office Jan. 1, Hitch said UC has three alternatives: to cut back on quality, reduce services or to convince the public, the legislature and the governor that UC needs more money. Hitch's 10-page report mentioned budget limits approved by the legislature as well as vetoes made by

A stakeout at a Cudahy home early today netted the suspected killer, bearded Roger C. Powell, 23, who was identified by a teenaged arrestee as triggerman in the sudden pistol

Long Beach Detective Sgt. Lew Lyons said Keeten was abducted from a Central District apartment while his 18-year-old girlfriend and a 24-year-old buddy watched helplessly.

Office outside the door, police said, Keeten grabbed a mailman just walking up to the apartment as a shield, jostling a group of playing children in his desperate escape attempt.

Slugs from a .32 caliber revolver pistol ripped into the swirling group, but only Keeten was cut down in the hail of bullets. Daniel Lord, 19, was arrested at his home in Cudahy following a sevenhour stakeout by Long Beach detectives and implicated Powell as Keeten's killer.

He said Keeten had taken $1,000 from Powell, himself and another man still not in custody, then failed to deliver a load of marijuana as

Lord said he didn't know Powell was armed until they arrived at Keeten's apartment in the predominantly Negro central district and rousted the victim and his two companions from sleep.

The mailman involved in the slaying, Artis Lang, 31, said two shots whipped by his head and Keeten loosened his grip, apparently mortally wounded by a bullet in the chest.

Police said Lord's house in Cudahy contained a cache of marijuana and that he has a prior arrest record in the surrounding communities.

Powell and Lord were booked on suspicion of kidnaping and murder and - with one suspect still at large - the victim's girl friend went to police Thursday night and asked for protective custody.

Miss Diana de Costa was then booked into jail temporarily, because she said she fears for her life.

Summer School For Youngsters Planned at UCI

A summer school for children as young as four years old will begin Monday at UC Irvine.

Graduate students and professors' wives will be instructors. They have not had formal teacher training, but say they can offer freedom from stereotype classroom environment, more individual attention and better

'We have a dozen instructors lined up and so far about 25 children,"John Prince, 24-year-old UCI graduate in anthropology said.

"The curriculum will depend upon what the kids are interested in," he said. "The first day will be pretty important. We'll find out what the kids interests are and develop them.

"This won't be learning what the teacher has to say and regurgitating it on a test. The kids will have to take more responsibility themselves for what they want to learn and how hard they want to work."

Cost of the summer school will be $60 for six weeks to pay for materials and rental of university space. The volunteer instructors will not be paid. Students ages four to 14 will be accepted.

Possible course offerings, Prince said, are pottery, art, music, dance, anthropology, languages, math, physics, marine biology, photography, carpentry and cooking.

To enroll call Mary Aubuchon at 548-9476 or Prince at 494-4654.

Despite Its Value, Ocean to Get Gun

The 1876 .32 caliber pistol of Margaret Miropolsky in Laguna Hills will be among the guns to be taken by the Laguna Beach Police and thrown to the ocean to rust into impotence.

"It may have had a history we weren't aware of. I guess it was an antique. It was a little stiff." Mrs. Miropolsky said. The gun was found in a back corner of drawer, after her mother died. "We didn't have any use for it," she said. So it was turned in to the police to be destroyed by drowning along with two other guns the police were holding. Since the assassination of Robert Kennedy, the Laguna police have had seven guns registered, including an old Russian sub-machine gun.

Schools Take Cool View Of Rec Pact With City

School trustees today took a careful view of a Laguna Beach City suggestion that the school district help finance an expanding recreation

Dr. Norman Browne, school board president, said the school district is presently footing the bill for all utilities, custodian help, upkeep and all other expenses spent in maintaining school facilities being used by the city recreation program.

School officials have in the past asked the city for an expanded recreation program. According to Trustee Bob Turner, "we (the school board) are 100 percent for a full time recreation director." He added, "A lot of this has been brought up to the City Council by the school board. We have collected information on qualifications of a recreation director and information on recreation programs. This information is available to the City Council."

At a city council study session Wednesday night Councilman Roy Holm discussed the possibilities of a "joint powers agreement." This agreement would mean, according to Holm, the school district would help finance the recreation program with the city. He justified this idea by stating the city is footing a bill for a community twice the size of Laguna Mayor Glenn Vedder reminded the council that the city was at one time receiving $3,000 annually from the school district, to be put towards recreation. In recent years this payment has stopped.

Browne said, "The school district is already contributing, through facilities." He said that the school district is saving the city the expense of maintaining recreation facilities.

When asked if the school board would be willing to sit down and talk with the City Council, Browne replied, "We're waiting to be invited. Nobody has actually approached us."

"We would be receptive to discuss the area of recreation," said Board Clerk Larry Taylor. He stated the most important items to be covered at a discussion are to "see what we're talking about and see what is to be accomplished."

The board and the city council would have to determine the needs goals, and costs of an expanded recreation program, according to Taylor.

Trustee Don Tobin, like Browne, said that the school district is contributing to the recreation program by offering the district's facilities. He added, "It's a joint responsibility."

When asked if he'd be in favor of a meeting between the city council and the school board, Turner answered, "Heavens, not one, but many. We'd be tickled to death."

Chamber Backs Bars On Hippies

San Clemente Chamber of Commerce directors have voted unanimously to support the City Council in 'discouraging undesirables" from invading the community.

The directors mean hippies. Directors talked of a program that would unite hotel and apartment owners in refusing to rent to hippies. Rumors have been current of a threatened invasion of 10,000 or more hippies to beach communities this summer.

San Clemente's hippie alarm began three weeks ago when 700 residents signed a petition asking the city to revoke the business license of a hippie-oriented shop called the "Mind

A poster sold by the shop to 12-year-old girl has been submitted to the district attorney to determine if it is subject to prosecution under pornography laws. The poster reportedly depicts a nude man and woman embracing in a sex act.

Chamber director Roy Garbarine has suggested ridding the city of "low cost hovels which hippies want to live

2 Sisters Share Spree, Jail Cell

Two sisters were sharing a cell in Orange County jail today after an alleged shoplifting spree.

Judy and Ella Newman, aged 25 and 23, respectively, were arrested at 5 p.m. Thursday and charged with burglary. They are being held in lieu of $12,550 bail set for each.

Police said the Inglewood women were spotted by a Newport Center department store security guard, who was suspicious of the women's actions and called police.

Officers stopped the women at their car, which contained "many" items of clothing and other articles from a grocery they would not explain having, police said.

Cooler Weather Due on Weekend

After a week of high temperatures, the weatherman predicts general cooling to near normal temperatures today through the weekend for the Orange Coast.

Days are expected to remain clear, however, early-risers and night owls may catch some fog along the coast.

Water temperature at the beaches was 58 degrees today and despite the cooling weather will no doubt draw the usual army of sun and surf worshipers this weekend.

LBJ Defended By Dirksen Over Fortas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois declared today Presidents Lincoln, Truman and Kennedy all appointed "cronies" to the Supreme Court. He said it's about time that line of attack on President Johnson's nominations be dropped.

"You don't go out and look for an enemy to put on the court," Dirksen sternly lectured GOP Sen. Robert P. Griffin of Michigan at a Senate Judiciary Committee hearing.

Griffin heads a group of Republican senators intent on blocking nomination of Abe Fortas, now an associate justice, to be chief justice and Homer Thornberry to be an associate justice of the Supreme Court.

The young senator—he is 44—took his fight to the committee today, charging President Johnson with practicing "cronyism" by nominating these two old friends.

Griffin also labeled Johnson a "lame duck" president who was trying to keep his successor from filling court posts.

Dirksen, a member of the committee, listened quietly while Griffin read his statement. Then, beginning slowly, he said the phrase "lame duck" was "entirely improper and a very offensive term" that should not be used for a president who voluntarily retires from office.

The GOP leader, 72, reminded his colleagues that nine senators who have announced their retirement still serve and asked: "Are we going to offend them and affront them by referring to them as lame duck senators?"

Continuing his defense of the Democratic President, Dirksen said it "is about time we be a little more circumspect about the kind of language we use."

Exhibit Adds Smell to Art Appreciation

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI) — A University of Colorado art exhibit consisting of 100 paper plates filled with horse manure has been drawing record crowds and an equal amount of criticism.

The exhibit, entitled "Colorado Scene," was the brainchild of three graduate art students, who were called upon at the last minute to come up with a show.

The three said they tried to think of something they could do which would "cost a minimum amount of money and have significance."

One of the creators, Mrs. Joan

Moment of Boulder, said they were trying to create something that was new, exciting and unique.

The showing has drawn such crowds, and such a reaction, that administration officials and art faculty members called a meeting today to determine what to do about it. Some say the art exhibit, put up only last Wedneyday, may be on its way out.

Humphrey Proposes U.S. Widen Peking Contacts

From Wire Services

WASHINGTON — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey proposed today wider contacts with Red China and said the United States should "make it clear that we are prepared to replace conflict with cooperation whenever the Chinese are."

Prospects for improved relations in the coming decade "are not good" but the U.S. stance should be to "continue to seek more normalized relations with the mainland," the vice president said.

Humphrey's remarks were to be made in a speech in San Francisco but instead were released as a foreign policy position paper when he was grounded in Washington on doctor's advice. His physician sent the vice president to bed Thursday to recover from what was described as a light case of grippe.

McCARTHY'S CHARGE

Humphrey's rival for the Democratic presidential nomination, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, accused the administration Thursday of failing to see that the nation's poor were properly fed.

And Republican contender Nelson A. Rockefeller, speaking at a street rally in the heart of New York City's financial district, charged the administration with ineptitude in maintaining stable prices and steady economic growth. If the job were done right, Rockefeller said, the Gross National Product would move from the present $600-plus billion a year to $1.5 trillion.

The Department of Agriculture didn't take kindly to McCarthy's comments on the hunger problem.

Nothing that the Minnesotan was urging that the incoming president "declare a national emergency with respect to hunger," a department spokesman said that in the nearly eight years of the Kennedy and Johnson administrations McCarthy had never even made an inquiry to the department about feeding programs.

'LACK OF INTEREST'

"His singular lack of interest in feeding the hungry during this eight-year period, a part of which he spent on the Senate Agriculture Committee," said Thomas R. Hughes, executive assistant to Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, "lends little credence to his sudden zeal."

Bronx Gunman Goes Berserk

NEW YORK (AP) — Police today pressed a massive manhunt for a Bronx gunman who killed three persons and wounded a fourth with a hail of fire from an automatic carbine.

Bronx Asst. Dist. Atty. Burton Roberts said a 15-state alarm was issued for one Bobby Rogers, alias Bobby Pugh, 31, who was superintendent of the building in front of which the shootings occurred Thursday evening.

The rapid-fire shooting brought more than 200 policemen armed with rifles, revolvers, shotguns and teargas and wearing bullet-proof vests to the dingy orange tenement into which the gunman fled.

As thousands of spectators swarmed to watch, police searched the fivestory building but failed to find the man. They concluded he had escaped through a basement connecting three buildings on the block.

The dead were identified as Manuel Angel Figueroa, 19, Efrain Castro, 21, and Jose Rivera, 18, Roberts said preliminary evidence indicated the man being sought knew all three.

Police said Figueroa was dead on arrival at Lincoln Hospital and that Castro and Rivera died at the hospital. Roberts described Rogers as a light-skinned Negro, about 5 feet 11, 160 pounds. He said the man had been honorably discharged from the Army in 1962 and took the superintendent's job on Dec. 1, 1967.

The shooting came just eight days after police killed a Central Park sniper, Angel Angelof, who had shot to death a young woman and wounded three other persons.

The violence began at about 6:27 p.m. when the gunman appeared near the stoop of the tenement on East 138th Street and started firing a .30-caliber automatic carbine which had been sawed off at both the stock and barrel police said.

Roland Ronan, 35, walking on the opposite side of the street was hit in the shoulder. He fell to the sidewalk bleeding and saw "a man in a green shirt and a little hat on his head" firing the gun.

"He was still shooting the people lying on the ground," Ronan recalled. "He was sweeping this gun back and forth like a broom agrees them."

"I saw this guy shooting at two guys in the street," Adell said. "They fell to the ground. Then he started shooting here. I hit the floor and stayed there." Three bullets shattered the store's display window.

The crowd began gathering as quickly as police. Youths climbed atop cars to get a better view and police roped off the block to keep spectators

"If this guy opened up from the window," one police official said, "we couldn't even fire back because of these people gaping out of their windows."

As police marksmen made their way to neighboring rooftops, teams of police began a room-by-room search through the tenement and the two adjoining buildings.

'Security' Watchword In Ray Trial

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) - Officials preparing for what promises to be the biggest Tennessee trial since the famous "monkey trial" of 1925 are making strict security arrangements.

Officials said Thursday that plans are being made to make a voice and picture tape of every person attending the trial of James Earl Ray, charged with assassinating Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. here on April 14.

This would be the first trial anywhere that such a security precaution has been required, Charles Holmes, public relations aide to Sheriff William N. Morris, said.

Newsmen accredited to cover the trial, expected to be held in late fall, will be given identification cards bearing their photographs.

The trial is scheduled to be held in one of the Shelby County Criminal Court courtrooms so Ray- can be brought directly into the court through an underground corridor without being seen by the outside public.

A secondary security line is expected to be established to keep everyone without pressing business out of the Criminal Courts building.

Ray currently is in jail in London awaiting a hearing on his appeal of an extradition order.

"This is a serious matter," said Sheriff Morris, who is in charge of arrangements for the trial.

"There will be no carnival air here," Morris said. "The sheriff, the judges and the attorney general have been conferring at intervals for several weeks to assure a fair and orderly trial in a dignified atmosphere."

The trial will be conducted in strict keeping with established standards of dignity and justice," said Dist. Atty. Gen. Phil M. Canale, who will head the prosecution team.

The largest Criminal Courts courtroom can seat slightly over 100 spectators, and a large number of the seats will be assigned to news media representatives covering the trial. Morris said, however, seats would be reserved for relatives of both Ray and King, and some would be kept for the general public.

No photographs will be allowed in the courtroom, although a ruling has not yet been made on whether pictures will be permitted in the corridors.

Three Bodies, 2 Dead Dogs Found in Auto

HEBER CITY, Utah (AP) - Bodies of three persons and two dogs were found Thursday night in a car beside U.S. 40, with no indication as to the cause of death.

Sheriff Floyd Witt said there was no evidence of violence.

He said the car's ignition was turned off, fuel remained in the tank, and the windows were tightly closed.

Witt doubted death could have been due to carbon monoxide poisoning, because the ignition was off, and food poisoning seemed improbable because of the dogs.

The bodies were taken to the University of Utah Hospital in Salt Lake City for a state medical examination today.

Percy said in a Senate speech that both the President and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey have talked of giving the cease-fire approach top priority but that the administration had failed to do anything on those

"There is no evidence that the American negotiators in Paris have ever been instructed to offer a ceasefire proposal," he said.

Such an offer should be made at once, he commented, "Now, not months from now, or a year or two from now after a political settlement

He also quoted Humphrey's response to the question June 21 as to whether he was prepared to offer a cease-fire: " 'You bet we are. We're prepared for a cease-fire any hour of the day. However, Hanoi has shown no such interest. But it may. I think we ought

Judge Claims Young Lack Responsibility

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI)-A California judge said Thursday a lack of responsibility is the cause for much of the teen-age crime in the nation today.

"You'd be surprised the number of people — juveniles and older offenders, 24, 25, on up — who have never shouldered any responsibility in their lives," Los Angeles County Superior Court Judge Sherman W. Smith said.

"Some of them have never worked at a job. A lot of guys feel work is a disease they'll die from."

Smith, who is among juvenile court judges attending a special three-week seminar at the University of Colorado, said juvenile detention centers used work as a part of their therapy.

"If you can keep these kids doing something with their hands and their minds, they stay out of trouble," Smith said. "But too many of them don't get such a benefit at home.

TRAVEMUENDE Germany (AP) -Stormvogel, the 73-foot South African ketch skippered by C. Bruynzeel, widened its lead in the Transatlantic Bermuda-Travemuende yachting race to 100 sea miles, the West German Navy Tender Westerwald radioed today.

The escort vessel said the Stormvogel, powered by moderate westerly winds, covered nearly 300 sea miles since the last reporting yesterday and now had covered 2,000 of the 3,500mile course.

The American yacht Ondine III, reported 50 miles behind yesterday, faded another 50 miles in second place. The Ondine is skippered by S. A. "Huey" Long of New York.

More Poles in the Sky?

The question of placing utilities underground in a proposed 460-lot assessment district in Laguna's Arch Beach Heights was raised in a city council meeting last

It appeared from the conversation of city officials that utilities will not be placed underground because of These would likely be higher because of the steep terrain of the old (1911) subdivision that consists of 25by-100 foot lots.

In an initial engineering report, provision was made to put utilities underground but costs were so high it was necessary to pare this from the project or abandon the assessment district, according to the city attorney.

Hence in a second engineering report underground utilities were dropped.

Other improvements in the proposed district will include a street system, a sewer system, a water system and street lights for most of the 460 lots and sanitary sewers only for others.

The city council, by a 4-1 split vote, agreed to accept the offer of a bonding company to purchase up to $825,000 worth of bonds for the proposed improvement

It is estimated that when the bonds are discounted about $762,000 will be available for construction and incidental costs. The bonds would be paid for by the

An engineering firm has estimated that $680,000 would cover all costs of the work.

City Attorney Jack Rimel has estimated that the financial risk to the city might reach $80,000. Said Rimel, "If anything occurs which causes this project not to proceed, the expense incurred for engineers and incidental expenses up till that time have to be borne by the city.'

City Manager James D. Wheaton has said the city could legally require underground utilities because they were "an item of improvement" in the original petition of property owners who wanted to get the assessment

However, he noted that the high costs of such work would make it improbable that the project with underground utilities added, could stay within the engineering cost estimates.

It would appear that the city is about to risk city money on the development of 25 by 100 foot lots that would eventually have overhead wires.

In esthetic-minded Laguna Beach where there has frequently been an outcry over the utility wires that criss-cross the skyline, it would seem well for the council to take a hard look at the whole proposition.

The mayor has expressed concern over the amount of funds the city might lose.

Some concern appears in order now about the esthetics of the situation.

Another Proud Presentation

Judging from the excellent reception given Thurs-day night's Pageant of the Masters, the 33rd running of Laguna's Pageant and Festival of Arts will set new records both in attendance and artistic acclaim.

The Festival and its "Living Pictures" have brought Laguna Beach worldwide acclaim and this year's production gives promise of being no exception. The artists, craftsmen and pageant volunteers and pro-fessionals deserve the thanks of the entire community.

'JUST FOR THE HECK OF IT, HUBERT, LET'S COUNT 'EM BEFORE THEY HATCH."

Press Releases Can Win Battles

The recent Associated Press dispatch read: "More than 120 Communist troops gave up in a Saigon suburb today in the largest mass surrender of the war."

We have no knowledge how most American newspapers handled this story, but one gave it an eight-column

The surrendered troops were described as North Vietnamese. As most Washington estimates put the Hanoi regulars who have infiltrated South Vietnam to aid the Viet Cong rebels at 40,200, you may be excused a little arithmetic - this surrender apparently involved 1/320th of the Hanoi strength.

THERE HAS LONG been something manifestly wrong with the public relations output in Saigon, as accepted by Washington politicians and some American newspapers. It is not difficult to determine the origins of this grotesque distortion of the war news, but it is more difficult to determine how these distortions are processed after they are put on the wire.

The origin is simple. Public relations men, or "spokesmen" work for, and are under the thumb of, commanders of regiments, brigades and divisions. It is polite to make their colonels, brigadiers and major generals and their respective outfits look good.

Royce Brier

To this end they grossly exaggerate the number of the enemy killed in battles and campaigns, a practice noted by the late Senator Robert Kennedy last winter.

IF AN OUTFIT does a good job or has a success (and many do good jobs and have local successes) the spokesman is under compulsion to make the job look better and enlarge the success. This entails a little lying, but military commanders of all ranks have an antipathy for kill-joy spokesmen who disregard the natural pride of an outfit. Such spokesmen soon find themselves out in a mudhole under enemy fire.

It would not do to suggest this practice is unique to Vietnam or to Americans. It applies to all soldiery for all time. Nor are exaggeration or distortion of combat incidence more than venial sins in individual examples.

It is when the exaggeration or distortion is organized in a system covering an entire war, that damage results. The damage consists in persuading the people who support and read about the war that it is going better than it actually is.

IT BECOMES A cumulative delusion, and it has lost many a war, but has never won a war. Adolf Hitler in his bunker in the last days had the same delusion. He was summoning ghost divisions long disintegrated to come up and save the Reich. His delusions differed only in degree from the delusion under which the Americans are now laboring.

It is almost unbelievable in the light of recent history that the surrender of 100-200 of the enemy should be the 'largest" of record, but it may be true. It is a poor war in this century which hasn't seen the surrender of 5-10 thousand on both sides as rather common. These were probably called "mass surrenders," too, but they weren't. A true mass surrender was 300,000 Germans at Stalingrad.

In other words, doubt your spokesman, or rather, doubt the system, which extends its tentacles to Washington, where it manifests itself every day.

Recall Attempt Defended

'Of Course It's Political'

Re "Recall Reagan? No!" (July 8). Your editorial was not convincing.

First question: What's wrong with a recall election? Reagan has nothing to fear unless, of course, he has demanded that the people of California tighten their belts to the point that there is nothing left with which to hold up his own pants.

Second question: Can you tell me of just one election ever held which was not political in nature?

Third question: Why would a recall election embarrass the governor? It would show, after all, a vote of confidence by the citizens of California. Or, vice versa.

I must add that only those who cannot read (and who, possibly, cannot write) could under any circumstances misinterpret the petition as there was no mention, on the petition, of any kind of taxes.

Motorcycle Danger

To the Editor:

Apropos your editorial (July 9, on the dangers of motorcycles), UCLA recently completed a study that bears out your contention.

The studies showed that although 55 percent of UCLA students commute by automobile and only 61/2 percent by motorcycle, the number of serious student injuries to cyclists was double that from automobile accidents. I presume the same ratio - or nearly the same ratic - would hold up throughout the state. Registration of motorcycles in California increased 249 percent between 1960 and 1965 and the number of injury-producing accidents involving motorcycles rose almost the same percentage, 253 percent.

The UCLA study suggested five ways to reduce casualties:

 A special operator's license should be required and frequently renewed.

2. The license should be given only to those thoroughly qualified to handle a motorcycle. 3. Periodic inspections of the vehicle should be required. 4. No more than one person at a time should ride on a motorcycle. 5. A safety helmet and goggles should be worn. I am afraid I am about as cynical as your editorial was. I don't know of much that can be done to convince young people they're on wheeled death every time they get aboard a cycle.

The Teen Scene

B. R. MEYERS

To the Editor:

Orange Coast Area: Wake up. Not wishing to destroy any pre-formed images, I would like to inform the general public that the Laguna teen doesn't spend his time on the beach smoking marijuana.

To further illustrate this point, the Laguna Beach Youth Council is sponsoring an all-teen art festival, being tabbed "The Cantebury Fair," July 13 and 14 at the corner of Park and Glenneyre.

At this fair, some of the most talented teens in Laguna (and there are indeed quite a few) will be displaying their arts and crafts. Along with this art fair, there will be a series of plays presented, also put on by an all-teen cast.

Admission is free, and the public is cordially invited to observe the real Laguna teen, the one that should be synonymous with Laguna Beach.

Yeah, it's time for the Orange Coast to wake up. Wake up from that Mailbox

Letters from readers are welcome. Normally writers should convey their messages in 300 words or less. The right to condense letters to fit space or eliminate libel is reserved. All letters must include signature and mailing address, but names will be withheld on request.

and see the light. The Laguna teen may be turned on, but it's not because Laguna teens are involved in the art scene, not the drug scene.

Coleman Cost

To the Editor:

Your July 2 editorial in defense of the Coleman vote-tally system against the latest "attack" by the Voters' Information Bureau concludes by saying that the "supervisors should be spending some of the money saved through use of the Coleman machines spending it on more equipment."

It is doubtful that the Coleman system has saved the taxpayers a dime. The machines alone cost $1,680,000, we were told; but could there have been additional expenses, viz., the installation of the machines, the highly-paid technicians' salaries to operate and maintain them, the IBM system used in connection therewith, the cost of construction of the very building in which the system is housed? (Would said building have been necessary had the machines not been purchased?) In addition to these expenses, there are still several thousands employed as precinct workers at each election, and an added expense entailed in the handcounting of the many thousands of ballots that are rejected by the tally system

The DAILY PILOT could do a great service to the community by requesting of the County Clerk, or of the Board of Supervisors, a detailed accounting of the cost of holding the recent primary election in Orange County, together with a comparison of the cost of an election of the pre-Coleman "horse and buggy" era; then publishing same.

No Longer Rural

To the Editor:

In Sacramento Orange County Senator John Schmitz has introduced a bill (No. 5) that would change the 1967 law to ALLOW a "reputable citizen 18 or over to carry loaded firearms in a vehicle registered in his or his spouse's name on public streets and in public places."

I doubt if many people who advocate strict gun control are "hysterical," or believe it would prevent many deaths and injuries or keep guns from criminals.

However, strict control can change attitudes towards guns and can cut down on the injuries and deaths of children, family members, and neighbors who fall victim to a gun purchased to "protect" the family from intruders.

FURTHERMORE, many a despondent man may shoot himself when he might change his mind at the mechanics of hanging himself.

It is an insult to intelligence to be told that, "Guns don't kill, people do."

Of course. Autos don't kill either, but I'm quite willing to sacrifice a bit of "freedom" when the law requires me to take a periodic driver's test, and makes young people reach a certain age and demonstrate competence before being issued a driver's license. I'm sure this does save lives.

WE KNOW THAT the majority of juvenile delinquents sent to 'correctional" institutions come out to become adult criminals. We also know that "Boys' Towns" like the Boys' Republic at Chino, DO REFORM delinquents. (The Chino boys make those Christmas wreaths many people buy to help support the institution.)

Would it be good economy, as well as good humanity to spend enough to make reform schools really reform? More prisons are rather more expensive any way you look at it. How about coming to terms with the fact that we are no longer a pioneer, rural nation, and acting like it? MARGARET McMASTER

Time to Write

To the Editor:

The gun lobby has managed to delay action in the U.S. Senate on a gun control bill until July 9. Meanwhile, antigun-control letters are swamping senators.

Anyone who believes that all guns should be registered and all owners licensed should write now and get their friends to write now if they want a United States gun-control bill to become law. Unless thinking voters write to express their beliefs, the extremists win.

Draft a Hippie

To the Editor:

Would somebody please tell me why these hippie people have not been drafted? It has been reported that we, here in Laguna Beach, are to be cursed by an incursion of some 10,000 of them come July 20. That number surely could not be exempt.

Viet Nam would be an excellent place for them. If they are not front line material, they could be road builders or any number of other occupations.

Some of the Fourth Estate have referred to them as 'Flower Children." Don't you think that "Skunk Cabbage" would be a more appropriate designation?

Among that number there are bound to be ex jailbirds, would be tough guys and generally undesirable elements. What are the recommendations from authority to the householders of our

There are people who forgive those who have offended them but they don't really forgive them because they don't forget. It is interesting to explore the depths of forgiveness.

By ELLSWORTH RICHARDSON

There are some who forgive with the intent to relieve the pressure temporarily, but that is only a moratorium. You may have heard the story of two Scotsmen. The one who feared he was dying called in a friend with whom he had quarreled years ago and had never ventured reconciliation. There were tears shed. They both forgave each other but when the healthy man left the room the man who was sick roused himself out of bed on one elbow and said, "Remember, if I get over this, the old

ANOTHER MAN who lay dying called his business associate to his side and said. "I must tell you before I die that I've cheated you all through the years of about $51,000." His associate said, "That's quite all right,

I have poisoned you." A brilliant novelist who had been robbed of the woman he loved because of vicious lies said about him, became sour and cynical. He was against all women, had lost faith in himself and in God. He tried to run away from himself, but always he ended up by facing himself in a mirror. So he fled to a fishing village high on the cliffs. There he came upon a quaint old church, surrounded by corn fields, brilliant with crimson poppies. Inside the church in the vestibule was a painting of an old ruin. It was ivy covered windowless, desolate, standing out jagged and ruthless against the purple sky. Underneath the painting was this inscription: "The ruins of my soul repair, and make my heart a accusing words tolled like solemn bells - "Make my heart a house of prayer." He stepped outside the church door, out into the little graveyard on the very edge of the cliff. His eyes looked down upon the smiling landscape. This was what his eyes saw, but at the same time he was exploring the inner-depths of his own soul. Then something wonderful happened. He began to lift the stones into place, to rebuild the altar. The very first stone he attempted to lift, the very hardest to lift, was

Councilmen Get Picture on Police TV Setup

By BRUCE BENSON

The federal money is available, the detailed proposal is before them, and Newport Beach city councilmen must now decide if they will make their police department the first in the country to operate remote controlled television cameras.

A nuts-and-bolts explanation of how the TV system could work was delivered to councilmen this week from Arinc, a Santa Ana research firm commissioned to spell the plan out on paper.

In a 32-page report, Arinc ticks off a five-phase proposed development of an Electronic Protection System (EPS) using an initial 15 remote TV cameras throughout Newport Beach. Councilmen haven't yet scheduled a public hearing, but are expected to do

And with high resolution lenses, the cameras can even spot nighttime activities such as people using narcotics, or public soliciting by prostitutes.

As proposed, the EPS can watch but not listen. Newport Police Chief B. James Glavas, its strongest advocate, has stated frequently that the system isn't designed to pick up sounds and conversations.

It is possible for commercial firms to buy private cameras compatible with the police system, and plug into the operation on a fee basis.

"This aspect of the EPS operation could significantly defray the cost of operating the system," the report

Arinc says the actual operation of the cameras would go something like

Experts Finish Week of Tests In Mesa Slaying

By ARTHUR R. VINSEL of the Daily Pilot Staff

Mental health experts today wound up their first week of putting together a psychological portrait of the wife of a Costa Mesa City Councilman, who is accused of stabbing her neighbor to death.

Mrs. Irene M. Tucker, 37, of 1642 Minorca Drive, is being held at Orange County Medical Center and interviewed almost daily for a psychiatric report due one week from Monday.

The wife of Councilman George A. Tucker is charged with stabbing Mrs. Harriett Westphal, 68, of 1646 Minorca Drive, after some sort of neighborhood clash on June 28 and has been in custody since. Mrs. Westphal staggered into the street and over to another neighbor, Donald V. Schenk, of 1645 Minorca Drive, where she made a statement implicating the suspect, then collapsed and died. No death weapon has been identified, but investigators believe it may have been a big butcher knife taken from the Tucker kitchen for crime lab analysis, along with other blades and utensils.

Cooler Weather Due on Weekend

After a week of high temperatures, the weatherman predicts general cooling to near normal temperatures today through the weekend for the Orange Coast.

Days are expected to remain clear, however, early-risers and night owls may catch some fog along the coast. Water temperature at the beaches was 58 degrees today and despite the cooling weather will no doubt draw the usual army of sun and burf worshipers this weekend.

It is the work of artist Lorenso Rafael and depicts an ancient Mexican ball player in commemoration of the Olympic Games.

The rich voice of narrator Howard "Hap" Graham added theatrical dimension as he backgrounded the works, commenting by turn

OCC Fourth Behind Crew Of Harvard

LONG BEACH - Smooth stroking Harvard University swept to an easy victory over Washington, Stanford, Orange Coast College and Cal State Long Beach in today's 8-oared rowing Olympic trials at Long Beach Marina.

The Crimson, favored to win Sunday's finals here, led from wire to wire. Harvard gradually widened its lead over the other five shells and was never seriously challenged after the first 200 meters.

Orange Coast stayed in contention early in the race, battling Washington and Stanford on even terms, a length behind the winners. However, by the 1,000 meter, OCC had faded to fourth place, 21/2 lengths behind Harvard. The Crimson glided past the finish line in 6:04, winning by two lengths over Washington. The Huskies were timed in 6:10.5. Stanford (6:11.6) was one quarter length behind Washington and third, then came OCC with its 6:18.0 time, three lengths behind Stanford.

IRA Champion Penn captured the first heat, covering the 2,000 meter course in 5:56.1, with defending Olympic champions Vesper Boat Club in second, with a 5:59.8 effort. Saturday the losers from today's two heats will meet here again for repecharge, starting at 10 a.m. Orange Coast heat and opponents will not be known until later today when the draw is made.

Property Values In Orange County Hit $12 Billion

The rapid rise in assessed valuations in the past few years in Orange County has slowed, County Assessor

Andrew J. Hinshaw indicated today. Property assessments are up only 8.6 percent over 1967-68 which compares with a 16.8 percent jump last year over the previous 12 months. Hinshaw said total market value of property in the county had climbed to more than $12 billion. Total assessed valuation, 25 percent of the market value, is $3.06 million, Hinshaw said.

The assessor attributed the slowing rate of value increases to a reduction in taxable new improvements, a leveling effect in the assessment of properties as those a s s e s s m e n t s approach the mandatory 25 percent, the continuing depletion of reserves in the county's oil fields, and the disappointing results of the industry's secondary oil recovery program.

Value notice cards were mailed to each taxpayer on July 1, Hinshaw said. He said property owners with questions should contact his office by phone or in person immediately.

Huntington Beach and Seal Beach on the Orange Coast showed a reduction in assessed valuation. Hinshaw said this was due to the big cut on taxes on oil reserves granted by his office last year. Huntington Beach property is assessed at 2.1 percent less than last year, Seal Beach, .4 percent.

Fountain Valley and Costa Mesa are hit hardest by increases in assessments, the former being up 15.7 percent and the latter, 14.2 percent. Newport Beach assessed valuation is up 10.6 percent, Laguna Beach only 3.9 percent, and Westminster 9 million to $45 million. Reagan cut the legislature's 5.5 percent faculty pay raises to 5 percent. "It will now be necessary to reconsider and reassess all of the major priorities and programs of the university," Hitch said, adding that he will make an additional report in September. He said that construction budget cutbacks offer "no alternative" to a new voter bond issue for funds, now before the legislature. "I urge you to give it your full support," Hitch told the regents. The president's report made no direct mention of enrollment limits, which Hitch has considered as one means of meeting the fiscal 1968-69

"Budgetary stringency at the University of California over the last two years has caused an actual decline in the standards and quality of education - a reduction of 9 percent in the state-funded expenditure per fulltime student after correcting for the effects of inflation," Hitch said.

Singer's Husband Denied New Trial

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) - David Harris, former Stanford University student body president and husband of folksinger Joan Baez, has been denied a request for a new trial on charges of refusing to be drafted.

Harris was convicted May 29 on the charges and was sentenced to three years in prison. He remains free pending appeal of the conviction.

It probably won't hurt the weekend beach crowds, but the weatherman says they may be some cooling off in the Orange Coast's week-long heat. Water temperature is 63.

Melodyland Theater Thursday won its battle with the city of Anaheim when Superior Judge Charles A. Bauer granted the entertainment company a permanent injunction barring the city from further attempts to enforce its ordinance prohibiting bare-breasted dancing girls.

The theater had brought suit against the city after local authorities attempted to stop last fall's presentation of the topless Las Vegas show "Vive Les Girls."

The city's topless law was passed by the council last year after efforts the year before to stop the bare-bosomed show failed.

The decision coincides with similar rulings throughout the state which have held that the state has preempted the right to legislate in the area of morals and obscenity.

Head Recall Men Told Of Conduct

SACRAMENTO (AP) - Leaders of a drive to cut short Gov. Reagan's term in office have received a warning from state officials about the conduct of their campaign. And a last-ditch attempt at gaining petition signatures may hit a snag.

Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan cautioned Nancy L. Parr, a San Francisco nurse who is cochairman of the Recall Reagan Committee, that many complaints have been received from persons who say they were duped into signing recall petitions.

"We have no complaint as to the wording of the stated purposes of this petition," Jordan said, "but because we have received so many complaints, I feel that you should instruct all of your circulators to refrain from statements that this petition is aimed at reducing taxes."

JORDAN REPLY Jordan's letter was in reply to one from Miss Parr in which she said, "We demand that you retract your untrue statement that we are misrepresenting our petition." Jordan made that statement last week. In his reply, Jordan refused to take back the statement and added "I sincerely believe that you, as a chief architect of this recall petition, could not have been so haive as to not be fully aware of the statements that some of your circulators are making.'

The secretary of state said his office, county clerks and registrars of voters across the state have received complaints from persons who say they were led to believe the petitions were to reduce taxes.

"If we continue to receive reports ... that the Reagan recall circulators are seeking signatures under the guise that the petition is to lower taxes,' Jordan said, "I believe that it is incumbent upon me to request the attorney general to investigate those complaints."

700,000 SIGNATURES

Meanwhile, Edwin Koupal, general manager of the recall committee, said circulators have gathered more than 700,000 signatures. The committee must file with county clerks petitions bearing the signatures of 780,714 registered voters by July 31 to force a recall election.

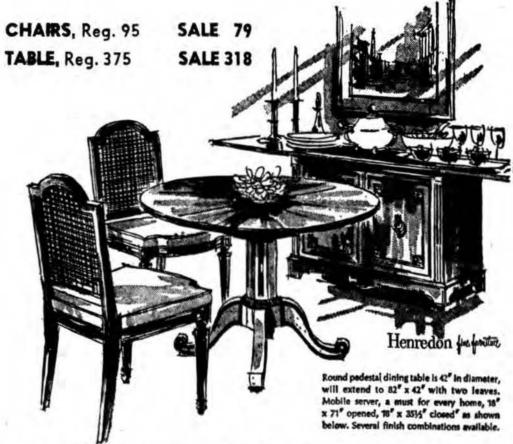

However, the State Constitution provides that circulators of a recall petition have until 40 days after the signatures are validated to file additional names.

Koupal said the committee plans to conduct three simultaneous "petitionthons" in San Francisco, Los Angeles and Sacramento next week. The committee's effices in those cities would remain open for three full days beginning July 19, he said, to collect additional signatures. Also, Koupal said the committee has raised enough money to have the petitions printed in advertisements in newspapers in the three cities.

"You could sit at home, clip out the petition, sign it and mail it in," Koupal said. "Then you'd have 'instant

Glimmer in Airport Plan

The effects and impact of the aviation report re-ceived by the Board of Supervisors this week were in-deed far reaching. Still, they should have calmed one fear in this community - the county really has no "secret" plan to turn Orange County Airport into another Los Angeles International Airport.

Orange County needs such an airport, the report says, but the present county airport site is not adequate for a variety of reasons.

Also reassuring was the report's recommendation that restrictions be placed on flight out of Orange County Airport. It would appear that some increase in pas-senger jet traffic is likely, but it does not seem that any great surge is in the offing.

While the county is determining what to do about the multi-faceted recommendations of the report, it would be well if step one was rapid action on what will and what won't happen at Orange County Airport.

That's the first order of business.

Keep Beauty at Home

Newport Beach city officials are learning the ins and outs of the advertising game these days. In a situadon no one had anticipated, the city is collecting rent directly from firms advertising on several billboards located on city property. It seems that the billboard company had fallen in arrears in its sublease payments to the city so the city

The rub is that the city-owned property, all two acres of it, is at the southeast corner of Brookhurst and

Adams in Huntington Beach. Newport Beach has a law prohibiting the building of any new billboards, and a policy of phasing out those already standing. Huntington Beach is trying to accomplish much the same thing, so far without any luck to speak of.

To its embarrassment, Newport has become an absentee billboard landlord in a neighboring city, making money in a manner it officially discourages within its own city limits.

,如此,我就是一个一个,我们就会会会,我们们的,一个都是我们的人的意思,我们也没有一个一个,也是我们的一个一个,我们就会会会会会会会会会会会会会会会会会会会会

But to its relief, the situation is only temporary. As soon as the billboard company's past debts are cleared, Newport Beach will be in a position to abandon its billboard rental collections.

Meanwhile, why doesn't the city use the boards to tell some of the fine things about Newport Beach? That would be the final touch of irony - promote your own city with view-blotting signboards in another city.

Off the Market

Fifty guns used in criminal acts the past year in Newport Beach are rusting away at the bottom of the Pacific Ocean. Police gave them the deep six in accordance with state law requiring the destruction of criminal-owned weapons.

Until recently, such routine disposition of guns would have gone virtually unnoticed. But the public's interest in weapons continues at a keen pitch in the wake of this year's assassinations.

In dumping the arms into the sea, police noted that the corrosive salt will render them useless within 48 hours. But even more interesting is what the police did to the guns beforehand.

Firing mechanisms were removed and the barrels were reamed out.

These steps to defang tools of destruction appear to us as good testimony, from men in a position to know best, about the dangers of unbridled possession of arms.

At the same time, it is encouraging to know that some time in the past, before the most recent slayings of national leaders, state legislators had the common sense to see that criminal-owned guns aren't loosed back upon the public.

'JUST FOR THE HECK OF IT, HUBERT, LET'S COUNT 'EM BEFORE THEY HATCH."

Press Releases Can Win Battles

The recent Associated Press dispatch read: "More than 120 Communist troops gave up in a Saigon suburb today in the largest mass surrender of the war."

We have no knowledge how most American newspapers handled this story, but one gave it an eight-column headline.

The surrendered troops were described as North Vietnamese. As most Washington estimates put the Hanoi regulars who have infiltrated South Vietnam to aid the Viet Cong rebels at 40,200, you may be excused a little arithmetic - this surrender apparently involved 1/320th of the Hanoi strength.

THERE HAS LONG been something manifestly wrong with the public relations output in Saigon, as accepted by Washington politicians and some American newspapers. It is not difficult to determine the origins of this grotesque distortion of the war news. but it is more difficult to determine how these distortions are processed after they are put on the wire.

The origin is simple. Public relations men, or "spokesmen" work for, and are under the thumb of. commanders of regiments, brigades and divisions. It is polite to make their colonels, brigadiers and major generals and their respective outfits look good.

To this end they grossly exaggerate the number of the enemy killed in battles and campaigns, a practice noted by the late Senator Robert Kennedy last winter.

IF AN OUTFIT does a good job or has a success (and many do good jobs and have local successes) the spokesman is under compulsion to make the job look better and enlarge the success. This entails a little lying, but military commanders of all ranks have an antipathy for kill-joy spokesmen who disregard the natural pride of an outfit. Such spokesmen soon find themselves out in a mudhole under enemy fire.

It would not do to suggest this practice is unique to Vietnam or to Americans. It applies to all soldiery for all time. Nor are exaggeration or distortion of combat incidence more than venial sins in individual examples.

It is when the exaggeration or distortion is organized in a system covering an entire war, that damage results. The damage consists in persuading the people who support and read about the war that it is going better than it actually is.

"Tell her we're winning!"

IT BECOMES A cumulative delusion, and it has lost many a war, but has never won a war. Adolf Hitler in his bunker in the last days had the same delusion. He was summoning ghost divisions long disintegrated to come up and save the Reich. His delusions differed only in degree from delusion under which the Americans are now laboring.

It is almost unbelievable in the light of recent history that the surrender of 100-200 of the enemy should be the "largest" of record, but it may be true. It is a poor war in this century which hasn't seen the surrender of 5-10 thousand on both sides as rather common. These were probably called "mass surrenders," too, but they weren't. A true mass surrender was 300,000 Germans at Stalingrad.

In other words, doubt your spokesman, or rather, doubt the system, which extends its tentacles to Washington, where it manifests itself every day.

Recall Attempt Defended

'Of Course It's Political'

Re "Recall Reagan? No!" (July 8). Your editorial was not convincing.

First question: What's wrong with a recall election? Reagan has nothing to fear unless, of course, he has demanded that the people of California tighten their belts to the point that there is nothing left with which to hold up his own pants.

Second question: Can you tell me of just one election ever held which was not political in nature?

Third question: Why would a recall election embarrass the governor? It would show, after all, a vote of confidence by the citizens of California. Or, vice versa.

I must add that only those who cannot read (and who, possibly, cannot write) could under any circumstances misinterpret the petition as there was no mention, on the petition, of any kind of taxes. LOUISE HENRY

Motorcycle Danger

To the Editor:

Apropos your editorial (July 9, on the dangers of motorcycles). UCLA recently completed a study that bears out your contention.

The studies showed that although 55 percent of UCLA students commute by automobile and only 61/2 percent by motorcycle, the number of serious student injuries to cyclists was double that from automobile accidents.

I presume the same ratio - or nearly the same ratic - would hold up throughout the state. Registration of motorcycles in California increased 249 percent between 1960 and 1965 and the number of injury-producing accidents involving motorcycles rose almost the same percentage, 253 percent.

The UCLA study suggested five ways to reduce casualties:

1. A special operator's license should be required and frequently renewed. 2. The license should be given only to those thoroughly qualified to handle a motorcycle. 3. Periodic inspections of the vehicle should be required. 4. No more than one person at a time should ride on a motorcycle. 5. A safety helmet and goggles should be worn. I am afraid I am about as cynical as your editorial was. I don't know of much that can be done to convince young people they're on wheeled death every time they get aboard a cycle. B. R. MEYERS

The Grumblers

To the Editor:

In any societal community there are always certain elements of that society that are the constant complainers. Unfortunately, Newport Beach has more than its share of this

For example, there are those who continually complain about the level of education their children are receiving and at the same time complain about the excessive expenditures involved in schools and refuse to pass school bonds.

Then there is the arm-chair professional regarding local government. Coleman Cost

To the Editor:

Your July 2 editorial in defense of the Coleman vote-tally system against the latest "attack" by the Voters' Information Bureau concludes by saying that the "supervisors should be spending some of the money saved through use of the Coleman machines spending it on more equipment."

It is doubtful that the Coleman system has saved the taxpayers a dime. The machines alone cost $1,680,000, we were told: but could there have been additional expenses, viz., the installation of the machines, the highly-paid technicians' salaries to operate and maintain them, the IBM system used in connection therewith. the cost of construction of the very building in which the system is housed? (Would said building have been necessary had the machines not been purchased?) In addition to these expenses, there are still several thousands employed as precinct workers at each election, and an added expense entailed in the handcounting of the many thousands of ballots that are rejected by the tally

The DAILY PILOT could do a great service to the community by requesting of the County Clerk, or of the Board of Supervisors, a detailed accounting of the cost of holding the recent primary election in Orange County, together with a comparison of the cost of an election of the pre-Coleman "horse and buggy" era; then publishing same. No Longer Rural

To the Editor:

In Sacramento Orange County Senator John Schmitz has introduced a bill (No. 5) that would change the 1967 law to ALLOW a "reputable citizen 18 or over to carry loaded firearms in a vehicle registered in his or his spouse's name on public streets and in public places."

I doubt if many people who advocate strict gun control are "hysterical," or believe it would prevent many deaths and injuries or keep guns from

However, strict control can change attitudes towards guns and can cut down on the injuries and deaths of children, family members, and neighbors who fall victim to a gun purchased to "protect" the family from intruders.

FURTHERMORE, many a despondent man may shoot himself when he might change his mind at the mechanics of hanging himself.

It is an insult to intelligence to be told that, "Guns don't kill, people do."

Of course. Autos don't kill either, but I'm quite willing to sacrifice a bit of "freedom" when the law requires me to take a periodic driver's test, and makes young people reach a certain age and demonstrate competence before being issued a driver's license. I'm sure this does save lives.

WE KNOW THAT the majority of juvenile delinquents sent to 'correctional" institutions come out to become adult criminals. We also know that "Boys' Towns" like the Boys' Republic at Chino, DO REFORM delinquents. (The Chino boys make those Christmas wreaths many people buy to help support the institution.)

Would it be good eco.iomy, as well as good humanity to spend enough to make reform schools really reform? More prisons are rather more expensive any way you look at it. How about coming to terms with the fact that we are no longer a pioneer, rural nation, and acting like it?

MARGARET McMASTER

Time to Write

To the Editor:

The gun lobby has managed to delay action in the U.S. Senate on a gun control bill until July 9. Meanwhile, antigun-control letters are swamping senators.

Anyone who believes that all guns should be registered and all owners licensed should write now and get their friends to write now if they want a United States gun-control bill to become law. Unless thinking voters write to express their beliefs, the extremists win.

Tax Assessment On Golf Course Set At $50,000

By JACK BROBACK

Possessory interest tax assessment that could cause the operator of the Costa Mesa Golf and Country Club about $50,000 in additional taxes was disclosed today by County Assessor Andrew J. Hinshaw.

Hinshaw said he had estimated the possessory interest of the golf course operator at $2.2 million with an assessed value of $557,750.

At the same time, the assessor revealed similar possessory interest value of the California Angels' use of Anaheim Stadium at $9.2 million and assessed value at $2.3 million.

Tax bite estimated for assessment is about $200,000. The city of Anaheim would have to pay the tax bill under the terms of the contract with the Angels. City officials would contest the Want a bargain in an old boat? Huntington City Council has one for sale - as is, strictly cash and carry.

Councilmen Monday consider an emergency ordinance calling for immediate sale of the cabin cruiser "El-Band-Dedo." The boat was retrieved on March 13 as it drifted near the Admiralty Bridge area.

It is owned by Harvey S. Green, 1507 Ocean Ave., Apt. A, Seal Beach according to the Department of Harbors and Beaches. The owner was notified that the boat was taken in tow after it was discovered drifting, but the owner has not replied to the notice, according to city officials.

Therefore the city will either sell or otherwise dispose of the craft if the emergency ordinance is adopted Monday and the owner does not respond in 10 days.

Festival Curtain Goes Up Tonight on 33rd Edition

A preview audience of about 2,400 persons was blessed with a balmy night and good theater, the greatest Pageant yet.

Festival grounds with featured exhibits opened to the public at noon today and the first public living pictures production goes on the Irvine Bowl stage tonight.

The 27 works at living pictures and statuary presented under the stars from a reproduction of Winslow Homer's powerful painting 'Undertow" to a surprise.

It was a striking reproduction of the 25-peso coin issued for the Mexican Olympics.

As the coin's big case opened slowly, dramatially, the audience did not realize that the polished "living picture" was an eleventh hour addition to the spectacular.

It is the work of artist Lorenso Rafael and depicts an ancient Mexican ball player in commemoration of the Olympic Games.

The rich voice of narrator Howard "Hap" Graham added theatrical dimension as he backgrounded the works, commenting by turn humorously or dramatically.

The 20-piece orchestra led by Vic Schoen performed Schoen's original scores well with only a first night hitch or two in coordination.

The music was effective and in a less strident key than last year's score to accompany the pictures.

The production moved well in programming and change of pace from hillside (the dramtic Gettysburg figures) to lower stage to upper stage. The upper stage presentation of "Women of Fashion at Leisure" by an unknown Japanese artist, for instance,

Experts End First Week Of Tests in Mesa Death

Mrs. Irene M. Tucker, 37, of 1642 Minorca Drive, is being held at Orange County Medical Center and interviewed almost daily for a psychiatric report due one week from Monday.

The wife of Councilman George A. Tucker is charged with stabbing Mrs. Harriett Westphal, 68, of 1646 Minorca Drive, after some sort of neighborhood clash on June 28 and has been in

Mrs. Westphal staggered into the street and over to another neighbor. Donald V. Schenk, of 1645 Minorca Drive, where she made a statement implicating the suspect, then collapsed

No death weapon has been identified, but investigators believe it may have been a big butcher knife taken from the Tucker kitchen for crime lab analysis, along with other blades and utensils.

Mrs. Tucker is due to appear in Orange County Superior Court July 22, at which time two state psychiatrists appointed by Judge William Speirs will give results of their evaluation.

If Mrs. Tucker is ruled incapable of aiding in her own defense at the present time, she will be sent to a state hospital for treatment until such time as she can be tried for murder. Barring any surprise developments, the eventual trial will probably be based almost entirely on physical evidence, since one of the two principals is dead and there were no direct witnesses.

Mrs. Tucker appeared dazed and in a state of shock at her July 1 arraignment, at which time she was remanded to Superior Court, where Judge Speirs ordered the psychiatric tests five days later.

The suspect's attorney, Paul Augustine Jr., said Thursday that he is prepared now to try the case, should Mrs. Tucker be found capable of assisting in her defense.

The stabbing death of Mrs. Westphal and the arrest of Mrs. Tucker stunned their Mesa Verde subdivision, and the shock spread throughout the city like rings from a stone dropped into a pool.

UC President Hitch Blasts Reagan Budget

BERKELEY (AP) - University of California President Charles J. Hitch said today Gov. Reagan's new state budget continues "an actual decline in the standards and quality of education" on the nine UC campuses.

In his strongest statement on university finances since he took office Jan. 1, Hitch said UC has three alternatives: to cut back on quality, reduce services or to convince the public, the legislature and the governor that UC needs more money. Hitch's 10-page report mentioned budget limits approved by the legislature as well as vetoes made by

The governor's $5.7 billion budget contains $276.5 million in university operating funds. Regents requested $311 million.

The new budget cut UC's requested state construction funds from $80 million to $45 million. Reagan cut the legislature's 5.5 percent faculty pay raises to 5 percent.

"It will now be necessary to reconsider and reassess all of the major priorities and programs of the university," Hitch said, adding that he will make an additional report in September.

2 Sisters Share Spree, Jail Cell

Two sisters were sharing a cell in Orange County jail today after an alleged shoplifting spree.

Judy and Ella Newman, aged 25 and 23, respectively, were arrested at 5 p.m. Thursday and charged with burglary. They are being held in lieu of $12,550 bail set for each.

Police said the Inglewood women were spotted by a Newport Center department store security guard, who was suspicious of the women's actions and called police.

Officers stopped the women at their car, which contained "many" items of clothing and other articles from a grocery they would not explain having.

He said that construction budget cutbacks offer "no alternative" to a new voter bond issue for funds, now before the legislature. "I urge you to give it your full support," Hitch told the regents.

The president's report made no direct mention of enrollment limits, which Hitch has considered as one means of meeting the fiscal 1968-69 budget.

"Budgetary stringency at the University of California over the last two years has caused an actual decline in the standards and quality of education - a reduction of 9 percent in the state-funded expenditure per fulltime student after correcting for the effects of inflation," Hitch said.

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) - Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison said Thursday a "foreign power on militarily friendly terms with the United States" has furnished him information to show that President John F. Kennedy was assassinated "by elements of the Central Intelligence Agency.'

Property Values In Orange County Hit $12 Billion

The rapid rise in assessed valuations in the past few years in Orange County has slowed, County Assessor Andrew J. Hinshaw indicated today.

Property assessments are up only 8.6 percent over 1967-68 which compares with a 16.8 percent jump last year over the previous 12 months.

Hinshaw said total market value of property in the county had climbed to more than $12 billion. Total assessed valuation, 25 percent of the market value, is $3.06 million, Hinshaw said.

The assessor attributed the slowing rate of value increases to a reduction in taxable new improvements, a leveling effect in the assessment of properties as those a s s e s s m e n t s approach the mandatory 25 percent, the continuing depletion of reserves in the county's oil fields, and the disappointing results of the industry's secondary oil recovery program.

Value notice cards were mailed to each taxpayer on July 1, Hinshaw said. He said property owners with questions should contact his office by phone or in person immediately.

Huntington Beach and Seal Beach on the Orange Coast showed a reduction in assessed valuation. Hinshaw said this was due to the big cut on taxes on oil reserves granted by his office last year. Huntington Beach property is assessed at 2.1 percent less than last year, Seal Beach, .4 percent.

Fountain Valley and Costa Mesa are hit hardest by increases in assessments, the former being up 15.7 percent and the latter, 14.2 percent. Newport Beach assessed valuation is up 10.6 percent, Laguna Beach only 3.9 percent, and Westminster percent. Orange Coast assessed valuation totals:

Huntington Beach, $240 million; Newport Beach, $199 million; Costa Mesa, $127 million; Laguna Beach, $47 million; Fountain Valley, $43 million. and Seal Beach, $59 million.,

Tongue Slip Puts Hospital Into Hassle

A slip of the tongue has put a Santa Ana convalescent hospital located near a medical-dental center with a similar name into a Costa Mesa land purchase hassle and the administrator wants out of it in the worst way.

Andrew Hayslip, chief of King Manor & Convalescent Home, 1030 W. Warner Ave., said his facility is in no way involved in a $318,000 purchase of land from the Costa Mesa County Water District.

King Family Medical-Dental Center, 1120 W. Warner Ave., Santa Ana, represented by Dr. Norman K. Beals Jr., is the concern whose name should have come up during the 9.75-acre land deal coverage.

A CMCWD spokesman once identified Dr. Beals as being associated with the convalescent hospital, not the medical center.

Hayslip particularly objected because CMCWD officials said Dr. Beals was unsuccessful several times in raising money to clinch purchase of the land, leading to a court action.

He complained of numerous calls and queries regarding financial status of King Manor Convalescent Hospital as a result of the mixup.

The loot included $125 in change, a toolbox and contents, plus a $100 radio, police said. A nearby vacant apartment at 2656

OCC Library Costs Spiraling

The costs of remodeling the Orange Coast College library have taken a chilling hike.

District board trustees reluctantly agreed Wednesday to spend an extra $43,400 to air condition the library building to which a fourth floor is being added. "I argued long and loud (with architects) against air conditioning because I hoped to save a little bit of money," District Supt. Norman E. Watson told trustees. But he added architects had convinced him that because the floor space was being sliced into many small rooms, natural breezes could not be counted on for cooling.

Happiness is . . .

For Cynthia Riggs, 6, of Houston, happiness is a new finger. Playing with a hedge clipper in January, Cynthia cut off her index finger and part of her thumb. This week, she left Methodist Hospital with medical science's best repair job yet. Doctors removed one of her toes and replaced the otherwise nonrepairable index finger with it.

Sgt. Butler and his wife are seeking both general and punitive damages under the Unruh Civil Rights act from each of the defendants.

He complains that he was not granted space for his trailer because Defendants are Westminster Trailer Lodge; Rancho La Siesta Mobile Homes in Fountain Valley and 10 other county trailer courts.

Head Recall Men Told Of Conduct

SACRAMENTO (AP) - Leaders of a drive to cut short Gov. Reagan's term in office have received a warning from state officials about the conduct of their campaign. And a last-ditch attempt at gaining petition signatures may hit a snag.

Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan cautioned Nancy L. Parr, a San Francisco nurse who is cochairman of the Recall Reagan Committee, that many complaints have been received from persons who say they were duped into signing recall petitions.

"We have no complaint as to the wording of the stated purposes of this petition," Jordan said, "but because we have received so many complaints. I feel that you should instruct all of your circulators to refrain from statements that this petition is aimed at reducing taxes."

Jordan's letter was in reply to one from Miss Parr in which she said, "We demand that you retract your untrue statement that we are misrepresenting our petition." Jordan made that statement last week.

In his reply, Jordan refused to take back the statement and added "I sincerely believe that you, as a chief architect of this recall petition, could not have been so naive as to not be fully aware of the statements that some of your circulators are making."

Institute Asks New Hearing Over Eviction

Representatives of the Institute of Ability, Costa Mesa's most unusual church, Monday will seek a new city council hearing in their bid to stay in present quarters for a short time longer.

Rev. H. Charles Berner and his congregation want another three to six months' extension of a conditional use permit for their church at 1862 Placentia Ave., despite neighbors' objections.

All members were away two weeks ago at a Lucerne Valley religious retreat when the City Council twice split 2-2 on whether to grant or reject a new hearing on the matter. The double split amounted to a tacit

Taxes on Bethel Towers

It really should come as no surprise to the City of Costa Mesa that it may be collecting no taxes on the 17-story Bethel Towers retirement building on 19th

More than three months ago, the DAILY PILOT asked councilmen and members of the city staff if the towers development was not, like many other churchsponsored retirement programs, designed to be a tax-free institution because of its non-profit nature and because of its sponsorship by a church group.

We were reassured that the matter had been thoroughly checked and that leaders in the Assembly of God church had told the city taxes would be paid on the $3.3 million building and its contents.

Yet the non-profit organization which controls the development did indeed seek relief from such taxesmuch as similar groups have done in many other cities in Southern California. The chief rationale for non-payment of taxes is that such "retirement homes" are actually non-profit extensions of churches and thus, like churches, are untaxable.

It is true that officials of the group which organized the Bethel Towers project had told the city they assumed they would be paying taxes. It is not clear why they made this assertion, then later applied for the exemption, but it certainly was a possibility that should have occurred to all sides involved.

Bethel Towers will require services from the city, the county and other special districts. Whether or not residents and owners of the building pay property taxes, they will be entitled to fire protection, police protection, park service, use of county hospital facilities and other normal services.

Of course, the residents of Bethel Towers are of retirement age and will be supplying no burdens on local school districts. And schools take about two-thirds of the property tax dollar.

Still, the loss is not inconsiderable. If the total value of the building and its contents were $4 million and the tax rate were $10, the total tax bill for Bethel Towers would be in the neighborhood of $100,000 a year. The city's share would be about $10,000 a year.

It might never happen. There are conflicting opin-ions on the chances of Bethel Towers receiving its requested exemption. The answer will not be known for several weeks.

A lot of budgeting hinges on that answer.

Airport Future

The effects and impact of the aviation report re-ceived by the Board of Supervisors this week were indeed far reaching. Still, they should have calmed one fear in this community — the county really has no "secret" plan to turn Orange County Airport into another Los Angeles International Airport.

Orange County needs such an airport, the report says, but the present county airport site is not adequate for a variety of reasons.

Also reassuring was the report's recommendation that restrictions be placed on flight out of Orange County Airport. It would appear that some increase in passenger jet traffic is likely, but it does not seem that any great surge is in the offing.

While the county is determining what to do about the multi-faceted recommendations of the report, it would be well if step one was rapid action on what will and what won't happen at Orange County Airport.

That's the first order of business.

JUST FOR THE HECK OF IT, HUBERT, LET'S COUNT 'EM BEFORE THEY HATCH."

Press Releases Can Win Battles

The recent Associated Press dispatch read: "More than 120 Communist troops gave up in a Saigon suburb today in the largest mass surrender of the war."

We have no knowledge how most American newspapers handled this story, but one gave it an eight-column

The surrendered troops were described as North Vietnamese. As most Washington estimates put the Hanoi regulars who have infiltrated South Vietnam to aid the Viet Cong rebels at 40,200, you may be excused a little arithmetic - this surrender apparently involved 1/320th of the

THERE HAS LONG been something manifestly wrong with the public relations output in Saigon, as accepted by Washington politicians and some American newspapers. It is not difficult to determine the origins of this grotesque distortion of the war news, but it is more difficult to determine how these distortions are processed after they are put on the wire.

The origin is simple. Public relations men, or "spokesmen" work for, and are under the thumb of, commanders of regiments, brigades and divisions. It is polite to make their colonels, brigadiers and major generals and their respective outfits look good.

Royce Brier

To this end they grossly exaggerate the number of the enemy killed in battles and campaigns, a practice noted by the late Senator Robert Kennedy last winter.

IF AN OUTFIT does a good job or has a success (and many do good jobs and have local successes) the spokesman is under compulsion to make the job look better and enlarge the success. This entails a little lying, but military commanders of all ranks have an antipathy for kill-joy spokesmen who disregard the natural pride of an outfit. Such spokesmen soon find themselves out in a mudhole under enemy fire.

It would not do to suggest this practice is unique to Vietnam or to Americans. It applies to all soldiery for all time. Nor are exaggeration or distortion of combat incidence more than venial sins in individual

It is when the exaggeration or distortion is organized in a system covering an entire war, that damage results. The damage consists in persuading the people who support and read about the war that it is going better than it actually is.

IT BECOMES A cumulative delusion, and it has lost many a war, but has never won a war. Adolf Hitler in his bunker in the last days had the same delusion. He was summoning ghost divisions long disintegrated to come up and save the Reich. His delusions differed only in degree from the delusion unger which the Americans are now laboring.

It is almost unbelievable in the light of recent history that the surrender of 100-200 of the enemy should be the "largest" of record, but it may be true. It is a poor war in this century which hasn't seen the surrender of 5-10 thousand on both sides as rather common. These were probably called "mass surrenders," too, but they weren't, A true mass surrender was 300,000 Germans at Stalingrad.

In other words, doubt your spokesman, or rather, doubt the system, which extends its tentacles to Washington, where it manifests itself

Recall Attempt Defended 'Of Course It's Political'

Re "Recall Reagan? No!" (July 8). Your editorial was not convincing. First question: What's wrong with a recall election? Reagan has nothing to fear unless, of course, he has demanded that the people of California tighten their belts to the point that there is nothing left with which to hold up his own pants.

Second question: Can you tell me of just one election ever held which was not political in nature?

Third question: Why would a recall election embarrass the governor? It would show, after all, a vote of confidence by the citizens of California. Or, vice versa. I must add that only those who cannot read (and who, possibly, cannot write) could under any circumstances misinterpret the petition as there was no mention, on the petition, of any kind of taxes.

Motorcycle Danger

To the Editor:

Apropos your editorial (July 9, on the dangers of motorcycles), UCLA recently completed a study that bears out your contention.

The studies showed that although 55 percent of UCLA students commute by automobile and only 61/2 percent by motorcycle, the number of serious student injuries to cyclists was double that from automobile accidents. I presume the same ratio - or nearly the same ratio - would hold up throughout the state. Registration of motorcycles in California increased 249 percent between 1960 and 1965 and the number of injury-producing accidents involving motorcycles rose almost the same percentage, 253 percent.

The UCLA study suggested five ways to reduce casualties:

1. A special operator's license should be required and frequently

2. The license should be given only to those thoroughly qualified to handle a motorcycle.

3. Periodic inspections of the vehicle should be required. 4. No more than one person at a time should ride on a motorcycle. 5. A safety helmet and goggles should be worn,

I am afraid I am about as cynical as your editorial was. I don't know of much that can be done to convince young people they're on wheeled death every time they get aboard a cycle. B. R. MEYERS

The Teen Scene

To the Editor:

Orange Coast Area: Wake up. Not wishing to destroy any pre-formed images, I would like to inform the general public that the Laguna teen doesn't spend his time on the beach smoking marijuana.

To further illustrate this point, the Laguna Beach Youth Council is sponsoring an all-teen art festival, being tabbed "The Cantebury Fair." July 13 and 14 at the corner of Park and Glenneyre.

At this fair, some of the most talented teens in Laguna (and there are indeed quite a few) will be displaying their arts and crafts. Along with this art fair, there will be a series of plays presented, also put on by an all-teen cast.

Admission is free, and the public is cordially invited to observe the real Laguna teen, the one that should be synonymous with Laguna Beach.

Coleman Cost

Your July 2 editorial in defense of the Coleman vote-tally system against the latest "attack" by the Voters' Information Bureau concludes by saying that the "supervisors should be spending some of the money saved through use of the Coleman machines spending it on more equipment."

It is doubtful that the Coleman system has saved the taxpayers a dime. The machines alone cost $1,680,000, we were told; but could there have been additional expenses, viz., the installation of the machines, the highly-paid technicians' salaries to operate and maintain them, the IBM system used in connection therewith. the cost of construction of the very building in which the system is housed? (Would said building have been necessary had the machines not been purchased?) In addition to these expenses, there are still several thousands employed as precinct workers at each election, and an added expense entailed in the handcounting of the many thousands of ballots that are rejected by the tally

The DAILY PILOT could do a great service to the community by requesting of the County 'Clerk, or of the Board of Supervisors, a detailed accounting of the cost of holding the recent primary election in Orange County, together with a comparison of the cost of an election of the pre-Coleman "horse and buggy" era; then publishing same.

No Longer Rural

To the Editor:

In Sacramento Orange County Senator John Schmitz has introduced a bill (No. 5) that would change the 1967 law to ALLOW a "reputable citizen 18 or over to carry loaded firearms in a vehicle registered in his or his spouse's name on public streets and in public places.'

I doubt if many people who advocate strict gun control are "hysterical," or believe it would prevent many deaths and injuries or keep guns from criminals.

However, strict control can change attitudes towards guns and can cut down on the injuries and deaths of children, family members, and neighbors who fall victim to a gun purchased to "protect" the family rom intruders.

FURTHERMORE, many a despon ent man may shoot himself when he might change his mind at the mechanics of hanging himself.

It is an insult to intelligence to be told that, "Guns don't kill, people do.

Of course. Autos don't kill either, but I'm quite willing to sacrifice a bit of 'freedom" when the law requires me to take a periodic driver's test, and makes young people reach a certain age and demonstrate competence before being issued a driver's license. I'm sure this does save lives.

WE KNOW THAT the majority of juvenile delinquents sent to 'correctional" institutions come out to become adult criminals. We also know that "Boys' Towns" like the Boys' Republic at Chino, DO REFORM delinquents. (The Chino boys make those Christmas wreaths many people buy to help support the institution.)

Would it be good economy, as well as good humanity to spend enough to make reform schools really reform? More prisons are rather more expensive any way you look at it. How about coming to terms with the fact that we are no longer a pioneer,

rural nation, and acting like it? MARGARET McMASTER

Time to Write

To the Editor:

The gun lobby has managed to delay action in the U.S. Senate on a gun control bill until July 9. Meanwhile, antigun-control letters are swamping senators.

Anyone who believes that all guns should be registered and all owners licensed should write now and get their friends to write now if they want a United States gun-control bill to become law. Unless thinking voters write to express their beliefs, the extremists win.

Minister, The Neighborhood

There are some who forgive with the intent to relieve the pressure temporarily, but that is only a moratorium. You may have heard the story of two Scotsmen. The one who feared he was dying called in a friend with whom he had quarreled years ago and had never ventured reconciliation. There were tears shed. They both forgave each other but when the healthy man left the room the man who was sick roused himself out of bed on one elbow and said. "Remember, if I get over this, the old quarrel stands. You would hardly call that forgiveness.

ANOTHER MAN who lay dying called his business associate to his side and said, "I must tell you before I die that I've cheated you all through the years of about $51,000." His associate said, "That's quite all right, I have poisoned you."

A brilliant novelist who had been robbed of the woman he loved because of vicious lies said about him, became sour and cynical. He was against all women, had lost faith in himself and in God. He tried to run away from himself, but always he ended up by facing himself in a mirror.

So he fled to a fishing village high on the cliffs. There he came upon a quaint old church, surrounded by corn fields, brilliant with crimson poppies. Inside the church in the vestibule was a painting of an old ruin. It was ivy covered windowless, desolate, standing out jagged and ruthless against the purple sky. Underneath the painting was this inscription: "The ruins of my soul repair, and make my heart a house of prayer."

THOSE WORDS expressed his own feelings - "the ruins of my soul." The accusing words tolled like solemn bells - "Make my heart a house of prayer." He stepped outside the church door, out into the little graveyard on the very edge of the cliff. His eyes looked down upon the smiling landscape. This was what his eyes saw, but at the same time he was exploring the inner depths of his own soul. Then something wonderful happened. He began to lift the stones into place, to rebuild the altar. The very first stone he attempted to lift, very hardest to lift, was forgiveness.

As he put stone upon stone, at last he heart himself saying, "My God, I forgive - as I hope to be forgiven." Indeed we must learn to forgive and forget . . . if we ever hope to be forgiven ourselves!

Reaction continues to pour in over the possibility of a regional airport being located in Huntington Beach. Since the issue so far is not confused by cost figures, there has been a lot of room for speculation.

It's been pointed out that if a city was ever ready for construction of a project as huge as would be the regional airport, Huntington Beach

It's as if the city leaders had been planning for such a turn of events all along. Just completed only a couple of weeks before the airport possibility was announced is the city's Mid-Beach Policy Plan.

The plan basically revises and lists the land uses in the area surrounding the old downtown. If one considers for a moment that the proposed airport would attract two major types of business and then looks at the list prepared as a plan for redevelopment of the downtown, it looks as if the planners knew about the airport all

A large airport in Huntington Beach would first of all attract a tourist industry with facilities for caring for the traveler.

The Mid-Beach plan calls for development of much tourist-type attractions such as development of the city's one mile of recreational beach, expansion of the uses of the pier, encouragement of the Huntington Pacific a p a r t m e n t project on the beach, aid in promotion of the new private golf course and Seal Cliff development.

Correct alignment of freeway interchanges, promotion of industrial development near the Huntington Beach and Coast Freeway interchanges, development of a convention center, working with private enterprise for development of hotels, recreation facilities, office and commercial centers and high rise apartments are others under two miles from the main base. consideration.

The area of great concern is from Beach Boulevard north to the Bluffs area on Coast Highway. Just slightly north yet on the coast is the location for the proposed airport.

If the facility is ever built here the work of the Urban Land Institute Citizens Steering Committee and planning staff could well be considered a monument of foresight.

Hanna Constituents Against Escalation

Two out of three voters in the 34th Congressional District which includes parts of Huntington Beach, Costa Mesa and Westminster, oppose escalation of the Vietnam war, according to a recent legislation questionnaire sent to his constitutents by Rep. Richard T. Hanna. Nearly 20,000 questionnaires were returned to Hanna's office.

Marking the statement which most closely represented their views on the Vietnam war, 25 percent of the responses favored a political solution to the current conflict. Another 22 percent of those who replied said that the U.S. must maintain its present level of military and diplomatic efforts. Thirteen percent said that the United States should withdraw all troops and advisers immediately. In contrast, 33 percent of those who replied said that the United States should declare war on North Vietnam and its allies, and then proceed to use all the forces, including nuclear weapons, at its command to win the war. Nine percent did not know or were uncertain of what action should

The regulation of interstate sale of firearms was favored by 54 percent of those responding. This, Hanna noted, was prior to the assassination of Sen. Robert Kennedy.

A strong code of Congressional ethics and practice strictly enforced was favored by 64 percent of the respondents. Nearly half of the voters who replied said that a full disclosure of all financial assets by congressmen is desirable.

Requiring congressmen and senators to retire at 70 and electing representatives every four years instead of two was favored by 37 percent of the Orange County respondents.

Some form of tax increase was favored by Hanna's constitutents. However, there was some disagreement over the means of implementing the increase. Thirty-six percent supported a reduction in nonmilitary spending combined with an increase in taxes. A tax measure was advocated by 27 percent. Twentyone percent of the respondents wanted the 10 percent surcharge.

Over 66 percent of Hanna's constituents supported stronger legislation dealing with air and water pollution. Rep. Hanna said he would urge the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee to enact new and stronger air pollution controls.

Hanna indicated his belief that the 1968 passage of the Oil and Hazardous Substance Pollution Control Act and The Water Quality Improvement Act will do much to improve existing legislation on water pollution prevention.

Substantial support for stronger legislation in the field of consumer protection also was noted.

The Congressman noted that there was strong support for legislative action on crime prevention. Over half of those polled said that stricter drug abuse laws are required, 46 percent believed that grants should be allocated to expand and strengthen the local police force, and 23 percent said more FBI agents and prosecuting attorneys are needed.

Those who responded to the poll were almost evenly divided in the belief that funding for domestic programs should be increased, decreased or maintained at the present level.

The representative found overwhelming support for pdograms to train the "hard core" unemployed. He promised to amplify his efforts to help the 2 million unemployed and the 15 to 20 million under-employed.

In response to the expression of concern by the voters, Hanna pointed out he had already introduced legislation to encourage businesses to offer training for the unemployed. He said that his bill would give tax credits to employers who established job training programs aimed at increasing job skills and job retention.

"I am grateful for the large number of replies that I received from the voters," said Hanna, "their responses assist me in making decisions on the key isseus before the Congress."

Radio Hams Send Photos To Navy Men Near Pole

LONG BEACH (AP) — Three ham radio operators have found a way to cheer Navy men enduring the long winter night near the South Pole. They're sending sailors radiophotos of their families.

Says one of the three, Earl Darnell: "It was a high point in my life to be able to get any kind of a picture down there. It's been a great morale booster for the men and a lot of fun for us."

After six months of experimenting with resurrected commercial gear and borrowed Navy equipment, the three made their first good transmission last month. Now they're sending new pictures at every opportunity. GETS PICTURES

SENT PICTURES

Sternberg, a Long Beach businessman and ham operator for 20 years, got the idea after reading that hams in Syracuse, N.Y., had sent pictures of hometown newspapers to the base in 1958 on equipment supplied by the Navy.

He discussed it with Darnell, a camera equipment dealer in nearby Bellflower, who had a facsimile transmitter and had found no use for it. Helped by Ellis Wampler Sr., coordinator of engineering at nearby Compton College, they began experimenting.

"We could make short distance transmissions," Wampler recalls, "but we got too much interferences for long distances.

They called the Navy base here, which provided a war surplus converter and a technician to intall it. Meanwhile, they won from the Federal Communications Commission special permission to use the frequency of the Military Affiliate Radio Service.

The first good picture was sent June 15. "The base communications officer radioed me that the picture started to come through well, but a voice transmission from somewhere ruined the middle of it. So we sent it again, successfully," said Darnell.

Says Sternberg: "As is typical of the Navy, all the guys who didn't say they wanted pictures at first are starting to ask for them. Now the FCC has extended our permit until October."

Now the hams are borrowing another idea from the boys at Syracuse. They're going to try sending front pages of hometown papers, too - plus

'We want those boys to get some cheesecake along with the staples," says Sternberg.

'Security' Watchword In Ray Trial

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) - Officials preparing for what promises to be the biggest Tennessee trial since the famous "monkey trial" of 1925 are making strict security arrangements.

Officials said Thursday that plans are being made to make a voice and picture tape of every person attending the trial of James Ear! Ray, charged with assassinating Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. here on April 14.

This would be the first trial anywhere that such a security precaution has been required, Charles Holmes, public relations aide to Sheriff William N. Morris, said.

Newsmen accredited to cover the trial, expected to be held in late fall, will be given identification cards bearing their photographs.

The trial is scheduled to be held in one of the Shelby County Criminal Court courtrooms so Ray can be brought directly into the court through an underground corridor without being seen by the outside public.

A secondary security line is expected to be established to keep everyone without pressing business out of the Criminal Courts building.

Ray currently is in jail in London awaiting a hearing on his appeal of an extradition order.

"This is a serious matter," said Sheriff Morris, who is in charge of arrangements for the trial.

"There will be no carnival air here," Morris said. "The sheriff, the judges and the attorney general have been conferring at intervals for several weeks to assure a fair and orderly trial in a dignified atmosphere."

The trial will be conducted in strict keeping with established standards of dignity and justice," said Dist. Atty. Gen. Phil M. Canale, who will head the prosecution team.

The largest Criminal Courts courtroom can seat slightly over 100 spectators, and a large number of the seats will be assigned to news media representatives covering the trial. Morris said, however, seats would be reserved for relatives of both Ray and King, and some would be kept for the

HEBER CITY, Utah (AP) - Bodies of three persons and two dogs were found Thursday night in a car beside U.S. 40, with no indication as to the cause of death.

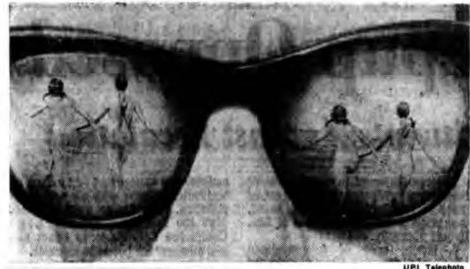

Wasatch county sheriff's officers identified the three as Charles L. Hunt, 39, San Leandro, Calif., his wife. Stella, 34, and his niece, Susan Koahler, 12, Lathrop, Mo.

Sheriff Floyd Witt said there was no evidence of violence.

He said the car's ignition was turned off, fuel remained in the tank, and the windows were tightly closed.

Witt doubted death could have been due to carbon monoxide poisoning, because the ignition was off, and food poisoning seemed improbable because of the dogs.

The bodies were taken to the University of Utah Hospital in Salt Lake City for a state medical examination today.

Thursday the 6-year-old went gift shopping for her brothers, even though her aunt, Miss Michaeline Sheridan of Sacramento, Calif., explained the boys would not be home anymore.

"I haven't told her in so many words that her family is dead," Miss Sheridan said. "She wanted those presents for her brothers. Just little things, but she was thinking of them.

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Sen. Charles H. Percy (R-Ill.), said today that President Johnson should instruct U.S. negotiators in Paris to make an immediate cease-fire offer to the North Vietnamese.

"There is no evidence that the American negotiators in Paris have ever been instructed to offer a ceasefire proposal," he said.

Such an offer should be made at once, he commented, "Now, not months from now, or a year or two from now after a political settlement has been reached.

Percy recalled that Johnson said in his State of the Union message last January that "a really true ceasefire" could be the first order of business in Vietnam negotiations.

He also quoted Humphrey's response to the question June 21 as to whether he was prepared to offer a cease-fire: " 'You bet we are. We're prepared for a cease-fire any hour of the day. However, Hanoi has shown no such interest. But it may. I think we ought to keep pounding away at it.' Percy contended that while the words were great, action was lacking in the peace talks now two months old. brothers won't be there anymore, that she won't be able to see them anymore," Miss Sheridan said. But Rae Anne doesn't understand.

The girl has been in Lutheran Hospital since the accident occurred. Her mother, Barbara, 25, died at the hospital a few minutes after being brought from the crash site.

Killed when the plane crashed were the child's father, Robert, 25, and her brothers, Jamie, 8, Stephen, 5, and Gered, 1.

The family was flying from California to Chicago at the time of the accident.

Judge Claims Young Lack Responsibility

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI)-A California judge said Thursday a lack of responsibility is the cause for much of the teen-age crime in the nation today.

"You'd be surprised the number of people — juveniles and older offenders, 24, 25, on up — who have never shouldered any responsibility in their lives," Los Angeles County Superior Court Judge Sherman W. Smith said.

"Some of them have never worked at a job. A lot of guys feel work is a disease they'll die from."

Smith, who is among juvenile court judges attending a special three-week seminar at the University of Colorado, said juvenile detention centers used work as a part of their therapy.

"If you can keep these kids doing something with their hands and their minds, they stay out of trouble," Smith said. "But too many of them don't get such a benefit at home. "Families don't talk any more about things they should discuss. They don't communicate. The parents sit and look at television, and they don't share things together."

Offering a slightly divergent view was common pleas court judge Robert Honeyman of Norristown, Pa.

Ringo Stars

Boy's Best Friend Honored as Hero

At first glance, Ringo Saleh looks like anything but a real-life, hero-type dog. But don't let that rough-hewn, lopeared exterior fool you.

Ringo has a zest for high living, a passion for ice cream cones and a deep love for the members of the Raymond L. Saleh family.

Last April 30, time after time at the risk of his own life, Ringo literally attacked on-coming autos on Pipeline Road in Euless, Tex., hurling his body against fenders to prevent motorists from running down and perhaps killing his 2-year-old master Ronnie Saleh.

Ringo's attacks were so furious and unusual that motorists slammed to a stop and watched.

Less than 200 feet away, hidden behind a rise on a blind curve in the road ahead, tiny Ronnie toddled down the highway alone.

On July 22, as the subject of a press conference before television and press cameras, Ringo will slip into his familiar "at ease" position next to Ronnie as Euless Mayor Bill Fuller reads a proclamation and awards the dog a national citation for "distinguished dog heroism."

About 11 p.m. she was awakened by four knocks on her bedroom door. She opened the door. A tall, fairhaired man wearing a black jacket and carrying a gun was standing there.

At 6 o'clock the next morning, Miss Amurao was sitting on a ledge outside a second-floor window screaming: "They are all dead. They are all dead. My friends are all dead. O. God, I'm the only one alive."

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Cuban exile who wants to Hoping to cut down on of U. S. passenger planes, the State Department has approved an idea for a two-way "Freedom Airlift" to ferry Cuban refugees out of Cuba and take unhappy refugees back home.

Rep. Paul Rogers (D-Fla.), called the proposed free flights back to Havana "good riddance flights," and suggested they should take "'disgruntled Americans" as -well as malcontented Cubans. The state department said Thursday that, subject to the Cuban government's approval, it would permit Cuban exiles wishing to return home to ride free to Havana aboard the planes which carry Cuban refugees daily to Miami.

Press Officer Robert J. McCloskey said it was hoped the step would "remove some of the incentive that may have led to the highjacking of U. commercial airliners" by Cuban exiles bent on returning home. So far this year, five U. S. and two other planes have been hijacked in flight and forced to fly to Cuba.

Sales Tax Cut Okayed By Assembly

SACRAMENTO (AP) -The Assembly has given its less-than-wholehearted approval to cutting one-half cent from the state sales tax starting Aug. 1.

By a 42-19 vote Thursday evening, a bill to cause the tax drop was sent from the Assembly. The tally was just one vote more than the bare majority it needed to

The bill would have been sent to the Senate, except that Assembly Republican Leader Robert Monagan of Tracy said he'll ask that the house reconsider its approval of the bill.

Democratic Assemblyman John Burton of San Francisco, the measure's author, said the cut from five cents on the dollar to 41/2 cents would mean $30 million in tax relief for Californians.

But Burton's bill is given a slim chance of ever going into effect. Even if it should clear the legislature, Gov.

anxious to sign it. That's because it would cut into revenue needed for Reagan's plan to funnel $155 million in property tax relief money through county boards of supervisors. That measure has passed the Assembly and was awaiting an upper house vote.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) - A concerted attack by 180 firemen and three tanker helicopters Thursday checked a fire which raced through the Hollywood hills and threatened dozens of expensive homes.

Four firemen were treated for burns and two others for stings from hornets whose nests the firemen disturbed.

Householders in the area took to their roofs with garden hoses after the blaze broke out about 3 p.m. near Laurel Canyon Boulevard and Woodrow Wilson Drive. Houses in the area range in value from $50,000 to

"It was the first time in 20 years we've had a fire come that close," said Mrs. Lucia Styskal, wife of an attorney, who lives at 7972 Mulholland Drive. Flames licked within 25 yards of her house, and Mrs. Styskal's two grown sons worked frantically with shovels to clear brush away from the path of the fire.

Tricky winds and temperatures near 100 degrees hampered fire fighters, who finally got the blaze under control about two hours after it broke out. It blackened about 125 acres of mountain side brush land.

Assembly Group Kills Judge Naming Plan

SACRAMENTO (AP) -Gov. Reagan's 1968 legislative program has suffered another major defeat with loss of his plan to establish formal committees to screen candidates for appointment as judges.

The plan was killed for this year when the Assembly Judiciary Committee, controlled 5-4 by Democrats, voted Thursday to send Reagan's proposed constitutional amendment to interim study.

That leaves Reagan's proposal for $210 million in property tax relief the major administration measure still with a chance for passage.

Reagan said through a spokesman he was "very disappointed" to learn of the death of his judicial merit selection plan, a plan he said would take politics once and for all out of the selection of judges.

A similar measure failed to win approval last year. At present, the governor has virtually a free hand in

In the interim, Reagan has established an informal screening system which an aide says is "doing pretty well voluntarily what the bill would have done."

The plan had the endorsement of the State Bar, but was opposed by some smaller groups of attorneys and other critics who contended it merely would install bar association politics into appointment of

Welfare Expense On Rise

SANTA ANA — Welfare has become a $42 million a year business in Orange County, Welfare Department Diector Granville Peoples told the Board of Supervisors Thursday.

Peoples said new federal legislation and an expected Supreme Court de cision voiding California's on e year residency requirement for welfare benefits will boost costs to the new high

Although some of $42 million figure is Medi-Cal costs of $8.3 million which are reimbursed by the state, the actual cost of welfare to the county's taxpayers is up at least $5 million, Peoples warned.

Federal legislation mainly concerns earning exemptions and will cost an additional $1.1 million, the welfare director said. The residency law wipe-out will cost about $870,000 more.

The supervisors approved an increase of 42 to bring workers in the welfare department up to 578. Administrative costs were pegged at $4.9 million.

Unit Tells Progress On Jobs

SANTA ANA - Almost three times as many disadvantaged people were found jobs during the second year of operation of a volunteer agency -Partners for Progress - the chief executive of the organization reported Thursday.

Wyatt J. Frieson who founded Partners for Progress two years ago said job placement was made for 113 persons last year, compared with 41 the first eautioned, however that the picture was not rosy because many jobs made available to minority group persons were in the low pay range.

The average pay was $2.35 an hour which figures out to $96 a week take-home pay, or $4,800 a year. The average family is six persons, Frieson said.

He points out that the federal government says $9,500 is the minimum income needed for a family this size.

The director paid tribute to business and industry for helping his group. "There is more than a handful of sincere equal opportunity employers in the county, he emphasized. Frieson said he hopes to enlist small businesses into the placement picture; so far, it has been chiefly among the largest employers. He said the organization needs financing and hopes to get supporting contributions from business, industry and individuals.

The summer OEO grant is for $395,349. In addition, a grant of $148,847 has been approved for continuing a full-year program begun last year by four agencies.

Programs operated by the public schools in 1966 cost an average $165 per pupil for a summer and $827 per pupil for a full year, according to a survey conducted in 3,278 participating school systems by the National Education Association.

Estimated total cost of the 1966-67 Head Start programs operated by the public schools, either directly or on behalf of another agency, was $107,493,502.

The survey also revealed that half of all 1966 summer Head Start pupils were in public school programs involving 15,172 teachers.

Teenagers: Magic Language Ingredient

BRIDGE TO LANGUAGE — A simple game of "London Bridge" is an effective way to help children learn concepts necessary for language building. The game also teaches patience, waiting to take turns. Volunteers Linda Shafer (left) and JoAnne Mason form the bridge while Ingrid Butteling leads Andrea and Keith through.

PATIENCE — Is something the volunteers learn. Ingrid Butteling. 151/2, tries to get Keith's attention for the picture segment of the language game (at left, above). She is successful for a moment, showing him a picture of a cat (center). But Keith doesn't want to pay attention just yet and Ingrid will have to coax him back to the game (below). The volunteer's duties are not always easy. But the rewards are immense and many teen-agers, like Ingrid, have found that helping Fairview chil-dren like Keith is a meaningful experience n o t easily forgotten. The series of games require very little skill to carry out but have great importance to retarded youngsters since they teach basic concepts, vital prerequisites for the learning of language. One of the most important things learned is self control.

THE PERSONAL TOUCH — Personal contact on a one-to-one basis is the most effective way to teach. Shaking a rhythm instrument (above) teaches sequence, improves arm and hand mobility, and introduces beginning and end. At the end of the activity Donnie puts away his instrument. At the end of the games Shirley Burnside gives Donnie a reward (at left). This is most important. He gets the first one free but for others he must communicate. It can be a smile, a movement, but eventually it will be a word.

By PAMELA HALLAN

Two people sat across from one another at a small table, bare but for a single object . . . a pencil.

"This is a red pencil," said the voice, picking up the writing tool briefly and placing it back on the table.

"Give me red."

It could be as long as six months before the person sitting opposite will be able to answer the command by picking up the pencil. He is mentally retarded, one of the "children" at Fairview State Hospital who range in age from infancy to 85.

But chances are he will learn sooner. By the time he is ready for colors, he has already experienced the learning process. And once that occurs . . .

IT'S MAGIC

"Something magical happens. Once a child has learned how to learn you move quite rapidly. The original concept might take months but after that you really go."

The speaker: Harriet Mason, speech correction and development teacher at Fairview, who also teaches, trains and supervises technicians and recruits, trains and supervises volunteers, mostly teenagers from high schools and colleges, for the language program.

"Volunteers are needed because we're short of help and a child learns best on a one-to-one basis," said Mrs. Mason, who has a masters degree in speech pathology and a bachelors degree in nursing.

"From the volunteer's standpoint, working here helps young people see if they like this kind of work," she continued. "Most don't have contact with the type of work they do until they have their degree and that's a terrible time to find out you don't like it."

Mrs. Mason also believes volunteering helps acquaint people with Fairview children which in turn furthers community acceptance so that the children are not stared at and pulled away from in public, a practice born of habit and fear.

"I think the reason we pull away from people who are different is because our society is a conforming one," said the therapist.

"I agree that if you live in a society you owe it some conformity but there is too much stress on nonexistent norms."

She also feels there is a genuine fear of abnormality which goes deeper than momentary visual shock. In an attempt to analyze this, she said, "All of our monster stereotypes are people who are deformed or motorically involved, in other words they walk, talk and look different. Thus, society becomes afraid of these differences. Part of this, though, is unwillingness to identify with abnormality.

TEENS DO BEST

"Some of our volunteers in the past have been repelled by our children and thus overreact because of guilt over their revulsion. These people don't make effective volunteers.

"But on the other hand, some come to me and say, 'Mrs. Mason, I cannot possibly work here' and then they come back the second day when the shock is over and they become very effective workers."

She has found high school students to be the least repelled and believes it may be because they have fewer preconceived ideas.

"High school students don't get involved. They don't discourage easily, are closer in age to the children and can establish a rapport with them. Once in a while a college student gets emotionally involved.

"Adults tend to be shocked. Perhaps it is because they react as mothers, thinking how fortunate that their own children aren't like this. Of course these aren't blanket statements. Some adults do very well."

The kind of things volunteers do brings them into close contact with the children. They're needed for behavior modification programs . . . dressing, feeding and other training; they're needed to work with other volunteers in following a structured language program and to work individually with high potential children.

Four-time Loser Seeks Membership in Lonely Hearts Club

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You could do a lot of good in this world if you weren't so doggoned rock-headed. In the last year you printed letters from three women who sounded great. I wrote and asked for their names and addresses and got three flat turn-downs. Why? Don't you know there are a lot of lonesome people in this world who can't afford to go to nice places and meet high-class folks? These people need help. A column where readers tell about themselves is a perfect place to make connections.

I've been married four times. (The first two don't count because I was too young to know better). I have finally learned how to treat a woman now that I am older. Life would be rosy if I had a lovely wife by my side. Why

DEAR MIKE: You say you are a four-time loser and now if you had a good woman by your side life would be rosy. That's some recommendation, Buddy Boy. Find "Rosy" on your own.

Strangers can be dangerous and, oftentimes, the nicer they seem the nuttier they are. I want no part of friend-finding.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband retired two years ago at age 60. Mike was an avid golfer and looked forward to retirement so he could play as much golf as he wanted. But soon after his 60th birthday he developed a little arthritis in one arm. The doctor said he could still play golf but Mike refused to try.

A few months later he suffered a slight stroke. For two years he has done nothing but look at TV, drink and feel sorry for himself.

My once good life is now hell. Mike wants me to wait on him hand and foot. If he were totally incapacitated I'd gladly do it, But he could do many things for himself if he tried.

When I return from a bridge game he accuses me of being with men. He threatens to kill himself and "get out of my way." I sometimes think he is resentful that I have good health and

What should I do? If I stay home day and night I'll go crazy. Before his illness Mike was never an arguer. Now he picks a fight and keeps it going for hours. I need help. — N.Y.

DEAR N.Y.: Have you discussed Mike's behavioral changes with his doctor? If you haven't, you should. Sometimes when an active man retires he becomes depressed and cantankerous but what you describe suggests that "slight stroke" may have produced a little brain damage. Make an appointment with Mike's doctor today. It could change your thinking considerably.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 16, I have a driver's license and I am a very good driver but my parents will not allow me to drive by myself. What good is a driver's license if I can't drive without a chaperone?

My dad says the only reason they let me get a license is so I'd get off their

I keep telling them I need the experience of driving alone but they won't listen. Last week I drove the family six times. If they didn't think I was a safe driver they would not have driven with me, would they?

Please give me some help. — C.H.

DEAR C.H.: Be patient, Chicken, your time will come. Continue to display competence at the wheel and stop begging, When you beg you sound like a small child and small children should not be driving cars.

When romantic glances turn to warm embraces is it love or chemistry? Send for the booklet "Love or Sex and How to Tell the Difference," by Ann Landers. Enclose a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 35 cents in coin with your request.

Cheri Calvert Becomes Mrs. Michael A. Kane

Presbyterian Church was the setting for the double ring ceremony linking Cheri Elise Calvert and Michael A. Kane.

The Rev. Dr. Ralph T Haas performed the ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Dwight Calvert of Huntington Beach and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Armour Kane of Bakersfield.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a flowing chiffon gown with a cathedral train, featuring lace trim. Organza bows and lace caught her tiered veil, and she carried a cascade of stephanotis and lilac colored delphiniums. Miss Anita Sue Turley of Fullerton served as maid of honor, while Miss Patricia Kane, the bridegroom's sister was the bridesmaid. They wore lilac colored chiffon empire gowns and carried cascades of delphiniums.

Cynthia Rene Calvert,

Fullerton's First niece of the bride and flower girl, also wore a lilac chiffon frock.

Attending as best man was Phillip Hudson, and ushers were Richard Helberg and James Terhorst, fraternity brothers of the bridegroom. Mrs. Russell Simmons, organist, accompanied John Lindsey, soloist.

A reception followed in the church, and later a private champagne party was given in the home of the bride's parents. Mrs. William Oldfather of St. Louis, the bride's sister, circulated the guest book.

The bridal couple, now at home in Bakersfield, are graduates of Fullerton High School. The bride attended Fullerton Junior College where she was a member of Theta Nu Theta. Her husband attended

Voss Fights to Save Sight, Career

By GLENN WHITE

Decision day is here and for Newport Beach's Bill Voss it's unquestionably the most important verdict in his life, thus far.

Today, doctors at Chicago's Mercy Hospital hope to learn whether or not the 1968 co-winner of the Yardley Trophy will be able to see again out of his right eye.

And if his sight has been spared after being hit in the face by a pitched ball last week in Baltimore, will his vision be normal or the double image variety?

If it is the latter, his short but potentially bright career as a Chicago White Sox outfielder will more than likely be over, and with it would come the end of Voss' dream of being a major leaguer.

The former Newport Harbor High and Orange Coast College athlete will hopefully be able to at last open the swollen eye, following four hours of surgery Wednesday which tried to put back together his crushed face.

Doctors told Voss' wife Donna that the operation went perfectly. But that does not guarantee how the eye will perform, if indeed it has survived the blow delivered by a Pete Richert pitch with two out in the ninth inning.

At first it was believed that the beaning was nothing too serious a broken jaw at worst.

In fact that's the report first received by Voss' wife after she witnessed the tragedy on television at their apartment in the Windy

There was no word on his condition for 30 minutes after he was struck," she told the DAILY PILOT in a telephone interview Thursday night.

"Then I got a call from Ed Short (White Sox general manager) and he said Bill had a broken cheek bone. Shortly after that a reporter telephoned to say it was a broken

"Another phone call from Mr. Short said Bill would be out of the lineup for about a week but no operation would be needed. "A while later a telecaster said Bill had so many injuries he couldn't begin to name them all. By then I was pretty confused and shaken up," she reveals. "In fact, I still am.

"Bill was determined to be transferred to a hospital here so they gave him medication and flew him to Chicago.

"When I met him at the airport ..." her voice broke off for a few seconds . . . "well, I would never have recognized him if it hadn't been for the clothes he was wearing.

"His walk was so strange and his face was completely unrecognizable. It was so swollen and broken that it had almost no form. Still the seriousness of his injuries didn't come out until he had 40 or 50 facial X-rays.

"They estimated 45 minutes for surgery on Wednesday. But he was in four hours. They used packing to push his face back out and both sides of his jaw, top and bottom, are wired together.

"But the most serious thing - the item that jeopardizes his sight - is the broken orbital bone under the eye. It's shattered in three places, which lets the eye drop and thus makes double vision a result if the damage cannot be reconstructed." She also indicates that part of the broken bone may have gone into the

Voss remains on a liquid diet and will be hospitalized for at least one more week. The jaw wiring will be in for about five weeks.

He's been deluged with presents, flowers, cards and letters from concerned White Sox fans. And it has served as a great lift during the dark days. Bill doesn't blame Richert for the accident. Voss says he lost the ball's path in the background of Memorial Stadium's crowd and never did see it coming. He's been placed on the disabled list and is being replaced by Walt Williams from Hawaii until the verdict is in.

The decision is expected sometime today. It's Bill Voss' moment of truth.

"I got just as much satisfaction out of saving that game for George as I would have had I won it myself," Ellis told writers.

The speaker was Billy Casper and that was the challenge faced by the rest of the field as the British Open golf tournament moved into the third round today with the chunky Californian holding a commanding four-stroke lead.

Casper unleashed a barrage of birdies Thursday in the face of a driving rain to post a four-under-par 8 and become only the fourth player in open history to better 70 on Carnoustie's treacherous 7,252-yard, par-72 course. His spectacular round game him a 36-hole total of 140.

Less than an hour after Casper finished, Jack Nicklaus became the fifth open player to break 70 at Carnoustie with a 69 that left him five strokes off the pace at 145. Casper completely mastered Carnoustie's narrow fairways, hitting the greens with such superb accuracy that he was never left with putts of more than 15 feet for his birdies or pars. He carded five birdies, including one on the fifth hole where he sank a 25-foot pitch shot from a sand trap.

Casper's closest pursuers were Bob Charles of New Zealand, Tony Jacklin of England and Briton Brian Barnes,

Foxes Lie in Wait

The foxes-such familiar names as Sam Snead, Julius Boros, Don January, Tom Weiskopf and Lee Trevino - were still in hailing distance today for the second round of the $200,000 Greater Milwaukee Open, second richest stop on the Professional Golfers Association (PGA) circuit.

But Thursday belonged to the youngsters in the tour - "rabbits" in pro golfers' parlance.

Three other youngsters - Ron Horn, 29, Overland Park, Kan.; Dick Lotz, 25, Hayward, Calif., and Fred Marti, 27, Baytown, Tex. - were tied for second one stroke back.

All finished with rounds of 67 on the 7,155 yard, par 72 North Shore Country Club course in suburban McQuon. Dave Stockton, a 26-year old "veteran" of San Bernardino, held down sixth place with a 68.

The kids of the tour stole the spotlight from the better known - and much richer - veterans.

Boros, a co-favorite in the tournament, was tied for 27th place with a one under par 71. Weiskopf, Snead and January were tied with 29 other golfers for 41st place at even par, and Trevino, the U.S. Open champion, was one stroke further

Fantastic Period

Basketball's 'In Week' Finally Comes to Close

.All things being equal, the last seven days have probably been the greatest "in" week for basketball - a sport that's somewhat "out" of season.

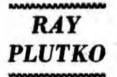

And for those short on memory, here's a capsule summary of the news bouncing around the hardwoods:

1 - Wilt Chamberlain of the Phildelphia 76ers being traded to the Los Angeles Lakers for Darrall Imhoff, Jerry Chambers and Archie Clark.

2 - Bill Sharman of the Los Angeles Stars making his earth-shattering quote the day after the Chamberlain trade, "The ABA is here to stay."

3 - Lew Alcindor dispelling rumors he will bypass his senior year of eligibility at UCLA.

4 - A crowd of 7,333 fans taking in a prep double-header at the Forum in Inglewood.

5 - The annual Kentucky-Indiana prep All-Star game being halted in the final quarter when a fight broke out between fans of the two states.

Somewhere in that shuffle of events, however, one very talented name failed to make a dent in the news and he's been in "limbo" for the last four

For some reason his last name slips me, but if I recall correctly, they used to call him the "Big E" from down Texas way - Houston that is.

Come to think of it though, Elvin Hayes hasn't done much since he received a failing grade in his NCAA semifinal showdown with Lew (CLA) and Co., although I read somewhere that he bought his wife a new dress and purchased a few baby bottles for his infant offspring.

After all, who couldn't buy a new dress and a few baby bottles with a $330,000 check?

That's the figure owner Bob

Breitbard of the San Diego Rockets is reported to have paid the college player of the year for a three-year

That figure was a mere drop in the bucket for Breitbard and he's been sporting a wide grin about it ever since.

In fact Breitbard virtually needed a "facial" last week as the San Diego Rockets concluded their rookie camp and a crowd of 5,134 fans poured through the San Diego International Sports Arena turnstiles to view the final scrimmage.

Hayes was a "hair" under the brilliant category, at least that's what the grin on Breitbard's face indicated. In 40 minutes of action Hayes broke the arena record for points by pouring through 47, latching onto 22 rebounds and blocking numerous shots to pace his club to a 135-124 victory.

As for the details, Hayes hit on 19-of-33 attempts from the floor and 9-of-18 from the charity line to bypass the Arena high of 44 points by the kid from Cabin Creek - Jerry West of the Los Angeles Lakers.

For the entire camp, Hayes, who checks in at 6-foot-9, hit on 57.3 percent of his shots, averaged 29.3 points and 12.3 rebounds per outing.

Eight other rookies won contracts from the tryout, those including John Trapp (Nevada Southern), Stu Lantz (Nebraska), Harry Barnes (Northeastern), Darryl Jones (St. Benedict's), Rick Adelman (Loyola), Aaron Sellers (Jackson State), John Schetzsle (Ashland) and Andy Benson (Houston).

Trapp you'll recall is the lad who paced Pasadena City College to the state JC championship two years back and then went on to have a fine year for Nevada Southern.

The 6-foot-7 center was also instrumental in knocking off UC Irvine in the NCAA West Coast regional at San Diego State back in March.

TAGLINE: Whether Sharman knows it or not, the only hope he has remaining is to sign Bill Russell of the Boston Celtics.

Undefeated Huntington Shells Westminster, 70-54

By ROGER CARLSON

Huntington Beach rolled to its seventh victory without a loss Thursday night in the Huntington Beach Summer Basketball league, defeating Westminster by a 70-54 score at the winner's gym. Meanwhile, Marina was dumped again, this time by Villa Park. The Spartans scored a 56-50 victory over Marina to drop the Vikes to a 5-2 record, same as Westminster. Garden Grove, 6-1, took Rancho Alamitos by a 78-65 tally at Huntington while Corona del Mar was upping its record to 4-3 at the expense of Costa Mesa, 69-43.

Newport Harbor and Fountain Valley were victorious at Marina's confines when the Tars ripped Bolsa Grande, 69-52, and Fountain Valley blitzed La Quinta, 68-37.

Marina's second loss in a row came again in the third quarter. The Vikes were outscored by six and Villa Park hung on to win by that margin.

Marina's Rick Mosier (14) hit eight

Fountain Valley picked up balanced scoring from its squad with seven players hitting from seven to 11

Full court pressure by Fountain Valley proved effective in limiting La Quinta to 37 counters.

Huntington's victory over Westminster was led by Mike Contreras and Roy Miller, who picked up 16 and 20 points along with Bond Nichols' 17.

Corona del Mar's Chris Thompson had his second 30-point plus night in a row with 32 tallies in leading the Sea Kings to their easy victory.

Bauer Tells of Firing; Reif Eyes Eric Monti

BALTIMORE - Hank Bauer said today he was fired as manager of the Baltimore Orioles while a taxicab waited outside his Prairie View, Kan., home to pick up the man who delivered the bad news. Bauer, who had gone home during the scheduled break for the All-Star Game, said he was watering his trees and shrubs Wednesday when the telephone rang. The caller was Harry Dalton, director of player personnel for the Orioles.

"Harry was in the Kansas City Airport," Bauer recalled. "He said he had one hour before his plane left and wanted to know where I could meet him. I said I couldn't shower and dress that fast, and told him to come out."

Bauer said Dalton arrived after a 20-minute drive from the airport and kept the taxicab waiting during a visit of less than 10 minutes.

Bauer described his dismisal

"Harry said 'hello' to my wife and meeting thusly:

kids, drank a half a can of beer, said he was sorry because he didn't know how to go about it, said 'see you later' and that was it."

Costa Mesa Country Club pro Ronnie Reif was eyeing a match with Eric Monti this afternoon when he took the course at Recreation Park in Long Beach this morning in the Southern California PGA Championship.

Reif faced Jerry Krueger of Redlands this morning and he needed a win to qualify for a match with Monti, who has won the event several times.

Thursday, Reif defeated Bob Howell of El Dorado Country Club in Long Luis Rey Country Club in Fallbrook. 5 Beach, 6 and 5. In an afternoon duel, he knocked off George Stupar of San

LOS ANGELES - Wilt Chamberlain is afficially and happily in the fold and on the payroll of the Los Angeles Lakers today — and the payroll undoubtedly ballooned considerably. How much neither Chamberlain nor the Lakers' owner, Jack Kent Cooke,

"Wilt Chamberlain has signed a five-year contract with the Lakers," Cooke announced at a news conference at his Forum Thursday, and facetiously, he added, "I understand he is willing to renew my contract with California Sports, Inc.'

Sea Smoke Falls Short of Record

By ALMON LOCKABEY

Marshal Dillon of TV fame went gunning for a new Transpacific crossing record in the third biennial multihull yacht race but apparently his Sea Smoke is not as effective as his Gunsmoke.

Or maybe the light wind in the early stages of the race spoiled his aim.

Site for a New Airport

Few topics stir public expression as much as does freeway location, but the debate expected over the next few months on the possibility of locating a major airport in Huntington Beach could top all previous

The proposal is for a large facility just south of Warner Avenue on Coast Highway. Twin runways a mile apart would be built on artificial peninsulas running some two miles to sea. Presumably most of the jet noise would be at sea and there would be a minimum of flying over residential areas.

At present two camps appear forming. One side will include Huntington Harbour residents who have invested large sums in waterfront property and fear loss of property value and of the quietness of the water-front with building a regional jet airport just a mile

On the other side will be those who recognize the potential contribution to the economy of the city from the airport operations and from the tourist industry which is bound to grow rapidly with construction of an

In between likely will be the average citizen who is tired of paying higher and higher property taxes and would like new industry to take some of the load off his checkbook, yet who will object to the noise which accompanies big jet aircraft.

It is a topic which can stimulate much emotionalism at a time when the major need is for completion of studies and for facts.

Time is short. The planners say a new airport is needed within five years. If the airport is to be built in Huntington Beach, an early resolution of the internal problems must be made.

If it is not to be built in the city, then that decision must be made soon so that the city officials and residens can put up a united front.

The Board of Supervisors will need the facts and opinions of residents and community leaders before it acts on selection of any site for a new airport. If residents begin now to investigate, it might well lead to avoiding either having something forced on the city or something lost because of inaction.

Those with the attitude of "it's not going to happen" could be awakened some fine morning by the thunder from a jet landing at Bolsa Chica or those who know the facility will be located here could awaken to the jet passing overhead to one of the other possible

Citywide School Plan

From time to time the possibility of a single, city-wide elementary school district or a unified school district in Huntington Beach comes up for discussion and soon is swept back into oblivion.

The topic has been raised again, this time by trustees of Ocean View School District, one of four elementary school districts within the city limits.

Each time the subject is raised, it has been ignored by trustees of some districts or dismissed as impractical. It may seem impractical, it could have considerable merit.

One of the great problems in Huntington Beach is lack of community identity. With Ocean View, Westminster and Fountain Valley school districts in addition to the Huntington Beach City School district in the city limits, it's no wonder there is confusion.

Perhaps it is not important to the schools that a resident know in which community he pays taxes, but as the Huntington Beach City Council asks more and more of the taxpayer, it could well be that taxpayer loyalties may become more community oriented. Perhaps not.

A Huntington Beach Unified School District taking in all of the city and with a single governing board has an appeal which is hard to dismiss.

'JUST FOR THE HECK OF IT, HUBERT, LET'S COUNT 'EM BEFORE THEY HATCH!"

Press Releases Can Win Battles

The recent Associated Press dispatch read: "More than 120 Communist troops gave up in a Saigon suburb today in the largest mass surrender of the war."

We have no knowledge how most American newspapers handled this story, but one gave it an eight-column

The surrendered troops were described as North Vietnamese. As most Washington estimates put the Hanoi regulars who have infiltrated South Vietnam to aid the Viet Cong rebels at 40,200, you may be excused a little arithmetic - this surrender apparently involved 1/320th of the Hanoi strength.

THERE HAS LONG been something manifestly wrong with the public relations output in Saigon, as accepted by Washington politicians and some American newspapers. It is not difficult to determine the origins of this grotesque distortion of the war news, but it is more difficult to determine how these distortions are processed after they are put on the wire.

The origin is simple. Public relations men, or "spokesmen" work for, and are under the thumb of, commanders of regiments, brigades and divisions. It is polite to make their colonels, brigadiers and major generals and their respective outfits look good.

Royce Brier

To this end they grossly exaggerate the number of the enemy killed in battles and campaigns, a practice noted by the late Senator Robert Kennedy last winter.

IF AN OUTFIT does a good job or and have local successes) the spokesman is under compulsion to make the job look better and enlarge the success. This entails a little lying. but military commanders of all ranks have an antipathy for kill-joy spokesmen who disregard the natural pride of an outfit. Such spokesmen soon find themselves out in a mudhole under enemy fire.

It would not do to suggest this practice is unique to Vietnam or to Americans. It applies to all soldiery for all time. Nor are exaggeration or distortion of combat incidence more "mass surrenders." too, but they than venial sins in individual examples.

It is when the exaggeration or distortion is organized in a system covering an entire war, that damage results. The damage consists in persuading the people who support and read about the war that it is going better than it actually is.

IT BECOMES A cumulative delusion, and it has lost many a war, but has never won a war. Adolf Hitler in his bunker in the last days had the same delusion. He was summoning ghost divisions long disintegrated to come up and save the Reich. His delusions differed only in degree from the delusion under which the Americans are now laboring.

It is almost unbelievable in the light of recent history that the surrender of 100-200 of the enemy should be the "largest" of record, but it may be true. It is a poor war in this century which hasn't seen the surrender of 5-10 thousand on both sides as rather common. These were probably called weren't. A true mass surrender was 300,000 Germans at Stalingrad.

In other words, doubt your spokesman, or rather, doubt the system, which extends its tentacles to Washington, where it manifests itself

Recall Attempt Defended

'Of Course It's Political'

Re "Recall Reagan? No!" (July 8). Your editorial was not convincing.

First question: What's wrong with a recall election? Reagan has nothing to fear unless, of course, he has demanded that the people of California tighten their belts to the point that there is nothing left with which to hold up his own pants.

Second question: Can you tell me of just one election ever held which was not political in nature?

Third question: Why would a recall election embarrass the governor? It would show, after all, a vote of confidence by the citizens of California. Or, vice versa.

I must add that only those who cannot read (and who, possibly, cannot write) could under any circumstances misinterpret the petition as there was no mention, on the petition, of any kind of taxes. LOUISE HENRY

Motorcycle Danger

To the Editor:

Apropos your editorial (July 9, on the dangers of motorcycles), UCLA recently completed a study that bears out your contention.

The studies showed that although 55 percent of UCLA students commute by automobile and only 61/2 percent by motorcycle, the number of serious student injuries to cyclists was double that from automobile accidents.

I presume the same ratio - or nearly the same ratio - would hold up throughout the state. Registration of motorcycles in California increased 249 percent between 1960 and 1965 and the number of injury-producing accidents involving motorcycles rose almost the same percentage, 253 percent.

The UCLA study suggested five ways to reduce casualties:

1. A special operator's license should be required and frequently renewed. 2. The license should be given only to those thoroughly qualified to handle a motorcycle. 3. Periodic inspections of the vehicle should be required.

4. No more than one person at a time should ride on a motorcycle. 5. A safety helmet and goggles should be worn. I am afraid I am about as cynical as your editorial was. I don't know of much that can be done to convince young people they're on wheeled death every time they get aboard a cycle.

Freeway View

B. R. MEYERS

To the Editor:

It is sad to see the selfish viewpoints, and crass attitudes of people involved in the long battle over the proposed freeway (Hwy 39).

To begin with, the orange route was strongly recommended some time ago, and people involved in this route knew and made preparations to accept this perpetual event. Yet,it is obvious. that a few will benefit from the red route.

It would be at the expense of Westminster, Stanton, and possibly Buena Park. This would wipe out most of the industrial areas that contribute a sizeable amount of taxes to the city. will wipe out valuable school sites, and last but not least a threat to the Goldenwest Junior College.

Furthermore, the orange route would benefit most all Orange Countians rather than selected few. this is so obvious if they would look at any Orange County Map. Yet, the City of Huntington Beach wants a freeway, and has endorsed the red route at

We can only give people the facts, is best for the city, county, and our state of California.

Coleman Cost

To the Editor:

Your July 2 editorial in defense of the Coleman vote-tally system against the latest "attack" by the Voters' Information Bureau concludes by saying that the "supervisors should be spending some of the money saved through use of the Coleman machines — spending it on more equipment."

It is doubtful that the Coleman system has saved the taxpayers a dime. The machines alone cost $1,680,000, we were told; but could there have been additional expenses, viz., the installation of the machines, the highly-paid technicians' salaries to operate and maintain them, the IBM system used in connection therewith, the cost of construction of the very building in which the system is housed? (Would said building have been necessary had the machines not been purchased?) In addition to these expenses, there are still several thousands employed as precinct workers at each election, and an added expense entailed in the handcounting of the many thousands of ballots that are rejected by the tally

The DAILY PILOT could do a great service to the community by requesting of the County Clerk, or of the Board of Supervisors, a detailed accounting of the cost of holding the recent primary election in Orange County, together with a comparison of the cost of an election of the pre-Coleman "horse and buggy" era; then publishing same

No Longer Rural

To the Editor:

In Sacramento Orange County Senator John Schmitz has introduced a bill (No. 5) that would change the 1967 law to ALLOW a "reputable citizen 18 or over to carry loaded firearms in a vehicle registered in his or his spouse's name on public streets and in public places."

I doubt if many people who advocate strict gun control are "hysterical," or believe it would prevent many deaths and injuries or keep guns from criminals.

However, strict control can change attitudes towards guns and can cut down on the injuries and deaths of children, family members, and neighbors who fall victim to a gun purchased to "protect" the family from intruders. FURTHERMORE, many a despondent man may shoot himself when he might change his mind at the mechanics of hanging himself. It is an insult to intelligence to be told that, "Guns don't kill, people do." Of course, Autos don't kill either, but I'm quite willing to sacrifice a bit of "freedom" when the law requires me to take a periodic driver's test, and makes young people reach a certain age and demonstrate competence before being issued a driver's license. I'm sure this does save lives.

WE KNOW THAT the majority of juvenile delinquents sent to 'correctional" institutions come out to become adult criminals. We also know that "Boys' Towns" like the Boys' Republic at Chino, DO REFORM delinquents. (The Chino boys make those Christmas wreaths many people buy to help support the institution.)

Would it be good economy, as well as good humanity to spend enough to make reform schools really reform? More prisons are rather more expensive any way you look at it. How about coming to terms with the fact that we are no longer a pioneer, rural nation, and acting like it?

MARGARET McMASTER

Time to Write

To the Editor:

The gun lobby has managed to delay action in the U.S. Senate on a gun control bill until July 9. Meanwhile, antigun-control letters are swamping senators.

Anyone who believes that all guns should be registered and all owners licensed should write now and get their friends to write now if they want a United States gun-control bill to become law. Unless thinking voters write to express their beliefs, the extremists win.

Cheers for Athlete

To the Editor: Regarding the attack upon the choice to Marina High Schools Athlete of the Year, I should like to remind W.G.L. that the choice was based on exactly what it says Athlete of the Year not on one individual, sport,, or contest. Nor was it a popularity contest.

The entire coaching staff of Marina High School based their choice on a young man who is cooperative, of high moral character, and an image to which the students of any high school in the CIF may look to as the hero image we so lack in today's society.

Adds Bright Note To the Editor:

Mr. Frank Pound of 206 8th Street, Huntington Beach, has been decorating the library recently with varieties of dahlias. I would like to thank him publicly for being thoughtful enough to share his talents by growing these beautiful specimens and arranging the displays for all those who enter the library.

There are some who forgive with the intent to relieve the pressure temporarily, but that is only a moratorium. You may have heard the story of two Scotsmen. The one who feared he was dying called in a friend with whom he had quarreled years ago and had never ventured reconciliation. There were tears shed. They both forgave each other but when the healthy man left the room the man who was sick roused himself out of bed on one elbow and said, "Remember, if I get over this, the old quarrel stands. You would hardly call that forgiveness.

ANOTHER MAN who lay dying called his business associate to his side and said, "I must tell you before I die that I've cheated you all through the years of about $51,000." His associate said, "That's quite all right, I have poisoned you."

A brilliant novelist who had been robbed of the woman he loved because of vicious lies said about him, became sour and cynical. He was against all women, had lost faith in himself and in God. He tried to run away from himself, but always he ended up by facing himself in a mirror.

Sc he fled to a fishing village high on the cliffs. There he came upon a quaint old church, surrounded by corn fields, brilliant with crimson poppies. Inside the church in the vestibule was a painting of an old ruin. It was ivy covered windowless, desolate, standing out jagged and ruthless against the purple sky. Underneath the painting was this inscription: "The ruins of my soul repair, and make my heart a house of prayer."

THOSE WORDS expressed his own feelings - "the ruins of my soul." The accusing words tolled like solemn bells - "Make my heart a house of prayer." He stepped outside the church door, out into the little graveyard on the very edge of the cliff. His eyes looked down upon the smiling landscape. This was what his

The Hardest Stone to Lift eyes saw, but at the same time he was exploring the inner depths of his own soul. Then something wonderful happened. He began to lift the stones into place, to rebuild the altar. The very first stone he attempted to lift, the very hardest to lift, was forgiveness.

As he put stone upon stone, at last he heart himself saying, "My God, I forgive - as I hope to be forgiven." Indeed we must learn to forgive and forget . . . if we ever hope to be forgiven ourselves!

By George

Dear George:

I've met this young writer and he's a charming man but he has the habit of "borrowing" money from me, and also letting me pay the check when we go out. I really don't mind the money too much - he points out that throughout history there have been "patrons of the arts" and he says he'll repay me when his book is finished.

What does this sound like to you? SLIGHTLY WORRIED?

It sounds to me like you're about Chapter 27 in a long, unfinished novel. (If you have problems, write to George. If you don't have problems, he can help you there,

TELEVISION VIEWS

'Bias' Part 11 Answer to View

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) - Representatives of the communications field appeared Thursday night in an ABC-TV hour, "Bias and the Mass Media - Part II," responding to views of Negroes on a previous program. It was the second broadcast of the network's six-part series, "Time for Americans," about the race issue.

ON THE FIRST BROADCAST, two weeks ago, the all-Negro panel consisted of entertainers Harry Belafonte and Lena Horne; poet-critic-essayist Lawrence Neal and Dr. Alvin Poussaint, assistant psychiatry professor at Tufts University Medical School. And that hour was billed by ABC-TV as "an indictment of racism as it exists in the media in Amercia - radio and television, advertising, newspapers and magazines."

Thursday night's panel consisted of Norman Cousins, editor of the Saturday Review; Herbert Kamm, editorial consultant of the Scripps-Howard newspapers; Elmer Lower, president of ABC News; Edward P. Morgan, chief correspondent of the Publie Broadcast Laboratory; Dan Seymour, president of the J. Walter Thompson Advertising Agency; and James C. Hagerty, ABC vice president in charge of corporate relations.

FORGET, FOR A MOMENT, the specific content and particular quality of the two broadcasts to date. What is really important is that they have been done, and in prime time, and are a sort of beginning. And how much more reassuring the whole project would seem if only such a meaty series were on the television schedule when the main season starts in September. At present, not a single commercial network has a weekly prime time series along these lines on the fall schedule.

It was explained on Thursday night's hour, by the way, that the very noticeable separatist composition of the two broadcasts was Belafonte's idea. Apparently he felt the blacks could make their views most effective by appearing as a unit. The suggestion at the end of Thursday night's broadcast that perhaps the whites and blacks might get together next time was a droll, but significant commentary on the two programs in sum. Surely it would give viewers a more rounded and succinct understanding.

WHAT DEFIED EXPLANATION on the Thursday hour, however, was the fact that not a single representative was on hand from the two visual communications area with the most massive influence — television and movie entertainment. The incredible result was that this over-all field escaped with barely a mention. And despite Mr. Seymour's presence, advertising got off easily too.

A consequence of all this, and of the composition of the panel, was that the news media - certainly the most responsible, constructive and wellintentioned area of communications - found themselves the central subject most of the time. Of course the news media are not perfect, and surely there is a need for such discussion, constantly. But the idea of letting some truly crass, offending areas of communications get off scot free of selfcriticism was appalling and dismaying.

PARTICULARLY SHARP, after Mr. Seymour's comments about how the advertising situation was improving, was Mr. Kamm's observation that the first broadcast of this very series went unsponsored. And concerning tokenism, Mr. Cousins was delightfully deadly in noting how an executive, seek-ing a Negro secretary, will look for a combination of Lena Horne and Marian Anderson - and, failing to get that, will hire a white girl, comforting himself with the thought that at least he tried.

It's Hard To Believe He's Not A HB Native

Whether Jerry Shea, vice president of the Huntington Beach Company, is getting up in the morning in the old ranch house where he lives, walking to work past the corrals full of horses, looking out his office window at the ancient eucalyptus trees or visiting the company's newly-developed Huntington Seacliff Country Club or its multi-layered apartment complex underway on the oceanfront in downtown Huntington Beach, he is involved fully with the Huntington Beach Company, the city and people of Huntington Beach.

Jerry seems so much a part of the Huntington Beach scene it is hard to believe he comes from a very different part of the country. He was born and reared in Greenfield, Massachusetts. He received his bachelor of arts degree from Saint Michael's College in Vermont in 1950. Three years later he received his LLB degree from Georgetown University, Washington, D.C. Later he earned a certificate in patent law at Georgetown.

After two years in the Coast Guard, Jerry joined the Chevron subsidiary of Standard Oil Company in Washington, D. C., representing them in obtaining oil leases from various federal government agencies.

Transferred to a Standard division in New Orleans, Jerry found himself back in law school again because the law in Louisiana is based on the Napoleonic Code rather than on common law as it is in most states.

A move to Jackson, Mississippi came five years later when he became division supervisor of contracts and leases for Standard Oil.

In December, 1966 Jerry was made vice president of the Huntington Beach Comanpy and head of its legal department. His concern changed to real property law rather than law involving oil. He now works with the lease and sale of Huntington Beach Company land and anything which may be built on it.

While this is a change for Jerry, it also is one for the Huntington Beach Company, 64 percent of whose stock is owned by Standard Oil. For most of the Huntington Company's 65 years it has been interested in oil and some agriculture. Now the company has seen the land become too valuable not to be developed. In 1960 the company conceived a masterplan and set out to make it a reality. Beginning with the Huntington Seacliff Country Club and the homes that will surround it, the company gradually will build an entire community. High-rise apartments on the ocean will almost surround the old downtown section of Huntington Beach. Oil wells will be clustered, blocked off, and landscaped.

Although the Sheas lived in a modern tract house when they first came to California, after a year an old home on the company's original ranch property became available. Jerry and his wife, Nancy, whom he met during his senior year in law school, immediately fell in love with the way of life the old ranch home offered. Led by their children, Mark 12, and Caroline 6, the Sheas' interest turned from sailing to horses. Also because of his son, Jerry has become interested in the Boy Scouts and enjoys camping with the troop.

A member of the Washington, D.C., Bar Association, the Louisiana State Bar Association, the California Bar Association and the Huntington Beach Rotary Club, he is chairman of the Legal Action Committee of the Huntington Beach Chamber of Commerce.

Jerry Shea, intelligent and warm, shows an affection for the city of Huntington Beach that could only be rivaled by the most ardent life-time resident.

There's Plenty To Do In Jul

PLANT CARNATION SEEDS NOW

The two principal jobs for the gardener in July is watering and seed sowing. Now that summer is truly here we must be careful our plants do not want for moisture. Trees and shrubs should be deeply watered every two to four-weeks depending on how heavy the soil is. Heavy soils retain the moisture much longer than sandy soils. Retention of moisture in sandy soils can be helped greatly by applying a mulch such as peatmoss, leafmold or redwood bark.

Shallow-rooted, shade-loving plants such as begonias, ferns and fuchsias will need more frequent watering and on warm days will benefit from sprinkling in order to keep the humidity up. If the humidity is too low the plants may lose water through their leaves faster than the roots can pick it up from the ground. They will wilt even though the soil is moist.

Putting a mulch around these plants will keep the soil from drying out and also will help keep the humidity high.

This month and next are the months to start seed of the spring flowering annuals such as stock, snapdragons and calendulas. This is also the time to plant the seed of all perennials and biennuals. These would include delphinium, shasta daisies, columbine, carnations, pinks and foxglove to mention just a few. It is best to start these in flats and move them to a cooler location when there are very hot dry days or a Santa Ana wind comes

Now is the time to cut back chrysanthemum plants. Cut them to about eight inches from the ground. On exhibition types leave only two or three shoots per plant. On the small flowered pompoms leave several of the strongest stems.

if the bearded iris beds haven't been divided for three years or so this is the time to do it. Old clumps, with logs of used up rhizomes in the center of the clump, bloom only sparingly and take up more room than they need.

Throw out these old rhizomes and plant the new more vigorous young ones from the outer part of the clump. Give these and the iris clumps not being divided a handful of bonemeal for fertilizer.

Growing Boy's Room

Colorful Soldiers Decorate Wall

Personality decor for young children may be achieved with the use of a little imagination. Almost every child has some interest which could serve as a decorating theme for his or her room.

In this portion of a room for a bouncing boy, a Kemp semainier stands at attention in front of brightly precise soldiers. The wallcovering is colorful and of interest to the youngster, with historic soldiers' uniforms depicted.

A side-effect of this room decoration is the history lesson an observant child absorbs uconsciously.

In many rooms a small alcove may be used to place the chest away from the main portion of the bedroom. Then often an older child's room may take on the aspect of a sitting room, done in solid tones, with the colorful alcove containing chest or desk serving as an accent point.

As the boy who lives in this room grows older he may add a collection of old muskets to his wall decorations, utilizing the colorful uniforms as a background for his display. Or the room may be passed on to a younger brother who will build ancient castles with blocks, as Napoleon and his troops march along the walls.

Budget-minded furniture for youngsters that is kept simple and extremely functional can be used in a number of ways and for many years.

Whether a child's room is created to be wonderfully wacky or frankly feminine, it can delight that child and his parents with a combination of imagination and budget consideration.

CHAMPIONSHIP RODEO TO BE ONE

ORANGE EMPIRE COUNCIL BOY SCOUTS BENEFIT FROM EVENT

Some of the top rodeo circuit riders will be performing at the Orange County Fair when the Orange Empire Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America sponsors a rodeo on July 19, 20 and 21.

The participants in the IRA Championship event will be competing for prize money riding Brahma bulls and bucking broncos, roping calves and wrestling steers. All of the net proceeds will go to the sponsoring group to be used for its youth programs. Explorer units of the Council are in charge of the physical arrangements of the event.

As a special tribute to the scouting movement, scouts and leaders in uniforms will be admitted to the Fairgrounds free on July 20. Half-price admission tickets will be offered to holders of rodeo tickets purchased in advance of the rodeo.

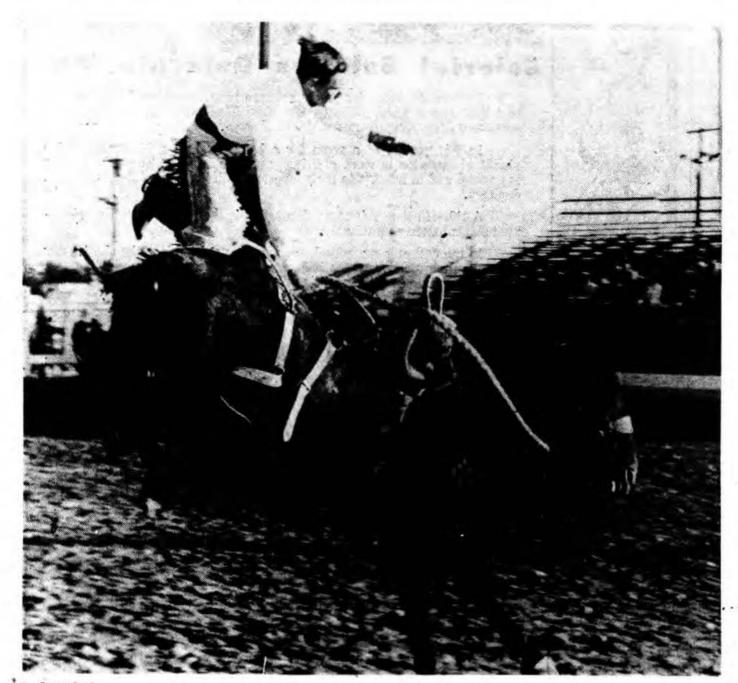

There will be three night performances at 8 p.m. on July 19, 20 and 21 and two matinee shows at 2 p.m. on July 20 and 21. Rodeo tickets may be purchased at the Orange County Fairgrounds or by calling 546-4990. Box seats are $3.00; grandstand seats, $2.00 and general admission, $1.50.

Other interesting events scheduled as part of the fair will include an array of big name talent entertainment leading off with Maestro Leo Damiani's International Festival of Nations with a cast of 150 from eight nations, backed by a symphony orchestra. On July 19-20 Nino Tempo and April Stevens, brother and sister singing team, and the Back Porch Majority will perform. Glen Campbell will be the big name on Sunday July 21.

Additional entertainment features during the week include full-stage performances by the Sing-Out-West-End "Up With People" singers, Barber Shop Quartet Jamboree, Boys Clubs' All - Star Variety Show, Glengarry Highland Band and Dancers, Kingsmen National C h a m p i o n Drum and Bugle Corps, Optimist Youth Band of Orange County, and others.

There will be entertainment especially for the young'uns, too. The Brunner family will stage their popular Popcorn Theater Marionette Shows afternoons and evenings every day of the Fair and Exposition.

Senior citizens' clubs from throughout the Southland also will stage a talent show at the Senior Citizens Jamboree on Wednesday afternoon,

A spirited bareback bronc is very hard to stick with on the first jump out of the chute. The trick is to touch the horse on the neck with your heels and then try to stay on board for eight rigid seconds after the first jump.

Saddle bronc riding is full of spills and thrills. The cowboy must stay in the saddle for at least ten seconds to qualify. The rider at left is coming off the hard way — a regular happening in one of rodeo's most trying events.

Magazine Section—DAILY Friday, July

OF OC FAIR'S BIG ATTRACTIONS

July 17. Half-price tickets for this will be available through senior citizens' clubs and directly from the Fairgrounds.

From 9 a.m. to 11 p.m. on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, young equestrians will vie for ribbons and prizes in three days of junior horse show competition. Special pony show events for the very young horsey set will be included in the performances.

Another perennially popular young people's activity is the Junior Fair with its livestock show and hundreds of other exhibits entered by members of Future Farmers of America and 4-H Clubs. Climaxing the Junior Livestock Auction, slated for Friday afternoon and evening. Last year 209 buyers purchased 344 animals for a total of $72,000 from the young exhibitors.

Away from the footlights and performing ring, other top attractions will be a flower show, new products, space exhibits, community exhibits, boat and vehicle show, adults agriculture and home economics demonstrations.

A Fair is not a Fair without rides and a carnival midway and providing thrills and chills for all ages will be a giant ferris wheel, Munster ride, roller coaster, fun house, scrambler, tilt-a-whirl, meteor ride, house of mirrors, and other attractions.

Attendance at all shows and exhibits, with the exception of carnival rides and the rodeo, is free after a single gate admission. Prices for gate admission are adults, $1.00; students 13-18, 80-cents; students 6-13, 30-cents; and children 12 and under accompanied by a parent, free. Servicemen in uniform will also be admitted free.

The cowboy has to stay in control to score points in the bareback bronc riding. This rider has let the horse get in the driver's seat by falling too far back on the animal. Thrills a minute are in store for those attending the Rodeo, and the funds go for a good cause.

Below, an airborne clown and a bull have parted company. This topsy-turvey ride put the clown on his mettle to get away without injuries.

Professional rodeo matadors, in baggy pants, attract attention of angry bulls away from the fallen riders. There is always a danger of being hurt if the rider is not constantly alert. Below, right.

Color Them New

Here we go again.

Every now and then the local restaurantnightclub scene seems to suddenly explode into a shower of "new offerings" . . . a new dinner house, a new musical group, a new entertainment and/or dining policy.

Such is the case currently . . . with another Waterfront Waysider scheduled for opening this evening . . . three new combos swinging their way into the wee smalls each night hereabouts . . . dancing being featured for the first time at a Costa Mesa spa . . . and a menu change (as well as a name change) now being in effect where a Corona del Mar establishment is concerned.

Certainly, such addeds greatly enhance the possibilities of an out-n-abouter's evening touring the terrain . . . but while they are still merely in the rumor stage, they can also becloud one's decision as to where to start and what to expect once one arrives

Let's take the above newies one by one ... hoping a bit on each will help in making such a decision.

OUT 'N' ABOUT: Orange (

Alley, West

This cozy and intimate, located on Ocean Front in Newport Beach, is the long-awaited much-discussed Jerry Overland-Rick Lawrence drink-dine den that, at this writing, is supposed to swing open those doors tonight.

You might also recall it as "The Rhum Rhunner," "The Wind Jammer" and/or "Back Street, West." These are all names at one time or another appended to the establishment . . . and later discarded for this reason or that.

Be that as it may, a majority of hand-holders will undoubtedly wind up calling this ocean-viewer "Our Place" . . . because that's exactly how it strikes one during the course of a pre-opening tour of the premises.

OCEAN OUTSTANDER

Overland, onetime Reuben E. Lee and Woody's Wharf plankman, along with partner Lawrence, local construction bigwig, should encounter no difficulty whatsoever in selling Alley, West to Orange County out-nabouters.

They have taken a former barn of a store (long Swede's Cafe) and turned it into a warm and wonderful with outstanding exterior and interior decor. Especially interesting is the manner in which they have raised the spa's floor areas to provide viewwindow study of the Pacific, Newport Beach pier and the famed dorymen's open-air fish market sprawling hard by that jut-out.

The menu at Alley, West is limited but priced right . . . and certainly affords enough selection to please any dine-outer.

Bob Burns

The first of those new combos to be discussed herein . . . The Tommy Earl Trio . . . can be heard nightly at Bob Burns Restaurant, Fashion Island, Newport Beach.

And . . . they are mighty good.

Imported by Mr. Burns, himself, from the San Francisco area, these musicians (piano, bass, drums) offer sophisticated listening that immediately brands them as pros who will undoubtedly grace the local entertainment scene for some time to come.

Although the chit-chat portion of Earl's performance (between sets) didn't do much for this viewer one recent Wednesday evening, there's no denying he's a most accomplished 88-er. Equally proficient are his two sidemen.

Especially enjoyable that evening . . . and you might want to request them for your own pleasure . . . "The Look Of Love," "Out Of My Head," "Watch What Happens."

Do that requesting Mondays through Saturdays.

Villa Marina

A tough one to review here . . . and, in all fairness, the following must be prefaced with the fact that this listener has never particularly cared for soft/hard "rock" or the flashing, ever-changing Edison effects that accompany same.

"Discotheque, Red Velvet" is the moniker tacked onto the new show at Frank Usedom's Villa Marina Restaurant, Newport

Featured: four Jumping Jacks (not their names, their activities) in white, bellbottom trousers and striped shirts . . . while strumming, pounding and key-boarding an assortment of basses, drums and an electric organ.

Appearing in the club's Red Velvet Room. this group might well be your cup of tea.

Certainly, their performance is lively, easily heard and . . . we guess . . . exciting.

As stated before, a tough one to review. Give a listen . . . and see what you think.

Don Jose

Replacing the year-long run of Hayden Causey Trio at Joe Morjoseph's Don Jose Mexican Restaurant, Huntington Beach . . . Mario Said Trio . . . which just completed a well received engagement at Dick Whittinghill's spa in the San Fernando Valley. Panamanian pianist, Mario Said, records on the
