Fromme Carried Into Courtroom

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Lynette Fromme, who had to be carried into the courthouse by a U.S. marshal, was banished again from the court today after refusing to promise not to disrupt her trial on the charge she attempted to kill President Ford.

Miss Fromme, who had a red cloth over her eyes, was carried from a van that had brought her from the jail. She vowed Friday that she would not return to the courthouse unless officers carried her.

She had to be carried bodily but did not resist, said U.S. Marshal Arthur Van Court. He said she had a red bandana over her eyes when officers came to her jail cell.

Miss Fromme was ejected from the court twice Friday when she demanded that convicted mass murderer Charles Manson be allowed to testify for her. She was an early member of the so-called Manson family cult.

After her arrival today, Miss Fromme rejected an offer by U.S. District Court Judge Thomas MacBride to allow her to return to court on a promise of avoiding the disruptions.

"This is a matter of principle," she told MacBride, with the jury absent.

MacBride asked her whether she would remain quiet and express any objections through John Virga, whom he named to be her attorney when he withdrew Miss Fromme's right to represent herself on Friday.

"No, I'm the only one who could put on my defense," said Miss Fromme, who also has balked at watching the proceedings on television from a courthouse cell.

"So you refuse to sit down and be quiet?" asked MacBride.

"I have to," she replied, and the judge ordered her escorted out of the courtroom.

She again refused to watch the trial on television set up in a room adjacent to her courthouse cell, Van Court said.

Miss Fromme, in less than a week, has tried twice to change her plea from innocent to no contest or guilty, and fired Virga as her co-counsel, only to have him reinstated.

Sunset Beach Double Killing 'Dope Burn?'

By TOM BARLEY
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Orange County Sheriff's officers have no firm clues to work on today in their investigation of the weekend slayings of a couple who shared the home at 16861 Bayview St., in Sunset Beach.

But investigators probing the killings of Ronald Cauwels, 27, and Janet Mae Metz, 34, placed the possibility that they were the victims of a "dope burn" very high on their list.

They said Cauwels had a long criminal record and was known to be involved over the years in drug trafficking. They said he was the victim several years ago of a kidnap and assault that also may have had its origin in a drug deal.

Cauwels was shot once through the head Saturday night and died a short time later in Los Alamitos General Hospital. Mrs. Metz died on the spot from multiple bullet wounds in the head and chest.

Investigators are working on reports that four men occupying what is believed to be a 10-year-old light colored sedan drove up to the home and kicked in the

Goldwater Urged

FRESNO (UPI) — The board of directors of the United Republicans of California has passed a resolution urging Rep. Barry Goldwater not to give up his House seat to run for the U.S. Senate next year. The resolution called for prevailing upon Goldwater not to jeopardize GOP representation in his district by making the Senate race.

Congressman Predicts He'll be Acquitted and Says He'll Run Again

Defense Motion Accepted

By TOM BARLEY
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Congressman Andrew Hinshaw and his two lawyers got the trial delay they wanted today in Orange County Superior Court after being told on their first appearance this morning that no such continuance would be permitted.

Judge Robert P. Kneeland delayed courtroom action until Nov. 17 after defense attorney Marshall Morgan explained that he is involved in a Los Angeles County trial and can not be free for courtroom action here until Nov. 24.

But it seemed at one point of a contested motion before acting presiding Judge Bruce Sumner that Hinshaw might have to face trial with only one of the two lawyers defending him on bribery charges.

After reminding tardy defense attorney Marshall Morgan that "the trial calendar is always called at 8:30 a.m. in Orange County," Judge Sumner testily sent the trio to Judge Robert P. Kneeland's courtroom for trial.

Morgan and co-counsel Robert Green, obviously taken aback, re-

Teen Trapped Four Hours, Pulled Out

An Anaheim teenager fell 30 feet into an old mine shaft in Black Star Canyon Sunday and it took volunteer mountain rescue workers more than four hours to transport him to a waiting ambulance.

Mick McCrary, 16, was listed in fair condition today at Chapman General Hospital with multiple head and body injuries suffered in the 5:30 p.m. fall in the Santa Ana mountain canyon.

Chief Keith Lynn of the Silverado Volunteer Fire Department said McCrary was attempting to climb down the rock face where Black Star Falls runs during the spring runoff.

"He had about six friends with him at the top of the cliff and they had no ropes with them," Lynn said. "That is about a 50-foot sheer drop and he was climbing down to reach a particular ledge he wanted to get to for some reason."

Shortly after he began his climb, McCrary lost his grip on the rocks and fell "about 30 feet" into a vertical mine shaft below him.

Lynn said the youth landed in a pool of water on the floor of an old mine tunnel at the bottom of the shaft.

The tunnel and shaft are near the old Black Star coal mine, which was active about 100 years ago.

A dozen volunteers plus the youth's friends worked until after 10 p.m. to get McCrary down to the creek bed and out to an ambulance on Black Star Canyon Road.

Four Charged In Pot Case

Four Dana Point residents were jailed over the weekend by Orange County Sheriff's officers who said they found packaged marijuana and growing marijuana plants in the apartment at 33751 El Encanto.

Booked on charges of cultivating and possessing marijuana were Wendy Anne Kammeyer, 24, Seth Lorin Kammeyer, 21, Cletus William Madden, 21, and Jack Melvin Davis, 26, all of the El Encanto address.

Municipal court arraignment of the four suspects is scheduled today.

Screams Rout Rape Suspect In Laguna

Screams from a 55-year-old Laguna Beach woman Sunday caused an armed intruder to flee her home. Police believe the suspect may be the same man who raped a 19-year-old Lagunan earlier.

The older woman was unhurt in the 5 a.m. incident despite warnings from the gunman not to scream. She screamed anyway until he fled.

Friday morning at about the same hour, an armed man forced entry into the apartment of a 19-year-old woman and raped her.

"Right now all we have on the second case is burglary and assault with a deadly weapon. But, what was his motive? I can only suspect it was to rob and rape," Det. Gene Brooks said.

Det. Brooks said descriptions of the intruder in both cases were similar. He is described as a man in his early 20s wearing military fatigues. He reportedly has sandy short hair and is of medium height and build.

World Vision International will take action in federal court to prevent the removal of 20 Cambodian orphans from their adoptive parents, the organization's president announced Sunday in Garden Grove.

Dr. W. Stanley Mooneyham said the lawsuit designed to set aside the expected final ruling of a Los Angeles County Superior Court judge will be filed Tuesday in Los Angeles.

Veterans Day Rerun Slated For Tuesday

Orange County Courts, state offices, most public schools and five city halls will be closed Tuesday in observance of the second Veterans Day holiday in less than a month.

Federal and county offices marked the observance on October 27 and will be open Tuesday as will banks and most stores.

Tuesday's "traditional holiday" dates back to the signing of the armistice at the end of World War I in 1918.

Costa Mesa will be the only Orange Coast city to close its municipal offices Tuesday.

Schools in the Coast Community College District and the Capistrano Unified School District are the only ones that will be open, having observed the Oct 27 date.

200th Year Celebrated By Marines

Marines stationed at Camp Pendleton today joined in birthday ceremonies marking the 200th anniversary of the United States Marine Corps. (Related Story Page A4.)

This morning's ceremony was marked by a traditional cake-cutting, with the first two pieces going to the youngest and oldest Marines stationed at the base, a review of Marine Corps campaigns and events and a parade featuring Marines in authentic uniforms of past eras.

The Marine Corps was founded Nov. 10, 1775, by a resolution of the Continental Congress. Anniversary balls were held over the weekend at Camp Pendleton.

Marines stationed at El Toro Marine Corps Air Station marked the 200 birthday last week.

Reagan Hits Ford Record

NEW YORK (AP) — "Maybe the President was a congressman too long," Ronald Reagan said in an interview with Time magazine.

"The President has all the machinery, but I'd be happy with the grass roots," said the former California governor, adding he thought President Ford had not "been very successful."

"If I decide to run, maybe there's a little David and Goliath to this thing."

Reagan also said in the interview published Sunday: "With former President Nixon gone, I worry about Secretary of State Henry Kissinger. He needed someone like Nixon to keep him on that tough track. He has to have someone around who can keep him from giving away the store."

newed their protests that Morgan is involved in a trial in Santa Monica and may not be available for courtroom action here.

But Judge Sumner, deputizing for presiding Judge Robert A. Banyard, remained adamant in his decision. He commented that a motion for continuance identical to the one he ruled on today was denied earlier by Judge Kenneth Williams.

Morgan and Green had hoped for a delay of the trial to Nov. 24. Hinshaw faces jury trial on three felony counts of bribery.

Hinshaw appeared to recover his composure during the trek between courtrooms. He predicted he would be acquitted of the allegations and subsequently re-elected to his 40th Congressional District seat.

The Newport Beach Republican said his office had received a "spurt of mail" following the recent dismissal of eight of 11 felony counts contained in the Orange County Grand Jury indictment of the former assessor.

"I intend to stay active and run for office in the next primary," Hinshaw jauntily commented. He was nattily dressed today in a dark business suit and willingly joined newsmen for a televised interview.

Morgan and Green are now waiting in Judge Kneeland's courtroom for a discussion on trial prospects.

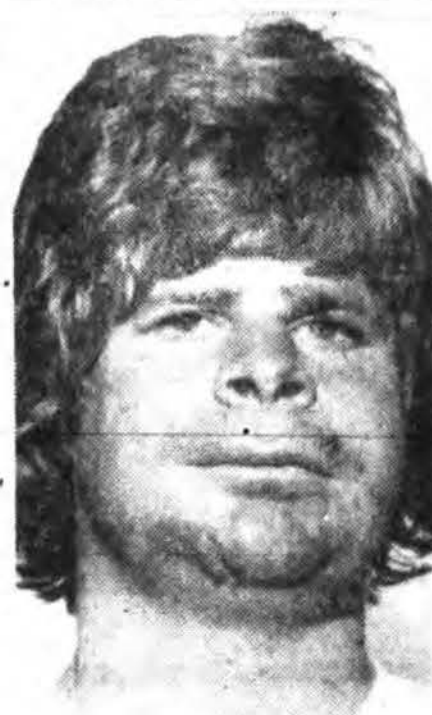

Still fuming from Judge Sumner's brusque dismissal of his arguments, Morgan commented that he hoped Judge Kneeland "might introduce a little sanity into the proceedings."

Before entering the courtroom the silver-haired trial lawyer spotted television equipment plugged into an outlet on the fourth floor corridor, apparently being recharged.

"Hey, call (assistant district attorney Michael) Capizzi," he told newsmen and spectators. "NBC or somebody is stealing electricity from the county."

Officers said neighbors told them that three or four shots were heard and then a barrage of shots before the four men fled from the home and drove off.

They have not yet determined the type of weapons used in the killings. "They could have been rifles or shotguns," a deputy said.

Officers said Mrs. Metz had been living with Cauwels for some time and that her children by a former marriage were being cared for at her father's home in the Sunset Beach area.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Fire officials estimated damage to a Hawaiian Gardens laundromat at $55,000 after a Sunday morning blaze.

Mesa Man Critical In Newport Crash

A 22-year-old Costa Mesa man who missed death in an auto crash two months ago was not expected to survive another crash in which he was involved in Newport Beach late Sunday.

A rollover along the S curves of Irvine Avenue left Mark James Gilbert in critical condition from head injuries and a roommate hospitalized with lesser injuries.

Newport traffic investigators today still were trying to determine if Gilbert was driving, or whether Robert Paul Nix, 32, was at the wheel of the American compact car when it left the roadway at 7:30 p.m.

Both men live at 2182 Pacific Ave., according to police. The crash occurred in the 2300 block of Irvine. The car was headed north, police said.

Investigator Steve Van Horn said that no one has yet determined the reason for the car leaving the roadway and flipping down an embankment.

Both victims were pinned in the overturned wreckage, he said. Paramedics removed both men with the aid of other firemen.

The investigator said that Gilbert suffered apparently serious head injuries in the crash about two months ago.

In the latest crash, his injuries were similar, but far more severe.

Surgeons at Costa Mesa Memorial Hospital late Sunday performed surgery on the victim and tried to relieve pressure on his brain and stop internal bleeding.

Gilbert was reported today to be in extremely critical condition.

His companion's condition was listed as fair by hospital spokesmen.

Stereo Gear, TV Target of Thieves

Stereo equipment, a colored television set and cash with a total value of more than $3,000 was stolen during the weekend from an El Toro home, Orange County Sheriff's officers reported today.

Deputies said intruders forced open a sliding glass window to gain entry to the home of gift shop owner Robert Hull, 55, of 2492 Muirlands Blvd. They said the Hull family was out visiting relatives at the time of the break-in.

RESCUE . . .

Lynn said the only illumination the workers had was provided by flashlights.

"This is about the seventh or eighth person we've had to pull out of the same area since early summer," Lynn said. "When they reopened this road and the area got publicity, people really flocked out here."

No Star Role Nixon Doesn't Want TV Job

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — Former President Nixon has denied reports that he plans to become a radio or television commentator, according to the news director of a radio station.

"Television and radio commentaries would not be the best use of my time," Nixon said in a letter to Paul Stanford of WNEB.

Stanford, who described himself as a friend and supporter of the former president, said today that Nixon's immediate projects included the writing of memoirs and four television documentary shows in 1977.

"I do intend of course to continue in the way I feel will be most effective to work for the cause of world peace which was the major goal of my administration, and an area in which I believe we made significant progress . . ." Nixon wrote.

Drivers Show Their Lemons

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — About 60 smiling but disgruntled car owners have staged a "lemonstration" parade down Van Ness Avenue past the city's largest auto sales dealerships.

Any driver who considered his car a "lemon" was invited to participate in Saturday's parade, which was organized by San Francisco's Consumer Action.

The cars trailed green balloons and bore signs detailing the troubles their owners have had keeping them in running order.

Chaos Disrupts Lisbon Rally

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Tear gas disrupted a progovernment rally as Premier Jose de Azevedo was condemning left-wing extremism.

Nearly an hour after the premier began speaking Sunday night to about 20,000 persons gathered in Lisbon's main square, someone set fire to the political banners raised by the anti-Communist sponsors of the meeting, and tear gas grenades were thrown from the roof of the adjacent navy ministry building.

Some persons in the crowd apparently believed that the military police had thrown the tear gas because they were wearing gas masks before the attack. They rushed the police, using banner poles as lances.

Sunday's Sermon

Reported
By Tom Barley

Aid to Starving 'Drop in Bucket'

More and more Americans are dying "from just plain overeating" while millions of their fellow humans perish every year from starvation, World Vision International President W. Stanley Mooneyham told a church congregation Sunday in Garden Grove.

Dr. Mooneyham paid tribute to the nation's churches and their response to his appeals for aid but warned that what is being done so far for the victims of famine "is a drop in the bucket."

"Most of us in this country are overweight and live far too well for our own human needs," he said. "Frankly, we are eating ourselves to death while people in at least 40 nations are starving to death."

Dr. Mooneyham said his world vision organization is rushing all the food it can get to famine areas and is additionally supplying seed, plows, tools, machinery and work animals in many areas of the world.

But despite this rapidly growing aid program between 10,000 to 15,000 persons die every day, most of them in India, Bangladesh and the drought-stricken nations of West Africa, the former Baptist preacher said.

"These are the inhabitants of what I call the Fourth World and it looks today as if they are about to drop off the edge of our world," he warned.

"Christians must not leave it to their churches to mount campaigns aimed at providing some measure of relief for starving millions in Asia, Africa and Latin America," Dr. Mooneyham said.

"Many Americans are cutting their food consumption and putting the money they save into programs that provide food for people who have almost forgotten what it tastes like," he said.

"The hungry outnumber the well fed by 12 to one," he said. "While we in our affluent world each consume about four pounds of food—3,200 calories—daily, half of the hungry struggle along on 1,900 calories and the rest eat less than 1,000 calories a day."

"By the same token," the speaker said, "every man, woman and child in America earned more than $5,000 last year while those of the Fourth World earned less than $200."

It is not good enough to condemn the problem as basically one of overpopulation and then turn away from starving millions who are beseeching us for the food that will sustain them and give them new hope, Dr. Mooneyham said.

"The situation is desperate but it is not insoluble," he appealed. "Men and women of all faiths are responding to our appeals in a way that has given us new hope and faith in the future."

O'Neill And Cella Named

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Dealings of a firm partly owned by state Controller Ken Cory and two Orange County political contributors are being investigated, says the Sacramento Union.

The Union said Democrat Cory is a fellow stockholder with Orange County political figures Richard O'Neill and Dr. Louis Cella, in the Republic Insurance Brokers of Anaheim. It said O'Neill and Cella have contributed heavily to Cory's political campaigns.

In one copyrighted story, the Union quoted state Insurance Commissioner Wesley Kinder as saying the investigation concerns a workmen's compensation policy that Republic sold in 1972 to the Chino based Milk Producers Council. It said the $500,000 policy was canceled last September.

The Union said that during the first two years of the policy, the dividends back to the council — returns after fees and losses — ran about 60 percent of premiums, but in the third year dividends dropped to about 16 percent.

It quoted the head of the council, Peter Vander Poel, as saying there is a dispute between the council and Republic about the limit or lack of limit on the liabilities that the insurance policy was supposed to cover.

The Union said that while the state investigates alleged mismanagement in Republic, the council is preparing a lawsuit to cover what council executives think they have lost.

Edward Middleton, the supervisor of the insurance commissioner's investigation, was quoted as saying he hopes to wind up the case in a few weeks. Middleton said any proven violations could result in fines or the revocation or suspension of company or individual licenses.

The newspaper also said that state Medi-Cal officials are investigating insurance payments made to Republic by some Orange County hospitals in which O'Neill and Cella hold interests.

The Union said Cory went to work in 1966 in an agency named Cornet Insurance, held by Richard Newby. It said Cory acquired an interest in Cornet after becoming an assemblyman, and Cornet was later merged into Republic.

It said that after the conflict with the Milk Producers Council came up, Newby was ousted from Republic. It said Cory, Newby, O'Neill and Cella held 45 percent of the stock of Republic, but that the chairman of Republic, Al Leatherby, huckstered the owners of more than 50 percent of the stock in order to force Newby's departure.

were filed.

Mrs. Rickard said she visited Yuma for about three weeks and, in discussions with active and retired military personnel, learned of the case of a major accused of adultery.

She said a written disciplinary remark went into his file and he was transferred and given increased responsibilities.

Mrs. Rickard said she didn't think her daughter's or the major's behavior should be punished "as long as it does not interfere with their military responsibilities."

She added that she was surprised and happy with the secretary of the Navy's decision to grant her daughter's honorable discharge because it had not been approved by Marine officials.

Mrs. Rickard also said she would not retract her request to three senators and U.S. Rep. Bella Abzug of New York for a congressional investigation of the treatment of her daughter.

She said she hoped a probe might help other Marines avoid similar unjust treatment.

She added that her daughter probably would stay out west after her discharge is processed. Lt. Niflis' attorney, Jeffcoat, said he expected that to take a couple of weeks.

Mrs. Rickard said she and her husband are private people but she doesn't regret the publicity she's generated about her daughter's case.

"If you have to stick your nose out to do something, you do it. I don't like unfairness for anybody," she said.

For the Birds

Football for Tombstone

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It was an odd football game. The players used no helmets or padding. Neither time nor score was kept. The game ended when it was too dark to play any more. And all money collected at the gate went for a tombstone.

The players were from the 18th Street, Toonerville, Frog Town and Echo Park street gangs. Instead of rumbling in the street as they had over the years when several members died in confrontations, they took to the football field to raise funds to buy the tombstone for a fallen friend, Timothy Grandpre, 19.

The youth was slain by off-duty Los Angeles patrolman Michael A. Lee, 28, on the Santa Ana Freeway Oct. 15. Lee said a carload of teen-agers first threw objects at his car and then tried to run him off the road. He fired on them with his service revolver, hitting Grandpre, the driver of the car. The youth later died of bullet wounds in the head, sheriff's deputies said.

There have been no arrests in the case.

The gangs played their tackle football game before some 75 paying spectators Sunday at the Marshall High School football field. Police paraded around the field in a "visible patrol to discourage a rumble," said officer Charles Stropko.

But Stropko said there were no incidents and no arrests. He said "they played until it was too dark to play any more."

Gay Ex-GI Tells Story

MONTREAL (AP) — "They gave me a medal for killing two men and discharged me for loving one," said Leonard P. Matlovich, a sergeant thrown out of the Air Force after revealing he was homosexual.

He told 400 people at a symposium on homosexuality Sunday he suspects the Air Force favors loosening sex regulations but prefers leaving it to the courts "so that it won't lose its macho image."

Ford Still Opposed To New York Bailout

By HELEN THOMAS
WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford told five Democratic senators today he is hopeful New York City can avoid default, but is still opposed to giving the city federal loan guarantees.

The five senators, led by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, said they are still hopeful the President will change his mind.

Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.), chairman of the Senate

Banking Committee, told reporters that after meeting with Ford in the cabinet room for more than one hour he found "no change" in Ford's position.

"The most important impression I got is that he (Ford) very much wants New York to avoid default," Proxmire said. "He feels that default can be avoided without federal intervention."

"The President was very firm that New York must meet its obligation," Proxmire said.

Press Pressured Navy?

Coverage Cited in Woman Marine's Discharge

YUMA, Ariz. (AP) — Fear of public reaction to the court-martial of a woman Marine lieutenant charged with having sexual relations with enlisted men forced the military to accept her resignation under honorable conditions, her attorney says.

A court-martial had been ordered at El Toro Marine Corps Air Station for 2nd Lt. Mary Niflis, 23, on charges of having sexual relations with six enlisted men. The Navy had offered only an undesirable discharge. But it was announced Friday that the secretary of the Navy had accepted her resignation and that she would be given an honorable discharge.

Jay Jeffcoat of El Centro, her civilian lawyer, said that the Marine Corps decided that the outcry provoked by news coverage up to now would only be a "sneak preview" of what was to come.

Jeffcoat, who termed the military response to her alleged misconduct "a classic example of unequal justice," said the trial would have involved "allegations with explicit sexual detail which, even covered by responsible journalists, would have been sensational."

He said the best offer a Pentagon lawyer made last week was an undesirable discharge "with a loss of all veterans' privileges."

Lt. Niflis, who is divorced from a Marine she met in basic training, was charged last July with "conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman" for having alleged sex acts with the six enlisted men at the Marine Air Corps Station in Yuma. Jeffcoat criticized the Marine Corps for failing to charge any of the men. He said some of the sergeants allegedly involved "were told their careers were on the line if they didn't cooperate." Jeffcoat said they were assured there would be no charges in return for their help.

The lawyer said there is little distinction between an honorable discharge and a general discharge under honorable conditions.

"Each carries the same benefits," he said. "It really didn't make too much difference to us which one it was."

Lt. Niflis says she will have no comment until she is a civilian.

But in Southbury, Conn., Mrs. Jean Rickard, 66, the officer's mother, said she still wants a congressional investigation of her daughter's treatment.

"We who are involved are distressed by the double standards that apply in the Marines to male and female members," Mrs. Rickard said in an interview.

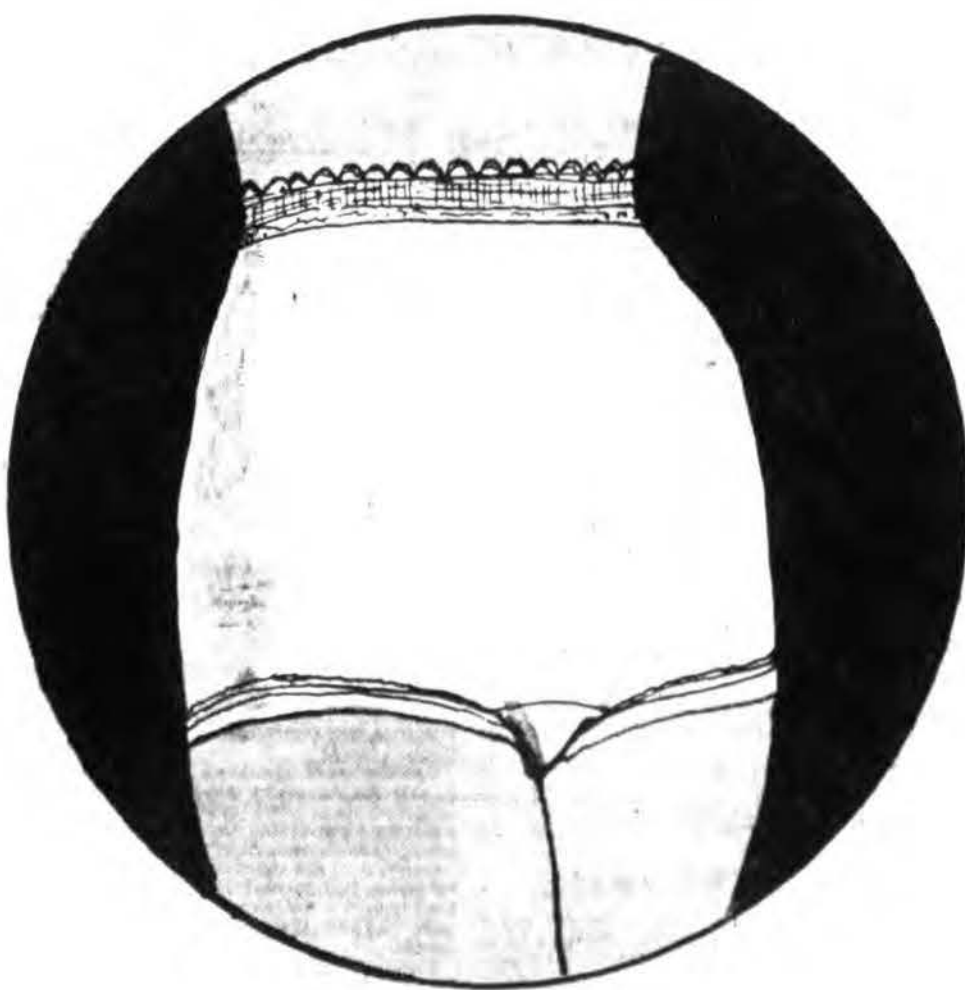

She said her daughter had wanted to join the Marines since her high school days and was commissioned a second lieutenant upon graduation from Le Moyne College in Syracuse, N.Y., in May 1974.

Ford Salutes Marine Corps On Birthday

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford saluted the U.S. Marine Corps on its 200th birthday today, praising the fighting force for its valor and pledging to keep it ready for new threats to peace.

"The Corps has become a living monument to bravery and self-sacrifice," Ford said in a speech prepared for bicentennial ceremonies in Arlington, Va., at the Iwo Jima Memorial, a statue depicting a group of Marines raising the American flag in a World War II battle for that Pacific island.

"And always, the Marine Corps faithfully stands guard when liberty is threatened. Let me assure you here and now that the American people and your President stand behind you. You will be supplied with the most modern and advanced ships, weapons, equipment and training in the world today."

But "my aim is not to train America's youth for war nor to develop weapons to kill," he said. "My aim is to develop the military strength which is our mightiest hope for peace."

FORD RECALLED that the Continental Congress voted to establish the Corps on Nov. 10, 1775, and that a group of 234 leathernecks made the first Marine amphibious landing March 3, 1776, near British Nassau to capture weapons needed in the Revolutionary War.

"Today we remain true to the ideals the Marine Corps has fought to preserve — in distant countries and remote battlefields," he said, adding:

"The United States must be constant and credible when we speak of American strength at home and on the seas of the world. You have stated it best to your recruits: 'Nobody likes to fight but someone has to know how.'"

"I do not know what events the next two centuries will bring to our country. But I do know this: it is for us, the living, to raise new monuments — new hopes and new courage, new ideas and new ideals for our children and their children. We must leave a heritage worthy of our inheritance."

King Ends March 200,000 Leave Spanish Sahara

WITH MOROCCANS IN SPANISH SAHARA (UPI) — Thousands of Moroccan volunteer marchers, many expressing surprise and disappointment, began withdrawing today from Spanish Sahara on orders of King Hassan II.

The king, threatened by war from Spain and Algeria, called off the "peace march" to claim the Spanish territory in a dramatic television and radio address Sunday night.

This morning he flew from the march command post in Agadir to his winter palace in Marrakesh, officially ending the bizarre "invasion" by an estimated 200,000 civilians.

HIS MARCHERS stopped six miles inside the Sahara territory facing Spanish troops and minefields.

Still another contingent of 150,000 marchers were caught by surprise by the announcement Sunday as they were crossing the border to reinforce the first group.

The volunteers, obeying orders to pull out, packed up their dishes and tents at dawn and began heading in trucks back to Morocco at 8:30 a.m., the Spanish news agency Europa Press said.

"We have a profound conviction that our march has fulfilled its mission and attained its objective," the king told his people Sunday. "That is why, dear people, we must return to our point of departure in order to treat the problems with other methods and new procedures."

THE VOLUNTEERS, who began crossing the Spanish Sahara frontier last Thursday, heard the king's speech over loudspeakers mounted on top of vehicles in the sprawling camp.

Suit Ended As Comatose Woman Dies

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A young woman whose husband filed suit to have her declared no longer legally alive has died in a hospital, her heart sustained to the end by life support machines.

St. Louis County medical authorities said Judith Ann Debro, 33, died early Sunday with her husband, Gary, at her bedside. The woman, who had been in a coma for nearly three weeks, was critically injured in an auto accident Oct. 16.

"It's kind of a strange feeling to have the rug pulled out from under you without getting to the dance contest," said David M. Korum, counsel for Debro, who filed his suit Friday.

"There had been no brain waves since Oct. 20," Korum said. "Death is the stoppage of life. If we had some definition of life, I don't think you'd find too many people arguing about it."

DEBRO, 31, also filed an earlier suit in county circuit court Oct. 24 to have life support systems disconnected from his wife, basing his petition on her right to die.

Both Judge William Corrigan and the Missouri Court of Appeals refused to hear the first suit, however, and the petition was later filed in federal court, asserting violation of rights guaranteed under the 14th Amendment.

"We never thought she'd outlive the federal case," Hale Brown, one of Debro's attorneys in the federal case, said Sunday.

MOVING ALONG DEPT.

Much yakking and considerable action has developed in our Orange Coast region in recent times over new methods of transportation. Now, on a Blue Monday, we learn to our dismay that all of this may be for naught.

Just consider the effort we've put into it. Most of our cities have gone on the bicycle trails kick. We have special lanes marked out alongside the roadways with the aim of allowing bicyclists to pedal to and from without finding themselves abruptly snatched up by somebody's front bumper.

Meanwhile, we no longer talk much about more and more freeways with bigger and wider lanes and interchanges. We talk instead about transportation corridors.

A TRANSPORTATION corridor is mainly on some planner's map. It cuts a wide swath through the landscape of Orange County between one place and another.

These wide places look suspiciously like planning lines for freeway routes but we all know better than that. We know this because we are told they are transportation corridors. Whatever that means.

Meanwhile, our future transportation needs are being planned by an outfit called the Orange County Transit District. Right now, they run around with a lot of orange and white colored buses. And the people who operate the district talk about things like Model Modular Modes and things like that you can't quite fathom. So you just know it's got to be good.

AGAINST THIS BACKDROP,

it is clear that our Orange County is geared up for all kinds of new ways to get from here to there in future years.

And then we come to today, where we are hit by a shocker from one William T. Coleman Jr.

In case that name is not a household word to you, Mr. Coleman is our United States Secretary for Transportation.

Secretary Coleman has now come right out, flatly, and declared that America's primary method of transportation is—and shall continue to be—the Automobile.

The automobile? What is he talking about? Where are all of his Model Modular Modes and Transportation Corridors? Has Secretary Coleman flipped his transit top?

BUT HE PERSISTS. "Any public policy directed toward eliminating the automobile is phony and the politician who suggests it is not acting in good faith."

Clearly, all of our grand schemes for high-speed electric monorails, subways to Los Angeles or rocket rail expresses have been blown right off of the drawing boards by the man at the top. The motor car is here to stay.

You no doubt noted that Mr. Coleman said the automobile is America's primary method of transportation. You may have thought all this time that your feet and legs were your primary method of getting around. Walking, however, just isn't primary any more.

These days, you've got to be able to adjust to change.

Police Shoot Former Boss

HAPPY VALLEY (UPI) — In 1974, Howard I. Palmer ran for Trinity County Sheriff, pledging to fire every policeman under his jurisdiction. Today he is dead — killed by a policeman's bullet.

Palmer, who boasted that he was a drunk was shot to death Saturday by a deputy trying to arrest him on a bench warrant.

Palmer, 43, who served for 10 years as a constable in the Trinity Center Judicial District, was shot in the back.

Girl Found Dead

KINGSBURG (AP) — The decomposing body of a stabbed teen-age girl, whose parents have been accused of five other murders, was discovered near here, authorities report.

Dental charts confirmed Sunday that the remains found Saturday in high weeds along the Kings River were those of Frances Garcia, 16, said Tulare County sheriff's officers.

Accidental Hanging

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A 13-year-old boy accidentally hanged himself while practicing a "survival" climb with a rope that had special rubber loops attached, police said.

Young John Spencer apparently became entangled in plastic inner-tubes knotted into the rope, police said. The rope was used in a climbing technique taught in the boy's junior high school survival class, said his father, who found the body hanging in the garage of their suburban Chatsworth home.

Snow Up North

A Pacific storm that dumped rain and snow on Northern California was moving south today.

The National Weather Service said the weather front was losing strength during its southward movement and forecast a return to clear skies for most areas by Tuesday. The snow level dropped to 4,000 feet Sunday.

Fatal Plunge

GORMAN (UPI) — A 16-year-old Canoga Park boy plunged more than 300 feet to his death over a steep cliff late Saturday while riding a dirt bike in the Mount Alamo Recreation Center.

It took Los Angeles County firemen almost five hours to reach the body of Barry Sullivan, which was lodged in the narrow Freeman Canyon two miles south of Gorman.

Parent Slaying Probed

SAN RAFAEL (UPI) — A Marin County prosecutor says a 20-year-old defendant enjoyed 10 days of rock concerts, drugs and sex after he and his girl friend murdered her parents and cremated their bodies.

Deputy District Attorney Joshua W. Thomas made that claim in his opening statement in the trial of Charles David Riley, 20. He is charged with the murders of San Rafael businessman James Olive, 58, and his wife, Naomi, 53.

THOMAS WAS expected to begin calling witnesses today to support last week's opening statement, which said Riley showed no remorse in the time between the slayings and his arrest.

Also arrested was Marlene Olive, 16, the dead couple's daughter. She is accused of initiating the slayings but will be tried in juvenile court.

The youths were arrested July 1, 10 days after firemen discovered the charred bones and gold teeth of the Olive couple in a barbecue pit near China Camp, east of San Rafael.

THOMAS SAID the bodies were cremated systematically. He alleged that the Olives were killed because they had forbade their daughter from seeing Riley.

Boy Gulps Pot Bag

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A plastic sandwich bag containing marijuana was removed from the lung of a 17-year-old youth who tried to gobble the pot early Sunday when police stopped the car in which he was riding.

Police said the boy tried to pour the marijuana down his throat and swallow it but instead inhaled the whole bag.

When the youth got out of the car he was gasping for breath and police called an ambulance.

SANTA CRUZ (UPI) — Two Apollo crews were followed by unidentified flying objects during their lunar missions, according to a UFO investigator.

Prof. James Harder, an engineering professor at UC Berkeley, told a weekend symposium that Apollo 11 was followed halfway to the moon and one UFO followed Apollo 12 on three orbits around the moon.

He asserted that the National Aeronautics and Space Administration suppressed the UFO incidents for fear of panic.

He discovered the Apollo 11 incident while reviewing tape recorded conversations between the spacecraft and Houston Space Control, he said.

He said the Apollo 12 incident, which he is still investigating, was disclosed by a member of the space team whom he declined to identify.

Detectives said Dr. Phillip Rand discovered the body of his wife.

405 Freeway Neighbors Getting Lead Poisoning?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dramatically high blood lead levels have been noted in a comparative study of residents of areas exposed to exhaust pollution from automobiles on the heavily traveled San Diego Freeway, a state Air Resources Board hearing has been told.

The federal Environmental Protection Agency study compared the blood lead count of these residents with the levels found in residents breathing the high desert air of Lancaster, some 50 miles to the northwest.

AT AN ARB hearing last week to determine the validity of California standard for airborne lead particles, EPA scientists noted also that children in areas bordering the freeway displayed blood lead levels higher than those considered toxic, say many medical authorities.

"There is clear experimental evidence that exposure to levels of lead found in Los Angeles air leads to accumulation of lead in the human body," a statement issued by the state Department of Health noted.

"The elevated lead level found in Los Angeles children is compelling evidence of increased body burden of lead in that area," the statement added.

Cop's Close Call

SANTA CRUZ (AP) — Motorcycle policeman Jeff Locke returned to work Sunday after narrowly escaping death when his name tag deflected a bullet at near pointblank range.

Police said the officer had stopped an auto for a traffic violation Saturday when one of four men inside the car fired a .25-caliber pistol as Locke got off his motorcycle. Locke's name tag deflected the shot, and he suffered a superficial wound.

A short time later, said police, officers arrested four men at a motel about five blocks from the shooting.

HOWEVER, Dr. Jerome F. Cole, spokesman for the Lead Industries Association, which is opposed to an ARB program calling for a phase-out of leaded gasoline, contended airborne lead "in the concentrations found in general ambient atmosphere is, at most, a minor contribution to lead in blood."

"The increment of quantity of the airborne lead contribution, even if it can be deduced, is biologically meaningless," Cole testified.

In the wake of public health agency warnings of lead poisoning of children eating leadbearing paint in older homes, environmentalists expressed concern regarding the lead pollution potential of leaded gasoline, the gross sales of which is expected to reach $400 million this year nationwide.

Pilot Kicks Gunman From Plane to Death

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. (UPI) — The hijacker gave charter pilot Richard Leibundguth a choice — die by a bullet or in a plane crash. With that, the pilot kicked the gunman out the door to his own death.

The hijacker, Jack R. Johnson, 19, of Evansville, Ind., plunged 3,000 feet into a muddy southeastern Missouri soybean field.

Leibundguth said he put the single-engine Cessna 150 into a suicide spin on orders from Johnson — but as the craft hurtled toward the ground, he booted the hijacker out the door.

THE PILOT SAID Johnson "had told me I had a choice of dying in an airplane crash or dying of a bullet wound."

Leibundguth said Johnson, recently released from the army on a medical discharge, paid him $5 to "take a joyride around Evansville." Leibundguth is an employee of a charter service, Tri-State Aero Co., in Evansville.

A few minutes into the flight, the pilot said, Johnson pulled a .22-caliber pistol and told him to fly to the Kentucky Lake area of Kentucky.

During the flight Johnson talked about suicide and said he had personal problems, Leibundguth said.

When the plane was over Kentucky Lake, Johnson said the "area below is too populated," and ordered the pilot to fly around Paducah, Ky., and on across the Mississippi River into Missouri.

AT 8,000 FEET altitude, the pilot said, Johnson shoved the pistol into his side and ordered him to put the plane into a suicide dive. Leibundguth complied.

"After losing little more than 5,000 feet, I spun the plane to the right — and kicked."

"The pilot felt the gun leave his side. . . saw the door on the right side was open and rolled the plane to the right," Mississippi County Sheriff W.J. Simmons said, "and the pilot kicked the passenger and out he went."

Simmons found the body in the soggy field eight miles north of Charleston. The gun was not recovered.

Rock Riot Injures 30

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Rioting fans unable to get into a sellout weekend concert by the rock group "Chicago" set fire to a bus, smashed all its windows and attacked patrons entering the national auditorium.

Nearly 30 persons were injured. Some of the injured, hit with bottles and other missiles, were carried away with blood pouring from head wounds in the disorder.

Suit Ended As Comatose Woman Dies

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A young woman whose husband filed suit to have her declared no longer legally alive has died in a hospital, her heart sustained to the end by life support machines.

St. Louis County medical authorities said Judith Ann Debro, 33, died early Sunday with her husband, Gary, at her bedside. The woman, who had been in a coma for nearly three weeks, was critically injured in an auto accident Oct. 16.

"It's kind of a strange feeling to have the rug pulled out from under you without getting to the dance contest," said David M. Korum, counsel for Debro, who filed his suit Friday.

"There had been no brain waves since Oct. 20," Korum said. "Death is the stoppage of life. If we had some definition of life, I don't think you'd find too many people arguing about it."

DEBRO, 31, also filed an earlier suit in county circuit court Oct. 24 to have life support systems disconnected from his wife, basing his petition on her right to die.

Both Judge William Corrigan and the Missouri Court of Appeals refused to hear the first suit, however, and the petition was later filed in federal court, asserting violation of rights guaranteed under the 14th Amendment.

"We never thought she'd outlive the federal case," Hale Brown, one of Debro's attorneys in the federal case, said Sunday.

MOVING ALONG DEPT.

Much yakking and considerable action has developed in our Orange Coast region in recent times over new methods of transportation. Now, on a Blue Monday, we learn to our dismay that all of this may be for naught.

Just consider the effort we've put into it. Most of our cities have gone on the bicycle trails kick. We have special lanes marked out alongside the roadways with the aim of allowing bicyclists to pedal to and from without finding themselves abruptly snatched up by somebody's front bumper.

Meanwhile, we no longer talk much about more and more freeways with bigger and wider lanes and interchanges. We talk instead about transportation corridors.

A TRANSPORTATION corridor is mainly on some planner's map. It cuts a wide swath through the landscape of Orange County between one place and another.

These wide places look suspiciously like planning lines for freeway routes but we know better than that. We know this because we are told they are transportation corridors. Whatever that means.

Meanwhile, our future transportation needs are being planned by an outfit called the Orange County Transit District. Right now, they run around with a lot of orange and white colored buses. And the people who operate the district talk about things like Model Modular Modes and things like that you can't quite fathom. So you just know it's got to be good.

AGAINST THIS BACKDROP, it is clear that our Orange County is geared up for all kinds of new ways to get from here to there in future years.

And then we come to today, where we are hit by a shocker from one William T. Coleman Jr.

In case that name is not a household word to you, Mr. Coleman is our United States Secretary for Transportation.

Secretary Coleman has now come right out, flatly, and declared that America's primary method of transportation is—and shall continue to be—the Automobile.

The automobile? What is he talking about? Where are all of his Model Modular Modes and Transportation Corridors? Has Secretary Coleman flipped his transit top?

BUT HE PERSISTS. "Any public policy directed toward eliminating the automobile is phony and the politician who suggests it is not acting in good faith."

Clearly, all of our grand schemes for high-speed electric monorails, subways to Los Angeles or rocket rail expresses have been blown right off of the drawing boards by the man at the top. The motor car is here to stay.

You no doubt noted that Mr. Coleman said the automobile is America's primary method of transportation. You may have thought all this time that your feet and legs were your primary method of getting around. Walking, however, just isn't primary anymore.

These days, you've got to be able to adjust to change.

Police Shoot Former Boss

HAPPY VALLEY (UPI) — In 1974, Howard I. Palmer ran for Trinity County Sheriff, pledging to fire every policeman under his jurisdiction. Today he is dead — killed by a policeman's bullet. Palmer, who boasted that he was a drunk was shot to death Saturday by a deputy trying to arrest him on a bench warrant. Palmer, 43, who served for 10 years as a constable in the Trinity Center Judicial District, was shot in the back.

Girl Found Dead

KINGSBURG (AP) — The decomposing body of a stabbed teen-age girl, whose parents have been accused of five other murders, was discovered near here, authorities report. Dental charts confirmed Sunday that the remains found Saturday in high weeds along the Kings River were those of Frances Garcia, 16, said Tulare County sheriff's officers.

Accidental Hanging

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A 13-year-old boy accidentally hanged himself while practicing a "survival" climb with a rope that had special rubber loops attached, police said. Young John Spencer apparently became entangled in plastic inner-tubes knotted into the rope, police said. The rope was used in a climbing technique taught in the boy's junior high school survival class, said his father, who found the body hanging in the garage of their suburban Chatsworth home.

Snow Up North

A Pacific storm that dumped rain and snow on Northern California was moving south today. The National Weather Service said the weather front was losing strength during its southward movement and forecast a return to clear skies for most areas by Tuesday. The snow level dropped to 4,000 feet Sunday.

Fatal Plunge

GORMAN (UPI) — A 16-year-old Canoga Park boy plunged more than 300 feet to his death over a steep cliff late Saturday while riding a dirt bike in the Mount Alamo Recreation Center. It took Los Angeles County firemen almost five hours to reach the body of Barry Sullivan, which was lodged in the narrow Freeman Canyon two miles south of Gorman.

Parent Slaying Probed

SAN RAFAEL (UPI) — A Marin County prosecutor says a 20-year-old defendant enjoyed 10 days of rock concerts, drugs and sex after he and his girl friend murdered her parents and cremated their bodies.

Deputy District Attorney Joshua W. Thomas made that claim in his opening statement in the trial of Charles David Riley, 20. He is charged with the murders of San Rafael businessman James Olive, 58, and his wife, Naomi, 53.

THOMAS WAS expected to begin calling witnesses today to support last week's opening statement, which said Riley showed no remorse in the time between the slayings and his arrest.

Also arrested was Marlene Olive, 16, the dead couple's daughter. She is accused of initiating the slayings but will be tried in juvenile court.

The youths were arrested July 1, 10 days after firemen discovered the charred bones and gold teeth of the Olive couple in a barbecue pit near China Camp, east of San Rafael.

THOMAS SAID the bodies were cremated systematically. He alleged that the Olives were killed because they had forbade their daughter from seeing Riley.

Boy Gulps Pot Bag

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A plastic sandwich bag containing marijuana was removed from the lung of a 17-year-old youth who tried to gobble the pot early Sunday when police stopped the car in which he was riding.

Police said the boy tried to pour the marijuana down his throat and swallow it but instead inhaled the whole bag.

When the youth got out of the car he was gasping for breath and police called an ambulance.

Prof. James Harder, an engineering professor at UC Berkeley, told a weekend symposium that Apollo 11 was followed halfway to the moon and one UFO followed Apollo 12 on three orbits around the moon. He asserted that the National Aeronautics and Space Administration suppressed the UFO incidents for fear of panic. He discovered the Apollo 11 incident while reviewing tape recorded conversations between the spacecraft and Houston Space Control, he said. He said the Apollo 12 incident, which he is still investigating, was disclosed by a member of the space team whom he declined to identify.

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Tamara, 54, when he returned home late Sunday. He told officers he had talked with Mrs. Rand less than two hours earlier. The motive is unclear at this time and there are no suspects in custody," said Police Capt. Mike Rice. The body of an obstetrician's wife was found murdered with small caliber bullet wounds in her ear and neck, police said. Detectives said Dr. Phillip Rand discovered the body of his wife.

405 Freeway Neighbors Getting Lead Poisoning?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dramatically high blood lead levels have been noted in a comparative study of residents of areas exposed to exhaust pollution from automobiles on the heavily traveled San Diego Freeway, a state Air Resources Board hearing has been told. The federal Environmental Protection Agency study compared the blood lead count of these residents with the levels found in residents breathing the high desert air of Lancaster, some 50 miles to the northwest.

AT AN ARB hearing last week to determine the validity of California standard for airborne lead particles, EPA scientists noted also that children in areas bordering the freeway displayed blood lead levels higher than those considered toxic, say many medical authorities.

"There is clear experimental evidence that exposure to levels of lead found in Los Angeles air leads to accumulation of lead in the human body," a statement issued by the state Department of Health noted.

"The elevated lead level found in Los Angeles children is compelling evidence of increased body burden of lead in that area," the statement added.

Cop's Close Call

SANTA CRUZ (AP) — Motorcycle policeman Jeff Locke returned to work Sunday after narrowly escaping death when his name tag deflected a bullet at near pointblank range. Police said the officer had stopped an auto for a traffic violation Saturday when one of four men inside the car fired a .25-caliber pistol as Locke got off his motorcycle. Locke's name tag deflected the shot, and he suffered a superficial wound. A short time later, said police, officers arrested four men at a motel about five blocks from the shooting.

HOWEVER, Dr. Jerome F. Cole, spokesman for the Lead Industries Association, which is opposed to an ARB program calling for a phase-out of leaded gasoline, contended airborne lead "in the concentrations found in general ambient atmosphere is, at most, a minor contribution to lead in blood."

"The increment of quantity of the airborne lead contribution, even if it can be deduced, is biologically meaningless," Cole testified.

In the wake of public health agency warnings of lead poisoning of children eating leadbearing paint in older homes, environmentalists expressed concern regarding the lead pollution potential of leaded gasoline, the gross sales of which is expected to reach $400 million this year nationwide.

Optional PE Debated

With a new state law permitting local school districts to drop the physical education requirement for high school juniors and seniors going into effect Jan. 1, school trustees throughout Orange County are seeking public reaction to the option.

Understandably, many physical education faculty members, perhaps eyeing elimination of their jobs, are opposed.

But proponents of the option contend it could upgrade the quality of physical education offerings by removing reluctant students from the non-mandatory classes and enabling PE departments to redesign classes to make voluntary participation more attractive.

At the same time, removal of the requirement would give many students time to sample electives more in line with their educational goals or, in the case of seniors, to enroll in early college courses.

The option, if exercised, probably will not save much money, because upgraded PE offerings could involve further investment in equipment.

It does, however, seem logical to give upper grade students, now young adults with their sights set on college or career objectives, the opportunity to make this choice.

Unreasonable Request

Orange County supervisors will be asked Tuesday to donate $20,000 in public funds to the county Bicentennial Committee. They should deny the request.

The committee, comprised mainly of business, industrial and political leaders, pulled itself together earlier this year with fond hopes it would raise $200,000 to fund its activities.

At a gala campaign kick-off meeting, vows were made that all funding would come from private donations and the taxpayers wouldn't be tapped for a cent.

Now the committee has decided it needs a little "seed money" to grow the rest of its greenback tree.

Basic objections could be raised against spending so much money on what really amounts to a Chamber of Commerce-type plug for county business. The bicentennial should be a humble, thankful observance without artificial hoopla.

But putting those objections aside, supervisors must weigh the request on its merits.

It should be clear there would be nothing unpatriotic in rejecting the $20,000 request, particularly in light of the current economic situation.

Expensive Prisoner

The delay in bringing Patricia Hearst to trial is making a large dent in the taxpayer's pocketbook—$599 a day, to be exact.

The extraordinary cost of keeping the famous prisoner safe in the San Mateo County Jail tops the rate on the presidential suite at a luxury hotel, according to the federal Bureau of Prisons.

The price tag, says Sheriff John McDonald, includes a staggering 43 extra work shifts to provide needed security, cope with bomb threats and handle hundreds of pieces of mail addressed to Miss Hearst.

And it contrasts with the modest $20 a day required to keep the less-celebrated Sara Jane Moore in a nearby cell while she awaits trial for attempted assassination of President Ford.

Because Miss Hearst was on the FBI's most-wanted list of fugitives, the federal government must reimburse San Mateo County for her support.

This is small comfort. The $599 a day is tax money, no matter which pocket it comes from.

Chile: Torture, Book-burning, Kangaroo Courts

WASHINGTON—Back in 1972, we exposed how International Telephone and Telegraph plotted against any government that dared to oppose the conglomerate's financial interests.

There had been talk in Argentina, for example, of nationalizing the ITT telephone system. The company immediately tried to stir up a revolution.

In 1968, the governor of Puerto Rico considered taking over ITT's profitable but poorly serviced telephone company. ITT threw its resources against the governor, who was defeated at the polls.

In 1970, the Marxist Salvador Allende, campaigning on a platform of nationalization, won Chile's presidential election. Without waiting to see whether he would be able to keep his promises, ITT tried to stop him from taking power.

ITT owned 60 percent of the Chilean telephone company and intended to keep it. On Oct. 23, 1970, ITT's Washington vice president, William Merriam, sent a message to Henry Kissinger in the White House. It was a stilted, rather ungraceful demand for tough American action to stop Allende.

Kissinger endorsed a CIA-ITT conspiracy to block Allende from becoming president. When this failed, the CIA began to undermine the new Allende regime. The idea was to set him up for a fall.

The CIA spent an admitted $8 million on the anti-Allende campaign. This helped to bring Allende's subsequent downfall. For their money, the American taxpayers now have as an ally a military dictatorship far more oppressive than the Allende government ever was.

SINCE WE have a proprietary interest in the story, we have continued to keep an eye on Chile. We have reported how the Chilean junta first turned upon the communists and leftists, then upon democratic leaders. We have also told how the junta tortures political prisoners and burns books.

The dictatorship has responded by sending representatives to Washington to assure U.S. officials that the repression is over and that human rights are now respected in Chile.

The ugly truth is, however, that the junta not only has renewed its repression of Allende's associates but of religious leaders and democratic politicians as well. At this moment, for example, the Chilean Navy is preparing three secret trials of about 100 political prisoners in the port city of Valparaiso.

Ten prominent Chileans will be charged, according to smuggled documentation, with "collaborating and participating in an illegal government." Yet it is the junta that is illegal; the Allende government was legally elected and illegally deposed. Thus the prisoners are being tried for a crime that was actually committed by their accusers.

AMONG THOSE who will be hauled before the junta's kangaroo court are the following:

— Pedro Felipe Ramirez, 34, former housing minister under Allende and son-in-law of Badamiro Tomic, the Christian Democrat who ran against Allende in 1970. Ramirez was among those released by the junta with great fanfare a month ago, as part of its second anniversary celebration. Minutes after Ramirez walked through the prison doors, he was re-arrested by Navy agents.

— Andres Sepulveda, about 50, former congressman and Socialist Party leader. He was arrested after the coup, released on September 20 and re-arrested five days later.

— Sergio Vuskovic, 49, former mayor of Valparaiso and professor of philosophy. He also was arrested after the coup, released about September 15 and re-arrested five days later.

— Luis Corvalan, 56, former senator and acknowledged communist. Although suffering from a bleeding ulcer and a serious spinal disorder, he has spent the last two years in prison.

The second secret Navy trial, also in the works, will bring about 55 political prisoners before the bar on charges of illegal arms importation during the Allende years.

THE THIRD secret trial will take up vague charges of "treason" against a number of other prisoners.

No one is immune, it seems, from the junta's paranoid purge of dissenters. Last month, the military dictators zeroed in on a private church group, known as the "Committee for Cooperation and Peace," which has been trying to keep account of the thousands of imprisoned Chileans.

The committee's secretary, Gina Ocaranza, simply disappeared on September 12. She was five months pregnant at the time. Her associates believe she has been secretly arrested.

A few days later, according to diplomatic sources, the two top leaders of the Presbyterian church in Chile, Pastor Juan Polanco and his assistant, Pastor Dennis O'Shay, were detained.

The committee's co-chairman, Lutheran Bishop Helmut Frenz, was in West Germany on church business when he received word on October 3 that the junta had barred him from returning home. Frenz has been internationally recognized for his work with Chilean refugees.

Footnote: At the urging of the Chile Solidarity Committee, a District of Columbia group pushing for human rights in Chile, several members of Congress have written to junta leader Gen. Augusto Pinochet demanding that the secret trials be stopped. Sen. Ted Kennedy, D-Mass., has also asked the State Department to issue a formal protest over the Frenz expulsion. The Chilean embassy had no comment.

Good Old Milt Gets Rid of His Hangups

Whom should I bump into the other day but good old Milt Haberdash. Milt was always the nicest, kindest, warmest, friendliest guy you'd every want to know.

"How are you, Milt?" I cried joyously.

"Astral," he said, ignoring my hand. "Thanks to a new mantra bestowed on me by the great guru, Huli-ji, my Karma is on the cusp of the Pleiades and I can now contemplate my left little toe for 47 minutes without a thought in my head."

"That's nice," I said.

"It demonstrates what intense devotion to improving one's inner self can do for one in as little as five years," he said.

"Improvement?" I said. "But you were always a great guy, Milt."

His lips curled scornfully. "Everyone thought so, including myself. But talk about hangups! Do you realize that the first time I took off my clothes and sprayed myself with whipped cream in a glossing group I actually felt not only embarrassed but ridiculous?"

"I GUESS you were a mess at that point," I agreed.

"Believe it or not, I cringed when my encounter partners shouted at me. In transcendental meditation I was, at first, totally unable to think of nothing."

"What a handicap! I meditate when I shave."

"But after only three years of transactional analysis, Tai Chi and tarot cards I was at last able to find the real me. Naturally, I loathed what I found."

"Naturally."

"I had no choice, of course, but to leave Mildred and the kids, sell the house, clean out our joint bank account and fly to Katmandu to seek oneness with oneness. Poor Mildred. She lacked the cosmic symbiotic mahat to understand."

"MOST WOMEN are like that."

"Not that it mattered. For one must renounce the temptations of the flesh to achieve nirvakalpa. As I explained to my aged mother when they put her in the Old People's Home, this is the highest form of samadhi wherein there is no distinction between objects and subjects."

"That must have been a comfort to her."

"But by devoting 14 hours a day to netiyoga—or, as the unenlightened term it, 'nostril cleaning'—I was at last able to enter The Path of Deep Breathing and after only a year I found I could cause the tip of my right index finger to tingle at will."

"Amazing!"

He seemed to notice me for the first time. "Oh, by the way," he said, "what are you into?"

"The first cab I can find," I said.

The Danger of Private Police

While the Legislature and the courts have been focusing attention on the alleged excesses and abuses of the duly appointed and properly trained police, a great army of unappointed cops, virtually unregulated by anyone, has been fast rising.

These are the security guards and private patrolmen whose ranks in California have swollen to exceed the total of city and county police forces. More often than not neither they, nor those who direct them, could meet the qualifications to be a traffic cop in Podunkville.

Calling attention to this is a recent Golden Gate Law Review article authored by Mark L. Webb, James F. Harrigan and Mary Holbrook Sundance. In their view, "Private police exist as a dangerous, expanding armed force within our society."

THEY REASON that "an elaborate government structure to supervise public police exists which theoretically bars or eliminates the unqualified, disciplines misconduct, and insulates society from abuse of authority." But they found that no similar protections for society have been established to control private police.

Under current state law a private investigator may establish an unlimited private police organization. To secure a license one need be only 18 years old, have two years of some kind of gumshoeing experience, and have $100 for the fee.

Actually, the requirements aren't even that. For $50 an 18-year-old who has worked one year as a watchman can get a private patrol operator's license. Imagine installing as a chief of police someone whose only training has been that of a doorshaker.

IF THE qualifications to run a private police force seem nothing, those for the guards and patrolmen are even less. Anyone can play. However, a 1974 law will require, after January, that all employees of licensed patrol operators complete a training course in powers of arrest and use of firearms. Compared to the intensive 20 weeks training of recruits by the major police or-

Small Town Charms

Often as convenient, the Harveys may be found at our hideaway farm in the Missouri Ozarks.

Nothing fancy, believe me. Rolling hills of mostly oak trees. Patch pastures. Small whiteface herd. Family orchard. House garden.

And in season, chiggers. The nearest town is not one whose name you'd know.

A long time ago the Cushing, Okla., Daily Citizen tried to explain the charm of the "little town." I rewrote what they wrote about theirs—to fit ours.

A LITTLE TOWN is where everybody knows what everybody else is doing. But they read the weekly newspaper to see who got caught at it.

In a little town everybody knows every neighbor's car by sight and most by sound—and also knows when it comes and where it goes.

In a little town there's no use anybody lying about his age or his ailments or exaggerating about his ancestors or his offspring.

A little town is where, if you get the wrong number, you can talk organizations, the 16 hours to be given private police is farcical. Yet, it doesn't extend to those licensed and responsible for them or the security guards and patrolmen engaged by unlicensed persons.

Present law only attempts a form of regulation over the contract or "rent-a-cop" patrol operators. Many retail chains, banks and industries employ their guards directly and escape state supervision. Resistance to more stringent state requirements have come from both the contract and direct employers of private police.

THE GOLDEN GATE Review sheds some light on the reasons. It found the typical "for hire" private policeman to be poorly educated and unskilled, receiving low pay, generally no more than the minimum required by law. While the demand for contract security protection is big, the competition among patrol operators compels bids too low to permit the luxuries of proper training.

The article points up that, unlike regular police, the private ones neither work under a system requiring the filing of activity and weapons discharge reports, nor are they subject to internal review of their work or complaints of abuses.

Under such circumstances a guard can maintain an unblemished record with the state agency. The implication is clear that if the private sector feels it must employ its own police, that force, for the protection of the public, should be subject to the same standards and control as the regular police.

In a little town, the "one" is. A little town is where businessmen struggle for survival against suburban shopping centers. Where they dig deep to support anybody's worthy cause—though they know "anybody" shops mostly at city stores.

The small-town policeman has a first name. The small-town schoolteacher has the last word. The small-town preacher is a full-time farmer. The small-town firemen—take turns.

WHY WOULD anybody want to live in one of these tiny "blink-and-you-miss-it towns"?

I don't know. Maybe because in the class play there's a part for everybody. In the town jail there's rarely anybody. In the town cemetery, you're still among friends.

Unwed Moms:

They Wanted It That Way

NEW YORK (AP) — Pregnant and unmarried by choice. That describes a small, but growing number of American mothers who want children and are willing to raise them without fathers. The majority of unwed mothers (about 200,000 annually) are teen-agers who choose not to terminate an unplanned pregnancy or surrender the child for adoption. But some older women are making deliberate decisions to have babies outside of marriage.

THEY SAY THEY SEE THEMSELVES approaching the end of their child-bearing years (roughly, the mid-40s) and are unwilling or unable to marry. They say their choice to have children is made easier by growing social acceptance of the increasing number of single parent families, most resulting from divorce.

Sally James, Karen Emden and Dr. June Finer are three such mothers who have had varying degrees of success as single parents.

Sally James (not her real name) had always wanted children but was opposed to marriage.

"I think people make different commitments in life. Mine was to a child, not a husband."

She had applied for a foster child and single adoption without success.

"CHILDLESSNESS WAS VERY PAINFUL for me so when I found out I was pregnant, I was delighted," she said.

Her son was conceived "under very positive circumstances," but shortly after his birth, Miss James and the father broke up. He has not visited his son since.

She supports herself by baby-sitting and welfare.

She says she worries about what to tell her son when he asks about his father and is grateful that the boy has a warm relationship with one of her male friends.

"Having a baby was one of my life goals," Miss James said. "I feel very fulfilled."

Karen Emden gave up her first out-of-wedlock child for adoption when she was 17. When she became pregnant again 8 years later: "I was ecstatic and overjoyed. Steven was not a replacement for the first baby, but I do know there was a sense of deep loss, as if I had left something unfinished years before."

THE FATHER OF THE SECOND child never showed any interest in being a parent.

"It was a lightweight, transient relationship that withered. I kind of wish he'd make a token appearance," said the 31-year-old Ms. Emden who lives in New York and prefers the "Ms." designation.

"Yet, I like the fact that Steven is all mine with no other individual laying claim. I wanted something uniquely mine. This is my responsibility, my idea, my project, my relationship."

When Steven, now 6, asks about his father, Ms. Emden says she tells him: "He doesn't live here. We cared enough for each other to make a baby but not to live together. Fortunately, more than half of Steven's class have single-parent families."

IT HAS NOT BEEN EASY THESE last years. Ms. Emden and her son are both in psychological therapy. She says she is quite sure she never wants to marry. She says she is a lesbian.

Ms. Emden is studying for a degree in psychology and is on welfare.

"That (being on welfare) bothers me but I know I'm not abusing it," she said. "I wanted to go to school and prepare myself for a positive function in society. Having Steven made me realize that I would have to pay a lot more attention to where I was going in life."

"I never wanted to marry, and I will never marry. I don't need anyone to support me, and I see nothing but disadvantages in getting into a formal legal contract in the traditional sense," said Dr. Finer, a 40-year-old unmarried mother of two.

DR. FINER, A DOCTOR OF INTERNAL medicine, said that during her 20s and early 30s she never wanted children. She had two abortions, the second one at age 33.

But she said about two years later:

"I decided I wanted to go through that biological experience of pregnancy. I wanted to be involved in that creative process. I knew it would be fascinating, interesting and important. I also felt an urgency to do it soon because of my age."

It would have been nice to have been in love with someone at the time, Dr. Finer said as her 5-year-old son Hampton sat in her lap and listened to her heartbeat with a stethoscope. But she said she didn't think she had time to wait for love to come along.

KIDDERMINSTER, England (AP) — Kidderminster's crusading newspaper found out and published the salaries of Town Council employees — including $6,300 for the rat catcher and $6,948 for the lavatory attendant — touching off battles between some of the civil servants and their previously uninformed wives.

"Of all the filthy, mean, despicable, uncharitable and humiliating tricks that can be played on any human being, that which you have perpetrated against my staff would be difficult to exceed," the council's chief executive, Norman James, wrote to Editor Ted Millward of the Kidderminster Shuttle.

"YOUR DIS-graceful disclosures have caused several cases of domestic strife. Perhaps it did not occur to you that some men are not in the habit of declaring their earnings to their wives," added James, who makes $23,100 yearly.

He instructed council employees in the future not to give any information to the Shuttle beyond the minutes of the council's monthly meetings.

MILLWARD defended his paper's position by declaring: "There was nothing underhanded. I felt our readers had a right to see where their taxes were going."

Some of the salaries published by the Shuttle were: $12,100 for the personal assistant to the council chief; $8,032 for the model maker in the planning department; $6,300 for the pest control officer — also known as the council rat catcher; and $6,948 for the public convenience foreman — or lavatory attendant.

Guards at Church
Street People Termed Menace

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — It goes against the grain of parishioners, but the pastor of University Baptist church has hired uniformed security guards and asked for extra police patrols to keep young drifters and bums off church property.

If they want to worship, they are welcome, the Rev. Gerald Mann says. But more often they enter church property to panhandle, copulate in the parking lot or relieve themselves on the church steps.

UNIVERSITY BAPTIST WAS the first all-white Baptist church to integrate in Texas and the first Southern Baptist church to ordain women deacons. People who attend, many from the University of Texas academic community, think of themselves as socially aware and compassionate, Mr. Mann said.

But last week Mr. Mann, 37, and his parishioners reluctantly agreed to hire the private guards and ask for the added patrols to keep the ragged young people from loitering in and around the church.

"Our church has always been free and open. This puts a black hat on us," he said.

LOCATED NEAR A STRIP of small businesses known as the "Drag" serving the huge University of Texas campus, the church once prided itself on helping aimless young people, until it backfired.

"Last year we had a free soup kitchen and rap sessions with them but they were so rootless we could do little to help them. The program tripled our break-ins. They stole typewriters and food," Mr. Mann said.

"I came to the conclusion you can't help these people by making them dependent."

"ONE SUNDAY LAST year we fed them in the afternoon and when they came again in the middle of the Sunday night services, they said, 'Hey, where's the food?'"

"I hired the security guards because there's no way we could put up 'No Trespassing' signs on our church," he said. "But it's safe to worship here now."

The minister, who has three children, said he was not referring to students and street vendors who sell their wares along the drag, but to the transients — bums who travel a circuit that includes Boston, Boulder, Colo., and Austin.

Soprano Turns to TV

By JOAN HANAUER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Metropolitan Opera soprano Roberta Peters considered the question about why she was making her television acting debut tonight on "Medical Center." (Channel 2, 10 p.m.)

"Because somebody asked me?" She went on to elaborate in an interview: "I've been thinking about it for a long time and working with some actors to help improve acting in opera."

She centers her career around the Met and her concerts, but is increasingly interested in acting and television.

Her "Medical Center" story concerns an opera singer, which gives her an opportunity to open the show singing an aria from "La Traviata." She collapses and is rushed to the hospital run by James Daly, an old beau. Their romance rekindles despite her grave illness. The ending must remain a secret but let's face it, she's not about to become a "Medical Center" regular.

SHE SAID THAT WHILE OPERA comes first, she loves to act and would like to see opera singers pay more attention to the dramatic art. She hopes to illustrate how it's done when she sings "La Boheme" at the Met for the first time this January.

"In opera you have to have the voice first, it has to be big enough and beautiful enough. Then the singer's personality must come across, otherwise all there is a beautiful melody and an audience can still fall asleep over that."

Miss Peters has two teen-age sons and a husband who explained to her that in his school days singers were divided into nightingales and crows — and he was one of the crows.

HOW DID SHE HAPPEN TO marry a crow? "Well, first I was married to a nightingale," she said succinctly, referring to her marriage to Robert Merrill which ended in divorce.

Her immediate schedule includes several television appearances to be aired in the near future, including a segment on CBS' "Captain Kangaroo," scheduled for Wednesday morning.

"I wear a yellow chicken suit," she said, "and sing a silly children's song with nonsense words that was written for me. It's called 'Would Airplanes Like Feathers?' and the idea is to make kids aware of good music and that opera singers are real people."

SHE IS SERIOUS ENOUGH about television to express interest in doing a series.

"I'd love to do a series about an opera singer," she said. "It would be a situation comedy about a married opera singer with kids and the funny things that happen at home and on stage."

"Someone like Tony Randall would be great as the husband because Tony loves opera and really knows it, so he could make the role believable."

County Eyes Consultant

Caspers Park Weighed

By WILLIAM SCHREIBER
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

SANTA ANA — Orange County supervisors will be asked later this month to choose the consulting firm that will draft a long-range development plan for the county's 5,500 wilderness acres at Caspers Regional Park.

Once adopted, the plan will be the county's guide in determining what future uses can be made of the park, purchased nearly two years ago for $4.4 million from a consortium of charities.

It is certain the primary factor that will determine which consultant gets the contract is how his proposal deals with the issue of potential sand and gravel mining within the park, which lies 14 miles inland from San Juan Capistrano.

SUPERVISOR Ralph Diedrich, the strongest proponent of environmentally sound quarrying at the park, said in an interview he won't pick a consultant "who is unwilling to fully explore that potential."

The county sent requests for proposals to 22 different environmental planning and engineering firms in Orange County and have received 15 different offers, ac-ording to Ralph Hudson, chief of the county Harbors, Beaches and Parks District development division.

Hudson said a screening committee comprised of district planners is to cull the list to "about three choices."

"WE HOPE TO get this to the board to be placed on their agenda within two weeks," Hudson said.

County administration sources have indicated supervisors may be willing to spend $100,000 or more for the development plan.

The county's proposed scope of work for the plan indicates that the final product must present alternative methods of using the park and its resources, including the cost and environmental consequences of each possibility.

THOUGH THE sand and gravel issue is buried in the text of the county's scope of work, Diedrich makes it clear that will be at the top of his list not only when he chooses a consultant but also when a plan is presented for adoption.

"It has been my public position from day one that we must put that mix into any plan for the park," Diedrich said. "If it is possible to do, we should use those resources to the best advantage."

The Fullerton supervisor, who originally delayed acquisition of the park until the charities gave up royalty rights to the sand and gravel, said he has personally talked to "at least five" private mining firms about the resources in the park.

HE SAID HE has been told that the rolling hills and scrub oak of Caspers Park lie atop "one of the richest possible deposits in the county."

Some of the best material — high-grade silica sand — lies in San Juan Creek within Bell Canyon. Diedrich said it is probably impossible to extract the sand without doing serious environmental damage.

"But we know of other deposits on the southeast side of Ortega Highway where there are less-sensitive areas that could be utilized," said Diedrich, who still holds out the possibility of digging a bed for an artificial lake in that area.

"I'm not saying to go right in there and start digging," Diedrich said.

Economy Office Pushed

SANTA ANA — Orange County Supervisor Ralph Diedrich plans to ask his fellow board members to consider the creation of a new county department in charge of encouraging new business and industry to settle here.

The Fullerton supervisor said his proposed "Office of Economic Development" would augment such activities already being performed by the county Overall Economic Development Program office.

ACCORDING TO Diedrich, the drastic changes in the economy, particularly in fuel supplies and costs, have forced individuals and businesses to reappraise their positions and make profound adjustments.

"These various adjustments are causing business to evaluate more carefully than ever before whether to remain or locate in California or Orange County," he said.

"The board has the responsibility of promoting the county's economic growth and this task can be facilitated by a county-operated office . . . working aggressively to encourage business firms to locate in Orange County," Diedrich added.

HE NOTED in a letter to his fellow supervisors that the OEDP staff concentrates primarily on economic projects "involving federal grant funds and other related activities."

"This staff needs reorganizing, augmenting and redirecting so both could function concurrently and with a greater impact on the county's economic growth," Diedrich said.

The first step Diedrich will ask for Tuesday is a study of the concept he is proposing by the County Administrative Office.

Cesar Romero Well Dressed

You knew some ants keep dairy stock they milk like cows, but did you know they also build barns for them?

AM ASKED WHAT Hollywood actor of all time has been the most clothes conscious, Cesar Romero, possibly. According to the most recent report at hand, his wardrobe count: 500 suits, 190 sports jackets and 30 tuxedos.

IT'S A MATTER of record that a certain wealthy husband, whose wife threw a conniption every time he tried to smoke a cigar in the house, bequeathed to her $1 million in his last will and testament, on the condition she smoke five cigars a day. Another final statement, probated in Scotland, left nothing more to one widow than a handkerchief into which she was supposed to cry. And a third such death document by a London barrister offered his bereaved matrimonial mate not only all the accounts receivable from his firm, but the personal services in the entire of that firm's chief clerk.

MORTGAGE
Do you realize two out of every five homeowners hereabouts don't owe a dime on their old mortgages?

HARDLY ANYBODY knows the first and middle names, Anna Mathilda, of one of the world's most famous women, Whistler's Mother.

ITEM NO. 726B in our Love and War man's file on Love at First Sight reads: Said he, pouring her a drink, "Say when." Said she, "After this drink."

VIP Treatment For Solon Ends

WASHINGTON (UPI) — District of Columbia officials removed special "no parking" signs the city erected four days earlier in front of the home of Sen. John Stennis (D-Miss.), after neighbors complained that he was being given special treatment.

The signs were placed in front of the influential senator's home after a member of his staff complained that Stennis often had to walk several blocks to his home because he could not find a parking space, according to assistant D.C. Transportation Director Jack Hartley.

He said police had been instructed to ticket any car in the parking space except the senator's late-model car.

Stennis was shot and wounded outside his home in 1973 as he was walking toward the house and the shooting was a factor in erecting the signs, Hartley said.

NY Town Bars Sales by Disputed Church

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI) — The suburban town of Irondequoit has barred the controversial Unification Church from selling candy, candles and other items in the community for a six-month period.

The Irondequoit Town Board voted unanimously to suspend soliciting licenses held by church members because of complaints from town residents.

THE UNIFICATION Church is headed by the Rev. Sun Myung Moon of Korea. The church's alleged goal is to unite all religions under the "Lord of the Second Advent" who, Moon teaches, now is on this earth. It claims to have 30,000 followers in the United States and two million throughout the world.

Four church members were given town peddling licenses Oct. 14, but town officials said they were deluged by complaints from residents for three days afterward, accusing church members of using abusive sales tactics.

TOWN CLERK FLORIAN Wesley said many residents "also feared the group's background and its methods of indoctrinating converts."

The board said it did not have the authority to prevent church members from talking to people on streets about their beliefs.

The church has been criticized by many for allegedly "brainwashing" unsuspecting youths and operating for the personal gain of church leader Moon, who says communism must be crushed because it is the antiChrist.

OUR RICHEST TAX-SHELTERED RETIREMENT PLANS

If you are either not covered under a retirement plan or are self-employed, we can start a retirement plan that will:

- (a) Give you a substantial tax shelter now;
- (b) Build a substantial retirement fund that will let you retire in style.

For instance we will show you how you can deposit up to $1500 a year in a World Individual Retirement Account (IRA). Every deposit will be deducted from your gross income on your Federal Income Tax return so you won't pay a penny of Federal tax on the principal or interest earnings until you take distribution of the funds (between the ages of 59½ and 70½).

If you are in the 25% tax bracket, you could save over $400 in taxes the first year alone, while in just 30 years your retirement fund builds to an incredible $171,750! Based on a current rate of 7¼% compounded continuously.

If you are self-employed, we'll help you start a tax-sheltered Keogh plan in which you can deposit up to $7,500 a year. We'll also fill you in on little known facts like how to make 1975 Keogh deposits as late as April 15 of 1976.

Important announcement! World Savings will waive the customary trustee fee for all IRA accounts opened now through the end of the year.

Uncle Sam Wants You in Today's Army

By DENNIS McLELLAN
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

The poster of a stern-looking Uncle Sam dramatically pointing his finger and exclaiming "I want you for the U.S. Army," has given way to the psychologically more pleasing "Today's Army wants to join you."

The phrase is indicative of the public relations approach taken to induce high school graduates between the ages of 18 and 34 to join the all-volunteer Army.

Important jobs, the pamphlets proclaim. Educational opportunities. Travel. A bright and challenging future.

Those words, interspersed with color photographs of young people walking down cobblestone streets in story-book European towns, are a far cry from the image of G.I. Joe chomping on a cigar butt or scrubbing out pots and pans on K.P. duty.

The publicity appears to be working. Officials say the volunteer Army is succeeding in meeting its enlistment goals, with older, more educated recruits than in the past. Orange County recruiters sign up approximately 125 a month, while nationwide, some 15,000 will be entering through the delayed entry program in the next three months.

EDUCATIONAL APPEAL

"I think the biggest appeal is education," said Capt. Mike Armstrong, Orange County area commander. "The Army is very education conscious."

Claiming to be one of the largest employers in America, the Army offers more than 300 occupational specialties ranging from automotive repair to X-ray specialist.

It also has a new program, Project AHEAD (Army Help for Education and Development), designed to allow an enlistee to begin or continue college while on active duty. The Army pays up to 75 percent of the tuition at participating schools.

The average age of those coming into the Costa Mesa station is 19-22, although there still are some 17 and 18-year-olds, said Sgt. I. C. Dan Aponte. Fifteen years ago, he said, most were 17-19 with a 10th grade education. Now the majority has high school or one or two years of college.

ACCOMPLISHMENT

"We'd rather see a high school graduate than one who is not. We encourage them to finish. That feeling of accomplishment is very important to an individual. A feeling of success is what we try and instill in them."

Recruiters feel job security and pay are next on the list of inducements for enlisting. Starting pay for a green recruit now is $361 a month, including the re-abilities."

Many women now are joining the Army, Armstrong said, with aviation and medicine being the most popular fields. "We're offering jobs to women they can't do anywhere else," he explained, mentioning helicopter mechanics and pilots.

More people with prior service are reenlisting, added Armstrong. "The sense of security means a lot to them." Many are attracted to the idea that they can retire in 20 years and receive nearly half their pay.

Aponte, who has been a recruiter since 1969, said the image of the Army has changed in people's minds since the Vietnam War, when the branch swelled to nearly 1 1/2 million, mostly draftees.

"Six years ago we were in a very unpopular war. People were getting up in the morning and reading about the casualties in Vietnam. We couldn't get on the college campuses then. Today they go to classes in their uniforms and no one says anything."

COMBAT ARMS

Although the draft ended in 1972 and manpower was reduced to about 777,000, a large number of enlistees choose to go into the combat arms, said Aponte. A $2,500 cash bonus is given upon enlistment in the infantry, armor or artillery. Aponte feels it is the challenge that attracts them.

Armstrong agrees challenge is one motivating factor in the minds of most enlistees. "A lot of people still join for that personal challenge, adventure and travel."

Aponte said recruiters often get immediate satisfaction in knowing someone they sign up finds a new direction or goal in life.

He describes his job as challenging. "We get a guy in here who has no idea what his future is and we can point out some alternatives for him." And, he added, "We're sending back into the community a responsible individual who has some training."

The Army is a very attractive place to be right now. We have a lot to offer.'

gular benefits of a 30-day paid vacation each year, free medical and dental care and housing and educational services.

"The Army is a very attractive place to be right now," believes Armstrong, who joined nine years ago when he was 18. "We have a lot to offer. We know it and a lot of those who come in to see us agree."

Armstrong explained interested people first are given an aptitude test to find out in what areas they are qualified. Following a physical, they talk to a career counselor in Los Angeles. Enlistees are guaranteed in writing their job option and unit or area of choice.

HUMANIZING

"The Army is humanizing its system," said Armstrong. "We're very receptive to the individual's needs, desires and

She's Loyal To Corps

By ALLISON DEERR
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Life without weekend drills and two weeks of annual training will seem strange to Helen Hannah.

She enlisted in October, 1943 in what was then the Marine Corps Women's Reserve, did three hitches of active duty during three wars and retired last month after 32 years in the Corps.

But the Fountain Valley woman hasn't really left military life.

Although the uniform of the day is now "civvies" she still works at the Marine Corps Air Station at El Toro as administrative assistant for Special Services.

Miss Hannah is proud of the fact that she has probably had the longest hitch of any woman in the Corps. It took special permission for the three extensions that took her past the 30-year mark.

What prompted her, like 23,000 other young women between 1943 and 1945, to enlist?

"I was working in a defense plant in Whittier and I had gone as far as I could go. I picked the Marines because their standards were the highest."

DUTY STATION

After training at Camp Lejeune, N.C., she was assigned, ironically, to El Toro as her first duty station.

She stayed in the Corps, "for the travel, the friendships I developed and the challenge of the job."

In between active duty, she held down a variety of civilian occupations.

She worked in insurance, in an aircraft plant, as a Kelly Girl and operated her own business. For five years she managed a women's baseball team that wintered in Cuba.

The link with baseball was not accidental. Her father played with the Yankee organization.

"I was an only child. So, when I was not in school my mother and I traveled to wherever Dad was playing."

Her father was featured in some baseball films, which gave her an inside look at the motion picture industry as well.

Born in Salt Lake City, while her father was assigned to the local team, she later settled in the Whittier-Pico Rivera area. "I was an underclassman when Richard Nixon went to Whittier High School," she noted.

MANAGED TEAM

"The women's baseball league was the brainchild of Charles Wrigley. I managed one of the teams near Chicago. The coaches in the league were all retired ballplayers like my Dad," she said.

Her current job in Special Services is at the hub of the wheel. "Our job is the morale of the troops," which means essentially, coordination of the vast recreational set-up on the base, and sports and entertainment off base such as concerts and trips.

She may spend her day doing everything from booking films for the base theater to tracing the whereabouts of camping equipment.

Her "retirement" from the Corps won't mean losing touch with Women Marines even when she really does retire in two or three more years.

Miss Hannah is an active member of the county chapter of the Women Marines Association, which boasts a membership of 150, and is said to be one of the strongest such groups in the country.

She recently joined the Marine Corps Combat Correspondents Association and maintains contact with the Navajo Code Takers.

On the day she retired from the Reserves, the leader of the Navajo nation flew in with a silver and turquoise medallion for her.

THANKYOU GIFT

The necklace was in thanks for her help in the Navajo participation in last year's Rose Parade which had an American heritage theme.

She coordinated the visit of the Navajo delegation here, honoring the Code Takers for their service during World War II.

Miss Hannah plans to use her full privileges for travel granted by her "gray card" to visit some of the places she missed being stationed in the States during her tours of duty, and add to her vast spoon collection.

She has seen many changes in the Women's Corps since she enlisted. "I made $49 a month, for example."

Recruits "tend to mature earlier than they did 30 or 40 years ago" and take advantage of the educational opportunities offered.

"The Marines, like everyone else, had to change with the times."

Law Scales Off-balance

By DOLORES FERRELL
Exclusive to the Daily Pilot

The Supreme Court's interpreting the Bill of Rights tells us where this country stands in regards to women," claimed Wendy Williams, a speaker at the Women and Law Conference in Los Angeles.

A member of the San Francisco-based Equal Rights Advocates, a public interest law firm, Ms. Williams said, "Historically the Supreme Court stance can be divided into two eras—pre and post 1971."

The earlier period, she said, is epitomized in the Bradwell vs. Illinois case in which Bradwell sued the state to admit her to the Illinois Bar. The case went to the Supreme Court which declared that "the Civil Law as well as nature has recognized wide differences in men and women."

'ON-OFF SWITCH'
 Summarizing the post 1971 era, Ms. Williams said the court functions with an "on-off switch" which allows it to hold widely diverse views, such as "sex is a suspect classification along with race and religion."

She characterized the holdings as a kind of "Alice in Wonderland" approach and noted that there never has been a woman on the Supreme Court.

"The whole systemic discrimination of women comes from pregnancy discrimination," charged Kathleen Peratis, ACLU Women's Rights attorney from New York City.

She pointed out the Equal Employment Opportunities Commission says under Title VII that it is illegal to discriminate against pregnant women in employment, whereas the Supreme Court seems to hold that pregnancy discrimination is not sex discrimination.

However, she said, there has been conflict between lower courts. The Supreme Court has not ruled conclusively on the subject but has two cases on which they are expected to rule next spring.

DON'T HIDE

On other topics speakers said: Women in Politics, Superior Court Judge Joan Dempsey Klein; Evaluate your personality and hang in there. The tendency of women is to run away and hide after being defeated.

Politics is competing and you must keep running in the face of losing.

Dr. Emily Card, Immaculate Heart College professor; Women have not thought of themselves as powerful people. A vision of power and ability to risk are essential to women interested in political office.

Women on Law Faculties, Dorothy Nelson, dean of the USC Law School.

Competition for positions on prestigious law school faculties is keen. However, extra consideration is given to women who excel in special areas and also can teach a variety of subjects.

Teaching is a good place to work for world peace. Women must have their own role models in order to promote their goals.

TOUGHER TIMES
 How to Get Your First Job, Ramona Ripston, ACLU director, for Southern California.

Women will have a tougher time getting a job because many law firms still hold old prejudices.

ACLU supports affirmative action programs because the country needs a period of time for balancing equal opportunities. Priorities for women and minorities will not last forever, but for a while it is needed to correct past inequities.

Proposed legislation to legalize, license and regulate prostitution, Georgia Wilkins, Spokesperson of COYOTE, an organization of prostitutes headquartered in San Francisco, opposed it.

Jill Jakes, ACLU attorney: We want prostitution laws declared unconstitutional and void as discriminatory against women.

Uniform Dress

Air Force cadets will wear the short white jacket over a long black skirt (left) for formal occasions during the summer. Uniform to be worn when women are away from the Academy is the form-fitted jacket, skirt and beret.

Tenant Pays for Advances

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Several months ago, I found this great little apartment within walking distance of my place of employment. Although the rent was a bit more than I could afford to pay, I took it.

Last night the hot water gave out. I rapped on the landlord's door and asked if he could do something. He said he'd be glad to check the tank in the basement and asked if I'd go down with him and hold the flashlight. Of course I agreed.

Would you believe that dirty old goat tried to kiss me? His sweet, white-haired wife was right upstairs watching TV! I told him in unmistakable language that I thought he had the morals of a barnyard rooster.

This morning I found a note in my mailbox saying the rent would be increased by $25 starting Jan. 1. What should I do? — HATE TO MOVE AGAIN

DEAR DURHAM: I say the next time the slob asks to borrow a book, show her the last few she borrowed and make it plain if the book doesn't come back in the same condition it left, she owes you a new one.

And make good your threat.

Bobby Riggs Puts Mouth Where His Feet Are

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bigmouth Bobby Riggs is at it again, but this time the king of the hustlers will let his feet do the talking in a match race across Death Valley.

The 57-year-old Newport Beach resident who helped bring tennis to national attention with a pair of matches against women two years ago, will race experienced distance runner Bill Em-merton across the floor of the desert Dec. 15.

THE RACE, IN TYPICAL Riggs fashion, will be a handicap affair. Emmerton, 56, has run across Death Valley three times and is the "world record holder" for the pace. He is to run 100 miles. Riggs gets a 50-mile head start. "This is gonna be the foot race of the century," said Riggs. "There's no man in the world who can give me a halfway start in anything and win. Jim Ryun tried to do that in a mile and I beat him by 250 yards."

"Well, I just told Bobby to bring a spade along," said the crusty Emmerton, "just in case I bury him."

Emmerton, an Australian distance star 30 years ago and a professional runner for 20 years, ran through the rocks and sand of Death Valley in 1968 and then in 1969. His latter run of 211 miles from the north end of the valley to a Las Vegas, Nev., hotel was accomplished in three days, 15 hours.

"THAT'S THE FARTHEST anyone has ever run up there," said Emmerton. "The temperature never got below 116."

Even though it'll be winter throughout the United States on Dec. 15, Emmerton claims the temperature in Death Valley will be over 100 during the daytime, when the men will race. They'll sleep at night.

Both are hoping for sponsorship. "Bobby was talking about a $100,000 winner-take-all purse," said Emmerton, "but I'm not so sure I like that idea."

PROTEIN AID?

FRESNO (AP) — Letting students nibble on high protein foods such as nuts or cheese might improve their awareness and attitudes, an Oregon pediatrician says.

That's because children who aren't doing well in school may simply have eaten the wrong type of breakfast or none at all, Dr. Lendon K. Smith of Portland said at the California Reading Association conference.

Career Women Found to Be 'Happier'

STANFORD (UPI) — A half-century study of 700 gifted women says those who followed careers are more satisfied with their lives than those who became solely housewives.

The Stanford University project says there is a "very significant difference" between the women who chose to be "income workers" and their counterparts who opted for homemakers' lives.

NEARLY ALL 68 PERCENT of the women responding to the survey are, however, happy.

The participants in the continuing survey are in their late 50s and 60s. They were born during World War I, attended high school in the Depression and matured in World War II.

About 79 percent of those who followed careers, with or without children, are highly satisfied, the study says.

Nearly 20 percent of the women who were solely homemakers expressed high satisfaction with their path.

WOMEN WHO CLASSIFIED THEMSELVES as both income workers and heads of household had the highest satisfaction rate — 92 percent.

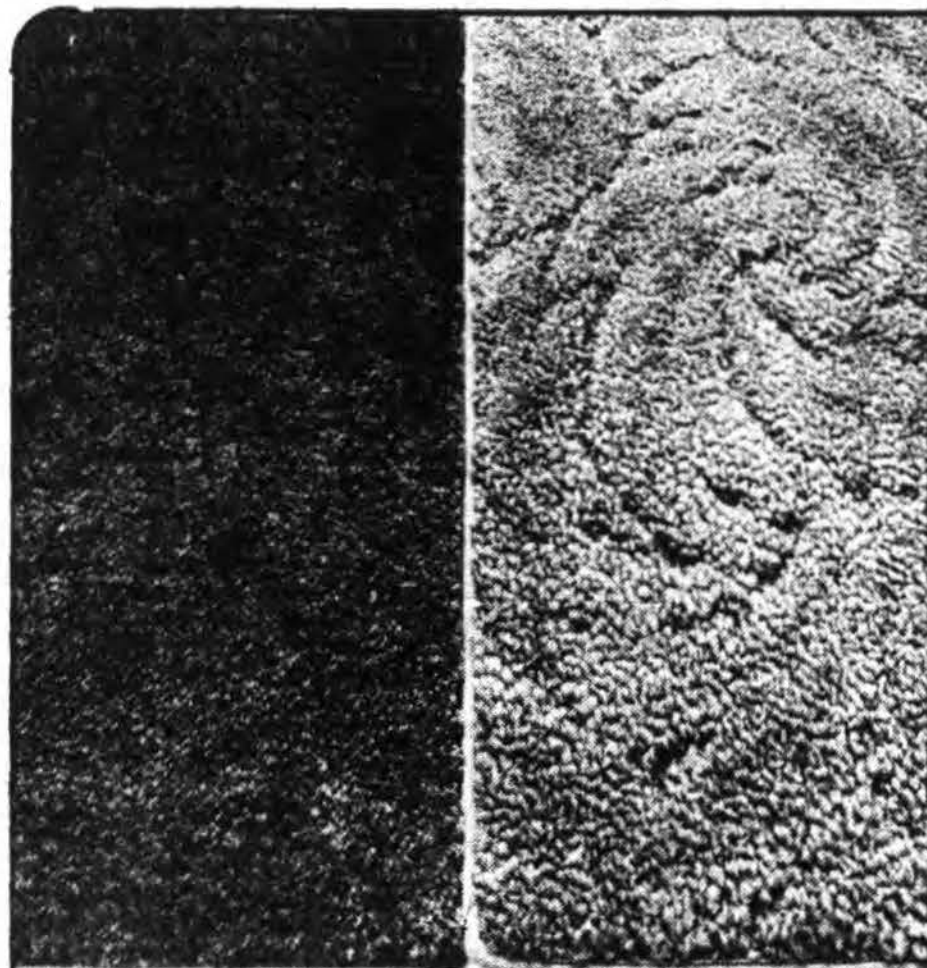

Three quarters of the sample group had children.

In "general satisfaction," those married with children were happier, the report noted.

"We must conclude that while rewarding, income-producing work and vocational advancement were facilitated by the absence of children, still it is a part of women's lives to wish for children," the researchers said.

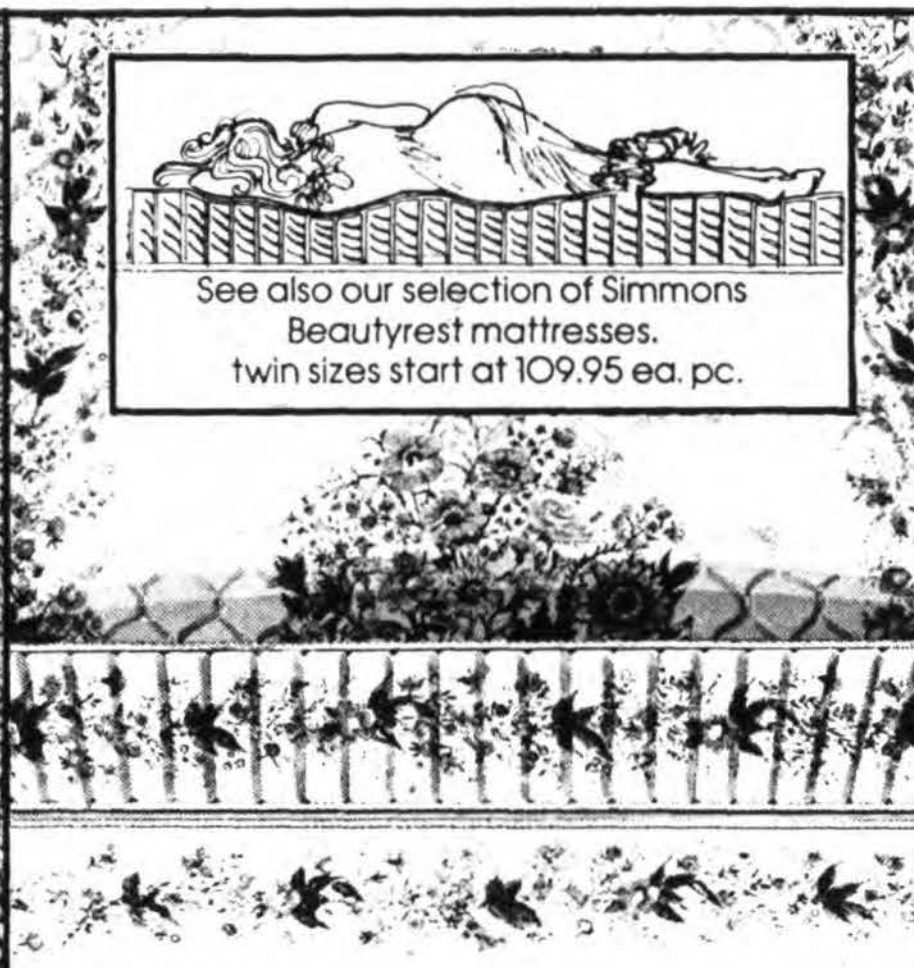

THE RESEARCHERS ARE PAULINE Sears, emeritus professor of psychology at Stanford, and research assistant Ann Barbee. They continued a study begun by Stanford psychologist Lewis M. Terman in the 1920s.

Panatta Shocks Connors

STOCKHOLM — Adriano Panatta of Italy combined a strong serve with dazzling sliced cross-court shots, Sunday to upset Jimmy Connors in a thrilling final showdown of the $100,000 Stockholm Open tennis tournament, 4-6, 6-3, 7-5.

Panatta's sensational triumph in the world's biggest indoor event came after a two-hour seesaw struggle against the heavily favored American.

But the 25-year-old Italian's tactics on the fast indoor court, changing the pace throughout and hitting rocket serves and sliced backhand crosses, took Connors by surprise in the two final sets.

Ex-star Stricken

WASHINGTON — Former Ohio State football star Bob Ferguson remains in critical condition at Howard University Hospital in Washington, a hospital spokesman said today.

Ferguson, 36, a one-time fullback who was unable to catch on as a pro, was stricken last week when a blood vessel ruptured in his brain, according to spokesmen. Ferguson had been working as a laborer in Washington.

A native of Troy, Ohio, Ferguson at 17 was the state high school football scoring champion, and at Ohio State he rushed for 2,162 yards and scored 26 touchdowns.

He had brief professional stints with the Pittsburgh Steelers, Minnesota Vikings and Washington Redskins.

Ramirez Breezes

TOKYO — Paul Ramirez of Mexico whipped U.S. Open champion Manuel Orantes of Spain 6-2, 7-5, 6-3 Sunday and won the $16,000 first prize in the men's singles event of the Japan Open tennis championships.

Kazuko Sawamatsu of Japan took the women's title and $4,000, beating Ann Kiyomura of the United States 6-2, 3-6, 6-1.

Ramirez' victory over Orantes was his third over the Spanish star in less than a year.

Foyt Wins

PHOENIX — A. J. Foyt, this year's U.S. Auto Club national champion, added another gem to his crown Sunday by winning the Phoenix 150 Indy-type auto race at FasTrack International Speedway.

Foyt, a six-time national driving champion, came out of the third row and passed leader Johnny Rutherford with only 10 laps to go when Rutherford's engine quit in the third turn. Foyt traveled through heavy traffic all afternoon but did not appear to be able to catch Rutherford until the engine problem.

Second was Tom Sneva, who battled with Foyt all afternoon, and third was Mario Andretti.

Foyt covered the 150 miles in a time of 1:21.245. His average speed was 111.055.

Ashe Advances

EDINBURGH, Scotland — Late-arriving Arthur Ashe cruised to a 6-4, 6-2 victory over Britain's Graham Stowell Sunday night in a first-round match of the delayed $94,500 Dewar Cup Tennis Tournament.

Among the results of those who showed up, fourth-ranked Jan Kodes of Czechoslovakia topped Britain's Stephen Warboys, 7-5, 6-2 and American Eddie Dibbs beat countryman Richard Kreiss, 6-2, 6-3.

Dallas, KC Clash

Stenerud May Be Key

DALLAS (AP) — The one single weapon in the Kansas City arsenal feared most by Dallas Cowboy coach Tom Landry is the good right instep of stender kicking specialist Jan Stenerud.

"You always start about nine-zip against Kansas City because when you step out there you figure Stenerud is going to kick his three field goals before it is over," said Landry.

On TV Tonight
Channel 7 at 6

Going into tonight's nationally televised National Football League game at Texas Stadium, Stenerud has hit 14 of 20 field goal attempts.

Cowboys kicker Gene Fritsch has either been very good — like his game-winner at the gun against Philadelphia — or very bad — like his duck hooked 38 yard flub in overtime in a 30-21 loss to Washington.

Dallas, 5-2, needs the victory to keep in a three-way tie with Washington and St. Louis in the highly competitive National Conference Eastern Division.

THE RAMS' MONTE JACKSON BLOCKS TOM WITTUM'S PUNT AT THE COLISEUM.

Injured 49er Recovering

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Defensive back Ralph McGill of the San Francisco 49ers was listed in stable condition today after suffering head injuries when kicked during a National Football League game against the Los Angeles Rams.

McGill was kicked by Rams place kicker Tom Dempsey in the fourth quarter of the game won by San Francisco 24-23 Sunday.

Dempsey, who has no toes on his kicking foot, wears a special shoe with a squared off toe to compensate. McGill was trying to block a placement when hit.

An ambulance came onto the field to take him to a hospital where he later regained consciousness. The 49ers said plans were to fly him to San Francisco today for further hospitalization.

McGill had been given emergency treatment on the field for 15 minutes before the ambulance was summoned. The injury was listed as a severe concussion with more tests scheduled.

McGill, 25, is in his fourth season with the 49ers and played his collegiate football at Tulsa.

Ironically, he was called for a running-into-the-kicker penalty on the play when he was hurt after Dempsey had missed the 37-yard field goal attempt. The penalty gave the ball back to the Rams and four plays later, the kicker booted one good for 23 yards.

Kansas City is 3-4 and struggling for life in the AFC West. Both teams come off hard losses last week. Dallas fell to Washington in overtime while Kansas City lost 17-13 to Houston.

"Kansas City is a very much improved football team," said Landry. "They won three in a row — including a big one over Oakland — and then played Houston about as close as you can play anybody."

Dallas features a wide-open attack with quarterback Roger Staubach operating out of the spread formation on obvious passing downs.

Kansas City coach Paul Wiggin has settled on Mike Livingston as his quarterback with oldtimer Len Dawson ready and willing on the bench.

The Chiefs have been riddled by injuries. For example, since training camp they are now into their 15th left guard. There are 11 free agents on the Kansas City club.

Dallas counters with its "Dirty Dozen" rookies — all unshaven lads who love to hit on the specialty teams.

Mike-Mayer Kicks Rams Into Defeat

By GLENN WHITE
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

LOS ANGELES — Thirteen turned out to be the lucky number for San Francisco 49ers rookie Steve Mike-Mayer as he lined up to make the 13th field goal attempt of his pro career.

It was late Sunday afternoon at the Coliseum and the largest Rams crowd of the season — 78,995 — melted into silence as the 27-year-old University of Maryland product lined up for the 54-yard try for three points.

Less than a minute remained of the ragged but exciting match which had seen the Rams blow a 14-0 halftime lead only to come back and take a 23-21 edge with 90 seconds to play on an 80-yard touchdown march. Place kicker Tom Dempsey, who once kicked a 63-yard field goal, missed the conversion.

Los Angeles had won its last 10 regular season meetings with 49ers teams and it looked like No. 11 was about to be recorded.

But Steve Spurrier, making his first start of the National Football League campaign, directed the 49ers from their 35 to the LA 37 in less than a minute.

Now it was fourth down and two yards to go at the LA 37.

San Francisco sent Mike-Mayer, the native Hungarian soccer style kicker, out for the do-or-die kick. It was placed at the Los Angeles 44. The kick appeared to be knifed toward the goal posts. But there was brief question whether it would have been long enough.

It was, with little to spare. "I knew it was going to be real close when I hit the ball," Mike-Mayer said. "I didn't know if it was going to get over the crossbar or not....then I saw it go over."

The Rams still had a chance to come back, however. And they did make a heroic bid to get close enough for the powerful toe of Dempsey to get them back on top.

Quarterback Jimmy Harris passed them into SF territory as the clock ticked nearer the end. Then he hit Ron Jessie at the 23. That would be close enough for Dempsey.

But Charlie Cowan of the Rams was detected holding and the gain was negated by the penalty. Harris threw an incomplection then he was intercepted in the end zone to salt away the victory for the 49ers.

Penalties thwarted both sides throughout the duel as SF was called for 13 infractions and the Rams were charged with eight.

Three times the Rams were caught either offside or holding on third down plays and the penalty yardage gave the 49ers first downs that they otherwise had not earned.

They moved so well in the last half that they didn't punt until the final 3:55 of the game after having to kick three times in the first two quarters.

In the second half, Spurrier hit three long touchdown pass plays. After trailing 14-0 at the half, he found Gene Washington for 42 yards, Del Williams for 19, and Washington again for 68.

After completing just six for 60 yards in the first half, he hit on 13 of 21 for 230 in the second.

Mike-Mayer had kicked a 51-yard field goal as a junior in college, but his longest as a pro was just 29 yards and his game-winning boot was his seventh in 13 tries for this first season in pro ball.

In addition to losing the game and putting their record at 6-2, the Rams also lost starting defensive tackle Larry Brooks for the season with torn ligaments in his left knee. He was to undergo surgery today.

Coach Dick Nolan of the 49ers, with his club at 3-5, said he felt it still had a chance to overtake Los Angeles in their division.

It was the first Sunday loss at the Coliseum for coach Chuck Knox in three seasons.

"They just whipped us," the coach commented. "We have no alibis and no apologies. The short week had nothing to do with our play. We had a chance to win and didn't. They had a chance to win and did."

Young Tennis Prospect at Newport Harbor

By HOWARD L. HANDY
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Christina Gonzalez is a member of a tennis family and her famed father (Pancho) has etched his name among the hallowed saints of the sport in days gone by, but the 14-year-old Newport Harbor High School student doesn't plan a tennis career.

As a freshman at Newport, she's a member of the girls team, playing with senior Terri Miller in doubles and she feels she could improve her game enough to play for the boys team in the spring.

"I have been thinking about playing on the boys team," she admits. "But I don't really know if I want to do it."

While tennis has been in her life since she was born along with a twin sister, Mariessa, her whole life isn't wrapped up in the game.

The composed, self-assurance of the 5-8, 130-pound NH freshman, was shaken only once during the time she spent in talking with the Daily Pilot.

That was when she recalled happier days with Mariessa before the latter fell from a horse more than three years ago and was killed in a freak accident.

Does she take lessons from her father?
"No, he doesn't play much anymore and when we go to Las Vegas to see him, we don't usually play tennis. Once in awhile he will hit some with us," Christina says.

"She can be as good as she wants to be within herself," UCI coach Myron McNamara says of Christina. "She has the potential to become a good tennis player. But she has to want to do it herself."

She has a younger sister, Andrea, and they spend weekends at the Balboa Bay Club on the tennis courts together when they are not in Las Vegas driving go-karts their father builds as a hobby.

How did she happen to start playing tennis if her father didn't give her lessons?
"We just kind of had some lessons from other instructors when we were younger," she says. "I enjoy tennis more than other sports and I've lived in this area for about four years and enjoy it very much."

Myron McNamara has given me a couple of lessons at UC Irvine but I really don't know about making it a career. Right now I don't know what I will want to do later on."

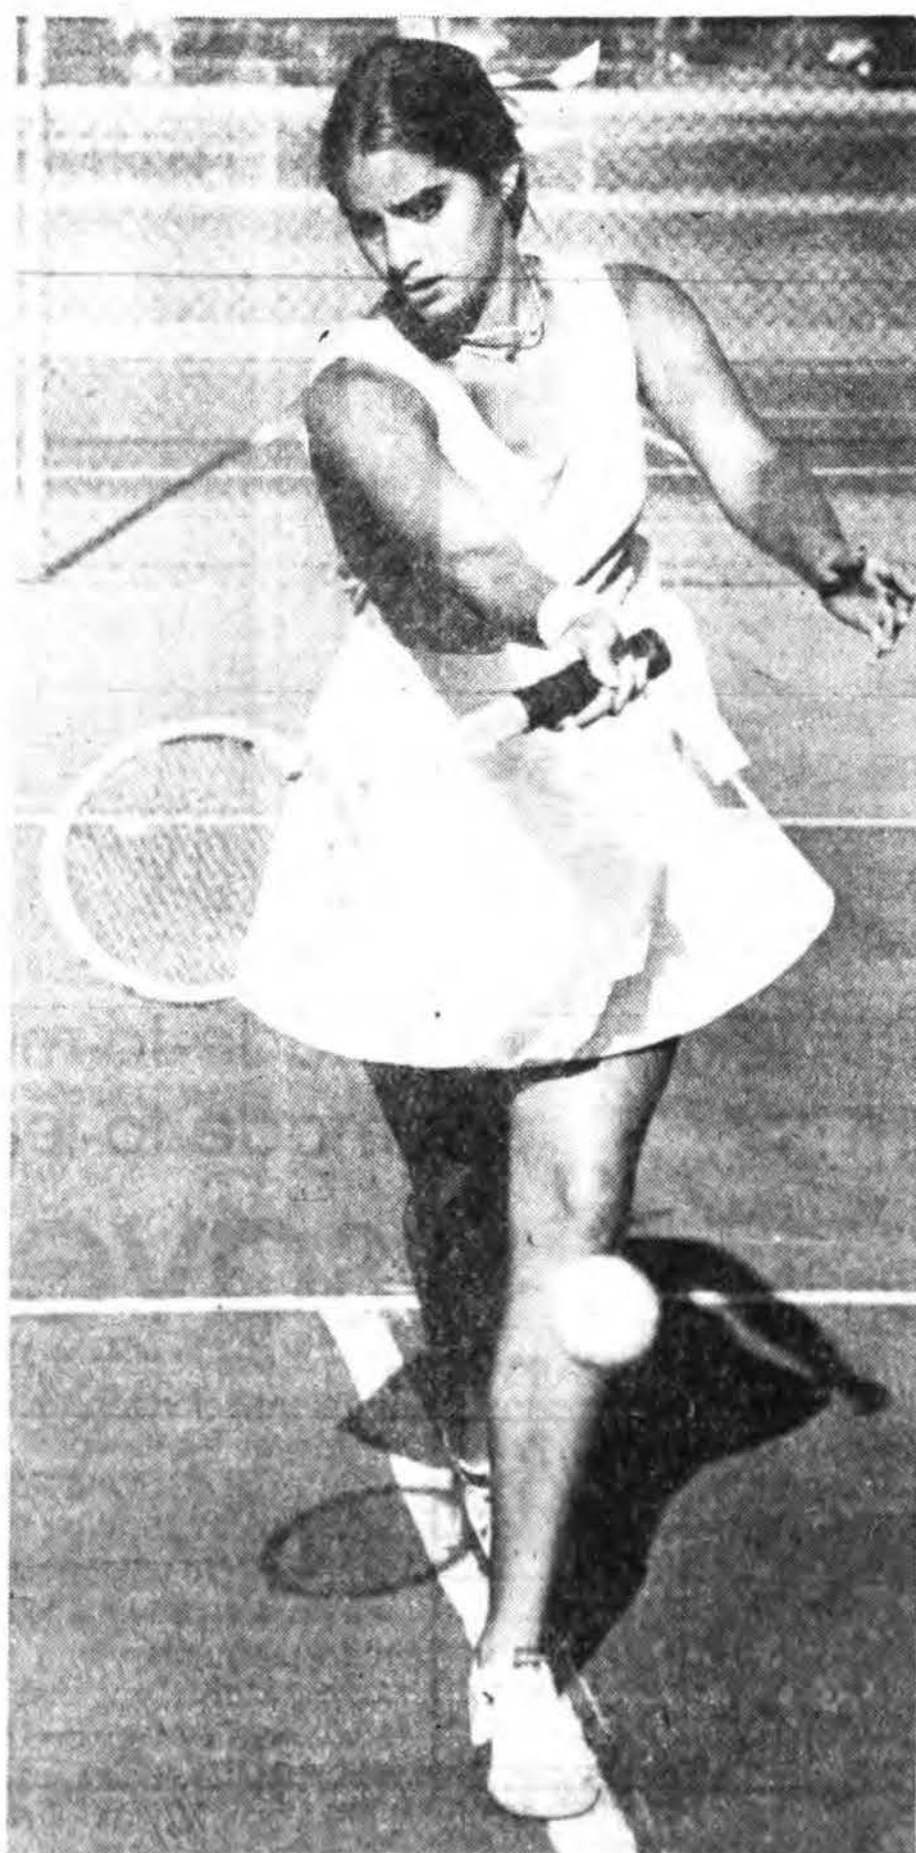

Being a tall girl for her age, does this help her on the tennis court?
"It helps with my serve," she admits.

Does she have the same temperament as her father and get caught up in the frustrations of the game?
"I hope not," she says.

Pancho was known as one of the more aggressive players on the tour during his heyday and his temper was well known throughout the world.

Did Christina ever watch him play in an important match that she remembers?
"I remember one," she says. "He played Arthur Ashe in Las Vegas when I was nine and I don't remember any others."

Her coach on the girls team at Newport Harbor High, Gloria Grotta, says of Christina:

CHRISTINA GONZALEZ STEPS UP IN WORLD OF TENNIS.

Lakers Sizzle With Russell

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When Cazzie Russell is hot, he's hot. And frequently even when he's cold, he's hot.

The Los Angeles forward came off the bench Sunday night to roll up 29 points in his 25 minutes on the floor and lead the Lakers to a 125-112 victory over Kansas City.

Russell, who seems to warm up quickly when he gets into the game, popped in 19 points in the second quarter after coming into the contest near the end of the initial period.

"It's much harder to find a good sixth man than it is to find a good starter," Lakers coach Bill Sharman said after the game. "Cazzie is really good coming off the bench."

Sharman was generally happy with the Lakers' play against the Kings. "It was easily our best running game of the season," he said. "And that's the kind of game we like to play."

Gail Goodrich, who missed six games because of a contract dispute, had his best shooting night of the season for Los Angeles, scoring 20 points.

For the first time this season, Kareem Abdul-Jabbar was held under 20 points.

San Diego Can't Stop Rookie QB

SAN DIEGO (AP) — New England Patriots coach Chuck Fairbanks resisted the temptation to use Jim Plunkett against the San Diego Chargers. It might have been better for the Chargers if he hadn't.

Plunkett's replacement, Steve Grogan, passed for 224 yards and a touchdown Sunday in the Patriots' 33-19 National Football League victory over the Chargers.

It was New England's third win in eight games and San Diego's eighth loss in as many games.

Grogan, a rookie quarterback from Kansas State, hit on 17 of 28 passes. One was a 13-yard scoring flip to wide receiver Randy Vataha, who successfully caught a pass for the 25th straight game.

"I'm young and I'm still making mistakes, but I'm learning," said Grogan.

Plunkett felt he had recovered from his shoulder separation and was well enough to play. Fairbanks agreed, but let Grogan take over anyway.

"I think Steve did a real good job for us," said the coach. "Plunkett will see plenty of action before the season's over."

New England kicker John Smith and Chargers specialist Ray Wersching saw plenty of action Sunday as each booted four field goals, tying an NFL record. A 52-yarder by Wersching was nullified by a penalty.

The Chargers tried to make a game of it as quarterback Dan Fouts completed 25 of 42 passes for 283 touchdown yards and an eight-yard touchdown to wide receiver Gary Garrison.

But the Patriots defense held San Diego to 75 total yards rushing, sacked Fouts six times for 46 yards and intercepted him twice.

Ex-Chargers defensive back Bob Howard turned the first interception into a 44-yard touchdown gallop which put the Chargers behind for good in the opening period.

As for the Chargers, the good old days just keep getting older for coach Tommy Prothro.

"I've never coached a team that lost eight in a row," he said. The smallest home crowd ever at San Diego Stadium — 24,349 — viewed the game.

Pro Grid Wrap Steelers Rally For 24-17 Win

Terry Bradshaw threw his third touchdown pass of the game with a 21-yard strike to John Stallworth with 38 seconds left and it gave the Pittsburgh Steelers a 24-17 victory over the Houston Oilers Sunday in a key National Football League struggle.

The win keeps Pittsburgh in first place in the Central Division of the American Conference with Cincinnati, while Houston falls one game behind.

Bradshaw's winning pass capped a 78-yard, six-play drive that began after Houston's Fred Willis plunged one yard for a touchdown to knot the score at 17 with 2:18 left.

Bradshaw tossed eight-yard scoring strikes to Lynn Swann and Larry Brown in the first half.

Elsewhere in the NFL Sunday:

BALTIMORE AT BUFFALO — The Baltimore Colts recovered from a 21-0 deficit to a 42-35 victory over the Bills as quarterback Bert Jones completed 14 of 22 passes for 306 yards and two touchdowns.

O.J. Simpson scored Buffalo's first three touchdowns and had run for 105 yards in the first half. His season totals are now 1,128 yards. Lydell Mitchell scored three touchdowns for the Colts and Jones, a third-year quarterback from Louisiana State, scored on a 19-yard run.

Buffalo quarterback Joe Ferguson suffered a concussion and was hospitalized overnight.

WASHINGTON AT NEW YORK GIANTS — Reserve Randy Johnson came through for the injured Bill Kilmer and led his Washington Redskins mates to a 21-13 victory over the Giants.

Trailing, 13-7, the Redskins came back as Johnson marched the club on two long TD drives. Larry Brown barreled into the end zone from a yard out for the touchdown that tied the score and Mark Moseley's PAT put the Skins in front, climaxing a 10-play, 87-yard drive.

ST. LOUIS AT PHILADELPHIA — Jim Bakken kicked a 30-yard field goal with no time left to lift the St. Louis Cardinals to a 24-23 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles.

For Philadelphia it was the second time defeat came this way in the last three weeks.

Bakken's kick, his 12th in 13 attempts this year, puts him fourth on the all-time NFL scoring list with 1,132 points.

The Cards trailed by 16 with 5:30 left in the third period, but pared the margin on a one-yard TD run by Terry Metcalf and a five-yard run by Jim Hart with 9:40 left in the game.

CINCINNATI AT DENVER — Cincinnati came up with a razzle-dazzle play in the third quarter to propel the Bengals to a 17-16 triumph over the Denver Broncos and maintain a share of first place in the wild American Conference central division race.

Trailing, 13-10, Ken Anderson tossed an eight-yard pass to Chip Myers, who, as he was about to be tackled, lateraled to Isaac Curtis.

Curtis, formerly a Santa Ana High School star, raced 25 yards to the Denver five to set up Boobie Clark's one-yard touchdown that proved to be the clinching score.

ATLANTA AT MINNESOTA — Atlanta's hapless Falcons turned the ball over eight times and Minnesota responded with a 38-0 rout.

Minnesota's Chuck Foreman carried 26 times for 102 yards and caught four passes for 19 yards. His three first-half touchdowns give him 11 for the year.

NEW YORK JETS AT MIAMI — A one-minute outburst by the Miami Dolphins that resulted in two touchdowns snapped a 7-all situation and the Dolphins went on to record a 27-7 victory over the Jets.

Norm Bulaich scored on a 59-yard pass play from Bob Griese and Freddie Solomon ran a punt back 50 yards for another touchdown.

CLEVELAND AT DETROIT — Detroit broke loose at the outset with a 68-yard pass-run play between quarterback Joe Reed and Ray Jarvis to set the tone as Detroit kept Cleveland winless, 21-0.

Jarvis also caught a 21-yard touchdown pass from Reed in the second quarter and the Lions put the game out of reach mid way through the final period when Ben Davis intercepted a Will Cureton pass and returned it 67 yards for a touchdown.

GREEN BAY AT CHICAGO — The Chicago Bears capitalized on Craig Clemmons' 76-yard interception for a touchdown and the first-half passing of Gary Huff to record a 27-14 upset over the Green Bay Packers.

It was the 112th renewal of pro football's oldest rivalry.

Huff completed nine passes in the first half for 119 yards, hitting and hit Bob Parsons with a 12-yard scoring strike and setting up a five-yard TD run by Walter Payton in the second period with his passing.

NEW ORLEANS AT OAKLAND — The Oakland Raiders scored seven touchdowns, including two on long passes from Ken Stabler to Morris Bradshaw, as they toyed with the inept New Orleans Saints, 48-10.

Checking Area Golf For Men

Second place went to Bill Hanen and Dewey Tackaberry at 48.

In a similar event on Sunday, Tom Ellison and Toby Olson finished with a 49 and Ellison teamed with John Parr for a 50 for second place.

Haryung Draws Praise Despite Losing Record

Laguna Beach High's Artists are having their usual tough run of luck in football with six straight losses and appear to be headed for a 2-7 season—equaling last year's pace under coach Dennis Haryung.

Haryung and his staff has done a good job regardless of the record—as did Hal Akins—who was fired after 13 years.

Akins, after sending three teams to the CIF playoffs, was under a heavy

Angelus League teams sometimes have a hard time arranging non-league football games considering there are a lot of folks who don't feel they can stand up to the pounding of an Angelus foe.

Considering the gates and hard-nosed brand of football played, perhaps the Angelus League would be better off playing each league team twice prior to the playoffs.

Mater Dei's loss to Bishop Amat was an excellent example of how football should be played with bone-crushing tackles, crisp blocks and nearly penalty free execution.

More of those games should be available.

barrage from the boo-birds in Laguna Beach the last five years of his tenure with his teams thrown against superior opposition.

Akins is still at the Laguna Beach campus and in charge of boys discipline, in addition to art classes at Laguna Beach and Saddleback College.

If Fountain Valley High football fans are frustrated with an apparent 10th straight seat in the stands for the CIF football playoffs, there is some solace in the fact that the Barons figure to have their best team ever in '76.

Among the Barons squad this year are 30 who will return, including quarterback Gary Coleman, back Mike Musso, receivers Ken Margerum, Bo Boxold and Tim Holmes, placekicker Steve Steinke, and linemen Tim Biemek, Bill Griz, Don Bohay, Tom Stallings and Frank Christy.

And it's reported there is a super back on the sophomore level.

Back-to-back basketball doubleheaders appear to be taking over in popularity for prep teams during December tournament play.

At least it seems that way along the Orange Coast where several attractive setups are in line to bolster sagging interest in day-long tourney mismatches.

Among December doubleheaders is one involving Edison, Huntington Beach, Fountain Valley and Katella; another or Corona del Mar, El Toro, Costa Mesa and Dana Hills; and a quartet consisting of Edison, Rancho Alamitos, Newport Harbor and Estancia.

The plusses for the two-game sets are numerous.

The participants know when they will play and do not have to depend on the won-loss factor for the following game.

Interesting matchups can be placed and there are few, if any, mismatches. The games are played in the evening, doing away with the 3 and 5 p.m. conflicts that are prevalent in tourneys.

This one's not a doubleheader—but it's a date to remember on the cage slate: Jan. 2, 1976...Marina is at Huntington Beach.

Bucs No. 1 Cage, Hockey Vista JC Team

Orange Coast College retained its No. 1 position in the Daily Pilot's Southland JC football poll.

OCC's Pirates, headed for the Dec. 6 Avocado Bowl at Cerritos College, need just a victory Saturday night against Sacramento to wrap up the regular season with a 10-0 record.

Citrus (8-0), the only other unbeaten team in the state, moved from third to second this week and East LA jumped from fourth to third after beating El Camino.

Challenge of Sexes

Jerry West at MV

The final four events in the Challenge of the Sexes competition being filmed for television in Mission Viejo will take place this evening at Mission Viejo High School beginning at 6.

In billiards it will be veteran Willie Mosconi against 16-year-old Jean Balukas with the only handicap being youth and stamina against experience.

In table tennis, In-Sook Na will battle Danny Seemiller with no handicap. She reportedly has never lost a match to a male opponent.

Linda Metheny and Makoto Sakamoto battle in gymnastics with subjective judging being the only difference.

Jerry West, former Los Angeles Lakers star, tangled with Karen Logan in a game of Horse with West shooting second and asked to duplicate any shots Logan makes.

The men and women split two-golf matches Sunday as Laura Baugh, playing some of the best golf of her career, beat Doug Sanders by three strokes in a nine-hole match at the Mission Viejo Country Club as part of the Challenge of the Sexes.

In the second match, Jane Blalock came within two inches of tying Hale Irwin.

The final scores were 34 for Baugh, 37 for Sanders, 38 for Blalock and 37 for Irwin.

The men played off championship tees, and the women played off the ladies tees, giving them an overall advantage of some 55 yards per hole, a total of 510 for the nine.

Yacht Sighted 'Lost' Sailor Still Going

TOKYO (AP) — Kenichi Horie, who was feared lost in a trans-Pacific solo yacht race, was sighted today for the first time in 42 days.

A Japanese Defense Agency plane spotted Horie, Japan's best known yachtsman about 300 miles east of Okinawa.

THE AGENCY SAID, Lt. Kensei Inoue, piloting an anti-submarine plane on a routine training flight, spotted Horie and his sloop, "Mermaid II," off Cape Kiyau at the southern tip of Okinawa.

Horie, 37, was last year from on Sept. 28, after he and seven other yachtsmen left San Francisco Sept. 22 for Okinawa, competing in the trans-Pacific solo yacht race commemorating the opening of Ocean Expo '75.

ASTROLOGICAL RESEARCH NEWS BULLETIN

The Secret Of Having Good Luck

Newest Discovery By I.A.A. May Be Biggest In The History Of Astrology

By J. C. Riley - Astrological Writer

"I am presenting here the most interesting story I have ever covered as an astrological writer. Read my story and find out how to become a luckier person. Yes, as a result of an astrological research discovery, you can actually increase your good luck. How? Find out in the following interview I had with Cary Franks, Chief Astrologer for the International Astrological Association. The interview was conducted at the Association's research center in the northern part of Canton, Ohio." (Canton, OH)

Question: "Cary, what is this luck project you are working on all about?"

Answer: "Very simply, we have uncovered the secret of having good luck. That is, we have found out why some people are so much luckier than others; why certain people get rich by being in the right place at the right time; how that certain person in everyone's circle of acquaintances (you know the guy) seems to always win door prizes, raffles, lotteries, cards and you name it; and why certain people are always lucky in love, careers and business ventures."

Question: "How did you discover the secret of good luck?"

Answer: "The whole project is called the Life-Luck Project."

"This project was commissioned by the board of directors over four years ago on March 7, 1971. Research data was gathered by: 1) Investigating historically famous, fortunate people, 2) Investigating famous fortunate people of today, 3) Observation of research test subjects (half of which were known to be lucky), 4) Analysis of more than 198,000 research questionnaires gathered from all over the country through I.A.A.'s nationally famous feature "ASTROLOGY TODAY" which has run in nearly every major publication in the country. Total number of people submitting birth information through "ASTROLOGY TODAY" was over 1.2 million. Total capital outlay for the Life-Luck Project was over $192,000.00"

Question: "What did you find out as a result of your investigation of fortunate people?" I asked.

Answer: "We confirmed what we had already suspected—that most fortunate people get that way by using astrology. Professional astrologers will tell you that nearly all rich and famous people, past and present, use astrology. Even present and historic world leaders use or have used astrology."

"But, although the fact that rich and famous people use astrology is news to laymen, it is obvious to professional astrologers. What we were really after was exactly HOW did these fortunate people use astrology. Astrology is a science of infinite scope. Few people know that an astrologer could spend a life time ON JUST ONE HOROSCOPE. You must use specific areas for the specific things you want to accomplish with it. Also, you must know in detail how to APPLY astrological knowledge."

"Famous American tycoon J.P. Morgan used astrology to acquire his fortune. This was discovered early in our research and this fact was cited in "ASTROLOGY TODAY." J.P. Morgan's astrologer was none other than Evangeline Adams, grand-daughter of famed President John Quincy Adams. The trick? She concentrated and expanded the luck area of astrology only. J.P. Morgan invested in things dictated to be best by his horoscope. But, he would only make investments at the exact time prescribed by Miss Adams."

Question: "I understand you have combined astrology with numerology (a related field to astrology) as a result of your research. That's a first, isn't it?"

Answer: "Yes. We found that numerology is a very useful tool in producing good luck."

"For example, the letters in the alphabet have assigned numbers. Singer Dionne Warwick took the advice from her numerologist and added an 'e' to the end of her name. Her numerologist told her this would bring about the correct, fortunate combination."

"She immediately skyrocketed to fame. She has revealed this fact on the Johnny Carson show twice."

Question: "So, what was the result of all your research?"

Answer: "The end result of our four years of research is a special horoscope which is revolutionary in the field of astrology. This horoscope is called THE LIFE-LUCK HOROSCOPE. It expands and concentrates on only the luck areas of astrology. It also uses NUMEROLOGY and even PSYCHOLOGY. (It was discovered in Germany that the psychology of color has a profound effect on luck). We tested this horoscope using our in-house research subjects in real life situations."

Question: "How did the LIFE-LUCK HOROSCOPE do in this 'acid test'?"

Answer: "The results were astounding! And, I'm not exaggerating when I say that. We were able to turn people into winners who had never won anything in their lives."

"But, let me qualify that statement. We also found out something else during this final test. And, that is that all people are not equally lucky. If it isn't in their horoscope; that is, if they were not born at the right time and place, they have only so much luck potential."

"But, why I am so thrilled about the results and why they are significant is this: WE WERE ABLE TO INCREASE THE GOOD LUCK IN OVER 95% OF OUR RESEARCH SUBJECTS. In other words, I will go out on the limb and say that although some people are luckier than others, there is a 95% chance that their luck horoscope will guarantee that they get all the potential luck that they have coming."

"Now, I don't want to tell you some of the amazing things that happened to our research subjects, myself, because I already sound like I'm bragging. Let me make a quick phone call and get two typical research subjects up here. I say typical because many subjects were much luckier and many were much less lucky. They are the average. But, I want to use them because they had never won anything in their lives until they used the LIFE-LUCK HOROSCOPE."

"Cary summoned two of the research subjects who had taken part in the final tests of the LIFE-LUCK HOROSCOPE. She said I was free to print their testimony! This really impressed me. Few people know that trade regulations are hard on testimonials from people. If an organization prints a testimonial with a person's name, it had better be true. Bear this in mind as you read the following testimonials from Ken Fronk and Rose Lineman."

"The two people entered the room and sat down. I first asked for the testimony of Ken Fronk of Canton, Ohio."

Question: "Ken, tell me your experience while using the LIFE-LUCK HOROSCOPE that was prepared for you."

Answer: "My LIFE-LUCK HOROSCOPE was prepared for me on March 1, 1974. The horoscope was in great detail and covered all areas of my life. But we, as research subjects, were told to concentrate on games so we could get the quickest test."

"My horoscope listed games in order, from those which I would be luckiest, to those that I would be the least lucky. It listed dates and times that I would be most lucky. It also listed what my lucky number, colors and combination of lucky colors and numbers were. I had never won anything in my life. In fact, I used to think of myself as a born loser. But, and I still can't believe it, here are the results of using my LIFE-LUCK HOROSCOPE."

"The first day my horoscope told me I would be lucky was March 16 to March 20. On March 17, I played the horses because that was listed high on my lucky area chart. I used the color and number information once I got to the track. And, that night I won $506.00!"

"Now, I will just leave out the smaller winning nights and give you the highlights."

"I was told I was going to be very lucky May 19 to May 20. Using the same procedure: On May 19, I played bingo and won a $10.00 door prize and $60.00 in bingo. On May 20, I played bingo at my Moose Club and won the $500.00 jackpot. On May 21, I played bingo again and won $50.00. On May 22, I won $525.00 on the horses and $45.00 playing bingo."

LADY LUCK

Cary Franks—Famous Chief Astrologer for I.A.A.—Director of the Life-Luck Research Project. Cary was born and educated in Cleveland, Ohio. She received a B.S. in psychology and chemistry from Case-Western Reserve University and a masters in polymer chemistry from Akron University. After graduating, she became interested in astrology. She studied the subject for 10 years and earned the highest certification given to professional astrologers. She has studied astrology in London and around the world. The mere fact that Cary is associated with this project may be lucky in itself. Many of her clients say that just being associated with her in any way seems to bring a person good luck.

"In October, the 6th to the 11th was a lucky period. But, I was told that October 9 was an especially hot day for me and I was to bet heavy. I played the horses and won the daily double and $1,040.00."

Question: "I then asked for the testimony of Rose Lineman of Fredonia, Pennsylvania."

Answer: "Well, my testimony will be much shorter than Ken's was because the only game I am interested in is bingo. I got my LIFE-LUCK HOROSCOPE on May 1, 1974."

"Prior to that time, I never won at bingo over a period of a month. I would keep monthly records. They would usually come out on the loss side with a few break-even months and a very few slight winning months. Overall, I was way in the red."

"Now compare this. By following the advice in my LIFE-LUCK HOROSCOPE, from May 1 to December 31, 1974, I had won $2,219.00 over that eight-month period. I played on the average of once a week depending on my lucky periods, averaging about $70.00 a night."

"But, there are two things that impressed me about this horoscope more than my own experience. As a favor, I had the I.A.A. do a horoscope for each of two friends of mine."

"My first friend's horoscope told her to buy an Ohio lottery ticket on December 5. She soon found out that her ticket was a winner!"

"My second friend had a spicy experience. Her horoscope told her that she would have extremely good luck in her love-life in July. It told her to be active socially that month. She had more affairs that month than I think I had in my entire life. She came out of it with a lasting one—a guy that you couldn't have tailor made any better for her."

Question: "At this point, I have only one request from you people." I pleaded, "I want my LIFE-LUCK HOROSCOPE!" "Everyone laughed at this point as though I had just made a request that a million other people had made before me."

Answer: "Yes, there is quite a demand for the LIFE-LUCK HOROSCOPE since word has leaked out. And, we are now prepared to offer it to the public now—ON A SPECIAL BASIS. But, let me show you a sample LIFE-LUCK HOROSCOPE first so you know exactly what it is."

Question: "I was shown a copy of this special horoscope. I can tell you it is something else. It is 31 pages long and contains things that you would never dream existed in a horoscope. To go into a complete description will take up too much space, so listed next are the highlights of the contents of the LIFE-LUCK HOROSCOPE."

• The LIFE-LUCK HOROSCOPE reveals the following:

1. WHERE, WHEN and HOW you will be lucky (including a 15-year, hand prepared, future forecast).

2. How to take advantage of your lucky opportunities.

3. How to increase your good luck.

4. How to avoid bad luck.

• The horoscope covers how you can be lucky, depending on your horoscope, in the following areas:

Love - Job - Career - Investments - Stocks - Commodities - Oil Wells - Bingo - Lotteries - Cards: Poker, Black Jack, Baccarat - Inheritance - Football and Baseball Pools - Horse Racing - Dog Racing - General Games - Keno - Sports - Tip Boards - Contests - Raffles - Sweepstakes - Roulette - Slot Machines - Dice - Parlays - Legal Matters

• The LIFE-LUCK HOROSCOPE also defines the following items:

Your Lucky: Years, Months, Days, Hours, Numbers, Colors, Metals, Stones, People (Their Signs And When They Were Born). How to Create Lucky Vibrations, How To Create A Lucky Attitude.

Question: "This is really a super product. Now what is the special condition under which it is offered here?"

Answer: "First, we would like to test our horoscope on the general public. In the past, we have found we get many letters on the success of our horoscope from people who use it. So, we know that we will get feedback from people who order their LIFE-LUCK HOROSCOPE."

"Second, we want to do more advance research on color and luck, therefore, we are willing to make the similar offer we did in our famous ASTROLOGY TODAY feature."

"We don't know what we will charge for this product when the LIFE-LUCK HOROSCOPE finally goes to market, however, I can tell you that an astrologer could charge up to $200.00 for this horoscope—if he knew how. But, those who order here through this special "TEST SUBJECT" offer and submit their birth information and their favorite color will only pay a $9.95 charge to make a duplicate copy of their horoscope plus 50c postage and handling."

"At this point, I would like to present this public message: IMPORTANT—PUBLIC BEWARE. The founder of The INTERNATIONAL Astrological Association is the originator of the famous research project ASTROLOGY TODAY. Again, under penalty of law, we could not print this if it were not true. There are presently many imitations of our horoscope and research projects. Some of these companies have names similar to The INTERNATIONAL Astrological Association. These same companies will probably try to imitate the LIFE-LUCK HOROSCOPE. It took I.A.A. a great deal of time and money to develop the LIFE-LUCK HOROSCOPE. We do not believe it can be matched in detail and quality by a hurriedly prepared imitation. To insure you are getting the true LIFE-LUCK HOROSCOPE, be sure the astrology organization is The INTERNATIONAL Astrological Association with the endorsement of certified Astrologer Cary Franks."

"We concluded the interview and Cary gave me the following information to pass on to those who wish to participate in this special project and receive their 31 page, special LIFE-LUCK HOROSCOPE prepared for them personally from their exact birth information."

1) Get a blank piece of paper. 2) At the top of the paper, print the words "LIFE-LUCK HOROSCOPE". 3) Print your name and address. 4) Print your date, time and place of birth (if you don't know the exact time, just put 12 noon). 5) Write down your favorite color. 6) Mail this along with $9.95 plus 50c for postage and handling, in cash, check or money order to: I.A.A.; Dept. L-222; 4626 CLEVELAND AVE. N.; CANTON, OHIO 44709.

Two persons from one household may order through this special "TEST SUBJECT" offer. Simply include $19.90 plus $1.00 postage and handling if two are ordered—BUT, THE LIMIT IS TWO (NO EXCEPTIONS, PLEASE). This product carries a full and unconditional money-back guarantee. If anyone has any questions on this project, feel free to phone The INTERNATIONAL Astrological Association at (216) 494-4282.

'Eric' Star Savage

Actor Recaptured Life

By BOB THOMAS LOS ANGELES (AP) — On NBC television tonight actor John Savage will play a young man struggling to hold onto his life. Last May Savage himself was in the same situation. Savage stars with Patricia Neal and Claude Akins at 8 o'clock on Channel 4 in "Eric," the first Hallmark Hall of Fame special of the 1975-76 season. It is based on the book by Doris Lund, who wrote of her son's four-year battle with leukemia and how he combatted his fate with humor and rebellion. After a rebellious and admittedly prolonged adolescence, John Savage earlier this year seemed on his way to a brilliant career. His performance in the television movie "Gibbsville," based on John O'Hara's Pennsylvania stories, won excellent reviews, and NBC kept him on hold for a possible series with the same characters.

EARLIER THIS year he filmed "Eric" in Seattle. A month later he borrowed a friend's motorcycle, tried a side skid that failed and was hurled against a telephone pole. "I was in a coma for a week," said the 25-year-old actor. "When

TV REVIEW

I first gained consciousness, I had no speech. Then it slowly came back to me, as if I were living my life over again. At first I was a 5-year-old. When I talked to my daughter and my son, who are 6 and 5, they were 'older' than I was. "Was I frightened? Not at all. It was the most joyful period of my life."

HIS MEMORY returned slowly. The director of "Eric," James Goldstone, visited the hospital and played the theme music that Savage had written and performed for the movie. He didn't recognize his own voice or remember that he had composed the song. As his recovery continued, Savage reacted in character: he rebelled.

"The doctors and nurses kept humoring me when I said, 'I'm leaving tomorrow,'" he remarked. "But I did. I went out on my own accord. I'm still recovering. There was no brain damage, but I still have trouble putting words together."

NOT NOTICEABLY. The words pour out in mind-boggling volume, each response to a question bringing reflections on his own condition, as well as that of the nation and the world. In both appearance and conversation he resembles James Dean, who died in a highway crash when John Savage was 5.

"As a matter of fact, I've been asked to play Dean in a television movie about his life," the actor said. "I don't think it's such a good idea." John Savage's life seems to have followed the pattern of the rebels he has portrayed. "I was something of a disappointment to my parents," he admits. "I had a high I.Q. but I never did anything productive with it. There was not much my parents could do but give me love, and they did that very well."

HE SAID THAT he ran away from his Long Island home at 14 to live on a Vermont farm, later returned home but was drawn to New York City where he earned a precarious living by singing in night clubs — illegally. At 17 he won a full scholarship to the American Academy of Dramatic Arts — "a nice shot at a free ride." He stayed a couple of years, started working in children's and street theater.

His first movie was "Bad Company," a neglected western that has attracted a cult following. More jobs followed, and he says, "I've made more money in the past two years than I did in all the previous years."

WORKING WITH Patricia Neal was a rare experience, also a scary one. After all, she is an Oscar winner and an almost legendary figure in her conquest of tragedy.

"But fear is an important thing to carry around with you," Savage observed. "It can work for you as an actor. But all my fears were quickly erased when we started working. There is such a joy coming out of this woman. It is contagious."

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Paramount Pictures has acquired releasing rights to the new film "The Man Who Fell to Earth," starring British rock star David Bowie. Nicolas Roeg directed the film, described as "a mysterious American love story." Other cast members include Rip Torn, Buck Henry and Candy Clark.

Vietnam Film For Coppola

From Wire Services

Francis Ford Coppola, five-time Academy Award winner for two "Godfather" movies, said he has bet $12 million dollars of his own that he can overcome the American distaste for seeing a film about the Vietnamese War.

But he said he wasn't sure how he was going to go about it, except that he was going to face the movie with violence.

Producer-director Coppola, whose two "Godfather" films recorded gross sales, arrived in Manila to scout Filipino locations for filming his Vietnamese War picture, "Apocalypse Now."

The superintendent of the Utah Highway Patrol was charged with drunken driving.

The charge, a misdemeanor, was filed against Col. Roy M. "Mack" Helm by Davis County Attorney J. Duffy Palmer after an investigation into a weekend traffic accident.

Helm, suspended from his job by Gov. Calvin L. Rampton, had rolled his private Cadillac sedan on Interstate 15 near Centerville. He received cuts, bruises, a broken hand and a shoulder injury.

Texas industrialist H. Ross Perot would be the beneficiary of "what may be the most gigantic tax break in industry" if an amendment to a major tax bill becomes law, the Wall Street Journal said.

The amendment offered by Rep. Phil Landrum (D-Ga.), to the House Ways and Means Committee, would provide a special three-year carryback of capital losses in excess of $30,000 providing huge tax refunds for wealthy persons who had heavy losses in the stock market. For example, in 1974 or 1975. At present, such losses are only permitted to be carried forward.

The Journal said Perot, "who lately has suffered some huge business reversals," could regain as much as $15 million.

Defensive tackle Ben Williams was elected Colonel Rebel at the University of Mississippi, the first black to win the campus popularity title.

Williams is a business administration major.

A Sacramento woman, whose husband committed suicide after gambling losses, can't sue South Lake Tahoe casinos for wrongful death, a state appellate court ruled.

Justice George E. Paras of the 3rd District Court of Appeal said that it "makes just as much sense to argue that the clubs had a duty to not let him kill himself."

Phyllis A. Duff and her son sought damages from Harrah's South Shore Corp. and other casinos after the death of Robert Duff on Dec. 3, 1972.

Rep. Wilbur Mills, whose political career was almost wrecked by a well-publicized bout with alcoholism, says an alcoholism institute in Florida saved his life.

"I'd be dead by now if it wasn't for this institute," Mills said at a fund-raising event for the Palm Beach Institute.

Mills and his wife, Polly, flew to the South Florida city to help publicize the institute's plans for a research and educational foundation.

The daughter of Mayor Clarence Lightner of Raleigh, N.C. has been fined $100 and given a six-month suspended sentence in Wake County District Court after pleading guilty to a charge of credit card fraud.

Debra J. Lightner, 23, and Pamela Thomas, a friend, received duplicate sentences from Judge Fretlow Winborne. They were put on probation for two years.

Miss Lightner was the third member of the mayor's family to face criminal charges in the past year. Lightner was defeated in a bid for re-election.

A longtime patron of the Pasadena Art Museum sued to be relieved of future financial commitments to the facility now that its name has been changed to the Norton Simon Museum.

The Harry G. Steele Foundation filed a breach-of-contract action.

The foundation noted that it withheld one $100,000 payment due recently from a total of $250,000 remaining to be paid on a bank loan previously guaranteed to the museum.

Actress Hildegarde Knoff will seek a divorce from husband David Cameron, the actress's lawyer said in Berlin.

Cameron, a British author and film director, lost a suit to gain custody of their 7-year-old daughter, Tinta. Cameron alleged in court and in newspaper interviews that his 49-year-old wife has become a drug addict.

"I have never experienced this kind of infamy, and my husband knows exactly how this has influenced my state of health," the actress said through her lawyer.

Hugh Scott, the Senate minority leader rumored to be a candidate to replace George Bush as head of the U.S. mission to China, hints he may run for re-election next year.

In his "Republican Leaders Bulletin" mailed to media contacts and important state Republicans, Scott named campaign personnel and said he would announce his decision on Dec. 4 in Pittsburgh.

Because of his 74 years and his defense of former President Nixon during Watergate, some pundits consider Scott to be vulnerable.

Frank Cruz, convicted of the lead pipe murders of his wife and her two grandchildren, was declared sane by a Lassen County Superior Court jury.

Cruz, 45, pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity, but the five-man, seven-woman jury last week found him guilty of the slayings.

Cruz was accused of murdering his 75-year-old wife, Blanche, and his two stepgrandchildren, Ray Gonzales, 10, and Janice Reeves, 14, last June at the Cruz residence at Doyle in rural Lassen County.

Resort Goes on Block Bobby Baker's Hotel Project Hits Skids

OCEAN CITY, Md. (AP) — The biggest foreclosure to date in this resort community has been filed against the Carousel Center, a high rise hotel-condominium complex begun as a motel by Robert G. "Bobby" Baker.

The Newport Beach-based Alison Mortgage Investment Trust alleged a total indebtedness of $16 million in foreclosure papers filed at the Worcester County court house last week. The foreclosure sale is set for Dec. 2.

FOR SALE IS the four-story, 76-unit motel built by Baker in 1962, an attached 21-story masonry and glass high rise containing 153 hotel rooms and 189 residential units.

The residential units are described by the lawyer handling foreclosure as 90 percent complete. Since no occupancy permits have been obtained, no sales have reached settlement.

The grand opening of the original motel attracted such guests as Lyndon B. Johnson, then vice president and Baker's patron as secretary of the Democratic majority in the U.S. Senate. It was also the first national publicity for Ocean City.

LIGHTER SIDE

Skimming a Poll Whisky vs. Guns Arguments

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A national survey revealed that more Americans own firearms than smoke cigarettes or drink whisky.

The poll did not indicate how firearms stack up with . . . well, maybe I had not get into that. Sufficient for the nonce merely to ponder why smoking guns have become more prevalent than smoking tobacco.

I PUT THAT question to several psychologists, one of whom, Dr. Banebridge Flickelnu, told me that neatness had a lot to do with it.

"The plain fact is that gun butts are less messy than cigarette butts, Flickelnu said. "After a party, you don't have to clean up gun butts the way you have to clean up ashtrays."

"This is one big reason why many people have switched from smoking cigarettes to smoking guns."

Another psychologist, Prof. Max M. Twitt, said the smoking gun habit was in large measure a drive for manual gratification.

ALL OF US, HE explained, are born with a twiddling instinct. As infants, we fulfill this need by fiddling with baby rattles. Later, some of us actually take fiddle lessons. But most of us, as we grow older, have insufficient opportunities for twiddling.

"Twitt pointed out that twirling a gun, spinning the cylinder and otherwise brandishing it about help satisfy the desire for manual manipulation.

"With most gunmen, it isn't so much a craving to shoot something or somebody as it is a need to have something to do with their hands," he said.

HOWEVER, A THIRD psychologist with whom I discussed the matter, Dr. Emanuel Burnbridge, said he thought the smoking gun habit was primarily a nervous reflex.

"In situations of social stress, like maybe a blind date, many people feel ill at ease and have trouble making conversation. Pulling a gun out of your purse or shoulder holster helps break the ice."

"It immediately opens up avenues for chitchat. Does your companion carry a gun? What caliber does he or she prefer? And so on."

"Smoking guns also may give you a feeling of self-assurance — suave and sophisticated with a touch of savoir-faire and a sense of being 'with it'."

HOW DOES ONE go about breaking the smoking gun habit? The three psychologists agreed it was necessary to find some type of substitute.

"If we could chew gum with our hands, that would be ideal," Twitt said. "But since we can't, we must find other manual pacifiers, such as pulling taffy or juggling oranges."

And Flickelnu recommended tapering off. First, load your gun with blanks. Then, in the second phase, trade it for a cap pistol.

Evangelist Armstrong Faces Suit

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A $5 million lawsuit has been brought against evangelist Garner Ted Armstrong, whose lawyer has asked that the case be heard in U.S. District Court here.

Attorney H. Francis Stewart, Nashville, filed a petition asking that a federal judge preside at the hearing of the suit brought by William B. Hinson, Hendersonville, Tenn.

The suit was originally filed in state court, but Stewart is asking for the change because Armstrong's residence is in Pasadena, Calif.

The complaint Hinson filed contains only one paragraph, alleging Hinson had been wronged because Armstrong "made certain statements and by means of such statements extorted funds and other things of value from the plaintiff."

'2 Bosses' Role Nixed

Capitol News Service SACRAMENTO — Citing Biblical injunctions and case law, Attorney General Evelle J. Younger ruled that a director of a county-run mental health agency could not also be on the payroll of a supplier of services to that agency.

"No man can serve two masters," (Matthew 6:24) said Younger in an opinion given at the request of Calvin E. Baldwin, Tulare County counsel, and L.J. Dewald, Placer County counsel.

Noting that there was no indication of fraud or dishonesty on the part of the director in his dual function, the opinion stated that conflict of interests laws had arisen "to prevent honest government agents from succumbing to temptation by making it illegal to enter into relationships which are fraught with temptation."

NEW YORK (AP) — Susan Brownmiller calls herself the world's leading authority on rape.

"It's the most immodest statement I've ever made in my life but it's true," said Ms. Brownmiller, who as a leader in feminist movement prefers that designation. "There never were any authorities on rape before. It remained for the woman's movement to lead us to explain our own terrorization and oppression through rape."

MS. BROWN MILLER'S BOOK, "Against Our Will — Men, Women and Rape," is a prodigious analysis of the history and meaning of rape. It has been hailed by some as the most important feminist treatise since "Sexual Politics" and "The Female Eunuch." It is an important book about the relationships between men and women, most critics who have reviewed it agree.

In a relentless, often chilling, presentation of case histories, statistics, legal interpretations throughout the ages, Ms. Brownmiller argues her case that rape is "nothing more or less than a conscious process of intimidation by which all men keep all women in a state of fear."

She examines interracial rape, homosexual rape in prisons, psychology and rape, war and rape and much more.

"I WANTED TO DESTROY ALL the myths about rape — that women ask for it, that the only rapists are sexual psychopaths, that no woman can be raped against her will. I wanted to make a contribution to the world's thinking," said Ms. Brownmiller. "Everything I am and everything I ever wanted to be are in that book."

Ms. Brownmiller, whose background includes journalism and two years as a civil rights worker in Mississippi, was a pioneer activist in the woman's movement. Her reputation as the militant heavy is strong.

TV interviewer Barbara Walters recently told Ms. Brownmiller she took special pains to wear an ultra-feminine dress to balance the author's expected appearance in something akin to combat gear.

MS. BROWN MILLER ORGANIZED THE New York Radical Feminist "speak-out" on rape in 1971. She says she began to see unexplored ramifications of rape while listening to personal testimonies from women at that conference. The book took more than four years of research and writing.

"There were moments when I thought I would never finish. I was asking all those questions that had never been asked before," said the 40-year-old Ms. Brownmiller.

The only break she allowed herself in months of library research was to enroll in a self-defense course in which she broke her collarbone, halting work for a month. To finance the project, which took three years longer than anticipated, Ms. Brownmiller was obliged to apply for grants.

SHE SAYS SHE IS ESPECIALLY grateful to the friends who encouraged her to forget about deadlines. She says she's also grateful to the man she was living with at the time.

"He gave me great emotional support and kept reminding me that, indeed, not all men were rapists," laughed Ms. Brownmiller.

She is offended when people ask if she herself had been raped.

"I simply would not have had the emotional stamina to do the book," said Ms. Brownmiller.

But she said that only a feminist could have rediscovered and redefined rape.

"One has to start with the experience of the raped woman and accept it at face value," she said.

HER ADVICE TO WOMEN regarding rape is "know your own rights. Be a strong woman. Don't be afraid."

She wishes more women would go to law school to help change rape codes and join the police force to help victims.

"If she were ever in a rape situation herself, she says, "I would fight to the death. I would never submit. I'd go down fighting. There's no assurance that the rapist isn't going to kill you after you submit anyway. Look at the Richard Speck murders."

But Ms. Brownmiller says rape is a crime that can be eliminated.

"I BELIEVE THAT HUMAN nature can change, that new ideas can help change people," she said. "Once it was said that slavery and lynching would never be abolished. They were. But we need the help of men. Men must cease to support the rapists among them."

Heads Institute Actor Charlton Heston has been re-elected chairman of the board of trustees of the American Film Institute, the institute has announced.

Father 'Serves' As Fine

TOPSFIELD, Mass. (UPI) — The father of a 16-year-old accused shoplifter is serving a 30-day sentence — of dinners at home.

Salem District Judge Samuel E. Zoll, 41, imposed the sentence on the advice of probation officers.

ZOLL ORDERED THE father of the Masconomet Regional High School student to be home between 5 and 7 every night. Their names were not released because a juvenile was involved.

"We feel that the medicine the doctor ordered was for the family to spend some time together, preferably at the dinner hour," said Robert Wright, a probate officer.

"WE FELT THE father should be at home. If he's at home at a certain hour everybody knows where he is. We aimed for him to be at home for a meal where he could sit down and talk with his family."

"If the father wants to go out later, okay. But they should all find out what has happened during the day. The father will know where the kids were. The kids will know where the father was. Everyone will give in a bit."

WRIGHT SAID THE main enforcement mechanism will be trust, but noted "in a small community, they are highly visible." Topsfield, 25 miles north of Boston, is a residential community of 5,000.

Zoll has a reputation for innovative sentences which bypass traditional punishment.

Game Book Hits Drugs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government is distributing a children's game book designed to help 4-to-6-year-olds from later becoming drug addicts.

But there isn't any information about drugs in the bilingual "Super-Me, Super You" activity book distributed by the National Institute on Drug Abuse. It is the first in a series of new children's books written to help prevent drug abuse.

INSTEAD, IT aims at helping young children feel good about themselves, make sound decisions and express their feelings.

"Pre-schoolers and early graders don't need to know the pharmacology of drugs," said NIDA Director Dr. Robert Dupont.

"BUT THEY DO need to know the value of self-esteem. The proof is quite simple. There are many addicts who know everything there is to know about drugs, but there are few addicts who shoot heroin or smoke marijuana every day who really feel good about themselves."

The colorful English-Spanish book was prepared under a federal grant. It is available, with a guide for parents,

RIGGS . . .

"He's the cagiest man I've ever met. He's in great shape. We were supposed to run this thing a month ago, but he fell down in a tennis match and had 21 stitches in a knee. Well, in the time since then, he's dropped 20 pounds."

"HE'S SORT OF HONED down to what looks like a skinny marathon runner. He's really crafty. . . ."

Emmertson praised the hustling Riggs, however.

"He's really a great athlete. I saw him today after he played four hours of golf and three hours of tennis. You've got to be in great shape to do that."

"But running Death Valley is a lot different. First of all, it's 200 feet below sea level and there's a hot of sulphur in the air. And it will be hot." Riggs said he's in training.

"YOU TELL BOBBY I'VE increased my mileage to 30 miles a day," said Emmertson.

Even without any advance promotion — meaning there's no money in the pot yet — Riggs is always thinking gimmick.

"Maybe I can get Evel Knievel to drive alongside me and feed me as I run," he said.

DENIES DEATH WISH Judge Robert Muir

Judge Denies Death Plea

MORRISTOWN, N.J. (UPI) — A New Jersey judge today denied the request of the parents of Karen Ann Quinlan to disconnect the respirator which has kept their comatose daughter alive for more than six months.

In a carefully worded, 50-page decision with wide implications for the treatment of the terminally ill, Superior Court Judge Robert Muir Jr., said, "It is ordered that the requested authorization to terminate the respirator supporting Karen Quinlan's cardio-respiratory functions be denied with prejudice and without costs to any party."

Had he granted the parents' request, it would have been the first time in history that a United States court authorized the death of a person not convicted of a crime.

Contrary to the parents' argument that they were legally and morally authorized to disconnect the machine, Muir said, "I have ruled it is a medical decision whether or not Karen should be removed from the respirator. Just as that decision is a medical one, the continued care and treatment of Karen is a medical one."

The judge ordered Daniel Coburn, Miss Quinlan's court-appointed guardian, to continue in that capacity.

Muir sympathized with the torment of the 21-year-old Miss Quinlan's parents, who visit their daughter daily at St. Clare's Hospital in Denville, N.J., where she lies in a grotesque fetal position weighing only 60 pounds.

But, the judge said, "that anguish would be continued and magnified by the inner conflicts Mr. Quinlan would have if he were required to concur in the day-by-day decisions on the future care and treatment of his daughter. I therefore find it more appropriate and in Karen's interests if another is appointed."

During the five-day trial, Paul W. Armstrong, the lawyer for the Quinlans, said Karen existed in a "vegetative state with no hope for recovery."

Muir said, however, "none of the doctors testified there was no hope. The hope for recovery is remote, but no doctor talks in the absolute. There is a duty to continue the life assisting apparatus if, within the treating physician's opinion, it should be done."

The Catholic Church, in a pastoral letter read at Mass Sunday in parishes throughout the diocese of Paterson, said the parents' decision to seek removal of the respirator is

"morally correct."

Bishop Lawrence B. Casey urged church members to read the nine-page position paper which he drafted and released as the church's official stand in the case. The bishop also asked the church-goers to pray for the Quinlans and others connected with the case.

He said doctors are not required to use extraordinary mechanical means to prevent a patient from dying a natural death "when it is inevitable and all hope of a return to an even partial exercise of human life is irreparably lost."

Judge Muir, 43, a trim, balding six-footer who is an ordained elder in the Presbyterian Church, spent 14 days preparing his decision.

'LIFE' TO CONTINUE Karen Quinlan

Trial Delay Granted to Hinshaw

Senior Carrie Lund reigned as San Clemente High School's 1975 homecoming queen. She was crowned Friday night during halftime of football game between Tritons and Laguna Beach Artists. San Clemente won to remain undefeated.

Squeaky Dragged In, Out

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Lynette Fromme, who had to be carried into the courthouse by a U.S. marshal, was banished again from the court today after refusing to promise not to disrupt her trial on the charge she attempted to kill President Ford.

Miss Fromme, who had a red cloth over her eyes, was carried from a van that had brought her from the jail. She vowed Friday that she would not return to the courthouse unless officers carried her.

She had to be carried bodily but did not resist, said U.S. Marshal Arthur Van Court. He said she had a red bandana over her eyes when officers came to her jail cell.

Miss Fromme was ejected from the court twice Friday when she demanded that convicted mass murderer Charles Manson be allowed to testify for her. She was an early member of the so-called Manson family cult.

After her arrival today, Miss Fromme rejected an offer by U.S. District Court Judge Thomas MacBride to allow her to return to court on a promise of avoiding the disruptions.

"This is a matter of principle," she told MacBride, with the jury absent.

MacBride asked her whether she would remain quiet and express any objections through John Virga, whom he named to be her attorney when he withdrew Miss Fromme's right to represent herself on Friday.

"No, I'm the only one who could put on my defense," said Miss Fromme, who also has balked at watching the proceedings on television from a courthouse cell.

John Robinson Named Trojan Head Coach?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — John Robinson, who coached the offensive backfield and quarterbacks at USC from 1972-74, was expected to be named head coach at USC today to succeed John McKay.

Robinson, 38, is the offensive backfield coach of the Oakland Raiders.

Both the San Francisco Examiner and the Long Beach Independent-Press Telegram stated flatly that Robinson would lead the Trojans in 1976.

McKay announced two weeks ago that he was quitting after 15 years to become head coach of the new Tampa, Fla., club in the National Football League.

Robinson, like McKay, played his collegiate football at the University of Oregon. Robinson played on the Ducks' 1957 Rose Bowl team.

A native of Daly City, Calif., he was a three-sport star at Serra High School in San Mateo, Calif.

While Robinson was at USC as an assistant, the Trojans posted a 31-3-2 record and two Rose Bowl victories in three appearances.

Before joining the USC staff, Robinson spent 12 years as an assistant coach at Oregon.

FLANKED BY ATTORNEYS, REP. HINSHAW HAS A FEW WORDS FOR NEWSMEN Congressman Predicts He'll be Acquitted and Says He'll Run Again

Veterans Day Rerun Slated For Tuesday

Orange County Courts, state offices, most public schools and five city halls will be closed Tuesday in observance of the second Veterans Day holiday in less than a month.

Federal and county offices marked the observance on October 27 and will be open Tuesday as will banks and most stores.

Tuesday's "traditional holiday" dates back to the signing of the armistice at the end of World War I in 1918.

Costa Mesa will be the only Orange Coast city to close its municipal offices Tuesday.

Schools in the Coast Community College District and the Capistrano Unified School District are the only ones that will be open, having observed the Oct 27 date.

Fire Damage Set

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Fire officials estimated damage to a Hawaiian Gardens laundromat at $55,000 after a Sunday morning blaze.

Lagunan Victim Marine in Custody After Kidnap, Rape

A 22-year-old Camp Pendleton Marine is in military custody today following the gunpoint kidnaping, rape and robbery of a Laguna Beach woman.

The young woman's ordeal began as she was hitchhiking south along Coast Highway Friday night. The 22-year-old woman was picked up in downtown Laguna.

Police Det. Gene Brooks said the woman became nervous after she and the man had driven several blocks and she asked to be let out. The driver refused and pulled out a pistol. He demanded all her money and she gave him $5.

Brooks said the couple drove into Camp Pendleton where the woman was raped. She was then brought back to Laguna and dropped off near her home.

As the man sped away, the woman got the license number of his car. She called police who in turn called military authorities.

Det. Brooks said the man faces

Laguna Beach charges of armed robbery and kidnaping and military charges of rape of possibly kidnaping.

The identity of the suspect is being withheld pending further investigation.

Laguna Seeks Resident Aid Over Parking

Got a complaint or a bright idea about Laguna Beach parking? The City Parking, Transportation and Circulation Committee wants to know about it.

Committee Chairman Mark Gumbiner has announced a program to solicit the views of members of the community concerning Laguna's auto-related problems.

Gumbiner said that the committee so far has had extensive input from city officials, civic and neighborhood associations and has taken actions based on the groups' desires.

These include rerouting and rescheduling of trams, installation of stop signs at various locations, making Forest Avenue one way, elimination of some left turning on Coast Highway, and attempts to expand parking downtown.

"We wish to open direct communication with individual members of the community for two reasons:

"First, this community is loaded with talent, a resource we feel should be put to use...second, we are ourselves a community resource set up to try and solve problems for those organizations and individuals who know to ask for our help," Gumbiner said.

Screams Rout Rape Suspect In Laguna

Screams from a 55-year-old Laguna Beach woman Sunday caused an armed intruder to flee her home. Police believe the suspect may be the same man who raped a 19-year-old Lagunan earlier.

The older woman was unhurt in the 5 a.m. incident despite warnings from the gunman not to scream. She screamed anyway until he fled.

Friday morning at about the same hour, an armed man forced entry into the apartment of a 19-year-old woman and raped her.

"Right now all we have on the second case is burglary and assault with a deadly weapon. But, what was his motive? I can only suspect it was to rob and rape," Det. Gene Brooks said.

Police Hunch Not Far Off

Cruising north on Pacific Coast Highway at 2:30 a.m. Sunday, a Laguna Beach policeman spotted a city lifeguard department jeep rolling south.

The officer thought it odd that a lifeguard would be out at such an early hour but recalled that the guards are on 24-hour emergency call.

Shortly after 9 a.m. Sunday, Lifeguard Mike Dwinell called the police department and reported the yellow jeep, outfitted with red lights and siren, had been stolen sometime during the night from in front of his house on Wave Street.

The jeep hasn't been seen since.

No Star Role Nixon Doesn't Want TV Job

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — Former President Nixon has denied reports that he plans to become a radio or television commentator, according to the news director of a radio station.

"Television and radio commentaries would not be the best use of my time," Nixon said in a letter to Paul Stanford of WNEB.

Stanford, who described himself as a friend and supporter of the former president, said today that Nixon's immediate projects included the writing of memoirs and four television documentary shows in 1977.

"I do intend of course to continue in the way I feel will be most effective to work for the cause of world peace which was the major goal of my administration, and an area in which I believe we made significant progress..." Nixon wrote.

Defense Motion Accepted

By TOM BARLEY Of the Daily Pilot Staff Congressman Andrew Hinshaw and his two lawyers got the trial delay they wanted today in Orange County Superior Court after being told on their first appearance this morning that no such continuance would be permitted.

Judge Robert P. Kneeland delayed courtroom action until Nov. 17 after defense attorney Marshall Morgan explained that he is involved in a Los Angeles County trial and can not be free for courtroom action here until Nov. 24.

But it seemed at one point of a contested motion before acting presiding Judge Bruce Sumner that Hinshaw might have to face trial with only one of the two lawyers defending him on bribery charges.

After reminding tardy defense attorney Marshall Morgan that "the trial calendar is always called at 8:30 a.m. in Orange County," Judge Sumner testily sent the trio to Judge Robert P. Kneeland's courtroom for trial.

Morgan and co-counsel Robert Green, obviously taken aback, renewed their protests that Morgan is involved in a trial in Santa Monica and may not be available for courtroom action here.

But Judge Sumner, deputizing for presiding Judge Robert A. Banyard, remained adamant in his decision. He commented that a motion for continuance identical to the one he ruled on today was denied earlier by Judge Kenneth Williams.

Morgan and Green had hoped for a delay of the trial to Nov. 24. Hinshaw faces jury trial on three felony counts of bribery.

Hinshaw appeared to recover his composure during the trek between courtrooms. He predicted he would be acquitted of the allegations and subsequently re-elected to his 40th Congressional District seat.

The Newport Beach Republican said his office had re-

Gardens Eyed in Clemente

Wholesome vegetables instead of little boys' cardboard and wood forts should be springing up in San Clemente's vacant lots in the view of Councilman Charles Fox.

FOX HAS proposed that the city encourage owners of vacant land to rent the parcels to people who would want to plant their own vegetable gardens.

"It's being done in many other cities," Fox noted during a recent discussion of the issue with fellow councilmen.

Fox's suggestion germinated during consideration of 23 proposals to make San Clemente a more beautiful city. The proposals were made by Joe Coss, a parks and recreation commission member.

COUNCILMAN Art Holmes said he was particularly in favor of suggestions calling for a city tree farm, hiking and bicycle trails in canyon areas and construction of a boardwalk along the beach on each side of the municipal pier.

The council agreed that the city staff should study Coss's suggestions and Fox's proposal and report back in mid-December.

Planners Eye Laguna Traffic Need

Traffic circulation when population along the southern Orange Coast reached an estimated 700,000 to 1.2 million people will be discussed Tuesday in public hearing before the Laguna Beach Planning Commission.

The planners will convene at 7:30 p.m. in the council chambers at Laguna city hall to mull road patterns suggested in the Southeast Orange County Circulation Study, a county government proposal for new major roads within urban and undeveloped areas.

Several of the provisions may be controversial in Laguna Beach.

These include the extension of Alta Laguna Boulevard from Top of the World northerly to El Toro Road and southerly to Arch Beach Heights.

The extension of Alta Laguna Boulevard has battled around city hall for several years with the latest action being the city's deletion of the roadway from its map of proposed streets and a refusal to fund any extension.

In doing so, the city has maintained that putting the road through would open landlocked areas for new development which would overload all roads in the area.

Another recommendation of the circulation report calls for construction of San Joaquin Hills Road as a major thoroughfare from Irvine to the Mission Viejo area.

Short term recommendations of the report call for improvements to be made to Coast Highway to speed flow of traffic.

Other Planning Commission business includes: —Review of the Justice, Rehabilitation and Police services section of the Human Needs Element of the general plan.

—A request to operate a cat clinic at 1510 North Coast Highway.

Municipal court arraignment of the four suspects is scheduled today.

This morning's ceremony was marked by a traditional cake-cutting, with the first two pieces going to the youngest and oldest Marines stationed at the base, a review of Marine Corps campaigns and events and a parade featuring Marines in authentic uniforms of past eras.

The Marine Corps was founded Nov. 10, 1775, by a resolution of the Continental Congress. Anniversary balls were held over the weekend at Camp Pendleton.

Shorecliffs Fire Blamed on Wiring

Faulty wiring was tentatively blamed today for a Friday night fire that caused $40,000 damage to a San Clemente Shorecliffs home and left two people injured.

The blaze broke out about 10 p.m. in the bedroom of the home of William Roberts, 740 Camino de Los Mares, and quickly engulfed the entire room, firemen said.

Roberts, who was asleep in bed, was awakened by the flames. He suffered minor burns to his face, arms and legs before fleeing the room through a sliding glass door. He was hospitalized overnight at San Clemente General Hospital.

Injured while battling the blaze was Richard Puzin, a reserve fireman. He suffered a sprained ankle.

Fire Marshal Don Hodgson said today there was $15,000 damage to the structure of the house and an additional $20,000 to

Niguel Group Eyes Viejo's MAC Tonight

A delegation of six Laguna Niguel homeowners will visit the Mission Viejo Municipal Advisory Council (MAC) tonight to see if they like it enough to start a similar council in their own community.

The delegation will be briefed on the council's activities at the beginning of the 7:30 p.m. session at 26129 La Paz Road by Chairman Richard Lowcock.

Frank Mead, president of the Laguna Niguel Homeowners and Community Association, said his organization has been studying the possibility of establishing a MAC in Laguna Niguel for "some time."

"The idea is to go to Mission Viejo and ask the questions, 'What is it, what will it do, and would it benefit us?'" Mead explained.

He said his group, composed of about 20 smaller Laguna Niguel homeowners associations, recently had appointed a committee to study the possibility of forming a MAC.

A municipal advisory council has no decision-making power but makes recommendations to the county Board of Supervisors on local issues.

The only MAC currently operating is the one in Mission Viejo. A petition drive currently is under way to establish a MAC in El Toro.

Yeo Successor

Thorpe to Get Planner Post

By GARY GRANVILLE Of the Daily Pilot Staff

County Supervisor Thomas Riley was expected to announce today that former San Juan Capistrano Mayor James Thorpe, 41, will replace Ron Yeo as Riley's appointee to the Orange County Planning Commission.

Thorpe, a Democrat who once ran for the Fifth District Supervisorial seat now held by Riley, is an advocate of planned growth and development with strong environmental concerns.

Yeo, a 41-year-old Corona del Mar architect, resigned from the commission last week and, in the process, fired a critical parting shot in county government's direction.

In his resignation letter, Yeo chastised county government for what he said is its:

— Slow response to citizen needs.

— Failure to commit resources needed to properly plan communities.

— Giving lobbyists too much of a say in the decision making process.

Simultaneously, Yeo praised Riley and said he hopes the supervisor's "philosophy and goals for the Fifth District and county will continue to be carried out."

Last week's resignation was Yeo's second from the commission.

After serving 13 months as the late supervisor Ronald Caspers' appointee, Yeo resigned in June 1973, at Caspers' request.

After his successor, the late Bart Spendlove quit the planning commission last December, Yeo became the newly appointed supervisor Riley's surprise first appointment to the five-member panel.

Thorpe, a math instructor at Saddleback College, has been a San Juan Capistrano resident since 1968.

A Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Miami University (Ohio) who later earned master degrees at both Miami and Harvard, he was elected to the city council in 1970. Thorpe has been absent from the county political scene since his 1974 candidacy for Fifth District Supervisor fell short of its mark when Caspers was re-elected in the June primary.

Two years earlier, he was the unsuccessful Democratic candidate for the Assembly seat held by Republican Robert Badham.

It was after the 1974 supervisorial race that Thorpe joined dissident Democrats led by Newport Beach attorney John Black in an unsuccessful move to oust Richard J. O'Neill as chairman of the county Democratic Central Committee.

Grading High On Clemente Council List

Further discussion of the new hillside grading ordinance, a request for a view park and a revised ordinance regulating skateboarding will be considered at a meeting of the San Clemente City Council Tuesday.

The meeting gets under way at 7:30 p.m.

The council will consider a request from Larry Welton, a San Clemente resident, for restoration of strict wording in a section of the new hillside grading ordinance dealing with planning commission review of grading proposals.

Under threat of a lawsuit from a major landowner, the council dropped the strict wording and replaced it with softer language that will allow the planning commission more flexibility in handling grading proposals.

Councilmen who supported the wording change said it will make the ordinance more workable.

Welton and opponents of the change claim it has destroyed the intent of the ordinance, which was designed to outlaw terraced grading and protect natural hillsides.

The council also will take up a request from residents in the vicinity of Buena Vista and Avenida Poniente for construction of a view park and beach access.

Year's High-Lows Appear Every Saturday

Dollar-saving Tactics Cited

By SYLVIA PORTER (Last in Series)

If you are among the millions of American children helping to support your parents, it is more imperative than ever that you find out before 1975 ends how much income has been received by your parents outside of your support.

Be precise in your count; don't delay your inquiries; your dependency deduction of $750 plus the new 1975 $30 tax credit for each dependent is at stake in this calculation.

Reason: Social Security recipients got three breaks in 1975: an 8 percent boost in benefits since July, a one-time-only $50 payment, and the option of having benefit checks deposited directly in their banks.

THESE DEVELOPMENTS — favorable to your parents — could cost you delay, because your parent is your dependent only if (1) he or she has a "gross income" of less than $750 a year; and (2) you provide more than half your parent's support.

Social Security doesn't count as part of your parent's gross income, but it can count as support — and thus, the SS benefit increases could make a big difference.

What's more, you're less likely to notice the benefit hikes because your parent's recent benefit checks may have been deposited directly in his or her bank.

Your parent also may have income outside of Social Security that has increased this year — i.e., dividends or interest. Find out now how much this other income totals.

THE KEY ADVICE IS: get all these figures straight and, if need be, step up your contributions between now and yearend so that you nail down the $750 dependency deduction and $30 tax credit.

If you're in the market for a new house, you can still take advantage of the unique housing credit provided in the 1975 tax law by buying before yearend.

In summary, you get a dollar-for-dollar tax reduction equal to 5 percent of the purchase price of a principal residence, up to a maximum of $2,000. To be eligible, a house must have been completed or under construction before March 22, 1975. Also, the seller must certify that construction was begun before March 26 and that the purchase price is the lowest at which the home was offered after Feb. 28, 1975.

DO YOU ACTUALLY HAVE to close the sale by yearend? No, says Attorney-Hall. You must, though, enter into a binding contract to purchase the home before yearend.

No. You can move into the home anytime before the end of 1976. However, you can't claim the credit until you've met both the acquisition and the occupancy requirements. So if you don't occupy your new home until 1976, you're not eligible for the credit until 1976.

If you're holding a check at yearend and it's money that is yours for the asking, it's taxable in 1975, even though you haven't actually received the cash.

FOR INSTANCE, IF YOU receive a check in 1975 but don't cash it until 1976, it's income in 1975, even though you get the check after banking hours on the last business day of the year. Even if the check is mailed to you on the last business day of December and your check isn't credited to your account until January 1976, it's still income to you in 1975. The government's reasoning is you could have had the check given to you before yearend.

If a check is dishonored when you present it for payment, however, you have no taxable income until the check is made good.

If a check is postdated, say, to Jan. 3, 1976, you can treat it as income in 1976.

IF YOU'RE ON THE paying end and you mail or a hand over a check for a deductible item on the last minute of the last day of the year, it's deductible in 1975.

Keep in mind these fundamental guidelines on receiving and paying checks at yearend — if your tax strategy calls for either postponing income and deductions from 1975 until next year or speeding up income and deductions from next year into 1975.

GM Loses 5-year Fight Over Recall

DETROIT (UPI) — AFFECTED ARE three-quarter ton Chevrolet and GMC pickup trucks built between 1960 and 1965. GM said 161,000 were built but only about 140,000 still are in use and it may be difficult to find the owners.

GM claimed the wheel failures were due to owner abuse, mainly through overloading of the vehicles and the addition of camper bodies. The appeals court sent the case back to a district court and GM agreed to recall the trucks but said its action does not in any way admit that the wheels are defective.

A legal battle over repairing the vehicles began in 1970, when the government filed a lawsuit to force a recall.

THE DECISION to recall the vehicles follows a ruling in a U.S. Appeals Court in Washington in August that found that an auto safety defect can exist whenever there are a significant number of vehicle failures, regardless of the cause.

This compares with earnings from these operations of $72,000, or 4 cents, on sales of $3,664,000 for the three months ended Sept. 29, 1974.

Big Investment Vietnam Film For Coppola

Francis Ford Coppola, five-time Academy Award winner for two "Godfather" movies, said he has bet $12 million dollars of his own that he can overcome the American distaste for seeing a film about the Vietnamese War.

But he said he wasn't sure how he was going to go about it, except that he was going to lace the movie with violence.

Producer-director Coppola, whose two "Godfather" films recorded gross sales, arrived in Manila to scout Filipino locations for filming his Vietnamese War picture, "Apocalypse Now."

The superintendent of the Utah Highway Patrol was charged with drunken driving. The charge, a misdemeanor, was filed against Col. Roy M. "Mac" Helm by Davis County Attorney J. Duffy Palmer after an investigation into a weekend traffic accident.

Helm, suspended from his job by Gov. Calvin L. Rampton, had rolled his private Cadillac sedan on Interstate 15 near Centerville. He received cuts, bruises, a broken hand and a shoulder injury.

Texas industrialist H. Ross Perot would be the beneficiary of "what may be the most gigantic tax break in industry" if an amendment to a major tax bill becomes law, the Wall Street Journal said.

The amendment offered by Rep. Phil Landrum (D-Ga.), to the House Ways and Means Committee, would provide a special three-year carryback of capital losses in excess of $30,000 providing huge tax refunds for wealthy persons who had heavy losses in the stock market. For example, in 1974 or 1975. At present, such losses are only permitted to be carried forward.

The Journal said Perot, who lately has suffered some huge business reversals, could regain as much as $15 million.

The daughter of Mayor Clarence Lightner of Raleigh, N.C. has been fined $100 and given a six-month suspended sentence in Wake County District Court after pleading guilty to a charge of credit card fraud.

Debra J. Lightner, 23, and Pamela Thomas, a friend, received duplicate sentences from Judge Pretlow Winborne. They were put on probation for two years.

Miss Lightner was the third member of the mayor's family to face criminal charges in the past year. Lightner was defeated in a bid for re-election.

DENIES DEATH WISH Judge Robert Muir

Judge Denies Death Plea

MORRISTOWN, N.J. (UPI) — A New Jersey judge today denied the request of the parents of Karen Ann Quinlan to disconnect the respirator which has kept their comatose daughter alive for more than six months.

In a carefully worded, 50-page decision with wide implications for the treatment of the terminally ill, Superior Court Judge Robert Muir Jr., said, "It is ordered that the requested authorization to terminate the respirator supporting Karen Quinlan's cardio-respiratory functions be denied with prejudice and without costs to any party."

Had he granted the parents' request, it would have been the first time in history that a United States court authorized the death of a person not convicted of a crime.

Contrary to the parents' argument that they were legally and morally authorized to disconnect the machine, Muir said, "I have ruled it is a medical decision whether or not Karen should be removed from the respirator. Just as that decision is a medical one, the continued care and treatment of Karen is a medical one."

The judge ordered Daniel Coburn, Miss Quinlan's court-appointed guardian, to continue in that capacity.

Muir sympathized with the torment of the 21-year-old Miss Quinlan's parents, who visit their daughter daily at St. Clare's Hospital in Denville, N.J., where she lies in a grotesque fetal position weighing only 60 pounds.

But, the judge said, "that anguish would be continued and magnified by the inner conflicts Mr. Quinlan would have if he were required to concur in the day-by-day decisions on the future care and treatment of his daughter. I therefore find it more appropriate and in Karen's interests if another is appointed."

During the five-day trial, Paul W. Armstrong, the lawyer for the Quinlans, said Karen existed in a "vegetative state with no hope for recovery."

Muir said, however, "none of the doctors testified there was no hope. The hope for recovery is remote, but no doctor talks in the absolute. There is a duty to continue the life sustaining apparatus if, within the treating physician's opinion, it should be done."

The Catholic Church, in a pastoral letter read at Mass Sunday in parishes throughout the diocese of Paterson, said the parents' decision to seek removal of the respirator is

"morally correct."

Bishop Lawrence B. Casey urged church members to read the nine-page position paper which he drafted and released as the church's official stand in the case. The bishop also asked the church-goers to pray for the Quinlans and others connected with the case.

He said doctors are not required to use extraordinary mechanical means to prevent a patient from dying a natural death "when it is inevitable and all hope of a return to an even partial exercise of human life is irreparably lost."

Judge Muir, 43, a trim, balding six-footer who is an ordained elder in the Presbyterian Church, spent 14 days preparing his decision.

Squeaky Dragged In, Out

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Lynette Fromme, who had to be carried into the courthouse by a U.S. marshal, was banished again from the court today after refusing to promise not to disrupt her trial on the charge she attempted to kill President Ford.

Miss Fromme, who had a red cloth over her eyes, was carried from a van that had brought her from the jail. She vowed Friday that she would not return to the courthouse unless officers carried her.

She had to be carried bodily but did not resist, said U.S. Marshal Arthur Van Court. He said she had a red bandana over her eyes when officers came to her jail cell.

After Miss Fromme was ejected from the courtroom, the trial continued. A court spokesman said Miss Fromme again refused to watch the trial on a television set in a room adjacent to her courtroom cell.

Miss Fromme was ejected from the court twice Friday when she demanded that convicted mass murderer Charles Manson be allowed to testify for her. She was an early member of the so-called Manson family cult.

After her arrival today, Miss Fromme rejected an offer by U.S. District Court Judge Thomas MacBride to allow her to return to court on a promise of avoiding the disruptions.

"This is a matter of principle," she told MacBride, with the jury absent.

Miss Fromme, in less than a week, has tried twice to change her plea from innocent to no contest or guilty, and fired Virga as her co-counsel, only to have him reinstated.

John Robinson Named Trojan Head Coach

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The University of Southern California today named John Robinson, a pro football assistant, to succeed pro-bound John McKay as head Trojan football coach.

Robinson, 38, is the offensive backfield coach of the Oakland Raiders.

Both the San Francisco Examiner and the Long Beach Independent-Press Telegram stated flatly that Robinson would lead the Trojans in 1976.

McKay announced two weeks ago that he was quitting after 15 years to become head coach of the new Tampa, Fla., club in the National Football League.

Robinson, like McKay, played his collegiate football at the University of Oregon. Robinson played on the Ducks' 1957 Rose Bowl team.

A native of Daly City, Calif., he was a three-sport star at Serra High School in San Mateo, Calif.

While Robinson was at USC as an assistant, the Trojans posted a 31-3-2 record and two Rose Bowl victories in three appearances.

Before joining the USC staff, Robinson spent 12 years as an assistant coach at Oregon.

Viejo Man Injured In Cycling Crash

A Mission Viejo man was seriously injured Sunday when the speeding motorcycle he was driving collided with a pickup truck, a California Highway Patrol spokesman said today.

James R. Killebrew, 25, of 27173 Via Finera, is in "very serious but stable condition" at Saddleback Community Hospital with two broken arms and internal injuries.

The CHP spokesman said the mishap occurred shortly after 1 p.m. at the intersection of La Paz Road and Moulton Parkway.

Witnesses told officers the truck, driven by James Woytowick, 32, of 23621 Verona Place, Laguna Hills, was northbound on Moulton and had halted at the intersection stop sign. La Paz is a through street at that spot.

Officers were told the truck started through the intersection and was hit by the motorcycle, which was traveling at 80 to 85 miles an hour, according to a witness, the CHP spokesman said.

"We were told that if the cycle had been moving at normal speed, the truck would have had more than enough time to clear the intersection," the spokesman said. "On that basis, no criminal charges will be filed against the truck's driver."

The impact of the crash hurled Killebrew completely over the truck and he landed on the shoulder of the road on the other side, the CHP spokesman said.

The truck driver was uninjured but shaken by the accident, the spokesman added.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Coast Guard has suspended the search for a cadet at the California Maritime Academy lost overboard from a 37-foot sloop in the bay.

Strange Odor Evacuates Grade School

About 400 students were evacuated from Lomarena Elementary School in Laguna Hills for about 45 minutes this morning after an odor of "something scorching" permeated the building.

Although county firefighters agreed the odor of smoke was very evident in the building, they were unable to determine what caused it.

Brian Watson, a county fire prevention officer, said it was probably something in the lights or air conditioning. Although it was determined safe for the children to enter the school, an electrician and an air conditioning repairman were called in to check it out.

Four trucks and two rescue units responded to the call at the school which is now in its second year of operation.

During the fire drill children played games outside and didn't seem to pay any attention to the fire trucks. The school has a fire drill once a month.

Stereo Gear, TV Target of Thieves

Stereo equipment, a colored television set and cash with a total value of more than $3,000 was stolen during the weekend from an El Toro home, Orange County Sheriff's officers reported today.

Deputies said intruders forced open a sliding glass window to gain entry to the home of gift shop owner Robert Hull, 55, of 24921 Muirlands Blvd. They said the Hull family was out visiting relatives at the time of the break-in.

Defense Motion Accepted

By TOM BARLEY Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Congressman Andrew Hinshaw and his two lawyers got the trial delay they wanted today in Orange County Superior Court after being told on their first appearance this morning that no such continuance would be permitted.

Judge Robert P. Kneeland delayed courtroom action until Nov. 17 after defense attorney Marshall Morgan explained that he is involved in a Los Angeles County trial and can not be free for courtroom action here until Nov. 24.

But it seemed at one point of a contested motion before acting presiding Judge Bruce Sumner that Hinshaw might have to face trial with only one of the two lawyers defending him on bribery charges.

After reminding tardy defense attorney Marshall Morgan that "the trial calendar is always called at 8:30 a.m. in Orange County," Judge Sumner testily sent the trio to Judge Robert P. Kneeland's courtroom for trial.

Morgan and co-counsel Robert Green, obviously taken aback, renewed their protests that Morgan is involved in a trial in Santa Monica and may not be available for courtroom action here.

Jewelry and Cash Stolen in Viejo

Jewelry and cash with a total value of $450 was carried off during the weekend by burglars who entered a Mission Viejo home via the bedroom window, Orange County Sheriff's officers reported today.

Deputies said intruders entered the home of Gordon J. Lane, 66, of 23149 Los Alisos Blvd., while he was asleep and ransacked his living room.

Tax Petition Drive Started In Saddleback

The Saddleback Valley Chamber of Commerce has launched a petition drive aimed at giving individual taxpayers the same tax increase protection currently enjoyed by corporations.

Its aim is to place on the June ballot an initiative calling for a two-thirds vote for tax increases proposed by the state legislature.

The proposal stands in direct contradiction to another ballot measure calling for a reduction from two-thirds to a simple majority the legislative vote requirement to raise business taxes.

At the present time the state constitution requires a two-thirds vote before the legislature can change or levy taxes affecting banks, corporations and insurance companies.

The chamber of commerce-backed initiative would not only preserve status quo for business, but extend the same privilege to individual taxpayers.

A total of 800,000 signatures are required statewide by Saturday to place the issue on the ballot.

Petitions are available at all banks and savings and loan offices in El Toro, Laguna Hills, and Mission Viejo.

No Star Role Nixon Doesn't Want TV Job

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — Former President Nixon has denied reports that he plans to become a radio or television commentator, according to the news director of a radio station.

"Television and radio commentaries would not be the best use of my time," Nixon said in a letter to Paul Stanford of WNEB.

Stanford, who described himself as a friend and supporter of the former president, said today that Nixon's immediate projects included the writing of memoirs and four television documentary shows in 1977.

"I do intend of course to continue in the way I feel will be most effective to work for the cause of world peace which was the major goal of my administration, and an area in which I believe we made significant progress..." Nixon wrote.

SLA Plot Told

Brown Sister Kidnap Target?

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Friends of imprisoned Symbionese Liberation Army members plotted to kidnap the sister of Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr., the San Francisco Examiner reported today.

In a copyrighted story, the Examiner said the plot to kidnap Kathleen Rice was hatched in San Quentin Prison under the direction of James H. "Doc" Holliday, believed to be the leader of the Black Guerrilla Family.

Holliday, recently arrested on murder charges in Los Angeles, planned to use the kidnaping as a means of freeing imprisoned SLA members Russell Little and Joseph Remiro, the Examiner said.

Little and Remiro were convicted last spring in Sacramento of the November 1973 assassination of Oakland school Supt. Marcus Foster and are on trial in Los Angeles for attempted murder of a Concord policeman.

The newspaper quoted "reliable, well-placed law enforcement sources."

Mrs. Rice, 29, a member of the Los Angeles Board of Education, said of the reported plot, "There was some talk but I don't want to comment."

The Examiner said that the criminal conspiracy section of the Los Angeles police department learned that Holliday and other SLA sympathizers had Mrs. Rice under surveillance. The newspaper said the police and the governor's office officially deny that Mrs. Rice was a kidnap target.

However, the newspaper said that the governor, Mrs. Rice and their parents, former Gov. Edmund G. Brown and his wife Bernice, were told of the plot.

Holliday, 33, was paroled July 23 after serving 14 years of a life term at San Quentin for murder. He was arrested in Los Angeles on Nov. 1 in a shootout with police after two men were murdered and a man and woman injured in a southwest Los Angeles house.

Hydrants To Receive New Paint?

Members of the Mission Viejo Municipal Advisory Council (MAC) will consider giving the U.S. Bicentennial a "plug" tonight.

They have been asked for authorization to paint the city's drab yellow fire hydrants in red-white-and-blue themes in preparation for America's 200th birthday.

Pushing the project is 18-year-old college student Kari Sammons who has volunteered to repaint the hydrants in her own Granada Homes neighborhood.

If councilmen grant her request tonight, Miss Sammons hopes that other tracts will form committees to paint their own hydrants.

MAC officials will debate the hydrant proposal when they meet at 7:30 p.m. at 26129 La Paz Road, Mission Viejo.

Fire department officials have remained non-committal on the hydrant question, but Miss Sammons says she hopes the examples set by other cities such as Burbank, San Clemente and Irvine will help convince community leaders to approve the project.

With the conclusion of the Bicentennial year the hydrants would be restored to their original yellow color by groups of volunteers, according to Miss Sammons.

Veterans Day Rerun Slated For Tuesday

Orange County Courts, state offices, most public schools and five city halls will be closed Tuesday in observance of the second Veterans Day holiday in less than a month.

Federal and county offices marked the observance on October 27 and will be open Tuesday as will banks and most stores.

Tuesday's "traditional holiday" dates back to the signing of the armistice at the end of World War I in 1918.

Costa Mesa will be the only Orange Coast city to close its municipal offices Tuesday.

Schools in the Coast Community College District and the Capistrano Unified School District are the only ones that will be open, having observed the Oct. 27 date.

Banyard, remained adamant in his decision. He commented that a motion for continuance identical to the one he ruled on today was denied earlier by Judge Kenneth Williams.

Morgan and Green had hoped for a delay of the trial to Nov. 24. Hinshaw faces jury trial on three felony counts of bribery.

Hinshaw appeared to recover his composure during the trek between courtrooms. He predicted he would be acquitted of the allegations and subsequently reelected to his 40th Congressional District seat.

The Newport Beach Republican said his office had received a "spurt of mail" following the recent dismissal of eight of 11 felony counts contained in the Orange County Grand Jury indictment of the former assessor.

"I intend to stay active and run for office in the next primary," Hinshaw jauntily commented. He was nattily dressed today in a dark business suit and willingly joined newsmen for a televised interview.

Morgan and Green are now waiting in Judge Kneeland's courtroom for a discussion on trial prospects.

Still fuming from Judge Sumner's brusque dismissal of his arguments, Morgan commented that he hoped Judge Kneeland "might introduce a little sanity into the proceedings."

Before entering the courtroom the silver-haired trial lawyer spotted television equipment plugged into an outlet on the fourth floor corridor, apparently being recharged.

"Hey, call (assistant district attorney Michael) Capizzi," he told newsmen and spectators. "NBC or somebody is stealing electricity from the county."

Proceeds from the sale will be applied to the purchase of lifesaving equipment for local fire stations.

Seller spaces are $3 and admission to the swap meet is 25 cents. For space reservations call 830-5376 or 586-2283.

The flea market will be held from 7 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Mission Drive-In, 32002 Del Obispo, San Juan Capistrano.

'Dope Burn' Probed In Sunset Slayings

By TOM BARLEY
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Orange County Sheriff's officers have no firm clues to work on today in their investigation of the weekend slayings of a couple who shared the home at 16861

Bayview St., in Sunset Beach. But investigators probing the killings of Ronald Cauwels, 27, and Janet Mae Metz, 34, placed the possibility that they were the victims of a "dope burn" very high on their list.

They said Cauwels had a long criminal record and was known to be involved over the years in drug trafficking. They said he was the victim several years ago of a kidnap and assault that also may have had its origin in a drug deal.

Cauwels was shot once through the head Saturday night and died a short time later in Los Alamitos General Hospital. Mrs. Metz died on the spot from multiple bullet wounds in the head and chest.

Investigators are working on reports that four men occupying what is believed to be a 10-year-old light colored sedan drove up to the home and kicked in the door after being refused permission to enter.

Officers said neighbors told them that three or four shots were heard and then a barrage of shots before the four men fled from the home and drove off.

They have not yet determined the type of weapons used in the killings. "They could have been rifles or shotguns," a deputy said.

Board Seeking Name for New Viejo School

Capistrano Unified School District trustees are looking for a name for an elementary school soon to be built in Mission Viejo.

The new school will be built on Via Santa Maria in the Barcelona homes area, said Joe Wimer, director of administrative services. It is scheduled to open late in 1976.

Students from the new school's attendance area are currently enrolled in Castille North. They attend classes in portable facilities at Castille Park.

Trustees will accept suggestions for names through December 1. Wimer said. Suggestions should be mailed to Name That School, Capistrano Unified School District, 26126 Victoria Blvd., Capistrano Beach, 92624.

Attorneys opposing the Quinlans' request said they would appeal an unfavorable decision. The Quinlans have not said whether they would appeal.

Karen has been in a coma since April 14 when she mixed tranquilizers and alcohol at a birthday party for a friend. At St. Clare's Hospital, Karen is fed through tubes.

The case has drawn nationwide attention because Muir's decision could, to some extent, provide a legal definition of death. Traditionally, doctors subscribe to the "Harvard criteria" — brain death — as a prerequisite for terminating artificial life supports.

Karen's parents asked the court to permit their adopted daughter to "die with grace and dignity." They asked Muir to appoint Quinlan, a supervisor for a pharmaceutical company, as Karen's legal guardian for the express purpose of halting use of the respirator.

It was a matter of privacy and religious freedom, they said, because the Roman Catholic Church does not require the use of extraordinary means to preserve life.

Mrs. Quinlan testified that Karen, on at least three occasions, specifically told her she did not want her life maintained artificially.

The state of New Jersey, Karen's doctors and her court-appointed guardian, Donald R. Coburn, argued that a decision in favor of the Quinlans would open the door to legalized euthanasia — mercy killing — and would result in thousands of deaths.

Thorpe to Get Planner Post

By GARY GRANVILLE
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

County Supervisor Thomas Riley was expected to announce today that former San Juan Capistrano Mayor James Thorpe, 41, will replace Ron Yeo as Riley's appointee to the Orange County Planning Commission.

Thorpe, a Democrat who once ran for the Fifth District Supervisorial seat now held by Riley, is an advocate of planned growth and development with strong environmental concerns.

Yeo, a 41-year-old Corona del Mar architect, resigned from the commission last week and, in the process, fired a critical parting shot in county government's direction.

In his resignation letter, Yeo chastised county government for what he said is its:

— Slow response to citizen needs.

— Failure to commit resources needed to properly plan communities.

— Giving lobbyists too much of a say in the decision making process.

Simultaneously, Yeo praised Riley and said he hopes the supervisor's "philosophy and goals for the Fifth District and county will continue to be carried out."

Last week's resignation was Yeo's second from the commission.

After serving 13 months as the late supervisor Ronald Caspers' appointee, Yeo resigned in June 1973, at Caspers' request.

After his successor, the late Bart Spendlove quit the planning commission last December, Yeo became the newly appointed supervisor Riley's surprise first appointment to the five-member panel.

Thorpe, a math instructor at Saddleback College, has been a San Juan Capistrano resident since 1968.

A Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Miami University (Ohio) who later earned master degrees at both Miami and Harvard, he was elected to the city council in 1970.

Thorpe has been absent from the county political scene since his 1974 candidacy for Fifth District Supervisor fell short of its mark when Caspers was reelected in the June primary.

Two years earlier, he was the unsuccessful Democratic candidate for the Assembly seat held by Republican Robert Badham.

It was after the 1974 supervisorial race that Thorpe joined dissident Democrats led by Newport Beach attorney John Black in an unsuccessful move to oust Richard J. O'Neill as chairman of the county Democratic Central Committee.

Niguel Group Eyes Viejo's MAC Tonight

A delegation of six Laguna Niguel homeowners will visit the Mission Viejo Municipal Advisory Council (MAC) tonight to see if they like it enough to start a similar council in their own community.

The delegation will be briefed on the council's activities at the beginning of the 7:30 p.m. session at 26129 La Paz Road by Chairman Richard Lowcock.

Frank Mead, president of the Laguna Niguel Homeowners and Community Association, said his organization has been studying the possibility of establishing a MAC in Laguna Niguel for "some time."

"The idea is to go to Mission Viejo and ask the questions, 'What is it, what will it do, and would it benefit us?'" Mead explained.

He said his group, composed of about 20 smaller Laguna Niguel homeowners associations, recently had appointed a committee to study the possibility of forming a MAC.

A municipal advisory council has no decision-making power but makes recommendations to the county Board of Supervisors on local issues.

The only MAC currently operating is the one in Mission Viejo. A petition drive currently is under way to establish a MAC in El Toro.

DENIES DEATH WISH Judge Robert Muir

Judge Denies Death Plea

MORRISTOWN, N.J. (UPI) — A New Jersey judge today denied the request of the parents of Karen Ann Quinlan to disconnect the respirator which has kept their comatose daughter alive for more than six months.

Contrary to the parents' argument that they were legally and morally authorized to disconnect the machine, Muir said, "I have ruled it is a medical decision whether or not Karen should be removed from the respirator. Just as that decision is a medical one, the continued care and treatment of Karen is a medical one."

Squeaky Dragged In, Then Out

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Lynette Fromme, who had to be carried into the courthouse by a U.S. marshal, was banished again from the court today after refusing to promise not to disrupt her trial on the charge she attempted to kill President Ford.

Miss Fromme, who had a red cloth over her eyes, was carried from a van that had brought her from the jail. She vowed Friday that she would not return to the courthouse unless officers carried her.

She had to be carried bodily but did not resist, said U.S. Marshal Arthur Van Court. He said she had a red bandana over her eyes when officers came to her jail cell.

After Miss Fromme was ejected from the courtroom, the trial continued. A court spokesman said Miss Fromme again refused to watch the trial on a television set in a room adjacent to her courtroom cell.

Miss Fromme was ejected from the court twice Friday when she demanded that convicted mass murderer Charles Manson be allowed to testify for her. She was an early member of the so-called Manson family cult.

After her arrival today, Miss Fromme rejected an offer by U.S. District Court Judge Thomas MacBride to allow her to return to court on a promise of avoiding the disruptions.

"This is a matter of principle," she told MacBride, with the jury absent.

Miss Fromme, in less than a week, has tried twice to change her plea from innocent to no contest or guilty, and fired Virga as her co-counsel, only to have him reinstated.

said the lawsuit designed to set aside the expected final ruling of a Los Angeles County Superior Court judge will be filed Tuesday in Los Angeles.

Dr. Mooneyham said the recent court decision stemmed from a lawsuit filed by a Los Angeles physician who claimed that religious discrimination was being practiced by the agencies who placed the Cambodian infants in Christian homes.

Among the adoptive parents who met Dr. Mooneyham Sunday in Orange County were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Luna, 3812 Beaver St., Irvine. The Lunas have signed adoption papers for 14-month-old Cale Luna who arrived in the United States last June.

"I risked my life to save those babies from certain death and I'm not going to remain silent and simply let them be kidnapped by the state of California or anyone else," Mooneyham said.

"When I accepted responsibility for the welfare of these children with the approval of the Cambodian government, World Vision became their legal guardian and parent," he added.

Mooneyham said the Los Angeles court ignored testimony by the American nurse who received the orphan children and the last head of the Cambodian government, both of whom confirmed World Vision's legal right to stand in place of the parents.

Mooneyham said that for the court to order the children turned over to the Los Angeles County Department of Adoptions is "one of the most flagrant violations of the Constitution ever seen in this state."

John Robinson Named Trojan Head Coach

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The University of Southern California today named John Robinson, a pro football assistant, to succeed pro-bound John McKay as head Trojan football coach.

Robinson, 38, is the offensive backfield coach of the Oakland Raiders.

Both the San Francisco Examiner and the Long Beach Independent-Press Telegram stated flatly that Robinson would lead the Trojans in 1976.

McKay announced two weeks ago that he was quitting after 15 years to become head coach of the new Tampa, Fla., club in the National Football League.

Robinson, like McKay, played his collegiate football at the University of Oregon. Robinson played on the Ducks' 1957 Rose Bowl team.

A native of Daly City, Calif., he was a three-sport star at Serra High School in San Mateo, Calif.

While Robinson was at USC as an assistant, the Trojans posted a 31-3-2 record and two Rose Bowl victories in three appearances.

Before joining the USC staff, Robinson spent 12 years as an assistant coach at Oregon.

A Fountain Valley youth was beaten senseless, robbed of $8 in cash, his watch and shoes and then dumped in a field in the Irvine Industrial Complex Sunday by four men he met at a party in Newport Beach.

Kenneth R. Kennebeck, 19, of 8612 El Rancho, Fountain Valley, was taken to Tustin Community Hospital and released after receiving medical treatment.

Kennebeck told police he had been drinking at the party and was not certain whether he got into the car with the four men voluntarily. He did not know their names.

He was taken to a field near Carlson Avenue and Michelson Drive, where the men beat and kicked him, robbed him and fled.

Kennebeck told police he crawled to the Irvine Ranch Water District treatment plant where he was helped by security guard Carlos Vega.

Housing Aid Analyzed

Due to changes in federal policies, it may not be worth the trouble for Irvine to continue to apply for federal housing funds, Irvine Assistant Planning Director Claudette Donatella has reported to the city council.

The council will consider whether to apply for additional housing funds at its meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at city hall, 4201 Campus Drive.

The council has embarked on a three-year program of obtaining housing grants that were expected to total $240,000.

Kathleen Rice SLA Plotted Kidnap Of Brown's Sister?

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Friends of imprisoned Symbionese Liberation Army members plotted to kidnap the sister of Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr., the San Francisco Examiner reported today.

In a copyrighted story, the Examiner said the plot to kidnap Kathleen Rice was hatched in San Quentin Prison under the direction of James H. "Doc" Holliday, believed to be the leader of the Black Guerrilla Family.

Holliday, recently arrested on murder charges in Los Angeles, planned to use the kidnaping as a means of freeing imprisoned SLA members Russell Little and Joseph Remiro, the Examiner said.

Little and Remiro were convicted last spring in Sacramento of the November 1973 assassination of Oakland school Supt. Marcus Foster and are on trial in Los Angeles for attempted murder of a Concord policeman.

The newspaper quoted "reliable, well-placed law enforcement sources."

Mrs. Rice, 29, a member of the Los Angeles Board of Education, said of the reported plot, "There was some talk but I don't want to comment."

The Examiner said that the criminal conspiracy section of the Los Angeles police department learned that Holliday and other SLA sympathizers had Mrs. Rice under surveillance. The newspaper said the police and the governor's office officially deny that Mrs. Rice was a kidnap target.

Defense Motion Accepted

By TOM BARLEY Of the Daily Pilot Staff Congressman Andrew Hinshaw and his two lawyers got the trial delay they wanted today in Orange County Superior Court after being told on their first appearance this morning that no such continuance would be permitted.

Judge Robert P. Kneeland delayed courtroom action until Nov. 17 after defense attorney Marshall Morgan explained that he is involved in a Los Angeles County trial and can not be free for courtroom action here until Nov. 24.

But it seemed at one point of a contested motion before acting presiding Judge Bruce Sumner that Hinshaw might have to face trial with only one of the two lawyers defending him on bribery charges.

After reminding tardy defense attorney Marshall Morgan that "the trial calendar is always called at 8:30 a.m. in Orange County," Judge Sumner testily sent the trio to Judge Robert P. Kneeland's courtroom for trial.

Morgan and co-counsel Robert Green, obviously taken aback, renewed their protests that Morgan is involved in a trial in Santa Monica and may not be available for courtroom action here.

But Judge Sumner, deputizing for presiding Judge Robert A. Banyard, remained adamant in his decision. He commented that a motion for continuance identical to the one he ruled on today was denied earlier by Judge Kenneth Williams.

Morgan and Green had hoped for a delay of the trial to Nov. 24. Hinshaw faces jury trial on three felony counts of bribery.

Hinshaw appeared to recover his composure during the trek between courtrooms. He predicted he would be acquitted of the allegations and subsequently re-elected to his 40th Congressional District seat.

The Newport Beach Republican said his office had released. (See HINSHAW, Page A2)

Trustees Sift Use Of Schools

Irvine school trustees will consider the district policy on use of schools by community groups tonight. The policy was made controversial two weeks ago by residents who claimed a dance group founded by a former trustee gets special treatment.

The meeting will be held at El Camino Real School, 4782 Karen Ann Lane, at 7:30 p.m.

Trustees also will act on a proposed limit to campaign contributions in school board races. The proposed limitation of contributions to $100 and expenditures to 12 cents per voter would have meant a maximum of $1,560 spent per candidate in the last election.

The board ordered a report on use of the schools by community groups after three men complained at the last meeting that the Institute of Dance Arts is a business getting free space.

The district's policy is to allow free use of facilities to non-profit groups whose meetings are free and open to the public. Many exceptions to the rule are made, according to a report to the school board.

In addition to the dance group, which was founded by a former trustee, Sharon Sircello, fees are charged by Boy Scouts, the Irvine Conservatory of Music, Little League and many more.

The question was raised by three men, including attorney David Crockett, who charged that the dance group had not filed for non-profit status—a requirement for free use.

According to Mrs. Sircello, the group is a division of the non-profit South Coast Cultural League.

'Dope Burn' Probe In Sunset Slaying

SHOOTING VICTIM
Janet Mae Metz

Orange County Sheriff's officers have no firm clues to work on today in their investigation of the weekend slayings of a couple who shared the home at 16861 Bayview St., in Sunset Beach.

But investigators probing the killings of Ronald Cauwels, 27, and Janet Mae Metz, 34, placed the possibility that they were the victims of a "dope burn" very high on their list.

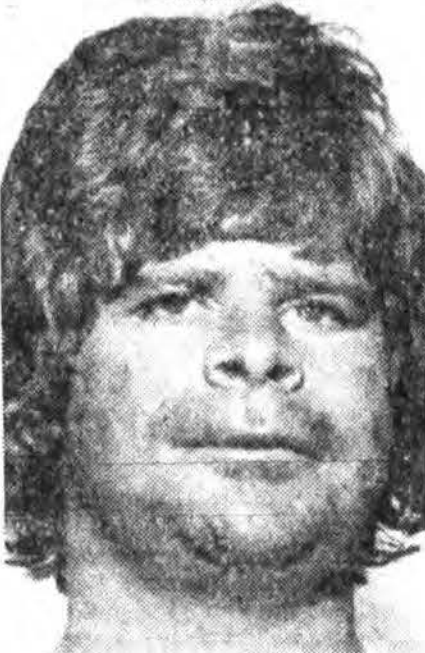

They said Cauwels had a long criminal record and was known to be involved over the years in drug trafficking. They said he was the victim several years ago of a kidnap and assault that also may have had its origin in a drug deal.

Cauwels was shot once through the head Saturday night and died a short time later in Los Alamitos General Hospital. Mrs. Metz died on the spot from multiple bullet wounds in the head and chest.

Investigators are working on reports that four men occupying what is believed to be a 10-year-old light colored sedan drove up to the home and kicked in the door after being refused permission to enter.

Officers said neighbors told them that three or four shots were heard and then a barrage of shots before the four men fled from the home and drove off.

They have not yet determined the type of weapons used in the killings. "They could have been rifles or shotguns," a deputy said.

Irvine Coast Plan Hearing Tuesday

The Orange County Planning Commission will hold a public hearing and study session on proposed planning procedures and policies for the Irvine Company's coastal property at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Newport Beach City Council chambers.

Commission approval of a change in land-use labels on the 10,000 acres of unincorporated territory surrounded by the cities of Newport Beach, Irvine and Laguna Beach is the first of several actions required before the company can develop the area.

This change is expected to be considered early next year as part of an amendment to the county General Plan.

During Tuesday's meeting, county and company planners are expected to review a 65-page draft document on the company's policies on hazards, resources and development in the area.

Some of this information may be included in the environmental impact report which must be completed before an amendment is approved.

Commissioners will also be briefed on TICMAP, an acronym for the Irvine Company Multi-Agency Planning Program which has involved 22 private and public agencies working with company officials on plans for the area.

Gene Kjellberg, a county planner, said the Irvine Company is not expected to announce final plans for development in the area until the first of the year. Some of the previously announced plans have been changed, he said.

In the past, the company officials have said they would develop about 30 percent of the land to allow for about 50,000 residents. Also included is a 1,345-acre park along the shore which the state already has agreed to purchase. This, however, is currently tied up in litigation brought by Joan Irvine, the largest individual stockholder in the Irvine Company.

Kjellberg said the meeting is being held in Newport Beach in response to requests from residents living in the area of the Irvine Company land.

Morgan and Green are now waiting in Judge Kneeland's courtroom for a discussion on trial prospects.

Still fuming from Judge Sumner's brusque dismissal of his arguments, Morgan commented that he hoped Judge Kneeland "might introduce a little sanity into the proceedings."

Before entering the courtroom the silver-haired trial lawyer spotted television equipment plugged into an outlet on the fourth floor corridor, apparently being recharged.

Veterans Day Rerun Slated For Tuesday

Orange County Courts, state offices, most public schools and five city halls will be closed Tuesday in observance of the second Veterans Day holiday in less than a month.

Federal and county offices marked the observance on October 27 and will be open Tuesday as will banks and most stores.

Tuesday's "traditional holiday" dates back to the signing of the armistice at the end of World War I in 1918.

Costa Mesa will be the only Orange Coast city to close its municipal offices Tuesday.

Schools in the Coast Community College District and the Capistrano Unified School District are the only ones that will be open, having observed the Oct. 27 date.

Yeo Successor

Thorpe to Get Planner Post

By GARY GRANVILLE
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

County Supervisor Thomas Riley was expected to announce today that former San Juan Capistrano Mayor James Thorpe, 41, will replace Ron Yeo as Riley's appointee to the Orange County Planning Commission.

Thorpe, a Democrat who once ran for the Fifth District Supervisorial seat now held by Riley, is an advocate of planned growth and development with strong environmental concerns.

Yeo, a 41-year-old Corona del Mar architect, resigned from the commission last week and, in the process, fired a critical parting shot in county government's direction.

In his resignation letter, Yeo chastised county government for what he said is its:

— Slow response to citizen needs.

— Failure to commit resources needed to properly plan communities.

— Giving lobbyists too much of a say in the decision making process.

Simultaneously, Yeo praised Riley and said he hopes the supervisor's "philosophy and goals for the Fifth District and county will continue to be carried out."

Last week's resignation was Yeo's second from the commission.

After serving 13 months as the late supervisor Ronald Caspers' appointee, Yeo resigned in June 1973, at Caspers' request.

After his successor, the late Bart Spendlove quit the planning commission last December, Yeo became the newly appointed supervisor Riley's surprise first appointment to the five-member panel.

Thorpe, a math instructor at Saddleback College, has been a San Juan Capistrano resident since 1968.

A Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Miami University (Ohio) who later earned master degrees at both Miami and Harvard, he was elected to the city council in 1970.

Thorpe has been absent from the county political scene since his 1974 candidacy for Fifth District Supervisor fell short of its mark when Caspers was re-elected in the June primary.

Two years earlier, he was the unsuccessful Democratic candidate for the Assembly seat held by Republican Robert Badham.

It was after the 1974 supervisorial race that Thorpe joined dissident Democrats led by Newport Beach attorney John Black in an unsuccessful move to oust Richard J. O'Neill as chairman of the county Democratic Central Committee.

COMA . . .

Attorneys opposing the Quinlans' request said they would appeal an unfavorable decision. The Quinlans have not said whether they would appeal.

Karen has been in a coma since April 14 when she mixed tranquilizers and alcohol at a birthday party for a friend. At St. Clare's Hospital, Karen is fed through tubes.

The case has drawn nationwide attention because Muir's decision could, to some extent, provide a legal definition of death. Traditionally, doctors subscribe to the "Harvard criteria"—brain death—as a prerequisite for terminating artificial life supports.

Karen's parents asked the court to permit their adopted daughter to "die with grace and dignity." They asked Muir to appoint Quinlan, a supervisor for a pharmaceutical company, as Karen's legal guardian for the express purpose of halting use of the respirator.

It was a matter of privacy and religious freedom, they said, because the Roman Catholic Church does not require the use of extraordinary means to preserve life.

Mrs. Quinlan testified that Karen, on at least three occasions, specifically told her she did not want her life maintained artificially.

Judge Denies Death Plea Won't Allow Plug Pulled on Karen Quinlan

DENIES DEATH WISH
Judge Robert Muir

MORRISTOWN, N.J. (UPI) — A New Jersey judge today denied the request of the parents of Karen Ann Quinlan to disconnect the respirator which has kept their comatose daughter alive for more than six months.

In a carefully worded, 50-page decision with wide implications for the treatment of the terminally ill, Superior Court Judge Robert Muir Jr., said, "It is ordered that the requested authorization to terminate the respirator supporting Karen Quinlan's cardio-respiratory functions be denied with prejudice and without costs to any party."

Had he granted the parents' request, it would have been the first time in history that a United States court authorized the death of a person not convicted of a crime.

Contrary to the parents' argument that they were legally and morally authorized to disconnect the machine, Muir said, "I have ruled it is a medical decision whether or not Karen should be removed from the respirator. Just as that decision is a medical one, the continued care and treatment of Karen is a medical one."

The judge ordered Daniel Coburn, Miss Quinlan's court-appointed guardian, to continue in that capacity.

Muir sympathized with the torment of the 21-year-old Miss Quinlan's parents, who visit their daughter daily at St. Clare's Hospital in Denville, N.J., where she lies in a grotesque fetal position weighing only 60 pounds.

But, the judge said, "that anguish would be continued and magnified by the inner conflicts Mr. Quinlan would have if he were required to concur in the day-by-day decisions on the future care and treatment of his daughter. I therefore find it more appropriate and in Karen's interests if another is appointed."

During the five-day trial, Paul W. Armstrong, the lawyer for the Quinlans, said Karen existed in a "vegetative state with no hope for recovery."

Muir said, however, "none of the doctors testified there was no hope. The hope for recovery is remote, but no doctor talks in the absolute. There is a duty to continue the life assisting apparatus if, within the treating physician's opinion, it should be done."

The Catholic Church, in a pastoral letter read at Mass Sunday in parishes throughout the diocese of Paterson, said the parents' decision to seek removal of the respirator is "morally correct."

Bishop Lawrence B. Casey urged church members to read the nine-page position paper which he drafted and released as the church's official stand in the case. The bishop also asked the church-goers to pray for the (See COMA, Page A2)

Habla Parrot?

Senor Macaw Returns Home

By ARTHUR R. VINSEL
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Roberto Ruplinger was back in his tree in Huntington Beach today, after being reported stolen — or birdnaped — from his roost Sunday.

The macaw parrot who speaks mostly Spanish because of his upbringing in Bogota, Colombia, wasn't stolen at all, but apparently just wanted to get away and thinks things over.

He was found in a neighbor's yard two houses away from the Michael Ruplinger home at 9112 Hyde Park Drive in southeast Huntington Beach shortly after police took a grand theft report on the $1,000 talking bird.

Robert has his wings clipped occasionally to prevent just such forays into the great big wide world outside 9112 Hyde Park Drive.

"He fooled us, because he wouldn't answer when we called him," says Mrs. Ruplinger.

Roberto apparently began to get hungry and long for his familiar tree in the Ruplinger backyard after trying out his wings that hadn't been clipped for some time.

"Finally he answered us," says Mrs. Ruplinger.

Their calls of "Roberto, Roberto..." finally drew a response from two doors down.

"Rebecca..." the macaw cawed back.

"We don't know where he learned that. Rebecca was part of his vocabulary when we bought him," said Mrs. Ruplinger.

Man, 48, Slain

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Police held a San Ysidro man today on suspicion of stabbing a San Diego man to death and beating his 82-year-old mother during an apparent robbery attempt. Police said Alejandro Alve, 28, was in custody on suspicion of the murder of J. R. Howard, 48. Howard's mother, Mrs. Emma May Howard, was in satisfactory condition with rib and neck injuries.

They brought Roberto back from Bogota for a paltry $10, although he is valued in the U.S. at $1,000, in addition to his intrinsic worth as a family pet and watchbird.

"I've been trying to teach him to say 'Gobble Gobble, I'm a turkey,'" says Mrs. Ruplinger, who saw to it that Roberto's wings were clipped again after his Sunday afternoon adventure.

However, the Colombian macaw refuses to talk turkey.

Separate Trials Set On Murder

Two brothers accused of the Halloween night slaying of a Fountain Valley market clerk were assigned to separate trials today in Orange County Superior Court.

Judge William Murray was named to preside over the death penalty trial of Hugh Daniel Bean, 24, and Charles Dennis Bean, 22.

Hugh Bean will be tried first in courtroom action that is expected to extend well into 1976.

Charles Bean's trial will commence while the jury in the first trial is mulling its verdict on his brother's guilt or innocence.

Both men were arrested Oct. 31, shortly after star athlete Stephen "Mike" Finkler, 19, was shot and killed as he stood behind a counter of a market on Warner Avenue in Fountain Valley.

Lawyers for both sides predicted today that defense motions in the trial of Hugh Bean will take up the balance of this week. Jury selection will begin next week, they predicted.

A defense motion that the trial of Hugh Bean be moved to another county has already been denied. It was unsuccessfully argued that assertedly prejudicial press accounts of the killing ruled out any possibility of a fair trial in Orange County.

Thief Gets $3,300 Loot in Huntington

A Huntington Beach man returned home Sunday night to discover a burglar had forced the door of his home, stealing nearly $3,300 worth of belongings.

William Weller, of 9352 Velardo Drive, told police the loss included a stereo set, related electronic equipment, and jewelry. Police said they were uncertain whether the burglar entered the Weller home through the front or rear door.

MONTEBELLO (UPI) — A slow-moving freight train slammed into a station wagon late Sunday injuring seven persons. Police said the Santa Fe freight train backed into the car driven by Jose Trinidad Gonzalez, 36, as he drove across the railroad crossing. Gonzalez, his wife, Antonia, 27, and their five children suffered minor injuries.

Canine Sniffs Out Burglary Suspect

One of three suspects in a Huntington Beach motel burglary was captured early Sunday by Ulli, a hulking German shepherd police dog who sniffed him out in a vacant field after a police helicopter crew failed.

The huge dog apparently had a hunch as Officer Bob Archey marched him down a path in the oil well-dotted field near Newland Street and Atlanta Avenue.

He suddenly veered off the path and plopped both front paws onto the horrified, hunted man's chest, as though to say: "You're under arrest!"

Officer Archey collared Michael W. Vaughn, 19, of Wilmington, who had allegedly been lying on his back in an effort to elude pursuers.

He was booked into Huntington Beach City Jail on suspicion of burglary, joining co-suspect Patrick J. Henderson, 18, of Long Beach and Domenico Galgiardi, 19, a transient from the Long Beach area.

Henderson and Galgiardi were captured about midnight at the Sheraton Beach Inn, 21112 Pacific Coast Highway, after an employee allegedly caught them burglarizing an accessory shop in the foyer.

They fled, but were spotted again by employee Philip Makure as he was being interviewed by officer John Suttle.

The pair was taken into custody and a search was begun for the third suspect, with the aid of the Newport Beach police helicopter crew which was dispatched to assist. No dollar value was immediately available for merchandise allegedly taken from the Sheraton shop, but in (See DOG, Page A2)

1 Victim Had Drug Record

By TOM BARLEY
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Orange County Sheriff's officers have no firm clues to work on today in their investigation of the weekend slayings of a couple who shared the home at 16861 Bayview St., in Sunset Beach.

But investigators probing the killings of Ronald Cauwels, 27, and Janet Mae Metz, 34, placed the possibility that they were the victims of a "dope burn" very high on their list.

They said Cauwels had a long criminal record and was known to be involved over the years in drug trafficking. They said he was the victim several years ago of a kidnap and assault that also may have had its origin in a drug deal.

Cauwels was shot once through the head Saturday night and died a short time later in Los Alamitos General Hospital. Mrs. Metz died on the spot from multiple bullet wounds in the head and chest.

Investigators are working on reports that four men occupying what is believed to be a 10-year-old light colored sedan drove up to the home and kicked in the door after being refused permission to enter.

Officers said neighbors told them that three or four shots were heard and then a barrage of shots before the four men fled from the home and drove off.

They have not yet determined the type of weapons used in the killings. "They could have been rifles or shotguns," a deputy said.

Officers said Mrs. Metz had been living with Cauwels for some time and that her children by a former marriage were being cared for at her father's home in the Sunset Beach area.

"She was a beautiful girl but she had a lot of problems," an investigator said.

2 Men Found Executed

LAKELAND, Fla. (UPI) — Two men were found by a hunter in a lonely field with bullet holes in their heads and bloody rags covering their mangled faces — victims of what police described as an "execution."

"At first I thought it was a bar-room-type brawl murder," said Calvin Spencer, whose bird dog discovered the bodies. "But then we saw the second body and I knew it was something else."

The men were identified today as Leo Eggering, 32, a maintenance man with the Lakeland Housing Authority, and Ronald Cole, 37, a laborer.

John Robinson Named Trojan Head Coach

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The University of Southern California today named John Robinson, a pro football coach, to succeed pro-bound John McKay as head Trojan football coach.

Robinson, 38, is the offensive backfield coach of the Oakland Raiders.

Taking over the other half of McKay's dual job at USC is Dr. Richard H. Perry, the vice-chairman of the school's Committee on Athletics, who was named athletic director.

McKay announced two weeks ago that he was quitting after 15 years to become head coach of the new Tampa, Fla., club in the National Football League.

Robinson, like McKay, played his collegiate football at the University of Oregon. Robinson played on the Ducks' 1957 Rose Bowl team.

A native of Daly City, Calif., he was a three-sport star at Serra High School in San Mateo, Calif.

SLA Plot Told

Brown Sister Kidnap Target?

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Friends of imprisoned Symbionese Liberation Army members plotted to kidnap the sister of Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr., the San Francisco Examiner reported today.

aminer said the plot to kidnap Kathleen Rice was hatched in San Quentin Prison under the direction of James H. "Doc" Holliday, believed to be the leader of the Black Guerrilla Family.

Holliday, recently arrested on murder charges in Los Angeles, planned to use the kidnaping as a means of freeing imprisoned SLA members Russell Little and Joseph Remiro, the Examiner said.

Little and Remiro were convicted last spring in Sacramento of the November 1973 assassination of Oakland school Supt. Marcus Foster and are on trial in Los Angeles for attempted murder of a Concord policeman.

The newspaper quoted "reliable, well-placed law enforcement sources."

Mrs. Rice, 29, a member of the Los Angeles Board of Education, said of the reported plot, "There was some talk but I don't want to comment."

The Examiner said that the criminal conspiracy section of the Los Angeles police department learned that Holliday and other SLA sympathizers had Mrs. Rice under surveillance. The newspaper said the police and the governor's office officially deny that Mrs. Rice was a kidnap target.

Quinlans and others connected with the case.

He said doctors are not required to use extraordinary mechanical means to prevent a patient from dying a natural death "when it is inevitable and all hope of a return to an even partial exercise of human life is irreparably lost."

Judge Muir, 43, a trim, balding six-footer who is an ordained elder in the Presbyterian Church, spent 14 days preparing his decision.

Attorneys opposing the Quinlans' request said they would appeal an unfavorable decision. The Quinlans have not said whether they would appeal.

Karen has been in a coma since April 14 when she mixed tranquilizers and alcohol at a birthday party for a friend. At St. Clare's Hospital, Karen is fed through tubes.

The case has drawn nationwide attention because Muir's decision could, to some extent, provide a legal definition of death. Traditionally, doctors subscribe to the "Harvard criteria" — brain death — as a prerequisite for terminating artificial life supports.

Criminal complaints charging the trio with burglary were being sought today from the Orange County District Attorney's office.

July Fourth Motto Set For Parade

"Let Freedom Ring" has been chosen as the theme for the 1976 Huntington Beach Fourth of July Parade and Celebration.

The winning theme entry is by Dona Williams, 20121 Imperial Cove Lane, Huntington Beach. Her entry was the first of six which suggested the same theme, according to Steve Pressley, parade coordinator. Her entry had the earliest postmark.

Mrs. Williams said that she felt that America is great because "We are free to choose our own destiny. I am 32, the mother of five children. I have given them life and America has given them freedom," she observed.

The essay submitted by Gay Valentine Genet of 6751 Via Angelina, Huntington Beach, was judged the best of its class.

"America is great because her spirit is valiant; because her heart proclaims peace and love; because she acknowledges allegiance to God as author of her history and the keeper of her destiny," the essay said.

Other winners, all from Huntington Beach unless otherwise listed, include Veronica Rowland, 16742 Montclair Lane; Oliver Smith, 24100 Magnolia Ave; Kim Mock, 15692 Bluebird Lane.

Special theme awards went to Peggy Michaels, 16761 Viewpoint Lane, Apt. 32; Kent Williams, 19582 Tibblett Lane; Corrine Witherby, 21302 Sand Dollar Lane; Richard C. Booker, 8851 Conner Drive; Heidi Osterhues, 16721 Newland St.; John Weimar, 20442 Harbor Isle Lane; Marian D. Douglas, 9757 Cornwall Drive.

Other winners included Lewis Coggins, 16552 Tripp Circle; Mary Lou Brodine, 16532 Kellogg Circle; Patty Locker and Carol Grose, 18582 Beach Blvd. and Rita Richter, 4917 Maurie Lane, Santa Ana, all of whom also submitted "Let Freedom Ring."

Additional winners are Dorothy Perry, 1130 S. Shelley St., Santa Ana; Lou Oliver, 728 Scott Place, Costa Mesa and Bernice Paul, Newcastle, Ind.

Orphans' Removal Heading for Court

World Vision International will take action in federal court to prevent the removal of 20 Cambodian orphans from their adoptive parents, the organization's president announced Sunday in Garden Grove.

Dr. W. Stanley Mooneyham said the lawsuit designed to set aside the expected final ruling of a Los Angeles County Superior Court judge will be filed Tuesday in Los Angeles.

Dr. Mooneyham said the recent court decision stemmed from a lawsuit filed by a Los Angeles physician who claimed that religious discrimination was being practiced by the agencies who placed the Cambodian infants in Christian homes.

Among the adoptive parents who met Dr. Mooneyham Sunday in Orange County were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Luna, 3812 Beaver St., Irvine. The Lunas have signed adoption papers for 14-month-old Cae Luna who arrived in the United States last June.

"I risked my life to save those babies from certain death and I'm not going to remain silent and simply let them be kidnapped by the state of California or anyone else," Mooneyham said.

"When I accepted responsibility for the welfare of these children with the approval of the Cambodian government, World Vision became their legal guardian and parent," he added.

Mooneyham said the Los Angeles court ignored testimony by the American nurse who received the orphan children and the last head of the Cambodian government, both of whom confirmed World Vision's legal right to stand in place of the parents.

Mooneyham said that for the court to order the children turned over to the Los Angeles County Department of Adoptions is "one of the most flagrant violations of the Constitution ever seen in this state."

Hinchshaw Granted Week Trial Delay

By TOM BARLEY
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Congressman Andrew Hinchshaw and his lawyers got the trial delay they wanted today in Orange County Superior Court after being told on their first appearance this morning that no such continuance would be permitted.

Judge Robert P. Kneeland delayed courtroom action until Nov. 17 after defense attorney Marshall Morgan explained that he is involved in a Los Angeles County trial and can not be free for courtroom action here until Nov. 21.

But it seemed at one point of a contested motion before acting presiding Judge Bruce Sumner that Hinchshaw might have to face trial with only one of the two lawyers defending him on bribery charges.

After reminding tardy defense attorney Marshall Morgan that "the trial calendar is always called at 8:30 a.m. in Orange County," Judge Sumner testily sent the trio to Judge Robert P. Kneeland's courtroom for trial.

Morgan and co-counsel Robert Green, obviously taken aback, renewed their protests that Morgan is involved in a trial in Santa Monica and may not be available for courtroom action here.

But Judge Sumner, deputizing for presiding Judge Robert A. Banyard, remained adamant in his decision. He commented that a motion for continuance identical to the one he ruled on today was denied earlier by Judge Kenneth Williams.

Hinchshaw appeared to recover his composure during the trek between courtrooms. He predicted he would be acquitted of the allegations and subsequently re-elected to his 40th Congressional District seat.

Council Eyes City Library Deficiencies

Huntington Beach City Council members will look into complaints of alleged deficiencies in the new $2.9 million Central Library tonight.

The joint City Council meeting with the Library Board and Public Facilities Corp. will take place in an executive session because of "pending legislation."

The regular meeting is scheduled to start at 7 p.m. at council chambers.

Complaints voiced by the library's architect, Dion Neutra, were made known to council officials Oct. 23.

In a letter to City Administrator Dave Rowlands, Neutra said he was expressing concern because the pool system is completely shut down and in runs.

Valley Youth Attacked

A Fountain Valley youth was beaten senseless, robbed of $8 in cash, his watch and shoes and then dumped in a field in the Irvine Industrial Complex Sunday by four men he met at a party in Newport Beach.

Kenneth R. Kennebeck, 19, of 8612 El Rancho, Fountain Valley, was taken to Tustin Community Hospital and released after receiving medical treatment.

Kennebeck told police he had been drinking at the party and was not certain whether he got into the car with the four men voluntarily. He did not know their names.

He was taken to a field near Carlson Avenue and Michelson Drive, where the men beat and kicked him, robbed him and fled.

Veterans Day Rerun Slated For Tuesday

Orange County Courts, state offices, most public schools and five city halls will be closed Tuesday in observance of the second Veterans Day holiday in less than a month.

Federal and county offices marked the observance on October 27 and will be open Tuesday as will banks and most stores.

Tuesday's "traditional holiday" dates back to the signing of the armistice at the end of World War I in 1918.

Costa Mesa will be the only Orange Coast city to close its municipal offices Tuesday.

Schools in the Coast Community College District and the Capistrano Unified School District are the only ones that will be open, having observed the Oct. 27 date.

Kidnaping Foiled

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A nurse prevented the kidnaping of a day-old infant when she stopped a young woman carrying a "suspicious bundle" from the maternity ward at Martin Luther King hospital.

Doris Washington, 35, noticed a woman walking towards the elevator carrying what turned out to be 1-day-old Cecilo James Jones. Mary Cotton, 24, of Los Angeles, was booked on suspicion of kidnaping.

DENIES DEATH WISH Judge Robert Muir

Judge Denies Death Plea

Won't Allow Plug Pulled on Karen Quinlan

MORRISTOWN, N.J. (UPI) — A New Jersey judge today denied the request of the parents of Karen Ann Quinlan to disconnect the respirator which has kept their comatose daughter alive for more than six months.

In a carefully worded, 50-page decision with wide implications for the treatment of the terminally ill, Superior Court Judge Robert Muir Jr., said, "It is ordered that the requested authorization to terminate the respirator supporting Karen Quinlan's cardio-respiratory functions be denied with prejudice and without costs to any party."

Had he granted the parents' request, it would have been the first time in history that a United States court authorized the death of a person not convicted of a crime.

Contrary to the parents' argument that they were legally and morally authorized to disconnect the machine, Muir said, "I have ruled it is a medical decision whether or not Karen should be removed from the respirator. Just as that decision is a medical one, the continued care and treatment of Karen is a medical one."

The judge ordered Daniel Coburn, Miss Quinlan's court-appointed guardian to continue in that capacity.

Muir sympathized with the torment of the 21-year-old Miss Quinlan's parents who visit their daughter daily at St. Clare's Hospital in Denville, N.J., where she lies in a grotesque fetal position weighing only 60 pounds.

But, the judge said, "that anguish would be continued and magnified by the inner conflicts Mr. Quinlan would have if he were required to concur in the day-by-day decisions on the future care and treatment of his daughter. I therefore find it more appropriate and in Karen's interests if another is appointed."

During the five-day trial, Paul W. Armstrong, the lawyer for the Quinlans, said Karen existed in a "vegetative state with no hope for recovery."

Muir said, however, none of the doctors testified there was no hope. The hope for recovery is remote, but no doctor talks in the absolute. There is a duty to continue the life assisting apparatus if, within the treating physician's opinion, it should be done.

The Catholic Church, in a pastoral letter read at Mass Sunday in parishes throughout the diocese of Paterson, said the parents' decision to seek removal of the respirator is "morally correct."

Bishop Lawrence B. Casey urged church members to read the nine-page position paper which he drafted and released as the church's official stand in the case. The bishop also asked the church-goers to pray for the (See COMA, Page A2)

PARAMEDICS AID IRVINE AVENUE CRASH VICTIM Two Hospitalized After S-curve Accident Sunday

Mesa Man Critical In Newport Crash

A 22-year-old Costa Mesa man who missed death in an auto crash two months ago was not expected to survive another crash in which he was involved in Newport Beach late Sunday.

A rollover along the S-curves of Irvine Avenue left Mark James Gilbert in critical condition from head injuries and a roommate hospitalized with lesser injuries.

Newport traffic investigators today still were trying to determine if Gilbert was driving, or whether Robert Paul Nix, 32, was at the wheel of the American compact car when it left the roadway at 7:30 p.m.

Both men live at 2182 Pacific Ave., according to police.

The crash occurred in the 2300 block of Irvine. The car was headed north, police said.

Investigator Steve Van Horn said that no one has yet determined the reason for the car leaving the roadway and flipping down an embankment.

Both victims were pinned in the overturned wreckage, he said. Paramedics removed both men with the aid of other firemen.

The investigator said that Gilbert suffered apparently serious head injuries in the crash about two months ago.

In the latest crash, his injuries were similar, but far more severe.

Irvine Coast Plan Hearing Tuesday

The Orange County Planning Commission will hold a public hearing and study session on proposed planning procedures and policies for the Irvine Company's coastal property at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Newport Beach City Council chambers.

Commission approval of a change in land-use labels on the 10,000 acres of unincorporated territory surrounded by the cities of Newport Beach, Irvine and Laguna Beach is the first of several actions required before the company can develop the area.

This change is expected to be considered early next year as part of an amendment to the county General Plan.

During Tuesday's meeting, county and company planners are expected to review a 65-page draft document on the company's policies on hazards, resources and development in the area.

Some of this information may be included in the environmental impact report which must be completed before an amendment is approved.

Commissioners will also be briefed on TICMAP, an acronym for The Irvine Company Multi-Agency Planning Program which has involved 22 private and public agencies working with company officials on plans for the area.

Airport 'Sale' Plan Set

Newport Beach city councilmen plan tonight to make the final touches on their pitch to sell Ontario International Airport as the best solution to Orange County's air-travel woes.

A proposed resolution which will be sent to every city in the county as well as the County Board of Supervisors is expected to win swift approval.

It endorses the use of the Ontario terminal and the installation of mass-transit systems to allow county air travelers to travel to and from the existing inland airport.

The city staff already has sent out advance data to all other cities in the county in hopes that the Newport idea will gain wide support.

The proposed resolution is directed to supervisors who would be asked to expend all possible efforts to win agreements that would allow for the transit links with Ontario.

Recent Newport studies have concluded that although joint use of existing military facilities at Los Alamitos and El Toro are feasible, the costs would be prohibitive.

The staff has concluded — and the council endorsed the idea — that Ontario is a far superior solution.

Besides the airport resolution, these items appear on the coun-

No Star Role Nixon Doesn't Want TV Job

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — Former President Nixon has denied reports that he plans to become a radio or television commentator, according to the news director of a radio station.

"Television and radio commentaries would not be the best use of my time," Nixon said in a letter to Paul Stanford of WNEB.

Stanford, who described himself as a friend and supporter of the former president, said today that Nixon's immediate projects included the writing of memoirs and four television documentary shows in 1977.

"I do intend of course to continue in the way I feel will be most effective to work for the cause of world peace which was the major goal of my administration, and an area in which I believe we made significant progress..." Nixon wrote.

Orphans' Removal Heading for Court

World Vision International will take action in federal court to prevent the removal of 20 Cambodian orphans from their adoptive parents, the organization's president announced Sunday in Garden Grove.

Dr. W. Stanley Mooneyham said the lawsuit designed to set aside the expected final ruling of a Los Angeles County Superior Court judge will be filed Tuesday in Los Angeles.

Dr. Mooneyham said the recent court decision stemmed from a lawsuit filed by a Los Angeles physician who claimed that religious discrimination was being practiced by the agencies who placed the Cambodian infants in Christian homes.

Among the adoptive parents who met Dr. Mooneyham Sunday in Orange County were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Luna, 3812 Beaver St., Irvine. The Lunas have signed adoption papers for 14-month-old Cale Luna who arrived in the United States last June.

"I risked my life to save those babies from certain death and I'm not going to remain silent and simply let them be kidnaped by the state of California or anyone else," Mooneyham said.

"When I accepted responsibility for the welfare of these children with the approval of the Cambodian government, World Vision became their legal guardian and parent," he added.

Mooneyham said the Los Angeles court ignored testimony by the American nurse who received the orphan children and the last head of the Cambodian government, both of whom confirmed World Vision's legal right to stand in place of the parents.

Mooneyham said that for the court to order the children turned over to the Los Angeles County Department of Adoptions is "one of the most flagrant violations of the Constitution ever seen in this state."

Service Held For Retired Marshal Glaser

Catholic rites were conducted Saturday for retired deputy marshal and former justice court constable Francis L. "Snap" Glaser, 70, who died last Wednesday after a short illness.

The retired law enforcement officer served for 21 years before his retirement five years ago.

The longtime Costa Mesa was the Harbor Area's first deputy to constable Frank Vaughn and succeeded Vaughn when he died in 1955. Mr. Glaser later became a county marshal when the Harbor Judicial District was formed.

Rosary was Friday and mass Saturday at St. Joachim's Catholic Church with Msgr. Thomas J. Nevin officiating. Burial was at Harbor Rest Memorial Park.

Marshal Glaser leaves his wife, Juanita, of the home; daughters, Linda H. Smith of Marysville and Georgia Cheatwood of South Lake Tahoe, and a stepson, Kenneth Anderson of Costa Mesa, and one grandson.

Quinlans and others connected with the case.

He said doctors are not required to use extraordinary mechanical means to prevent a patient from dying a natural death "when it is inevitable and all hope of a return to an even partial exercise of human life is irreparably lost."

Judge Muir, 43, a trim, balding six-footer who is an ordained elder in the Presbyterian Church, spent 14 days preparing his decision.

Attorneys opposing the Quinlans' request said they would appeal an unfavorable decision. The Quinlans have not said whether they would appeal.

Karen has been in a coma since April 14 when she mixed tranyluzin and alcohol at a birthday party for a friend. At St. Clare's Hospital, Karen is fed through tubes.

The case has drawn nationwide attention because Muir's decision could, to some extent, provide a legal definition of death. Traditionally, doctors subscribe to the "Harvard criteria" — brain death — as a prerequisite for terminating artificial life supports.

Veterans Day Rerun Slated For Tuesday

Orange County Courts, state offices, most public schools and five city halls will be closed Tuesday in observance of the second Veterans Day holiday in less than a month.

Federal and county offices marked the observance on October 27 and will be open Tuesday as will banks and most stores.

Tuesday's "traditional holiday" dates back to the signing of the armistice at the end of World War I in 1918.

Costa Mesa will be the only Orange Coast city to close its municipal offices Tuesday.

Schools in the Coast Community College District and the Capistrano Unified School District are the only ones that will be open, having observed the Oct 27 date.

Lone Bandit Hits Motel In Newport

A lone bandit who may have been simulating a weapon strode into a central Newport Beach motel over the weekend and scooped a small amount of cash from a money box offered by his frightened victim.

Police said the robbery took place shortly after 11 p.m. Saturday at the Sail Inn Motel, 2627 Newport Boulevard.

Manager Mabel Newsam told officers she and a friend were in the combination residence-office when they heard the front-door bell ring, indicating a customer.

Police said the man strode into the office, demanded cash and made sure the victim saw a sweater draped over his right hand.

The woman produced the cash box and the bandit scooped out $29.11, then fled on foot.

Basketball Signups Set

Signups are now under way and will continue through Nov. 22 for the basketball leagues sponsored by the Boys Club of the Harbor Area.

Yeo Successor

Thorpe to Get Planner Post

By GARY GRANVILLE
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

County Supervisor Thomas Riley was expected to announce today that former San Juan Capistrano Mayor James Thorpe, 41, will replace Ron Yeo as Riley's appointee to the Orange County Planning Commission.

Thorpe, a Democrat who once ran for the Fifth District Supervisorial seat now held by Riley, is an advocate of planned growth and development with strong environmental concerns.

Yeo, a 41-year-old Corona del Mar architect, resigned from the commission last week and, in the process, fired a critical parting shot in county government's direction.

In his resignation letter, Yeo chastised county government for what he said is its:

— Slow response to citizen needs.

— Failure to commit resources needed to properly plan communities.

— Giving lobbyists too much of a say in the decision making process.

Simultaneously, Yeo praised Riley and said he hopes the supervisor's "philosophy and goals for the Fifth District and county will continue to be carried out."

Last week's resignation was Yeo's second from the commission.

After serving 13 months as the late supervisor Ronald Caspers' appointee, Yeo resigned in June 1973, at Caspers' request.

After his successor, the late Bart Spendlove quit the planning commission last December, Yeo became the newly appointed supervisor Riley's surprise first appointment to the five-member panel.

Thorpe, a math instructor at Saddleback College, has been a San Juan Capistrano resident since 1968.

A Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Miami University (Ohio) who later earned master degrees at both Miami and Harvard, he was elected to the city council in 1970.

Thorpe has been absent from the county political scene since his 1974 candidacy for Fifth District Supervisor fell short of its mark when Caspers was re-elected in the June primary.

Two years earlier, he was the unsuccessful Democratic candidate for the Assembly seat held by Republican Robert Badham.

It was after the 1974 supervisorial race that Thorpe joined dissident Democrats led by Newport Beach attorney John Black in an unsuccessful move to oust Richard J. O'Neill as chairman of the county Democratic Central Committee.

Officers said neighbors told them that three or four shots were heard and then a barrage of shots before the four men fled from the home and drove off.

They have not yet determined the type of weapons used in the killings. "They could have been rifles or shotguns," a deputy said.

Viet Aid Told

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The American Friends Service Committee said today it has made its first illegal delivery of aid to North Vietnam. The Quaker relief group said it informed the White House 16.5 tons of acrylic yarn had been delivered to Haiphong for making sweaters for North Vietnamese school children.

HINSHAW . .

Morgan and Green had hoped for a delay of the trial to Nov. 24. Hinshaw faces jury trial on three felony counts of bribery.

Hinshaw appeared to recover his composure during the trek between courtrooms. He predicted he would be acquitted of the allegations and subsequently re-elected to his 40th Congressional District seat.

The Newport Beach Republican said his office had received a "spurt of mail" following the recent dismissal of eight of 11 felony counts contained in the Orange County Grand Jury indictment of the former assessor.

"I intend to stay active and run for office in the next primary," Hinshaw jauntily commented. He was nattily dressed today in a dark business suit and willingly joined newsmen for a televised interview.

Morgan and Green are now waiting in Judge Kneeland's courtroom for a discussion on trial prospects.

Still fuming from Judge Sumner's brusque dismissal of his arguments, Morgan commented that he hoped Judge Kneeland "might introduce a little sanity into the proceedings."

Before entering the courtroom the silver-haired trial lawyer spotted television equipment plugged into an outlet on the fourth floor corridor, apparently being recharged.

Possible approval of a revised traffic signal priority list which would allow for far quicker construction of a signal at Coast Highway and Prospect Street. The city would spend $50,000 for the signal, even though the project normally would be the responsibility of state officials. Residents and city advisory groups have fought strongly for the signal as a safety measure. State officials balked at the plan because of the lack of funds.

In the past, the company officials have said they would develop about 30 percent of the land to allow for about 50,000 residents. Also included is a 1,345-acre park along the shore which the state already has agreed to purchase. This, however, is currently tied up in litigation brought by Joan Irvine, the largest individual stockholder in the Irvine Company.

Kjellberg said the meeting is being held in Newport Beach in response to requests from residents living in the area of the Irvine Company land.

Soliah Files Innocent Plea

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Steven Soliah, once accused of harboring fugitive Patricia Hearst, pleaded innocent today to a federal bank robbery charge.

The 27-year-old house painter, wearing a tan coat and brown slacks, said "not guilty" when asked for his plea in U.S. District Court.

Judge Phillip C. Wilkins granted Soliah's request for a second court-appointed lawyer.

Plan Tax Strategy

Dollar-saving Tactics Cited

By SYLVIA PORTER (Last in Series)

If you are among the millions of American children helping to support your parents, it is more imperative than ever that you find out before 1975 ends how much income has been received by your parents outside of your support.

Be precise in your count; don't delay your inquiries; your dependency deduction of $750 plus the new 1975 $30 tax credit for each dependent is at stake in this calculation.

Reason: Social Security recipients get three breaks in 1975: an 8 percent boost in benefits since July, a one-time only $50 payment, and the option of having benefit checks deposited directly in their banks.

THESE DEVELOPMENTS — favorable to your parents — could cost you delay, because your parent is your dependent only if (1) he or she has a "gross income" of less than $750 a year; and (2) you provide more than half your parent's support.

Social Security doesn't count as part of your parent's gross income, but it can count as support — and thus, the SS benefit increases could make a big difference.

What's more, you're less likely to notice the benefit hikes because your parent's recent benefit checks may have been deposited directly in his or her bank.

Your parent also may have income outside of Social Security that has increased this year — i.e., dividends or interest. Find out now how much this other income totals.

THE KEY ADVICE IS: get all these figures straight and, if need be, step up your contributions between now and yearend so that you nail down the $750 dependency deduction and $30 tax credit.

If you're in the market for a new house, you can still take advantage of the unique housing credit provided in the 1975 tax law by buying before yearend.

In summary, you get a dollar-for-dollar tax reduction equal to 5 percent of the purchase price of a principal residence, up to a maximum of $2,000. To be eligible, a house must have been completed or under construction before March 26, 1975; and you must acquire and occupy it after March 12, 1975. Also, the seller must certify that construction was begun before March 26 and that the purchase price is the lowest at which the home was offered after Feb. 28, 1975.

DO YOU ACTUALLY HAVE to close the sale by yearend? No, says Prentice-Hall. You must, though, enter into a binding contract to purchase the home before yearend. Do you have to move in by yearend?

No. You can move into the home anytime before the end of 1976. However, you can't claim the credit until you've met both the acquisition and the occupancy requirements. So if you don't occupy your new home until 1976, you're not eligible for the credit until 1976.

If you're holding a check at yearend and it's money that is yours for the asking, it's taxable in 1975, even though you haven't actually received the cash.

FOR INSTANCE, IF YOU receive a check in 1975 but don't cash it until 1976, it's income in 1975, even though you get the check after banking hours on the last business day of the year. Even if the check is mailed to you on the last business day of December and your check isn't credited to your account until January 1976, it's still income to you in 1975. The government's reasoning is you could have had the check given to you before yearend.

If a check is dishonored when you present it for payment, however, you have no taxable income until the check is made good.

If a check is postdated, say, to Jan. 3, 1976, you can treat it as income in 1976.

IF YOU'RE ON THE paying end and you mail or a hand over a check for a deductible item on the last minute of the last day of the year, it's deductible in 1975.

Keep in mind these fundamental guidelines on receiving and paying checks at yearend — if your tax strategy calls for either postponing income and deductions from 1975 until next year or speeding up income and deductions from next year into 1975.

Vietnam Film For Coppola

From Wire Services

Francis Ford Coppola, five-time Academy Award winner for two "Godfather" movies, said he has bet $12 million dollars of his own that he can overcome the American distaste for seeing a film about the Vietnamese War.

But he said he wasn't sure how he was going to go about it, except that he was going to face the movie with violence.

Producer-director Coppola, whose two "Godfather" films recorded gross sales, arrived in Manila to scout Filipino locations for filming his Vietnamese War picture, "Apocalypse Now."

The superintendent of the Utah Highway Patrol was charged with drunken driving.

The charge, a misdemeanor, was filed against Col. Roy M. "Mack" Helm by Davis County Attorney J. Duffy Palmer after an investigation into a weekend traffic accident.

Helm, suspended from his job by Gov. Calvin L. Rampton, had rolled his private Cadillac sedan on Interstate 15 near Centerville. He received cuts, bruises, a broken hand and a shoulder injury.

Texas industrialist H. Ross Perot would be the beneficiary of "what may be the most gigantic tax break in industry" if an amendment to a major tax bill becomes law, the Wall Street Journal said.

The amendment offered by Rep. Phil Landrum (D-Ga.), to the House Ways and Means Committee, would provide a special three-year carryback of capital losses in excess of $30,000 providing huge tax refunds for wealthy persons who had heavy losses in the stock market. For example, in 1974 or 1975. At present, such losses are only permitted to be carried forward.

The Journal said Perot, "who lately has suffered some huge business reversals," could regain as much as $15 million.

Defensive tackle Ben Williams was elected Colonel Rebel at the University of Mississippi, the first black to win the campus popularity title.

Williams is a business administration major.

A Sacramento woman, whose husband committed suicide after gambling losses, can't sue South Lake Tahoe casinos for wrongful death, a state appellate court ruled.

Justice George E. Paras of the 3rd District Court of Appeal said that it "makes just as much sense to argue that the clubs had a duty to not let him kill himself."

Phyllis A. Duff and her son sought damages from Harrah's South Shore Corp. and other casinos after the death of Robert Duff on Dec. 3, 1972.

Rep. Wilbur Mills, whose political career was almost wrecked by a well-publicized bout with alcoholism, says an alcoholism institute in Florida saved his life.

"I'd be dead by now if it wasn't for this institute," Mills said at a fund-raising event for the Palm Beach Institute.

Mills and his wife, Polly, flew to the South Florida city to help publicize the institute's plans for a research and educational foundation.

The daughter of Mayor Clarence Lightner of Raleigh, N.C. has been fined $100 and given a six-month suspended sentence in Wake County District Court after pleading guilty to a charge of credit card fraud.

Debra J. Lightner, 23, and Pamela Thomas, a friend, received duplicate sentences from Judge Pretlow Winborne. They were put on probation for two years.

Miss Lightner was the third member of the mayor's family to face criminal charges in the past year. Lightner was defeated in a bid for re-election.

A longtime patron of the Pasadena Art Museum sued to be relieved of future financial commitments to the facility now that its name has been changed to the Norton Simon Museum.

The Harry G. Steele Foundation filed a breach-of-contract action.

The foundation noted that it withheld one $100,000 payment due recently from a total of $250,000 remaining to be paid on a bank loan previously guaranteed to the museum.

Actress Hildegard Knef will seek a divorce from husband David Cameron, the actress's lawyer said in Berlin.

Cameron, a British author and film director, lost a suit to gain custody of their 7-year-old daughter, Tinta. Cameron alleged in court and in newspaper interviews that his 49-year-old wife has become a drug addict.

"I have never experienced this kind of infamy, and my husband knows exactly how this has influenced my state of health," the actress said through her lawyer.

Hugh Scott, the Senate minority leader rumored to be a candidate to replace George Bush as head of the U.S. mission to China, hints he may run for re-election next year.

In his "Republican Leaders Bulletin" mailed to media contacts and important state Republicans, Scott named campaign personnel and said he would announce his decision on Dec. 4 in Pittsburgh.

Because of his 74 years and his defense of former President Nixon during Watergate, some pundits consider Scott to be vulnerable.

Frank Cruz, convicted of the lead pipe murders of his wife and her two grandchildren, was declared sane by a Lassen County Superior Court jury.

Cruz, 45, pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity, but the five-man, seven-woman jury last week found him guilty of the slayings.

Cruz was accused of murdering his 75-year-old wife, Blanche, and his two stepdaughters, Ray Gonzales, 10, and Janice Reeves, 14, last June at the Cruz residence at Doyle in rural Lassen County.

OCC Speech Team Winners

Orange Coast College's forensics team finished higher than any other community college entered in the Pacific Southern California Forensics Assn. Warm-up Tournament held at El Camino College.

OCC finished right behind Claremont College, a four-year school, which won the sweepstakes title.

DENIES DEATH WISH Judge Robert Muir

Judge Denies Death Plea Won't Allow Plug Pulled on Karen Quinlan

MORRISTOWN, N.J. (UPI) — A New Jersey judge today denied the request of the parents of Karen Ann Quinlan to disconnect the respirator which has kept their comatose daughter alive for more than six months.

In a carefully worded, 50-page decision with wide implications for the treatment of the terminally ill, Superior Court Judge Robert Muir Jr., said, "It is ordered that the requested authorization to terminate the respirator supporting Karen Quinlan's cardio-respiratory functions be denied with prejudice and without costs to any party."

Had he granted the parents' request, it would have been the first time in history that a United States court authorized the death of a person not convicted of a crime.

Contrary to the parents' argument that they were legally and morally authorized to disconnect the machine, Muir said, "I have ruled it is a medical decision whether or not Karen should be removed from the respirator. Just as that decision is a medical one, the continued care and treatment of Karen is a medical one."

The judge ordered Daniel Coburn, Miss Quinlan's court-appointed guardian, to continue in that capacity.

Muir sympathized with the torment of the 21-year-old Miss Quinlan's parents, who visit their daughter daily at St. Clare's Hospital in Denville, N.J., where she lies in a grotesque fetal position weighing only 60 pounds.

But, the judge said, "that anguish would be continued and magnified by the inner conflicts Mr. Quinlan would have if he were required to concur in the day-by-day decisions on the future care and treatment of his daughter. I therefore find it more appropriate and in Karen's interests if another is appointed."

During the five-day trial, Paul W. Armstrong, the lawyer for the Quinlans, said Karen existed in a "vegetative state with no hope for recovery."

Muir said, however, "none of the doctors testified there was no hope. The hope for recovery is remote, but no doctor talks in the absolute. There is a duty to continue the life assisting apparatus if, within the treating physician's opinion, it should be done."

The Catholic Church, in a pastoral letter read at Mass Sunday in parishes throughout the diocese of Paterson, said the parents' decision to seek removal of the respirator is "morally correct."

Bishop Lawrence B. Casey urged church members to read the nine-page position paper which he drafted and released as the church's official stand in the case. The bishop also asked the church-goers to pray for the (See COMA, Page A2)

Trial Delay Granted to Hinshaw

FLANKED BY ATTORNEYS, REP. HINSHAW HAS A FEW WORDS FOR NEWSMEN Congressman Predicts He'll be Acquitted and Says He'll Run Again

Defense Motion Accepted

By TOM BARLEY Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Congressman Andrew Hinshaw and his two lawyers got the trial delay they wanted today in Orange County Superior Court after being told on their first appearance this morning that no such continuance would be permitted.

Judge Robert P. Kneeland delayed courtroom action until Nov. 17 after defense attorney Marshall Morgan explained that he is involved in a Los Angeles County trial and can not be free for courtroom action here until Nov. 24.

But it seemed at one point of a contested motion before acting presiding Judge Bruce Sumner that Hinshaw might have to face trial with only one of the two lawyers defending him on bribery charges.

After reminding tardy defense attorney Marshall Morgan that "the trial calendar is always called at 8:30 a.m. in Orange County," Judge Sumner testily sent the trio to Judge Robert P. Kneeland's courtroom for trial.

Morgan and co-counsel Robert Green, obviously taken aback, renewed their protests that Morgan is involved in a trial in Santa Monica and may not be available for courtroom action here.

But Judge Sumner, deputizing for presiding Judge Robert A. Banyard, remained adamant in his decision. He commented that a motion for continuance identical to the one he ruled on today was denied earlier by Judge Kenneth Williams.

Mesa Board To Hear Plan On West Side

The West Side Community Plan, part of a move to bring the city's general plan up to date, will be presented to the Costa Mesa Planning Commission tonight.

A major effort to notify residents and property owners of the meeting — scheduled for 6:30 p.m. in the council chambers — has been made, Advance Planner Arnold Hamala reported.

The city mailed out 7,880 copies of a four-page summary of the 80-page report, and in addition sent 300 cards to owners of properties with land use conflicts and to residents who live in special study areas.

Hamala explained that the land use conflicts involve properties where the use designated in the general plan differs from the existing zoning. One of the purposes of the Westside study is to resolve such conflicts.

This evening the staff will outline the entire report. At later meetings specific elements of the study will be tackled. The environment and housing elements will be considered Nov. 18, and the circulation and land use elements, Nov. 24. The final hearing is scheduled Dec. 8.

'Squeaky' Carried To Court, Ousted

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Lynette Fromme, who had to be carried into the courthouse by a U.S. marshal, was banished again from the court today after refusing to promise not to disrupt her trial on the charge she attempted to kill President Ford.

Miss Fromme, who had a red cloth over her eyes, was carried from a van that had brought her from the jail. She vowed Friday that she would not return to the courthouse unless officers carried her.

She had to be carried bodily but did not resist, said U.S. Marshal Arthur Van Court. He said she had a red bandana over her eyes when officers came to her jail cell.

After Miss Fromme was ejected from the courtroom, the trial continued. A court spokesman said Miss Fromme again refused to watch the trial on a television set in a room adjacent to her courtroom cell.

Miss Fromme was ejected from the court twice Friday when she demanded that convicted mass murderer Charles Manson be allowed to testify for her. She was an early member of the so-called Manson family cult.

After her arrival today, Miss Fromme rejected an offer by U.S. District Court Judge Thomas MacBride to allow her to return to court on a promise of avoiding the disruptions.

John Robinson Named Trojan Head Coach

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The University of Southern California today named John Robinson, a pro football assistant, to succeed pro-bound John McKay as head Trojan football coach.

Robinson, 38, is the offensive backfield coach of the Oakland Raiders.

Taking over the other half of McKay's dual job at USC is Dr. Richard H. Perry, the vice-chairman of the school's Committee on Athletics, who was named athletic director.

McKay announced two weeks ago that he was quitting after 15 years to become head coach of the new Tampa, Fla., club in the National Football League.

Robinson, like McKay, played his collegiate football at the University of Oregon. Robinson played on the Ducks' 1957 Rose Bowl team.

A native of Daly City, Calif., he was a three-sport star at Serra High School in San Mateo, Calif.

While Robinson was at USC as an assistant, the Trojans posted a 31-3-2 record and two Rose Bowl victories in three appearances.

Before joining the USC staff, Robinson spent 12 years as an assistant coach at Oregon.

Sanitary Board

Fifth Seat Still Open

By ALAN DIRKIN Of the Daily Pilot Staff

The question of who will fill the fifth seat on the board of the Costa Mesa Sanitary District — a vacancy created by the discovery last week that the previous member was ineligible — remained open today.

Two spots on the five-member board were filled last week in the election contested by 18 candidates, but in the voting, a third vacancy was created when board member Walter F. Albers, director of campus operations at Orange Coast College, went to cast his ballot.

He found his name had been crossed off the list of eligible voters because he lives on the OCC campus, which is not part of the sanitary district. He therefore was not eligible to vote nor to continue holding the office he had been appointed to in January.

That discovery may have given incumbent Francis L. Glockner, a contractor, a reprieve. He was defeated in last Tuesday's election, finishing third out of 18 candidates, and is due to leave office Nov. 28, when the second-place finisher, retired school principal Elvin Hutchison, will take over.

But Glockner finished only four votes behind Hutchison, and with 707 votes, he ended up 350 votes

Mesa Man Critical In Newport Crash

A 22-year-old Costa Mesa man who missed death in an auto crash two months ago was not expected to survive another crash in which he was involved in Newport Beach late Sunday.

A rollover along the S-curves of Irvine Avenue left Mark James Gilbert in critical condition from head injuries and a roommate hospitalized with lesser injuries.

Newport traffic investigators today still were trying to determine if Gilbert was driving, or whether Robert Paul Nix, 32, was at the wheel of the American compact car when it left the roadway at 7:30 p.m.

Both men live at 2182 Pacific Ave., according to police.

The crash occurred in the 2300 block of Irvine. The car was headed north, police said.

Investigator Steve Van Horn said that no one has yet determined the reason for the car leaving the roadway and flipping down an embankment.

Both victims were pinned in the overturned wreckage, he said. Paramedics removed both men with the aid of other firemen.

The investigator said that Gilbert suffered apparently serious head injuries in the crash about two months ago.

In the latest crash, his injuries were similar, but far more severe.

Valley Youth Attacked

A Fountain Valley youth was beaten senseless, robbed of $8 in cash, his watch and shoes and then dumped in a field in the Irvine Industrial Complex Sunday by four men he met at a party in Newport Beach.

Kenneth R. Kennebeck, 19, of 8612 El Rancho, Fountain Valley, was taken to Tustin Community Hospital and released after receiving medical treatment.

Kennebeck told police he had been drinking at the party and was not certain whether he got into the car with the four men voluntarily. He did not know their names.

He was taken to a field near Carlson Avenue and Michelson Drive, where the men beat and kicked him, robbed him and fled.

Thorpe to Get Planner Post

By GARY GRANVILLE
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

County Supervisor Thomas Riley was expected to announce today that former San Juan Capistrano Mayor James Thorpe, 41, will replace Ron Yeo as Riley's appointee to the Orange County Planning Commission.

Thorpe, a Democrat who once ran for the Fifth District Supervisorial seat now held by Riley, is an advocate of planned growth and development with strong environmental concerns.

Yeo, a 41-year-old Corona del Mar architect, resigned from the commission last week and, in the process, fired a critical parting shot in county government's direction.

In his resignation letter, Yeo chastised county government for what he said is its:

— Slow response to citizen needs.

— Failure to commit resources needed to properly plan communities.

— Giving lobbyists too much of a say in the decision making process.

Simultaneously, Yeo praised Riley and said he hopes the supervisor's "philosophy and goals for the Fifth District and county will continue to be carried out."

Last week's resignation was Yeo's second from the commission.

After serving 13 months as the late supervisor Ronald Caspers' appointee, Yeo resigned in June 1973, at Caspers' request.

After his successor, the late Bart Spendlove quit the planning commission last December, Yeo became the newly appointed supervisor Riley's surprise first appointment to the five-member panel.

Thorpe, a math instructor at Saddleback College, has been a San Juan Capistrano resident since 1968.

Attorneys opposing the Quinlans' request said they would appeal an unfavorable decision.

"sorry" there was an election for the directorships this year.

"It should be an appointed office; I'm afraid someone might use a sanitary board seat to campaign for the council," he said.

Sanitary district attorney Roy June has told the directors that they may appoint a fifth member without giving any consideration to the number of votes polled in the election. The directors were all surprised, however, at the news of Albers' ineligibility, and agreed to postpone a decision until the next meeting, Dec. 3.

Albers said today that he had "no hard feelings" on finding he was ineligible.

Services Held For Retired 'Snap' Glaser

Catholic rites were conducted Saturday for retired deputy marshal and former justice court constable Francis L. "Snap" Glaser, 70, who died last Wednesday after a short illness.

The retired law enforcement officer served for 21 years before his retirement five years ago.

The longtime Costa Mesa man was the Harbor Area's first deputy to constable Frank Vaughn and succeeded Vaughn when he died in 1955. Mr. Glaser later became a county marshal when the Harbor Judicial District was formed.

Rosary was Friday and mass Saturday at St. Joachim's Catholic Church with Msgr. Thomas J. Nevin officiating. Burial was at Harbor Rest Memorial Park.

Marshal Glaser leaves his wife, Juanita, of the home; daughters, Linda H. Smith of Marysville and Georgia Cheatwood of South Lake Tahoe, and a stepson, Kenneth Anderson of Costa Mesa, and one grandson.

'Dope Burn' Probed In Sunset Slayings

By TOM BARLEY
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Orange County Sheriff's officers have no firm clues to work on today in their investigation of the weekend slayings of a couple who shared the home at 16861 Bayview St., in Sunset Beach

But investigators probing the killings of Ronald Cauwels, 27, and Janet Mae Metz, 34, placed the possibility that they were the victims of a "dope burn" very high on their list.

They said Cauwels had a long criminal record and was known to be involved over the years in drug trafficking. They said he was the victim several years ago of a kidnap and assault that also may have had its origin in a drug deal.

Cauwels was shot once through the head Saturday night and died a short time later in Los Alamitos General Hospital. Metz died on the spot from multiple bullet wounds in the head and chest.

Investigators are working on reports that four men occupying what is believed to be a 10-year-old light colored sedan drove up to the home and kicked in the door after being refused permission to enter.

Officers said neighbors told them that three or four shots were heard and then a barrage of shots before the four men fled from the home and drove off.

They have not yet determined the type of weapons used in the killings. "They could have been rifles or shotguns," a deputy said.

Officers said Mrs. Metz had been living with Cauwels for some time and that her children by a former marriage were being cared for at her father's home in the Sunset Beach area.

"She was a beautiful girl but she had a lot of problems," an investigator said.

Veterans Day Rerun Slated For Tuesday

Orange County Courts, state offices, most public schools and five city halls will be closed Tuesday in observance of the second Veterans Day holiday in less than a month.

Federal and county offices marked the observance on October 27 and will be open Tuesday as will banks and most stores.

Tuesday's "traditional holiday" dates back to the signing of the armistice at the end of World War I in 1918.

Costa Mesa will be the only Orange Coast city to close its municipal offices Tuesday.

Schools in the Coast Community College District and the Capistrano Unified School District are the only ones that will be open, having observed the Oct 27 date.

Morgan and Green had hoped for a delay of the trial to Nov. 24. Hinshaw faces jury trial on three felony counts of bribery

Hinshaw appeared to recover his composure during the trek between courtrooms. He predicted he would be acquitted of the allegations and subsequently re-elected to his 40th Congressional District seat

The Newport Beach Republican said his office had received a "spurt of mail" following the recent dismissal of eight of 11 felony counts contained in the Orange County Grand Jury indictment of the former assessor

"I intend to stay active and run for office in the next primary," Hinshaw jauntily commented. He was nattily dressed today in a dark business suit and willingly joined newsmen for a televised interview.

Morgan and Green are now waiting in Judge Kneeland's courtroom for a discussion on trial prospects.

Still fuming from Judge Sumner's brusque dismissal of his arguments, Morgan commented that he hoped Judge Kneeland "might introduce a little sanity into the proceedings."
