Fireman battles blaze that destroyed residence at 4511 Seashore Drive in Newport Beach Wednesday night. Investigators said damage to home owned by Zola Jouchen would exceed $50,000. Fire erupted about 9 p.m. while the owner was away. Neighbors turned in the alarm. No one was hurt, said firemen, who were still seeking cause of blaze today.

HHH Tax 'Gifts' Nixed

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Income tax deductions of nearly $200,000 claimed by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey for the gift of vice presidential papers to the Minnesota Historical Society have been disallowed by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service, an aide said today.

David Gartner, an administrative assistant to the Minnesota Democrat, said Humphrey reached an agreement with the IRS to pay back taxes plus 6 percent annual interest on the $199,153.

The tax deductions were claimed for 1969 through 1972. Gartner and Humphrey's Minneapolis lawyer, Joe A. Walters, declined to say what the back taxes would amount to. They said the IRS is computing that figure.

Walters said the IRS objection was based on a regulation prohibiting deductions for "gifts of a future interest" over which the donor retains some form of control.

Gartner added, "There's nothing in this that involves wrongdoing of any kind. It's simply a difference in the way reasonable men interpret the law."

Walter pointed out that the IRS raised no questions about the legality of the Humphrey gift or the value of $309,475 placed on it.

"I told the senator that while there were some doubts on the 'future interest' question, I thought he had a good chance to be sustained in the long run," Walters said. "But he said, 'I'm going to resolve those doubts in favor of the Treasury'."

Old Soldier Routs Burglars

PORTOLA VALLEY (UPI) — Retired Army Col. Lewis Day, 74, is so impressive in giving orders that even burglars obey him.

When Day and his wife returned home, they were confronted by a six-foot intruder who pointed the officer's .22-caliber rifle at him.

"Give me that gun and get the hell out of here," Day said.

The intruder took off out the front door.

The officer then found two more men in his bathroom. He barked similar orders. The pair jumped out the window.

Day had an added reason for his confidence. The rifle, he said, "can't be fired — I have it fixed so only I can make it work."

2 Sought By Coast Officers

Two Pennysaver employes, about to make a night deposit in a Huntington Beach bank Wednesday, were robbed at gunpoint of $36,000 in a cash and checks.

Police said Robert P. Witte, 27, and Robert C. Dorsey, 32, both employed by Van-De Publishing Company, printers of the Pennysaver, said the deposit bag contained $31,000 in checks made out to their employer and $5,600 in cash.

The men told officers they had stopped at the night deposit box at the United California Bank in Huntington Center, Beach Boulevard and Edinger Avenue, at 6:15 p.m.

But before they could place the bag in the deposit box, a man armed with a blue steel revolver approached, grabbed the UCB deposit bag, then ran to a waiting car and sped away.

The two men flagged down a passing police car moments later and reported the holdup, police said.

Compromise?

House Panel Nixes Aid for Cambodia

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Foreign Affairs Committee today rejected $135.6 million in emergency U.S. military aid for Cambodia, but held out the slim possibility of a compromise on the controversy with President Ford.

Less than an hour later, the Senate Democratic Caucus voted 38 to 5 against providing further military aid to either Cambodia or South Vietnam. House Democrats voted in a similar manner Wednesday.

REDS ESCALATE VIETNAM OFFENSIVE. Story, Page A4.

The House committee vote was 18-15 on a compromise amendment proposed by Rep. Lee Hamilton (D-Ind.)

It was a severe blow to the Administration's request for $222 million to Cambodia. The amendment was an attempt to compromise on aid for Phnom Penh which is surrounded by Communist forces.

The committee delayed any immediate recommendation to the full House on the Cambodian aid matter.

Committee Chairman Thomas E. Morgan (D-Pa.), told reporters he was urging the Administration to consult with Rep. Donald M. Fraser, (D-Minn.) over a possible compromise on the aid. Fraser is a major critic of any further U.S. weapons for Cambodia.

At the White House, Press Secretary Ron Nessen responded by saying that Ford still hopes that Congress will finally approve his request. He said Ford felt Congress could be persuaded by the testimony of a congressional delegation which recently returned from Southeast Asia and films of the Cambodian conflict which have been shown on television.

Meanwhile, Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said today he is reluctant to personally seek negotiations for peace in Cambodia with exiled Prince Norodom Sihanouk.

But Mansfield indicated he

Suspect Quizzed In Anaheim Death

A federal prison escapee, accused of three sex murders in which young women were trussed up, and their throats slashed, is scheduled for questioning by Anaheim police.

John Stiles Griffin, 28, who now faces a life term in a Texas prison, is also a prime suspect in the April 23, 1974 murder of Anaheim motel maid Laurie A. Bertsch.

Miss Bertsch, 17, was working to save money for financing a junior college education in preparation for a career in law enforcement.

She was surprised in a motel room, bound, slashed and butchered by a killer who attempted to rape her, according to police.

Investigators claim the circumstances are markedly similar to the murders only three days later in Texas of a pair of young housewives who were bound, stabbed repeatedly and sexually assaulted.

Griffin today is serving a life sentence in prison following his conviction in the murder of one of those victims, Mrs. Ellen E. Johnsrud, 22, of Houston. Her VALLEJO (AP) — A father and son who were flying a kite discovered the weed-covered skeleton of an unidentified young woman in a field.

"It certainly looks like a sex crime," detective Richard Hoffman said of the discovery.

"The bones were bleached and the body was face down, the blouse pulled over the head portion."

Dental charts were being used to establish the victim's identity.

HAIR LENGTH 'REGULATED'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Employers can decide how long the hair may be on a cab or bus driver, two separate U.S. District Court judges have ruled.

Judge Stanley A. Weigel ruled Wednesday that the Yellow Cab Co. had the right to refuse to hire drivers solely because their hair extended below their collar lines.

Judge George B. Harris said it was not discriminatory or unlawful for the Golden Gate Transit Line to have regulations relating to men's hair length and beards.

No Playboy For Convicts

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — The Genesee County sheriff says Playboy magazine no longer is available to prisoners in his jail because they fight over the centerfold photograph.

In an affidavit filed Wednesday with Justice David D. Boehm of state Supreme Court, Sheriff Roy J. Wullich said some prisoners would tear out the centerfold and hang it on a wall. This touched off fights when other prisoners found the centerfold missing, Wullich said.

Wullich, who told Boehm he canceled the magazine, replied to an American Civil Liberties Union suit, filed in behalf of some prisoners, that charged the sheriff with "cruel and unusual punishment" of inmates.

100 mph Chase Ends

Grove Robbery Suspect Nabbed by Police

A Garden Grove robbery suspect led Fountain Valley police on a 100-mile-an-hour chase and a three-hour neighborhood search early today before his arrest later at home.

Garden Grove police arrested Dennis Alan Talbot, 26, of 13302 Chapman Ave., on charges of car theft and armed robbery about 7:30 a.m. today, two hours after the chase and search through a Fountain Valley housing tract.

The incident started just before 6 p.m. Wednesday, police said, when Talbot assertedly robbed a Fotomat at Haster Street and Chapman Avenue in Garden Grove.

Police said he allegedly simulated a gun beneath his coat and took $32 from the attendant, then fled in a car stolen earlier from a Garden Grove home.

Just before 2 a.m. today, Fountain Valley Patrolman Norm Satterfield spotted Talbot's car, matching it with a description given by Garden Grove police.

At the same time, officers said, Satterfield spotted another car blinking its lights as if to signal Talbot of the patrolman's approach.

Talbot sped away west on Slater Avenue at speeds of 100 and 110 miles an hour, police said, until he crashed into a block wall fence a half mile away between Bushard and Magnolia Streets.

Officers said the impact tore out a 27-foot-section of the wall, but Talbot jumped from the demolished car and fled into a housing tract.

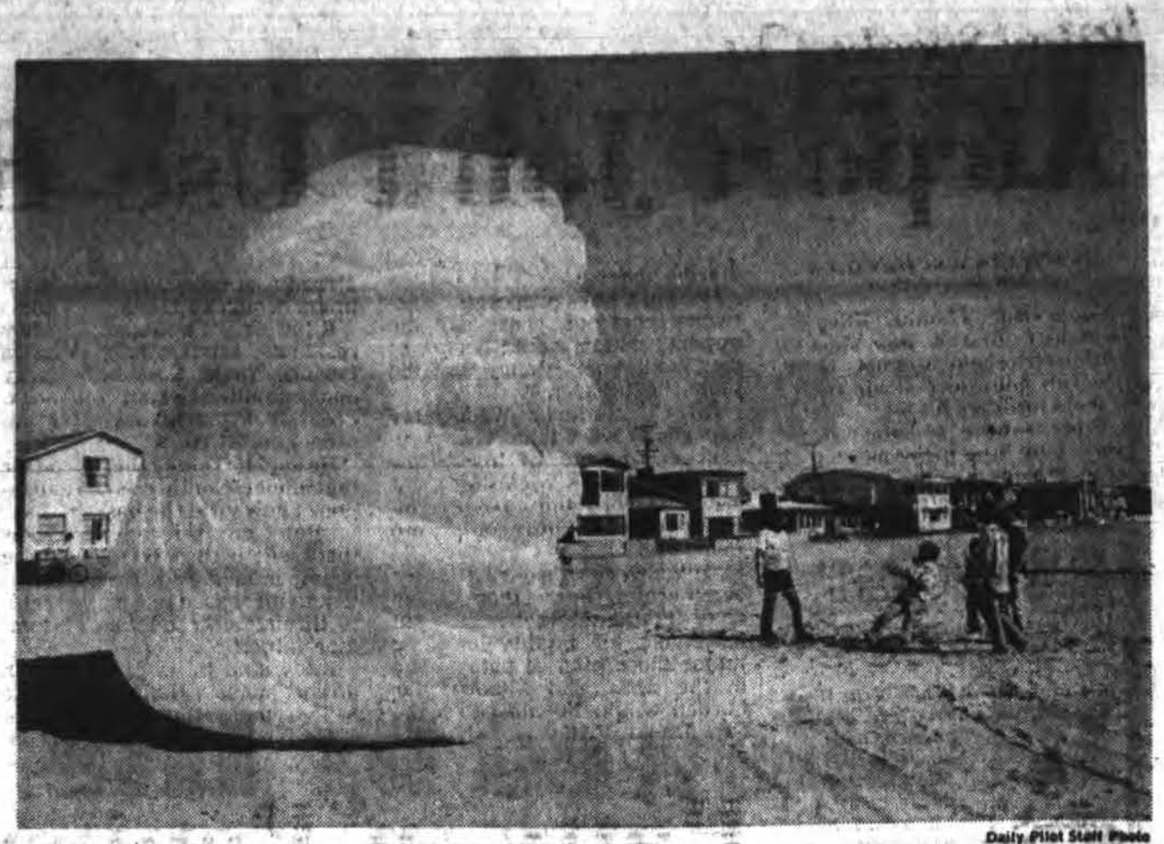

At the same time, the other car, containing two women friends of Talbot's stopped, police said. The two women, both from Garden Grove, were arrested on robbery charges, but were released after a few hours, and charges were dropped, Garden Grove police said.

A Fountain Valley police dog and Huntington Beach helicopter aided officers in their search through yards in the neighborhood, but after three hours police called off the efforts.

Two hours later, Garden Grove officers found Talbot at home, but said they don't yet know how he got from Fountain Valley back to Garden Grove.

Officers said they also did not find the loot Talbot allegedly took from the Fotomat but an investigation is continuing.

They also said he apparently was not injured in the car accident.

Stuart Farmer, 28, Newport Beach (hauling on parachute), tried Wednesday to elevate himself above Newport's 32nd Street beach. Farmer and friends got an old parachute, tethered it to a lifeguard tower and waited for the wind to fill the chute and lift him off the ground. It seemed like a good idea, but apparently there wasn't enough wind. Farmer and his parachute never got off the ground.

Officials Sink Cash In Court

Orange County supervisors cleared the decks Wednesday for emergency action aimed at saving a wing of the West County Municipal Courthouse that is sinking into a peat bog.

The board voted unanimously to appropriate $54,660 in unused revenue sharing money to pay for the first phase of repairs at the Westminster facility.

Officials have estimated it may ultimately cost as much as $400,000 to completely repair the badly damaged building.

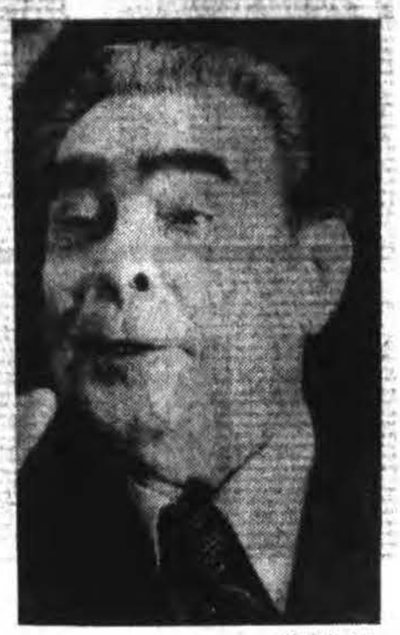

County Building officer Joseph Smisek told the board the biggest initial task will be a test of methods to reinforce the unstable soil underneath the $1.2 million structure, which houses half of the court's 12 courtrooms.

The county will contract with a structural concrete company for what is known as "pressure grouting" — injecting concrete into the soil layers, hoping it will harden and create a firm foundation.

Smisek has estimated that job will cost more than $25,000 and at first will only be done under the least-damaged courtroom in the wing.

If the grouting effort is a success, it will be used on the rest of the building. It will consist of pumping concrete around the original pilings driven into the ground under the building to a depth of 60 feet, Smisek said.

Four of the six courtrooms in the buildings have sustained damage of varying degrees, primarily consisting of cracks in ceiling beams and other concrete parts of the seven-year-old building.

"I'm prepared to do anything I can to end the agony in Cambodia," he said.

The possibility of Mansfield's flying to Peking, where Sihanouk is in exile, was raised Wednesday by Sen. Henry Jackson (D-Wash.). Jackson said Mansfield "could play a very important and critical role" in bringing peace to Cambodia because of his friendship with Sihanouk.

In another development, President Ford invited retired Gen. William Westmoreland to the White House today for a talk about the fighting in Southeast Asia.

Westmoreland, former U.S. commander in South Vietnam, was to present his assessment to Ford on the deteriorating military situation in Cambodia.

Song Pirates Cost Fortune

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Recording industry representatives say song pirating is costing composers, writers, musicians and record companies millions of dollars each year.

They called Wednesday for tougher penalties against the unauthorized duplication and sale of recorded songs during a hearing by the Assembly Criminal Justice Committee.

"It is a multi-million-dollar business," Howard S. Smith said of song pirating. "It is a disservice to recording stars and those denied what rightfully belongs to them."

Consumer Reports Nixes Pot Danger

BOSTON (UPI) — Marijuana may not be the great threat to health and society that many studies have indicated, according to Consumer Reports magazine.

"The time has come to take a fresh look at the alleged dangers of marijuana," the Consumers Union publication said in its March issue.

The magazine said a "horrifying collection of marijuana hazards" — including brain damage, lowered resistance to disease, loss of motivation, birth defects, lung damage, sterility and impotence in men — have been widely publicized in reputable scientific journals and the news media.

But, said the magazine, "When a research finding can be readily checked — either by repeating the experiment or by devising a better one — an allegation of adverse marijuana effects is relatively short-lived.

The magazine said marijuana smokers appear to remain in good health and good spirits, showing none of the adverse effects cited in the studies.

Dr. William Pollin, director of research for the National Institute on Drug Abuse, said that "to suggest that there is a pattern of serious consequences and as soon as they are checked they are disproved, and to imply there is some pattern to this, I think tends to ignore or misstate what the present status of the situation is."

The magazine suggested a better picture of long-term effects could be obtained by studying a country where marijuana has been a daily custom for generations.

It cited a study the National Institute of Mental Health commissioned for study regarding marijuana effects on the island of Jamaica. For decades, Jamaicans have smoked marijuana much stronger than that available in the United States, the magazine said.

The magazine said that to qualify as a heavy smoker in the Jamaica study, one had to smoke at least eight marijuana cigarettes a day, and the subjects studied had smoked an average of 17.5 years. In the United States, a heavy smoker is considered to be one who smokes more than seven a week.

The study concluded: "The data clearly indicate that the long-term marijuana use by these men did not produce demonstrable intellectual or ability deficits ... There is no evidence in the results to suggest brain damage."

A spokesman for the National Institute on Drug Abuse said the Jamaica study was not considered definitive because the group studied was not big enough from which to draw scientific conclusions.

friend, Mrs. Merideith W. Kalouske, also 22, was found with her in the Johnsrud home.

Charges of rape and robbery are still pending against Griffin in connection with the death of Mrs. Kalouske.

Investigators say in each case the women's feet had been tied together and then the bindings were cut free.

Anaheim Police Department Homicide Detective Ron Girk said there are no plans for extradition at the present time but that Griffin will be questioned in Texas at the Harris County Jail within the next two weeks about Miss Bertsch's savage murder.

A second fugitive sought by Anaheim police and upon whom extradition proceedings have been initiated will be picked up in Texas at that time.

"We're going to two kill two birds with one stone," Detective Girk said of the Texas trip.

Griffin was reportedly in Anaheim the day of the Bertsch murder, which occurred a day after he escaped from a work furlough program that placed him in a job in Los Angeles while serving a sentence at the Federal Correctional Institution for Men at Lompoc.

Porno Flick Shown Free To SF Women

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A free offer to see a hard-core "adult" movie drew 70 women Wednesday. Men had to pay $4.

Most of the over-18 women rated the Sutter Cinema show, "Learning to Love," good to fair.

"I didn't learn anything," said one elderly woman in a red shawl. "I used to be in burlesque."

A question on the rating slip asked: "What is your favorite sex fantasy?" to which one woman wrote, "Still searching."

"The old day-to-day grind which appeals to men only just isn't enough to make it any more," said theater chain executive Tom Lazzarini.

"We've got to be thinking about a different kind of film which will appeal to women, too, and maybe discount prices to get them into the theater."

Ford Urges Tax Speed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford was quoted today as complaining that "time is growing short" for action on a recession-fighting tax cut and yet the Senate plans an Easter vacation in just eight days.

Ford has said that he wants the tax cut by Easter.

The tax-writing Senate Finance Committee began writing its version of the bill this morning.

Sen. Russell B. Long, (D-La.), the chairman, said he will support a $30-billion tax cut, almost double the amounted recommended by Ford.

Employe Says Phone Hikes Not Required

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A telephone operator has told a Public Utilities Commission hearing that higher charges sought by the Pacific Telephone Company are not needed to pay for labor costs "but simply to increase profits."

Jane Margolis, the phone company operator, spoke Wednesday at a hearing into the firm's request for a $97.9 million rate increase.

Miss Margolis said the company is automating so rapidly the higher charges are not needed to offset wages.

Ira R. Alderson, a commission lawyer, said the PUC will investigate increased productivity before the hearing ends.

The proposed increase would not affect basic monthly telephone charges. However, the charges for certain intrastate long-distance calls would be higher, as well as higher charges for new connections, moving, changes in telephone numbers and monthly rates for telephone extensions in homes.

U.S. Economy Recovery Seen

NEW YORK (UPI) — The U.S. economy will begin making a moderate recovery by late 1975, say forecasters from the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School of Finance.

The nation, however, will go through another six to eight months of continuing economic decline before recovery, according to professors F. Gerard Adams, David M. Rowe and Ross Preston of the Wharton Econometric Forecasting Associates.

Tax cuts and increased government spending and inventory reductions followed by a return to normal accumulations will form the basis for the upturn, they said in issuing their regular quarterly computerized analysis of the nation's economy to a Wharton School alumni meeting.

Irvine Officer Nabs Three Illegal Aliens

A suspicious policeman on patrol in Irvine captured three suspected illegal immigrants from Mexico early today but others vanished in a dash for two taxicabs waiting nearby.

Officer Gary Cain estimated the group at seven to 10, including the three he detained along the Santa Fe Railroad tracks near Harvard Avenue and Moulton Parkway.

Deportation proceedings were set today for Antonio Zambrano Munos, 48, of Mexico City, Jesus Zambrano Cabrera, 19, of Enjuanidad del Cega, and Ismael Osegura Nolasco, 22, of Mexico City.

The trio remained behind in the 1 a.m. incident, while their companions raced for the two taxis which had been stationed at that location with their lights out, police said.

Riley Speaks Out

By WILLIAM SCHREIBER
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Supervisor Thomas Riley of Newport Beach has sharply criticized recent attempts to encourage commercial air traffic at local military bases.

Riley, whose specific targets were joint use proposals for El Toro Marine Corps Air Station and Camp Pendleton, is a retired Marine general.

He said the proposals "disregard common sense and the impacts which would accrue to the Saddleback Valley and the south coastal area."

Riley's remarks Wednesday apparently were triggered by recent comments of his fellow board members regarding joint use of El Toro and a possible international airport on Camp Pendleton.

"If we were to use El Toro for commercial flights there would be dramatic changes in ambient noise and air quality levels, a major disruption of auto traffic in the area and a particular burden would be placed on the San Diego Freeway, which is already approaching its maximum design capacity," he said.

Riley said Saddleback Valley residents, particularly those in Leisure World, have been "very understanding about the noise created by military jets approaching El Toro."

He said he thinks the reason for that understanding is a realization of how vital the base is.

"But I can tell you right now that I will be the first to join these people in loud and strong opposition to increased use of the facility through introduction of commercial jets."

Riley said he is familiar with airport noise problems because he lives under the takeoff pattern of Orange County Airport and once joined in a multi-million dollar suit against the county to force a noise reduction.

"There is nothing I would rather see than an immediate answer to our problems at Orange County Airport, but I think it would be irresponsible for us to transfer the noise and traffic problems of one area of the county to another community," Riley said.

Riley said he is not trying to defend "the mission of the Marine Corps" for the two bases because, he said, the corps can do a better job of that itself.

"But I am going to defend what I see to be the best interests of my constituency," Riley said.

Cosmetics

DEAR PAT: Since I'm allergic only to certain chemicals in cosmetics, I hesitate to limit myself entirely to those products made specifically for persons allergic to almost everything. Has anyone ever done a study or written anything that defines various ingredients listed on labels of creams and hygiene products?

A.L., Costa Mesa

Check your bookstore for a copy of "A Consumer's Dictionary of Cosmetic Ingredients," by Ruth Winter (Crown Publishers, Inc.). Available in hard cover or paperback, this book tells anything you'd ever care to know about cosmetic and health care ingredients.

License Policy

DEAR PAT: I moved here recently from England. When I applied for my California driver's license, I was told I had to turn in my foreign license. I would like to keep my English license. Is there any way I can get it back?

R.J., Santa Ana Hgts.

No California driver's license can be issued to an out-of-state or foreign country license holder until the previously valid license is surrendered to the California Department of Motor Vehicles. If the license was issued by one of the 49 other states or by a Canadian province, it will be returned to the appropriate licensing authority. If the license was issued by a foreign country (other than Canada) — as in your case — it will be returned to you stamped "Not Valid in California."

Blanket Business

DEAR PAT: The enclosed correspondence relates to my attempt to secure electric blanket control repair through General Electric authorized service. Since servicing is no longer available, could you advise me of a local repair service able to handle the job?

B.H., Laguna Beach

Klass Radios & Appliances, 241 Forest Ave., Laguna Beach, has control parts available. If the problem is due to wiring, you may be out of luck. Klass' owner said that G.E. blankets have unusual wiring connections — almost impossible to repair. As you know from correspondence with General Electric's regional service manager, C.G. Benson, G.E. ceased manufacturing automatic blankets about eight years ago. Prior to that time, both warranty and nonwarranty repairs were handled with replacement blankets, with a service exchange charge added for no-warranty blankets. G.E. servicenters and authorized service stations will allow a customer to keep the blanket and turn in the control only to obtain a reduced exchange price on any small G.E. appliance. If Klass can't repair your blanket, this firm will offer to purchase it from you for $1. The blanket then will be donated to needy American Indians.

More for Less?

DEAR PAT: Many years ago I managed a company-owned service station for Standard Oil. Tetra-ethyl then was added to gasoline to improve engine performance. It seemed logical that an extra few cents per gallon were charged for this additive. Now we pay more for lead free gasoline, and this does not seem reasonable to me.

J.S., Costa Mesa

Standard Oil spokesman Don Neilsen explained that you are paying for synthetic additives put into unleaded gasoline to increase its octane rating and improve high compression engine performance. Noting that government regulations require unleaded gas be made available for 1975 cars, Neilsen added that synthetic additives are expensive to manufacture, but they are necessary because today's car engines cannot operate effectively on unblended fuel.

Patty in Pennsylvania?

Scranton 'Hideout' Probed

UPI Telephoto
IN PENNSYLVANIA? Fugitive Patty Hearst

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — U.S. Attorney John Cottone confirmed today that a federal grand jury was investigating the likelihood that "a person or persons" illegally hid fugitive newspaper heiress Patty Hearst in northeastern Pennsylvania last summer.

One newspaper said indictments likely would reveal that Miss Hearst hid out in the Scranton area several months ago. Willie Wolfe, whom Miss Hearst said she loved prior to his death last year in a police shootout in Los Angeles, was from the Allentown, Pa., area — about 60 miles south of Scranton.

In San Francisco, Randolph A. Hearst said he was told by the FBI several weeks ago that it was believed his daughter spent last summer on a Pennsylvania farm, but that the trail was now "cold." Hearst said he also was told by the FBI, "They don't know where she is now."

"The grand jury is sitting and one of its investigations involves the Hearst case," Cottone said today. "That's all I can say at this point."

FBI and U.S. Treasury agents, carrying briefcases and files, visited Cottone's office as the 23 grand jurors were sequestered in a small room on the 10th floor in the Federal Building here.

The grand jury room was cordoned off and newsmen who tried to enter Cottone's office were threatened with arrest.

The Harrisburg Patriot said this morning that indictments involving the Hearst case would be handed down later today.

It said the sources could not say whether the indictments also might involve the harboring of William and Emily Harris, Miss Hearst's companions in the Symbionese Liberation Army.

The Scranton Tribune reported today that the grand jury here would be asked to "consider" such an indictment. A similar report was carried in the San Francisco Chronicle.

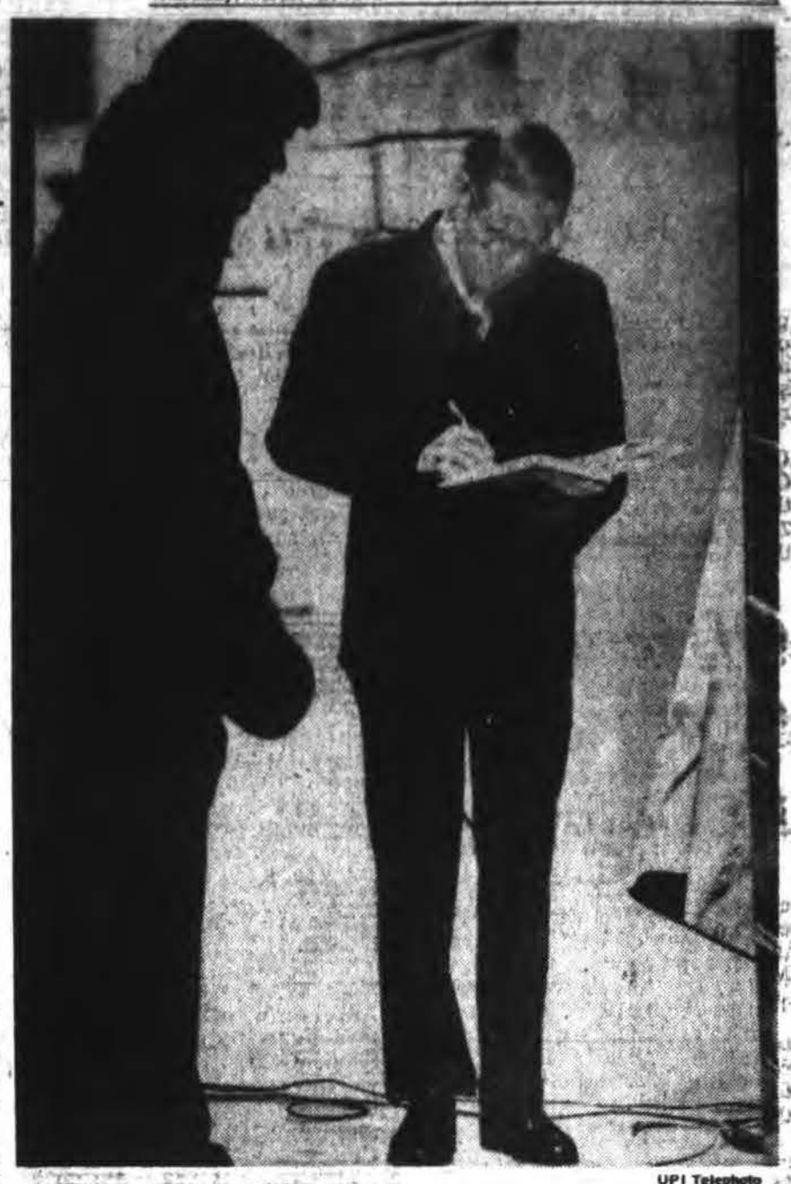

The Tribune said Miss Hearst had been seen in the Scranton-Wilkes-Barre area this year but, according to its sources, was no longer in the vicinity.

The Chronicle said a federal investigative source in Washington described the hunt for Miss Hearst and Bill and Emily Harris as "pretty hot right now."

"We're talking to people who may have played a role in their concealment," he said.

The unidentified federal official said five or six persons in Pennsylvania and on the West Coast are under investigation and have been subpoenaed to testify.

Miss Hearst was kidnaped Feb. 4, 1974, from her apartment in Berkeley and later became an avowed member of the SLA. She is wanted by the FBI in connection with a San Francisco bank robbery in April, 1974.

'Wonder Car' Will Go on Auction Block

DALLAS (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service has set the sale of the prototype of what was billed as a low-mileage, three-wheeled wonder car for March 28.

Proceeds from the public auction will be used to reduce the $44,719 debt owed by Twentieth Century Motor Car Corp. in employes withholding tax, an IRS spokesman said.

The car, the "Revette," was seized by the IRS Wednesday from a warehouse in Northwest Dallas. The president of Twentieth Century, G. Elizabeth Carmichael, left the car behind when she fled ahead of arresting officers last month.

She is the only one of six California residents who has not surrendered to police on charges of conspiring to commit theft by selling dealerships and options for production of the car when financing and parts did not exist.

Angels Seized In Truck Theft

SAN DIEGO (AP) — At least three members of the Hell's Angels motorcycle club took part in a ring which sold stolen pickup trucks and campers, Dist. Atty. Ed Miller says.

The three were identified as Raymond Grant Penwarden, 30, vice president of the club's San Diego chapter, and William Wayne Hughes, 24, both of San Diego, and Joseph William Daggett, 23, of El Cajon, all charged with grand theft.

Miller said two other Hell's Angels were sought. He said six late-model pickups worth $30,000 were stolen and sold to undercover officers.

Senate Panel OKs Malpractice Bills

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California's doctors would be guaranteed the right to buy malpractice insurance for the rest of this year under measures approved by a Senate committee.

The measures would set up a variation of an "assigned risk" insurance pool in which all liability insurers in the state would share the financial burden of insuring the state's doctors.

"This is a device to establish a guarantee that malpractice insurance will be available for the rest of the year," said state Sen. Dennis Carpenter (R-Newport Beach), author of one of the bills.

Sen. Peter Behr, the chairman of the Senate Insurance and Financial Institutions Committee and author of the second bill, said the measures are needed because of a crisis in the malpractice field.

"It's important to move these bills along even though they aren't in perfect shape because we face a crisis," the Tiburon Republican said at the hearing.

Both bills were approved Wednesday by Behr's committee by identical 6-0 votes.

Small Businesses' Big Need — Money

By FREDERICK SCHOEMEHL
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

There's no room in today's depressed economy for small business operators that are undercapitalized, incompetent or out of touch with the financial pulse of their operations.

That's what members of the Capistrano Beach Chamber of Commerce were told Wednesday by Charles Neal, investment counselor, author and San Juan Capistrano city treasurer.

Neal's talk was entitled, "How the Small Businessman Can Survive the Recession."

In good economic times or bad, small businessmen must have adequate capital, Neal said.

He said that it was his experience that most small businesses fail because the owners tried to string them along "on a few hundred or a few thousand dollars."

"How much you need depends on the kind of business it is," Neal said. He suggested business owners that need capital should look first to sources such as friends, relatives and employes. Next, he suggested debenture time loans.

"The second biggest problem is competence," Neal said. "Go back to school, if you need to. Learn what you need to know. The most profitable thing you can do is compare your operation with others of the same type. Find out what works for them."

Record-keeping, Neal said, also is important. "Each month, you should have a P and L (Profit and Loss) statement — assets and liabilities, profits and losses," he said. "You may want to have a daily record, so you really can keep on top of things."

"How much is your total payroll?" Neal asked rhetorically. If it exceeds 60 percent of net profits for a retail sales business, there's something wrong, he said.

Owners who are "milking" profits from their businesses soon will hit the road to bankruptcy, Neal warned.

Other tips he gave to small business owners included:

— Hiring of bill collectors to go after past due accounts.

— Reducing the work force as much as possible.

— Watching advertising costs.

— Negotiating with creditors if times really get tough.

"Newspapers, radio and television cannot create a recession. Nor can you talk your way out of it," Neal said. "If you blithely go on saying 'I don't want to hear about it' you'll eventually pay."

Junk Crisis In County?

CLUTTER CLATTER: Comes now our august Orange County Grand Jury which, after some pondering, has issued forth the recommendation that we all stop throwing away beer cans and pop bottles.

All this time you thought the Grand Jury was doing something else, didn't you?

You calculated they were gathered there in the back room, brows furrowed, preparing to indict some master criminal who had just fleeced a Leisure World widow out of half a million in stocks and bonds.

Or, the jurors were skulking about the halls of government, unearthing evidence of malfeasance, goldbricking, bungling, goofing off or outright hanky-panky.

INSTEAD OF ALL this glamorous stuff, we learn through news reports that our grand Grand Jury is concerned about old bottles and cans.

Now don't make fun of our hard-working jurors for this. Junk is a serious matter.

The Grand Jury was actually probing the problem of our county's land-fill type dump sites. In polite language, these places such as those located in Irvine or San Juan are called disposal areas.

Our jury determined that even at the present rate of dumping, our land-fill sites should last another 25 or 30 years. To conserve the dumping space, however, the jurors decreed that Orange County ought to ban non-returnable containers.

THIS MIGHT WORK pretty well with bottles. Cans may be another matter. If you ban throwaway beer cans, for example, the suds industry might protest discrimination in favor of the bean people.

Few have ever had the notion of forcing the bean people to put up their product in a returnable can.

Anyway, there is a simple solution for the whole non-returnable problem. More people should be like me.

FOR EXAMPLE, I collect old mayonnaise jars. They are wonderful. I carefully take the empty jar, wash it out, scrape off the label, polish it with the dishcloth and tuck it safely away on a shelf. I know they are going to be very valuable for something someday.

I have also saved a lot of old peanut butter jars. They will be very handy for something someday that's a bit bigger than a mayonnaise jar.

Also, I often sit pondering beer or pop cans. They are beautifully engineered and should be good for something even after being drained. Once at an art show I saw a bunch of them welded together into a chair. But it didn't look very comfortable.

AH, FOLKS, there's a fortune waiting out there for me once I invent the way to use all these old cans and mayonnaise jars.

Meanwhile, I don't know what to do because, frankly, the house is beginning to fill up.

Maybe I ought to make a trip to the dump.

With Sadat

Kissinger Tells Steady Progress

ASWAN, Egypt (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, taking time out for a morning sightseeing tour, said today his talks with President Anwar Sadat on a new Egyptian-Israeli agreement were making slow but steady progress.

Reporters asked Kissinger if the latest round of talks at this Nile winter resort were moving ahead. "Definitely," he replied.

He said he would be able to tell how much progress was being made next week after another shuttle between Israel and Egypt.

"We are going ahead slowly," he said.

IT WAS LEARNED that American officials believe Israel's withdrawal from the Sinai, if there is an agreement, will have to come in phases to allow the Israelis to build a new defense line behind the Mitla and Gidi passes in the desert.

This has not yet come up in the negotiations, it was learned, because first there must be an agreement before the two countries discuss how to carry it out.

Kissinger is still in the stage of carrying ideas, which are not formal diplomatic proposals back and forth between the two countries, trying to get agreement.

The semiofficial Cairo newspaper Al Ahram said today Egypt would press for setting a definite date for resumption of the Geneva Arab-Israeli peace conference as at least a part of Kissinger's current negotiations.

"EGYPT IS of the opinion that it is necessary to fix the date for the holding of the Geneva Conference" and that setting the date is linked to an agreement with Israel, the paper said.

During last month's Middle East tour by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, both Syria and the Soviet Union called for immediate resumption of the conference. Egypt suggested a later resumption, after Kissinger had a chance to mediate.

A key issue in the talks still appeared to be an Israeli demand for a formal pledge from Egypt to end the state of war as a price for further Israeli troop withdrawals from the Sinai oil fields and passes.

But U.S. officials here denied as unfounded reports from some quarters that Kissinger had proposed, as a way of settling the issue, a joint Egyptian-Israeli affirmation that neighboring countries not settle their differences by acts of war.

5 Hamlets Fall In Mekong Delta

From Wire Services

SAIGON — Communist troops extended their six-day offensive to the fertile Mekong Delta rice growing region today, overrunning five hamlets and putting three district capitals under heavy attack, the Saigon command said.

The new assaults expanded fighting to the length of South Vietnam. Previous Communist thrusts struck at a 400-mile line running north of Saigon, but not south of the capital.

Viet Cong saboteurs blew up a bus with a land mine near Tra On district capital, 60 miles southwest of Saigon, killing 18 civilians and wounding 20 others, a Saigon military spokesman said.

THE COMMAND said an Air Vietnam commercial flight was believed hit by enemy antiaircraft fire Wednesday near Pleiku in the central highlands, killing all 26 persons aboard, including three Americans.

In Saigon, the government ordered a nationwide mobilization, placing every man from the ages of 17 to 35 on military call to meet the Communist drive.

In the Mekong Delta, Communist troops overran five hamlets near Ba Tri district town, 47 miles southwest of Saigon, the command said.

Communist troops attacked but were repulsed and suffered 46 men killed in attacks on three district capitals — county seats — in Ba Xuyen Province, 100 miles south of Saigon, a command spokesman said.

IN PHNOM PENH, rebel gunners fired a rocket into an ammunition dump at Pochentong Airport today, setting off an explosion that forced a two-hour halt in the U.S. food, fuel and ammunition airlift to Cambodia's besieged capital.

An American spokesman said the rocket exploded in "a small ammunition storage area" at the airport and a series of explosions followed.

"I understand the flights resumed coming in about two hours later," the spokesman said.

Military sources meanwhile reported "limited progress" in the week-old government push to recapture Tuol Leap, a rebel artillery position five miles west of the airport.

Rules Okayed For Nixon Tape Access

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's tentative plan for providing public access to the tapes of the Nixon White House calls for some to be returned to the former president and others to be sealed, perhaps forever.

However, most of the 5,000 hours of recorded presidential conversations will be available, mainly to scholars and journalists, at an archives building near Washington, General Services Administrator Arthur F. Sampson said in an interview.

Film Writer Runs Afoul Of Law Again

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Norman Wexler, the award-winning screenwriter, has run afoul of the law — and women — again.

Wexler, 49, was pulled off a transcontinental airliner over the weekend after a stewardess claimed he bit her on the arm. He was ordered to remain here pending a March 21 hearing on charges of assault and interfering with a flight crew member.

Later, he told police that a coffee shop waitress doused him with coffee after he supposedly insulted her. Then he was summarily ejected from another coffee shop.

Tuesday, Wexler was arrested and jailed for investigation of disturbance after police said he directed a torrent of "filthy language and verbal abuse" at a receptionist for an escort service, who was lining up a date for the screenwriter, police said.

Ziegler Calls Off Lectures

From Wire Services

Former White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler has cancelled his campus lecture series on grounds he did not want to be on the "Watergate speaking circuit," Washington sources said.

The sources said Ziegler has written to the Colston Leigh Lecture Agency of New York, informing the firm that he was cancelling a schedule of campus appearances planned for spring.

There also were reports that former President Nixon was unhappy with Ziegler's intention to begin a lecture tour on which Watergate would obviously be the main focal point.

PEOPLE

Former heavyweight champion Gene Tunney was among the investors who spent $17 million on a California tax shelter program which has filed for reorganization under bankruptcy laws.

Other investors of Jasmin Groves Co., which owns 5,800 acres of citrus, nut and fruit trees in Kern and Tulare counties were economist Paul Samuelson of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Rep. Teno Roncalio, (D-Wyo.).

The Jasmin firm has debts of approximately $16.5 million for the land and $1 million in interest payments.

Last Hope Fulfilled

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Dr. William Bradway's office says it has been flooded with hundreds of calls from persons offering to take the three young children of Linda Hardy, a terminal cancer patient.

"I just can't believe the warmth and love of the people who've responded," said office manager Kay Flowers. "It brings back my faith in people."

The response was to news reports of Mrs. Hardy's final dream of finding "a good family to take my kids, to love them and keep them together."

California

A surprise storm moved in from the coast during the morning today, dropping light but steady rain throughout much of Southern California.

The National Weather Service, which predicted fair weather for the next few days, revised its forecast and said the clouds and scattered showers should remain at least through Friday.

More snow fell in the San Bernardino Mountains Wednesday and today, gladdening the hearts of ski enthusiasts. The snow level dropped to 5,000 feet in most ranges. Highs at resort levels rose into the upper 30s.

Deserts also were cloudy with scattered showers in most regions and gusty winds.

U.S. Summary

A measure of the violence of late-winter weather sweeping from Texas to the Blue Ridge Mountains was the foot-thick hailstone that slammed through a roof in Tennessee. Add to that thunderstorms, flash floods and tornadoes.

A thunderstorm Wednesday dumped the 12-inch hailstone through the roof of a Memphis, Tenn., home, one woman drowned when she drove her car into a rain-filled Tennessee ditch and at least 11 persons were injured by tornadoes and high winds that hit Tennessee, Mississippi and Alabama.

A tornado swooped down on an elementary school at Charleston, Miss., demolishing three portable classrooms. The twister struck minutes after 87 children and teachers — alerted by a tornado warning — moved into the hallway of the main school building. Six children suffered minor injuries.

"The miracle to tell is that nobody was hurt seriously," said Mrs. Sally Williams, principal of the school.

Mrs. Berene Lowery, a second grade teacher, said the sky blackened and rain started to fall as she conducted a reading class.

"All of a sudden the lights went out and things were hitting the windows, so I sent my children into the hallway," she said. "I thought it was all over — and suddenly the tornado hit.

Another twister destroyed a beauty salon at Tutwiler, Miss., injuring four women. All four were hospitalized.

Coastal Weather

Variable cloudiness today and mostly cloudy Friday.

Light variable winds morning hours becoming westerly 8 to 15 knots this afternoon.

Coastal temperatures will range between 46 and 58. Inland temperature will range between 46 and 60. The water temperature will be 56.

Gifted Students

State Program Hit On Cost, Criteria

SACRAMENTO (AP) — More than half the students in public school classes for gifted students in California were ineligible in 1973-74, Auditor General Harvey Rose says. He says that cost the state taxpayers $5 million too much.

State

Furthermore, he says, the students in the special classes are being taught such things as horseshoe pitching, tennis, gardening, knitting, guitar playing, folk dancing, cooking, woodworking, puppetry, juggling and birdwatching.

"Neither the legislature nor the superintendent has developed goals to be achieved or criteria to evaluate the effectiveness of the program," Rose said in a report Wednesday.

Welfare Cuts

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Fifteen counties face an unexpected loss of $2.7 million in welfare aid this month due to federal cutbacks, according to Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr.

Brown said the $8.8 million cutback for the first three months of this year stemmed from federal calculations of welfare payments to ineligible persons, both overpayments and underpayments.

The county cutbacks were based on the percentage of error in payments to welfare recipients, and San Francisco had the largest of any county in the state, Brown said.

Banowsky Probe

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Secret payment of $77,500 by Pepperdine University to its president, Dr. William Banowsky, have been a focal point of an investigation by the California attorney general.

For more than a year, the office of Atty. Gen. Evelle Younger — who is a Republican like Banowsky, a GOP national committeeman — has been probing the financial affairs of the private two-campus school.

Fog Warning

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Pickup trucks will be used in a project intended to reduce traffic accidents caused by dense fog, officials have announced.

Officials of the state Department of Transportation and the highway patrol said flashing signs would be mounted on the trucks to warn Riverside and other freeway motorists of speed advisories and traffic delays before they entered the fog.

Death Penalty

PASADENA (UPI) — Billy Jo Booker, 28, a transient from Lubbock, Tex., who was convicted of murdering a Monrovia woman and her daughter last week, Wednesday was formally sentenced to die in the California gas chamber.

Superior Court Judge Walter Evans imposed the sentence voted last Friday by a five-man, seven-woman jury.

Film Case

SAN BERNARDINO (AP) — Stephen F. Anderson, manager of the Ritz Pussycat Theater here, has been acquitted of charges of exhibiting obscene matter.

Anderson, exonerated Wednesday, had been charged in municipal court here in connection with the showing of a film called "Bordello," which depicted explicit sex acts.

Aerosol Can Ban Passes First Test

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A bill that critics say would prevent the use of aerosol air sprays and most spray-on deodorants in California has cleared its first legislative hurdle.

Supporters said the sprays could deplete the earth's protective layer of ozone and increase frequency of skin cancer.

The Senate Health and Welfare Committee voted 5-2 Wednesday for the bill by Sen. John Dunlap, (D-Napa.)

Dr. Harold S. Johnson, a University of California chemist, told the committee that if people keep using the sprays at the present rate, they will cause a reduction of global ozone and a consequent increase in ultraviolet radiation.

But bill opponents argued that Johnson's claim had not been proven and passage of the bill would only result in unemployment in the can and aerosol industry.

Raymond McCarthy, a spokesman for the E.I. duPont de Nemours & Co., said the bill would prevent the use of all aerosol air sprays and most spray-on deodorants in California.

Smog Program 'On'

Effort to Block '66-'70 Auto Law Fails

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Assembly Transportation Committee has blocked a last-ditch effort to wipe out a controversial auto smog control program throughout six Southern California counties.

A 7-8 committee vote Wednesday defeated a bill by Sen. Nate Holden that would have ended a requirement that all 1.8 million 1966-70 cars in Los Angeles, Orange, San Bernardino, Riverside, Ventura and Santa Barbara counties be equipped with a device to curb emissions of oxides of nitrogen (NOx).

THE DEVICE MUST BE installed on a staggered basis depending on the last digit of a motorist's license plate, and deadlines for vehicles with plates ending in digits one to six have already passed.

However, committee members voted 8-7 to hear a bill by Sen. Omer Rains (D-Ventura), that would continue the NOx program only in the smog-plagued South Coast Air Basin, eliminating it in northern Santa Barbara County, the eastern ends of San Bernardino and Riverside counties and the northeast corner of Los Angeles County.

Orange County was not included in the exemption plan.

Originally, Rains' bill was identical to Holden's measure. But that version was voted down by the transportation panel last month and Rains said he would amend the bill to affect only those areas outside the South Coast Basin.

Holden (D-Culver City), had held up his bill until Wednesday, hoping he could weaken committee support for the NOx program. And he refused to concede after the vote that the measure had been killed.

"THERE IS STILL A chance," he said. "There is some talk about getting a resolution passed on the floor pulling it out of committee."

Rains said he thought he had the votes to get his amended bill out of committee.

The NOx program has been a controversy in the legislature for years. Originally lawmakers passed legislation requiring installation of the devices on 1966-70 cars throughout the state.

But they amended that requirement last year, requiring mandatory installation only in the six-county area.

NOx devices must still be installed on 1966-70 cars throughout the state when they are sold or registered in California for the first time. The Holden bill would not affect that requirement.

Program critics argued that the devices hampered engine performance and increased gasoline consumption without making a serious dent in the smog problem.

Deceptive Impression

Congressman Andrew Hinshaw (R-Newport Beach) was a televison performer Monday night.

Along with Orange County's other three Congressmen, Hinshaw was a panelist on Channel 50's monthly report from Washington D.C.

Before taking to the airways, Hinshaw reportedly made it clear that a discussion ot the Orange County assessor's office scandal was off limits.

It's been an off-limits topic with the former county assessor since early last December when nine of his ex-aides were indicted by the county Grand Jury.

They are alleged to have been participants in a conspiracy that purportedly helped elect Hinshaw to Congress at least partially at taxpayer expense.

Repeated attempts to get Hinshaw's side of the story have been rebuffed by the congressman, who says his attorney has told him not to discuss the case.

Inasmuch as Hinshaw is mentioned in one of the illegal overt acts charged in the Grand Jury indictment, that's probably sound legal advice.

It still doesn't resolve what still is a burning issue in Hinshaw's district. The press releases issued from his office and the controlled TV interviews produce only a selective, one-way form of communication.

Gas Vapor Control

Gas station owners in Orange County have until September to come up with detailed plans for installation of expensive new air pollution control of their fuel pumps.

It is the first of four intermediate deadlines set by Orange County supervisors to bring all 3,800 gasoline outlets in the county into conformity with the new gas vapor recovery ordinance.

Under the law, station owners must install special systems on their pumping and transfer equipment to recover a minimum of 90 percent of all polluting fumes that normally escape into the air.

They have until July 1 of next year to conform, but in the meantime they must live up to the county-mandated schedule for preparation of plans, issuing of equipment purchase orders, construction start and construction completion.

The county's approach to enforcing the new law is eminently fair and gives no special consideration to any individuals. All must meet the same deadlines, thus preventing the otherwise predictable last-minute rush to conform to a new law.

Too Many Excused

Almost as soon as a new California voter is registered, a little card advising of potential call-up for jury duty appears in the mail. The voter is asked if he or she qualifies for any of a long list of exemptions.

The 17 categories for exemption from jury duty now cover ministers, physicians, lawyers and pharmacists, podiatrists and optometrists, teachers and telephone operators... and let's not forget keepers of public ferries and tollgates!

In practice, today's jury of one's "peers" most likely will be made up entirely of homemakers, the retired and the unemployed.

A bill recently introduced in Sacramento (AB 681) would elimate all 17 of the exempt categories and let the court decide if jury duty would indeed constitute a personal or public hardship.

It deserves support. To the citizen of a free country, the right to trial by jury is as important a privilege as the right to vote. And widespread participation in both these mainstays of democracy is essential to their preservation.

Snoring: No New Answers

SYDNEY HARRIS

As one of the leading snorers of the Western World, I was attracted to a magazine ad recently, advertising a new book: "Snoring: New Answers to an Old Problem," by a speech pathologist in Florida, who directs something called the "Sonorous Breathing Research Project."

After getting, and carefully reading through, the book, I am sorry to inform the nation's estimated 35 million snorers that there still is no more of a "cure" for this affliction than there is for the common cold.

THERE ARE any number of therapies and treatments and devices and theories on the subject, but most chronic snorers will still have to comfort themselves with the thought that their numbers have included such luminaries as Cato, the Emperor Otho, Lord Chesterfield, Beau Brummel, and at least 20 of the Presidents of the U.S.

"President Theodore Roosevelt," the author informs us, "once snored so loudly in a hospital that complaints were filed by almost every patient in the wing where he was recuperating." And Winston Churchill was a 35-decibel snorer, by the report of the naval officer who auditioned him on board a ship in 1944.

Actually, the term "snoring" is a catch-all, covering about as many diverse forms as "cancer" does in the realm of disease.

DR. BOULWARE, the author of this latest tome, lists six separate theories of snoring and its probable causes, and 11 classifications of snoring. Surprisingly little medical or physiological research has been done on the subject, and many conclusions contradict one another.

Almost everything has been tried, from surgery to hypnosis, and from psychotherapy to the most outlandish contraptions for closing the mouth and supporting the chin during sleep — but nothing works for everybody, and most things don't work for anybody.

Some people snore only when they lie on their backs, and a mere shift of position helps. Others snore only after partaking too freely of food and drink just before bedtime. Still others have septum deviations that can be corrected (but both the author and myself failed to be helped by this procedure).

THE PLAIN fact is that the "new answers" don't answer very much, and the old problem remains a problem to us 35 million noise polluters of the night's silence.

Dear Gloomy Gus

A judge gives a child back to a mother convicted of child abuse. The child is found beaten and burned to death. The same judge says he doesn't know how this could have been avoided. Too bad it wasn't up to a jury of lesser citizens!

Soviet Alternative to Stalin's Terror

Psychiatric 'Conditioning'

RICHARD WILSON

WASHINGTON — An American resident in Moscow once pointed out to me a low-lying set of buildings in the outskirts where some unusual experiments were reported to be going on. The American said that he understood monkeys habituated to tropical climates were kept in cages outdoors in Moscow's subzero winter. Survivors of this ordeal were said to have developed thick coats of hair and the idea was apparently to see if a strain of cold-conditioned monkeys could be developed.

This is the kind of story a traveller takes with a grain of salt.

Pavlov's experiments with the conditioned reflexes of dogs are a well-known part of the Russian scientific heritage which some have connected with the way the Soviet leadership produces desired responses in the Soviet people. That is a theory also deserving skeptical assessment.

A WHOLE literature, from Orwell through Kafka, has grown up around the ruthless conditioning, physical and psychological, of the free man in an authoritarian state. This has become a considerable factor in the relations between the United States and the Soviet Union, involving the emigration of Jews, freedom of dissent and the treatment of political prisoners.

That is why a new report of the Senate internal security subcommittee on the abuse of psychiatry for political repression in the Soviet Union has a bearing on detente.

The content of the report is shocking because it purports to show that the present regime has substituted for the Stalinist terror psychiatric incarceration and the use of drugs and psychiatric techniques on a "massive" scale to destroy the personalities of dissenters without actually killing them.

THIS NEWEST report is drawn largely from the investigations of a qualified Canadian psychiatrist, Dr. Norman B Hirt, who formerly was a senior resident in psychiatry at the Menninger Foundation Hospital in Topeka. The chief sources are psychiatrists and former political prisoners in the Soviet Union and reports in the underground press called samizdat.

In short, a new branch of psychiatry, separate from the legitimate practice, is said to have been developed by the KGB for the handling and silencing of political prisoners in ways that cast psychiatry back to the Middle Ages.

Dr. Hirt's mission is to get this practice internationally denounced, which the world psychiatric association has been timid about doing apparently out of consideration of the protests of the KGB psychiatrists themselves. Psychiatrists of the so-called free world have not been so reluctant, concerned as they are that the Soviet techniques not only give psychiatry a bad name but introduce practices which may be imitated in free countries for allegedly beneficial reasons. Hirt worries about the growing tendency to commit people in this country to institutions, "not necessarily because they're mentally ill, but simply because they do something someone else doesn't like."

THAT ISN'T the main point, though. The main point is the way the KGB has found to deal with political dissenters and other uncomfortable citizens without reestablishing Stalinist purges which outraged the world and made coexistence with Russia a political impossibility.

Cases are cited. Thousands are said to have been committed. Techniques and drugs are described in this "new and refined technology of terror." The chief perpetrator is identified as a certain Dr. Danill Lunts, who is so proud of his techniques that he wishes them to be known as "Luntsism," as were the medical experiments and tortures of the Nazis known as "Mengelism" after the Dr. Mengel who managed them.

A GREAT DEAL of this is probably neither fantasy nor exaggeration. The noted Soviet scientist, Andrei Sakharov, has taken his life in his hands to warn against these practices and others which isolate the Soviet Union from an outside world with which it wishes to co-exist on its own terms. KGB psychiatrists who have emigrated to Israel have told part of the story. The experiences of individual prisoners have been recorded.

Nothing of this kind conceivably could continue in the Soviet Union without the sanction of the Politburo and Leonid Brezhnev. World psychiatrists who wish to honor their profession and rescue it from the horror chamber are duty bound to raise the issue wherever their voices can be heard in the coming meetings of their associations, before the United Nations, and every forum where human decency has value.

The Multinationals

THE BOOKMAN

A penetrating view from the Left of the break in the continuum of American foreign policy that began with the Truman Doctrine and ended with the Johnson administration is provided by America After Nixon by Robert Scheer (McGraw-Hill Paperback, $3.95).

As the author notes in a Preface, "It is the essential thesis of this book that the public political process no longer rules this nation, that current political debate does not deal with what is most important, and that the basic decisions about our future are made for us by several hundred super-large multinational corporations, themselves out of control."

EDITOR of Ramparts magazine from 1965 to 1969 and author of How the U.S. Got Involved in Vietnam and co-author of Cuba: Tragedy in Our Hemisphere, Scheer offers a highly readable book which is clear, concise, written from a very specific point of view, with a great deal of polemical bite.

"The separation of a domestic from a foreign policy is the first act in the disenfranchisement of the American public," he writes. ". . .The American economy is now so hopelessly entwined with the world economy and so fully under the domination of its largest multinational corporations that any attempt to discuss our outstanding problems (be they inflation, waste, unemployment, or cultural alienation) without primary reference to the role of these corporations, is an act of deception."

VICTOR DE KEYSERLING

Poison Pills for Castro Didn't Work

JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Press accounts have identified Cuba's Fidel Castro as the target of an unsuccessful CIA assassination plot.

The headlines couldn't have come at a worse time for Secretary of State Henry Kissinger. He is in the thick of "most delicate negotiations," according to our White House sources, to restore some kind of diplomatic relationship with Cuba.

Actually, we reported as far back as Jan. 18, 1971, that the CIA had arranged six assassination attempts against Castro in the early 1960s. Now that the story has been revived, it might be useful to recount the details.

THE PLOT began as part of the discredited Bay of Pigs operation. The strategy was to eliminate the Cuban leader before the CIA invasion force landed on the island. Without the charismatic Castro, it was thought, the defenders would become demoralized and disorganized.

To carry out the assassination, the CIA selected an underworld figure who could be disowned. He was hawk-faced John Roselli, identified in confidential FBI files as "a top Mafia figure" who watched over "the concealed interests in Las Vegas casinos of the Chicago underworld."

Roselli's CIA contacts were William Harvey and James O'Connell, who accompanied him on hush-hush trips to Miami to line up the assassination teams. No one else was told, however, of the CIA's role in the murder mission.

Roselli represented himself as an oil man seeking revenge against Castro for his seizure of oil holdings. The assassination weapons were also carefully selected from foreign makes, mostly Belgian, to prevent any link to the United States.

EACH ATTEMPT to kill Castro was meticulously planned, like an episode from the TV drama, "Mission: Impossible!" For the first try, the CIA furnished Roselli with special poison capsules to slip into Castro's food.

The poison was supposed to take three days to act. By the time Castro died, his system would throw off all traces of the poison, so he would appear to be the victim of a natural if mysterious ailment.

Roselli arranged with a Cuban, related to one of Castro's chefs, to plant the deadly pellets in the dictator's food. On March 13, 1961, Roselli delivered the capsules to his contact at Miami Beach's glamorous Fontainebleau Hotel.

A couple weeks later, just about the right time for the plot to have been carried out, a report out of Havana said Castro was ill. But he recovered in time to rout the Bay of Pigs invasion on April 17, 1961.

ALTHOUGH both the murder plot and the invasion failed, the CIA continued trying to get rid of Castro. The Cuban who had sneaked the poison into Havana was never seen again. Therefore, the CIA, unsure whether the plotters had failed or the poison hadn't been strong enough, decided to try again with a more powerful dose.

Roselli arranged for triple-strength capsules to be slipped into Castro's food several weeks after the Bay of Pigs. But once again, the plot failed and the conspirators disappeared.

Four more attempts were made on Castro's life, thereafter using assassination teams equipped with high-powered rifles, explosives and two-way radios. Roselli personally made midnight powerboat dashes to deliver the teams at secret landing spots on the Cuban coast. Once Roselli's boat was shot out from under him, but the occupants were quickly fished out of the murky water by companions in an accompanying boat.

THE ASSASSINATION teams never got a shot at Castro, although the CIA learned that the last group reached a rooftop within range. This occurred around the last of February or first of March 1963.

Nine months later, President Kennedy was gunned down in Dallas by Lee Harvey Oswald, a fanatic who had been active in the pro-Castro movement and had paid a mysterious call upon the Cuban embassy in Mexico City a few weeks before the dreadful day in Dallas.

Sources familiar with the CIA conspiracy can't shake a nagging suspicion — unsupported by the Warren Commission's findings — that Castro may have become aware of the U.S. plot upon his life and, therefore, may have recruited Oswald to retaliate against President Kennedy.

SOME SOURCES believe this is why Robert Kennedy, tormented by grief, went into semi-seclusion after his brother's assassination. After the Bay of Pigs fiasco, President Kennedy had put Robert in charge of the CIA with instructions to shake it up. It is unlikely that the final attempts upon Castro could have been made without Robert's knowledge.

Could he have been plagued by the terrible thought that the CIA plot, which he must at least have condoned, put into motion forces that brought about his own brother's murder? The last surviving brother, Sen. Ted Kennedy, D.-Mass., told us his brothers had never spoken to him about any assassination attempts against Castro.

Footnote: Sources familiar with the secret review of the CIA's activities have now acknowledged that Castro, as we reported four years ago, was marked for assassination by the CIA. A CIA spokesman refused to comment.

Wife Had State Car—in Kansas

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Assemblyman Ken Meade has been ordered to bring his state-leased car back from Kansas and pay the state for the two months that his estranged wife had the car.

The Assembly Rules Committee issued the orders Wednesday a few hours after the Berkeley Democrat confirmed a newspaper account of his wife's use of the car.

THE STATE PAYS $225 of the $270 monthly lease bill to Hertz on the $6,000 1975-model Chevrolet Blazer.

McCARTHY

Assembly Speaker Leo McCarthy (D-San Francisco) said Meade's actions were "absurd" and "an outrage."

But McCarthy said Meade hasn't violated any rule for the use of automobiles provided for state legislators because it is the kind of conduct that nobody in the Legislature ever saw a need to write a rule about.

MEADE, WHO HAD a run-in with McCarthy last month because he refused to wear a coat and tie, said his staff got Assembly Rules Committee approval to let his wife take the state-leased car to Kansas on a temporary basis.

But no one on the rules committee was aware of it, said McCarthy.

Fred Taugher, chief administrative officer of the Assembly, said it was "absolutely not true" that Meade received an okay through Rules Committee staff members.

Taugher said Meade was given one week to get the car back to California or the lease will be canceled. He said Meade will also be billed for the time the car was out of state.

MEADE SAID HE and his wife, Sharon, filed for divorce last December. He said he felt she should have the larger car to drive east with the couple's two children so he kept their 1970 Fiat compact car.

"At the time Sharon and I split, we exchanged cars, and I asked my staff to check with the Rules Committee about the propriety of her going back there with the state-leased car. I was told it was fine as long as it was temporary and she didn't use the state gas and credit card.

MEADE

"HE'S BEEN TOLD he needed to return that car to California," Taugher said. "We are going to send him a bill for the prorated time that the car has been out of the state."

McCarthy said, "It's an outrage anyone would do that. Absurd judgment on the part of two or three or four legislators should not bring the entire Legislature into disrepute."

McCarthy said there was no written rule against a legislator allowing his state-leased car to leave the state, but added, "This is the kind of practice that is clearly understood as unacceptable so it wasn't necessary to state it to 79 other Assembly members."

OC Percentage Cut?

Whale-watching Controversy

By BILL SCHREIBER
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

SANTA ANA — Cut-rate "whale-watching" excursions for school children may be cancelled at Dana Point Harbor unless Orange County supervisors find a solution to some minor lease problems.

Supervisors were told Tuesday that the lessee on the harbor, Anchor Marine Inc., hasn't been giving the county its normal percentage of the whale-watching trip revenues.

H.G. "GEORGE" Osborne, Environmental Management Agency director, said Anchor Marine is holding back part of its regular payments on the excursion fees because it is not a specified use in the lease.

According to the lease, the county is to be paid five percent of all revenues earned on specific concessions.

Osborne said the lessee is chartering the whale-watching boats to school districts for $100 a day — about a tenth of the normal fishing charter price.

The schools then charge students $1 to go on the trip. Since the boats only carry 60 people, Osborne said the districts pick up the $40 difference.

Public whale-watching trips cost about twice as much, supervisors were told.

Osborne said the lessee figured the whale-watching is a public service and since its operating costs are barely covered by the cut-rate, the county has been given only two of its regular five percent.

Osborne told the board the lessee has threatened to cancel the whale-watching excursions altogether if the county demands its full percentage.

Series Missing

Check Fraud Case Probed

SANTA ANA — The Orange County District Attorney's office is investigating the possibility that at least 23 fraudulent county welfare checks are in circulation because of a printer's oversight.

County Auditor-Controller V.A. Heim said he turned the matter over to the DA Tuesday evening when one of the special auditor's warrants was cashed.

HEIM EXPLAINED the check, forged for $219.18, was one of a series that was listed by the printing company as mutilated beyond recognition.

"These checks were not included in the shipment to the county," Heim said.

The checks, which bear serial numbers in the upper left hand corner from 150801 to 150824 inclusive, were printed by the Standard Register Company of Porterville.

Heim said they were part of a shipment of welfare warrants sent to the county in October. He said there are usually 300,000 blank checks in one shipment and the county orders twice a year.

"WE ADVISED the District Attorney of this just a half hour after we discovered it," Heim said.

He said a cursory check of the county's books indicated no other discrepancies and the printing company is trying to track down the other 23 missing checks.

"THE AUTHENTIC checks we mail out bear an imprint of my signature in the lower left hand corner," he said. "The one we have found had no signature."

Marketing Company Selected

SANTA ANA — The Santa Ana marketing firm of Tram Associates has been chosen by Orange County Transit District directors to prepare a short-range district marketing plan.

Directors chose the company over three others bidding for the $15,000 contract. All were interviewed privately and the election was made at an executive session.

Mary Evelyn Bryden, district spokeswoman, said the plan is to be designed to provide directors with some ideas how to improve service over the short haul.

She said the plan will conform to recently approved district policies that call for a shift in district service away from the non-commuting rider and toward those who want to ride the bus to and from work.

Problems In Barrio Discussed

SANTA ANA — Problems of poverty, juvenile delinquency and unemployment in the Santa Anita barrio section of Santa Ana will be discussed at a public forum tonight at 7:30.

The session, sponsored by the Orange County Human Relations Commission, will take place at Santa Anita Park, 300 S. Figueroa St., in Santa Ana.

The commission's research into the inequality of municipal services, the lack of a community center and other issues regarding the area, will be aired.

Commission members will also discuss complaints of parents against the Santa Ana Unified School District involving discipline, student rights and other alleged inadequacies.

Benefit, Walkers Poised

SANTA ANA — Orange County's 20-mile walkathon for the March of Dimes takes place Saturday.

The 5th annual benefit event will have an estimated 15,000 persons covering the route through the roads and greenbelts of the City of Irvine.

The route begins and ends at the Harbor Municipal Court-Knoll Center at Jamboree Road and MacArthur Boulevard.

THOSE WHO can not participate in the 1975 superwalk are urged to become a sponsor. Sponsors pledge a contribution to the Orange County March of Dimes for every mile a selected hiker covers.

THE EVENT is co-spnsored by KEZY and disc jockeys and other sports and radio personalities are expected to participate in the hike.

2 New Paramedic Units in County

SANTA ANA — Two new Orange County Fire Department paramedic units will go into service Friday.

County Fire Chief, Carl Downs, said one unit will be assigned to Station 17 in Cypress and the other at Station 21 in the Tustin-Red Hill area.

THE CYPRESS PARAMEDICS will service the cities of La Palma, Cypress and Los Alamitos and the community of Rossmoor.

The Red Hill team will be responsible for the communities of Cowan Heights, Lemon Heights and Red Hill. It will also serve Tustin by virtue of a contract between the city and county, Downs said.

"The two units will be manned seven days a week, 24 hours a day with a minimum of two men on duty," Downs said, noting the men have completed 1,000 hours of training.

The two new teams mark a further expansion of the county paramedic program, which eventually will put a special unit within five minutes of anyone in the county.

BESIDES NORMAL FIRST aid, the paramedics are equipped and trained to administer intravenous solutions, pump stomachs, administer injections, perform emergency childbirth and other emergency care.

Request Denied

Supervisors Vote Out Billboard

SANTA ANA — A request to erect the first billboard along Bristol Street in Santa Ana Heights Wednesday was flatly rejected by Orange County supervisors.

The only dissenting vote on the matter was Supervisor Laurence Schmit, who said such a decision is in basic conflict with free enterprise.

THE BOARD action was to deny an appeal by Ryan Outdoor Advertising to put up a 672 square-foot billboard on a lot between Spruce Avenue and Cypress Street along Bristol.

The county planning commission had revised Ryan's request down to a 150-square-foot sign but the company said that wasn't satisfactory.

Dennis Catron, representing the billboard firm, said the sign was requested shortly after the county ordered Ryan to tear down two others, one in Dana Point and one in the Sunset Beach area.

HE SAID IT would be the first of many such sign requests in the area and that threat had to be averted.

"We have tried to cooperate and wanted this sign to regain at least part of our market," Catron explained.

PROPERTY OWNER George DeVries told supervisors his survey of the area residents and property owners showed 90 percent wouldn't be opposed to such a sign.

Supervisors were told the area voted recently to apply a special "architectural control" zoning to commercial land in the vicinity to prevent runaway construction by requiring prior approval.

DeVries said he thinks the vote has backfired because it restricts the very people who asked for it.

Santa Ana College Talk

Film Clips of Dean Okayed

SANTA ANA — A controversy over radio and television coverage of Watergate figure John Dean's Santa Ana College speech Saturday has been settled by Dean's agent.

Reversing an earlier decision to allow no television cameras during the speech, Dean's agent Wednesday telegraphed permission for television coverage — but at no time should continuous bright movie or TV lights be used.

"IT MEANS THE television crews can make film clips for use later as news segments but no live coverage and only partial filming is allowed," says Stewart Case, director of community services at Santa Ana College.

Case earlier said that all broadcast media would be banned from the speech. Case then said Dean's contract specifies that "radio, television or videotaping broadcast" are not permitted.

Under fire from KWIZ News Director Pat Michaels, the college later amended that decision to allowing radio and television reporters into the lecture. However, television lights and cameras would not have been allowed.

Dean's agent modified this decision so that television news clips can now be allowed. The radio stations may record segments but they cannot record or broadcast the entire speech, Case added.

STATION KWIZ'S Michaels' positions was: "As long as public funds are involved it should be open to all media."

Rain Prompts Capo Repairs

SANTA ANA — The Orange County Road Department has been given authority to spend at least $30,000 to repair drainage culverts washed out in a mudslide across Pacific Coast Highway in Capistrano Beach this week.

"The two culverts adjacent to the highway were destroyed during the heavy rainstorm Monday, resulting in the deposit of substantial quantities of silt, rock and debris across all lanes, forcing a temporary closure," said Road Commissioner Ted McConville.

McConville told the county board of supervisors he needed immediate authority to conduct repairs on the two culverts, located just upcoast from the junction of Coast Highway and Camino Capistrano.

Irvine TV Tour Seen

Views of farming and cattle operations of the Irvine Company will be aired Saturday on the "Agriculture-USA" television series.

The 30-minute program will be broadcast on KNBC, Channel 4, at 3 p.m.

Lee Cooley, California author and historian, also appears on the program, which includes interviews with Irvine Company agricultural personnel, and a bird's-eye view — via helicopter — of the division's orchard, row crop and livestock operations.

Court to Rule

Snake Handling OK?

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — It's up to the Tennessee Supreme Court to decide whether snake handling will be allowed in worship services at a small Cocke County church.

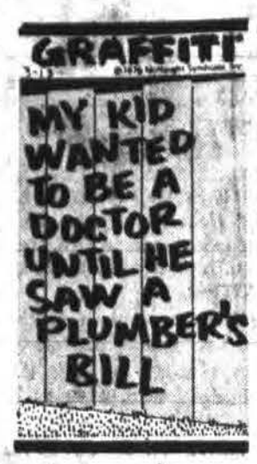

The state Court of Appeals ruled in October the Carson Springs Holiness Church of God in Jesus Name could make use of snake handling in services if there was no threat to the audience.

THE SUPREME COURT has agreed to hear arguments in May on a state appeal of the owe cision.

The appellate court on an appeal of a Cocke County Circuit Court ruling which barred the handling of poisonous snakes in church services.

THE TENNESSEE branch of the American Civil Liberties Union helped the Rev. Liston Pack, pastor of the church, and Alfred Ball, a church leader, appeal the ruling.

The case has been fought on and off in the courts since 1973, when two members of the church, one of them a brother of the church's pastor, died of drinking strychnine during a Saturday night worship service.

A Fat Cat

Inheritance Okayed

SAN JOSE (UPI) — Kat, a fluffy brown and white cat, inherited Robert Weiss' estate after all — and is assured of his favorite diet of shellfish and chopped liver.

Santa Clara County Superior Court Judge John Longinotti ruled Weiss' $8,000 estate could be left to the animal as long as a trust was set up to handle the money.

Weiss made Kat the beneficiary in a handwritten will. But legal experts feared Weiss was wrong in trying to leave money directly to Kat. They had said the law barred the leaving of money to animals.

Longinotti said Weiss probably intended a trust be established, freeing the money for Kat's upkeep.

Wealthy Held

Arrests Told In Portugal

LISBON (UPI) — The arrests of dozens of suspects in Tuesday's abortive coup and a purge of the country's top businessmen and landowners sent hundreds of Portuguese into hiding today in an effort to escape similar fates.

Government officials said many could be fleeing for the border and urged the public to be vigilant.

Armed civilians set up roadblocks on the highways and searched cars. Many were armed with a list of license numbers prepared by a communist group.

IN SHORT

Strip Mining

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate's overwhelming passage of a coal strip mining bill similar to one vetoed last year should discourage President Ford from considering a second veto, says a key sponsor.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.), noted that Wednesday's 84-13 vote was substantially more than the two-thirds majority needed to override another veto.

FDA 'Lax'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration has been so lax in regulating heart pacemakers it was unaware of many of the 23,000 pacemaker recalls in the past three years, according to congressional investigators.

The General Accounting Office said Wednesday the result has been defective pacemakers are not always removed promptly from the market.

FBI Capture

EAST GREENWICH, R.I. (UPI) — Acting on a tip, police arrested Cameron David Bishop, one of the FBI's 10 most wanted fugitives, while he was sitting in a car containing 16 weapons Wednesday in a doughnut shop parking lot.

Bishop, 32, had been sought since April, 1969, for the dynamite bombing of four transmission line towers in Colorado which supplied power to defense plants. He and a companion, Raymond Lavasseur, 28, of Portland, Maine, were arrested and charged with conspiracy and possession of three rifles, four sawed-off shotguns and nine handguns, police said.

Airport Gripes

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — The International Airline Pilots Association today listed 11 international airports, including Los Angeles and Anchorage, Alaska, as "critically deficient."

Draft Lottery: Dec. 8 First

WASHINGTON (AP) — No. 1 in the annual stand-by draft lottery was assigned Wednesday to men born Dec. 8, 1956. No. 2 was drawn for those with June 19 birthdays and No. 3 assigned to those born March 22.

The men born in 1956 were given numbers in case they have to be called if the military draft is resumed. The men will be in the first group for possible callup next year. Then, each year after that, they will fall into a lower priority until they are no longer liable for the draft, normally at age 26.

Cabinets Must Be Defined

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission has ordered the makers of radio and television sets to tell consumers in plain English what the cabinets are made of.

Fancy names that imply wood when the cabinet really is plastic will be outlawed under the regulation.

Labels and advertising will have to say what the cabinet is made of — such as "plastic" or "vinyl" — or must state what it is not, for example: "simulated wood" or "imitation wood grain."

"Terms such as 'molded components,' 'walnut plastic' or 'carved effect' will not suffice to disclose that exposed surfaces are plastic or that they are not wood," the regulation states.

The rule, which goes into effect in June, is similar to one put out earlier for the furniture industry.

Consultants

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Attorney Nancy Salzman and former legislative aide Rudolf Nothenberg have been appointed special consultants to the new Fair Political Practices Commission.

3 Restaurants Named in Suit

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Three Los Angeles area restaurants have been accused of serving customers less desirable meat and fish than described on the menu.

Named in the civil suits filed in Superior Court by the district attorney's office were Kelley's Prime Steaks, Los Angeles, Ted's Rancho Restaurant, Malibu, and Kings Arms Steak House, Burbank.

ACCORDING TO Judith Gelfand, a deputy district attorney, the suits were the result of an investigation by prosecutors and the county Health Department.

However, stipulated judgments — agreed to without trial — signed by Superior Court Commissioner Lee Ragins immediately ended the suits against Ted's and Kings Arms.

Pending was the suit against Kelley's Enterprises Inc., operating the Kelley's Prime Steaks chain.

SOUGHT ARE an injunction to prevent false advertising, $2,500 civil penalties for each wrong claim in the past and a $1,000 civil penalty for falsely describing salable food in violation of the health and safety code.

Prosecutors claimed the chain served "choice" grades of beef rather than "prime" as suggested in the menus and name of the restaurants.

Volumes Going To Jail

CHICAGO (UPI) — A bookstore operator will donate 3,000 books to the Cook County jail — but the volumes won't be coming from his stock.

Harold Rubin, owner of Weird Harold's Adult Bookstore was fined $1,200 on charges of selling a pornographic magazine to a police investigator.

A JUDGE also ordered him to donate 3,000 pocketbooks — wholesome ones — to the county jail.

Rubin, 35, pleaded guilty to the charge.

After the court appearance, Rubin said he would be glad to donate the books.

"THERE ARE those that are less fortunate than myself. I feel that I have a certain duty owed to them," he said.

Rubin said he would donate the books in lots of 1,000 at six-month intervals beginning April 15.

Laguna Celloist Selected

Charles Curtis, 14, of Laguna Beach, has won first place in instrumental competition at Cal State - Long Beach and will be featured in a concert recital tonight in Long Beach.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. David Curtis, the musician is a freshman at Corona del Mar High School.

Curtis, who studies the cello, has already won a number of awards for his chamber music performances and is studying under a full scholarship at the USC School of Performing Arts

Good Friday Hours Illegal

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI — It is unconstitutional to close state offices from noon to 3 p.m. on Good Friday, the California Court of Appeal has ruled.

The San Francisco division of the court said Wednesday that providing the hours of state time for "worship" constituted "excessive government entanglement with religion."

THE RULING LIFTED A STAY by the appellate court of a 1973 Alameda County Superior Court order and therefore becomes effective immediately. It will apply to 1975's Good Friday observance on March 28.

The court also upheld a Superior Court award of $25,000 in attorney fees to Shelley Mandel, a state employe who challenged the practice and brought the suit.

MISS MANDEL WENT TO court seeking to prohibit the governor from proclaiming the Good Friday hours and to stop the state controller from paying employes for this time unless it was taken as vacation.

Two state statutes were involved, one of which lists state holidays and includes the three hours on Good Friday. The other statute specifies holidays but does not mention Good Friday.

As a result, the governor usually "proclaims" a holiday from noon to 3 p.m. on Good Friday.

In her suit Miss Mandel sought an order to restrain the governor from issuing the usual Good Friday proclamation, contending that it violated the First Amendment separation of church and state.

Event Set By Artist

Charges Filed Over Animals

SAN RAFAEL (UPI) — Shirley Nelson's menagerie isn't up to snuff, according to authorities who issued three cruelty to animals citations against her.

UPI Telephoto

Seeks Inquiry

Michael F. Brozek, president of Wisconsin Young Democrats, says he has spent better part of two years trying to get Congress to reopen investigation of assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Miss Nelson, 29, leases a house and outbuildings on a 2,000-acre ranch west of Novato. Living there with her are a wolf, a badger, seven raccoons, a lynx, a jaguar, several other wild cats, three collies, a Doberman Pinscher and an Irish wolfhound.

SATURDAY NIGHT, sheriff's deputies raided the ranch and confiscated the collies, the wolf and two cats. On Tuesday, the district attorney's office filed the charges, allegedly because the confiscated animals were kept on chains too tight or in pens too small.

In addition, said Marin Humane Society Director Robert Dollahite, animals were inadequately fed and kept in filthy quarters.

BUT MISS Nelson doesn't agree. She said all the animals were born in captivity and she takes good care of them.

"They're all chubby and they're all compatible and they eat better than most people," she said.

Support Grows for Dream at Fairview

By ARTHUR R. VINSEL
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Community support is growing for the molehill growing into a mountain to become known as Mount Shannon on the grounds of Fairview State Hospital in Costa Mesa.

A progress report on the project which grew out of a dedicated woman's dream has led to more response to the campaign to build the mountain out of what is literally a half-acre of molehills.

Jackie Shannon, a recreational therapist at the hospital for the mentally retarded and physically handicapped, came up with the idea a few months ago.

She never would have suggested the title Mount Shannon herself and seems embarrassed by the fact others say it would be a fitting name.

Jackie Shannon's mountain, as planned, will be the center of a 2.5-acre wilderness campground southwest of the main hospital building on state land which does little but grow wild turnips and wild mustard.

The rustic campground would be used by the hospital's several Boy Scout and Girl Scout troops she heads, plus other handicapped clients who can fit into such an overnight-outside trip.

A number have been on camping trips over the years, but some cannot take long excursions due to the care they require. And state budgeting leaves little extra money for gasoline.

The Fairview campground could change the situation and the bulk of the hill would hide the hospital grounds, making many forget they aren't really out in the country.

A lot of work goes into helping shape a wilderness in the heart of a city of nearly 75,000.

Jackie Shannon, a gourmet cook in her own right and onetime aspiring circus trapeze artist, paused while fixing a spaghetti feed for a group of patients, to tell how she tackled that task.

She said two bulldozers have been offered for use in bulldozing that mountain up to proper height from a clump of clay and gravel donated and dumped by trucks.

One woman sent $2 to help buy trees or shrubbery for the campground and mountain, which OCC instructor Antony Sirianni volunteered to landscape complete with babbling creek.

A woman who is an invalid and shut-in herself volunteered to start a $2 membership club to help finance the camp and park.

Still another who read of the project called Fairview Hospital on Jackie Shannon's day off and then left the telephone number of what was described as a four-foot redwood tree in search of a home.

Many clients, or patients, can expect to spend their lives at Fairview and the Mount Shannon campground could brighten it for those who cannot live outside independently.

Their friend Jackie Shannon also lives in a state apartment on the grounds at 2501 Harbor Blvd., after selling her Costa Mesa home prior to a transfer to a northern state hospital, which fell through due to a lack of funds that eliminated its country farm program.

She was up to her elbows in spaghetti and sauce for the kids on one of the wards where she works Tuesday, but still found time to wander out to what will hopefully — by summer — be Fairview Campground, crowned by Mount Shannon.

She has decided against moving from the Orange Coast.

"I've decided I'm going to stay here," she confessed.

Survival Precedes Equality

Liberation Needed in Third World

By JO OLSON
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

In Southern India, there was a young woman with two children, one male and one female. The little girl was starving to death, while her brother was healthy and well-fed.

When asked at a health clinic about the discrepancy, she said there was not enough food and rather than split it, she chose to feed her prized male child.

"This is not an unusual situation in India," said Stefanie Ross, director of youth activities and special projects for the U. S. Committee from UNICEF.

"Ten times as many female babies die as male. And this is not limited to India."

Miss Ross, keynoting the first Orange County program for International Women's Year in the Forum Theater at the Laguna Festival of Arts Grounds, discussed the significance of the year-long focus on third world women.

She emphasized that women's liberation means something entirely different to inhabitants of the western world than those in developing countries.

"There, women's liberation means survival, trying to live past 35 and trying to stand up and exist."

"Here, it means 'I'm bright, I have a college degree and I want a job.'"

WOMEN CHAINED

The inequities exist because "social norms still bind and chain women."

Poverty is one of the greatest inequities between countries of the world, Miss Ross said. In the U. S. the poverty level is $4,200 per year, while in the developing countries, the average income is $200—"barely subsistence."

"A half billion children now are in the throes of starvation. When there isn't enough food, the women get fed last."

In this "$200 lifestyle," the Syracuse University graduate said, "there is illiteracy and hard work for the women."

Women sometimes do all the agricultural work in addition to raising their family, Miss Ross noted, and daily some women have to walk up to five hours each way to bring home water for their family.

Until recently in Sudan, she said, boys were given 95 percent of the chances for education. "Thirty five new training schools were built, but women were only allowed to be seen in eight.

SOCIAL SECURITY

"The attitude that men are better than women still persists. There is no social security, so women must have a lot of children to take care of them in their old age."

Population control is difficult to institute, Miss Ross explained, because "illiterate women have no understanding of the strength of their independence."

Instead, other needs, such as clean water, new agricultural methods, child care, education and job training must be met.

To illustrate the desperate need for literacy for third world women, Miss Ross told about a 21-year-old woman from Nepal. When her parents died, she became totally dependent on her seven-year-old brother, who could read and write.

"All this is involved in giving women motivation," she said. But change comes slowly because of cultural barriers.

Miss Ross, based in Pasadena, covers the western half of the United States. She has worked for UNICEF in New York and was a representative to a World Youth Assembly.

SHORT LIVES

To further her understanding of UNICEF in the field, she visits developing countries and recently came back from a stay in Chiapas, Mexico, where the life expectancy of women is 35.

The second half of the program was a panel discussion by Norma Chincilla, a UCI professor who teaches a class in the history of women's oppression; Farridh Naraghy, a registered nurse and midwife from Iran; Chebute Namasaka, of Kenya, a speech and communications student at California State University, Fullerton, and Miss Ross.

Mrs. Chincilla, a Fulbright scholar who has worked in Chile and Guatemala, said she never thought women were oppressed until she got to graduate school, where she was told by an advisor to come back in two years "if she hadn't married."

As a sociologist, she studied economic development, but while teaching graduate students at UCLA she came across "a hidden history of women in the world."

WOMEN FIGHT BACK

This was a history of resistance in countries like China and Vietnam, where women were considered property. "But there is a history of women fighting back," she said.

"They were immortalized in folk and oral history and there are folk heroines."

Some of the folk sayings in Vietnam reflect this attitude: "A woman is not worth a single testicle" and "I didn't see anyone on the road today—I only saw two women."

In Cuba, before the revolution, women migrated to the city where they had their choice of being prostitutes or household workers to stay alive.

Women in Argentina and Chile, more advanced countries, have the opportunity to attend the university. "But they have a lot of servants at home," Mrs. Chincilla said.

In Kenya, Miss Namasaka interjected, women are raised to do field work and have children. 'We haven't been given a chance to do anything of importance in our lives. Only the elite have an opportunity to go ahead."

NOT WEALTHY

As an exchange student, many people think she has wealth. "But it is not so," Miss Namasaka said. "Friends and relatives help."

This is only because attitudes have changed in the last few years. Not more than 10 years ago, girls used to get married at 10 or 12 and start having children.

Miss Namasaka, one of eight girls, said her father wanted his children to go to school.

She also was helped by the fact that educated girls help their parents more than boys. Kenyans, therefore, are becoming more willing to educate their daughters.

"Few women have high positions in Kenya," Miss Namasaka said. "There are lots of women principals and educators, but few in government or industry."

Change will come rapidly as more girls from Kenya come to the U. S. to study and return to their country. "When you come here, you are exposed to new ideas. You take the ideas back," the student said.

In Iran, opportunities for education are not based on class or money, but on religion, Miss Naraghy said.

TOOK OFF VEIL

Liberation began in 1848 when a "very important" woman in Persia attended a religious conference and took her veil off in the presence of all the delegates.

"A few men cut their throats there," Miss Naraghy recounted. "They said, 'If this was a religion of God, they didn't want to be alive to see it.'"

In Iran, girls are given the first crack at education, Miss Naraghy added. One of her aunts was the first woman pilot in the country.

In recent years, education has been stressed even more by the Shah in Iran. The military, composed of educated people with advanced degrees, goes into rural areas to teach the people.

And, Miss Naraghy noted, "there are many women politicians and ministers."

During the question-answer period, someone asked "What can we do?"

Give money for education and communication was the answer.

Mrs. Chincilla suggested that Americans begin to question where their foreign aid goes. "Almost all the aid to Latin America in the last three years has been military."

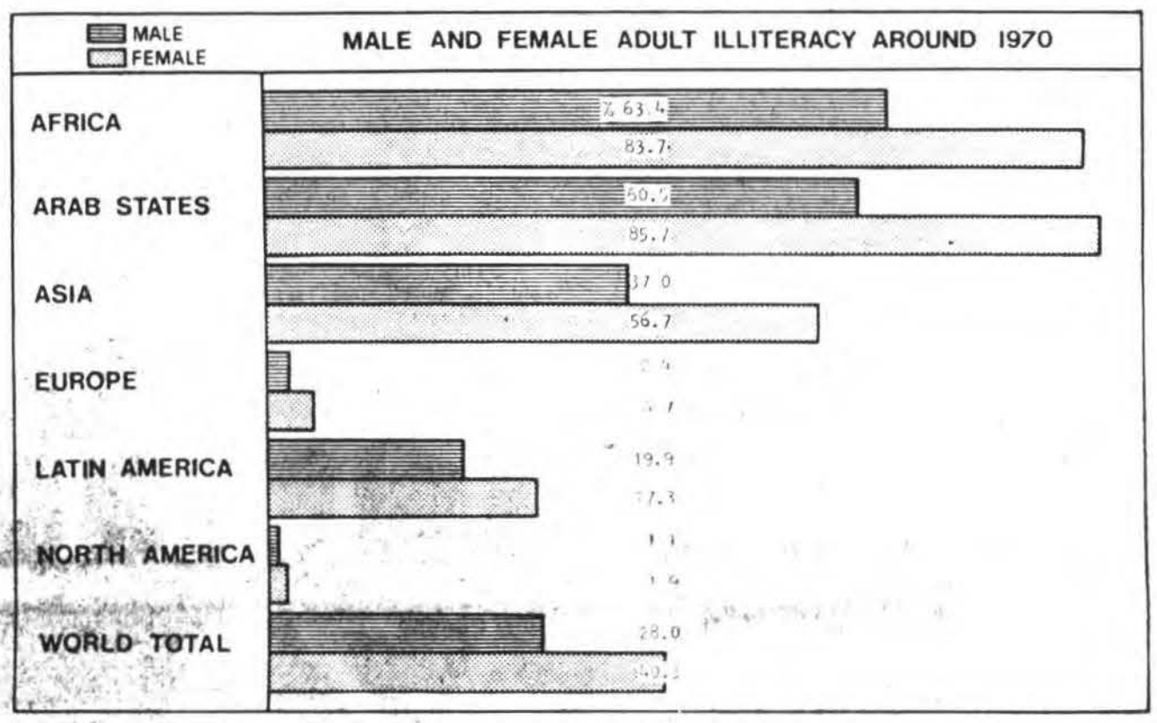

THREE HOURS

Miss Ross said that if the defense spending of the U. S. were portioned out over a year, only three hours would be earmarked for peacekeeping and development.

As International Women's Year continues, work is going on throughout the world to help meet the basic objectives of the year, which are improving working conditions and opportunities for rural women, increasing literacy, ensuring the quality of educational opportunities at all levels and upgrading the participation of women in all fields.

The next event in Southern California will be a regional conference April 23-26 at Cerritos College Theme will be Women Around the World: Tumbling Traditions.

ROLE REVERSAL WORKS

By LAURIE KASPER
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Some people hear of Yoshikazu and Mitsuye Yamada's arrangement and think it's great. Others, like her mother, have their doubts.

Because he stays home every day while she goes off to work.

A few years ago, the family was living in Sierra Madre, close to where he was working. But doctors advised Mrs. Yamada to move down here, further away from the smog.

For a year and a half, she and three of their four children lived in a Huntington Beach apartment while he stayed there.

They had lived apart for a while earlier in their marriage, while she finished her masters degree in Chicago and he worked in New York.

But now they had children who, when they needed help on something like science or math homework, would call their father who holds a PhD in chemistry.

"After a while it seemed a little stupid," Mrs. Yamada said.

But it was 57 miles between the two cities. So Yamada quit his job and they moved further down the coast to Turtle Rock.

"After we did it, we thought, 'My God, why didn't we do it sooner,'" Mrs. Yamada said.

Both had worked for 10 years and they never thought of what it would be like living on one salary. Now, she says, "I don't know what we did with all that money."

But Yamada is quick to add he doesn't feel she's the entire family support. Some of their money is from what he's done before.

HARDER FOR MEN

Adjustments do have to be made, Mrs. Yamada warned. These, she thinks, are probably harder for the man who is used to working eight-hour days and having responsibility for the family finances.

Last fall, she introduced a women's program at Cypress College where she is on the English faculty. Although her lecture series features women speakers from the community, she thinks she should get her husband to lecture on his way of life.

"Just think of all the men who could be freed." She thinks many men hate their jobs but continue going to work because they are the "breadwinners."

She admitted getting into arguments with men at school. They, apparently, believe she should be home with her children.

"He mothers them more than I do because he's more protective." Looking toward her husband, she teased, "He's just a big fake."

Now, if her husband, whose specialty is graphics, were to go back to work, they would have to move back East. Her doctor said this would be bad for her lungs.

That doesn't bother the couple because he has no plans of going back to work for anyone. He considers himself not unemployed but self-employed.

"He works harder now," Mrs. Yamada said.

"There's a lot of the thinking process involved," he explained.

"He's thinking all the time," she confirmed. Her mother, who lived with them for awhile, didn't understand that. "She thought he wasn't doing anything. He was sitting and thinking."

It's an important process for an inventor.

IDEAL THING

"What would the ideal thing be to make," Yamada asked.

"I have it," he answered. "It's something everybody needs."

But he won't talk about it or tell what it is because he's getting it patented. After that's done, he plans to go into business, making and selling whatever it is.

They figured it would take at least five years for him to start a business. He had another product he was working on, but then the energy crisis came, making it impractical.

Some people spend a lot of time going to medical or law school to do what they want to do, Yamada explained. "In my case, I'm spending all this time and I expect something too."

Eventually, Mrs. Yamada said, it will be her turn to quit work. Then, she can sit and write.

Yoshikazu and Mitsuye Yamada review some of her poems.

She is a poet and soon will be a publisher.

She got a group of six poets, people she met at school or in a poetry workshop, together to start a magazine.

"I didn't want it to be just a magazine," she said. Rather, she wanted it to be a group of people with common interests who have poems they mutually like.

GROUP DECIDES

The group, which is called the Hard Times Press, collectively will decide which poems and what format is used in the magazine but the individual poet has the last word on his or her work.

"We almost have total control of how it comes out."

This doesn't usually happen in magazines, she said. "If you write like a man, you can get published, or if you write what they consider good literature, which is male oriented."

She believes a feminist press is needed. But that, she noted, doesn't exclude men, three of whom are in the group.

She will discuss this need during a panel she is arranging for the International Women's Year regional conference which will be held at Cerritos College in April.

Mrs. Yamada used to write very academic poetry. "I think the feminist movement has made women look at themselves . . . it makes it intensely personal."

Now, she looks at who she is and where she is.

The magazine will be called "Noon."

At noon, Mrs. Yamada explained, the sun reaches its height. Also, when the word is written, it is spelled the same in both directions.

It is symbolic that at the height, there is no beginning, no end.

Dr. Carrie Lou Walters, a neurosurgeon, is the number two senior resident in the University of Chicago Hospital system.

UPI Telephotos

Chiseling Away at Odds

CHICAGO (UPI) — Carrie Lou Walters can chisel, hammer, saw and sew with the best neurosurgeons in the business.

She has power tools, support from her colleagues, plenty of drive and more than five of the eight required years of neurosurgical training behind her.

At 29, as number two senior resident in the University of Chicago Hospital system, she has served as "primary surgeon" on a team of three in emergency cases, depressed-skull fractures and one intercerebral hematoma.

These days, many women study to become doctors. Few become surgeons and almost none go into neurosurgery.

"It's because of the physical stamina required," she said. "It's simply a more demanding area of medicine. One is on 'their' feet for such long hours."

Carefully, she omitted all third-person "his" references from her conversation.

"Though most brain surgery is very delicate," she said, "getting through a skull is really carpentry, in practical terms. The power tools we are using now have really been a help to me. In fact one of my advisers said those tools are making it possible for me to go into this field."

"Of course, if one wants to do something badly enough, you'll do it no matter what kind of emergency it takes. And, power tools or not, certainly the hours haven't changed."

Dr. Walters — with no notice — will often have to put in 36 hours straight. Others times, she will go three 16-hour days in a row.

"It has a great element of unpredictability. If you know you're going to have to be on 16 hours a day for three days, then you can prepare for it. But surgery is not like that. There's always the element of trauma (emergency victims)."

She has met no resistance from her male colleagues because, she said, she has never looked for it.

"I go into a situation thinking there is a job to be done and I can help get it done."

Patients, she said, often prefer having a woman take care of them. "They have some preconceived notions that because you are a woman you are going to understand their emotions better," she said, but denied there was any truth to it.

"No, I think men understand every bit as well, though I don't think women are any less understanding," she said.

Dr. Walters, a Salem, Ore. native, said she decided to become a neurosurgeon when she was eight — and with no parental prompting. Both her parents are retail store clerks.

"I believe my family thinks I'm a little crazy," she said.

"But if I didn't love it, I'd get out. You'd be crazy to remain in this if you didn't like it. On general principles I hate to get up in the morning. But knowing I have something to go to that I enjoy doing that's always a challenge that makes it worth it."

Taurus: Hold Final Decisions

FRIDAY, MARCH 14
By SYDNEY OMARR

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Relatives may be fighting among themselves. Refuse to be drawn into conflict.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Be a comparison shopper. Seek best possible deal for yourself. Aspects indicate financial difficulty if you are careless or act on impulse.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): What seemed to be going your way seeks a detour. Cycle remains high and you'll overcome obstacles.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Hold off on final decisions, commitments. Changes are in the air keep yourself free enough to jump for brass ring.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Friends are involved, complicated in their own situations. Know it and pull back the reins.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): What seems to be unreasonable pressure soon will be lifted. You're going to be able to pick and choose.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): You could be reaching too far, too soon. Know it and keep alternatives at hand.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Complete what you begin leave no loose ends. You are offered financial deals

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Avoid unnecessary risks. That's generally superfluous advice. But now you may be tempted to "prove something."

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Hunch pays dividends. Know it and heed inner feelings. You sense what is happening out of view.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Highlight flexibility. Your emotions tend to dominate logic. Forces are scattered.

Income Tax: 'Immoral'

By JO OLSON
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

"The Congress shall have power to lay and collect taxes on incomes, from whatever source derived, without apportionment among the several States, and without regard to any census or enumeration."

This, the 16th amendment to the Constitution was proposed by resolution of Congress on July 12, 1909 and was declared by the Secretary of State on February 25, 1913, to be ratified by the necessary three-fourths of the states.

It may be part of the Constitution but it also is a "gigantic distortion of the marketplace," according to author Henry Hohenstein.

It is, he told members and guests of South Coast Alumnae Chapter of Pi Beta Phi, a moral issue as well.

Hohenstein, author of the book, "The IRS Conspiracy," offers his readers "strong reason to consider their taxation philosophy and their relationship with their government and fellow man."

Hohenstein, who believes the government's "unlimited ability to reach into the pocketbook of every American" is dangerous, started an investigation of the Internal Revenue Service in 1966.

Henry Hohenstein believes the government should not have an 'unlimited ability' to reach into the pocketbook of every American.

IRS VISITOR

It was triggered by an incident which happened when he was personnel manager of a drug company in the East

When an IRS agent came to the company to collect $462 in back taxes from one of the employes, Hohenstein protested it would leave the man destitute because he had no funds to fall back on.

Since it was the day before payday, Hohenstein gave the IRS "13/14ths of what the man owed" then went home and started reading what his encyclopedia had to say about taxation.

He also started clipping newspaper stories about the IRS.

A second case crystallized his plans further. In San Diego, a businessman was being threatened by the IRS with closure of his plant, without a court order.

The businessman's friends protested and 10 were arrested. All 10 were convicted and sentenced, Hohenstein said, but an appeal to the Ninth Circuit Court resulted in a decision that the IRS had violated the Constitution.

FIVE PARTS

These two incidents and his research are woven into five parts in his book: morality and taxation, the history of taxation throughout the world, the IRS conspiracy, American taxation and "a modest proposal."

The first income tax law was signed by Abraham Lincoln in 1862 This "modest" law, Hohenstein said, stated that all incomes up to $4,000 were exempt; those from $4,000-$5,000 were to be charged three percent, and those above $5,000, five percent.

A collector of revenue also was appointed. This bureaucrat's staff had swollen to 6,900 people in just a few months, Hohenstein said. Today, there are 70,000 workers in the IRS.

This income tax law was repealed soon after the Civil War, Hohenstein said, and the issue was not to appear again until the start of the new century.

The first income tax code book was a mere 16 pages, the author noted, and today's book is 1,000. Interpretations in an attorney's office may fill up to 28 feet of shelf space.

One "wrong" in the system, Hohenstein believes, is that some IRS handbooks are not available to the public.

SET FEES

He also investigated the "quota system" and found that there is a set scale of fees to be charged for audits, based on the taxpayer's annual income.

He explained that "the little guy" is audited more often because "the IRS finds it's easier to go after the small, independent taxpayer."

If a person is audited, Hohenstein suggested, he should "ask to see the next higher authority" before he whips out his checkbook.

Another problem with taxation, he said, is that legislators have to vote for entire tax packages, instead of choosing the issues seriatim.

Hohenstein's message in his book is that the income tax system, as we presently have it, "can be changed.

"Twenty two different principles of the Constitution are violated in the 16th Amendment," he said.

"What it will take is the American women saying what they have always said: No thank you."

He was asked, after his talk, how the country could be run if income tax were eliminated.

"We can start by balancing the federal budget. Then we can get a responsible Congress to write legislation according to the Constitution.

"Then we can demand responsible government spending." He cited, as an example of unnecessary spending, some of the federal grants now being given.

By cutting defense spending, for example, he said, more money gradually would be available at the local level, and some federally financed projects could be taken over by local government.

Hohenstein said he had gotten no repercussions from his book from the IRS. "I'm probably a 'sensitive case'," he smiled.

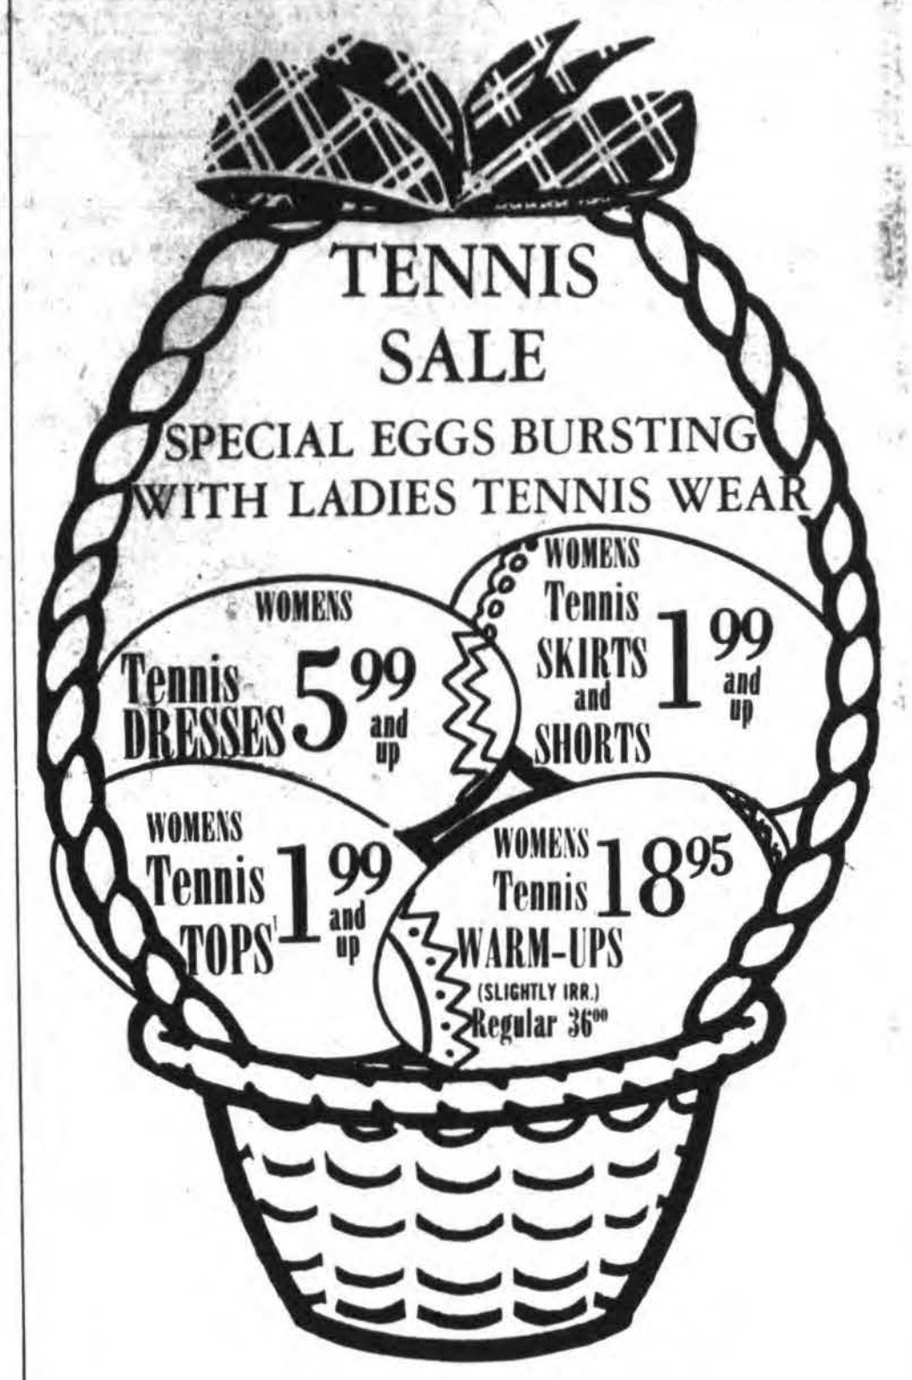

Weddings and Engagements

To avoid disappointment, prospective brides are reminded to have their wedding stories with black and white glossy photographs to the Daily Pilot People Department one week before the wedding.

Pictures received after that time will not be used.

For engagement announcements it is imperative that the story, also accompanied by a black and white glossy picture, be submitted six weeks or more before the wedding date; otherwise it will not be published.

To help fill requirements on both wedding and engagement stories, forms are available in all Daily Pilot offices. Further questions will be answered by People Department staff members at 642-4321.

Mom Fails Math Test

By ERMA BOMBECK

Report cards certainly have become sophisticated since the computers took over.

A simple S (for Satisfactory) and U (for Unsatisfactory) has given way to a student identification number, a print-out of the class schedule and attendance record, a grade code, a comment code, and an instant replay of grades by terms and semesters.

"Well, 976553411892," I said to my son, "We have a lot to talk about."

"Just call me 97655," he laughed. (It was to be the last time he laughed all week.)

"I see you got a 3-2 in your Dr. Ed Trg. Crt. What have you got to say about that?"

"What do you want to know?" he shrugged.

"For starters, what's Dr. Ed & Trg. Crt.?"

"It's Driver's Education and if you check the code you'll see that 3 is an average grade."

"What's the 2 for?" I asked.

"According to the comment code, I didn't bring materials necessary for the class."

"You mean, you didn't take your textbook with you?"

"No. Brains. Mr. Woods took off because I was going 32 mph in a 30 mile zone."

"That doesn't seem excessive," I said defensively.

"In reverse," he added.

"Good grief. What happened in English. You got a 4 and a code 5. That means you are below average and according to this you could make better use of your time."

"That's not true," he said, "I never goof off in that class. I use every minute."

"To study?"

"To eat my lunch so that when the class is over I can shoot baskets on my lunch hour. You can't budget your time any better than that.

"Well, your history grade is good, but Mrs. Burice indicated you are not working up to your capacity."

"I don't know what my capacity is," he said.

"So, why don't you ask Mrs. Burice."

"I did and she said I didn't know because I've never worked up to it. I said how will I know when I get there and she said when I stop teepeeing the trees on the school lawn."

Sometimes, I wish schools would just lay it on us . . . in English.

Crowning Glory Tangled

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am writing to you because my wife and I have a problem which is not serious but nevertheless bothers me and I told her (in a lighthearted way) that I was going to write to Ann Landers.

She said, "Go ahead. I'd be glad to hear what the old girl has to say."

The troublemaker: Hair spray. I do not like the smell, feel or looks of it. I've told my wife repeatedly that I like her hair naturally loose, unplastered and smelling like hair.

I believe a woman's hair is one of her major assets, especially if it's pretty, and my wife's is. I guess maybe I'm a hair lover. It turns me on. Hair spray turns me off.

We are quite happily married and have been for 14 years. This is no great threat to our marriage, but I thought I'd write and ask for your opinion. — ST. JOE, MICH., READER

DEAR JOE: I'm at a disadvantage because I don't know what your wife's hair looks like, nor do I know how much hair spray she uses. If she sprays her head till it's as hard as a block of concrete, that's one thing. A light spray to hold the set in place is something else.

If I were your wife I'd (1) buy the unscented variety (2) brush my hair through just before you came home to dinner and (3) certainly go to the loose and natural look at bedtime.

Parents, what should you do if your teenager is having sexual relations? Ann Landers' new booklet, "High School Sex and How to Deal With It — A Guide for Teens and Their Parents," gives nononsense advice on how to handle this delicate situation. For each booklet, send 50 cents in coin plus a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Diverse Plans

Units Raising Funds

BEAR ST. PFO: Pinewood Derby will take place from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday, March 15, at school. Kits may be purchased at the school office. Students from kindergarten through fifth grade are eligible to build and paint their entry. The public is invited.

CALIFORNIA PTA: Dime-a-dip dinner and family night will be held from 5 to 7 p.m. tomorrow in Boswell Hall at TeWinkle School. Admission is a casserole, dessert or salad.

GLEN VIEW PTO: Pizza dinner will be sponsored by the unit Thursday, March 20, from 5 to 9 p.m. in the Pizzaburger, Huntington Beach. Tickets may be purchased in the school office or from sixth grade students. Public is invited to attend

HOPE VIEW PFO: Talent Round-up show will be presented by the unit tomorrow at Golden View School. Coffee and punch will be served, and baked goods will be sold. Tickets, at $1 for adults and 25 cents for children, will be sold at the door. Public is invited to attend.

LINCOLN PTA: Plans for the April 12 Family Fair and Swap Meet are under way. All interested clubs, organizations or individuals wishing to participate may contact Helen Layton at 644-4209. Honorary life memberships were presented to Mrs. Glenda Brown, English teacher and Mrs. Bunny Rawlings, PTA President.

MARINE VIEW PTO: The "T" in PTO is the title of the program scheduled at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 18. A panel of teachers will discuss their teaching philosophies and special educational programs available for students. Coffee hour will precede the program.

ST. JOHN'S AUX.: A student talent show, comprised of representatives from all eighth grades, will replace the regular unit meeting tonight at 7:30. Director is Mrs. Hessie Parrino.

WILSON PTA: Board members will host a potluck luncheon during the regular lunch period Tuesday, March 18. Honored guests will be the faculty. Committee will review the school needs and how the PTA funds should be spent at 1:45 p.m. Thursday, March 20.

urgent

No one likes to cry wolf. But as a financial institution responsible for more than 438 million dollars we must speak out.

Today we are facing a future full of uncertainty. Even the most famous economists can't agree on what will happen in the next six months. Investors in the stock market face serious problems. Inflation has not been checked.

Your first responsibility is to your family...to protect it against any of the uncertainties of tomorrow.

Therefore, we recommend that you immediately put as much of your capital and savings as you can into an insured savings and loan association account. In any insured association. Naturally, we feel that Mutual Savings has a little more to offer including a choice of savings plans from 5% to 7½%, insured up to $20,000. But act today. A phone call will start your account.

MUTUAL SAVINGS

We cried wolf and there was a wolf!

We ran this ad in 1970.
It was timely then. More timely today.

If you failed to take our advice and answered some of the siren calls of speculative investments...you probably didn't earn as much return on your money and you may have lost your principal too.

But a lot of people have taken our advice. Since 1970 Mutual Savings has grown from five to thirteen offices. We are paying a higher rate of interest now. Accounts are now insured up to $40,000. And most important in these times, in fifty years no one has ever lost a dime at Mutual Savings.

Free income tax preparation.

Cost Fix Charged Toyota

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Toyota Motor Sales, U.S.A., Inc., importer of the Japanese-made car, has agreed to a consent decree to halt an alleged conspiracy to maintain artificially high prices.

Toyota Motor Sales and its subsidiary, Toyota Motor Distributors, a regional distributor for 14 states, stipulated to a proposed judgment which cannot be signed for two months.

In agreeing to the consent decree before filing of the Justice Department complaint both parties stipulated there was no admission of the charges.

The complaint alleges Toyota Motor Sales, which in 1972 sold more than $712 million in cars to U.S. distributors, conspired with others in the unreasonable restraint of interstate and foreign trade.

It contended Toyota dealers would sell the cars at prices fixed by the defendants, that retail dealers refrained from advertising cars at discount prices and also refrained from selling or advertising Toyotas outside assigned market areas.

Toyota Motor Sales is owned by Toyota Motor Co. Ltd., which manufactures the cars in Japan. The complaint said that informal agreements were obtained from Toyota retailers to sell the cars at prices suggested by the importer.

County Product Zaps Waste in a Flash

COUNTY FIRM'S WASTE DISPOSER SAVES ON WATER
NES President Douglas Dick Shows Off $600 Model

Of the Daily Pilot Staff

A Newport Beach man is about to market a product that he hopes will revolutionize the toilet industry and help the environment at the same time.

Douglas Dick, a former aerospace engineer, heads National Environmental Systems, Inc., an Orange-headquartered firm that developed a self-contained automatic toilet, or SCAT unit.

DICK ADMITS there are four other portable units on the market, including one produced in Newport Beach, but says his company's product has several advantages over the others.

For one thing, his waste disposal unit operates without water, which eliminates the need for outside plumbing.

For another, he says, the National Environmental Systems disposal unit can be attached to existing toilet facilities — an advantage the other companies cannot boast.

"This is a unique advantage, in that our system can be integrated with various existing portable sanitation units," Dick said. "It can also be used on existing recirculation flush toilets or integrated as part of a new toilet design."

IN OTHER WORDS, the NES system is a toilet or holding tank attachment or accessory.

Dick says his product can be used in mountain cabins, portable sanitation units, add-on rooms, mobile homes, boats and even locomotives.

The firm, which will move manufacturing facilities to the Irvine Industrial Complex in September, has a patent pending on the flash evaporator system within the NES disposal unit.

The portable unit, which uses no water and a minimum of chemicals, collects wastes in a holding tank. Processing in the tank turns the waste into a slurry which is pumped out of the holding tank and through the NES system to a reaction chamber.

"THERE, THE flash evaporator converts the waste slurry into pure water vapor," Dick explained. "A drying cycle evaporates this substance into sterile ash, much the same as cigarette ash," he said.

Venting sends the vapor into the atmosphere, Dick says, adding that the end product is bacteria-free. The ash container must be emptied about once every four months for a family of four, he said.

A second model disposal unit produced by the company recaptures the pure water vapor in a closed-loop system which does away with the need for a venting operation.

"These models are good for areas where water is scarce because of their full recycling capabilities," Dick said.

A third product being studied by the firm is a flushing method utilizing common household toilets. The company is testing the device which could consume only one-third to one-fifth the water used by flush toilets.

"THIS WOULD result in a savings of about 40,000 gallons per year for a family of four," Dick predicts.

Long-range plans include using purified waste water — both from the toilet and showers and sinks — for irrigation purposes once it has been processed.

"Water from the toilet holding tank could conceivably be used to water lawns," he said, "without having to use precious outside water."

National Environmental Systems says it has orders for 50 of the disposal units from several oil firms. First deliveries of the product will be made in May, Dick says.

THE NEWPORT Beach executive says a New York utility is looking into purchasing some of the portable units and several government agencies have expressed interest in the waste disposal units.

House Panel OKs Mortgage Subsidy

WASHINGTON (AP) — A home mortgage subsidy program intended to help an estimated 400,000 prospective home buyers has been approved by the House Banking Committee.

If adopted, the measure would reduce interest rates on single family homes and condominiums to 6 or 7 percent for persons who qualify under the bill, approved on a 2 to 11 vote this week.

Currently mortgage interest rates are running between 8 and 9½ percent.

The subsidy program would be in effect through June 30, 1976.

WE ARE CATCHING UP WITH FATHER TIME

By TERRY GRANT, R.Ph.

Research for new drugs is so perfected that discoveries now come more quickly. We receive information about them sooner, and supplies are sent to us immediately.

This is why we are able to fill prescriptions for new products more quickly than was ever possible in the past. And these new medicines are helping to slow up Father Time so you can live a longer life.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver promptly with ut extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge accounts

San Pedro Tanker Job Killed

SAN PEDRO (UPI) The U.S. maritime subsidy board has canceled the orders for three more 90,000-ton deadweight $38.8 million tankers at Todd Shipyards Corp., the firm has announced.

The cancellation mean the loss of orders for five tankers for Todd's yards here. According to Todd assistant general manager Stewart Jones, the cancellation order was made "for the convenience of the government."

Jones pointed out that the keel for the first of the three vessels canceled Wednesday would not have been laid until March, 1978, and there will be no layoffs because of the canceled order.

"We are currently in negotiations to use the ways which will be opened by these cancellations to build other types of vessels," he added. "We foresee no problems."

Purchase Power

Gold Remains Top Capital?

By DR. ROBERT ADLER

The machinations of government over the past few months have already created a condition in foreign money centers, where the dollar has come under pressure a pressure that has taken it to the lowest point relative to the franc and the mark in recent history.

And it will get worse.

The dollar is merely a reflection of the economic stability of the government behind it. And our government is on a headlong, reckless course of lower taxes, higher expenditures and a flow of printing press money being injected into the economy.

Any company that performed in this profligate manner would have long ago been bankrupt and out of business.

THE ONLY REASON your dollar is worth anything is because your local supermarket will still give you some goods for it. Not as much as before, and soon not as much as now.

I have long objected to sterile investments, but there is not too much time left before your paper money becomes virtually worthless in terms of its purchasing power.

I am not talking of next week or next month, but very short years from now.

This gives you time to take the first step to protect yourself. The purchase of gold.

Gold, the magic metal of the ancients and the only real money in the world today. Not silver, not platinum — these are merely industrial and jewelers metals — gold and only gold will protect you in a monetary, inflationary crisis.

Given the options of how to invest in gold, coins are my first and primary choice. Not coins that are marked up because of collectors values, but newly minted coins that sell for the price per ounce of the gold in them, plus a small handling premium.

HOW WOULD YOU GO ABOUT accumulating an acceptable supply to protect yourself? First, take 10 percent of your investment portfolio and liquidate it now. Put that into the Kruger-Rand coin or those offered by the Franklin Mint or other reliable sources.

Then, take five to 10 percent a month of your income and continue to accumulate.

Where is gold going? Short term will be going like a yo-yo — between $160 to $220 areas. By fall it should be at a base of $180 to $230 and I would be surprised if after 1975 we ever see it under $200 again.

I would stay away from gold stocks as they are at best speculative and at worst unstable investments in a country subject to nationalizing the mines sometime in the future.

Bullion is hard to handle, but there is availability both in actuals and in futures for delivery.

The important thing for you and me is that we have time to begin a prudent aquisition program. When the real problems come a couple of years from now, it will be too late.

Dr. Adler will answer letters directed to him through the Daily Pilot.

Record Citrus Crop Expected

WASHINGTON (AP) The Agriculture Department has reported that the current U.S. citrus fruit crop not only is still expected to establish a new record but probably will be better than forecasters thought last month.

Total citrus production was estimated at 14.4 million tons, or 8 percent greater than the 1973-74 crop and 300,000 tons better than the Crop Reporting Board predicted on the basis of Feb. 1 indications.

The board said that orange production, based on March 1 surveys, should reach a record level of 237.3 million boxes — 10 percent greater than last season and also 2 percent higher than last month's estimates.

At the beginning of the month, the orange harvest was 43 percent complete, with prospects improved in Florida and California, but down somewhat in Texas again.

Bank Failure

Herstatt Bust: Instant Losses

By SYLVIA PORTER

Early in the morning of Wednesday, June 26, 1974, Seattle-First National Bank of Washington State in the Pacific Northwest was happily involved in a big, potentially profitable deal swapping currencies with the Herstatt Bank of Cologne in West Germany, thousands of miles away across the Atlantic Ocean.

At 11 a.m. on that same beautiful June morning, Herstatt — West Germany's largest private bank and an institution respected throughout the world — abruptly suspended all payments and was declared bankrupt. The international financial markets were stunned, closer to panic than at any times in decades.

FINANCIERS EVERYWHERE began to divide banks into "tiers" — top-tier, such as the giants of New York; second-tier, not quite so solid; third-tier, to be generally avoided.

And in an instant, Seattle-First National was out $22.5 million, the largest single loss suffered by a U.S. bank — including such New York greats as Morgan Guaranty Trust — caught in the Herstatt collapse.

How come? To paraphrase a popular saying, what was a nice bank like Seattle-First located all the way over on the Pacific Ocean doing "playing" currency games all the way across the Atlantic Ocean? What happened?

Even currency experts are still wondering about the chain of events, so during a recent visit to Seattle, I discussed this at length with William M. Jenkins, the ultra-conservative board chairman of the conservative Seattle-First. Although Jenkins refused to blame anyone — either officials of his own bank or other participants — I learned enough details to make up a classic prescription for financial disaster.

Among the prescription's ingredients: the lure of quick, easy money-making in foreign exchange (currency) deals during the feverish trading years of 1973-74; the innocence (or ignorance) of U.S. bankers in comparison with their European counterparts who were on the spot and privy to all the inside gossip, true or false, which causes violent price swings in the currency markets; the questionable ethics and timing of the German Central Bank in closing Herstatt in the middle of a workday — after letting several German banks know of Herstatt's troubles but not informing U.S. bankers in any way.

TO SUMMARIZE THE history leading to the crash:

In 1968, Seattle-First, drawn by the huge profits then being made by bankers wheeling and dealing in the European currency markets, established a wholly-owned subsidiary in Zurich to get in on the action and to serve the Japanese particularly (normally major customers of our Pacific Coast banks).

From the start, SFNB-Zurich was hamstrung, however, by new, rigid Swiss regulations and the fact that it was too small to be invited into the top-notch deals. But of SFNB-Zurich's five directors, three were well known, highly connected, socially/financially prominent Swiss businessmen — and as a result, SFNB-Zurich soon found a profitable niche for itself simply exchanging one currency for another and thereby facilitating trade transactions. (This is usually called prudent banking by insiders but speculation by outsiders.)

While Zurich's two U.S. directors — one of them Jenkins — didn't know as much as they wanted to about what was going on, the Swiss directors presumably did. As a confidential inter-bank memo stated, "Zurich considered itself well protected against (undue risk) through its Swiss directors' particular expertise."

And for a prolonged period, SFNB-Zurich did indeed make money. Then came Wednesday, June 26, when Zurich delivered 57.3 million West German deutschemarks to Herstatt in Cologne in expectation that Herstatt would in turn deposit $22.5 million to SFNB in New York.

BUT MANY HOURS before, Germany's big three commercial banks had been tipped off, had examined Herstatt's books, discovered serious deficiencies, had decided not to rescue Herstatt. At 11 a.m., without any warning, Herstatt was closed. SFNB-Zurich's marks were inside Herstatt; so were the dollars belonging to SFNB-Seattle.

THE FAMILY CIRCUS By Bil Keane

"Mommy, will you itch my back?"

L.M. Boyd

How Big Ben Got Its Name

Women talk mostly about men, clothes and social affairs. Men talk mostly about business, recreation and women. In that order, respectively. Such are the findings in one more recent study on the matter.

A GRASSHOPPER thermometer — yes, that's a thermometer to take the temperature of a grasshopper — is only five one thousandths of an inch in diameter.

WAS NONE OTHER than Jerry Mitchell who described harness racing as horse and buggy bingo.

THAT FUR said to be most difficult to imitate is the silver fox.

BIG BEN

Q. "Louie, I'll bet you a quarter on the corner that great clock in London called Big Ben was named in honor of the statesman Benjamin Disraeli."

A. You're on. Big Ben is the bell, not the clock, please note. And it was named by Parliament members in honor of a tall heavy set gentleman called Sir Benjamin Hall who was commissioner of works there in 1859 when the bell was first installed. Take advantage of the four percent discount by paying up within 30 days.

Q. "IN HOW MANY movies has Shirley MacLaine played a lady of the night?"

A. In 14 of her 37 films.

Q. "WHAT'S the lifespan of a robin?"

A. Figure 12 years.

THE HARD FACTS

Paying spectators at baseball games outnumber paying spectators at football games by about three to one . . . WHO WAS IT that defined "chaos" as "four women plus one luncheon check?" . . . STATISTICS indicate that finger least likely to be injured is the ring finger of the left hand.

IT'S TOLD that a United Nations committee was formed to do a study on elephants. Representatives were appointed from France, West Germany, Great Britain, the Soviet Union, the United States and Denmark. Each submitted a paper, entitled as follows: France, "The Love of the Elephant." West Germany, "The Philosophy of the Elephant." Great Britain, "The Elephant, Its Contribution to the Growth of the Empire." The Soviet Union, "A Five-Year Plan for Elephants." The United States, "Bigger and Better Elephants." And Denmark, "How to Make 215 Different Kinds of Sandwiches out of an Elephant."

2 Heavyweights Battle for Bulge

LONDON (UPI) — George Maree and John Robinson are fighting the waistline battle of the bulge in reverse. At stake: the British heavyweight championship.

The champ has the distinct advantage in experience. He is 52. John has 32 years behind him.

The two have agreed to a weigh-off this summer. George figures all he has to do to win is hold his weight where it is. John has to gain 46 pounds to tie, 47 to win.

GEORGE IS confident — "Robinson's nothing but a bag of bones. I'm not eating a lot. I don't want to get fat. But I'm drinking at least a bottle of brandy a day and as much champagne as I can. It will make sure I don't lose any weight."

John, too, has faith — "I'm certain the crown is mine. . .For breakfast, I have a dozen bacon rolls and two pints of milk. Dinner is a steak and kidney pie for four people, two to three pounds of potatoes, spinach and peas.

"MIND YOU, it's the eating between meals that really does it. I can spend three to four pounds ($7.20 to $9.60) on shellfish and scoff a one-pound bar of chocolate just for a snack."

Society To Meet

The benefits of transcendental meditation will be discussed in an 8 o'clock meeting tonight at Murdy Park Community Center in Huntington Beach.

The meeting is sponsored by the International Meditation Society and questions may be directed to 642-4741. The community center is at Golden West Street and Norma Drive.

Father, Son Tangle In Prep Spikefest

By ROGER CARLSON
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Barring a tie, Bill Crow's track and field team is a cinch to win Friday afternoon at Santa Barbara High School in a spikefest featuring the Santa Barbara Dons and the Mission Viejo Diablos.

On the other hand, Bill Crow's team will definitely be on the short end of this non-league clash.

The answer to this riddle is that it's a father-son duel, which begins at 3. Originally it was billed for 5:30 Friday at Mission Viejo, but the rains played havoc with the Diablos track and the meet has switched to the all-weather setup at Santa Barbara.

The father is 26-year veteran coach Bill Crow of Santa Barbara. The son is Mission Viejo's Bill Crow, who competed at Santa Barbara under his dad while attending Santa Barbara High.

"I've been around high school coaching for quite a while," says the Santa Barbara coach. "But I can't recall this happening before, a father and son coaching confrontation."

And a confrontation it should be. In a sport that seems geared to the individual, both coaches are highly concerned about their teams' won-loss record.

"There is an inward competitive spirit in coaching track," says the elder Crow. "And I don't like to lose, period. Our record here has been 157 wins and 24 losses in dual meets. Our kids are really looking forward to this.

"My son has been telling me Mission Viejo's not too tough, but I don't believe it."

"And I don't have anything on Mission Viejo, only a note or two. So I'm going into this thing cold."

The younger Crow, however, has better connections. "I've talked to mom about this," he confides. "She's going to send me some clippings from the Santa Barbara papers."

It figures to be a good meet. Santa Barbara boasts the Aguirre brothers—Richard and George. Richard has done a 9:12 2-mile indoors and George has a 9:24 indoors mark.

Also 9.9 sprinters Freddie Richardson and Edwin Pipersburg are in the fold.

Mission Viejo counters with Jon Cook (a 1:58.0 880 and 4:23 miler), sophomore Mike Walterhouse (9:21.7 2-mile) and Wilbur Gregory in the hurdles (14.5 and 41.8 in the 120 highs and 330 lows). Cook did a 1:52.9 as a junior in the 880.

The meet also involves two former all-round athletes of the year at Santa Barbara. Dad was honored in 1932, son won it in 1960 and brother Jim did it in 1964. Others in Santa Barbara history to win it include former USC football star Sam Cunningham and major league baseball star Eddie Mathews.

The Santa Barbara mentor's first teaching job was at Costa Mesa's Main Elementary School at 19th and Newport Blvd., where he taught the fifth and sixth grade, in addition to basketball and track duties.

Thirty-nine years ago he was playing for Alvin Pinkley in a public basketball league at Newport Harbor High.

And time hasn't changed things a whole lot—Crow is still involved in athletics and Pinkley is still in charge of things. The latter is Costa Mesa's mayor.

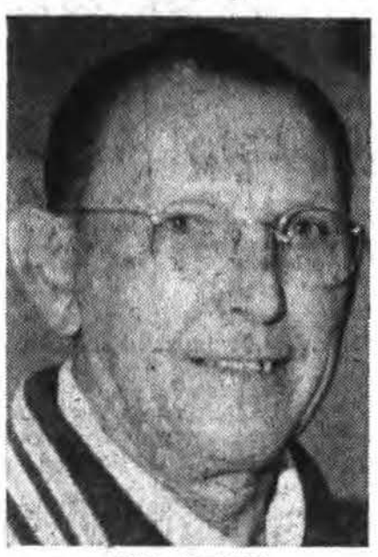

"Costa Mesa was wide open spaces then," recalls Crow of the 1936-43 era. "After the game we'd go over to Pink's drug store and drink chocolate malts."

"Dad and my football coach, Sam Cathcart, were strong disciplinarians," says MV's Crow. "It's something that has really stuck with me. Discipline comes from trying to get across to the kids the idea that it takes a lot of self discipline for them to do their workouts. Trying to motivate them so they carry out their assignments.

"We stress the team play now, the individual work comes later."

Sports in Brief

Bruins Assistant New BYU Coach

SALT LAKE CITY — Frank Arnold, assistant at UCLA, is expected to be named head basketball coach today at Brigham Young University, a Salt Lake City television station says.

KSL, owned by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon) which owns the school, did not name its sources in a late Wednesday broadcast but it said without qualifications that Arnold had been selected for the post of Glenn Potter, who resigned.

Paul James, sportscaster for KSL, said he thought until late Wednesday afternoon that LaDell Andersen, Utah State University athletic director, was the choice, but he said an interview by BYU with Arnold changed the situation.

Arnold, 40, was assistant coach to John Wooden for four years at UCLA and was an assistant coach at Oregon for five years under Steve Belko. He was born in Ogden, Utah, and is a member of the Mormon Church.

Fisk Injured

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. — Carlton Fisk, the Boston Red Sox' All-Star catcher who has been trying to come back from a serious knee surgery, suffered a broken right wrist when struck by a pitch Wednesday in an exhibition baseball game with the Detroit Tigers.

X-rays disclosed a clean break of the discal ulna bone, just above the palm of the hand.

Trainer Charlie Moss said Fisk's wrist will be placed in a temporary cast until Friday or Staurday, then a permanent cast will be required for from four to six weeks.

Riverside Falls

EVANSVILLE, Ind. — Wilbur Holland scored 20 points to lead New Orleans to a 73-59 quarterfinal victory over UC Riverside in the NCAA Division II basketball tournaments Wednesday.

It was the second year in a row that New Orleans had eliminated Riverside in the opening game.

Dodgers Win

MIAMI — Joe Ferguson hit a three-run homer Wednesday night to lead the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 9-7 exhibition victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

Ferguson's homer, a towering blast into left field, came off right hander Wayne Garland in the seventh inning.

Steve Garvey also homered for the Dodgers in the ninth off rookie Paul Mitchell. It was the fourth hit of the game for National League's Most Valuable Player last year.

Rings Returned

TEMPE, Ariz. — Three young boys walked up to Reggie Jackson's apartment Wednesday and returned three World Series rings which had been stolen two days earlier, police said.

"The kids said they had found them and that they knew they were his because they had heard about the theft," said police lieutenant Mike Wilkins.

The Oakland Athletics outfielder told officers the rings, valued at $8,150, were among $10,600 worth of jewelry taken in a burglary at his apartment here Monday night.

Jackson, who is training with Oakland in nearby Mesa, offered a $1,000 reward for the rings' return.

McLain Served

ROSEVILLE, Mich. — Former Detroit Tigers pitcher Denny McLain was served with preliminary eviction papers on Wednesday, charging he is in arrears in rent on a 20-store shopping center he manages.

McLain admitted he was behind in payments for the International Mall. "Business is down and some of my tenants have fallen behind in their rent, so it is natural I have difficulty in keeping up with the bills," McLain said.

The chunky righthander who won 31 games for the Tigers in their World Series year of 1968 has been manager of the mall since last October.

Kicker Signed

LOS ANGELES — The Los Angeles Rams announced Wednesday the signing of a kicker from Cal State (Northridge), Jose Ballina.

Tennis Roundup

Laver, Emo Win; Connors Breezes

SAO PAULO, Brazil — Roscoe Tanner downed Patricio Cornejo 7-5, 6-2 Wednesday in the third day of competition in this stop of the World Championship Tennis circuit.

Hungarians Leave

HAMPTON, Va. — Top-seeded Jimmy Connors trounced Bill Shivar Jr. 6-0, 6-2 Wednesday night in a first-round match of the Independent Tennis Players Circuit tournament.

Janos Benyik and Robert Machan left the tour Wednesday night and said they would take the first available flight to Hungary after receiving orders from the Hungarian Lawn Tennis Federation to complete their matches and return home as soon as possible.

Machan was beaten by fourth-seeded Karl Meiler 6-2, 6-4.

In other first-round play Wednesday, Juan Gisbert defeated Gene Mayer 6-4, 6-1; Roger Taylor beat Woody Blocher, 4-6, 6-1, 6-2; Clark Graebner beat Roger deSantis Guedes, 6-4, 7-6, 5-2; Bob Kreiss beat Jun Kuki 0-6, 6-4, 6-2; Trey Waltke defeated Ernie Ewart, 6-3, 6-4, and Jan Pisecky ousted Rolf Thung, 6-2, 3-6, 6-1.

Ashe Escapes

MUNICH — Top-seeded Arthur Ashe duelled Zeljko Franulovic through two tiebreaks before downing the Yugoslavian 7-6, 7-6 Wednesday in the first round of the $60,000 World Championship Tennis tournament.

Three other players already won second-round matches. Bob Hewitt, the No. 3 seed, beat Syd Ball 7-5, 6-4; Kjell Johansson eliminated Jose Higueras, 3-6, 6-3, 6-1, and Carrado Barazzutti ousted Kim Warwick, 6-3, 6-3.

Heldman Upset

HOUSTON — Top-seeded Margaret Court and all the other favorites except one moved past second-round opponnets Wednesday in a women's pro tennis tournament.

Unranked Mona Shallau scored the only upset when she beat seventh-seeded Julie Heldman 6-3, 3-6, 6-4.

Court has little trouble in defeating Brigette Cuypers 6-1, 6-1.

Chris Evert also had an easy time, defeating Kathy Kuykendall 6-1, 6-3.

Three of the other top players, including Evonne Goolagong, won earlier matches Wednesday.

The third-seeded Goolagong had her problems but managed to defeat Julie Anthony, 2-6, 7-5, 6-2, and Francoise Durr was extended in defeating Terry Holliday 7-5, 4-6, 6-4. Olga Morozova eliminated Carrie Meyer, 7-6, 6-4.

Ice Stars At Forum Saturday

The United States' Dorothy Hamill and Gordon McKellen and Canada's Toller Cranston and Lynn Nightingale are among the world's top figure skating champions who are expected to participate for one performance only in the exclusive 1975 World Figure Skating Tour at The Forum in Inglewood at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Thirty-five of the world's finest amateur skaters from 25 nations who will have competed at the World Championships at Colorado Springs, will appear.

Tickets are on sale at the Forum box office and all Ticketron and Mutual Outlets.

Dorothy Hamill is the 1975 and 1974 U.S. national senior ladies champion, and the silver medalist in ladies singles in the 1974 World Championships.

Toller Cranston in 1975 won the senior mens title in the Canadian figure skating championships for the fifth consecutive year, and was third place medalist in the 1974 World Championships in Munich.

Other international champions expected to take part include:

— Christine Errath of East Germany, who in 1975 captured the European ladies championship for the third successive year and is the reigning 1974 ladies world figure skating champion

— Hilary Green and Glyn Watts, 1975 dance champions of Great Britain, second in the 1975 European championships

— Candy Jones and Don Fraser, Canada's 1975 pairs champions

— Dianne de Leeuw, 2nd in this year's Europeans and was a bronze medalist in 1974 world competitions

— Terry Kubicka, second in the U.S. 1975 nationals

USC Five Tourney Favorite

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Southern California, hoping to follow in the footsteps of topranked Indiana, begins play tonight against Drake in the National Commissioners Invitational Basketball Tournament.

In the same tournament last year, Indiana began its current 32-game winning streak that propelled the Hoosiers to the top spot in college basketball this season.

Southern Cal, with an 18-7 mark and ranked 11th, enters the tournament as the favorite among the eight teams.

Coach Bob Boyd's team was third in the Pacific-8 Conference this season, behind UCLA and Oregon State.

The Trojans finished second to Indiana in last year's tournament. This time, they are led by star guard, Gus Williams, who is averaging 21.2 points per game.

The Trojans begin play against Drake, 16-10, of the Missouri Valley Conference after Arizona, 20-6, of the Western Athletic Conference meets Southern Conference representative East Carolina, 19-8.

Friday night, Big 10 representative Purdue, 16-10, takes on Big 8 Contender Missouri, 18-8, and Tennessee, 18-7, of the Southeastern Conference meets Bowling Green, 17-9, of the Mid-American Conference.

The semifinals are set for Saturday night and the nationally televised championship game will be played Sunday afternoon.

Bruins' Meyers Ailing

UCLA Awaits Michigan Saturday Night

PULLMAN, Wash. (AP) — Powerful No. 2 ranked UCLA meets short but pesky Michigan Saturday in one of two first-round NCAA West Regional tournament games here.

Montana, a newcomer to tournament action, faces streaking independent Utah State in the other clash at the Washington State University Performing Arts Center.

Ticket sales were brisk all week for the games, and the 12,000-seat center was expected to be nearly filled.

Utah State and Montana, the Big Sky Conference champions, meet at 7:10 p.m., with the Bruins-Wolverine game to start at 9:10 p.m.

For UCLA, the tournament play will be the start of the Bruins' bid for a 10th national championship in 12 years. Coach John Wooden's second-ranked club finished third nationally last year, ending at seven the number of consecutive national titles it had collected.

The Bruins finished the regular season at 23-3, with senior forward David Meyers leading the team in scoring with an 18.3 per game average.

But Meyers may not be ready to play at full strength Saturday because of leg injury.

That possible loss may not be of major importance, because, as Wooden puts it, "our strength is our balance."

Center Richard Washington stands 6-foot-9, an inch taller than Wolverines team leader and center C. J. Kupec, and he started for the Bruins during the latter part of the season.

"Ralph Drollinger has been coming off the bench and doing very well," said Wooden this week. "I'll probably go with Richard. You don't want to break up a winning combination."

"If we can run, we will, but otherwise, we'll play a very deliberate game," he said. "Everyone is in our offense. It's a team effort."

Kupec averaged 17.7 points a game and 8.5 rebounds this season in leading the Wolverines, 19-7, to a second-place finish in the Big 10 behind No. 1 ranked Indiana.

Three other starters average point production in double figures — guards Joe Johnson, 14.2, and Steve Grotte, 12.6, and forward Wayman Britt, 11.3.

Michigan's record against UCLA is not good. The Bruins have won each of four previous encounters, including a 90-70 decision in 1973.

"When you get this far, you feel you can beat anyone," said Orr. "But playing against Wooden, that's a tremendous thing. Meeting UCLA in the first round is an honor, really."

Lakers Tangle With Cleveland

CLEVELAND—The Los Angeles Lakers will try to improve on their 24-44 Pacific Division record tonight when they meet the Cleveland Cavaliers in National Basketball League action.

The game begins at 6 (PDT). Cleveland is three games out of second place in the Central Division.

MEYERS, SC STAR ON PAC-8 TEAM

SAN FRANCISCO — Guard Ron Lee of Oregon and center Rich Kelley of Stanford were named today for the third time to the Pacific-8 All-conference basketball team.

The eight league coaches were unanimous in selecting Dave Meyers, a UCLA senior, and Lonnie Shelton, an Oregon State sophomore, as forwards and Gus Williams, a Southern California senior, as the other guard.

CIF Sizzles

Plutko's 19 Top Scribes

Hitting from everywhere with uncanny accuracy, the CIF exploited its superior height and firepower to subdue the Daily Pilot sports staff, 60-45, Wednesday night in basketball Massacre IV at Newport Harbor High.

The writers had jumped off to an early 4-1 lead but couldn't keep pace with the red-hot CIF forces, which got behind the offensive talents of Ray Plutko.

With a turnout of 750 looking on, Plutko hit the outside shot and drove well to wind up high scorer for the evening with 19, one more than Daily Pilot sports editor Glenn White.

Plutko canned a dozen in the first half as the winners chalked up a 29-19 lead and they were never seriously threatened after that, although the scribes did rally to lag 37-30.

The writers switched to a zone defense to begin the third quarter and that move failed miserably as the winners picked up three quick buckets before the Daily Pilot could get back to man to man coverage.

White was guarding Plutko, which probably accounts for why Plutko had so many points.

The CIF also got strong support from Kendall Webb and Tom Morgan, who tallied eight points apiece. And reserve Dennis Evans, Corona del Mar principal, amazed all by popping in 10 points, all from outside.

Meanwhile the writers struggled to get an inside attack to supplement the meager outside game. But the CIF's tough zone kept the writers at bay and Craig Sheff was the only other member of the losers to hit in double figures. He got 11.

Newport Harbor principal Chuck Godshall played most of the game but you'd never believe it to look at the stats.

Dave Romano and Ed "The Bug" Burgart got tired after the opening tip and were able to play only at half speed. Howard Handy and Roger Carlson gave close support as reserves and Carlson delighted himself by, of all things, scoring.

White had seven points in the first half, 11 in the last quarter and was 10 for 12 from the free throw line. Nine of his 10 fouls were picked up in the first half.

Soccer Tilt For Edison

TORRANCE—Edison High's soccer team closes out its season Friday night at 6 when it takes on Claremont High for third place in the CIF playoffs at Torrance High.

The game will be the opener of a doubleheader which finds Santa Barbara and South Torrance meeting at 8 for the CIF championship.

CdM Comeback Falls Short

Sailors Win, 73-69

It had all the makings of one of the biggest basketball blunders in history.

The Newport Harbor High faculty took a commanding 61-38 lead into the final quarter Wednesday night against the Corona del Mar High faculty. It looked like the fired-up, high-flying Sailors had the game in the bag.

The Sea Kings, however, came thundering back in the final quarter to score 31 points, but fell just short as Newport posted a 73-69 win in the second game of Massacre IV at Newport Harbor High.

Corona del Mar's raging siege was led by sophomore basketball coach Tim Conroy, who had an amazing 19 points in the final session. He was hitting shots from about 15 feet out. He finished with a game-high of 32 points.

The Sea Kings were also helped by Tandy Gillis, who was in parts unknown in the first half He finished the game with six points, but often drew double and triple coverage from Newport.

Newport came to play and took an 18-10 first-quarter lead and led at the half, 42-26. With Tim Parsell and Bill George doing most of the work, Newport dominated the inside game.

In CIF Semis

Marina Must Slow Tempo

If you relish a fast break, run-and-gun attack, you could be in for a slight disappointment Friday night at the LA Sports Arena.

"We are going to have to slow it down," says Marina High basketball coach Jim Stephens. "Everything Inglewood does defensively is geared to increase the tempo."

Inglewood's quick Sentinels and Marina's Vikings will be clashing in the 4-A semifinals with the tipoff scheduled for 7:30, and Stephens says, "I think it is important for us to get off to a good start with them."

Stephens has reasons to worry. For one thing, Inglewood is 25-3 and plays tenacious defense. For another, the Sentinels have one of the CIF's premier players in 6-6½ forward Reggie Theus, an All-CIF first team choice in the 3A ranks last year.

"We are going to have to take his drive away," says Stephens, "but he also likes to shoot from outside. We are going to try to make him take 20-22 footers. And we are going to try to clog the middle."

Marina was successful in clogging the middle against LB Poly in its 60-46 quarterfinals win. The Vikes combined a man-to-man and zone defense and Poly's top forward, Johnny Nash, was forced to shoot from outside. Nash only scored 10 points as forward Bob Losner guarded him outside.

"When Theus goes outside, Losner will probably go with him," says Stephens, "but we will have someone to help inside."

Containing Theus is not Marina's only responsibility.

"Inglewood has a zone press and they double team the ball all the time," says Stephens. "They gamble a lot and they never quit. And even if a player sees an open area in the press, by the time the ball gets there, someone might also be there."

Garey, which used an effective zone press, defeated Marina, 68-59, earlier this season.

The Vikes have improved since then, however, and have two good ballhandlers in Rich Branning and Tom Ugland.

Marina has also improved on the front line, and Stephens says, "I don't think Inglewood hits the boards as well as Poly."

Poly only outrebounded Marina, 27-26.

Dan Boldt, a reserve 6-2 forward most of the season, has played exceptionally well on the boards in the playoffs, grabbing 26 rebounds. Matt Cook, a 6-5 center, is the Vikes' top rebounder who averaged nine boards in Sunset League play.

But the player who has made Marina go in the playoffs is Losner.

"He has been the key," says Stephens of Losner who was on the All-CIF 4-A first team last year.

Losner has scored 71 points in three playoff games and has totaled 20 points or more in six straight games.

Sea Kings Win, 5-2; Oilers, Eagles Lose

Corona del Mar High's Sea Kings broke loose with a three-run rally in the seventh inning to record a 5-2 triumph at Costa Mesa Wednesday afternoon to claim third place in the Newport-Mesa Kiwanis baseball tourney.

In other non-league skirmishes, Huntington Beach was a 4-3 victim to visiting La Quinta, and Estancia was stopped by Rancho Alamitos, 4-1, on the winner's diamond.

For coach Tom Trager and his CdM crew it was Mark Franklin who got things started, spanking a triple off the right-center fence and scoring when the ball got away at third base to snap a 2-all situation.

Later Brad Greeley and Gary Guisness got aboard on a walk and single to center, then both scored when Monte Pries' infield smash proved too tough to handle.

Mesa took the early lead with single tallies in the first and third thanks to rbi singles by Gary Baume and Steve Bernhardt.

Schimmel's 15-9 Sets Vault Mark

Villa Park High's Keith Schimmel soared 15-9 Wednesday in the pole vault to help his mates to a rout of visiting Estancia in dual meet action.

Schimmel and mate Tim Vahlstrom, who went 14-10 Wednesday, will be at the Southern Counties Meet at Huntington Beach Saturday.

Schimmel's leap breaks the Orange County record by seven inches. The old mark was 15-2 by Valencia's Ron Moors.

Mile Field Loaded In Southern Counties

One of the plums of the 54th annual Southern Counties track and field invitational at Huntington Beach High School is the mile run—a feature which produces a recipient to the Daily Pilot perpetual trophy Saturday.

And a number of outstanding candidates, including three Orange Coast area athletes, appear in the running for the prize. The best time of the day's four races will win the trophy.

Competition is slated for large schools and small schools and each classification has two races.

Perhaps the one to beat is Gahr High's Jim Arriola, who'll go in the first small schools race. He's clocked a 4:16.9 and in recent workouts turned a 3:03 for three laps.

He doesn't have a lot to push him in that race, however. Rancho Alamitos' Breger Moore has a 4:19.8 to his credit and figures to get a good test in the second race from San Clemente's Terry Huddleston, who has a 4:25.

In large schools competition Scott Blackburn of Royal (4:18.8) goes against Chris Ljung of Vista (4:20.0) and Mission Viejo's Jon Cook (4:21.9), in addition to Patrick Henry's Paul Beckland (4:22).

And another tough race to figure is the second race in large schools where Patrick Henry's Thomas Hunt (4:17.2), Sunny Hills' Larry Hayden (4:19.0) and Foothill's Matt Bell (4:21.1) will be challenged by Huntington Beach's Robert Angel (4:22.7).

Edison High's Colin McConnell has a 4:22.5 entering time, but he'll be coming off a two-mile where he is entered with a 9:17.6.

Others who could raise some eyebrows include Mater Dei's Joe Dowling and Bill St. John, Costa Mesa's Walt Elliott and Rande Hawkinson and Newport Harbor's Kurk Clarke and Gary Ertz.

Dowling and St. John have 4:33.1 and 4:33.1 credentials, while Elliott and Hawkinson have done 4:30.0 and 4:33.0. They all figure to improve on those times.

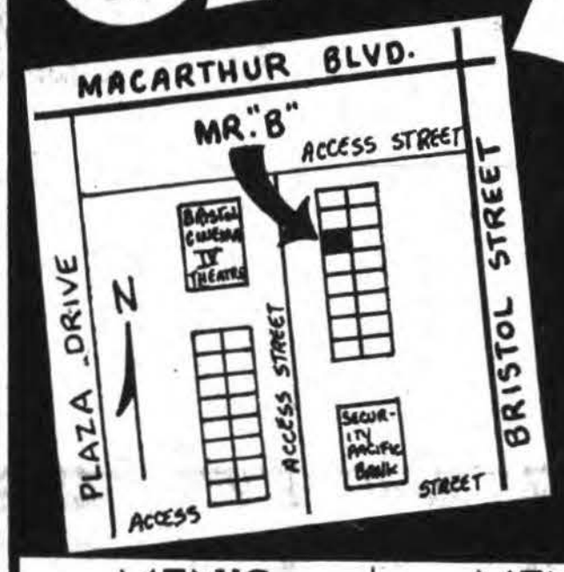

Mesa Banquet

Costa Mesa High's basketball teams will be honored with a sports awards banquet tonight at Tale of the Whale Restaurant at Balboa Pavillion beginning at 6.

'No Sex' on Stage in Laguna

Intermission
Tom Titus

Between the drawing room comedy of its first act and the freestyle farce of its second, "No Sex Please, We're British" encounters a sticky wicket or two on the stage of the Laguna Moulton Community Playhouse.

There are some bright comic moments in this stylishly staged production — which is "British" only by implication since authenticity has, wisely

"NO SEX PLEASE, WE'RE BRITISH"
A comedy by Anthony Marriott and Alistair Foot, directed and designed by Hap Graham, assisted by Jack Bingert; stage manager Anne Wood, sound and lighting by Carl Callaway, presented Tuesdays through Saturdays at 8:30 until March 29 at the Laguna Moulton Community Playhouse, 606 Laguna Canyon Road, Laguna Beach. Reservations 494-0743.

THE CAST

Peter Hunter	Patrick Birkett
Frances Hunter	Helene Briggs
Brian Runnicles	Walter Dudek
Eleanor Hunter	Betsy Paul
Leslie Bromhead	David Paul
Superintendent Paul	Avery Graves
Mr. Needham	Walter Daly
Susan	Patricia McQuade
Barbara	Susan Cressler
Delivery man	Phil Interlandi

probably, been sacrificed for clarity. But the overall performance seems deficient in the sparkling spontaneity imperative to the enrichment of a play structured on so thin a premise.

The sense of panic which must prevail almost from the outset — as a conservative bank manager, his wife and his assistant stave off a torrent of mail-order pornography — is present only in sporadic bursts. While the Laguna cast turns in some fine individual performances, the production itself is in need of a bit more tightening and polish.

UNDER THE direction of Hap Graham, and featuring a company of longtime Laguna alumni, "No Sex" is staged with style and aplomb when a pratfall or two might be more in keeping with the mood of the piece. Timing also, so imperative to physical comedy, lapses a bit on occasion.

Patrick Birkett, a fine dramatic actor, seems a bit uncomfortable in the central role of the beseiged bank manager, though he handles his assignment credibly. More impressive is Helene Briggs as his new bride, sharp in her delivery and crisp in her characterization.

The funniest role in the show, that of the harried assistant dispatched to dispose of the blue material, is played with unabashed relish by Walter Dudek in a reprise of his hilarious character from "How the Other Half Loves." Another terribly funny performance is turned in by Walter Daly as a humorless auditor fighting for sleep against an onslaught of scantily clad business girls.

BETSY AND David Paul, those 40-year veterans of Laguna theater, are in prime form as the banker's coquettish mother and his stodgy superior, respectively. Betsy waltzes through the show like a character from a Noel Coward comedy with beautiful style and affinity for her role, while David functions smoothly in a lesser assignment, bringing a solid, imperturbable bearing to his.

Rounding out the cast are Avery Graves as the local constable, Patricia McQuade and Susan Cressler as the lovely Limeys from the porno parlor (Miss McQuade's accent is a breath of fresh, British air) and Phil Interlandi, a longtime Laguna luminary in a two-line bit as a delivery boy.

"No Sex Please, We're British" is an entertaining evening, a show which should solidify with additional performances. It's on stage Tuesdays through Saturdays until March 29 at the Laguna Moulton Community Playhouse, 606 Laguna Canyon Road, Laguna Beach.

Fired by Otto

Mitchum Still His Own Man

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Robert Mitchum happily continues to march to his own drum, shrugging off the fact he was fired from one movie and falsely cast in another during the past year.

The iconoclastic Mitchum, relaxing between scenes, downed a beer in his motor-home dressing room on location in a shabby Los Angeles neighborhood.

MITCHUM

He is starring in "Farewell, My Lovely," playing that durable private eye, Philip Marlowe. His predecessors in the role were Robert Montgomery, "Lady in the Lake;" Dick Powell, "Murder, My Sweet;" Humphrey Bogart, "The Big Sleep;" Elliot Gould, "The Long Goodbye" and Jim Garner, "Marlowe."

"FOR A WHILE THERE I didn't know if I'd get a chance to finish a picture," he grinned, "or even get started in one.

"Otto Preminger fired me after three days work in 'Rosebud.' I reported to the set one morning at 6 o'clock and imitated his German accent and mannerisms for the crew.

"Old Otto came up to me screaming, 'You have been drinking!' I told him I did my share of drinking, but not at 6 a.m. for God's sake.

"But he kept yelling. I tried to break the tension on the set by imitating him again and he almost had a stroke. 'You are drunk!' he hollered. 'You have been drinking with the Corsicans. By the end of the day you are drunk.'

"I TOLD HIM WHAT the hell, if it's the end of the day it doesn't matter if I'm drunk."

Mitchum reported the director flew into a rage and cried, "You're through. Fired!"

With his customary cool Mitchum bade Preminger farewell and split.

"I wasn't mad," Mitchum said. "Hell, I think Otto is funny. I don't believe he really wanted to fire me. He just lost his temper and it was too late I didn't care one way or the other."

"It's funny, Preminger objects to drinking actors. But he replaced me with Peter O'Toole Hell, that's like replacing Ray Charles with Helen Keller."

Mitchum was even more laconic about the announcement he would co-star with Richard Burton in "Jackpot."

"THE PRODUCERS MADE it sound as if I were all signed up," he said, draining his beer bottle. "But I insisted on having my salary put in an American bank before I went to Europe They wouldn't do it, so I refused the role

Still a rebel in middle age, Mitchum is more amused than irritated by Hollywood hokum In truth, he genuinely doesn't give a damn

With considerable fanfare, Universal Studios announced Bob would co-star with Charlton Heston in "Midway," a drama about the key naval battle in the Pacific during World War II Mitchum will play Adm. William "Bull" Halsey.

ASKED HOW HE WOULD play the crusty old mariner, Mitchum choked with laughter

"Flat on my back," he replied. "They forgot to tell everybody it's only one day's work I'll play Halsey in a hospital bed in one scene. When they offered me the part I refused at first. I don't like the confinement of warships and taking all that crap from brass hats.

"I told them they could send my one-day's salary to charity. What the hell, it's not that important."

Paul, Joanne Still 'Content'

A: Being discontented, we suspect. Joanne frankly tells interviewers that while her 15-year-old marriage is "delightful," she must admit marriage and children (three girls, the oldest 14, youngest 7) has hindered her career. And that if she were a young actress beginning now, she doubts whether she'd get married at all.

Is she jealous of her husband? "Sure, I'm jealous," Joanne admits. "My God, all the women in the world are evidently in love with Paul. Some of them you don't mind, but for a lot of the others, well, you'd just as soon that they weren't.

"If the marriage is good enough, it will probably survive. If there are weaknesses in the marriage that are unbearable, it probably won't."

Q: Was comedian Buddy Hackett ever anything else before setting out to be a professional comic in the Catskills? — Mrs. Alain Dupree, Buffalo.

A: Yes. When not keeping audiences in stitches, Buddy helped his father upholster furniture along the Borscht Circuit. Today Hackett prefers the laugh racket, especially since his fee as a comedian is considerably higher than his pay as an apprentice upholsterer. Anywhere from $25,000 to $50,000 a week higher! Nevertheless he enjoys proving his prowess as an upholsterer whenever challenged, even to the point of bragging that he can still hold tacks in his mouth while yawning.

Q: I've heard that Tony Orlando became a singer strictly by accident. How did it happen? — Stella Washburn, Seattle.

A: When Tony was working as a song plugger. To push his publisher's song, "Knock Three Times," he tried to coach a young male singer in how to sell the sung. When it still didn't come off, he himself got up and belted it out with the two other singers, Telma Hopkins and Joyce Vincent Wilson. This take became the master record — and sold some 6½ million copies. They stayed together and a winning trio was born" — Tony Orlando and Dawn.

Judge Orders Corpse Put in Cold Storage

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — A judge has ruled that the body of a man killed in an industrial accident must be kept in cold storage until it is determined which of two women is his legal wife.

James Eli Booker, 43, and another man were killed Feb. 23 while working in the hold of a ship under construction.

TWO WOMEN CLAIM to be Booker's wife; each wants to determine the disposal of his body.

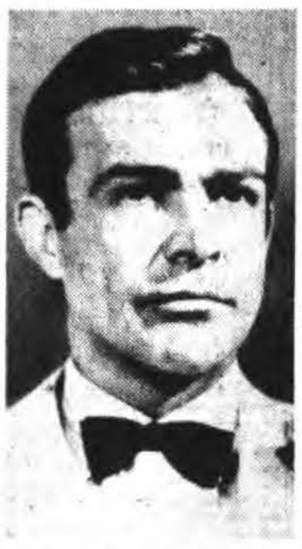

Ida M. Booker claims she lived with him 23 years in Washington and Texas and had a valid common-law marriage that never was dissolved.

Rosalie Booker claims she married Booker after he left his common-law wife, and that her marriage is valid.

IDA BOOKER contends Oregon will recognize the common-law marriage if it was recognized in the state where it was originated.

A funeral was held Saturday, one day after Judge Clifford Olsen of Multnomah County Circuit Court ordered that the body be placed in cold storage.

The question of Booker's legal wife could take on added importance if a wrongful death suit is filed over the accident.

Wife Murdered

Aging Doctor Stands Trial

SEARCY, Ark. (AP) — The white, tree-shaded hospital where most of the county's residents were born stands as a tragic monument to the life of Dr. Porter Rodgers Sr., 70.

Rodgers, 21-year-old Peggy Jean Hale, and another man are accused of murdering Rodgers' wife, Fern, 67, last Sept. 26.

"The only reason I can explain Fern's killing was because I was hungry for Peggy Hale and we wanted to get married. . ." Rodgers said in a statement read to a jury at his trial for murder.

RODGERS PLUGGED HIS EARS with his fingers when the murder charge was read to him last month in the packed courtroom. Court was recessed once because of his weeping. The trial is in its third week.

Miss Hale, daughter of a minister, testified for the prosecution last week. She said Rodgers paid William Kimbrell, 32, more than $3,000 to "rape, rob and kill" his wife.

Miss Hale and Kimbrell are to be tried later. Prosecutor Gene Raff says he will seek the death penalty for all three defendants.

In opening arguments to the jury, defense lawyer Ed Bethune said Rodgers was "chasing a second childhood." He called Miss Hale a "gold-digger" and said "the Doc would have been the next to go."

RODGERS IS A MILLIONAIRE land speculator and horse breeder. For many years, he operated the only hospital in the county, Porter Rodgers Hospital.

After graduating from medical school in 1929, Rodgers married Fern in 1932 and moved to Searcy, near her home.

Then scandal erupted. Rodgers was convicted of passing counterfeit money in 1933 and sentenced to three years in prison. But the sentence, for reasons still unclear, was reduced to five years probation. Then he began to rebuild his practice and reputation.

In 1944 he bought a small sanatorium and expanded it to an 86-bed hospital. He sold the hospital in 1969, but maintained his private practice there.

MISS HALE SAID IT WAS at the hospital in the summer of 1973 that their love affair began. She began working as his receptionist, and became his weekend travel companion. They kept a diary of their sexual activities, of which he was proud, she said.

She testified that they began talking of marriage, but he said a divorce would be too complicated. Miss Hale testified that she, Rodgers and Kimbrell then planned Mrs. Rodgers' death.

Mrs. Rodgers was shot twice with a gun police say belongs to Miss Hale. She was arrested in early November, and Rodgers and Kimbrell were arrested a short time later.

Rodgers' medical license was revoked and he was declared incompetent to run his business.

AND THE HOSPITAL, THE foundation of his reputation and wealth, will be abandoned in 90 days. The new owners are building an expanded modern hospital, which was going to be named the New Porter Rodgers Hospital.

A new name has not been chosen but hospital administrator Donald Cline says, "It's been decided that it will be in the best interests of all concerned, in view of the recent notoriety, that the name be changed."

Secret Marriage

2 Freed In White Slavery

TYLER, Tex. (UPI) — A U.S. District Judge has objected to a jury verdict freeing two women charged with white slavery, but said he had no recourse but to accept the decision.

"This court vigorously, violently, disagrees with your verdict," said Judge Joe J. Fisher. "The testimony clearly indicated Katie Mae Harris Miller and Ann Key were guilty.

"BUT YOU HAVE returned your verdict and the court will accept it."

The 11-man, one-woman jury deliberated two hours and 28 minutes before returning the innocent verdict. Mrs. Miller, 30, of Nacogdoches, Tex., and Mrs. Key, 37, of Hot Springs, Ark., were charged with white slavery by taking three young girls from Texas to Arkansas, allegedly for prostitution. One of the girls is from Anaheim.

THE GIRLS testified they had been told by Mrs. Miller that it was stupid to give away sex instead of selling it, and one said she went to Mrs. Miller's house trailer during the spring and summer of 1973 and engaged in sexual intercourse with men each night.

That girl and another said they were given cigarettes and liquor in exchange and were allowed to write checks against Mrs. Miller's bank account. However, the two who went to Arkansas testified they were blackmailed into going by Mrs. Miller, who said she would file charges of forgery against them if they did not go.

Breast Increase Tied to Cancer

DETROIT (AP) — Women whose breasts increase in density or have a very prominent duct pattern are statistically more likely to develop cancer, a radiological researcher reports.

Dr. John N. Wolfe, chief of the radiology department of Hutzel Hospital, says he uncovered a distinct correlation between the internal composition of the breast and its susceptibility to cancer.

WOLFE SAYS that in a five-year study of mammograms taken at the hospital he found that cancer was 22 times more likely to develop in a breast with increased density and up to 17 times more likely to develop in a breast with prominent duct patterns than in a normal breast.

Wolfe made the comments in a paper presented to the 14th annual Conference on the Detection and Treatment of Early Breast Cancer in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

"The determination is not absolute, but sufficiently accurate to have considerable application in breast cancer screening programs and in the everyday clinical practice of breast cancer detection of symptomatic women," Wolfe said.

WOLFE SAID most, but not all, breast cancers are accompanied by increased development of ducts and fibrous tissue. He suggested that two paths of development of breast cancers may exist — one related to breast density and ducts and the other unrelated.

The breast characteristics described in the study have no accompanying outward appearance and can be determined only through radiological examinations.

Committed

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Commitments to the California Youth Authority increased in 1974 for the second straight year as 3,002 youthful offenders were admitted for the first time, the CYA reported.

ONE BEER RUINS IT

MUNICH (UPI) — Skiers hoping to lose weight on the slopes will find the calories lost in two hours of skiing can be wiped by just one bottle of beer, the German Alpine Association said.

One hour of skiing consumes 200 calories, the association said, while an eight-hour desk job burns 2,000 to 2,400 calories.

VALLEY REALTY PRESENTS USED V.A.!
Charlie Silver in our office recently found a home for sale in Harbor View Homes, where an owner HAD PREVIOUSLY PURCHASED THE HOME FOR $68,000, USED HIS VA LOAN, AND HAD $200. OUT OF POCKET COSTS. This great loan was assumable without loan fees and Charlie immediately sold the home to his good clients and everybody was pleased. But the moral of the story is that this Harbor View Homes property had been financed using a V.A. loan. These loans are available to most veterans at 8%, for up to $94,000. on $100,000 purchases. There are lots of really great properties for sale in the Harbor area where you can use your V.A. and SAVE MONEY ON POINTS AND INTEREST RATES.

Did you know that:

1975 CARS DELIVER BETTER MILEAGE AND PERFORMANCE THAN RECENT MODELS!

Because the 1975 Cars are designed around the Catalytic Converter, they actually deliver better performance and gas mileage . . . in fact up to 15% better mileage than comparable 1974 models.

A 1975 CAR WILL CUT YOUR OPERATING & MAINTENENCE COSTS AT LEAST $100 PER YEAR!

Through high-energy ignition systems & other improvements, auto makers have increased gas mileage and greatly lowered the frequency of tune-ups and plug changes. (A "Big-3" spokesman said they can guarantee the operating and maintenance costs of the '75 models will be at least $100 LESS PER YEAR THAN '74 CARS!

HHH $200,000 Tax 'Gift' Disallowed

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Income tax deductions of nearly $200,000 claimed by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey for the gift of vice presidential papers to the Minnesota Historical Society have been disallowed by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service, an aide said today.

David Gartner, an administrative assistant to the Minnesota Democrat, said Humphrey reached an agreement with the IRS to pay back taxes plus 6 percent annual interest on the $199,153.

The tax deductions were claimed for 1969 through 1972. Gartner and Humphrey's Minneapolis lawyer, Joe A. Walters, declined to say what the back taxes would amount to. They said the IRS is computing that figure.

Walters said the IRS objection was based on a regulation prohibiting deductions for "gifts of a future interest" over which the donor retains some form of control.

Gartner added, "There's nothing in this that involves wrongdoing of any kind. It's simply a difference in the way reasonable men interpret the law."

Walter pointed out that the IRS raised no questions about the legality of the Humphrey gift or the value of $309,475 placed on it.

"I told the senator that while there were some doubts on the 'future interest' question, I thought he had a good chance to be sustained in the long run," Walters said. "But he said, 'I'm going to resolve those doubts in favor of the Treasury'."

Humphrey's contract with the historical society, signed in April 1966, restricts public access to the papers for 25 years, meaning that anyone wishing to see them must get the senator's permission.

The IRS contends the limitation means Humphrey retains an interest in the papers, disqualifying them as a charitable deduction until after the limitation expires.

Walters said the IRS began an audit of Humphrey's returns after his disclosure in December 1973 that he was claiming the deductions. The disclosure came shortly after former President Nixon revealed that he claimed deductions of $482,000 for gifts of vice-presidential papers to the National Archives.

The Nixon deductions later were disallowed when it was discovered his lawyers back-dated the official deed prior to July 25, 1969 — the last day on which such charitable contributions could be made.

Congress amended the IRS code in 1969 to prohibit deductions for charitable gifts of papers, retroactive to July 25, meaning gifts made after that date did not qualify for deductions. Nixon was assessed $467,000 in back taxes and interest.

Assessor 'Gift' Probed

Records Unsealed In Case

By TOM BARLEY
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Documents made public today after earlier being sealed by an Orange County Superior Court judge contain allegations that one of nine men indicted after an investigation into the county assessor's office accepted marine equipment valued at $864.68 from a Garden Grove company.

District attorney's investigator John Coleman submitted the report to his office after making a trip to Newport Beach and an examination of the vessel "Bolinas" moored there by defendant George Upton.

Coleman claims in the affidavits made public today by Judge Everett W. Dickey that Upton, 54, of Santa Ana, was the recipient of an electric generating plant and aqualift valued at $864.68 and that the Radio Shack company picked up the tab.

It is also alleged in Coleman's affidavit that Radio Shack warehouse manager Joe Cernie told Assistant District Attorney Michael Capizzi that his company "saved approximately $190,000 in two years by knowing the right people."

Coleman states in the affidavit that Upton was assigned by the assessor's office to handle Radio Shack assessments during that period.

Also in the affidavit is the comment that a 1972 audit of the assessor's office then headed by Rep. Andrew J. Hinshaw, indicated that Radio Shack had been under-assessed by $225,880 in 1969.

The tax of $22,000 due under that assessment hike was never billed and never paid, the affidavit alleges.

The allegations against Upton come at a time when the Grand Jury is known to be exploring charges that a number of Orange County companies and stores received favorable assessment treatment during Hinshaw's term as assessor.

Cambodia Aid

Chances 'Slim' Of Compromise

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Foreign Affairs Committee today rejected $135.6 million in emergency U.S. military aid for Cambodia, but held out the slim possibility of a compromise on the controversy with President Ford.

Less than an hour later, the Senate Democratic Caucus voted 38 to 5 against providing further military aid to either Cambodia or South Vietnam. House Democrats voted in a similar manner Wednesday.

The House committee vote was 18-15 on a compromise amendment proposed by Rep. Lee Hamilton (D-Ind.)

It was a severe blow to the Administration's request for $222 million to Cambodia. The amendment was an attempt to compromise on aid for Phnom Penh which is surrounded by Communist forces.

The committee delayed any immediate recommendation to the full House on the Cambodian aid matter.

Committee Chairman Thomas E. Morgan (D-Pa.), told reporters he was urging the Administration to consult with Rep. Donald M. Fraser, (D-Minn.) over a possible compromise on the aid. Fraser is a major critic of any further U.S. weapons for Cambodia.

At the White House, Press Secretary Ron Nessen responded by saying that Ford still hopes that Congress will finally approve his request. He said Ford felt Congress could be persuaded by the testimony of a congressional delegation which recently returned from Southeast Asia and films of the Cambodian conflict which have been shown on television.

Meanwhile, Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said today he is reluctant to personally seek negotiations for peace in Cambodia with exiled Prince Norodom Sihanouk.

But Mansfield indicated he would undertake the mission if President Ford asked him to.

Too Many Chiefs in District?

Four Orange Coast school districts have some of the highest ratios of administrators to classroom teachers in the county, a Grand Jury report issued Wednesday shows.

The report urged school districts with higher ratios to study the ones that keep the number of administrators to a minimum. The jury said a low ratio of administrators to teachers is costly and hampers ideal education.

According to the jury, state guidelines call for nine administrators per 100 teachers in elementary districts, eight per 100 in unified districts and seven per 100 in high school districts.

According to statistics provided by the jury, four Orange Coast districts approach those state mandated maximums.

Of coastal unified districts, the Saddleback Unified District ranks highest with 7.5 administrators per 100 teachers. Saddleback also has 6.7 pupil service employes teachers and 60.6 classified (support) employes per 100 teachers.

SAN CLEMENTE'S RAILROAD DEPOT — SHOULD IT BE RELOCATED SOMEPLACE ELSE?
City, Chamber of Commerce Have Their Committees Studying the Matter

Clemente Approves Pier Bowl Plans

By JACK CHAPPELL
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

San Clemente's proposed redevelopment of the pier bowl area came closer to reality Wednesday following a series of actions by the city council and the planning commission.

Meeting jointly, the council approved resolutions establishing the legal framework for the redevelopment agency and the planning commission approved boundaries and ordered staff to begin planning improvements for the area.

In setting the boundaries around the bowl, the commission rebuffed an attempt by Commissioner Bill Walker and Councilman Tony DiGiovanni to include the downtown business district in the redevelopment area.

Dissenting councilmen and commissioners said inclusion of the business district in the redevelopment area would syphon off revenues created in the largely residential bowl area and expend them in the business district which would not generate an equal amount of funds.

The area included in the redevelopment runs from Linda Lane south to Cazador Lane and from the ocean inland to the first major north south thoroughfares.

Although the planning of redevelopment projects is not complete, Mayor Thomas O'Keefe has said the work will largely entail a new pier entrance, street, drainage, lighting and parking improvements.

Mayor O'Keefe Wednesday again reassured property owners there is no intent at present for massive condemnations or demolition of structures such as could be expected in an urban renewal project.

"Some people are frightened," Mayor O'Keefe said noting that rumors had been passed around that "the idea was to raze the entire bowl area."

He said this was not the intent, and he said there would be no likelihood of massive condemnations of property.

Mayor O'Keefe said the idea behind the agency's formation was to use tax money increases in assessed valuation on properties in the bowl to fund improvements by freezing its disbursal for other purposes.

San Clemente Train Depot Move Mulled

Nowadays, they are pretty empty places and the depot at the San Clemente stop emptier than most.

The city and the chamber of commerce would like to see that change.

The city council recently voted to have the town traffic and parking committee and the Parks and Recreation committee look at the posibility of relocating the depot.

Currently it consists of a wide space and a wooden bus-stop-style shelter near the tracks by the city pier.

The council's action followed the recommendation of Harry Raven, a citizen, who suggested the depot be relocated to the North Beach area off Boca de la Playa.

The Chamber of Commerce board of directors Tuesday voted to support an investigation into the relocation, but steered clear of a second council suggestion which was to study potential for relocating the city pier in the North Beach area as well as the depot.

Laguna Withholds Action on Firemen

Acting at the request of the Laguna Beach Firemen's Association, city councilmen deferred action Wednesday night on an initiative petition demanding an increase in fire department manpower.

Councilmen voted to receive and file the petition and scheduled the matter for further discussion at 4:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The association-backed initiative petition has been signed by 2,367 registered voters — 777 more than the number required to force the council to act on the demands or send the matter to the city's electorate for its decision.

The petition specifically demands that the minimum manpower level in the department be set at 32 sworn firefighters, three more than currently employed.

What action the council will take is uncertain. City Attorney George Logan has ruled that the department's manpower level does not fall within the province of the initiative process.

"The government code says the city council shall determine the level of fire service and not the electorate," Logan said, reiterating his previous ruling.

Council members have been meeting informally with firemen

Traffic By The Volumes

San Clemente city councilmen had just passed on directions Wednesday to the city's staff to start looking at potential sites for a new county library when the subject turned to parking needs at any new library.

Councilman B. Patrick Lane suggested the city's Parking and Traffic Commission should study parking demand generated by a library and noted it could look to Laguna Beach's experience with a new library.

Councilman Art Holmes suggested one parking space per book might be about right.

State Funds Flap Studied By Council

The San Clemente City Council has ordered City Manager Kenneth Carr to compile a list of police expenses related to protection of former President Richard M. Nixon, a step possibly in preparation for an attempt to gain new grant funds.

The state withdrew $117,000 in state-administered federal funds which had been destined for the San Clemente Police Department.

Wednesday's action set off a round of city cost-cutting to prevent layoffs in the department.

Councilman Tony DiGiovanni said he wanted to see how much money the city spent to protect the President and other VIP vis-

Coastal Traffic Opposed

By FREDERICK SCHOEMEHL
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

The Laguna Beach City Council made it clear Wednesday night that it does not want traffic from the Irvine Company's proposed 10,000-acre coastal development pouring into the Art Colony.

Following a presentation by Councilwoman Phyllis Sweeney, the council unanimously endorsed for study purposes a plan that would keep traffic generated by the 40,000-person development off Pacific Coast Highway as it now runs from Laguna Beach to Corona del Mar.

The traffic circulation proposal shows three major roads that would extend almost to Pacific Coast Highway then abruptly loop back to inland areas.

Persons wanting to get to the coast could park at one of three large parking facilities called for in the proposal and take trams to the beach and other coastal recreation areas.

Ideally, the only traffic on Pacific Coast Highway would be commuters betweeen Laguna Beach and Newport Beach.

Counciimen agreed the pall plan had merit and should be carefully studied by TICMAP, the acronym for The Irvine Company Coastal Community Multi-Agency Planning Program. TICMAP is made up of representatives of 22 public and private agencies that want a say in the type of development that occurs on the sprawling parcel.

The council also referred the proposal prepared by representatives of Newport Beach, Irvine and Laguna Beach to the Southeast Orange County Land Use and Transportation Study group.

"Any development here is going to put impossible demands on the cities of Laguna Beach, Newport Beach and Irvine," said Mrs. Sweeney as she reviewed the traffic circulation proposal for the property.

Irvine Company planners sat silently in the audience as Mrs. Sweeney described the proposal. The company's plans now show through roads to Coast Highway.

"Our intent is to try and see if the concept as for here (the cities' loop plan) makes sense," Larry Moore, Irvine Company project manager, told the council later.

"My concern is where you're going to bring that traffic down in Laguna Beach," Councilman Jon Brand told Moore during an earlier presentation of the overall plan for the coastal property.

Moore said he couldn't specifically say where the road would be.

"I can answer that," Brand fired back. "You're going to destroy that neighborhood if you bring that road through it."

"I can't see any area in the north end that has a road that could handle that traffic," Brand continued.

"That's precisely the kind of input we want," Moore said.

Mayor Roy Holm said the council's action to urge study of the loop system should not be construed as a "commitment to the concept."

"We cannot be sure that this is the right plan," Holm said, explaining that it may be subject to change as it is studied by the various agencies.

"I've got some ideas for possibly getting some of that back.

"I don't think this should be considered a dead issue," DiGiovanni said.

When the state announced withholding of the grant funds, Carr immediately announced the city would have to defer a major construction project and freeze hiring in the police department to avoid a deficit budget.

The city had applied for the state funds after losing a similar federal grant for presidential protection when Mr. Nixon resigned in August.

Since 1970, the city had received more than $500,000 to hire 10 additional officers to protect the President and handle problems arising from the President's residence in the community.

on charges of grand theft, conspiracy, submission of false claims and violations of government codes.

They have been ordered to face trial June 9. They are free on their promise to appear at that trial.

It is alleged that the nine defendants, two of whom have since retired from county service, submitted mileage slips and overtime vouchers to the county at a time they were actually working on Hinshaw's Congressional campaign.

It has been estimated that their alleged activities cost the county at least $10,000.

It was learned Wednesday that Coleman's trip to Newport Beach and his examination of the 38-foot "Bolinas" was one of a number of such assignments being handled by district attorney's investigators.

Ford Urges Tax Speed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford was quoted today as complaining that "time is growing short" for action on a recession-fighting tax cut and yet the Senate plans an Easter vacation in just eight days.

Ford has said that he wants the tax cut by Easter.

The tax-writing Senate Finance Committee began writing its version of the bill this morning.

Sen. Russell B. Long, (D-La.), the chairman, said he will support a $30-billion tax cut, almost double the amounted recommended by Ford.

CUSD Eyes Inca Shop For Center

A vacant building in the Capistrano industrial park may soon become the administrative center for the Capistrano Unified School District.

But before the school board can consider the purchase it has to get approval from the State Division of Aeronautics.

The building is next to Capistrano Airport.

Reginald Petty, aviation consultant, looked at the vacant Inca Plastics building in San Juan Capistrano Wednesday, but his opinion of the transaction will be submitted later in writing.

"In order for a school district to buy a site within two miles of an airport, this state agency has to give its approval," said Joe Weimer, director of administrative services for the school district.

"They check it for two things — safety and noise. This is a small airport. I don't think we'll have any trouble."

District officials have been looking for a new administrative center since November when the board declared the old center in Capistrano Beach unsafe. The administrative offices are located in Serra School, a building that doesn't meet state earthquake standards.

The search has been narrowed down to the Inca building which staff estimates would cost $1.4 million to purchase and renovate.

The money will come from a recent $6.5 million bond sale. Criticism has been levied against district officials for earmarking the sum for the administrative center, rather than needed schools.

A final decision has not yet been made.

Health Panel OKs UCI Medical Bill

By DOUGLAS FRITZSCHE
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

The legislative "cakewalk" is over for a $8.95 million supplemental appropriation bill designed to finance the medical education and community health care system envisioned by the UC Irvine medical school, the school's dean said today.

The bill eased past its third legislative hurdle Wednesday with 7 to 0 approval of the Assembly Health Committee.

But medical school Dean Stanley van den Noort said the bill faces tough times in the Assembly Ways and Means Committee because it calls for a $650,000 appropriation from the state general fund for costs of transition of Orange County Medical Center from Orange County to university ownership.

The $8.3 million balance would come from a $156 million health sciences bond issue approved by voters in 1972.

Meanwhile, delays in receiving financing have caused the medical school to scrap plans for takeover of the Medical Center July 1 as had been planned, Dr. van den Noort said in a wide-ranging conversation with reporters.

The campus is seeking new guidelines for takeover of the facility.

As explained by medical school Assistant Dean Tom Rolinson, the university would take over the facility six months after receiving funding.

In the meantime, the medical school hopes to keep its teaching operations in the Medical Center going through an extension of its present affiliation agreement with the county, Dr. van den Noort said.

The delays, caused by uncertainty about funding the medical school among UC regents, opposition from Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. and Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post and the long list of legislative committees which must consider the bill, have caused the problems already.

The medical school envisions a $42.5 million medical teaching and health care system consisting of a renovated 300-bed Orange County Medical Center, a 200-bed on-campus hospital and a string of outpatient clinics, in addition to a basic sciences teaching building.

Between $39 and $42 million of the 1972 bond funds were earmarked for UCI medical school development, Dr. van den Noort said. However, the university, due to a variety of factors, has over-encumbered the bond issue by more than $88 million.

A list of alternatives to the Irvine development plan is being considered by regents. None of the alternatives includes the on-campus hospital.

Without that facility, Dr. van den Noort claims the medical school is "doomed to mediocrity" and he and the bulk of his faculty will quit.

Already, Dr. van den Noort said 25 percent of the key posts are vacant. The school, he said, is unable to recruit high-quality faculty because of the uncertainty about its development.

Along the same line, the school is having difficulty attracting the best residents, interns and students, he said.

Federal grants, community and alumni support and other sources of income are drying up, he said. Losses in federal grants alone could total a fifth of the cost of the whole system, $8.3 million, he said.

Research and training grants are falling short of previous years, he said, because of uncertainty about the school's future.

"I would like to be in a position sometime," Dr. van den Noort said, "to run a medical school and not be involved in constant struggle just to stay afloat."

Niguel Rezone Okayed

Orange County supervisors have approved new zoning on a six-acre parcel of land in Laguna Niguel that could allow construction of 34 apartment or condominium units.

The land, located at the corner of Alicia Parkway and Niguel Road, consists of 13 recorded lots under five different ownerships.

The rezoning bid, endorsed by the planning commission, was opposed during Wednesday's meeting by a group of homeowners from an adjacent tract of single-family homes.

They told supervisors they oppose plans for the land because the density is too high and traffic on a single entry road to their development will be too heavy.

The homeowners told supervisors under the original zoning on the land, only 26 units could be built on the 13 lots because they were zoned for duplexes.

They complained the new zoning of multiple family residential would allow considerably more units on the property than the original zoning. New zoning was needed on the land to make it conform to the new county general plan.

But supervisors were told by Principal Planner Dave Moore that the homeowners were laboring under a misconception.

He said the new zoning, R-4 (7,000) would allow only one unit per 7000 square feet of land. That would permit only about 34 units on all 13 lots, he said.

The old zoning of R-2 (1,800) could have allowed the property owner to build more than 50 units, supervisors were told.

at 7.4 administrators per 100 teachers.

Other ratios in those districts show Laguna Beach with 8.4 in pupil services and 78.5 in the classified category per 100 teachers and Irvine with 6.0 in pupil services and 70.6 classified employes per 100 teachers.

The fourth top coastal district is Huntington Beach Elementary with 7.8 administrators per 100 teachers. It has 4.7 pupil services employes and 62.2 classified employes per 100 teachers.

Other coast districts and their ratios include:

— Huntington Beach High School, 4.9 administrators, 10.5 pupil services and 67.1 classified per 100 teachers.

— Seal Beach Elementary; 7.0 administrators, 5.2 pupil services and 51.4 classified per 100 teachers.

— Ocean View Elementary; 6.2 administrators, 2.2 pupil services and 60.7 classified per 100 teachers.

— Fountain Valley Elementary; 5.8 administrators, 4.1 pupil services and 43.3 classified per 100 teachers.

— Capistrano Unified; 5.5 administrators, 6.2 pupil services and 60.8 classified per 100 teachers.

— Newport-Mesa Unified; 5.6 administrators, 7.1 pupil services and 72.6 classified per 100 teachers.

In almost every ratio category, the jury notes that the numbers per 100 teachers have increased steadily since 1970 in most districts.

The jury suggests districts consider the impact of high ratios on strained budgets for next year.

Old Soldier Routs Burglars

PORTOLA VALLEY (UPI) — Retired Army Col. Lewis Day, 74, is so impressive in giving orders that even burglars obey him.

When Day and his wife returned home, they were confronted by a six-foot intruder who pointed the officer's .22-caliber rifle at him.

"Give me that gun and get the hell out of here," Day said.

The intruder took off out the front door.

The officer then found two more men in his bathroom. He barked similar orders. The pair jumped out the window.

Day had an added reason for his confidence. The rifle, he said, "can't be fired — I have it fixed so only I can make it work."

Laguna Panel Eyes Tennis Court Plans

A design review of plans for construction of a tennis court above a water reservoir in Bluebird Canyon will be considered at 7:30 tonight by the Laguna Beach Board of Adjustment meeting at City Hall.

According to board of adjustment aides, the plans have sparked protests from residents along Bluebird Canyon Drive and Eastman Way. They say in letters to the board that noise from the tennis games will echo through the canyon.

Support for the plan has come from local tennis enthusiasts.

The board of directors of the Laguna Beach County Water District, owner of the reservoir, has approved the tennis court concept. The board, however, has reserved the right to review the final plans before allowing construction to proceed.

Swallow Dance Tickets Set

Tickets are now on sale for the Salud El Presidente dinner dance Saturday in San Juan Capistrano.

The event, which is annually held after the Swallows Parade, will begin at 7 p.m. at the El Adobe Restaurant.

Prime rib will be served at 8 p.m. with dancing to the music of Ken Whitcomb and his band after dinner.

Because of limited space, only advance tickets will be sold. Reservations can be made by calling Mrs. Shirley Keim, ways and means chairman, at 493-4343 or by sending reservations to P.O. Box 52, San Juan Capistrano. Price is $10 per person.

Employe Says Phone Hikes Not Required

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A telephone operator has told a Public Utilities Commission hearing that higher charges sought by the Pacific Telephone Company are not needed to pay for labor costs "but simply to increase profits."

Jane Margolis, the phone company operator, spoke Wednesday at a hearing into the firm's request for a $97.9 million rate increase.

Miss Margolis said the company is automating so rapidly the higher charges are not needed to offset wages.

Ira R. Alderson, a commission lawyer, said the PUC will investigate increased productivity before the hearing ends.

The proposed increase would not affect basic monthly telephone charges. However, the charges for certain intrastate long-distance calls would be higher, as well as higher charges for new connections, moving, changes in telephone numbers and monthly rates for telephone extensions in homes.

Lifeguards' Qualification Tests Slated

The San Clemente Lifeguard Department will run a qualification test for prospective summer lifeguards from 9 a.m. to noon Saturday and Sunday at the department headquarters.

The qualifications test will consist of three physical sections and an oral exam. The physical tests include a half mile ocean swim, run-swim-rescue, and run-swim-run.

To be eligible, prospective guards must be 16 years of age or older, and have 20/40 uncorrected vision. Women are eligible.

Department officials estimate between five to 15 new guards will be needed.

County Youth, 15, Nabbed in Hot Car

A boy in a car police said was stolen the day before led a fleet of police vehicles on a 10-mile, high speed chase from Tustin through Orange Wednesday before he was captured.

The youth, 15, was booked into Orange County Juvenile Hall on suspicion of auto theft following the 11:40 a.m. episode.

Vacations On-- Despite Slump

By SYLVIA PORTER

Despite the most severe slump since the depression 1930s, soaring unemployment and a rapid rate of inflation, you are continuing to take vacations on a scale signaling a resumption of cheerful increases in the future.

Whether for reasons of health, recreation or education, you're using some of your spending money to finance a break in your regular work schedule. A vacation, at least once a year, has become a way of life in our land, has high priority in the category of necessities, ranks in many families even ahead of the acquisition of wanted durable goods.

— AS DOCUMENTATION, a recent Conference Board study indicated that nearly 43 percent of the consumers surveyed planned to take a vacation in the first half of 1975, just about the same percent as in a similar poll a year ago.

— While the proportion of households planning to go abroad has dropped from 4.2 to 3.6 percent and the proportion planning to travel by air has fallen from 9.7 to 8.8 percent, these figures hardly reflect a disastrous plunge. Instead, they suggest a surprisingly modest decline against today's economic background.

— As far as United States travel is concerned, overall total tourism fell a scant 2 percent last year and actually finished with a strong surge in such areas as Florida, the Far West, Hawaii, tropical Texas, the Gulf and the Southwest. Winter bookings are not only holding; record travel is being reported to the Western ski areas of Colorado and Utah.

— After a dizzying plunge in the first quarter of '74 in response to the energy crisis, auto travel ended the year down only 4 percent, according to the U.S. Travel Data Center. At the same time, rail travel was up a whopping 32 percent, bus travel was up 6 percent and air travel was up 4 percent.

BUT HAVE YOU CHANGED! It is no exaggeration to say that the travel industry has entered a new era — with your vacation patterns crumbling, your holiday habits changing drastically and your spending becoming far more sensible and selective than ever before.

(1) You're sticking much closer to home than in previous free-spending eras.

In general, the best records are being chalked up by national parks and historic sites near big cities. Washington, D.C. and Philadelphia areas are up spectacularly — and additional sharp gains are expected as the Bicentennial gets its real start with weeklong celebrations in late April in Boston, Concord and Lexington.

(2) You're turning in increasing numbers to travel agents and to public transportation.

About half of all domestic pleasure air travel and nearly 75 percent of U.S. international air travel now involves bookings through travel agents, reports Robert McMullen, president of the American Society of Travel Agents. In this era of selective buying, the travel agent can definitely help you stretch your travel dollar, but warns McMullen, "be sure you are dealing with a bona fide agent and look for the ASTA seal in the yellow pages."

(3) YOU'RE ASKING FOR and accepting new ideas from the travel industry — particularly in prepaid and packaged tours.

"Energy has forced Americans to plan, conserve and utilize their common sense in vacation travel," observes Frank Hildebrand, national chairman of Discover America Travel Organizations. "New tours are on the market and the travel industry is turning inward to discover its own country."

(4) And although the international travel outlook is dismal, passport applications did turn up again as 1974 ended and the Holy Year may spur travel to Europe.

If you do go abroad, you'll find the best travel bargains in Spain and Mexico, the most expensive areas in Japan and Sweden. Here particularly, let your travel agent help you with package tours — fly/drive and fly/sightsee vacations.

AND FOR NOW AND for the future, learn the money-saving rules well. Be as flexible on dates and routing as you can. Avoid Fridays and Sundays when traveling by air. Investigate Amtrak, especially for family travel and short-haul trips. Relegate haphazard touring to an age in the distant past.

And if you're going to a business convention, try to combine it with a family vacation — making one trip out of two.

3 Auto Makers Recall Workers

DETROIT (UPI) — The nation's three largest auto makers have announced plans to recall more than 11,000 workers from open-ended layoffs in anticipation of a traditional spring upturn.

The announced callback came as auto makers awaited the first post-rebate sales report.

THE EARLY March report is scheduled for release today, but industry analysts say there will be a sharp dropoff from sales in the final February period, the best period of the 1975-model year.

The callbacks, including another 6,800 workers announced by General Motors this week, means indefinite layoffs in the industry may have peaked at the 211,800-level of last week — close to one-third of the industry's blue collar labor force.

In the last week, Ford said 2,000 workers have been recalled to step up production of three small car models, Chrysler said 1,800 are being called back at manufacturing plants and GM previously announced 800 workers are needed to man its Baltimore, Md., truck plant.

The GM callback is the largest since the auto makers began their massive cutbacks before Thanksgiving in response to the worst sales slump since World War II. At one point in February, close to 270,000 workers were on short-and-long-term layoffs — 40 percent of the industry's hourly work force.

GM SAID it was adding 66,000 small and intermediate-sized cars to its second-quarter production schedules and now plans to build 940,000 cars in the April-June quarter. That figure would be just 7 percent behind last year's energy-depressed level but 36 percent below the record output in the second quarter of 1973.

To accomplish the increased output, GM next month will resume second-shift operations that were eliminated in January at two assembly and two manufacturing plants and will step up output at two other plants.

Together with workers needed to man stepped-up component plant operations, GM's list of workers on indefinite layoffs could be significantly reduced from its present 127,000 workers — one of every four at the giant auto company.

Coast Eatery Files Petition

Operators of Chandler's Restaurants, Inc., of Laguna Hills have filed bankruptcy proceedings in Santa Ana federal court.

THE FAMILY CIRCUS By Bil Keane

"Mommy, will you itch my back?"

How Big Ben Got Its Name

Women talk mostly about men, clothes and social affairs. Men talk mostly about business, recreation and women. In that order, respectively. Such are the findings in one more recent study on the matter.

A GRASSHOPPER thermometer — yes, that's a thermometer to take the temperature of a grasshopper — is only five one thousandths of an inch in diameter.

WAS NONE OTHER than Jerry Mitchell who described harness racing as horse and buggy bingo.

THAT FUR said to be most difficult to imitate is the silver fox.

BIG BEN

Q. "Louie, I'll bet you a quarter on the corner that great clock in London called Big Ben was named in honor of the statesman Benjamin Disraeli."

A. You're on. Big Ben is the bell, not the clock, please note. And it was named by Parliament members in honor of a tall heavy set gentleman called Sir Benjamin Hall who was commissioner of works there in 1859 when the bell was first installed. Take advantage of the four percent discount by paying up within 30 days.

Q. "IN HOW MANY movies has Shirley MacLaine played a lady of the night?"

A. In 14 of her 37 films.

Q. "WHAT'S the lifespan of a robin?"

A. Figure 12 years.

THE HARD FACTS

Paying spectators at baseball games outnumber paying spectators at football games by about three to one . . . WHO WAS IT that defined "chaos" as "four women plus one luncheon check?" . . . STATISTICS indicate that finger least likely to be injured is the ring finger of the left hand.

IT'S TOLD that a United Nations committee was formed to do a study on elephants. Representatives were appointed from France, West Germany, Great Britain, the Soviet Union, the United States and Denmark. Each submitted a paper, entitled as follows: France, "The Love of the Elephant." West Germany, "The Philosophy of the Elephant." Great Britain, "The Elephant, Its Contribution to the Growth of the Empire." The Soviet Union, "A Five-Year Plan for Elephants." The United States, "Bigger and Better Elephants." And Denmark, "How to Make 215 Different Kinds of Sandwiches out of an Elephant."

2 Heavyweights Battle for Bulge

LONDON (UPI) — George Maree and John Robinson are fighting the waistline battle of the bulge in reverse. At stake: the British heavyweight championship.

The champ has the distinct advantage in experience. He is 52. John has 32 years behind him.

The two have agreed to a weigh-off this summer. George figures all he has to do to win is hold his weight where it is. John has to gain 46 pounds to tie, 47 to win.

GEORGE IS confident — "Robinson's nothing but a bag of bones. I'm not eating a lot. I don't want to get fat. But I'm drinking at least a bottle of brandy a day and as much champagne as I can. It will make sure I don't lose any weight."

John, too, has faith — "I'm certain the crown is mine. . .For breakfast, I have a dozen bacon rolls and two pints of milk. Dinner is a steak and kidney pie for four people, two to three pounds of potatoes, spinach and peas.

"MIND YOU, it's the eating between meals that really does it. I can spend three to four pounds ($7.20 to $9.60) on shellfish and scoff a one-pound bar of chocolate just for a snack."

Orange Coast's Schools 'Top Heavy'?

Four Orange Coast school districts have some of the highest ratios of administrators to classroom teachers in the county, a Grand Jury report issued Wednesday shows.

The report urged school districts with higher ratios to study the ones that keep the number of administrators to a minimum. The jury said a low ratio of administrators to teachers is costly and hampers ideal education.

According to the jury, state guidelines call for nine administrators per 100 teachers in elementary districts, eight per 100 in unified districts and seven per 100 in high school districts.

According to statistics provided by the jury, four Orange Coast districts approach those state mandated maximums.

Of coastal unified districts, the Saddleback Unified District ranks highest with 7.5 administrators per 100 teachers. Saddleback also has 6.7 pupil service employes teachers and 60.6 classified (support) employes per 100 teachers.

Next is a tie between Laguna Beach Unified and Irvine Unified at 7.4 administrators per 100 teachers.

Other ratios in those districts show Laguna Beach with 8.4 in pupil services and 78.5 in the classified category per 100 teachers and Irvine with 6.0 in pupil services and 70.6 classified employes per 100 teachers.

The fourth top coastal district is Huntington Beach Elementary with 7.8 administrators per 100 teachers. It has 4.7 pupil services employes and 62.2 classified employes per 100 teachers.

Other coast districts and their ratios include:

— Huntington Beach High School, 4.9 administrators, 10.5 pupil services and 67.1 classified per 100 teachers.

— Seal Beach Elementary; 7.0 administrators, 5.2 pupil services and 51.4 classified per 100 teachers.

— Ocean View Elementary; 6.2 administrators, 2.2 pupil services and 60.7 classified per 100 teachers.

— Fountain Valley Elementary; 5.8 administrators, 4.1 pupil services and 43.3 classified

Assessor 'Gift' Probed

Records Unsealed In Case

By TOM BARLEY
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Documents made public today after earlier being sealed by an Orange County Superior Court judge contain allegations that one of nine men indicted after an investigation into the county assessor's office accepted marine equipment valued at $864.68 from a Garden Grove company.

District attorney's investigator John Coleman submitted the report to his office after making a trip to Newport Beach and an examination of the vessel "Bolinas" moored there by defendant George Upton.

Coleman claims in the affidavits made public today by Judge Everett W. Dickey that Upton, 54, of Santa Ana, was the recipient of an electric generating plant and aqualift valued at $864.68 and that the Radio Shack company picked up the tab.

It is also alleged in Coleman's affidavit that Radio Shack warehouse manager Joe Cernie told Assistant District Attorney Michael Capizzi that his company "saved approximately $190,000 in two years by knowing the right people."

Coleman states in the affidavit that Upton was assigned by the assessor's office to handle Radio Shack assessments during that period.

Also in the affidavit is the comment that a 1972 audit of the assessor's office then headed by Rep. Andrew J. Hinshaw, indicated that Radio Shack had been under-assessed by $225,880 in 1969.

The tax of $22,000 due under that assessment hike was never billed and never paid, the affidavit alleges.

The allegations against Upton come at a time when the Grand Jury is known to be exploring charges that a number of Orange County companies and stores received favorable assessment treatment during Hinshaw's term as assessor.

All nine defendants are due in court March 21 for pretrial action on charges of grand theft, conspiracy, submission of false claims and violation of govern-

Cambodia Aid

Compromise Chances 'Slim'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Foreign Affairs Committee today rejected $135.6 million in emergency U.S. military aid for Cambodia, but held out the slim possibility of a compromise on the controversy with President Ford.

Less than an hour later, the Senate Democratic Caucus voted 38 to 5 against providing further military aid to either Cambodia or South Vietnam. House Democrats voted in a similar manner Wednesday.

The House committee vote was 18-15 on a compromise amendment proposed by Rep. Lee Hamilton (D-Ind.)

REDS ESCALATE VIETNAM OFFENSIVE. Story, Page A4.

It was a severe blow to the Administration's request for $222 million to Cambodia. The amendment was an attempt to compromise on aid for Phnom Penh which is surrounded by Communist forces.

The committee delayed any immediate recommendation to the full House on the Cambodian aid matter.

Committee Chairman Thomas E. Morgan (D-Pa.), told reporters he was urging the Administration to consult with Rep. Donald M. Fraser, (D-Minn.) over a possible compromise on the aid. Fraser is a major critic of any further U.S. weapons for Cambodia.

At the White House, Press Secretary Ron Nessen responded by saying that Ford still hopes that Congress will finally approve his request. He said Ford felt Congress could be persuaded by the testimony of a congressional delegation which recently returned from Southeast Asia and films of the Cambodian conflict which have been shown on television.

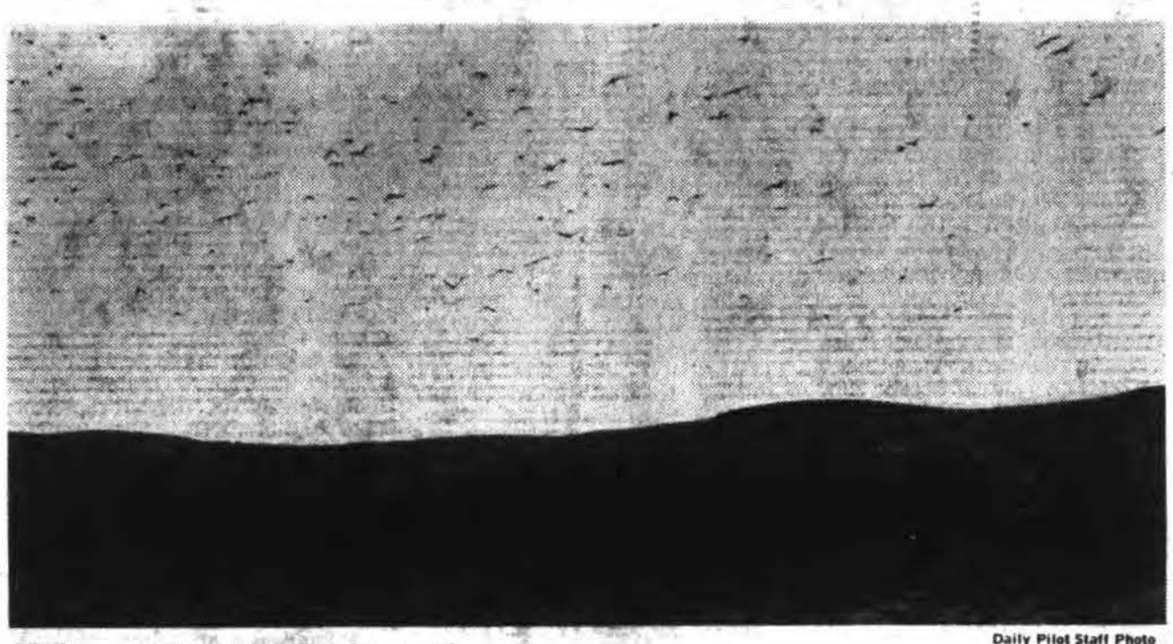

Ford Urges Tax Speed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford was quoted today as complaining that "time is growing short" for action on a recession-fighting tax cut and yet the Senate plans an Easter vacation in just eight days.

Ford has said that he wants the tax cut by Easter.

The tax-writing Senate Finance Committee began writing its version of the bill this morning.

Sen. Russell B. Long, (D-La.), the chairman, said he will support a $30-billion tax cut, almost double the amounted recommended by Ford.

'Power to the Station'

Saddleback Students Get New Transmitter

By RUDI NIEDZIELSKI
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

The Saddleback Valley will get its first radio station in about two weeks when college students "go on the air" to test their new transmitter.

Full programming for the 10-watt FM station at Saddleback College won't get under way until the spring semester, however. Then the station will be on four to five hours a day, five days a week.

Jim Lane, radio, television and film instructor at the college, said today that the station, whose call letters remain undetermined, had been assigned the same 88.5 MHZ spot on the FM dial.

Primary coverage at the 10 watt level will be along a five mile radius including the communities of Mission Viejo, San Juan Capistrano, Laguna Niguei and parts of Laguna Beach. It is possible that the signal may be heard as far away as El Toro in the north and San Clemente in the south.

Lane said the College intends to reapply to the FCC for an increase in power to 3,000 to 5,000 watts and for permission to raise the antenna height.

That would allow the station to blanket all of southern Orange County with a high quality stereo signal, Lane said.

Meanwhile the college is content to work with a low power monaural signal because the primary function of the station will be to train broadcast students.

"This will allow us to provide them with a solid background and on-the-air experience," Lane said. "There's nothing like being in front of a live microphone."

Initial programming, he said, will endeavor to serve the students on the campus with music and news programs that appeals to them. But at the same time Lane and Bill Weisgerber, head of the audio visual department, will be looking at programming of wider community interest.

Eventually the station hopes to become part of the National Public Radio Network and offer public programming in such areas as serious music, poetry, and public affairs — all areas in

Humphrey's 'Gifts' Disallowed by IRS

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Income tax deductions of nearly $200,000 claimed by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey for the gift of vice presidential papers to the Minnesota Historical Society have been disallowed by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service, an aide said today.

David Gartner, an administrative assistant to the Minnesota Democrat, said Humphrey reached an agreement with the IRS to pay back taxes plus 6 percent annual interest on the $199,153.

The tax deductions were claimed for 1969 through 1972. Gartner and Humphrey's Minneapolis lawyer, Joe A. Walters, declined to say what the back taxes would amount to. They said the IRS is computing that figure.

Walters said the IRS objection was based on a regulation prohibiting deductions for "gifts of a future interest" over which the donor retains some form of control.

Gartner added, "There's nothing in this that involves wrongdoing of any kind. It's simply a difference in the way reasonable men interpret the law."

Walter pointed out that the IRS raised no questions about the legality of the Humphrey gift or the value of $309,475 placed on it.

"I told the senator that while there were some doubts on the 'future interest' question, I thought he had a good chance to be sustained in the long run," Walters said. "But he said, 'I'm going to resolve those doubts in favor of the Treasury'."

Humphrey's contract with the historical society, signed in April 1966, restricts public access to the papers for 25 years, meaning that anyone wishing to see them must get the senator's permission.

The IRS contends the limita-

Employe Says Phone Hikes Not Required

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A telephone operator has told a Public Utilities Commission hearing that higher charges sought by the Pacific Telephone Company are not needed to pay for labor costs "but simply to increase profits."

Jane Margolis, the phone company operator, spoke Wednesday at a hearing into the firm's request for a $97.9 million rate increase.

Miss Margolis said the company is automating so rapidly the higher charges are not needed to offset wages.

Ira R. Alderson, a commission lawyer, said the PUC will investigate increased productivity before the hearing ends.

The proposed increase would not affect basic monthly telephone charges. However, the charges for certain intrastate long-distance calls would be higher, as well as higher charges for new connections, moving, changes in telephone numbers and monthly rates for telephone extensions in homes.

Retired Teachers Aid Toro School

A check for $170 to buy a projector has been presented to El Toro High School by the Retired Teachers Club of Laguna Hills.

Federal Subsidy?

School Lunches Aided

A proposal by the U.S. House Education and Labor Committee to increase federal subsidies for school lunch programs could offset the price hikes expected in the Saddleback Valley Unified and other districts if child nutrition legislation is repealed.

Ruth Bennett, food services supervisor for the Saddleback district, warned Wednesday that if a proposal from President Ford to repeal aid to school lunch programs passes, hot lunches could jump in price from 50 to 80 cents.

Later Wednesday, it was learned that the Education and Labor Committee approved a counter-proposal to subsidize school lunches so that no student would have to pay more than 25 cents a day.

"This would counteract the effects of the repeal of existing child nutrition legislation," Mrs. Bennett said. "This is one hope for our problems."

The Saddleback Unified district board of trustees discussed the possibilities at a regular meeting this week and urged district officials to try to come up with alternate ways to provide hot lunches if the federal money is cut off.

"Right now, I don't have any ideas," Mrs. Bennett said. "But if this new counter-proposal is approved by Congress, it will provide a way out."

The Saddleback Valley district serves about 3,000 hot meals a day and employs a food service staff of 45.

About 100 students receive free meals because they are from "poverty-level" families making about $4,500 for a family of four.

Another 250 children receive reduced price lunches for 20 cents each because their families receive between $4,500 and $9,000 income yearly.

The Ford administration wanted to phase out by June separate programs for school lunches and breakfasts and one providing rich-protein, iron-rich diets for low-income women and children.

Instead, the administration proposed a bloc grant approach

Chain Fence Stolen

Burglars who waited until workers left a Mission Viejo construction site moved in and picked up 400 feet of chain link fence and 45 steel posts, Orange County Sheriff's officers reported today. Deputies valued the loss on the building site at Via Fabricante and Obrero St. Street at $400. They said the intruders used a large truck to haul off their loot.

Logo Contest Extended

The Mission Viejo Municipal Advisory Council (MAC) has postponed the deadline for its logo contest to March 31.

Jeanne Gagnebin explained that the reason for the postponement was that the Mission Viejo Arts and Crafts Association, which has agreed to select the three top contenders from among all entries, announced March 31 as the deadline.

"This was due to a misunderstanding," said Mrs. Gagnebin, who is a member of the MAC. "We don't want to be unfair to artists who were told they would have until the end of the month to complete their entries."

"That's not why I supported the postponement," said John Noble, another council member. "When the original deadline, March 1, came along, we just didn't have enough entries."

Entries may be submitted to the MAC office, 26129-D La Paz Road. The artist whose winning design is selected as the official MAC logo will receive an $80 award.

Additional information is available by calling the MAC, 581-7610.

New Courses At Viejo, Toro Schools

Students at El Toro and Mission Viejo High Schools will have their choice of 37 new courses from ceramics to lessons in nursery school next fall.

District trustees have okayed a $20,000 fund for pilot programs and curriculum changes at the high schools, which is to be used for 16 new classes at El Toro and 21 at Mission.

The schedule includes six new art classes at each school, including advanced ceramics and jewelry techniques. Mission will add courses in printmaking and commercial art, while El Toro adds a design problems and an oil and acrylic painting class.

A total of $6,000 in the fund will be applied to building up a business curriculum at El Toro.

Other classes to be added at El Toro include three new English classes, developmental science, world culture, and a social science class in minorities.

Classes to be added at Mission Viejo High include data processing, advanced aviation, advanced photography, three graphics classes, and math review.

They have been ordered to face trial June 9. They are free on their promise to appear at that trial.

It is alleged that the nine defendants, two of whom have since retired from county service, submitted mileage slips and overtime vouchers to the county at a time they were actually working on Hinshaw's Congressional campaign.

It has been estimated that their alleged activities cost the county at least $10,000.

It was learned Wednesday that Coleman's trip to Newport Beach and his examination of the 38-foot "Bolinas" was one of a number of such assignments being handled by district attorney's investigators.

HAIR LENGTH 'REGULATED'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Employers can decide how long the hair may be on a cab or bus driver, two separate U.S. District Court judges have ruled.

Judge Stanley A. Weigel ruled Wednesday that the Yellow Cab Co. had the right to refuse to hire drivers solely because their hair extended below their collar lines.

Judge George B. Harris said it was not discriminatory or unlawful for the Golden Gate Transit Line to have regulations relating to men's hair length and beards.

Viejo Band To Tour East Coast

When the nation celebrates its 200th anniversary in the summer of 1976, the Mission Viejo High School band will be tooting and striding right where it all began.

Saddleback Valley Unified School District trustees have given the band their okay to participate in the Cavalcade of Bands, a group of 15 top-ranked California high school marching units, which will tour Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Washington, D.C. from June 22 through July 5, 1976.

Cost per student for the trip will be $680, according to Mission band director Terry Newman. That total is to be shared in thirds by the student, the music boosters and from local sponsorship and individual donations.

The trip will include performances at City Hall Plaza in Boston; concerts at the United Nations and Central Park in New York and at Valley Forge in Pennsylvania and parades down Broadway and through Washington, D.C.

The climax of the tour will be a concert July 4 at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington.

Also a part of the trip will be sightseeing through the nation's historical landmarks.

Walters said the IRS began an audit of Humphrey's returns after his disclosure in December 1973 that he was claiming the deductions. The disclosure came shortly after former President Nixon revealed that he claimed deductions of $482,000 for gifts of vice-presidential papers to the National Archives.

The Nixon deductions later were disallowed when it was discovered his lawyers back-dated the official deed prior to July 25, 1969 — the last day on which such charitable contributions could be made.

The college's immediate concern is the remodeling of the broadcast studio to house $10,000 worth of electronic gear including tape recorders and turntables. The studio will be located in Room 131 of the college library.

Lane said the college had submitted 10 different call letter combinations to the FCC but is hoping for the assignation of KSBC, "K" standing for a station in the western part of the U.S. and "SBC" for Saddleback College. He won't know whether he gets them until the combination has been checked out against existing broadcast stations.

Firm Hired To Draw Up New Center

The Berry Construction Company of Upland has been hired by the Saddleback Valley School trustees as construction manager for preliminary work on the construction of a district instructional resource center.

The job involves working with the architect and drawing up specifications for the project. It will pay the firm $2,200.

Berry was chosen over 20 other applicants for the job after a screening by a five-member committee. Members of the committee included a teacher, a principal, an architect, an assistant superintendent and the director of planning and development.

The instructional resource center will be the first facility in the district to be built using the construction management system, in which the district becomes its own general contractor.

Health Panel OKs UCI Medical Bill

By DOUGLAS FRITZSCHE
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

The legislative "cakewalk" is over for a $8.95 million supplemental appropriation bill designed to finance the medical education and community health care system envisioned by the UC Irvine medical school, the school's dean said today.

The bill eased past its third legislative hurdle Wednesday with 7 to 0 approval of the Assembly Health Committee.

But medical school Dean Stanley van den Noort said the bill faces tough times in the Assembly Ways and Means Committee because it calls for a $650,000 appropriation from the state general fund for costs of transition of Orange County Medical Center from Orange County to university ownership.

The $8.3 million balance would come from a $156 million health sciences bond issue approved by voters in 1972.

Meanwhile, delays in receiving financing have caused the medical school to scrap plans for takeover of the Medical Center July 1 as had been planned, Dr. van den Noort said in a wide-ranging conversation with reporters.

The campus is seeking new guidelines for takeover of the facility.

As explained by medical school Assistant Dean Tom Rolinson, the university would take over the facility six months after receiving funding.

In the meantime, the medical school hopes to keep its teaching operations in the Medical Center going through an extension of its present affiliation agreement with the county, Dr. van den Noort said.

The delays, caused by uncertainty about funding the medical school among UC regents, opposition from Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. and Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post and the long list of legislative committees which must consider the bill, have caused the problems already.

The medical school envisions a $42.5 million medical teaching and health care system consisting of a renovated 300-bed Orange County Medical Center, a 200-bed on-campus hospital and a string of outpatient clinics, in addition to a basic sciences teaching building.

Between $39 and $42 million of the 1972 bond funds were earmarked for UCI medical school development, Dr. van den Noort said. However, the university, due to a variety of factors, has over-encumbered the bond issue by more than $88 million.

A list of alternatives to the Irvine development plan is being considered by regents. None of the alternatives includes the on-campus hospital.

Without that facility, Dr. van den Noort claims the medical school is "doomed to mediocrity" and he and the bulk of his faculty will quit.

Already, Dr. van den Noort said 25 percent of the key posts are vacant. The school, he said, is unable to recruit high-quality faculty because of the uncertainty about its development.

Along the same line, the school is having difficulty attracting the best residents, interns and students, he said.

Viejo School Play Tonight 'Sold Out'

"Hansel and Gretel" takes the stage tonight at Montevideo Elementary School in Mission Viejo as a celebration of National Music in the Schools Day.

The performance, an adaptation of the traditional Humperdinck opera, has been sold out for two performances this evening in the school's multi-purpose room.

Directed by music teacher Lee Austin, the show features two complete casts. Alan Razee and Gary Wilder play Hansel and Colette Wigart and Veronica Mehrguth play Gretel.

Alternating as the mother are Mary Leonard and Georgette Katona, with Tom Blickham and Alan Buck as the father.

John Coppock and Kim Stubbs play the witch, Mark Burton is the Sandman and Amy Elstrom is the Dawn Fairy.

Music for the play is provided by the Montevideo Chorus directed by Mrs. Austin and by the advanced band directed by Jim South.

The play grew out of suggestions from Mr. David Whitcher, Montevideo principal. Whitcher helped put on "Hansel and Gretel" as a teacher in Los Angeles.

"I like Hansel and Gretel as an operetta — so many people can get involved in it," Whitcher said. "The kids love it, the teachers love it, and the parents love it."

Tryouts for the play were held in January. Students also designed and built the stage sets with help from their teachers, Whitcher said.

Lectures Set On Children

Three lectures on child psychology have been scheduled by San Joaquin Elementary School in Laguna Hills.

Tim Stone, the school psychologist, will present the meetings at 7:30 p.m. March 25, April 22, and May 20.

Topics will cover "Getting the Message Across," "Responsibilities in Childhood," and "Discipline: Not a Dirty Word." The public is invited, school officials said.

Dr. William Pollin, director of research for the National Institute on Drug Abuse, said that "to suggest that there is a pattern of serious consequences and as soon as they are checked they are disproved, and to imply there is some pattern to this, I think tends to ignore or misstate what the present status of the situation is."

Trustees Approve 2 Tours

Eighth graders to Trabuco School in Trabuco Canyon are preparing for a four-day trip to the state capital April 23 to 26.

The visit will include a meeting with the students' senator and assemblyman, a guided tour of the capitol, and a look at the state legislature in session. They'll also stop in at Folsom Prison and Sutter's Mine.

About 80 Marine Corps Junior ROTC students are scheduled to spend their Easter break in San Diego as guests of the Marine Corps recruit depot.

Besides the training objectives of the trip, students will tour the base, visit a carrier at Coronado Island and tour the San Diego Zoo and Sea World.

The working part of their visit will include physical training, educational movies, maintaining a military schedule, practicing drill, and participating in a competitive field day with other attending school ROTC units.

William Dick Of El Toro Dies at 68

Rosary will be said this evening at 7:30 for El Toro resident William J. Dick, who died Tuesday following a lengthy illness. Mr. Dick was 68.

A native of Colorado, Mr. Dick grew up in the midst of historic labor disputes. His father owned the first coal mines struck by labor organizer John L. Lewis.

A graduate of the University of Notre Dame, Mr. Dick worked as a sales representative until illness forced his early retirement. He and his wife settled in California in 1942. They moved to El Toro two years ago.

He is survived by his widow, Frances, 24001 Muirlands Blvd.; three brothers, Robert Dick of Denver, Colo., George Dick of Glendale, and Thomas Dick of El Monte, plus two sisters, Mrs. Anna Klein of Ft. Collins, Colo., and Mrs. Florence Rooney of South Pasadena.

A funeral mass will be said Friday at 1:30 p.m. Burial will follow at Ascension Cemetery in El Toro.

All services will be at St. Nicholas Catholic Church in Laguna Hills.

"We appreciate the interest shown by all the applicants," said Kathleen Kelly, MAC chairman, "but we agreed that Mrs. Thompson, who had been serving as temporary clerk, best met our qualifications."

Mrs. Thompson, who receives $3.50 hourly, fills the only paid position with the MAC. She runs the MAC office at 26129-D La Paz Road Monday through Friday from 1 to 5 p.m.

$300 Million Irvine Growth Bonds?

Irvine voters may be asked to vote on a bond issue of up to $300 million to finance municipal improvements needed for the city to grow from its present 30,000 population to 200,000 to 300,000 in 20 years.

According to a consultant's report on financing the improvements, that would be the cheapest way to put in streets and other public facilities.

The long-awaited Griffenhagen-Kroeger report on financing the city's growth, however, recognizes that the two-thirds majority needed for a large bond issue may not be "politically feasible."

Therefore, it also outlines a number of ways public improvements could be financed without a popular vote.

A number of very large figures have been mentioned in connection with the capital improvements needed.

Public Works Director Brent Muchow said the total could come to $300 million.

But City Manager William Woollett said today, "I have heard a figure about half that. And I have heard $105 million mentioned."

Woollett concedes that a popular vote for a massive capital improvement bond is unlikely to succeed. He said the growth of the city likely will be financed through a variety of methods.

These, according to the complex 157-page study, could include assessment districts, joint powers agreements with other levels of government, annexation fees or putting the costs on homeowners' mortgages by charging developers for all necessary improvements.

In the latter case, the study contends costs would be high since mortgage finance rates are higher than municipal bonds and only the interest could be charged off homeowners' taxes.

Alternative sources of city revenue—either for the improvements themselves or to allow the city to channel funds in that direction—could come from a municipal income tax, the report suggests.

The study was jointly financed

Compromise Chances 'Slim'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Foreign Affairs Committee today rejected $135.6 million in emergency U.S. military aid for Cambodia, but held out the slim possibility of a compromise on the controversy with President Ford.

Less than an hour later, the Senate Democratic Caucus voted 38 to 5 against providing further military aid to either Cambodia or South Vietnam. House Democrats voted in a similar manner Wednesday.

The House committee vote was 18-15 on a compromise amendment proposed by Rep. Lee Hamilton (D-Ind.)

It was a severe blow to the Administration's request for $222 million to Cambodia. The amendment was an attempt to compromise on aid for Phnom Penh which is surrounded by Communist forces.

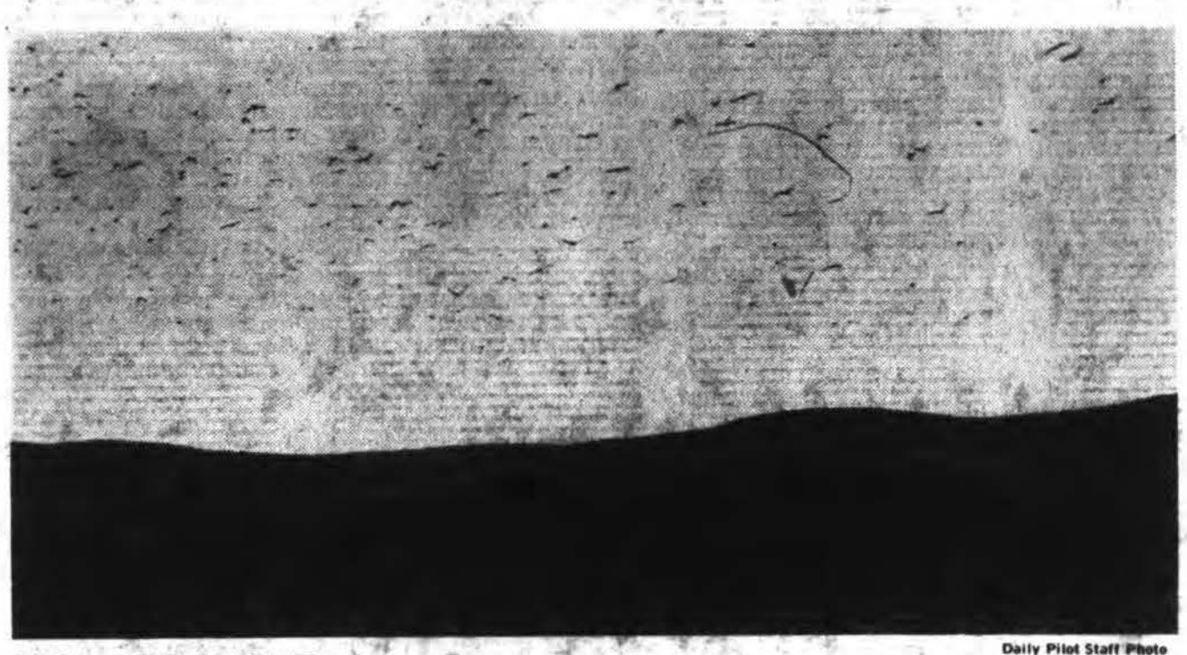

REDS ESCALATE VIETNAM OFFENSIVE. Story, Page A4.

The committee delayed any immediate recommendation to the full House on the Cambodian aid matter.

Committee Chairman Thomas E. Morgan (D-Pa.), told reporters he was urging the Administration to consult with Rep. Donald M. Fraser, (D-Minn.) over a possible compromise on the aid. Fraser is a major critic of any further U.S. weapons for Cambodia.

At the White House, Press Secretary Ron Nessen responded by saying that Ford still hopes that Congress will finally approve his request. He said Ford felt Congress could be persuaded by the testimony of a congressional delegation which recently returned from Southeast Asia and films of the Cambodian conflict which have been shown on television.

Records Unsealed In Case

By TOM BARLEY
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Documents made public today after earlier being sealed by an Orange County Superior Court judge contain allegations that one of nine men indicted after an investigation into the county assessor's office accepted marine equipment valued at $864.68 from a Garden Grove company.

District attorney's investigator John Coleman submitted the report to his office after making a trip to Newport Beach and an examination of the vessel "Bolinas" moored there by defendant George Upton.

Coleman claims in the affidavits made public today by Judge Everett W. Dickey that Upton, 54, of Santa Ana, was the recipient of an electric generating plant and aqualift valued at $864.68 and that the Radio Shack company picked up the tab.

It is also alleged in Coleman's affidavit that Radio Shack warehouse manager Joe Cernie told Assistant District Attorney Michael Capizzi that his company "saved approximately $190,000 in two years by knowing the right people."

Coleman states in the affidavit that Upton was assigned by the assessor's office to handle Radio Shack assessments during that period.

Also in the affidavit is the comment that a 1972 audit of the assessor's office then headed by Rep. Andrew J. Hinshaw, indicated that Radio Shack had been under-assessed by $225,880 in 1969.

The tax of $22,000 due under that assessment hike was never billed and never paid, the affidavit alleges.

The allegations against Upton come at a time when the Grand Jury is known to be exploring charges that a number of Orange County companies and stores received favorable assessment treatment during Hinshaw's term as assessor.

All nine defendants are due in court March 21 for pretrial action on charges of grand theft, conspiracy, submission of false claims and violations of govern-

Too Many Chiefs in District?

Four Orange Coast school districts have some of the highest ratios of administrators to classroom teachers in the county, a Grand Jury report issued Wednesday shows.

The report urged school districts with higher ratios to study the ones that keep the number of administrators to a minimum. The jury said a low ratio of administrators to teachers is costly and hampers ideal education.

According to the jury, state guidelines call for nine administrators per 100 teachers in elementary districts, eight per 100 in unified districts and seven per 100 in high school districts.

According to statistics provided by the jury, four Orange Coast districts approach those state mandated maximums.

Of coastal unified districts, the Saddleback Unified District ranks highest with 7.5 administrators per 100 teachers. Saddleback also has 6.7 pupil service employes teachers and 60.6 classified (support) employes per 100 teachers.

Next is a tie between Laguna Beach Unified and Irvine Unified at 7.4 administrators per 100 teachers.

Other ratios in those districts show Laguna Beach with 8.4 in pupil services and 78.5 in the classified category per 100 teachers and Irvine with 6.0 in pupil services and 70.6 classified employes per 100 teachers.

The fourth top coastal district is Huntington Beach Elementary with 7.8 administrators per 100 teachers. It has 4.7 pupil services employes and 62.2 classified employes per 100 teachers.

Other coast districts and their ratios include:

— Huntington Beach High School, 4.9 administrators, 10.5 pupil services and 67.1 classified per 100 teachers.

— Seal Beach Elementary; 7.0 administrators, 5.2 pupil services and 51.4 classified per 100 teachers.

— Ocean View Elementary; 6.2 administrators, 2.2 pupil services and 60.7 classified per 100 teachers.

— Fountain Valley Elementary; 5.8 administrators, 4.1 pupil services and 43.3 classified per 100 teachers.

— Capistrano Unified; 5.5 administrators, 6.2 pupil services and 60.8 classified per 100 teachers.

— Newport-Mesa Unified; 5.6 administrators, 7.1 pupil services and 72.6 classified per 100 teachers.

'Power to the Station'

Saddleback Students Get New Transmitter

By RUDI NIEDZIELSKI
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

The Saddleback Valley will get its first radio station in about two weeks when college students "go on the air" to test their new transmitter.

Full programming for the 10-watt FM station at Saddleback College won't get under way until the spring semester, however. Then the station will be on four to five hours a day, five days a week.

Jim Lane, radio, television and film instructor at the college, said today that the station, whose call letters remain undetermined, had been assigned the same 88.5 MHZ spot on the FM dial.

Primary coverage at the 10 watt level will be along a five mile radius including the communities of Mission Viejo, San Juan Capistrano, Laguna Niguei and parts of Laguna Beach. It is possible that the signal may be heard as far away as El Toro in the north and San Clemente in the south.

Lane said the College intends to reapply to the FCC for an increase in power to 3,000 to 5,000 watts and for permission to raise the antenna height.

That would allow the station to blanket all of southern Orange County with a high quality stereo signal, Lane said.

Meanwhile the college is content to work with a low power monaural signal because the primary function of the station will be to train broadcast students.

"This will allow us to provide them with a solid background and on-the-air experience," Lane said. "There's nothing like being in front of a live microphone."

Initial programming, he said, will endeavor to serve the students on the campus with music and news programs that appeals to them. But at the same time Lane and Bill Weisgerber, head of the audio visual department, will be looking at programming of wider community interest.

Eventually the station hopes to become part of the National Public Radio Network and offer public programming in such areas as serious music, poetry, and public affairs — all areas in

Humphrey's 'Gifts' Disallowed by IRS

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Income tax deductions of nearly $200,000 claimed by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey for the gift of vice presidential papers to the Minnesota Historical Society have been disallowed by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service, an aide said today.

David Gartner, an administrative assistant to the Minnesota Democrat, said Humphrey reached an agreement with the IRS to pay back taxes plus 6 percent annual interest on the $199,153.

The tax deductions were claimed for 1969 through 1972. Gartner and Humphrey's Minneapolis lawyer, Joe A. Walters, declined to say what the back taxes would amount to. They said the IRS is computing that figure.

Walters said the IRS objection was based on a regulation prohibiting deductions for "gifts of a future interest" over which the donor retains some form of con-

UCI Measure Backed

The legislative "cakewalk" is over for a $8.95 million supplemental appropriation bill designed to finance the medical education and community health care system envisioned by the UC Irvine medical school, the school's dean said today.

The bill eased past its third legislative hurdle Wednesday with 7 to 0 approval of the Assembly Health Committee.

Employe Says Phone Hikes Not Required

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A telephone operator has told a Public Utilities Commission hearing that higher charges sought by the Pacific Telephone Company are not needed to pay for labor costs "but simply to increase profits."

Jane Margolis, the phone company operator, spoke Wednesday at a hearing into the firm's request for a $97.9 million rate increase.

Miss Margolis said the company is automating so rapidly the higher charges are not needed to offset wages.

Ira R. Alderson, a commission lawyer, said the PUC will investigate increased productivity before the hearing ends.

The proposed increase would not affect basic monthly telephone charges. However, the charges for certain intrastate long-distance calls would be higher, as well as higher charges for new connections, moving, changes in telephone numbers and monthly rates for telephone extensions in homes.

Coastal Traffic Opposed

BY FREDERICK SCHOEMEHL
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

The Laguna Beach City Council made it clear Wednesday night that it does not want traffic from the Irvine Company's proposed 10,000-acre coastal development pouring into the Art Colony.

Following a presentation by Councilwoman Phyllis Sweeney, the council unanimously endorsed for study purposes a plan that would keep traffic generated by the 40,000-person development off Pacific Coast Highway as it now runs from Laguna Beach to Corona del Mar.

The traffic circulation proposal shows three major roads that would extend almost to Pacific Coast Highway then abruptly loop back to inland areas.

Persons wanting to get to the coast could park at one of three large parking facilities called for in the proposal and take trams to the beach and other coastal recreation areas.

Councilmen agreed the pall plan had merit and should be carefully studied by TICMAP, the acronym for The Irvine Company Coastal Community Multi-Agency Planning Program. TICMAP is made up of representatives of 22 public and private agencies that want a say in the type of development that occurs on the sprawling parcel.

The council also referred the proposal prepared by representatives of Newport Beach, Irvine and Laguna Beach to the Southeast Orange County Land Use and Transportation Study group.

"Any development here is going to put impossible demands on the cities of Laguna Beach, Newport Beach and Irvine," said Mrs. Sweeney as she reviewed the traffic circulation proposal for the property.

Irvine Company planners sat silently in the audience as Mrs. Sweeney described the proposal. The company's plans now show through roads to Coast Highway.

"Our intent is to try and see if the concept as for here (the cities' loop plan) makes sense," Larry Moore, Irvine Company project manager, told the council later.

"My concern is where you're going to bring that traffic down in Laguna Beach," Councilman Jon Brand told Moore during an earlier presentation of the overall plan for the coastal property.

Moore said he couldn't specifically say where the road would be.

"I can answer that," Brand fired back. "You're going to destroy that neighborhood if you bring that road through it."

"I can't see any area in the north end that has a road that could handle that traffic," Brand continued.

"That's precisely the kind of input we want," Moore said.

Gartner added, "There's nothing in this that involves wrongdoing of any kind. It's simply a difference in the way reasonable men interpret the law."

Walter pointed out that the IRS raised no questions about the legality of the Humphrey gift or the value of $309,475 placed on it.

"I told the senator that while there were some doubts on the 'future interest' question, I thought he had a good chance to be sustained in the long run," Walters said. "But he said, 'I'm going to resolve those doubts in favor of the Treasury'."

Humphrey's contract with the historical society, signed in April 1966, restricts public access to the papers for 25 years, meaning that anyone wishing to see them must get the senator's permission.

The IRS contends the limitation means Humphrey retains an interest in the papers, disqualifying them as a charitable deduction until after the limitation expires.

Walters said the IRS began an audit of Humphrey's returns after his disclosure in December 1973 that he was claiming the deductions. The disclosure came shortly after former President Nixon revealed that he claimed deductions of $482,000 for gifts of vice-presidential papers to the National Archives.

The Nixon deductions later were disallowed when it was discovered his lawyers back-dated the official deed prior to July 25, 1969 — the last day on which such charitable contributions could be made.

Irvine Officer Nabs Three Illegal Aliens

A suspicious policeman on patrol in Irvine captured three suspected illegal immigrants from Mexico early today but others vanished in a dash for two taxicabs waiting nearby.

Deportation proceedings were set today for Antonio Zambrano Munos, 48, of Mexico City, Jesus Zambrano Cabrera, 19, of Enjuanidad del Cega, and Ismael Osegura Nolasco, 22, of Mexico City.

Officer Gary Cain estimated the group at seven to 10, including the three he detained along the Santa Fe Railroad tracks near Harvard Avenue and Moulton Parkway.

The trio remained behind in the 1 a.m. incident, while their companions raced for the two taxis which had been stationed at that location with their lights out, police said.

Police are particularly vigilant around the Santa Fe RR right-of-way because it is a popular pipeline for freighthopping aliens headed for the Los Angeles-Orange County employment market.

An experimental hang glider which could easily kill the thieves who stole it is back in experienced hands today.

Barry Gordon of Costa Mesa, who issued a public warning on Wednesday when he discovered that the huge kite had been stolen from him, said that 30 minutes after newspaper stories appeared he heard a knock on the front door.

"Two guys were standing there and they had brought with them the glider. They told me that they saw four young men the night before running with the glider and they said those people finally dumped it in a vacant lot.

"They said they read the story and then realized what it was," he said.

The glider is a prototype and has never been flown. He plans to test it at a hang glider park this week but in his appeal Gordon stressed that anyone short of an expert should not try to fly it.

by the city and the Irvine Company as a background document aimed at determining how the city and Irvine Company general plans can be put into effect.

The consultants' suggestions of means to get around a popular vote on the bond issue have already drawn fire from council members. Copies of the report were made public Wednesday and most of the council members and city personnel have yet to finish reading it.

Councilman Henry Quigley said using avenues such as joint powers financing to circumvent voters would be political suicide.

"I don't think the citizens of Irvine would stand for that kind of Mickey Mouse," Quigley said.

"We could propose joint powers or something along that line to get around bonding, but I am willing to bet that there would be a recall in 30 to 60 days," he said.

Under joint powers financing, the city could find another jurisdiction interested in a project and obtain the financing under the council's own powers.

Such an approach, Quigley said, is unlikely.

"I just can't see the council thumbing their noses at the people," he said.

Quigley criticized the report for not specifically outlining the relative costs of each means of financing the capital improvement program.

He said, however, that the only reasonable way to proceed would be with the brunt of financing placed on special assessment districts organized for specific development areas.

They have been ordered to face trial June 9. They are free on their promise to appear at that trial.

It is alleged that the nine defendants, two of whom have since retired from county service, submitted mileage slips and overtime vouchers to the county at a time they were actually working on Hinshaw's Congressional campaign.

It has been estimated that their alleged activities cost the county at least $10,000.

It was learned Wednesday that Coleman's trip to Newport Beach and his examination of the 38-foot "Bolinas" was one of a number of such assignments being handled by district attorney's investigators.

UCI Checked By District For Courses

Representatives of the Irvine School District will review teacher education courses at UC Irvine as part of the State commission for Teacher Preparation and Licensing's external assessment program.

The district's representatives will be Trustee Charles Boulanger, Deputy Superintendent Raymond Edman, teachers Sherri Crosson, Arden Smith, Karen Speros and Doreen Zechiel and Penny Yotter, an intern at Rancho San Joaquin School.

The program's aim is to bring outside groups into teacher education programs to see whether there are discrepancies between plans and actions, Edman said. Recommendations from such study groups, he said, will help the commission evaluate teacher training programs.

UCI is one of five schools being evaluated in the first part of the three phase pilot external assessment program.

During the second stage, to begin in September, another 18 schools will receive visits from evaluation teams. The final phase, beginning in Septenber 1976, will send teams to about 17 more schools, Edman said.

After the pilot program is completed, the commission will evaluate the evaluators to determine whether it should be continued.

and health care system consisting of a renovated 300-bed Orange County Medical Center, a 200-bed on-campus hospital and a string of outpatient clinics, in addition to a basic sciences teaching building.

Between $39 and $42 million of the 1972 bond funds were earmarked for UCI medical school development, Dr. van den Noort said. However, the university, due to a variety of factors, has over-encumbered the bond issue by more than $88 million.

A list of alternatives to the Irvine development plan is being considered by regents. None of the alternatives includes the on-campus hospital.

Without that facility, Dr. van den Noort claims the medical school is "doomed to mediocrity" and he and the bulk of his faculty will quit.

Already, Dr. van den Noort said 25 percent of the key posts are vacant. The school, he said, is unable to recruit high-quality faculty because of the uncertainty about its development.

Along the same line, the school is having difficulty attracting the best residents, interns and students, he said.

Federal grants, community and alumni support and other sources of income are drying up, he said. Losses in federal grants alone could total a fifth of the cost of the whole system, $8.3 million, he said.

Research and training grants are falling short of previous years, he said, because of uncertainty about the school's future.

"I would like to be in a position sometime," Dr. van den Noort said, "to run a medical school and not be involved in constant struggle just to stay afloat."

The constant political hassles over the past seven years, he said, are draining the energy the school should be devoting to its mission — training doctors.

CAMBODIA

Meanwhile, Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said today he is reluctant to personally seek negotiations for peace in Cambodia with exiled Prince Norodom Sihanouk.

But Mansfield indicated he would undertake the mission if President Ford asked him to.

"I'm prepared to do anything I can to end the agony in Cambodia," he said.

The possibility of Mansfield's flying to Peking, where Sihanouk is in exile, was raised Wednesday by Sen. Henry Jackson (D-Wash.). Jackson said Mansfield "could play a very important and critical role" in bringing peace to Cambodia because of his friendship with Sihanouk.

In another development, President Ford invited retired Gen. William Westmoreland to the White House today for a talk about the fighting in Southeast Asia.

Westmoreland, former U.S. commander in South Vietnam, was to present his assessment to Ford on the deteriorating military situation in Cambodia.

Consumer Reports Nixes Pot Danger

BOSTON (UPI) — Marijuana may not be the great threat to health and society that many studies have indicated, according to Consumer Reports magazine.

"The time has come to take a fresh look at the alleged dangers of marijuana," the Consumers Union publication said in its March issue.

The magazine said a "horrifying collection of marijuana hazards" — including brain damage, lowered resistance to disease, loss of motivation, birth defects, lung damage, sterility and impotence in men — have been widely publicized in reputable scientific journals and the news media.

But, said the magazine, "When a research finding can be readily checked — either by repeating the experiment or by devising a better one — an allegation of adverse marijuana effects is relatively short-lived.

Dr. William Pollin, director of research for the National Institute on Drug Abuse, said that "to suggest that there is a pattern of serious consequences and as soon as they are checked they are disproved, and to imply there is some pattern to this, I think tends to ignore or misstate what the present status of the situation is."

The magazine said marijuana smokers appear to remain in good health and good spirits, showing none of the adverse effects cited in the studies.

The magazine suggested a better picture of long-term effects could be obtained by studying a country where marijuana has been a daily custom for generations.

It cited a study the National Institute of Mental Health commissioned for study regarding marijuana effects on the island of Jamaica. For decades, Jamaicans have smoked marijuana much stronger than that available in the United States, the magazine said.

The magazine said that to qualify as a heavy smoker in the Jamaica study, one had to smoke at least eight marijuana cigarettes a day, and the subjects studied had smoked an average of 17.5 years. In the United States, a heavy smoker is considered to be one who smokes more than seven a week.

The study concluded: "The data clearly indicate that the long-term marijuana use by these men did not produce demonstrable intellectual or ability deficits ... There is no evidence in the results to suggest brain damage."

'Sinking' Courthouse Wins Funding

Orange County supervisors cleared the decks Wednesday for emergency action aimed at saving a wing of the West County Municipal Courthouse that is sinking into a peat bog.

The board voted unanimously to appropriate $54,660 in unused revenue sharing money to pay for the first phase of repairs at the Westminster facility.

Officials have estimated it may ultimately cost as much as $400,000 to completely repair the badly damaged building.

County Building officer Joseph Smisek told the board the biggest initial task will be a test of methods to reinforce the unstable soil underneath the $1.2 million structure, which houses half of the court's 12 courtrooms.

The county will contract with a structural concrete company for what is known as "pressure grouting" — injecting concrete into the soil layers, hoping it will harden and create a firm foundation.

Smisek has estimated that job will cost more than $25,000 and at first will only be done under the least-damaged courtroom in the wing.

If the grouting effort is a success, it will be used on the rest of the building. It will consist of pumping concrete around the original pilings driven into the ground under the building to a depth of 60 feet, Smisek said.

Four of the six courtrooms in the buildings have sustained damage of varying degrees, primarily consisting of cracks in ceiling beams and other concrete parts of the seven-year-old building.

Tuesday, supervisors gave sole authority for correcting the problem to Environmental Management Agency Chief H.G. "George" Osborne. They also told him to try and determine who is to blame for the sinking.

The wing that is sinking was designed by LeRoy Rose of Anaheim, who was campaign finance manager for Supervisor Ralph Diedrich. It was Diedrich who asked Osborne to affix blame for the structural failures.

Old Soldier Routs Burglars

PORTOLA VALLEY (UPI) — Retired Army Col. Lewis Day, 74, is so impressive in giving orders that even burglars obey him.

When Day and his wife returned home, they were confronted by a six-foot intruder who pointed the officer's .22-caliber rifle at him.

"Give me that gun and get the hell out of here," Day said.

The intruder took off out the front door.

The officer then found two more men in his bathroom. He barked similar orders. The pair jumped out the window.

Day had an added reason for his confidence. The rifle, he said, "can't be fired — I have it fixed so only I can make it work."

Cambodia Funds Rejected

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Foreign Affairs Committee today rejected $135.6 million in emergency U.S. military aid for Cambodia, but held out the slim possibility of a compromise on the controversy with President Ford.

Less than an hour later, the Senate Democratic Caucus voted 38 to 5 against providing further military aid to either Cambodia or South Vietnam. House Democrats voted in a similar manner Wednesday.

REDS ESCALATE VIETNAM OFFENSIVE. Story, Page A4.

The House committee vote was 18-15 on a compromise amendment proposed by Rep. Lee Hamilton (D-Ind.)

It was a severe blow to the Administration's request for $222 million to Cambodia. The amendment was an attempt to compromise on aid for Phnom Penh which is surrounded by Communist forces.

The committee delayed any immediate recommendation to the full House on the Cambodian aid matter.

Committee Chairman Thomas E. Morgan (D-Pa.), told reporters he was urging the Administration to consult with Rep. Donald M. Fraser, (D-Minn.) over a possible compromise on the aid. Fraser is a major critic of any further U.S. weapons for Cambodia.

At the White House, Press Secretary Ron Nessen responded by saying that Ford still hopes that Congress will finally approve his request. He said Ford felt Congress could be persuaded by the testimony of a congressional delegation which recently returned from Southeast Asia and films of the Cambodian conflict which have been shown on television.

Records Unsealed In Case

By TOM BARLEY
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Documents made public today after earlier being sealed by an Orange County Superior Court judge contain allegations that one of nine men indicted after an investigation into the county assessor's office accepted marine equipment valued at $864.68 from a Garden Grove company.

District attorney's investigator John Coleman submitted the report to his office after making a trip to Newport Beach and an examination of the vessel "Bolinas" moored there by defendant George Upton.

Coleman claims in the affidavits made public today by Judge Everett W. Dickey that Upton, 54, of Santa Ana, was the recipient of an electric generating plant and aqualift valued at $864.68 and that the Radio Shack company picked up the tab.

It is also alleged in Coleman's affidavit that Radio Shack warehouse manager Joe Cernie told Assistant District Attorney Michael Capizzi that his company "saved approximately $190,000 in two years by knowing the right people."

Coleman states in the affidavit that Upton was assigned by the assessor's office to handle Radio Shack assessments during that period.

Valley Proposal

Unification Probe Nixed by OC Panel

By KATHY CLANCY
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

An Orange County schools committee decided for the second time Wednesday night to stay out of the battle over unification within Fountain Valley city limits.

The Orange County Committee on School District Organization voted unanimously to reject a request to study reorganization of the Huntington Beach part of the Fountain Valley (elementary) School District.

"Our county counsel told us we really didn't have many options open," said Sheila Meyers, a committee member and a trustee of the Fountain Valley district. Her board had made the county request.

"The only one legally open was to submit a whole new plan," she said.

But Mrs. Meyers said submitting a new plan, including Fountain Valley and the Huntington Beach "strip," could have toppled the citizens petition effort asking for the new city border school system.

"We had already voted earlier not to deal with those petitions," she added. She was referring to a Jan. 30 decision by the committee to reject a State Department of Education request to submit an opinion about the Fountain Valley effort.

At that meeting David Brandt, committee chairman, said, "We are being asked to delve into something where we have no authority."

Wednesday's meeting was marked by dissension and heated discussion from those supporting the unification and those opposing it.

But Carl "Bud" Jones, leader of the petition effort, said today, "We are ecstatic. It is going on to the state."

He accused the county counsel of misleading the committee in suggesting members' only option was to redraw a plan to include Fountain Valley and the Huntington Beach area.

He contended the committee could have dealt with the Huntington Beach area alone.

As it stands, the plan is vigorously opposed by both the Huntington Beach parents and a group of parents from Vista View

Ford Urges Tax Speed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford was quoted today as complaining that "time is growing short" for action on a recession-fighting tax cut and yet the Senate plans an Easter vacation in just eight days.

Ford has said that he wants the tax cut by Easter.

The tax-writing Senate Finance Committee began writing its version of the bill this morning.

Sen. Russell B. Long, (D-La.), the chairman, said he will support a $30-billion tax cut, almost double the amounted recommended by Ford.

Library Expenses Slashed

By TERRY COVILLE
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Can a $2.9 million library open its doors without a $55 coffee urn, $70 worth of kitchen knives and a $25 punch bowl?

Huntington Beach Librarian Walter Johnson has been asked by the city council to find the answer to that question.

He was ordered Monday night to cut the "social amenities" out of a request for $27,873 to spend on items considered necessary for the opening of the new central library in April.

"I'm sure some women's club would be happy to donate these social items," suggested Councilwoman Norma Gibbs, who offered to rummage through her own kitchenware supplies.

The coffee urn, kitchen knives and punch bowl were just part of a 56-item list requested for the library and sharply criticized by the council.

Councilman Jerry Matney, who heads all the probation schools for Orange County, cast a skeptical glance at two tape cassette players, each listed at $150, and wondered about the same price tag on a record player for the children's department.

"If you pay more than $50 for a cassette player I worry," noted Matney. "And I'd never let one of my schools buy a record player for $150."

"It seems to me it is our responsibility to purchase items only for the function of the library," added Mayor Al Coen.

"We began this list at $81,000," Johnson replied. "It has already been cut down quite a bit."

"I'd be curious to see the $81,000 list — no, I wouldn't," observed Mrs. Gibbs.

After Johnson agreed to revise the list and cut out items not directly related to the library function, the council agreed to provide about $24,000 from the city's untouched federal revenue sharing funds.

But the money will come out of $350,000 now intended for the purchase of books.

"I know books are important to you," Matney told Johnson. "If you had to buy these out of your book budget, you'd take a closer look."

Mrs. Gibbs and Don Shipley opposed using book fund money, but relented so the items could be bought in time for the library's April 15 dedication.

Many of the requested items involve equipment noted as library furnishings, such as: two adding machines, book repair press, two electric erasers, 10 clocks, two calculators and 3,000 plastic magazine holders.

When asked why such items

Trio Named Fire Captains

Three West Orange County residents recently were appointed to the rank of captain with the Los Angeles County Fire Department.

The new fire captains are Tony Chaves and Fred Shafer of Huntington Beach and Donato Dingillo of Fountain Valley.

Shafer joined the Los Angeles Department in 1960, Chaves in 1966 and Dingillo in 1968. Shafer has been assigned to the county's Whittier station, Chaves to Glendora, and Dingillo to Pico Rivera.

Humphrey Tax Deductions Nixed

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Income tax deductions of nearly $200,000 claimed by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey for the gift of vice presidential papers to the Minnesota Historical Society have been disallowed by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service, an aide said today.

David Gartner, an administrative assistant to the Minnesota Democrat, said Humphrey reached an agreement with the IRS to pay back taxes plus 6 percent annual interest on the $199,153.

The tax deductions were claimed for 1969 through 1972. Gartner and Humphrey's Minneapolis lawyer, Joe A. Walters, declined to say what the back taxes would amount to. They said the IRS is computing that figure.

Walters said the IRS objection was based on a regulation prohibiting deductions for "gifts of a future interest" over which the donor retains some form of control.

Gartner added, "There's nothing in this that involves wrongdoing of any kind. It's simply a difference in the way reasonable men interpret the law."

Walter pointed out that the IRS raised no questions about the legality of the Humphrey gift or the value of $309,475 placed on it.

"I told the senator that while there were some doubts on the 'future interest' question, I thought he had a good chance to be sustained in the long run," Walters said. "But he said, 'I'm going to resolve those doubts in favor of the Treasury'."

Humphrey's contract with the historical society, signed in April 1966, restricts public access to the papers for 25 years, meaning that anyone wishing to see them must get the senator's permission.

The IRS contends the limitation means Humphrey retains an interest in the papers, disqualifying them as a charitable deduction until after the limitation expires.

Walters said the IRS began an audit of Humphrey's returns after his disclosure in December 1973 that he was claiming the deductions. The disclosure came shortly after former President Nixon revealed that he claimed deductions of $482,000 for gifts of vice-presidential papers to the National Archives.

The Nixon deductions later were disallowed when it was discovered his lawyers back-dated the official deed prior to July 25, 1969 — the last day on which such charitable contributions could be made.

Congress amended the IRS code in 1969 to prohibit deductions for charitable gifts of papers, retroactive to July 25, meaning gifts made after that date did not qualify for deductions. Nixon was assessed $467,000 in back taxes and interest.

100 mph Chase Ends

Grove Robbery Suspect Nabbed by Police

A Garden Grove robbery suspect led Fountain Valley police on a 100-mile-an-hour chase and a three-hour neighborhood search early today before his arrest later at home.

Garden Grove police arrested Dennis Alan Talbot, 26, of 13302 Chapman Ave., on charges of car theft and armed robbery about 7:30 a.m. today, two hours after the chase and search through a Fountain Valley housing tract.

The incident started just before 6 p.m. Wednesday, police said, when Talbot assertedly robbed a Fotomat at Haster Street and Chapman Avenue in Garden Grove.

Police said he allegedly simulated a gun beneath his coat and took $32 from the attendant, then fled in a car stolen earlier from a Garden Grove home.

Just before 2 a.m. today, Fountain Valley Patrolman Norm Satterfield spotted Talbot's car, matching it with a description given by Garden Grove police.

At the same time, officers said, Satterfield spotted another car blinking its lights as if to signal Talbot of the patrolman's approach.

Talbot sped away west on Slater Avenue at speeds of 100 and 110 miles an hour, police said, until he crashed into a block wall fence a half mile away between Bushard and Magnolia Streets.

Officers said the impact tore out a 27-foot-section of the wall, but Talbot jumped from the demolished car and fled into a housing tract.

At the same time, the other car, containing two women friends of Talbot's stopped, police said. The two women, both from Garden Grove, were arrested on robbery charges, but were released after a few hours, and charges were dropped, Garden Grove police said.

A Fountain Valley police dog and Huntington Beach helicopter aided officers in their search through yards in the neighborhood, but after three hours police called off the efforts.

Two hours later, Garden Grove officers found Talbot at home, but said they don't yet know how he got from Fountain Valley back to Garden Grove.

Officers said they also did not find the loot Talbot allegedly took from the Fotomat but an investigation is continuing.

They also said he apparently was not injured in the car accident.

Health Panel OKs UCI Medical Bill

By DOUGLAS FRITZSCHE
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

The legislative "cakewalk" is over for a $8.95 million supplemental appropriation bill designed to finance the medical education and community health care system envisioned by the UC Irvine medical school, the school's dean said today.

The bill eased past its third legislative hurdle Wednesday with 7 to 0 approval of the Assembly Health Committee.

But medical school Dean Stanley van den Noort said the bill faces tough times in the Assembly Ways and Means Committee because it calls for a $650,000 appropriation from the state general fund for costs of transition of Orange County Medical Center from Orange County to university ownership.

The $8.3 million balance would come from a $156 million health sciences bond issue approved by voters in 1972.

Meanwhile, delays in receiving financing have caused the medical school to scrap plans for takeover of the Medical Center July 1 as had been planned, Dr. van den Noort said in a wide-ranging conversation with reporters.

The campus is seeking new guidelines for takeover of the facility.

As explained by medical school Assistant Dean Tom Rolinson, the university would take over the facility six months after receiving funding.

In the meantime, the medical school hopes to keep its teaching operations in the Medical Center going through an extension of its present affiliation agreement with the county, Dr. van den Noort said.

The delays, caused by uncertainty about funding the medical school among UC regents, opposition from Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. and Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post and the long list of legislative committees which must consider the bill, have caused the problems already.

The medical school envisions a $42.5 million medical teaching and health care system consisting of a renovated 300-bed Orange County Medical Center, a 200-bed on-campus hospital and a string of outpatient clinics, in addition to a basic sciences teaching building.

Between $39 and $42 million of the 1972 bond funds were earmarked for UCI medical school development, Dr. van den Noort said. However, the university, due to a variety of factors, has over-encumbered the bond issue by more than $88 million.

A list of alternatives to the Irvine development plan is being considered by regents. None of the alternatives includes the on-campus hospital.

Without that facility, Dr. van den Noort claims the medical school is "doomed to mediocrity" and he and the bulk of his faculty will quit.

Already, Dr. van den Noort said 25 percent of the key posts are vacant. The school, he said, is unable to recruit high-quality faculty because of the uncertainty about its development.

Along the same line, the school is having difficulty attracting the best residents, interns and students, he said.

Research and training grants are falling short of previous years, he said, because of uncertainty about the school's future.

"I would like to be in a position sometime," Dr. van den Noort said, "to run a medical school and not be involved in constant struggle just to stay afloat."

The constant political hassles over the past seven years, he said, are draining the energy the school should be devoting to its mission — training doctors.

Marina High Drill Team Luncheon Set

Marina's High School's drill team will offer a public salad bar luncheon in the cafeteria at 1 p.m., Sunday, to raise funds for an April trip to Mexico City.

The $2 luncheon will be followed by a show featuring new routines which have not previously been performed in public, but will be used in Mexico City.

The Viking Band will hold a $1.25 pancake breakfast from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Sunday, to raise its share of the Mexico City travel fare.

Boys Club Wrestlers Win Championship

The Huntington Beach Boys Club has fielded a championship wrestling team under the instruction of Fountain Valley Boys Club Director Chris Torres.

Torres' young grapplers tangled with 16 other Southern California mat teams last weekend and wound up winners of the California Age Group (14 and younger) Wrestling Association Championships.

Matches were held at El Dorado High in Placentia. Twenty-two Huntington Beach wrestlers scored points to take the team championship and 13 of them won their age and weight divisions.

Torres was wrestling coach at the Huntington Beach Club when at mid-season he was named director of the Fountain Valley Club. He finished the mat season for Huntington Beach.

This spring, many of the young wrestlers will continue their training under Torres at Fountain Valley and he said he hopes to take at least 20 to the AAU Western Nationals under the Fountain Valley banner.

The Western Nationals are scheduled for June 19-21 in Missoula, Mont. Torres estimates the cost per boy at $70, if they drive there.

Last year, under Torres' leadership, the Huntington Beach club took third in the Western Nationals when they were held in Long Beach.

The 13 champions at El Dorado High were: Gregg Ruffer, 8, 75 pounds; Chris Torres (no relation), 10, 55 pounds; Charley Staley, 10, 65 pounds; Mike Rangel, 10, 90 pounds; Phillip Wright, 11, 105 pounds.

Also: Mike Provenzano, 12, 70 pounds; Chris Schulz, 12, 90 pounds; Dan Clearwater, 12, 140 pounds; Brian Shackelford, 12, 148 pounds; David Watts, 13, 75 pounds; Brad Will, 13, 95 pounds; Ben Lin, 13, 100 pounds; and Ron Russo, 13, 112 pounds.

HILLSDALE, Mich. (UPI) — Fire swept a rural frame home early today, killing six brothers and sisters aged 6 to 15. "It was just pitiful," one Reading Fire Department fireman said.

Consumer Reports Nixes Pot Danger

BOSTON (UPI) — Marijuana may not be the great threat to health and society that many studies have indicated, according to Consumer Reports magazine.

"The time has come to take a fresh look at the alleged dangers of marijuana," the Consumers Union publication said in its March issue.

The magazine said a "horrifying collection of marijuana hazards" — including brain damage, lowered resistance to disease, loss of motivation, birth defects, lung damage, sterility and impotence in men — have been widely publicized in reputable scientific journals and the news media.

But, said the magazine, "When a research finding can be readily checked — either by repeating the experiment or by devising a better one — an allegation of adverse marijuana effects is relatively short-lived.

Dr. William Pollin, director of research for the National Institute on Drug Abuse, said that "to suggest that there is a pattern of serious consequences and as soon as they are checked they are disproved, and to imply there is some pattern to this, I think tends to ignore or misstate what the present status of the situation is."

The magazine said marijuana smokers appear to remain in good health and good spirits, showing none of the adverse effects cited in the studies.

The magazine suggested a better picture of long-term effects could be obtained by studying a country where marijuana has been a daily custom for generations.

It cited a study the National Institute of Mental Health commissioned for study regarding marijuana effects on the island of Jamaica. For decades, Jamaicans have smoked marijuana much stronger than that available in the United States, the magazine said.

The magazine said that to qualify as a heavy smoker in the Jamaica study, one had to smoke at least eight marijuana cigarettes a day, and the subjects studied had smoked an average of 17.5 years. In the United States, a heavy smoker is considered to be one who smokes more than seven a week.

The study concluded: "The data clearly indicate that the long-term marijuana use by these men did not produce demonstrable intellectual or ability deficits ... There is no evidence in the results to suggest brain damage."

UNIFY. . .

School. Vista View is inside Fountain Valley but within the Ocean View School District. Parents there want a say over which district to join.

The Huntington Beach Union High School Board also opposes the unification because they fear other parts of their 52-square-mile area will follow Fountain Valley's lead. The Garden Grove Unified School District opposes the move because it would take two elementary and one high school away from them.

But Mrs. Meyers said today that despite the objections those grumps voiced Wednesday night, the committee meeting was intended only to decide whether or not to study the Huntington Beach area.

She said the questions over the legality of the petitions, options for the Huntington Beach and Vista View areas and other opposition will have to be handled by the state.

Schools Cut Back

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Board of Education decided Wednesday to lay off 188 teachers and 98 administrators and service personnel because of financial reasons. Robert W. Blackburn, assistant superintendent, said attendance is expected to drop by 6.2 percent and there is an estimated budget deficit of $3.7 million.

Mesa Glider Back at Home After Story

An experimental hang glider which could easily kill the thieves who stole it is back in experienced hands today.

Barry Gordon of Costa Mesa, who issued a public warning on Wednesday when he discovered that the huge kite had been stolen from him, said that 30 minutes after newspaper stories appeared he heard a knock on the front door.

"Two guys were standing there and they had brought with them the glider. They told me that they saw four young men the night before running with the glider and they said those people finally dumped it in a vacant lot.

"They said they read the story and then realized what it was," he said.

The glider is a prototype and has never been flown. He plans to test it at a hang glider park this week but in his appeal Gordon stressed that anyone short of an expert should not try to fly it.

Too Many Chiefs in District?

Four Orange Coast school districts have some of the highest ratios of administrators to classroom teachers in the county, a Grand Jury report issued Wednesday shows.

The report urged school districts with higher ratios to study the ones that keep the number of administrators to a minimum. The jury said a low ratio of administrators to teachers is costly and hampers ideal education.

According to the jury, state guidelines call for nine administrators per 100 teachers in elementary districts, eight per 100 in unified districts and seven per 100 in high school districts.

According to statistics provided by the jury, four Orange Coast districts approach those state mandated maximums.

Of coastal unified districts, the Saddleback Unified District ranks highest with 7.5 administrators per 100 teachers. Saddleback also has 6.7 pupil service employes teachers and 60.6 classified (support) employes per 100 teachers.

Next is a tie between Laguna Beach Unified and Irvine Unified at 7.4 administrators per 100 teachers.

Other ratios in those districts show Laguna Beach with 8.4 in pupil services and 78.5 in the classified category per 100 teachers and Irvine with 6.0 in pupil services and 70.6 classified employes per 100 teachers.

The fourth top coastal district is Huntington Beach Elementary with 7.8 administrators per 100 teachers. It has 4.7 pupil services employes and 62.2 classified employes per 100 teachers.

Other coast districts and their ratios include:

— Huntington Beach High School, 4.9 administrators, 10.5 pupil services and 67.1 classified per 100 teachers.

— Seal Beach Elementary; 7.0 administrators, 5.2 pupil services and 51.4 classified per 100 teachers.

— Ocean View Elementary; 6.2 administrators, 2.2 pupil services and 60.7 classified per 100 teachers.

Also in the affidavit is the comment that a 1972 audit of the assessor's office then headed by Rep. Andrew J. Hinshaw, indicated that Radio Shack had been under-assessed by $225,880 in 1969.

The tax of $22,000 due under that assessment hike was never billed and never paid, the affidavit alleges.

The allegations against Upton come at a time when the Grand Jury is known to be exploring charges that a number of Orange County companies and stores received favorable assessment treatment during Hinshaw's term as assessor.

All nine defendants are due in court March 21 for pretrial action on charges of grand theft, conspiracy, submission of false claims and violations of government codes.

They have been ordered to face trial June 9. They are free on their promise to appear at that trial.

It is alleged that the nine defendants, two of whom have since retired from county service, submitted mileage slips and overtime vouchers to the county at a time they were actually working on Hinshaw's Congressional campaign.

It has been estimated that their alleged activities cost the county at least $10,000.

It was learned Wednesday that Coleman's trip to Newport Beach and his examination of the 38-foot "Bolinas" was one of a number of such assignments being handled by district attorney's investigators.

Two Testify In Fund Case

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Financier C. Arnholt Smith directed two former business associates to make political campaign contributions and promised them reimbursement, the associates have testified in Smith's trial.

"Mr. Smith directed me to write a check to the (George) Murphy (senatorial) campaign for $1,000 and said I'd be reimbursed for the $1,000," said Norman B. Foster, former vice president for the now-defunct United States National Bank.

Smith, former chairman and chief stockholder of USNB, is on trial before U.S. District Court Judge Robert Schnacke on misdemeanor charges of making illegal corporate campaign contributions.

Harbor Schools Eying Personnel Cuts

By HILARY KAYE
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Ninety-five Harbor Area school teachers, lower echelon school administrators and support personnel were notified Wednesday they could be dismissed or reassigned next year.

The move came as officials of the Newport-Mesa Unified School District looked for ways to balance the district's budget for fiscal 1975-76.

No one with a classroom teaching credential is being considered for dismissal, school authorities said, but because of the tenure (seniority) system, teachers with the least experience may be bumped into a so-called permanent substitute pool next year.

Of the 95 employes who were given the news Wednesday afternoon by Supt. John Nicoll, 33 received notices of possible dismissal. They are nurses, psychologists, counselors and special music teachers.

None of the 33 hold classroom teaching credentials and they could be fired when individual school principals figure out their 1975-76 school budgets and decide where to make cuts, district officials said.

The other 62 employes, such as assistant principals, have teaching credentials. They have received notices of possible reassignment.

They may be asked to leave their current assignments and return to the classroom next year, Nicoll said.

Probationary teachers — those in their first three years of teaching who have not yet been granted tenure — were spared the bad news. But they, too, may be affected if the support personnel are pushed back into the classroom.

"It's kind of a domino theory, where the teachers with seniority will bump those with less experience," explained Jean Harmon, Nicoll's administrative assistant.

Teachers bumped from regular classroom assignments would be placed in a "permanent substitute pool." They will retain their current salaries, but will move around the district as floating substitutes next year.

Mrs. Harmon said it is impossible to predict how many teachers may be affected until the individual schools complete their enrollment and budget.

Old Soldier Routs Burglars

PORTOLA VALLEY (UPI) — Retired Army Col. Lewis Day, 74, is so impressive in giving orders that even burglars obey him.

When Day and his wife returned home, they were confronted by a six-foot intruder who pointed the officer's .22-caliber rifle at him.

"Give me that gun and get the hell out of here," Day said.

The intruder took off out the front door.

The officer then found two more men in his bathroom. He barked similar orders. The pair jumped out the window.

Day had an added reason for his confidence. The rifle, he said, "can't be fired — I have it fixed so only I can make it work."

Health Panel OKs UCI Medical Bill

By DOUGLAS FRITZSCHE
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

The legislative "cakewalk" is over for a $8.95 million supplemental appropriation bill designed to finance the medical education and community health care system envisioned by the UC Irvine medical school, the school's dean said today.

The bill eased past its third legislative hurdle Wednesday with 7 to 0 approval of the Assembly Health Committee.

But medical school Dean Stanley van den Noort said the bill faces tough times in the Assembly Ways and Means Committee because it calls for a $650,000 appropriation from the state general fund for costs of transition of Orange County Medical Center from Orange County to university ownership.

The $8.3 million balance would come from a $156 million health sciences bond issue approved by voters in 1972.

Meanwhile, delays in receiving financing have caused the medical school to scrap plans for takeover of the Medical Center July 1 as had been planned, Dr. van den Noort said in a wide-ranging conversation with reporters.

The campus is seeking new guidelines for takeover of the facility.

As explained by medical school Assistant Dean Tom Rolinson, the university would take over the facility six months after receiving funding.

In the meantime, the medical school hopes to keep its teaching operations in the Medical Center going through an extension of its present affiliation agreement with the county, Dr. van den Noort said.

The delays, caused by uncertainty about funding the medical school among UC regents, opposition from Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. and Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post and the long list of legislative committees which must consider the bill, have caused the problems already.

The medical school envisions a $42.5 million medical teaching and health care system consisting of a renovated 300-bed Orange County Medical Center, a 200-bed on-campus hospital and a string of outpatient clinics, in addition to a basic sciences teaching building.

Between $39 and $42 million of the 1972 bond funds were earmarked for UCI medical

Cambodia Funds Rejected

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Foreign Affairs Committee today rejected $135.6 million in emergency U.S. military aid for Cambodia, but held out the slim possibility of a compromise on the controversy with President Ford.

Less than an hour later, the Senate Democratic Caucus voted 38 to 5 against providing further military aid to either Cambodia or South Vietnam. House Democrats voted in a similar manner Wednesday.

REDS ESCALATE VIETNAM OFFENSIVE. Story, Page A4.

The House committee vote was 18-15 on a compromise amendment proposed by Rep. Lee Hamilton (D-Ind.)

It was a severe blow to the Administration's request for $222 million to Cambodia. The amendment was an attempt to compromise on aid for Phnom Penh which is surrounded by Communist forces.

The committee delayed any immediate recommendation to the full House on the Cambodian aid matter.

Committee Chairman Thomas E. Morgan (D-Pa.), told reporters he was urging the Administration to consult with Rep. Donald M. Fraser, (D-Minn.) over a possible compromise on the aid. Fraser is a major critic of any further U.S. weapons for Cambodia.

At the White House, Press Secretary Ron Nessen responded by saying that Ford still hopes that Congress will finally approve his request. He said Ford felt Congress could be persuaded by the testimony of a congressional delegation which recently returned from Southeast Asia and films of the Cambodian conflict which have been shown on television.

Meanwhile, Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said today he is reluctant to personally seek negotiations for peace in Cambodia with exiled Prince Norodom Sihanouk.

But Mansfield indicated he would undertake the mission if President Ford asked him to.

"I'm prepared to do anything I can to end the agony in Cambodia," he said.

Records Unsealed In Case

By TOM BARLEY
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Documents made public today after earlier being sealed by an Orange County Superior Court judge contain allegations that one of nine men indicted after an investigation into the county assessor's office accepted marine equipment valued at $864.68 from a Garden Grove company.

District attorney's investigator John Coleman submitted the report to his office after making a trip to Newport Beach and an examination of the vessel "Bolinas" moored there by defendant George Upton.

Coleman claims in the affidavits made public today by Judge Everett W. Dickey that Upton, 54, of Santa Ana, was the recipient of an electric generating plant and aqualift valued at $864.68 and that the Radio Shack company picked up the tab.

It is also alleged in Coleman's affidavit that Radio Shack warehouse manager Joe Cernie told Assistant District Attorney Michael Capizzi that his company "saved approximately $190,000 in two years by knowing the right people."

Coleman states in the affidavit that Upton was assigned by the assessor's office to handle Radio Shack assessments during that period.

Also in the affidavit is the comment that a 1972 audit of the assessor's office then headed by Rep. Andrew J. Hinshaw, indicated that Radio Shack had been under-assessed by $225,880 in 1969.

The tax of $22,000 due under that assessment hike was never billed and never paid, the affidavit alleges.

Newport Council Seeks Road Plan

The Newport Beach City Council wants an alternate plan for roads in the Irvine Company's 10,000 coastal acres submitted to the Southeast Orange County Transportation Study Committee for additional study.

But the Irvine City Council, which unanimously endorsed the plan Tuesday, considers Newport's action "weak."

Council members from Irvine, Newport Beach and Laguna Beach drafted the alternate to a road scheme proposed by the Irvine Company, hoping that a consensus among the three cities would influence the county planning commission which will consider the matter next month.

The company's coastal land lies in the unincorporated area bounded by the three cities. The cities fear that traffic generated by the 50,000 people expected to live in the area would put too many cars on their streets under the Irvine Company's plan.

"I think we are going to have to have another conversation with the Newport Beach folks regarding their recommendation," said Irvine Mayor Art Anthony.

Similarly, Councilman Robert West said, "It seems to me that the Newport Beach council took a rather loose action on this — asking for further study."

The cities' plan differs from the Irvine Company plan because it channels residential traffic away from congested Pacific Coast Highway. Where the company proposes inland access to the coast highway from

Humphrey Tax Deductions Nixed

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Income tax deductions of nearly $200,000 claimed by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey for the gift of vice presidential papers to the Minnesota Historical Society have been disallowed by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service, an aide said today.

David Gartner, an administrative assistant to the Minnesota Democrat, said Humphrey reached an agreement with the IRS to pay back taxes plus 6 percent annual interest on the $199,153.

The tax deductions were claimed for 1969 through 1972. Gartner and Humphrey's Minneapolis lawyer, Joe A. Walters, declined to say what the back taxes would amount to. They said the IRS is computing that figure.

Walters said the IRS objection was based on a regulation prohibiting deductions for "gifts of a future interest" over which the donor retains some form of control.

Gartner added, "There's nothing in this that involves wrongdoing of any kind. It's simply a difference in the way reasonable men interpret the law."

Walter pointed out that the IRS raised no questions about the legality of the Humphrey gift or the value of $309,475 placed on it.

"I told the senator that while there were some doubts on the 'future interest' question, I thought he had a good chance to be sustained in the long run," Walters said. "But he said, 'I'm going to resolve those doubts in favor of the Treasury'."

Humphrey's contract with the historical society, signed in April 1966, restricts public access to the papers for 25 years, meaning that anyone wishing to see them must get the senator's permission.

The IRS contends the limitation means Humphrey retains an interest in the papers, disqualifying them as a charitable deduction until after the limitation expires.

Walters said the IRS began an audit of Humphrey's returns after his disclosure in December 1973 that he was claiming the deductions. The disclosure came shortly after former President Nixon revealed that he claimed deductions of $482,000 for gifts of vice-presidential papers to the National Archives.

The Nixon deductions later were disallowed when it was discovered his lawyers back-dated the official deed prior to July 25, 1969 — the last day on which such charitable contributions could be made.

Congress amended the IRS code in 1969 to prohibit deductions for charitable gifts of papers, retroactive to July 25, meaning gifts made after that date did not qualify for deductions. Nixon was assessed $467,000 in back taxes and interest.

Ford Urges Tax Speed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford was quoted today as complaining that "time is growing short" for action on a recession-fighting tax cut and yet the Senate plans an Easter vacation in just eight days.

Ford has said that he wants the tax cut by Easter.

The tax-writing Senate Finance Committee began writing its version of the bill this morning.

Sen. Russell B. Long, (D-La.), the chairman, said he will support a $30-billion tax cut, almost double the amounted recommended by Ford.

Schools Heavy in Leaders?

Four Orange Coast school districts have some of the highest ratios of administrators to classroom teachers in the county, a Grand Jury report issued Wednesday shows.

The report urged school districts with higher ratios to study the ones that keep the number of administrators to a minimum. The jury said a low ratio of administrators to teachers is costly and hampers ideal education.

According to the jury, state guidelines call for nine administrators per 100 teachers in elementary districts, eight per 100 in unified districts and seven per 100 in high school districts.

According to statistics provided by the jury, four Orange Coast districts approach those state mandated maximums.

Of coastal unified districts, the Saddleback Unified District ranks highest with 7.5 administrators per 100 teachers. Saddleback also has 6.7 pupil service employes teachers and 60.6 classified (support) employes per 100 teachers.

Next is a tie between Laguna Beach Unified and Irvine Unified at 7.4 administrators per 100 teachers.

Other ratios in those districts show Laguna Beach with 8.4 in pupil services and 78.5 in the classified category per 100 teachers and Irvine with 6.0 in pupil services and 70.6 classified employes per 100 teachers.

The fourth top coastal district is Huntington Beach Elementary with 7.8 administrators per 100 teachers. It has 4.7 pupil services employes and 62.2 classified employes per 100 teachers.

Other coast districts and their ratios include:

— Huntington Beach High School, 4.9 administrators, 10.5 pupil services and 67.1 classified per 100 teachers.

— Seal Beach Elementary; 7.0 administrators, 5.2 pupil services and 51.4 classified per 100 teachers.

— Ocean View Elementary; 6.2 administrators, 2.2 pupil services and 60.7 classified per 100 teachers.

— Fountain Valley Elementary; 5.8 administrators, 4.1 pupil services and 43.3 classified per 100 teachers.

— Capistrano Unified; 5.5 administrators, 6.2 pupil services and 60.8 classified per 100 teachers.

— Newport-Mesa Unified; 5.6 administrators, 7.1 pupil services and 72.6 classified per 100 teachers.

In almost every ratio category, the jury notes that the numbers per 100 teachers have increased steadily since 1970 in most districts.

The jury suggests districts consider the impact of high ratios on strained budgets for next year.

school development, Dr. van den Noort said. However, the university, due to a variety of factors, has over-encumbered the bond issue by more than $88 million.

A list of alternatives to the Irvine development plan is being considered by regents. None of the alternatives includes the on-campus hospital.

Without that facility, Dr. van den Noort claims the medical school is "doomed to mediocrity" and he and the bulk of his faculty will quit.

Already, Dr. van den Noort said 25 percent of the key posts are vacant. The school, he said, is unable to recruit high-quality faculty because of the uncertainty about its development.

Along the same line, the school is having difficulty attracting the best residents, interns and students, he said.

Federal grants, community and alumni support and other sources of income are drying up, he said. Losses in federal grants alone could total a fifth of the cost of the whole system, $8.3 million, he said.

Research and training grants are falling short of previous years, he said, because of uncertainty about the school's future.

"I would like to be in a position sometime," Dr. van den Noort said, "to run a medical school and not be involved in constant struggle just to stay afloat."

The constant political hassles over the past seven years, he said, are draining the energy the school should be devoting to its mission — training doctors.

CITIES' COASTAL PLAN—Council members from Irvine, Laguna Beach and Newport Beach drafted this plan for roads in the Irvine Company's 10,000-acre coastal area. Aimed at keeping down traffic problems development of the area could cause the three cities, the plan orients loops serving the residential area to an extended San Joaquin Hills Road. Inland park and ride lots would provide tram shuttle service to a proposed state beach. The Irvine Company's plan orients the loop roads to Pacific Coast Highway, which Newport Beach and Laguna Beach feel would put too much traffic on the already overburdened road.

Coastal Traffic Opposed

By FREDERICK SCHOEMEHL
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

The Laguna Beach City Council made it clear Wednesday night that it does not want traffic from the Irvine Company's proposed 10,000-acre coastal development pouring into the Art Colony.

Following a presentation by Councilwoman Phyllis Sweeney, the council unanimously endorsed for study purposes a plan that would keep traffic generated by the 40,000-person development off Pacific Coast Highway as it now runs from Laguna Beach to Corona del Mar.

The traffic circulation proposal shows three major roads that would extend almost to Pacific Coast Highway then abruptly loop back to inland areas.

Persons wanting to get to the coast could park at one of three large parking facilities called for in the proposal and take trams to the beach and other coastal recreation areas.

Counciimen agreed the pall plan had merit and should be carefully studied by TICMAP, the acronym for The Irvine Company Coastal Community Multi-Agency Planning Program. TICMAP is made up of representatives of 22 public and private agencies that want a say in the type of development that occurs on the sprawling parcel.

The council also referred the proposal prepared by representatives of Newport Beach, Irvine and Laguna Beach to the Southeast Orange County Land Use and Transportation Study group.

"Any development here is going to put impossible demands on the cities of Laguna Beach, Newport Beach and Irvine," said Mrs. Sweeney as she reviewed the traffic circulation proposal for the property.

Irvine Company planners sat silently in the audience as Mrs. Sweeney described the proposal. The company's plans now show through roads to Coast Highway.

"Our intent is to try and see if the concept as for here (the cities' loop plan) makes sense," Larry Moore, Irvine Company project manager, told the council later.

"My concern is where you're going to bring that traffic down in Laguna Beach," Councilman Jon Brand told Moore during an earlier presentation of the overall plan for the coastal property.

Moore said he couldn't specifically say where the road would be.

"I can answer that," Brand fired back. "You're going to destroy that neighborhood if you bring that road through it."

"I can't see any area in the north end that has a road that could handle that traffic," Brand continued.

"That's precisely the kind of input we want," Moore said.

Mayor Roy Holm said the council's action to urge study of the loop system should not be construed as a "commitment to the concept."

"We cannot be sure that this is the right plan," Holm said, explaining that it may be subject to change as it is studied by the various agencies.

Park Panel Okays West Master Plan

The West Newport Master Plan, which would bring a landscaped island of recreation into the west end of Newport Beach, has been approved by Parks, Beaches and Recreation Commission members.

Commissioners gave their assent following a sparsely-attended public hearing Tuesday. No one spoke against the plan and one representative from the West Newport Association offered support.

The plan now goes on to the city council at its April 14 study session, where council members will consider final approval.

The concept is novel in Newport Beach, according to Commissioner Mike Johnson.

"Usually, people have to go to a park. Here, we're bringing a park to the people," Johnson said.

Also included in the plan are handball, basketball and tennis courts, an open sports field, a children's play field, bike trails, restrooms and parking lots.

Implementation of the plan would stretch over a number of years, but initial development could begin this summer if capital improvements suggested in the 1975-76 budget are approved by the city council in June.

First to be constructed would be handball courts at 59th Street, restrooms at Orange Street and a few bike trails.

Those improvements would amount to about $100,000, according to Calvin Stewart, the department's director.

In other action, commissioners voted to initiate a policy allowing commercial use of public parks.

The policy, if ultimately approved by the city council, would help the city maintain its parks by generating additional funds from businesses operated on public property.

Commercial uses could include food concessions, restaurants, tennis complexes, bowling alleys, or just about anything else reasonable, according to Stewart.

They have been ordered to face trial June 9. They are free on their promise to appear at that trial.

It is alleged that the nine defendants, two of whom have since retired from county service, submitted mileage slips and overtime vouchers to the county at a time they were actually working on Hinshaw's Congressional campaign.

It has been estimated that their alleged activities cost the county at least $10,000.

It was learned Wednesday that Coleman's trip to Newport Beach and his examination of the 38-foot "Bolinas" was one of a number of such assignments being handled by district attorney's investigators.

Culver Drive, Sand Canyon Avenue and others, the cities' plan has no direct access to coast highway through the property.

Additionally, the cities' plan proposes a tram service to take tourists to a proposed Irvine Coast state beach from park and ride lots near the San Joaquin Hills Ridge.

Employe Says Phone Hikes Not Required

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A telephone operator has told a Public Utilities Commission hearing that higher charges sought by the Pacific Telephone Company are not needed to pay for labor costs "but simply to increase profits."

Jane Margolis, the phone company operator, spoke Wednesday at a hearing into the firm's request for a $97.9 million rate increase.

Miss Margolis said the company is automating so rapidly the higher charges are not needed to offset wages.

Ira R. Alderson, a commission lawyer, said the PUC will investigate increased productivity before the hearing ends.

The proposed increase would not affect basic monthly telephone charges. However, the charges for certain intrastate long-distance calls would be higher, as well as higher charges for new connections, moving, changes in telephone numbers and monthly rates for telephone extensions in homes.

6 Children Perish

HILLSDALE, Mich. (UPI) — Fire swept a rural frame home early today, killing six brothers and sisters aged 6 to 15. "It was just pitiful," one Reading Fire Department fireman said.

Mesa Glider Back at Home After Story

An experimental hang glider which could easily kill the thieves who stole it is back in experienced hands today.

Barry Gordon of Costa Mesa, who issued a public warning on Wednesday when he discovered that the huge kite had been stolen from him, said that 30 minutes after newspaper stories appeared he heard a knock on the front door.

"Two guys were standing there and they had brought with them the glider. They told me that they saw four young men the night before running with the glider and they said those people finally dumped it in a vacant lot.

"They said they read the story and then realized what it was," he said.

The glider is a prototype and has never been flown. He plans to test it at a hang glider park this week but in his appeal Gordon stressed that anyone short of an expert should not try to fly it.

LA Plan Voided

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Superior Court judge voided Los Angeles County's first official general plan because the Board of Supervisors adopted the plan without getting an environmental impact report. Judge David A. Thomas made the ruling in a civil suit brought by a coalition of conservation groups opposed to the plan.

Banks Skirmish

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Swiss bank left holding the bag for $1.1 million after honoring a Los Angeles municipal check said Wednesday the city should come up with the money to cover the loss. But City Atty. Burt Pines said he would advise the city to deny the claim filed by the Banque de Paris of Geneva, Switzerland.

Vacations On-- Despite Slump

By SYLVIA PORTER

Despite the most severe slump since the depression 1930s, soaring unemployment and a rapid rate of inflation, you are continuing to take vacations on a scale signaling a resumption of cheerful increases in the future.

Whether for reasons of health, recreation or education, you're using some of your spending money to finance a break in your regular work schedule. A vacation, at least once a year, has become a way of life in our land, has high priority in the category of necessities, ranks in many families even ahead of the acquisition of wanted durable goods.

— AS DOCUMENTATION, a recent Conference Board study indicated that nearly 43 percent of the consumers surveyed planned to take a vacation in the first half of 1975, just about the same percent as in a similar poll a year ago.

— While the proportion of households planning to go abroad has dropped from 4.2 to 3.6 percent and the proportion planning to travel by air has fallen from 9.7 to 8.8 percent, these figures hardly reflect a disastrous plunge. Instead, they suggest a surprisingly modest decline against today's economic background.

— As far as United States travel is concerned, overall total tourism fell a scant 2 percent last year and actually finished with a strong surge in such areas as Florida, the Far West, Hawaii, tropical Texas, the Gulf and the Southwest. Winter bookings are not only holding; record travel is being reported to the Western ski areas of Colorado and Utah.

— After a dizzying plunge in the first quarter of '74 in response to the energy crisis, auto travel ended the year down only 4 percent, according to the U.S. Travel Data Center. At the same time, rail travel was up a whopping 32 percent, bus travel was up 6 percent and air travel was up 4 percent.

BUT HAVE YOU CHANGED! It is no exaggeration to say that the travel industry has entered a new era — with your vacation patterns crumbling, your holiday habits changing drastically and your spending becoming far more sensible and selective than ever before.

(1) You're sticking much closer to home than in previous free-spending eras.

In general, the best records are being chalked up by national parks and historic sites near big cities. Washington, D.C. and Philadelphia areas are up spectacularly — and additional sharp gains are expected as the Bicentennial gets its real start with weeklong celebrations in late April in Boston, Concord and Lexington.

(2) You're turning in increasing numbers to travel agents and to public transportation.

'About half of all domestic pleasure air travel and nearly 75 percent of U.S. international air travel now involves bookings through travel agents, reports Robert McMullen, president of the American Society of Travel Agents. In this era of selective buying, the travel agent can definitely help you stretch your travel dollar, but warns McMullen, "be sure you are dealing with a bona fide agent and look for the ASTA seal in the yellow pages."

(3) YOU'RE ASKING FOR and accepting new ideas from the travel industry — particularly in prepaid and packaged tours.

"Energy has forced Americans to plan, conserve and utilize their common sense in vacation travel," observes Frank Hildebrand, national chairman of Discover America Travel Organizations. "New tours are on the market and the travel industry is turning inward to discover its own country."

(4) And although the international travel outlook is dismal, passport applications did turn up again as 1974 ended and the Holy Year may spur travel to Europe.

If you do go abroad, you'll find the best travel bargains in Spain and Mexico, the most expensive areas in Japan and Sweden. Here particularly, let your travel agent help you with package tours — fly/drive and fly/sightsee vacations.

AND FOR NOW AND for the future, learn the money-saving rules well. Be as flexible on dates and routing as you can. Avoid Fridays and Sundays when traveling by air. Investigate Amtrak, especially for family travel and short-haul trips. Relegate haphazard touring to an age in the distant past.

And if you're going to a business convention, try to combine it with a family vacation — making one trip out of two.

THE FAMILY CIRCUS By Bil Keane

"Mommy, will you itch my back?"

L.M. Boyd

How Big Ben Got Its Name

Women talk mostly about men, clothes and social affairs. Men talk mostly about business, recreation and women. In that order, respectively. Such are the findings in one more recent study on the matter.

A GRASSHOPPER thermometer — yes, that's a thermometer to take the temperature of a grasshopper — is only five one thousandths of an inch in diameter.

WAS NONE OTHER than Jerry Mitchell who described harness racing as horse and buggy bingo.

THAT FUR said to be most difficult to imitate is the silver fox.

BIG BEN

Q. "Louie, I'll bet you a quarter on the corner that great clock in London called Big Ben was named in honor of the statesman Benjamin Disraeli."

A. You're on. Big Ben is the bell, not the clock, please note. And it was named by Parliament members in honor of a tall heavy set gentleman called Sir Benjamin Hall who was commissioner of works there in 1859 when the bell was first installed. Take advantage of the four percent discount by paying up within 30 days.

Q. "IN HOW MANY movies has Shirley MacLaine played a lady of the night?"

A. In 14 of her 37 films.

Q. "WHAT'S the lifespan of a robin?"

A. Figure 12 years.

THE HARD FACTS

Paying spectators at baseball games outnumber paying spectators at football games by about three to one . . . WHO WAS IT that defined "chaos" as "four women plus one luncheon check?" . . . STATISTICS indicate that finger least likely to be injured is the ring finger of the left hand.

IT'S TOLD that a United Nations committee was formed to do a study on elephants. Representatives were appointed from France, West Germany, Great Britain, the Soviet Union, the United States and Denmark. Each submitted a paper, entitled as follows: France, "The Love of the Elephant." West Germany, "The Philosophy of the Elephant." Great Britain, "The Elephant, Its Contribution to the Growth of the Empire." The Soviet Union, "A Five-Year Plan for Elephants." The United States, "Bigger and Better Elephants." And Denmark, "How to Make 215 Different Kinds of Sandwiches out of an Elephant."

2 Heavyweights Battle for Bulge

LONDON (UPI) — George Maree and John Robinson are fighting the waistline battle of the bulge in reverse. At stake: the British heavyweight championship.

"Mighty George" holds the title. He weighs 543 pounds and measures 75-73-82.

The champ has the distinct advantage in experience. He is 52. John has 32 years behind him.

The two have agreed to a weigh-off this summer. George figures all he has to do to win is hold his weight where it is. John has to gain 46 pounds to tie, 47 to win.

GEORGE IS confident — "Robinson's nothing but a bag of bones. I'm not eating a lot. I don't want to get fat. But I'm drinking at least a bottle of brandy a day and as much champagne as I can. It will make sure I don't lose any weight."

John, too, has faith — "I'm certain the crown is mine. . .For breakfast, I have a dozen bacon rolls and two pints of milk. Dinner is a steak and kidney pie for four people, two to three pounds of potatoes, spinach and peas.

"MIND YOU, it's the eating between meals that really does it. I can spend three to four pounds ($7.20 to $9.60) on shellfish and scoff a one-pound bar of chocolate just for a snack."

Society To Meet

The benefits of transcendental meditation will be discussed in an 8 o'clock meeting tonight at Murdy Park Community Center in Huntington Beach.

Harbor Schools Eying Personnel Cuts

By HILARY KAYE
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Ninety-five Harbor Area school teachers, lower echelon school administrators and support personnel were notified Wednesday they could be dismissed or reassigned next year.

The move came as officials of the Newport-Mesa Unified School District looked for ways to balance the district's budget for fiscal 1975-76.

No one with a classroom teaching credential is being considered for dismissal, school authorities said, but because of the tenure (seniority) system, teachers with the least experience may be bumped into a so-called permanent substitute pool next year.

Of the 95 employes who were given the news Wednesday afternoon by Supt. John Nicoll, 33 received notices of possible dismissal. They are nurses, psychologists, counselors and special music teachers.

None of the 33 hold classroom teaching credentials and they could be fired when individual school principals figure out their 1975-76 school budgets and decide where to make cuts, district officials said.

The other 62 employes, such as assistant principals, have teaching credentials. They have received notices of possible reassignment.

They may be asked to leave their current assignments and return to the classroom next year, Nicoll said.

Probationary teachers — those in their first three years of teaching who have not yet been granted tenure — were spared the bad news. But they, too, may be affected if the support personnel are pushed back into the classroom.

"It's kind of a domino theory, where the teachers with seniority will bump those with less experience," explained Jean Harmon, Nicoll's administrative assistant.

Teachers bumped from regular classroom assignments would be placed in a "permanent substitute pool." They will retain their current salaries, but will move around the district as floating substitutes next year.

Mrs. Harmon said it is impossible to predict how many teachers may be affected until the individual schools complete their enrollment and budget

Old Soldier Routs Burglars

PORTOLA VALLEY (UPI) — Retired Army Col. Lewis Day, 74, is so impressive in giving orders that even burglars obey him.

When Day and his wife returned home, they were confronted by a six-foot intruder who pointed the officer's .22-caliber rifle at him.

"Give me that gun and get the hell out of here," Day said.

The intruder took off out the front door.

The officer then found two more men in his bathroom. He barked similar orders. The pair jumped out the window.

Day had an added reason for his confidence. The rifle, he said, "can't be fired — I have it fixed so only I can make it work."

Cambodia Funds Rejected

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Foreign Affairs Committee today rejected $135.6 million in emergency U.S. military aid for Cambodia, but held out the slim possibility of a compromise on the controversy with President Ford.

Less than an hour later, the Senate Democratic Caucus voted 38 to 5 against providing further military aid to either Cambodia or South Vietnam. House Democrats voted in a similar manner Wednesday.

REDS ESCALATE VIETNAM OFFENSIVE. Story, Page A4.

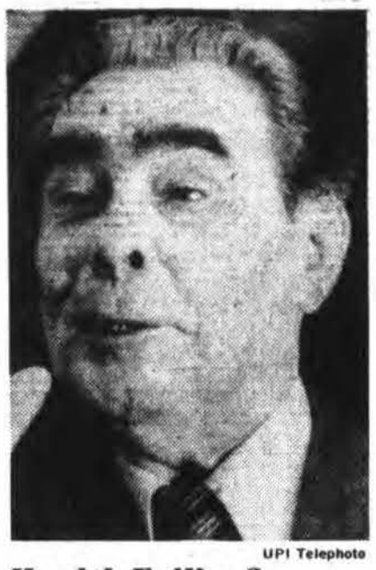

The House committee vote was 18-15 on a compromise amendment proposed by Rep. Lee Hamilton (D-Ind.)

It was a severe blow to the Administration's request for $222 million to Cambodia. The amendment was an attempt to compromise on aid for Phnom Penh which is surrounded by Communist forces.

The committee delayed any immediate recommendation to the full House on the Cambodian aid matter.

Committee Chairman Thomas E. Morgan (D-Pa.), told reporters he was urging the Administration to consult with Rep. Donald M. Fraser, (D-Minn.) over a possible compromise on the aid. Fraser is a major critic of any further U.S. weapons for Cambodia.

At the White House, Press Secretary Ron Nessen responded by saying that Ford still hopes that Congress will finally approve his request.

Records Unsealed In Case

By TOM BARLEY
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Documents made public today after earlier being sealed by an Orange County Superior Court judge contain allegations that one of nine men indicted after an investigation into the county assessor's office accepted marine equipment valued at $864.68 from a Garden Grove company. (Related editorial Page A6.)

District attorney's investigator John Coleman submitted the report to his office after making a trip to Newport Beach and an examination of the vessel "Bolinas" moored there by defendant George Upton.

Coleman claims in the affidavits made public today by Judge Everett W. Dickey that Upton, 54, of Santa Ana, was the recipient of an electric generating plant and aqualift valued at $864.68 and that the Radio Shack company picked up the tab.

It is also alleged in Coleman's affidavit that Radio Shack warehouse manager Joe Cernie told Assistant District Attorney Michael Capizzi that his company "saved approximately $190,000 in two years by knowing the right people."

Coleman states in the affidavit that Upton was assigned by the assessor's office to handle Radio Shack assessments during that period.

Also in the affidavit is the comment that a 1972 audit of the assessor's office then headed by Rep. Andrew J. Hinshaw, indicated that Radio Shack had been under-assessed by $225,880 in 1969.

The tax of $22,000 due under that assessment hike was never billed and never paid, the affidavit alleges.

The allegations against Upton come at a time when the Grand Jury is known to be exploring charges that a number of Orange County companies and stores received favorable assessment treatment during Hinshaw's term as assessor.

All nine defendants are due in court March 21 for pretrial action on charges of grand theft, conspiracy, submission of false claims and violations of govern-

Ford Urges Tax Speed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford was quoted today as complaining that "time is growing short" for action on a recession-fighting tax cut and yet the Senate plans an Easter vacation in just eight days.

Ford has said that he wants the tax cut by Easter.

The tax-writing Senate Finance Committee began writing its version of the bill this morning.

Sen. Russell B. Long, (D-La.), the chairman, said he will support a $30-billion tax cut, almost double the amounted recommended by Ford.

Health Panel OKs UCI Medical Bill

By DOUGLAS FRITZSCHE
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

The legislative "cakewalk" is over for a $8.95 million supplemental appropriation bill designed to finance the medical education and community health care system envisioned by the UC Irvine medical school, the school's dean said today.

The bill eased past its third legislative hurdle Wednesday with 7 to 0 approval of the Assembly Health Committee.

But medical school Dean Stanley van den Noort said the bill faces tough times in the Assembly Ways and Means Committee because it calls for a $650,000 appropriation from the state general fund for costs of transition of Orange County Medical Center from Orange County to university ownership.

The $8.3 million balance would come from a $156 million health sciences bond issue approved by voters in 1972.

Meanwhile, delays in receiving financing have caused the medical school to scrap plans for takeover of the Medical Center July 1 as had been planned, Dr. van den Noort said in a wide-ranging conversation with reporters.

The campus is seeking new guidelines for takeover of the facility.

As explained by medical school Assistant Dean Tom Rolinson, the university would take over the facility six months after receiving funding.

In the meantime, the medical school hopes to keep its teaching operations in the Medical Center going through an extension of its present affiliation agreement with the county, Dr. van den Noort said.

The delays, caused by uncertainty about funding the medical school among UC regents, opposition from Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. and Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post and the long list of legislative committees which must consider the bill, have caused the problems already.

The medical school envisions a $42.5 million medical teaching and health care system consisting of a renovated 300-bed Orange County Medical Center, a 200-bed on-campus hospital and a string of outpatient clinics, in addition to a basic sciences teaching building.

Between $39 and $42 million of the 1972 bond funds were earmarked for UCI medical

A Hot Night —For Poker

They had a hot time in the old town firehouse Wednesday night, after the boys finished up routine chores such as polishing the brass and chrome on the big fire engines.

One ranking Costa Mesa fireman remarked about the quiet evening — in terms of any fire calls — when reporters covering the firehouse beat checked in this morning.

"All we had was a good poker game," he declared.

DOW RECORDS SLIGHT LOSS

NEW YORK (UPI) — Despite a late rally attempt, the stock market closed lower for the third consecutive session today in slowed-down trading on the New York Stock Exchange. Profit-taking was a factor.

The Dow Jones industrial average, a seven-point loser Wednesday, dropped 0.71 points to 762.98.

Mesa Glider Back at Home After Story

An experimental hang glider which could easily kill the thieves who stole it is back in experienced hands today.

Barry Gordon of Costa Mesa, who issued a public warning on Wednesday when he discovered that the huge kite had been stolen from him, said that 30 minutes after newspaper stories appeared he heard a knock on the front door.

"Two guys were standing there and they had brought with them the glider. They told me that they saw four young men the night before running with the glider and they said those people finally dumped it in a vacant lot.

"They said they read the story and then realized what it was," he said.

The glider is a prototype and has never been flown. He plans to test it at a hang glider park this week but in his appeal Gordon stressed that anyone short of an expert should not try to fly it.

6 Children Perish

HILLSDALE, Mich. (UPI) — Fire swept a rural frame home early today, killing six brothers and sisters aged 6 to 15. "It was just pitiful," one Reading Fire Department fireman said. "The kids were found right where they slept."

Patty Hearst Fingerprints In Farmhouse?

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) The San Francisco Examiner, whose president and editor is Randolph Hearst, said today fingerprints of his fugitive daughter, Patricia, had been found in a Pennsylvania farmhouse.

The newspaper said Miss Hearst's fingerprints were found along with those of fellow fugitives William and Emily Harris and of fugitive Japanese-American artist Wendy Misako Yoshimura in a farmhouse owned by an elderly couple after an informant told the FBI Miss Hearst stayed there. Agents discovered the farmhouse in October.

GRAND JURY PROBES PATTY'S TRAIL—A3

The Examiner described Miss Yoshimura as a "newcomer in the story" of Miss Hearst.

Miss Yoshimura has been wanted since 1972 in connection with a conspiracy to bomb the Navy Reserve Officers Training Corps quarters at UC Berkeley. She rented a garage in which Berkeley police seized an arsenal of weapons and explosives.

The draft of a "communique from the Revolutionary Army" announcing the destruction of the ROTC quarters was found in Miss Yoshimura's car.

Chimes Tell For Whom The Bell Tolls

A tinkling chime system has been installed on one of two main telephones coming into the Costa Mesa Police Department's automated records bureau, to improve acoustics.

The chimes also will tell busy clerks which phone is ringing, because the other main telephone line triggers a routine telephone buzzer.

A second buzzer heard in recent months has been disconnected, however, that one being the electronic door installed recently to keep unauthorized persons out of security areas.

Generally, only authorized persons use that doorway anyway and the front desk officer's trouble wasn't worth it.

He had to keep getting up to push the remote control buzzer button to let detectives into the detective bureau because they were in too much of a hurry to use their special keys.

Humphrey Tax Deductions Nixed

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Income tax deductions of nearly $200,000 claimed by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey for the gift of vice presidential papers to the Minnesota Historical Society have been disallowed by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service, an aide said today.

David Gartner, an administrative assistant to the Minnesota Democrat, said Humphrey reached an agreement with the IRS to pay back taxes plus 6 percent annual interest on the $199,153.

The tax deductions were claimed for 1969 through 1972. Gartner and Humphrey's Minneapolis lawyer, Joe A. Walters, declined to say what the back taxes would amount to. They said the IRS is computing that figure.

Walters said the IRS objection was based on a regulation prohibiting deductions for "gifts of a future interest" over which the donor retains some form of control.

Gartner added, "There's nothing in this that involves wrongdoing of any kind. It's simply a difference in the way reasonable men interpret the law."

Walter pointed out that the IRS raised no questions about the legality of the Humphrey gift or the value of $309,475 placed on it.

"I told the senator that while there were some doubts on the 'future interest' question, I thought he had a good chance to be sustained in the long run," Walters said. "But he said, 'I'm going to resolve those doubts in favor of the Treasury'."

Humphrey's contract with the historical society, signed in April 1966, restricts public access to the papers for 25 years, meaning that anyone wishing to see them must get the senator's permission.

The IRS contends the limitation means Humphrey retains an interest in the papers, disqualifying them as a charitable deduction until after the limitation expires.

Walters said the IRS began an audit of Humphrey's returns after his disclosure in December 1973 that he was claiming the deductions. The disclosure came shortly after former President Nixon revealed that he claimed deductions of $482,000 for gifts of vice-presidential papers to the National Archives.

The Nixon deductions later were disallowed when it was discovered his lawyers back-dated the official deed prior to July 25, 1969 — the last day on which such charitable contributions could be made.

Congress amended the IRS code in 1969 to prohibit deductions for charitable gifts of papers, retroactive to July 25, meaning gifts made after that date did not qualify for deductions. Nixon was assessed $467,000 in back taxes and interest.

Oh Shoot

Stuart Farmer, 28, Newport Beach (hauling on parachute), tried Wednesday to elevate himself above Newport's 32nd Street beach. Farmer and friends got an old parachute, tethered it to a lifeguard tower and waited for the wind to fill the chute and lift him off the ground. It seemed like a good idea, but apparently there wasn't enough wind. Farmer and his parachute never got off the ground.

Harbor Concert Friday

The annual spring concert of the Newport Harbor High School Instrumental Music Department will begin at 8 p.m. Friday in the school auditorium and will be highlighted by the presentation of a $600 scholarship and the award of a 1974 Pinto.

The scholarship will be given to a deserving senior and represents proceeds from the scholarship concert held in February.

Several other awards will also be given during the concert intermission.

Musical groups performing will be the Sailor Band and the Newport Harbor Orchestra.

Tickets for the concert are 10 cents, "as a special thank-you to the public," according to a spokesman from the music department.

Tickets are available from music students or at the door. Newport Harbor High is located at 600 Irvine Ave., Newport Beach.

Schools Heavy in Leaders?

Four Orange Coast school districts have some of the highest ratios of administrators to classroom teachers in the county, a Grand Jury report issued Wednesday shows.

The report urged school districts with higher ratios to study the ones that keep the number of administrators to a minimum. The jury said a low ratio of administrators to teachers is costly and hampers ideal education.

According to the jury, state guidelines call for nine administrators per 100 teachers in elementary districts, eight per 100 in unified districts and seven per 100 in high school districts.

According to statistics provided by the jury, four Orange Coast districts approach those state mandated maximums.

Of coastal unified districts, the Saddleback Unified District ranks highest with 7.5 administrators per 100 teachers. Saddleback also has 6.7 pupil service employes teachers and 60.6 classified (support) employes per 100 teachers.

Next is a tie between Laguna Beach Unified and Irvine Unified at 7.4 administrators per 100 teachers.

Other ratios in those districts show Laguna Beach with 8.4 in pupil services and 78.5 in the classified category per 100 teachers and Irvine with 6.0 in pupil services and 70.6 classified employes per 100 teachers.

The fourth top coastal district is Huntington Beach Elementary with 7.8 administrators per 100 teachers. It has 4.7 pupil services employes and 62.2 classified employes per 100 teachers.

Other coast districts and their ratios include:

— Huntington Beach High School, 4.9 administrators, 10.5 pupil services and 67.1 classified per 100 teachers.

— Seal Beach Elementary; 7.0 administrators, 5.2 pupil services and 51.4 classified per 100 teachers.

— Ocean View Elementary; 6.2 administrators, 2.2 pupil services and 60.7 classified per 100 teachers.

— Fountain Valley Elementary; 5.8 administrators, 4.1 pupil services and 43.3 classified per 100 teachers.

— Capistrano Unified; 5.5 administrators, 6.2 pupil services and 60.8 classified per 100 teachers.

— Newport-Mesa Unified; 5.6 administrators, 7.1 pupil services and 72.6 classified per 100 teachers.

In almost every ratio category, the jury notes that the numbers per 100 teachers have increased steadily since 1970 in most districts.

The jury suggests districts consider the impact of high ratios on strained budgets for next year.

Legally, the notices had to be issued by Saturday, but the school board does not have to act on recommendations by Nicoll until May 15.

Financially, if all 33 employes issued notices are dismissed, it would amount to a savings of about $528,000 for the district, Mrs. Harmon said.

District trustees have called an election May 27 on a proposed 36-cent override tax aimed at alleviating some of the district's financial problems.

Both teachers' unions have requested that the superintendent refrain from issuing dismissal notices to the probationary teachers.

Mrs. Harmon said Nicoll's recommendation to keep the younger teachers was influenced heavily by state law.

"We can only dismiss teachers in proportion to the amount of our enrollment decline, not to save money," Mrs. Harmon said.

The district is estimating a three percent drop in enrollment for next year, which means that of 1,200 district teachers, only 36 could be fired.

In reality, less than 36 could be fired because the district must also subtract from that figure all teachers currently on leave of absence or those who resign.

"We couldn't have made a big savings, anyway, by just firing the younger teachers," Mrs. Harmon explained.

school development, Dr. van den Noort said. However, the university, due to a variety of factors, has over-encumbered the bond issue by more than $88 million.

A list of alternatives to the Irvine development plan is being considered by regents. None of the alternatives includes the on-campus hospital.

Without that facility, Dr. van den Noort claims the medical school is "doomed to mediocrity" and he and the bulk of his faculty will quit.

Already, Dr. van den Noort said 25 percent of the key posts are vacant. The school, he said, is unable to recruit high-quality faculty because of the uncertainty about its development.

Along the same line, the school is having difficulty attracting the best residents, interns and students, he said.

Federal grants, community and alumni support and other sources of income are drying up, he said. Losses in federal grants alone could total a fifth of the cost of the whole system, $8.3 million, he said.

Research and training grants are falling short of previous years, he said, because of uncertainty about the school's future. .

"I would like to be in a position sometime," Dr. van den Noort said, "to run a medical school and not be involved in constant struggle just to stay afloat."

The constant political hassles over the past seven years, he said, are draining the energy the school should be devoting to its mission —training doctors.

LA Plan Voided

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Superior Court judge voided Los Angeles County's first official general plan because the Board of Supervisors adopted the plan without getting an environmental impact report. Judge David A. Thomas made the ruling in a civil suit brought by a coalition of conservation groups opposed to the plan.

Assemblyman Flees Youths on Freeway

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Assemblyman Jerry Lewis was chased at high speeds on a freeway to his apartment by three youths who burglarized his car and smashed its windows early today, the sheriff's office said.

Deputies arrested two teenage adults and one juvenile. The adults were booked for investigation of vehicle burglary and felony malicious mischief.

Lewis told reporters he left his Capitol office about 1:15 a.m. in his state-leased Oldsmobile convertible. He said about six blocks from the Capitol three youths in another car attempted to block his way.

Two of the youths jumped out with what appeared to be clubs, Lewis said. He added the driver held something that might have been a chain. He said he backed up his car and then sped around them and onto the Highway 50 freeway heading east.

"It was obvious they were chasing me. It was almost like a movie at high speeds, 100 maybe 120 miles an hour. It was the most frightening experience I ever had in my life."

He said he weaved in and out of traffic trying to shake his pursuers and then made a last-minute turn off the freeway, but the youths followed him, bouncing their car across a divider.

"One of them was leaning out the window and throwing things at my car and yelling at me," Lewis said. "This morning, when I woke up, I found myself still shaking."

Sheriff's spokesman Bill Miller said Lewis heard a racket outside, then came out to find the top of his car slashed and the windows broken. His briefcase and other items were missing.

A security guard took the license number of a car leaving the apartment complex and deputies later made the arrests, recovering the briefcase from a trash can near the home of one of the persons arrested, Miller said.

He said the assemblyman's car had its distinctive legislative license plate, but "there appears to be no connection. It appears to be a random thing as far as their going after him."

Miller said Glenn A. Wilson, 19, and Billy R. Frambs, 18, both of Sacramento, were booked on four counts of vehicle burglary — Lewis' car and three other cases earlier in the evening, and the malicious mischief, a felony because damage to Lewis' car exceeded $1,000.

They have been ordered to face trial June 9. They are free on their promise to appear at that trial.

It is alleged that the nine defendants, two of whom have since retired from county service, submitted mileage slips and overtime vouchers to the county at a time they were actually working on Hinshaw's Congressional campaign.

It has been estimated that their alleged activities cost the county at least $10,000.

It was learned Wednesday that Coleman's trip to Newport Beach and his examination of the 38-foot "Bolinas" was one of a number of such assignments being handled by district attorney's investigators.

No Aid to Aliens

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Illegal aliens would be barred from receiving public welfare under a bill introduced Wednesday. Assemblyman Mike Antonovich (D-Glendale), who introduced the bill, said, "Over $6 million a year is lost in welfare and Medi-Cal payments to illegal aliens."

Pot Termed 'No Threat' By Magazine

BOSTON (UPI) — Marijuana may not be the great threat to health and society that many studies have indicated, according to Consumer Reports magazine.

"The time has come to take a fresh look at the alleged dangers of marijuana," the Consumers Union publication said in its March issue.

The magazine said a "horrifying collection of marijuana hazards" — including brain damage, lowered resistance to disease, loss of motivation, birth defects, lung damage, sterility and impotence in men — have been widely publicized in reputable scientific journals and the news media.

But, said the magazine, "When a research finding can be readily checked — either by repeating the experiment or by devising a better one — an allegation of adverse marijuana effects is relatively short-lived.

Dr. William Pollin, director of research for the National Institute on Drug Abuse, said that "to suggest that there is a pattern of serious consequences and as soon as they are checked they are disproved, and to imply there is some pattern to this, I think tends to ignore or misstate what the present status of the situation is."

The magazine said marijuana smokers appear to remain in good health and good spirits, showing none of the adverse effects cited in the studies.

Motorist Killed

BAKERSFIELD (UPI) — Lillian L. Francisco, 20, Bakersfield, was killed Wednesday when her car ran off Panorama Drive and plunged 150 feet over a bluff. Police said the accident was not discovered until 15 to 18 hours after it occurred.

HAIR LENGTH 'REGULATED'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Employers can decide how long the hair may be on a cab or bus driver, two separate U.S. District Court judges have ruled.

Judge Stanley A. Weigel ruled Wednesday that the Yellow Cab Co. had the right to refuse to hire drivers solely because their hair extended below their collar lines.

Judge George B. Harris said it was not discriminatory or unlawful for the Golden Gate Transit Line to have regulations relating to men's hair length and beards.

Banks Skirmish

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Swiss bank left holding the bag for $1.1 million after honoring a Los Angeles municipal check said Wednesday the city should come up with the money to cover the loss. But City Atty. Burt Pines said he would advise the city to deny the claim filed by the Banque de Paris of Geneva, Switzerland.

Robbery Suspect Jailed After Chase

A Garden Grove robbery suspect led Fountain Valley police on a 100-mile-an-hour chase and a three-hour neighborhood search early today before his arrest later at home.

Garden Grove police arrested Dennis Alan Talbot, 26, of 13302 Chapman Ave., on charges of car theft and armed robbery about 7:30 a.m. today, two hours after the chase and search through a Fountain Valley housing tract.

The incident started just before 6 p.m. Wednesday, police said, when Talbot assertedly robbed a Fotomat at Haster Street and Chapman Avenue in Garden Grove.

Police said he allegedly simulated a gun beneath his coat and took $32 from the attendant, then fled in a car stolen earlier from a Garden Grove home.

Just before 2 a.m. today, Fountain Valley Patrolman Norm Satterfield spotted Talbot's car, matching it with a description given by Garden Grove police.

At the same time, officers said, Satterfield spotted another car blinking its lights as if to signal Talbot of the patrolman's approach.

Talbot sped away west on Slater Avenue at speeds of 100 and 110 miles an hour, police said, until he crashed into a block wall fence a half mile away between Bushard and Magnolia Streets.

Officers said the impact tore out a 27-foot-section of the wall, but Talbot jumped from the demolished car and fled into a housing tract.

At the same time, the other car, containing two women friends of Talbot's stopped, police said. The two women, both from Garden Grove, were arrested on robbery charges, but were released after a few hours, and charges were dropped, Garden Grove police said.

A Fountain Valley police dog and Huntington Beach helicopter aided officers in their search through yards in the neighborhood, but after three hours police called off the efforts.

Two hours later, Garden Grove officers found Talbot at home, but said they don't yet know how he got from Fountain Valley back to Garden Grove.

Officers said they also did not find the loot Talbot allegedly took from the Fotomat but an investigation is continuing.

They also said he apparently was not injured in the car accident.
