U.S., Russia Break SALT Impasse

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union have reached agreement on a framework for negotiations on a new strategic arms limitation treaty.

The agreement was revealed Friday at the end of a three-day meeting between Secretary of State Cyrus Vance and Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko. It breaks an impasse which developed last March when the Kremlin rejected two U.S. arms control proposals.

In Washington, White House officials said the agreement means "serious negotiations" can begin on a new arms control treaty — SALT II — before the current one expires in October.

But they cautioned that working out details of the treaty, subject to ratification by the Senate, could prove "a long and complicated process."

"A tit-for-tat process is under way," one official said.

Although details of the agreement were not announced, the sources said it was a blend of the rejected American proposals and a Soviet offer.

The agreement was believed to include a modest reduction in each side's strategic arsenal, some restrictions on the Soviet Backfire bomber and the American cruise missile, and a mutual commitment to negotiate substantial weapons cutbacks later.

"The talks have been very useful as far as we're concerned and I believe that view is shared by the Soviets as well," Vance told reporters Friday.

Last March the Carter administration offered the Soviets two arms control proposals. One called for a substantial reduction in each side's nuclear arsenal; the other proposed ratification of the 1974 Vladivostok understanding, which limited each superpower to about 2,400 missiles and long-range bombers. But the U.S. plan would not have included the cruise missile or the Backfire bomber in the overall ceilings.

Soviet Communist party boss Leonid I. Brezhnev insisted the Vladivostok agreement, which he reached with then-President Gerald R. Ford, be the sole basis for negotiating SALT II. The Soviets also demanded the cruise missile be included in the ceiling but not the Backfire, which they claim cannot reach U.S. territory from the Soviet Union.

Sources said the compromise would probably involve a 10-15 percent reduction in the ceiling from Vladivostok, counting some cruise missiles against the American total.

In return, the Soviets would agree to station their Backfires so they would not be within easy range of the United States.

Las Vegas Issue

Story Changed By Diedrich

Orange County Supervisor Ralph Diedrich looked at his personal records and said Friday that he had been in Las Vegas last Oct. 1 and 2 after all.

Earlier in the week, Diedrich said he had not been in the Nevada city "since before last July."

Friday he corrected that statement when he said records kept by his wife at home showed that the Diedrichs had journeyed to Las Vegas with a Fullerton realtor Friday, Oct. 1 and returned to Orange County Saturday, Oct. 2.

"That trip escaped my mind when I was trying to think back as to when the last time I was there," Diedrich said.

His days in Las Vegas became an issue when it was reported in another newspaper that Diedrich had visited the desert city at the same time former police informant Gene Conrad was there.

Diedrich said he did not know Conrad was in Las Vegas then, "if, indeed he was" inasmuch as he did not see or contact him there.

Cyclist, 19, Killed in Road Crash

A 19-year-old motorcyclist from El Toro was killed Friday afternoon in Capistrano Beach when he was struck headon by a car driven by a 16-year-old San Clemente boy.

A California Highway Patrol spokesman said Mark Allen Hufnagle of 23171 Lavaca was dead on arrival at San Clemente General Hospital shortly after the 12:45 p.m. accident.

The 16-year-old youth, whose name is being withheld due to his age, received minor injuries from the collision and was treated and released at the hospital.

A third motorist, Everett Stunz, 65, of Long Beach, also was struck by the youth's car, but he was not injured, according to the highway patrol.

Hufnagle and Stunz both were traveling southbound on Pacific Coast Highway and the 16-year-old was driving northbound, the spokesman said.

The boy allegedly first struck the motorcyclist headon, ran into the car driven by Stunz and then overturned on the side of the road.

The CHP spokesman said it is not known yet whether or not the youth will face criminal charges stemming from the accident.

Drug, Photos Key Evidence On Polanski

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A tranquilizer drug and photographs of a 13-year-old girl will be the key pieces of physical evidence against film director Roman Polanski in his rape and drug abuse trial, the prosecution says.

Deputy District Attorney Roger Gunson disclosed at a pretrial hearing Friday that police found the tranquilizer drug, Quaalude, and photos at Polanski's hotel room when they arrested him March 11 on charges of raping and drugging the teen-aged girl.

The pictures, said Gunson, were among those Polanski took of the girl while he was on assignment for the French edition of Vogue magazine.

He said they will help prove that the girl is telling the truth about her alleged rape by the 43-year-old director.

"There are photographs recovered, Quaalude tablet on his person and in his room that substantiate and corroborate almost every point she testifies to," Gunson declared.

Young Arrives In S. Africa

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Ambassador Andrew Young arrives today in white-dominated South Africa to try to convince white businessmen that racial separation will result in economic ruin.

Young, on the final leg of a two-week African tour, was to fly to South Africa from Maputo, Mozambique, where he attended a five-day U.N. conference promoting black majority rule in Rhodesia and South-West Africa, which South Africa governs in defiance of U.N. orders.

During his two-day unofficial visit, Young, who is despised by many white South Africans for his racial views, will meet with white businessmen, newspaper editors and students at all-white Witwatersrand University.

Sons' Dirt Bikes Stolen

By ARTHUR R. VINSEL
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

A HUNTINGTON BEACH couple, angry and concerned about the upsurge in thefts of mo-peds and small motorcycles, are offering a $200 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of whomever stole their sons' bikes.

"My sons worked very hard to earn the money for those bikes," says Mrs. Dee Clark, of 9091 Niguel Circle, in southeast Huntington Beach.

Big, heavyweight motorcycles belonging to Mrs. Clark and her husband, building contractor Jean Clark, weren't touched in the May 14 burglary.

SONS KEN, 15, an Edision High School student, and his brother Kevin, 14, a pupil at Gisler Intermediate School, both owned 1976 Suzuki RM 125 dirt bikes with black frames, yellow tanks and fenders and knobby-type tires.

Chances are the little bikes, with frame numbers 42892 and 42885 and motor numbers 43037 and 42923 have been repainted by the thieves, police confirm.

The Clark youngsters put in long, hard hours and a lot of sweat for their dad's construction firm last summer to earn the bikes for family off-road adventures together, Mrs. Clark related.

UNDERGROUND TRAFFIC in stolen mo-peds, repainted, has thus just begun to flourish.

The same situation was encountered when bicycles became the big transportation fad among teenagers, police say.

ANY INFORMATION about the missing Clark Suzuki bikes may be called to Detective J.R. Prchal, 536-5311, or the Clark home at 963-2453, says Mrs. Clark.

She said flyers widely distributed in supermarkets and community bulletin boards so far have generated a few tips.

Purchase Cleared By Judge

By TOM BARLEY
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Orange County Superior Court Judge James F. Judge has cleared the way for sale of the Irvine Company by lifting an injunction that had prevented an earlier proposed sale to the Mobil Corp. for $200 million.

Just five hours after Mobil dropped out of the bidding battle, Judge Judge told a battery of lawyers in his courtroom Friday that he thought the $337,441,500 offered by a consortium was fair market value for the Irvine Company.

Irvine heiress Joan Irvine Smith, who will be a director of the new company that will now bear the name of Taubman-Allen-Irvine Inc., agreed with the judicial comment.

Mrs. Smith admitted that she was surprised that Mobil dropped out of the race Friday after offering $40 a share — more than $336 million — for the Irvine Company.

"But we would have gone higher," she said. "If they had come back Friday with an offer higher than our $40.10 a share, we would have been back on Monday with a still higher offer."

A number of minor legal issues still have to be resolved by Judge Judge, but it seemed certain from his comments Friday that the Irvine Company will become Taubman-Allen-Irvine Inc. on or about July 14.

Directors of the James Irvine Foundation will meet Tuesday for what attorney Howard Privett says will be formal adoption of Taubman-Allen-Irvine offer after a 60-day waiting period.

Privett was told by Judge Judge that the foundation board had acted reasonably and fairly at all times in its attempts to dispose of its 54.5 percent controlling interest in the Irvine Company.

The divestiture became necessary under provisions of the Federal Tax Reform Act of 1969. The measure compels foundations holding stock in private companies to dispose of that stock before 1983.

Two Seized In Slaying Of Widow

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Howard R. Willard and his ex-wife Marjorie Pollit, the last two people sought in the murder and multimillion-dollar robbery of a reclusive Indianapolis widow, were arrested Friday in Arizona after trying to pay cash for a $35,000 motor home, authorities said.

The couple were jailed in lieu of $1 million bond.

An FBI spokesman in Indianapolis said agents recovered two large paper sacks containing $170,745 in a trailer used by the couple. The money consisted mostly of $100 and $500 bills.

Authorities have said that between $1.5 million and $3.5 million remains unaccounted for.

The couple appeared before U.S. Magistrate Richard C. Gormley, who set bond on charges of first-degree murder and interstate flight to avoid prosecution. Extradition will be discussed when attorney Henry Gonzalez arrives to represent the suspects, Gormley said.

The FBI said Willard, 38, and Mrs. Pollitt, 48, both of Mooresville, Ind., were arrested without incident in a suburban trailer park just north of the Phoenix city limits.

They are charged in the shooting death of Marjorie V. Jackson, 66, a grocery chain heiress found dead in her home two weeks ago.

Three other people were arrested last week after police said one of them bought a new Lincoln

Watson Future in Doubt

In the wake of Friday's court validation of the Taubman-Allen-Irvine bid for the Irvine Company, its president Ray Watson, has been unavailable to the press.

Watson issued an interoffice memo Friday morning to the company's employes in which he declared he was pleased that the question of company ownership was nearing an end.

Watson's memo also urged "all employes of the company and members of the community to work with the new owners in the same purposeful, cooperative spirit that has characterized all of our relationships in the past."

The 50-year-old executive discussed his own plans in general terms only, saying that for the present his "highest priority will be to be as helpful to the new owners as I can be during the transition period."

Watson's memo leaves unanswered questions about his long-term relationship with the company he has worked for for the last 17 years.

In interviews earlier this year, Watson made it quite clear he would not stay on if the east coast financial consortium bought the company.

He denied that any departure from the company would be based on a personality conflict with Joan Irvine Smith, the contentious heir of the company's founder and a member of its board of directors.

What he said was that the company's cash needs are going to be in the neighborhood of $3 billion over the next five years and he indicated he had doubts that the Taubman-Allen group would be able to produce and raise that kind of money when they had extended their credit so far just to buy the company.

"What we will need," he said at the time," is an owner that is financially strong and that would materially improve our position to raise money.

"On the other hand, if the owner is heavily indebted with notes in order to buy the company and consists of partners who have not committed their own finances, then those are circumstances under which I would find it impossible to continue here."

The effect of Watson's loss on the Irvine Company is imponderable. He is highly regarded and respected in the business community locally and nationwide.

An architect by training, he practiced that profession for five

Medical Project Approved

The UCI-Medical Center has received permission from the state to expand existing emergency room services, but a request to add a more comprehensive emergency facility was denied.

The State Department of Health ruled this week that the university-operated medical center in Orange could expand its emergency room from about 4,000-square-feet to roughly 7,000-square-feet.

According to Robert Gates, executive associate director of the medical center, the emergency room will remain "basic" instead of expanding to a "comprehensive" facililty.

Gates explained that both types of emergency rooms are generally the same, but that comprehensive rooms have more backup facilities in the hospital, such as burn centers, cardiovascular surgery service, intensive care units and others.

Gates said that when the medical center asked to expand the emergency room in early April, state officials said no because they thought the center had sufficent backup services.

"We absolutely disagree with that and if we pushed it we could have shown them we have things like a licensed burn center," Gates said.

But he added that in the future, the two types of emergency rooms will be considered the same and that there was no need to pursue the matter any further, as long as a basic expansion was permitted.

The medical center is expanding in two phases. The first phase, expected to begin in two or three months, will provide an addition to the outpatient building at the Orange facility.

The second phase, which includes the emergency room expansion, is set to begin in January of next year.

Gates said the number of patients that can be handled in the emergency room will remain the same, but that they can be serviced better with more room and facilities.

Riding 'Piggyfront'

Lynn Ballard, 18, of Newport Beach, told Costa Mesa Police she took her eyes off the road for just a few moments before her Opel GT rear-ended a Mustang, forcing the car's hindquarters to perch on her auto's hood. Police said neither driver was hurt during the collision, which drew startled and amused glances from motorists and pedestrians near Superior Avenue and Industrial Way. The driver of the Mustang was Lloyd MacGrill, 68, of Fountain Valley.

Price Spent Most In Saddleback Vote

Robert Price ran the most expensive campaign in Saddleback College's trustee election this spring despite the fact that his incumbent opponent had died about a month before the election.

According to campaign finance statements filed recently with the Orange County Registrar of Voters, contributions to Price's campagign totalled $1,116.

More than half, however, was the value placed on his share of a brochure printed by the Committee for Quality Education, the political arm of the faculty association. This is considered a nonmonetary contribution under the state's disclosure law.

Price, an administrator at Leisure World, received about $537 in cash contributions from retired residents and businessmen in the area. He spent this money on advertisements.

Price won the seat in Trustee Area Five, Laguna Hills. His name was on the ballot against Dr. James Marshall, who had filed for re-election but died before the balloting. Two area weekly newspapers encouraged residents to vote for the late trustee despite his death.

Two other candidates, who had been supported by the teachers, received the most money in contributions. Both Alan H. Greenwood and Eugene C. McKnight were given $600 by the Association for Better Citizenship, the California Teachers Association's political arm.

McKnight received another $25 in contributions but he spent $951 in his successful drive to unseat the incumbent, Patrick Backus, in Area Four, Dana Point-San Clemente.

In Trustee Area Two, North Tustin, Greenwood spent the most money. In addition to CTA's $600 contribution, he was given $92 by the Committee for Quality Education. He spent $753 on his campaign.

But the winner of that area's seat, William Watts, reported that he neither received nor spent more than $200.

Mrs. Jackson had withdrawn at least $9 million in cash from various banks in the last 17 months.

College Board Hires Counsel For Lawsuit

Coast Communty College District trustees have hired a Newport Beach law firm to represent the district in a lawsuit filed last week by the California Teachers Association (CTA).

The law firm of Alexander Bowie, 610 Newport Center Drive will represent the district in Orange County Superior Court in a suit in which the local CTA chapter charges the district with illegally classifying its part-time instructors.

The union is seeking reclassification of about 1,000 teachers in the district, along with placing them on a tenure route.

Union attorneys will also seek up to three years back pay for those part-time teachers, which could add up to $7 or $8 million, CTA officials say.

District trustees approved a fee of $75 an hour for Bowie, another $75 per hour fee for his partner, Clayton Parker, and fees of $45 to $65 per hour for four other associates.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — One-time soul music king Isaac Hayes says he doesn't have enough money to provide for his family, but he admitted in court this week that his children occasionally take a limousine to school.

plied with the law at all times during trail trial of this lawsuit," Judge Judge said. "I think they acted responsibly and displayed sound business judgment."

Mrs. Smith refused to comment on the future policies of the new company she will help direct until she has met with other members of the new board.

Asked if the takeover would mean the removal of Irvine Company President Raymond Watson from that position, she said, "That's up to Mr. Watson."

The granddaughter of James Irvine II was then asked if she would vote for the removal of Watson if such a move were advocated by the new board.

"I would not take that position," Mrs. Smith said.

Other principals in the consortium that has finally won its long bidding battle with Mobil Corp. include real estate speculator Donald Bren, Detroit developer Alfred Taubman, Wall Street financier Charles Allen and auto billionaire Henry Ford II.

Bren, who reportedly holds a 64 percent interest in the new enterprise, was in the courtroom. But he refused to comment on the takeover of the Irvine Company.

The more communicative Mrs. Smith rejected the suggestion that the takeover by the consortium would mean significant changes in the development plans of the Irvine Company.

She said the new organization would step up the company's agricultural operations to a point well beyond its current production.

"If necessary, we'll go all the way to the foothills to increase our agricultural acreage and pursue what has always been a family tradition," Mrs. Smith said.

But Mrs. Smith warned newsmen as she left the courthouse that she will not accept what appears to be a victory for her group until the transfer of title and judicial approval has been "signed, sealed and delivered.

"I've seen too many Pyrrhic victories in my time," she said. "I will only believe that this has happened when every legal act has been accomplished."

Privett said the $184 million that will come to the foundation from the sale of its 54.5 percent interest in the Irvine Company will be reinvested by the foundation.

"The foundation will look for appropriate portfolios and continue its charitable trusts," he said. "But the board of directors will look into that issue when the transfer is completed."

Mobil executives, obviously bitterly disappointed Friday, had very little to say about the withdrawal of the corporation from the race.

Corporation President James Q. Reardon limited himself to the comment: "We do not plan to submit a further cash bid at this time."

Cruise Ship Said 'Clean'

CHARLOTTE AMALIE, U.S. Virgin Islands (AP) — U.S. health officials gave the cruise ship Fairsea a clean bill Friday after checking into a mysterious ailment that afflicted as many as 270 of the ship's 900 passengers.

Roy Schneider, the U.S. territory's health commissioner, said "no problem" could be found aboard the 25,000-ton steamship, which docked at St. Thomas island early Friday.

Passengers complained of vomiting, diarrhea and cramps that lasted about two days. Officials said sometimes a fever was associated with the illness.

Marine Found Guilty of Manslaughter

An El Toro Marine who was accused during his trial of kicking and beating his 2-year-old stepson to death was found guilty of voluntary manslaughter Friday after four days of deliberation by an Orange County Superior Court jury.

Judge Jerrold S. Oliver set June 15 as the date he will sentence Jeffrey Alan Ritchie, 23, to what could be a state prison term of up to 15 years for the killing of Mark Allen Styer, 2.

It was alleged during the trial that Ritchie took the child into a field near his Santa Ana home last Sept. 17 and inflicted fatal injuries on the boy.

It was further alleged by a prosecutor who demanded a verdict of first-degree murder that Ritchie vented his anger on the child because he found his wife flirting with other men at a bar while the little boy looked on.

It was argued in Ritchie's defense that he had been drinking heavily at the time.

Bright Stars Gave Answer

Irvine heiress Joan Irvine Smith had stars in her eyes Friday but it was the other stars she talked about that intrigued newsmen.

Mrs. Smith, a keen student of astrology, told a fascinated audience as she left the courthouse that her astrologer predicted to her some time ago that she would achieve a major victory on May 20.

General Awaits Angry Carter

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is meeting with top aides on withdrawing U.S. ground troops from South Korea, while a high American military officer publicly critical of that plan waits to be called on the White House carpet.

Carter scheduled a meeting on the Korean situation today with two officials who are preparing to visit Seoul to begin work on the withdrawal of 32,000 ground troops over a five-year timetable.

Carter planned to meet with Defense Secretary Harold Brown, Acting Secretary of State Warren Christopher, Under Secretary of State Philip Habib, and Gen. George Brown, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The White House would not say whether Carter would meet today with Maj. Gen. John K. Singlaub, ordered to Washington after he criticized the President's withdrawal plans in a newspaper interview. Nor would Singlaub say anything about the matter.

Landing here Friday night, he told reporters only, "I have orders to report to the President. I will do that when ordered. Until I report to the President, I will have no further comment."

Singlaub flew in civilian clothes by commercial airliner from Seoul to New York, then transferred to another flight to Washington.

It was expected the general, 55, would meet with Defense Secretary Brown before seeing the President.

There were suggestions, meanwhile, that the general be disciplined or dismissed.

Sen. Frank Church of Idaho, ranking Democrat on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told reporters: "When I was in the Army, it was made clear to me that the unpardonable offense was insubordination. If this holds true for enlisted men and junior offfeers, even more must it bind the generals."

A former U.S. commander in South Korea said Singlaub, the No. 3 man in the U.S. contingent there, "has to be prepared to take the consequences" of his statement to a Washington Post reporter this week that, "If we withdraw our ground forces on the schedule suggested it will lead to war."

Retired Gen. Richard G. Stilwell, who picked Singlaub as the chief of staff in Korea, indicated he agrees in general with Singlaub's opposition to the withdrawal. However, he noted, "this was a direct public challenge" to Carter's decision.

Rep. Samuel S. Stratton (D-N.Y.), a frequent advocate of Pentagon views, said he wants Singlaub to testify Wednesday before the House Armed Services Committee's investigations subcommittee in connection with the panel's "overall review of U.S. defense strategy."

OC Jail Praised By State

The Orange County Jail has received a clean bill of health from state inspectors, according to a news release issued Friday by the Sheriff's office.

The release quoted a Board of Corrections field representative, J.W. Pederson, as saying:

"Policies and procedures (in the jail) were discussed and (found to) meet or exceed our requirements in all areas."

Pederson's reference was to a May 4 inspection of the jail and was contained in a May 13 letter to Sheriff Brad Gates.

"It is a compliment to your administration and jail staff to have produced such well-defined operational guidelines," Pederson said in his letter to Gates.

"The physical plant (jail) was again found to be in excellent condition," Pederson added.

Conditions at Orange County Jail have been under scrutiny since February when a group of former inmates and families of inmates complained to a state Assembly committee of what they termed deplorable conditions in the jail.

But Pederson's letter apparently made no mention of the complaints as it praised operations at the jail.

"With the opening of the fourth floor of the men's jail, overcrowding is no longer an issue in the dormitory areas," the release quoted Pederson as saying.

Pederson's letter, according to the release, went on to say that plans have been made to add toilet facilities in the men's jail dormitories and noted that "deficiencies in isolation cells have been corrected."

Woman Unconscious

Mesa Police Seek Clues to Robbery

By STEVE MITCHELL
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Costa Mesa detectives are waiting for word from Mercy General Hospital in Santa Ana that a woman found uneonscious in a South Coast Plaza parking lot earlier this week is well enough to answer some questions.

Mrs. Juanita L. Abery, 50, Tustin, was discovered by passersby at about 7 p.m. Tuesday in the east parking lot near the May Company at South Coast Plaza.

Hospital officials said the woman suffered a heart attack and had a lump on her head. She remains in guarded condition at the hospital where she was taken by ambulance after Costa Mesa paramedics worked over the nearly lifeless body Tuesday.

In the meantime, officers have found the woman's missing car and are dusting it for fingerprints. They are also seeking community help in capturing the person or persons who took $450 from her purse, stole her car and left her for dead.

The woman's car was discovered in a residential area on Garfield Street in Santa Ana Thursday morning.

Police at first believed Mrs. Abery was just a heart attack victim and it wasn't until her family was notified that detectives discovered her purse and 1974 Ford Mustang II were missing.

The woman has remained unconscious since the incident and officers are checking out other leads until Mrs. Abery can talk to detectives.

"This thing happened in the early evening hours in a parking lot right next to Bristol Street," Lt. George Lorton said today. "Somebody had to see it happen, and we'd like to talk to anybody who was in that parking lot or driving along Bristol and may have seen something."

Lorton said it is possible the woman put up a fight when the suspect tried to grab her purse and possibly suffered a heart attack during the struggle.

"But we don't know that for certain until we can talk to her," he added.

Lorton said the woman was wearing a black pantsuit and driving her royal blue Mustang II when her family last saw her Tuesday afternoon.

Shoppers or passersby who may have seen the woman are asked to call Lt. Lorton at 556-5354.

UC to Spend $350,000 on Medical Clinic

UC Regents agreed Friday to spend $350,000 to build a permanent community medical clinic in Anaheim instead of a temporary clinic consisting of trailer units.

The regents first appropriated the $350,000 at the February board meeting. Since then, they learned it would cost no more to build wood frame and stucco buildings than to install the modular trailer units.

Permanent buildings would not have to be replaced later, would provide a more satisfactory facility and would be a better long-term investment, according to a university spokesman.

The new clinic, expected to begin operation by winter of 1977-78, will be run by the UCI-College of Medicine.

It will be a joint venture, staffed by the departments of Medicine, Pediatrics and Obstetrics-Gynecology. It will be located at Romneya Drive and Swan Street, near concentrations of lower income and senior citizen populations.

The medical school already operates two clinics — the general ambulatory clinic at the UCI-Medical Center in Orange and a family practice clinic in Santa Ana.

The clinic, as planned, would accommodate up to 20,000 patient visits per year, with the number increasing to 30,000 annual visits when the clinic is expanded to its ultimate size, probably in 1979.

Two Jail 'Firemen' Get Shorter Terms

Two prisoners who joined Orange County Jail deputies in battling a fire started by a fellow inmate have had their sentences reduced by Superior Court Judge James H. Walsworth.

Judge Walsworth cut the one year drug sentence of Robert Luther Singleton, 25, by five months and ordered a one month reduction in the one year armed robbery term being served by Alphonso Glen Strong, 32.

He took the action on the recommendation of jail administrator William Wallace who lauded the two prisoners for their prompt response to a blaze triggered last April 20 when a mentally disturbed inmate set fire to his mattress.

Wallace advised Judge Walsworth that the two inmates defied intense flames and heat, joined deputies in throwing buckets of water into the cell and then helped to revive the unconscious prisoner who started the fire in the medical isolation wing.

Judge Walsworth granted the sentence reductions with the comment that "both men are an example not only to their fellow inmates but to society in general."

Bus Equipment Issue

Handicapped to Wait?

By KATHY CLANCY
Of The Daily Pilot Staff

The general manager of the Orange County Transit District (OCTD) says new federal regulations governing bus equipment for the handicapped and elderly may not take effect for the next two years.

OCTD Manager Ed Loritz said he understands Transportation Secretary Brock Adams has ordered that new buses purchased with the help of federal grants be accessible to the handicapped and elderly.

Loritz said he does not know if that would mean that every new coach would have to be equipped with wheelchair lifts.

Loritz also said he has been told the new regulations would not go into effect until 1979.

Loritz said OCTD has received no formal message. The ruling would apply to OCTD, which uses federal funds to buy new buses.

OCTD directors already have agreed to expand a fleet of lift-equipped vans from three to 12 to serve the handicapped in Orange County.

For 25 cents that Dial-a-Lift program offers the handicapped door-to-destination bus service.

Loritz said he believes that service is the best arrangement for the handicapped.

Equipping new full-size coaches with lifts, he said, would not meet all handicapped needs because the federal regulation will not require OCTD to install lifts on buses it already owns.

In addition, he said, there still would be many handicapped or elderly residents who would have no way of traveling from their homes to regular bus stops.

It costs about $10,000 to equip each bus with a lift.

OCTD directors expect to order 65 new coaches this year; they would be equipped with an air suspension system allowing the buses to "kneel" close to curblines to make boarding easier for the elderly and handicapped.

Those buses also may be equipped with wheelchair lifts if directors decide to purchase the additional equipment, Loritz said.

He said OCTD officials also hope to order another 75 full-size coaches during 1978 for delivery in 1979.

In addition, directors have ordered 10 long buses equipped with hinges for easier turning; they also would be delivered in 1979.

Loritz said no wheelchair lifts have been designed to fit the longer buses.

He said he doesn't know if the new federal regulation would apply to buses delivered or to buses ordered in 1979.

Jury Curbs Lashed

County Panel Opposes Overhaul Bill

By GARY GRANVILLE
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

The Orange County Grand Jury said Friday it opposes pending legislation aimed at overhauling the grand jury system in California.

In its report, the Grand Jury charged that three bills proposed in the state Legislature will, if enacted into law, "undermine" grand juries "by modifying or eliminating the criminal indictment function."

The jury said its civil function of reviewing county government operations "provides citizens of this state with a potent force aimed at achieving honest and efficient government.

"No diminution of the effectiveness of this important safeguard can be allowed," the Grand Jury added.

Its report went on to say that grand juries should not lose their authority "to investigate governmental affairs which may have criminal implications."

And, the jury added, grand juries "must not lose their right to receive testimony under oath and the right to bring an indictment or accusation."

In some investigations, the jury said, it is not known at the outset whether the outcome will be civil or criminal.

As a result, it is not practical to have one grand jury to indict on criminal charges and another to investigate civil matters.

In more detail, the Grand Jury opposed suggestions that would:

— Permit witnesses to bring an attorney into the Grand Jury room when they testify.

— Stagger jurors' terms so that each panel would have some experienced members to sit with newcomers.

While the Grand Jury recommended against adoption of all three reform measures "in their present form," it did find worth in some of their provisions.

For example, the jury said grand juries should be empowered to investigate "all offices of city government located in the county" as well as all special districts and joint power agencies.

The Grand Jury also conceded that it might be "often times helpful" to have special criminal juries formed to hear criminal matters intitiated by the district attorney.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)— Alabama Gov. George Wallace says the National Lampoon, a New York-based humor magazine, libeled him in a comic strip account of the cancer death of his first wife, Gov. Lurleen Wallace. Wallace filed a $15 million suit against the magazine Thursday.

'THE GOVERNOR AND THE DISHWASHER' TROD BOARDS
Lester Maddox Performs With Bobby Lee Sears

Maddox' New Act Buries Ax

SANFORD, Fla. (AP) — Remember Lester Maddox, the former Georgia governor who once closed his restaurant rather than submit to Integration? Well, he's putting together a night club act, and his partner is a black ex-convict.

The act is called "The Governor and the Dishwasher." It stars Maddox, governor of Georgia in 1967-70, and Bobby Lee Sears, who once did time on a narcotics conviction and later was a busboy in Maddox' Atlanta restaurant.

MADDOX USED AN ax handle to chase blacks away from his Pickrick Restaurant in Atlanta in the 1960s when court rulings held it illegal for business doing interstate business to discriminate. The ax handle became a symbol for Maddox when he went into politics.

The former restaurateur and governor has said he never was a racist, but was called one because of his criticism of radicals.

Maddox said he has wanted to be in show business "ever since I was a child. I've always wondered why people get paid — sometimes quite a lot — for acting just as we feel and live."

THE OPENING AT Mr. P.'s supper club in Sanford originally was scheduled Sunday but was postponed in hopes of attracting a bigger crowd.

Bob Patrick, a spokesman for the supper club, said Maddox and Sears will do a "down home" comedy routine built around musical numbers — backed by a small band. Maddox plays a harmonica, Sears a guitar.

In a telephone interview, Maddox described the act as "unique and unusual" and said "it's in line with what people are looking for today . . . fun."

Board's Non-meet Goes On 3½ Hours

Thursday night's official meeting of the Orange County Fair Board wasn't. It wasn't official, that is.

LACKING A MAJORITY of members needed for action on the fair's annual budget, the show went on with a few changes.

Board President Clinton Hoose was unable to call the meeting to order and there was no pledge of allegiance or approval of minutes from the last meeting. Members in attendance were unable to make motions on the board's 14 item agenda.

AFTER THREE AND one half hours of "discussion" the board went into a closed-door executive session.

A spokesman for the fair board said two of the four absent members were out of the country and another was vacationing in Kentucky.

The other two no-shows couldn't be located.

Dream Comes True For 7 Explorers

Almost every young man at some time dreams of growing up and becoming a fireman.

For the seven young men that comprise the Newport Beach Fire Explorers Unit, the dream is already on its way to reality.

On Wednesday, four of them will take part in Orange County's fourth annual Fire Explorer Academy at El Toro Marine Corps Air Station. For five days, they will put the knowledge they have received from Newport Beach Fire Capt. Dick Wright and Fireman Larry Tegel to work.

Included in the program will be a live liquified petroleum gas fire to be controlled, a helicopter search and rescue assignment and a full day of wildland fire fighting.

Nationwide, there are nearly one-half million fire explorers, ages 15-21, and some will come from out of state to practice specialized firefighting techniques. After a week of 6 a.m. rise n' shine calls and long hours of dangerous work, many will go home knowing if firefighting is their true calling.

THE NEWPORT explorer unit has been in operation less than a year. Strong interest and the ability to make weekly meetings with firemen instructors is all that's required to join.

The current unit has seven members, all male, but there is no restriction on young female members.

Those interested in joining, should contact Newport Beach fire Capt. Art Morton at 644-3633.

Garden Zone, Annexation Win Backing

The Laguna Beach City Council has taken a step toward annexing a county residence whose owner, Hortense Miller, has deeded the property and its unique botanical gardens to the city.

The action to preserve the gardens for public view was to pre-zone the Allview Terrace lot for low density residential use. The staff was ordered to prepare an application for annexation, to be given hearing before the Local Agency Formation Commission.

LAFC is a county agency that rules on governmental boundaries within the county.

City planners urged the residential designation on the 2.5 acres to avoid an issue of spot zoning, since that is the zoning of surrounding residences.

Town Seeks Killer Of One of Its Own

BORGER, Tex. (AP) — Abbe Rodgers Hamilton was one of their own. And when her mutilated body, pregnant with her first child, was found, rich and poor people alike here dug into their pockets to help solve the slaying.

The reward fund for the arrest and conviction of the rapist-murderer now equals a dollar for each of the 17,000 residents of this Texas Panhandle town.

ABBE RODGERS GRADUATED from Borger High School and attended junior college here. A high school club elected her its sweetheart.

She married Buzz Hamilton a year ago Sunday and the couple were building onto their house in anticipation of their child, due this summer.

Law officers think the 19-year-old woman might have been the latest victim of the man newspapers are calling the "traveling rapist." He has struck in three other towns, but Mrs. Hamilton, who was stabbed to death, was the only victim to die.

THE REWARD FUND was started on the efforts of George Finger, chairman of the First National Bank.

Some of the money came in big chunks — $5,000 from the Phillips Petroleum Company, $2,000 for each of the city's two banks, $1,000 from the Borger News Herald where Mrs. Hamilton once worked. Some came from individuals.

"SOME PEOPLE HAVE given a dollar," said Mrs. Lou Cooley of Borger, "and some have given more. One individual gave $1,000.

"This is the first time we've ever had anything like this," Mrs. Cooley said. "Here was a young couple on the verge of all this happiness, building onto their home, expecting their first child. . . ."

Trustees Delay Incentive Plan For Saddleback

Saddleback Valley Unified School District trustees have tabled action on a proposed program which would reward employes who make money-saving suggestions.

Trustees agreed to postpone a decision until a process for evaluating the suggestions is formed.

If the program is approved, classified employes could receive up to 10 percent of what their idea saves in the first year. The reward would be no greater than $1,500 or less than $10.

Certificated employes, as teachers and most administrators, would not qualify for the program because state law prevents it, administrators said.

Until the program is approved, one trustee suggested that the employes "hide their ideas."

'YOU PLAN AND WORK AND REHEARSE . . . FOR THIS ONE MOMENT'
Neighbors Sit In Stuffy Gym Sharing Pride, Warmth, Joy

School Play Unites Neighbors in Pride

By JULES LOH

OLD TAPPAN, N. J. (AP) — Apple blossoms and lilac sweetened the air and in the clean spring sky the stars shone as if the only target of heaven's light was this very small spot on this very large planet on this very special night, the night of the school play.

The seventh and eighth grade pupils of Charles De Wolf School performed "The Sound of Music."

WHEN THE PLAY WAS done on Broadway, 25 miles away, it could not have been the hit it was this night because a school play is more than a performance.

"I confess I choked up four or five times," said Carmen Boscia, the teacher who directed the play. "What a good feeling I had watching them, seeing the result of all their hard work.

"Some of the kids wanted to put it on again, a second showing for a different audience. You can't. A school play is a fulfillment. You plan and work and rehearse from the beginning of school, from way back in September, for this one moment and that's it. You can't recapture the moment."

NO, YOU CAN'T. AND, yes, what a good feeling everybody else had, too.

Old Tappan is a village of 3,000 with the same concerns and woes of similar towns across the country, the same neighborhood squabbles and village disagreements, and for that one moment, the night of the school play, all unpleasantness vanishes.

For that one moment in the springtime, neighbors get together and sit on folding chairs in a stuffy gymnasium and feel pride and warmth and joy.

THEY ARE IN THEIR own school and those stage props are their own lawn furniture and table lamps and those are their own children doing something terribly decent and if Carman Boscia thinks he choked up he should have heard the sniffling in the audience when those young, trembling voices sang "Edelweiss."

If it was a carefree time for the audience, it was just the opposite for the cast.

AMERICA

They had, indeed, prepared since September, staying after school, taking time from their lunch periods, practicing their lines at home. Now was the moment of truth. Backstage, before the opening curtain, the tension was palpable.

THEY SEEMED SO small, their burdens so large. Rouged and costumed, they could not sit still. They paced. They talked in whispers. They crammed a last look at the script. They checked and rechecked one another's appearance.

"Is my headpiece on straight?"

"Is my makeup smeared!?"

"Do I look all right?"

A SIGN JUST offstage offered a final scrawled reminder: "Speak loud and slowly with diction," something not always easy to do with braces on the teeth.

Once the evening's program began, though, the nervousness ended.

First, a selection of songs by the chorus, 110 healthy voices singing of hope and promise, of being on top of the world, of Abraham, Martin and John, a dozen songs done in three-part harmony and no professional choir could have done them better, ask anyone in the audience.

THEN THE PLAY, AND no Broadway cast could have performed it better either, another fact the audience agreed on wholeheartedly.

When it was over the parents, neighbors, lingered longer than usual outside the school, clinging to the magic of the evening. They chatted, told one another how well their children had done, enjoyed one another's company. The night air was pleasant. The moon made its appearance.

The cast did not linger. The cast, still in costumes and makeup, went laughing off to Friendly's ice cream parlor. They had earned a treat.

Arizona Approves Laetrile

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A measure legalizing the manufacture and sale of the controversial substance Laetrile in Arizona was signed into law Friday by Gov. Raul Castro.

"I am happy to sign it promptly," the governor said.

BECAUSE THE measure carried an emergency clause, it took effect immediately.

"There are some suffering from cancer who have turned to Laetrile and swear that it has helped them," Castro said. "Others are not so positive, but they at least have found mental peace with its use and they have found tremendous hope."

THE NEW LAW allows use of Laetrile within Arizona. The substance, made from apricot and peach pits and bitter almonds, has been banned from interstate commerce by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration.

The FDA contends that substance has not been proven effective against cancer and may tempt cancer victims to put off other useful treatment.

The state Senate approved the measure 29 to 1. Earlier, the House approved the bill, 56 to 0.

RFK Death

Pair Accept Sirhan Talk

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "In the interests of history and truth," county Supervisor Kenneth Hahn said he and Supervisor Baxter Ward will meet convicted assassin Sirhan Sirhan on June 2.

"I believe it is wise to ask Sirhan Sirhan why he shot Sen. Robert F. Kennedy at the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles in 1968," Hahn said Friday. "There is still much speculation with the assassinations of President John F. Kennedy, Martin Luther King Jr. and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy."

SIRHAN HAS MAINTAINED HIS silence on the subject of Kennedy's death for nearly nine years.

His attorney, Godfrey Isaac, says the 33-year-old Palestinian refugee has no memory of shooting Kennedy, although a smoking pistol was taken from his hand in the Ambassador kitchen pantry after Kennedy was shot June 5, 1968.

The supervisors will visit Sirhan at the Correctional Training Facility at Soledad. Originally, Sirhan was sentenced to death for murdering Kennedy, but when California's death penalty law was ruled unconstitutional the sentence was commuted to life. He becomes eligible for parole March 1, 1985.

SIRHAN'S INVITATION TO Hahn and Ward was issued by Isaac at a Board of Supervisors hearing on a controversial assassination report by special prosecutor Thomas Kranz, whose investigation was commissioned by the district attorney. Hahn had criticized Kranz for failing to interview Sirhan before making the report.

Kranz' 60-page report, issued April 5, concluded that Sirhan acted alone and that there was no evidence of a conspiracy to kill Kennedy, then campaigning for the Democratic nomination for president. He had just won the California primary election.

Trustees To Meet

The Coast Community College District will be host to a conference of the California Community College Trustees Friday in Newport Beach.

Members of the boards of community colleges throughout the state will attend the three-day conference, entitled "A Time for Renewal, Not Reversal."

The conference will be held at the Marriott Hotel.

'Crisis a Time to Go Slow'

Restraint Urged in Making Drought Plans

The great geographer William Morris Davis viewed the river system as having a life of its own. Its yourhful headwaters, he said, are steep and rugged. It rushes its turbulent path toward the sea, eroding bed and bank on its way. In its central portion it is mature, winding sedately through wide valleys adjusted to its duty of transporting water and sediment. Near its mouth it has reached in its old age a nearly level plain through which it wanders in a somewhat aimless course toward final extinction as it joins the ocean, which had provided the sustaining waters through its whole life span.

By LUNA B. LEOPOLD
Professor, Department of Geology & Geophysics
University of California, Berkeley

In the years centered on 450 B.C., the most widely traveled observer of the time was Herodotus. His book, "The Persian Wars," differs from any previous written history in that he was conscious of the influences of geography, climate and social custom in the direction of development of political and economic history of a state.

THE MANAGEMENT of resources should similarly take account of geography and climate. Nonrenewable resources have limits.

Moreover, such operating systems are subject to natural fluctuations resulting from climate and geography.

The management of resources cannot be carried out successfully if it is looked upon as just another facet of economics, administration and politics. Yet the latter view describes rather accurately our present approach to resource use — it can hardly be called management.

The view that Herodotus elaborated had little effect on the course of events between the death of Alexander and the final conquest of Greece by Rome.

AGAIN AND again the requirements of crisis governed even long-ranged decisions that might better have been deferred until the crisis had passed and the decision makers could afford a more balanced or philosophic view of the future.

In choosing three particular elements out of many possible ones to mention here, I have chosen one to fit each of the three classes of argument usually marshalled against their consideration.

— Our technology can fix it.

— It is politically impossible.

— Impractical idealism of crackpot environmentalists.

BUT CRISIS has the possibility of engendering an atmosphere in which new opinions as well as decision may be molded.

First, in the construction of any engineering project, there always will remain some final increment of risk. Because it cannot be eliminated, it is necessary to know in advance how one will deal with that unusual event when it finally comes to pass.

Second, in the face of the obvious limitations of resources, whether renewable or nonrenewable, continued and indefinite expansion of resource use is patently impossible. Some movement toward a steady state condition that lies within the bounds of resource availability is not only the crux of a resource management philosophy, but is the acid test of leadership.

THIRD, THERE is a balance or harmony in natural systems which, dictated by the laws of physics, has gradually developed during the four billion years of earth history.

The maintenance of this balance is not only to the advantage of human organization, but should be the object of both our wonder and our admiration.

The desire to preserve this harmony must also be incorporated into any philosophy of water management, and I will call this, as did Herodotus, a reverence for rivers.

ON THE FIRST point, every bridge you drive over, every dam that stores water, every highway culvert — is designed for a chosen load considered to represent a reasonable choice between the costs of building stronger and the costs of failure.

Only in the design of the spillway of a large dam is the maximum possible event used in the calculations.

Water supply structures such as reservoirs are no exception. Residual risk can be reduced by building more of them and larger, but each increment of storage has less effect than the previous one and costs much more.

The schemes ordinarily used for supplying water do not include any definite plans for handling the situation which is sure to arise sooner or later when the normal variance in hydrologic phenomena brings about the improbable but expectable deficiency.

THE DIFFICULTY we find ourselves in is not due to the fact that the present drought is impossible to imagine. It could not be predicted, but its eventual occurrence was assured.

Though the risk of a deficient year is always present, seldom are definite plans on hand to cope with the situation when it finally arises.

Rather, at the time of crisis there is a tendency toward grandiose plans to eliminate one further increment of risk, but a residual risk remains.

NOW IS THE time to lay plans for muting an assured future event. It is not the time to plan expensive projects to reduce the risk by some small increment.

There are strategies that might help prepare for such eventualities. But, they require time and advance preparation.

There are in various parts of the western states ground water bodies too deep to be economically developed under usual economic standards. These, and especially those remnants of the ice age — ground water bodies presently not being recharged — should be saved from ordinary development and reserved only for the times of exceptional need.

THERE ARE many other strategies.

The reuse of treated waste water is an obvious one. In this instance also, even if continued reuse on a permanent basis is uneconomic, advance preparation to reuse treated water in emergencies would be an approach to the problem of the residual risk.

On the second point, the occurrence of improbable but expectable deficiences in any resource should remind us that ever-continuing growth in resource use is the antithesis of a philosophy that faces reality.

THE COURSE OF the past in which any and all persons may presume that they will be provided the usual resources of water, energy and other public commodities, at any geographic location and forever in time, must eventually be abandoned.

Finally, a philosophy of water management must pay heed to the fact that the hydrologic system is a highly interconnected plumbing network. Changes made in one part of the system have influences downstream.

TO TEST WHETHER the system is operating satisfactorily by economic and legal criteria alone will not guarantee its continued health. What is needed is some deeper feeling.

Speaking of the Persians who dominated Asia Minor in the fifth century B.C., Herdotus said:

"They never defile a river with the secretions of their bodies, nor even wash their hands in one; nor will they allow others to do so, as they have a great reverence for rivers."

It is the last phrase that deserves our attention. The river is like an organism. It is internally self adjusting. It is also resilient and can absorb changes imposed upon it, but not without limit.

The engineering capabilities of man are nearly limitless. Our economic views are too insensitive to be the only criteria for judging the health of the river organism. What is needed is a gentler basis for perceiving the effects of our engineering capabilities.

This more humble view of our relation to the hydrologic system requires a modicum of reverence for rivers.

OSHA Gaining New Director, New Emphasis

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN
AP Labor Writer

The new director of the Occupational Safety amd Health Administration says she intends to shed the agency's image as a nitpicker and instead concentrate on hazards that threaten to kill workers at their jobs.

Eula Bingham says her hope is to turn the troubled agency into a partner of industry rather than an adversary. She thinks OSHA's continued survival depends on the success of her efforts.

"I DON'T want to see it go down the drain until it has had a chance to work," she said in an interview. "That means cutting out the Mickey Mouse and focusing on the truly hazaradous situations that make people sick and die."

Ms. Bingham has taken on one of the toughest jobs in the Carter administration, running an agency that has been criticized by industry and labor since its creation in 1970.

Responsible for alleviating working conditions that each year kill, injure or sicken millions of workers, OSHA's regulations, such as those requiring coat hooks in toilet stalls and advice to farmers that cow manure can be slippery, have made it the butt of numerous jokes. Employers have accused the agency of harassment.

Organized labor complains about the agency's slowness in writing standards to protect workers against toxic substances. The Government Accounting Office said in a report that, at OSHA's present rate, "it will take more than a century to establish needed standards for substances already identified as hazards."

OPPONENTS IN Congress have chipped away at its authority.

Ms. Bingham acknowledges that many of the complaints are valid.

At a news conference with Labor Secretary Ray Marshall, she has to announce an end to many of the agency's nitpicking rules and a promise to simplify new regulations so a businessman doesn't have to hire a lawyer to understand them.

She also plans to enlarge the agency's program of educating workers and employers about health and safety problems, develop a consultation program for small businesses and place a greater emphasis on serious health problems.

"My main concern is to vigorously go after those areas that we know cause irreversible disease and death," said Ms. Bingham, formerly associate director of the Institute of Environmental Health at the University of Cincinnati's medical school.

An example came earlier this month, when less than two weeks after receiving new scientific evidence linking benzene with cancer, she issued an emergency standard sharply restricting worker exposure to the common industrial chemical.

EMERGENCY STANDARDS may be issued without public hearings while permanent rules are prepared. However, they are limited to situations where lives are threatened and employes face "grave danger."

She told a congressional investigating committee she intends to use this mechanism whenever necessary.

To speed up the rule-making process, she said OSHA will begin to issue worker-protection procedures for covering large groups of substances such as those known to cause cancer or skin irritations. Past practice has been to issue a specific rule for a specific substance.

As of last September, OSHA had issued standards for 15 substances under the 1970 Occupational Safety and Health Act.

To help small businessmen — among the agency's strongest critics — comply with the law, Ms. Bingham said she is exploring ways of helping them meet the higher cost of redesigning dangerous machines or installing new equipment. This could involve tax credits or incentives, she explained.

Ms. Bingham's appointment by President Carter generated concern in the business community over her lack of administrative experience.

SHE BELIEVES her effort to consult the business community could blunt some of the criticism.

Much of it has come from a group of businessmen and conservatives in Congress who have formed an organization called "Stop OSHA."

"People in Congress have a conscience, even if they are conservatives," says Ms. Bingham.

Younger's 'Hanging In'

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA FOCUS

By THOMAS D. ELIAS

Rumors continue to circulate, pushed mostly by supporters of his rivals, that state Atty. Gen. Evelle J. Younger will drop out of the quest for next year's Republican gubernatorial nomination.

But a position paper issued by Younger this month seems to argue that this is unlikely, despite the precedent of the attorney general's 1974 pullback from the governor's race.

THAT POSITION paper is a clear effort by Younger to pick up the support of labor and business leaders, who are something less than admiring of Gov. Brown.

The paper sets up the environment as a definite battleground in any Younger-Brown campaign, ironic as that may be for an attorney general whose office has been responsible for greatly expanding California's tough environmental impact reporting laws.

Younger now pledges to support a requirement that anyone attempting to use the courts to stop a private construction project must post a bond unless the attorney general feels a suit is "meritorious" and the bond would be a financial hardship.

Lawsuits now are a common method for holding up private developments — and Younger's own office has often used them.

THE ATTORNEY general also wants an economic impact report as part of the permit process now required by the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA), which mandates environmental impact reports for most major projects.

Presumably, economic impact reports could be used to generate support for a project when environmental studies have aroused opposition.

Younger would also eliminate the requirements for environmental impact reports on changes in rates for various services and exempt timber harvesting plans from environmental impact reporting.

Most of the other positions the attorney general advocates duplicate recent Brown stances.

These include reduction and simplification of the state's building permit processes and setting up a legislative review process for all state government departments.

TAKEN TOGETHER, the Younger positions would go far toward improving the California business climate, whose current lack of warmth has led to much labor and business dissatisfaction with Brown, his appointees and their "California Means Business" buttons.

Brown's appointees, in fact, include some of the very lawyers responsible for expanding CEQA's requirements from private projects to government ones and even to annexations.

Air Resources Board member Mary Nichols, for instance, was a founder of the Center for Law in the Public Interest, a Los Angeles firm which participated in landmark cases in both those areas.

William Press, Brown's director of planning and research, is another who has toughened up state development guidelines, making construction more difficult to begin and complete.

BUT THEY HAVE not been alone. Ironically, Younger's own environmental unit participated with Nichols' former law partners in actions that led to toughening of both CEQA's annexation and government-project applications.

But the environmental unit hasn't initiated many suits of a potentially landmark character in recent months, apparently holding back while Younger formulated his campaign positions.

Now that those positions are out, Brown will either have to back off substantially on his support for environmental causes — a process he may already have begun — or face a severe conflict with Younger on those issues.

Stull Startled

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Republican State Sen. John Stull was a bit startled by a card in his mail from the White House thanking him for his letter "expressing interest in a position with the administration."

Stull replied with his biography, listing a lifetime of Republican activities.

Stull said Thursday he awaits further word from the White House. He said he has no idea how they got his name.

Columns Carry An Ironic Twist

By HERB CAEN

MILL OF THE GODS: The following notice appeared under a black-boxed "In Memoriam" in a recent S.F. Chronicle: "BRODNIK, Joe, S.F.P.D. — May 1st. Eight years have passed, you are always in our heart and our thoughts. Your loving wife and children."

On the same page that day, a news story reported that 26-yr-old Danilo Menendez had been stabbed to death at Deuel Vocational Institute in Tracy, where he was serving a sentence for armed robbery.

Eight years ago, Menendez, then a member of a local group called "Los Siete," was tried for and acquitted of the murder of — Patrolman Joe Brodnik.

ENTOURAGE: First came Patty Hearst, at the wheel of a red Mercedes, with an "unidentified male companion" at her side, followed by a station wagon containing her two bodyguards and her German Shepherd guard dog, Arrow. They then parked next to each other at the Burlingame Drive-in Sunday night to watch the Mel Brooks movie, "Young Frankenstein."

The dog howled only occasionally.

INSIDE TV: San Jose's imaginative KNTV, Ch. 11, ran the very first commercial for a lawyer, Steve Zane Rothchild, who advertised "Wills for only $35, including free consultation!" This was taken off the air after objections from various lawyers' groups, including the Santa Clara Bar Association.

Offered free air time for a rebuttal, the Bar Association hypocrites couldn't resist a commercial plug for their own "lawyer referral service — only $10!"

Down from $19.99?

OUR TOWN: At Hyde and Northpoint, investment counselor Peter Stevens saw a guy berating and beating a young woman, so he interjected, "Now just a minute" — and wound up in St. Francis Hosp. with a broken nose and an arm fractured in three places; Peter's wife, Pat, ran for the phone as her husband was being methodically mashed by the ruffian, but the police never arrived.

Moral: God does not necessarily watch over Good Samaritans.

UNCLE LEN'S CORNER

Hi girls and boys.

Evidently many of you youngsters are animal lovers. The mail was heavy this week with drawings of your favorite animal. As usual, selecting a winner was no easy task.

Koala bears seem to be at the top of the list. Three girls sent in sketches of the Australia native.

"My favorite animal is the Koala bear. I think they are so cute and cuddly," Susan Metcalf, 13, of Costa Mesa writes.

"THESE (KOALA BEARS) are my favorite animals," Kathy Bennitt, 12, of Newport Beach, writes. "I enjoy your section because I like to draw, and I hope to become an artist."

Kathy's drawing wins top prize in this week's contest. She will receive a Kennedy half dollar and set of drawing pens.

Honorable mention goes to Susan as well as Joy Broome, 10, of Newport Beach, who drew a Koala bear in a eucalyptus tree. Other honorable mentions this week are Carol Kramer, 11, Fountain Valley; Michele Raus, 11, and Nikki Raus, 14, Newport Beach; Debbie Cohen, 13, Marilyn Hansen, 8, Rich Remler, 15, Audrey Gubik, 9, Costa Mesa; Bryan Quintin, 11, March Quintin, 10, Christi Hayes, El Toro; and Glen Claypool, 8, Dana Point.

★ PRIZE WINNER ★
KATHY BENNITT
901 Cercis Place, Newport Beach

Debbie Cohen's drawing was of a warm fuzzy. She calls it "the warmest, most loving type of animal." Why not print the warm fuzzy story, she asks. We may.

MICHELE RAUS' drawing was of a "Wooly." Donna Newcomb had a good drawing of two penquins at the ice rink.

Next weekend is Memorial Day weekend with the holiday May 30. What do you and your family have planned — a day at the beach, a picnic, honoring the war dead?

For next Saturday, Uncle Len invites you to making a drawing of your Memorial Day plans and send it to P.O. Box 1560, Costa Mesa, Calif. 92626. The drawing should be on white paper 4½ inches wide by 4 inches deep and done with India ink or dark drawing pencil.

Goodbye.

U.S. Kids Learn in China

DENVER (AP) — Bringing back bags of souvenirs, including Mao caps and acupuncture needles, 16 private school students have returned from China with memories of a people they found to be friendly, hard-working and intensely practical.

The Colorado Academy youngsters, aged 11 to 15, were the youngest group of Americans to visit China since relations between the two countries were re-established by former President Nixon's 1971 visit.

The students said they enjoyed Chinese food. But on their final stop in Hong Kong, they devoured pizza, hamburgers and Coke.

ACCOMPANIED BY three faculty members, the students, weary but eager to share their experiences, returned home Saturday night after an 18-day trip.

Fifteen-year-old John Mulvihill said most Americans seem to have a misconception about the country. "Everybody said 'You're going to a Communist country' and all that," he said. "But it's just like any place else. The people were friendly, they worked hard and were very busy."

Susan Basch, a petite 11-year-old who wore a traditional Mao cap, said she was most impressed with "the warmth and kindness of the Chinese people. They did everything to make us comfortable."

WALTER LEVIN, 14, praised the Chinese education system. "They don't go to school as long as we do, but they seem to learn quicker. Their primary schools are pretty strict, as you'd imagine, but it's not so strict in the higher grades."

"We saw a woman operated on for a stomach tumor, and all they used to anesthetize her was acupuncture," Levin said, clutching a set of acupuncture needles. "It was amazing. During the operation, the woman looked up at us and smiled as we were taking pictures of her."

The trip was of a more personal nature for two of the travelers. Twins Michael and Mona Yen visited their 82-year-old uncle in Shanghai, and he gave them a painting to bring back.

Elephant Honored

OQUAWKA, Ill. (AP) —Norma Jean, the circus elephant killed by lightning in this tiny community nearly four years ago, will finally have her monument.

Norma Jean, who was 30 years old and weighed 6,500 pounds, is buried near the municipal swimming pool. Her monument will be dedicated May 28.

Residents raised $350 to build a limestone monument, 12 feet high, eight feet wide and four feet thick.

Letters From Ellie

(c) 1976 Jean E. Heywood

Dear Ellie,

Is it really true that a python incubates its eggs?

Ken S.

Dear Ken,

Yes, it is true. Python eggs, when first laid are soft and shiny. But within a few minutes the shine disappears, and the eggs stick together in a great mass. This is probably a means of preventing loss of moisture by too many surfaces being exposed to the air. The shells harden too. (In a clutch, there are from 30 to 70 eggs.)

ELLIE

A female python hatches her eggs by coiling her body around them. She places her head on top. Experts have shown that these reptiles are able to raise their body temperature a little so that the eggs are kept warmer than the surrounding air. The female python remains coiled around her clutch of eggs for about 80 days. In all this time she does not eat.

Ellie.

Dear Ellie,

Is there any real difference between the lions in Africa and those in Asia?

Kate H.

Dear Kate,

In size and overall appearance, there is little difference. Some say that the Asiatic lion has a shorter mane, a thicker coat, and a longer tail tuft. But such variations exist among African lions. Many scientists agree that the lions of Asia are not a separate species.

The most important fact about these lions in Asia is that they are decreasing in number and in some areas have completely disappeared. In the area of India, in 1936 it was estimated that 289 lions still roamed wild; by 1968 the number had fallen to 162. This serious decrease has been brought on by human expansion into the lions' territories, by over grazing of the forest areas by cattle, and by concerted efforts of the owners of the cattle to wipe out the threat to their herds.

For some time this animal has been "protected," but only very careful management of the land and help from the natives will keep this great mammal from becoming extinct. The problem is not easy to solve, for both religious and economic reasons prevent the owners from thinning their herds that are destroying the vegetation which lions need for cover. However, the question of the Asiatic lions' preservation is now a matter of world concern.

Ellie

Dear Ellie,

What is the largest and smallest pigeon? Are there any brightly colored ones?

Donna L.

Dear Donna,

Pigeons, one of the most successful family of birds, very greatly in size. The smallest is the Diamond Dove, not much larger than a good sized finch. Of about equally small size are the Mauve Spotted Dove and the Dwarf Fruit Dove. The largest are the Crowned Pigeons of New Guinea, almost the size of the small hen turkey. (The extinct Dodo was a large, flightless pigeon.)

Most of the varieties are dressed in subdued plumage, but the colors are attractive. Many are soft pastel grays, browns and even pinks highlighted with touches of black and white. Many have iridescent touches of lavender and green that shimmer in the sunlight. There are also some vividly colored pigeons.

Ellie

ANSWER TO LAST WEEK'S QUESTION: Do all birds' eggs taste about the same? Tests have been made with many different kinds of eggs and with the animals which eat them. (Man was of course included.) Apparently there is great differences in taste, and as a rule those hidden away are much tastier than those that are laid in the open with little protection from predators.

QUESTION: What is the smallest mammal of the South Western deserts?

Andy sends a Denoyer-Geppert World Globe to Susan Gavelin, age 11, of Newport Beach, for her question:

WHY DO ROSES HAVE THORNS?

We know that the rose has been on earth for more than 35 million years. The best loved of all garden flowers has very sharp thorns on its stems but we do not know exactly why nature chose to include them as part of the decoration. Scientists guess, however, that thorns are added as a protective device that guarantees to keep most animals away.

Roses have been found in Egyptian tombs and are also mentioned in some of man's very early writings. Roses are included in mythology and were definitely favorites with the early Greeks and Romans. They've been used as medicine, food and perfume. Poets — and just about everybody else, too — think that roses, thorns and all, are rather wonderful plants.

Andy sends the Encyclopaedia Britannica's 1977 Yearbook of Science and the Future to John Franklin, age 10, of Niagara Falls, Ontario, Canada, for his question:

HOW DO YOU GET CHOCOLATE FROM CACAO BEANS?

If you had 10 people seated in your living room and you asked for a show of hands from all those who considered chocolate their favorite flavor, chances are that at least nine hands would go up. Almost everybody loves chocolate — and it comes in so many different, delicious forms, too, including ice cream, cake, pastry, pudding, candy, pie and cookies.

Chocolate and cocoa both come from the seeds — or beans — of the cacao tree. It was first cultivated by the Maya Indians of Central America and the Aztec Indians of Mexico and used as a delicious drink. Cocoa then went to Europe with Hernando Cortes in 1528.

It took 300 years from that date to discover that, in addition to cocoa, solid chocolate could also be made from the cacao bean. A Dutch manufacturer in 1828 thought the cocoa would taste better if some of its own natural fat, called cocoa butter, was removed. He pressed the butter out of the roasted beans and then mixed sugar and some of the cocoa butter with the dry cocoa. After cooking the mixture he discovered he had made a solid substance that was very good to eat.

In 1876 the Swiss added milk to the chocolate — and an enormous chocolate candy industry was launched.

CACAO IS GROWN in the tropical areas of Africa and South America. The trees are evergreens and grow to about 25-feet tall. The fruit is found in ribbed pods that look like long, reddish cantaloupes. Each pod holds between 20 and 40 usable cacao beans that are embedded in a moist, white pulp. The beans are flat and purplish-brown, looking like large almonds.

After the beans have been dried, they are roasted in ovens quickly and their thin shells are removed. Next they're broken into small pieces and then ground. Friction of the grinders melts the cocoa butter that forms more than 50 percent of the beans' composition. Produced is a thick liquid called chocolate liquor — and from this comes cocoa, baking chocolate and all the other good chocolate products.

To manufacture cocoa out of chocolate liquor, much of the cocoa butter is squeezed out by hydraulic presses. The paste that results is cooled in molds to form large cakes. These are then ground and sifted into a reddish-brown powder. Some processors add sugar and dried milk.

MILK CHOCOLATE is a blend of chocolate liquor with extra cocoa butter, sugar, whole-milk solids and flavoring. It's then blended and refined many times.

Chocolate is considered by many to be a most valuable food item, since a small piece contains many energy-producing calories.

Cocoa butter, removed from the cacao beans by chocolate manufacturers, is not wasted — it's used for soaps, ointments, medicines and cosmetics.

Residents Protest

Canyon Lot Scrapped

Protests from Laguna Canyon residents have prompted the Laguna Beach City Council to scrap a proposed contract with the Irvine Co. for a summer parking lot to hold 650 to 700 cars.

The lot had been pushed by the planning department as a partial solution to jammed parking problems in the Art Colony during the run of the summer festivals.

RESIDENTS COMPLAINED that the lot, located opposite Sun Valley Drive on Laguna Canyon Road, would be a traffic hazard and would destroy the habitat of the varied wildlife in the area.

Dr. Rose Ekberg, a veterinarian and president of the Laguna Canyon property Owners Association, called the proposed parking program "an absolute deathtrap."

She said "a bloodbath" would result in accidents caused by cars leaving the lot and turning left onto Laguna Canyon Road to leave the community.

"THIS WOULD jeopardize our lives," she complained.

Laguna Greenbelt founder James Dilley also spoke in opposition to the plan, which had already received approval by the Planning Commission, which granted a temporary use permit for weekend parking.

The council ordered the planning staff to develop alternate parking locations.

"WE'RE STARTING from scratch," Planning Director Doug Schmitz said of the parking program planners had labored for over 10 months.

He said plans are to negotiate with the Laguna Beach School of Art and Aliso Viejo property owners about expansion of parking.

Protect Your Home

Fire Resistant Plants Reduce Hazard

One more thing some Californians should think about even more so because of our drought is fire. Nothing can be more devastating than to lose your home and landscaping through fire. There are measures you can take to reduce this hazard. Planting fire resistant plants is one of these practical precautions.

Generally, the lower and more succulent a plant is, the more resistant to fire it is; while the larger and drier it is, the more flammable it is likely to be. But, don't think that just because it's an evergreen that it's fireproof either. The Pine family, for example, has very few members with any degree of fire resistance. But you are not restricted to succulents and bare ground either. There are many lovely trees and shrubs to choose from.

CONSIDER THE ever-dependable flowering Oleander or the low-growing Ceanothus Carmel Creeper with glossy green leaves and bright blue spring flowers on a widespreading shrub. Besides these, the Pittosporums also have a degree of fire resistance as do the popular native Toyons and Italian Buckthorn. Rockroses fall in this category and are particularly lovely too.

There are also many perennials and low-growing shrubs that are fire retardant including the Yarrows and Sea Lavender which will provide flowers for dried arrangements, the low-growing Artemesias which are very hardy besides providing brilliant silver foliage, and groundcovering, colorful Gazanias which are hard to beat.

SANTOLINA is another groundhugger with yellow cushions of flowers on a gray mat of foliage. There's even a fire resistant cove for shade too! The lovely Winter Savory has glossy, fragrant foliage and will do fine in the shade.

Finally, as for trees, you can choose from the evergreen. . . Carobs, California Bay, California Pepper or a Palm (provided you keep the dead skirts removed). Any are lovely and fire resistant at the same time.

ONE POINT to remember in any landscape is that dead branches or excessive litter around the plants must be kept cleared away or the garden becomes more susceptible to fire.

These are only a few ideas to protect your garden and home from fire. Be sure to look into other areas such as storage areas, garages, and workshops to find any potentially hazardous fire menaces.

House Plant Owners Care

BARTLESVILLE, Okla. (AP) — Three-fourths of all house plants owners "enjoy caring for them," while the remaining one quarter did not, according to a survey conducted by Phillips Products.

The survey found that most people keeping plants have a "nurturing" or caring, "protective attitude" toward their plants.

Marigolds Touted 'Brightest Annual'

Marigolds should need no introduction! As one of the brightest, most reliable summer annuals around, surely everyone must know them. Their pungently scented, dark, lacey green leaves covered with colorful balls of flowers are unmistakable. If by some strange chance you've never grown them, the time to plant is now.

These cheerful annuals can fill any position in the flower bed. As edgers, there are 8" dwarfs, a complete range of medium talls, and plenty of 48 inchers for the background. The selection of colors and flower shape is almost as varied too. The brilliant flowers are all shades of yellow and orange, bronze, mahogany, red, and finally, after years of remarkable breeding efforts, a true white. Besides, the pure colors, there are many combinations of orange, bronze or mahogany flecked with shades of yellow, gold, or more orange.

DON'T THINK that all Marigolds are round, compact balls either. There are six petaled singles with ruffled centers, doubles, crysanthemum and carnation types. And, now a distinctly different form with long narrow, loosely ruffled petals is available. The size of these blooms ranges from one inch across to more than five!

Once you've made the difficult decision of which kinds you'd like, these beauties are among the easiest annuals to grow from seed or as young transplants. Give them a sunny spot with well-drained prepared soil. Add a little fertilizer and a mulch — then enjoy!

Harbor View Meeting Set

Mrs. Elaine Stowe, of Encinitas, will speak to members of Harbor View Hills Garden Club Wednesday in the home of Mrs. William Rowley, 3632 Blue Key, Corona del Mar.

Mrs. Stowe's topic at the 9:30 a.m. meeting will be Tuberous Begonia and Fuchsia. Members will also be offered an opportunity to participate in a practice cutting session.

Co-hostesses for the luncheon following the meeting will be Mmes. Homer Reed, Bert Reedy and Ronald Richmond.

New officers for the 1977-78 year will be elected at the business meeting which precedes Mrs. Stowe's presentation.

Fertilizer Uses Told In Leaflet

Since many plants use more water when fertilized, gardeners may have more questions about the use of fertilizers and soil amendments in this dry year.

Roy S. Rauschkolb, University of California soils specialist, has co-authored a question and answer leaflet primarily for people who are interested in learning what fertilizers and soil amendments are and how they should be used.

TITLED "Organic and Inorganic Fertilizers and Soil Amendments", the Cooperative Extension leaflet explains how a fertilizer improves plant growth directly by feeding nutrients to the plant, while a soil amendment improves the condition of the soil and only indirectly improves plant growth.

Advantages and disadvantages of organic and inorganic amendments and fertilizers are given — the organic material being derived from plant and animal sources and the inorganic, often referred to as commercial fertilizer, coming from natural deposits.

OTHER QUESTIONS answered in the free leaflet include such topics as the chemical make-up of fertilizers and soil amendments.

Weekend Garden Checklist

● Consider setting out herbs in your garden. Many are tolerant of heat and drought and all enhance the flavors of any food. Imagine garden fresh herbs and a California barbeque!

● It's never too late to spread a thick mulch around your plants. Make this summer a little easier on them — conserve that water, keep their roots cooler and eliminate weed competition. Mulches will save you some work this summer.

● If mildew is appearing on your plants, consult your local nurseryman for the best spray to use.

● Prune the spring flowering shrubs (Forsythia, Weigelia, Spirea, Lilac, etc.) to encourage more new growth which will bear flowers next year. Remember you can also prune them while they're in bloom with the added bonus of using cut branches for arrangements indoors.

● Pinching is the gardener's way of directing growth on such plants as Fuchsias, Chrysanthemums, Carnations and Dahlias. Pinching encourages bushy full growth and eliminates some need for heavier pruning on many shrubs.

HB Worm Dealer Seeks Pay

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A California worm wholesaler has gone to court to collect payment from a local worm farmer who is allegedly trying to wriggle out of a business deal.

Geraldine Usrey, a large-lot worm dealer from Huntington Beach, has filed suit in Allegheny County Common Pleas Court seeking payment for 150,000 red worms.

Mrs. Usrey shipped them to William Shipley of nearby Turtle Creek in March, and he has refused to pay the bill of $637.50 plus shipping and handling charges.

Shipley, who breeds the worms for bait dealers and gardeners, claims the worms were too small and that Mrs. Usrey erred when all 150,000 worms were delivered at once.

Churches Schedule Festival

Two area churches have scheduled religious festivals this weekend.

St. Bonaventure Church, 16400 Springdale St., Huntington Beach, is holding its first religious festival today and Sunday at the church. A Jesus Festival will be held from 2 to 5:30 p.m. Sunday at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, 600 St. Andrews Road, Newport Beach.

The St. Bonaventure event opens today at 11 a.m. with procession in Honor of Mary, reciting of the rosary, signing of hymns and crowning of Mary.

SLIDES AND films will be shown at 1 p.m. Songs and skits will also be presented by girl scouts and brownies of the church. The Venturer's Club will give a skit, "Peanuts," and there will be a cantata sung by fourth, fifth and sixth graders from the church choir.

A youth mass at 5 p.m. will close today's festivities.

Sunday's program begins at 8:30 a.m. with vocation speakers scheduled for 9 and 10 a.m. A 3 p.m. mass on the football field will conclude the festival.

OVER 200 youth are expected to participate in the St. Andrew's festival.

Three children's choirs will present musicals. The musical, Celebrate Life, will close the afternoon session and be given at 7:30 p.m. in the sanctuary.

There will be three crafts shops at the festival offering those in attendance a chance to make lamps, dolls and leather goods.

THERE WILL BE demonstrations of jewelry making, pottery, weaving and woodcutting. Those professions were popular during Biblical times.

Strolling minstrels will be present and a puppet show is scheduled. Admission is 50 cents.

Sanctuary To Be Built

Groundbreaking ceremonies are scheduled for 11:15 a.m. Sunday for the new sanctuary of the Presbyterian Church of the Covenant, 2850 Fairview Road, Costa Mesa.

A $300,000 building will accommodate 400 worshipers.

The Rev. Bruce A. Kurrle is pastor. Jim Ballinger is building chairman.

OCC Appoints Ministry Aide For Students

Tim Tiffany, a student at Claremont School of Theology, is the first campus ministry associate at Orange Coast College in Costa Mesa.

Tiffany, a graduate of Bakersfield College and UCLA, is on the OCC campus each Tuesday and Thursday from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Each Thursday at noon he conducts an "On Campus Conversation," an informal discussion on the lawn in front of the administration building.

Tiffany says that his goals are to assist any student regardless of belief and to "let local churches know they have a real involvement in this campus and vice versa."

Catholic Students Decline

NEW YORK (AP) — Enrollment in Roman Catholic parochial schools still is falling, dropping 3 percent last year and continuing a 12-year plunge that has driven a swelling proportion of one-time church pupils into the public schools.

Over the period, despite growing population, enrollment in Catholic elementary and high schools has declined about 40 percent, from 5.7 million to 3.3 million. The drop in the past year was 104,410.

THE CONTINUING shrinkage, shown by the new 1977 issue of the Official Catholic Directory, came amid an intensifying financial squeeze on church-run schools, with parents who support them denied tax breaks for doing so, although they also pay public school taxes.

The trend was cited recently by a leading official of the Carter administration as creating an educational monopoly — the public school system — and limiting free choice in the schooling of American children.

"One of the most important fundamentals of our Constitution is freedom of choice," says the new director of the federal Community Services Administration, Graciela Olivarez. "But we have been so intimidated by the separation of church and state that we are in conflict with the First Amendment.

"WE CANNOT have freedom of choice if there is only a public school system. We must have that other system."

Organ 'Surprise' At Funeral Rites

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (AP) — The organ at First English Lutheran Church surprised listeners by sending out the sounds of Glenn Miller instead of solemn hymns and religious tunes.

The Rev. Herbert D. Hrdlicka immediately dispatched two ushers to ask neighbors to turn down the stereo or car radio causing the disturbance. But neither could be found.

The mystery was solved after the funeral when the Rev. Mr. Hrdlicka, who kept listening to the organ for a clue, heard this message: "You're listening to WDJZ-AM, 1530 on your dial."

The pastor was then told that WDJZ was a new radio station in town.

"So I called the station and they told me they were located on Salt Street, about a half-mile away," he said.

Station officials said the organ's amplifier must have picked up the station's transmissions. They said they would soon correct the problem.

WDJZ began operations just as the funeral began.

Carter Ringmaster Of U.S. Theology?

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

NEW YORK (AP) — By the clout of his office combined with his openly emphasized religious commitment, President Carter has become coincidentally a sort of new "ringmaster" of theology on the American scene.

That unofficial and unusual sway on matters of faith was exercised last week with much-acclaimed perceptivity on one of the most harshly knotted, old Christian twists — that the Jews killed Christ.

By the Biblical record, they plainly didn't. The execution sentence was imposed by the Roman governor, Pontius Pilate, and carried out by Roman troops in a hasty, early morning proceeding specifically timed to avoid arousing the Jewish populace.

NEVERTHELESS, THE malignant, old distortion, "Christ-killers," has persisted through the centuries, abetted by reckless preaching, medieval forgeries, biased dramas, misleading textbooks, litanies and periodic bursts of over anti-Semitism.

Carter, the U.S. chief executive and also a Southern Baptist of seasoned Bible-class proficiency and commitment, took the musty, warped, old notion firmly by its ersatz trappings and skewered it as a lie.

For centuries, he said, the Jewish people have been "falsely charged with the collective responsibility for the death of Jesus and were persecuted terribly for that unjust accusation."

Jesus himself was a Jew, Carter noted.

Message in Song

Song evangelist Ron Johnson will present a gospel concert at 6 p.m. Sunday at Lake Hills Community Church, 23331 Moulton Parkway, Laguna Hills. Johnson, a native of Spokane, sings at churches throughout the Pacific northwest.

Missionaries Overseas On Increase

NEW YORK (AP) — The corps of American Protestant Missionaries working overseas, which took a slump at the turn of the 1970's, is on the way up again.

The force now totals 37,000, an increase of 8 percent above 34,000 counted in 1970, when a three-year downturn of 4 percent was registered.

That had been the first decline in the number of Protestant missionaries since the depression years of the 1930's, but the new summary showed the upward turn.

The figures were reported in the new edition of the Mission Handbook, compiled by the research division of World Vision International, a missions organization of Monrovia, Calif.

It reports there now are 620 Protestant mission agencies working in 182 countries.

Friends of Christ College, Irvine, an auxiliary to the Christ College Foundation, has elected its first slate of officers.

Racism: Moral Duplicity Threatens Man

By KENNETH B. CLARK

Probably one of the most disturbing experiences in the development of any sensitive and intelligent child is to be confronted with the fact that his parents, his teachers, his rabbi or his priest are capable of saying one thing and believing or behaving in terms of the opposite.

Almost every child at some time before adolescence is required to cease questioning flagrant moral inconsistencies on the part of some authority figure by being indirectly or explicitly told, "Do as I say, not as I do."

THE FREQUENCY WITH which individuals are required to adjust to various forms of moral duplicities in complex societies suggests that apparent acceptance of these inconsistencies is an index of socialization and maturity.

Those who, for whatever reason, persist in demanding moral consistency are at best told to "grow up" or are dismissed or punished as deviants and "trouble makers."

One could speculate that a society which prides itself upon its democratic principles of justice, equality and human responsibility for the welfare of one's fellow human beings places a major additional and inescapable moral burden upon its citizens.

WHEN THOMAS Jefferson translated the Judaic-Christian principle of human equality into the political principle of "inalienable rights" that justified the American Revolution at the same time that he and other Founding Fathers continued to accept and justify human slavery, they laid the foundation for the "moral schizophrenia" that continues to dominate America.

MORAL CHOICES
COURSES BY NEWSPAPER

Every American child must be socialized to come to terms with the twin realities of the morality of the American ideals and the "practical" reality of the required violation of these ideals.

Our children are taught that all men are created equal in segregated schools and segregated churches that are concrete mockeries of the words of justice and equality.

THE TEACHERS WHO are required to teach the values of democracy are at the same time required to justify by rationalizations or silence the persistent absence of democracy in their classrooms.

Members of the clergy and their religious leaders must be careful not to alienate their parishioners by being too demanding in a literal interpretation of the concept of the "fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man."

PERSONNEL CONSULTANT
Dr. Kenneth B. Clark

Parents must find ways to have their children understand that there are limits to the extent to which principles of equality can be permitted to threaten the status and the aspirations of the family.

MORAL DUPLICITY IS therefore an inherent and inescapable aspect of the "democratic" socialization of all American children. These moral conflicts have their personal and social consequences. Individuals are required to cope with them by one or more devices.

Most human beings appear to accept the given moral inconsistencies of their society either passively or cynically. They accept the facts of injustice as given, adopt a personal "dog-eat-dog" philosophy, and function in terms of the prevailing rationalizations of their society as long as they are not personally victimized.

More sensitive human beings tend to internalize guilt; they remain personally concerned about the moral duplicity of their society and sometimes work for social progress even at the risk of ridicule and ostracism.

IN RECENT YEARS, WE have seen an increasing number of young Americans seeking to resolve their moral conflicts by rebelling against the success and affluence of their families, by escaping into cults and communes and wandering off into morally uncharted jungles for personal self-destruction.

It is ironic and indicative of the depth of racist indoctrination of American children that even at the height of the collective rebellion of American youth in the late 1960s and the early 1970s, they did not make the rejection of American racist practices a clear and sustained objective of their protests.

The problems of coping with societal moral duplicity do not remain personal. They start with society, they infect individuals and they become institutionalized.

THEY BECOME PARTS of the pattern and fabric of our political, economic, educational and religious life.

Editor's Note: This is the 15th of 16 articles in the series, "Moral Choices in Contemporary Society."

A psychologist, Kenneth E. Clark, discusses the duplicity that leads Americans to profess a set of idealistic principles regarding race that are constantly violated in practice.

These articles were written for Courses by Newspaper, a program developed by University Extension, UC, San Diego, and funded by a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

Copyright 1977 by the Regents of the University of California.

Moral duplicity becomes euphemistically rationalized by such terms as "practical," "realistic," "hard headed" and "tough minded." When examined, it is revealed that these terms mean that the discrepancy between moral values and immoral practices must be accepted.

We tell ourselves and our children that the verbal ideals can be accepted so long as they do not interfere with "convenience," "efficiency" and "success."

INDIVIDUALS ARE THE agents for the perpetration and perpetuation of social moral insensitivity. These are generally successful individuals, rewarded individuals.

These are the main characters of Watergate. These are the corporate leaders who design and implement bribes in obtaining economic advantages from government officials.

THESE ARE THE educational and intellectual leaders who seek to justify racial segregation in our schools, colleges and universities — or remain silent in the face of this flagrant contradiction of the meaning and purpose of education. These are men who consider segregation normal and who find it difficult to understand those who question their right, indeed their obligation, to function in terms of an unquestioned and "realistic" Machiavellian dualism.

The advice which Machiavelli gave to the prince can be summed up as not to confuse personal morality with those imperatives which are required as the leader of the state.

This simplistic Machiavellian dualism seems to be the foundation of contemporary governmental, economic and educational leadership. This is true in spite of the fact that Machiavelli was advising the prince in the early 16th century.

THE WORLD OF THE present, the nuclear age, demands not only a critical reexamination of Machiavellianism but also major efforts to modify personal behavior and the operation and leadership of social institutions toward moral consistencies.

In the contemporary nuclear age, Machiavellian dualism is not only anachronistic but also threatens survival of the human species. Collective, institutional immorality, no matter how sophisticated and intellectually rationalized, now emerges as even more destructive potentially than interpersonal forms of immorality.

His work on the effects of segregation on children was cited by the U.S. Supreme Court in Brown v. Board of Education (1954), in which the court ruled that schools segregated according to race were inherently unequal and therefore unconstitutional.

Fan Searches For 'Thanks' For Bob Hope

Smith, a scrap metal dealer from Wampum, Pa., is among the world's foremost Bob Hope fans, and he's on a North American tour in search of the comedian's other fans to prove it.

HE WANTS THEM to sign an album he wants to present to Hope on his 75th birthday, May 29, 1978.

Smith, 51, says he's budgeted $500 for the project — a lot of money for a man who earns only $3,000 a year.

He travels on buses, usually by night, he said, to avoid paying for hotel rooms, and eats most of his meals at hamburger stands.

HIS GOAL IS to collect by next May a minimum of 200,000 signatures.

At Vancouver city hall, Deputy Mayor May Brown presented Smith with a letter to Hope "on behalf of Mayor Jack Volrich and the members of the Vancouver City Council . . . on your 75th birthday . . . I'm sure I speak for all Vancouverites when I say to you: Thanks for the memories."

Mission Viejo Company President Philip J. Reilly has declared that urban growth and long-range planning for future growth must be allowed to continue while solutions to growth-related problems are being sought.

In a speech before the Orange County Chamber of Commerce this week, Reilly said, "We cannot stop the world while we look for a solution to today's growth problems."

"ALL THE RHETORIC aside, the cold facts are that life must go on while we are looking for solutions that will make growth acceptable," he added.

According to Reilly, adoption of a "no-growth" mode while problems such as air pollution, water pollution and resource conservation are solved could result in a loss of prerogatives and options to take maximum advantage of the solutions.

The company executive's comments were aimed primarily at debunking the philosophy that contends long-range planning is an inducement to growth and therefore should not take place.

HE SAID THE Mission Viejo Company has opted for long-term planning that took the possibility of future growth into consideration on the grounds that planning for growth would be less disruptive than assuming no growth would occur.

"Today, there are many who cry out for no-growth planning — advocates who lack the confidence to carry on positive long range planning while concurrently dealing with today's problems," Reilly said.

He took issue with the logic that leads to the conclusion that growth is bad and planning for growth will, in fact, induce more bad growth.

CITING A STUDY of growth by University if Houston professor, Reilly said the negative aspects of growth must be highlighted but only so society can come to grips with them and act to eliminate them.

According to Reilly, the most sensible course of action is to strike a balance in terms of numbers of people and types of growth, with techniques applied for reducing the negative impacts.

"Those of us who have worked for change, who can point with pride to improvements, must be alert to shortsighted arguments which would deny future populations their just prerogatives," he said.

"Let's take action today to improve our situation, but let's also make plans today that will accommodate tomorrow's success."

Making Kids Feel Productive

By ANNE COOPER
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Television and working parents are to blame for many problems youngsters face, says Hector Navarette, outgoing superintendent of the Capistrano-Laguna Regional Occupational Program (ROP).

"Human beings need to feel productive," he said. "Kids today watch television instead of making a kite or banging nails or sewing. They have no feeling of productivity and start not liking themselves.

"WORKING PARENTS DON'T have the hours or the energy to bolster their children's self-image," he said. "I see our time as a period of transition from one society to another. Most families have no choice as to whether both parents work — who can afford to live in this area on only one salary?"

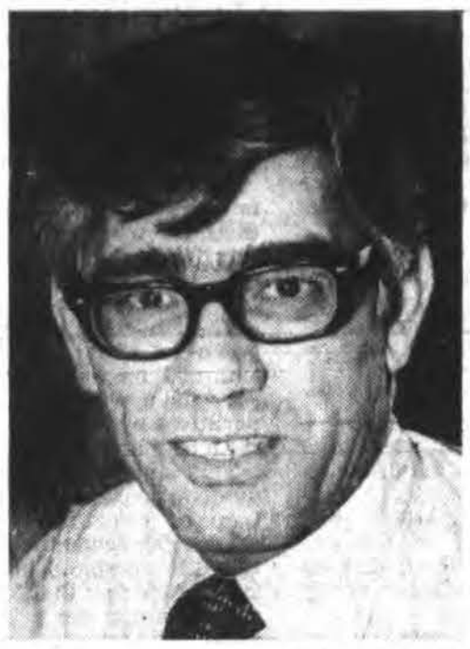

Navarrette, who was hired to develop and direct an experimental ROP in 1971, will be replaced July 1 by Dr. Jerald Simons, a school administrator from Provo, Utah. Navarrette, 47, resigned under pressure and said he has no firm plans after June 30.

PUBLIC EDUCATION hasn't kept up with societal change, Navarrette said.

"At the turn of the century, schools satisfied our needs by performing the valuable function of information sharing and dispensing," he said.

"At that time, our youth was information-poor and responsibility-rich. The mass media did not exist; newspapers were scarce, and few people subscribed to magazines.

"ON THE OTHER HAND, youth of that era had many opportunities in the home, in family business, on the farm or as workers to develop and understand responsibility.

'KIDS MUST PRODUCE'
Ex-director Navarrette

"Currently, our society is information-rich and poor in opportunities for youth to nurture responsibility, but our schools continue to emphasize information sharing and dispensing, in the same lock-step fashion."

Navarrette said vocational programs like the ROP offer educators an opportunity to shift responsibility for learning to students, where it belongs.

"Teachers can't make students learn," he said.

OFFERING ROP STUDENTS a chance to work in the community, in fields they choose themselves, assures that most people enrolled in the program will find their studies relevant. They also develop greater feeling of community responsibility, Navarrette said.

ROP courses are open to high school juniors and seniors, to out-of-school teenagers and to adults. Students work with a teacher in a classroom initially, learning job-related skills. After a period of classroom training, they work as job interns in the community for a specified number of hours to receive course credit.

ROP graduates are working throughout south Orange County as legal secretaries, bank tellers, teacher aides, carpenters, mechanics, landscape gardeners and in many other occupations.

"NO BETTER VEHICLE exists than the ROP for assuring that students master basic skills," Navarrette said. "You can't be a welder unless you can use numbers and read. At the same time, the ROP appeals to college-bound students who want to know about the world of work.

"We have kids riding bicycles from San Clemente High School, about seven miles away, to come to ROP classes," he said. "Bicycles, skateboards — they get here somehow, so we must have something that's drawing them here."

NAVARRETTE SAID THE ROP could serve students and the community better if it were combined with adult education for a community-based alternative 11th and 12th grade high school. The school would be located in several occupational learning centers, where students would be evaluated, counseled and directed, with emphasis always on student responsibility for learning.

"Learning takes place with involvement," Navarrette said. "We owe it to our students and to the community to make it easier for them to become involved."

Seattle Slew Goes in Preakness

BALTIMORE (AP)—Win or lose in today's Preakness, unbeaten Seattle Slew will continue to be handled with care.

"We're going to do what's best for the horse," said Mickey Taylor, whose wife, Karen, is listed as the Kentucky Derby winner's owner. "Whenever he has a problem, he won't run."

Seattle won the Kentucky Derby two weeks ago. A victory over eight rivals in the $150,000-added Preakness Stakes would leave only the Belmont Stakes on June 11 to complete the Triple Crown.

But even a chance to become only the 10th Triple Crown champion in history won't deter Taylor from his determination to have Slew race only at top form.

"We'd like to make him the champion 3-year-old," Taylor said, "and if we win the Triple Crown along the way, great. But you can ruin a horse if all you think about is the Triple Crown, money and syndication. He has an abundance of speed, but we're going to handle him with kid gloves. If we turned him loose, Seattle Slew could break a lot of clocks—but then maybe he wouldn't be around long."

On TV Today

Channel 7 at 2

Seattle Slew was only the second horse in modern times to reach the Preakness unbeaten. Majestic Prince remained unbeaten after winning the 1969 Preakness, but went wrong while losing the Belmont and never raced again.

Two of the losers in the 1¼-mile Kentucky Derby, runnerup Run Dusty Run and 12th-place Sir Sir, were back for another run at Seattle Slew in the 13/16th-mile Preakness.

Of Slew's five new rivals, Charles T. Berry Jr.'s Cormorant and El Peco Ranch's J. O. Tobin have the best credentials—and both missed the Kentucky Derby because of minor illness.

PP	Horse	Jockey	Prob. Odds
1.	Cormorant	Wright	4-1
2.	Counter Pnch	G. McCarron	20-1
3.	Sir Sir	Pineda	30-1
4.	Regal Sir	C. McCarron	20-1
5.	Hey Hey J.P.	Hinojosa	30-1
6.	J.O. Tobin	Shoemaker	10-1
7.	Iron Constitn	Velasquez	10-1
8.	Seattle Slew	Cruguet	3-5
9.	Run Dusty Rn	McHargue	8-1

Owners—1, Charles T. Berry Jr.; 2, John E. Hughes; 3, La Luna Stable; 4, John B.W. Carmichael; 5, Fast Pierina Stable; 6, El Peco Ranch; 7, Harry T. Mangurian Jr.; 8, Karen Taylor; 9, Golden Chance Farm.

Weights—All carry 126 pounds. Gross value—$191,100 with nine starters; $138,600 to winner, $30,000 to second, $15,000 to third, $7,500 to fourth.

Panatta Ousted In Italy

ROME — An American has made it into men's singles final in the Italian Tennis Open for the first time in 17 years. Whether it will be fourth-seeded Brian Gottfried or eight-seeded Vitas Gerulaitis was to be decided in today's semifinals.

Gerulaitis ousted the defending champion, top-seeded Adriano Panatta, 1-6, 7-6, 6-3 in the quarterfinals Friday and Gottfried beat Kim Warwick, 7-5, 6-2.

The two have never met before. The winner of their match will be the first American finalist in the Rome tournament since Barry McKay won it in 1960.

Aztecs Fall, 1-0

PORTLAND — Midfielder Paul Hendrie scored from eight yards out at 79:31 to break a scoreless tie and lead the Portland Timbers to an upset 1-0 victory over the Los Angeles Aztecs Friday night in a North American Soccer League game.

Mick Hoban and Graham Day were credited with the assists on the goal.

Trojans Top WSU

LOS ANGELES — The University of Southern California came from behind to score a 4-2 victory over Washington State Friday night to take a 1-0 lead in their best-of-three series to determine the Pacific-8 Conference baseball champion.

The Cougars, who captured the Pac-8's Northern Division title, took a 2-0 lead in the fourth inning on Phil Westendorf's two-run homer. USC, the Pac-8's Southern Division champion, tied the game in the sixth when Greg Ris homered with a man on.

Riverside Unbeaten

RIVERSIDE — Host UC Riverside is the only unbeaten team after Friday's competition in the NCAA Division II Western Regional double elimination college baseball tournament.

UCR kept its record perfect by trouncing Cal State (Northridge), 11-4. In other games Friday, Cal State (Hayward) defeated Cal Poly (San Luis Obispo), 7-2, and Hayward whipped Northridge, 10-4.

Riverside and Hayward will play today for the regional title. If Hayward wins, the teams will play a second game.

Christian Wins

Mike Bast, the defending national champion, finished second with Mark Cherry third.

In the handicap main, Ron Preston of Newport Beach was the winner with Christian second and Clint Palmer of Anaheim third.

Angels Win, 3-0

Tanana Grabs Seventh Victory

Frank Tanana is only 23 years old, but even he knows there's not much room for improvement as far as his pitching is concerned.

I just hope I can keep pitching the way I am now," said the confident California left-hander after becoming the first seven-game winner in the majors Friday night by shutting out the Minnesota Twins, 3-0, at Anaheim Stadium. "I don't know how much I can improve.

"I know I can improve my pickoff move," added Tanana. "And I can work on keeping the ball in the park."

Tanana referred to a problem he has had with the home run ball, but it hasn't stopped him from winning seven games while losing only once in 1977.

Tanana allowed the Twins eight hits in hurling his third shut out of the season Friday.

Tony Solaita and Dave Chalk paced the California attack with two hits apiece. Solaita kept a first inning rally alive with his first single and scored after the other in the fourth inning. Chalk singled in the Angels' third run in the fourth inning.

Rod Carew and Craig Kusick also had two hits each for Minnesota.

The Angels scored all their runs off Minnesota starter Paul Thormodsgard, 2-2. Tanana, whose only loss was to Boston on May 7, struck out seven and walked four.

Minnesota threatened in both the seventh and eighth innings, but double plays got Tanana out of the jams. With one away in the seventh, Bob Rendall doubled and Rod Carew singled. Larry Hisle then hit into a double play.

In the eighth inning, Kusick walked and Dan Ford hit into a double play.

The Angels took a 2-0 lead in the first inning. Gil Flores drew a leadoff walk and was forced by Jerry Remy.

Solaita singled and was forced by Joe Rudi, with Remy taking third. A double by Bobby Bonds scored both runners.

Net Finals Set Today

Championship finals in all four divisions will be held today with favorites advancing in most instances Friday in the Tennis Tournament of Champions at Mission Viejo's Marguerite Recreation Center.

Action will get under way at 10 this morning with Kathrin Keil of Scottsdale, Arizona meeting Andrea Jaeger of Lincolnshire, Ill. in the 14-and-under finals. Jaeger, an 11-year-old, is the youngest and perhaps smallest player in the tournament at 11. She is No. 1 seed in this division.

Today's second match will feature No. 1 seed Zenda Leiss of Daytona Beach, Fla. against Dana Gilbert of Piedmont, Calif., the No. 3 seed, in the 18-and-under division.

At 1 o'clock, Anne Smith of Dallas Texas (No. 1) meets Mareen Louie of San Francisco (No. 2) in the 21-and-under division.

Tracy Austin, the sensational young star from Rolling Hills who is playing in the 16-and-under division although she is only 14, will meet unseeded Caryn Copeland of Scottsdale in the day's final match at 2:30. Austin is seeded No. 2.

Hooton Gets Win

Smith Belts Homer As LA Rolls, 6-1

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Reggie Smith rapped a three-run homer to lead a five-run fifth-inning surge that gave the Los Angeles Dodgers a 6-1 National League victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates Friday night.

Burt Hooton, 4-1, who held Pittsburgh hitless over the first 4 1-3 innings and yielded a total of four hits before being relieved in the eighth inning by Stan Wall, got the victory. Wall held the Pirates to just one hit the rest of the way.

Steve Yeager's solo homer in the third gave the Dodgers a 1-0 lead off Pirates starter Larry Demery, who also was charged first run in the Dodgers fifth, fifth as his record fell to 5-2.

Hooton doubled and scored the first run in the Dodger fifth, which included run-scoring singles by Dave Lopes and Rick Monday and Smith's three-run homer over the left field wall. It was Smith's 11th home run this season.

Hooton had a two-hitter going into the eighth before Duffy Dyer walked, took third on a two-out double by Omar Moreno and came home on a run-scoring single by Frank Taveras that chased Hooton.

The Dodgers, who made three errors in a loss to Pittsburgh the night before, supported Hooton with several key defensive plays.

Hooton helped himself in the first inning when he made a bare-handed pickup of a bunt and made a strong throw to first that just beat Taveras.

In the second, Los Angeles left fielder Dusty Baker tripped and fell at the warning track but still managed a one-handed catch while on his back on a long drive by Al Oliver.

Later in the same inning, Dodgers shortstop Bill Russell made a bare-handed catch of a high bouncer up the middle and threw out Rennie Stennett.

Anteaters Nab NCAA Tennis Title

SAN DIEGO—Curt Stalder gained the finals in both singles and doubles and the UC Irvine men's tennis team captured its sixth NCAA Division II tennis championship in the last eight years in action at the University of San Diego here Friday.

UCI finished the day with 19 points with Southern Illinois and Hampton tied for second with 15. The most Southern Illinois can pick up would be two points by winning both the singles and doubles today over the UCI opponents.

Stalder plays Juan Farrow of Southern Illinois in the singles final and teams with Jeff Williams in doubles against Farrow and Arjun Fernando.

UCI had a chance to make the doubles and all-UCI affair as Mike Edles and Ron McNamara forced their match to three sets and lost in the final, 7-5.

Williams, suffering from the flu most of the week, lost his singles semifinal match to Farrow, 6-4, 6-4.

3 Area Spikers Gain Victories In CIF Finals

By DAVE CUNNINGHAM
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

NORWALK—Charlie Christensen and Steve Rakhshani of Edison High (Huntington Beach) each won individual titles, and Fountain Valley's Ken Margerum added a third for Orange Coast area athletes during CIF 4-A track and field finals Friday night at Cerritos College.

Christensen won the mile in 4:17.9 and Rakhshani took the pole vault with an effort of 15-0. Each advances to the state qualifying meet Friday night, also at Cerritos.

Margerum also made it, winning the 120 high hurdles by an eyelash at 14.1.

But the meet itself was a showcase for Pasadena High and its fleet brother combo, James and Mike Sanford.

James won the varsity 220 and 440, Mike took the frosh-soph 100 and 220, and Pasadena High captured both team titles with ease.

In the frosh-soph division, Dennis Cowan gave Fountain Valley a CIF title by winning the triple jump at 44-4. Teammate Margerum went 45-11 in the varsity division for fourth place, just ahead of Marina High's (Huntington Beach) Steve Laine (44-1¼).

The event was won by Ramon Grubbs of Blair High in Pasadena. He broke his own CIF record with an effort of 48-7¾.

Another CIF record was set in the high jump, as Dennis Smith of Santa Monica cleared 7-0½. The previous mark was 6-11, set in 1968 by Compton High's Pat Bradford.

Dave White of Marina cleared 6-8 in the high jump but it was only good enough for fourth place, as two other jumpers cleared 6-10 ahead of him.

4-A Division records fell in the 440 relay (Pasadena, 41.6) and the mile relay (Muir High of Pasadena, 3:18.0).

In the mile relay Newport Harbor ran its best time ever, 3:19.2, but had to take third place behind Muir and Pasadena.

The 880 was a two-man race as Dave Kingsland of El Modena edged Jim Walters of Estancia (Costa Mesa) by six-tenths of a second.

Kingsland clocked 1:52.3 and avenged a loss to Walters in the Century League finals, when both runners turned in a 1:51.3, fastest time in the nation this season.

Kingsland led from start to finish, but had to withstand a powerful kick by Walters down the stretch in which the Estancia runner moved quickly from fourth to second place.

Three CIF records fell in the frosh-soph division: Pasadena's Mike Sanford clocked 9.9 in the 100, Gary Lee of Long Beach Poly went 38.3 in the 330 low hurdles

McGee Tied With Player In Ohio Golf

DUBLIN, Ohio (AP) — Jerry McGee and Gary Player matched four-under-par 68s Friday and moved into a tie for the lead in the second round of the $225,000 Memorial golf tournament.

Host Jack Nicklaus, the sponsor, course designer and builder and guiding force behind this event, also shot a 68 and moved within two strokes of the lead half way through the tournament that aims for eventual major-championship status.

"For the last 365 days I've been waiting to get back to this tournament," said McGee, an Ohio native. "I know my wife will be glad when this week is over, because all she's been hearing is Memorial, Memorial.

"I want to win this tournament more than any other in the world, including the four majors. And if this doesn't become a major, then you can scratch the others," said McGee.

"The man, the course, the state. Those are the reasons I want to win it. The man (Nicklaus) is the greatest player ever to put two hands on a club. The course is the greatest in the world. Incredible. And Ohio, well, I'm a Buckeye all the way. Ohio has everything in the world" — he paused briefly and flashed a mischievous grin — "except a passing quarterback."

Player was prompted by the muggy heat to abandon his usual all-black clothing in favor of an all-white ensemble. He didn't make a bogey and missed only one green in matching McGee's 136 total for two trips over the Muirfield Village Golf Club course that has been hailed by the select international field here as one of the world's finest.

"Actually, I've played very well all year," said Player, a South African who hasn't taken a title in this country since 1974.

"I've won $60,000 and played in only eight tournaments," Player said.

Edison Tumbles, 5-2

Two Home Runs Put Chargers Behind Early

By ROGER CARLSON
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

San Gorgonio High's Spartans stung the Edison (Huntington Beach) High Chargers with two home runs in the early going Friday and pitcher Tim Miner made them stand up as the Chargers dropped a 5-2 CIF 4-A quarterfinals baseball game.

The San Bernardino-based visitors eliminated Edison from the playoffs with a three-run shot in the second inning the key blow.

Free passes to Steve Baxter and Ted Rozzi preceded Miner's 320-foot shot off lefty Dave Richmond. Miner's homer snapped a 2-2 situation and with the exception of a pitcher's duel the rest of the way between Miner and Steve Slaton, there was little else offered the 500 fans.

The Chargers rallied in the bottom of the first stanza when Tim Nichols reached the basepaths on catcher's interference and Desrosiers followed with a double to center.

Edison had a mild rally going in the third inning when Hayes singled and Tim Innes drew a walk. But then the Spartans retaliated by bringing Miner in from first base and the slick lefty put out that fire quickly, then set Edison down 1-2-3 the next two innings.

Only a bunt single by Innes in the sixth and an infield safety by Nichols in the seventh spoiled an otherwise perfect stint by the San Gorgonio pitcher.

Slaton, hobbled with sore arm problems, allowed only one hit in his five innings of work. He fanned seven and worked out of a tough spot in the fourth inning after loading the bases when he hit two batters and another was safe on an error.

But Slaton's strikeout ability took its toll. He had whiffed 73 in 57 innings of Sunset League duty and 17 in 112/3 innings of work in the playoffs before Friday.

The result was a weary arm. Coach Ron LaRuffa tried to stay away from using Slaton and it was those first two innings without him that proved the difference.

Rustlers Top OCC, Then Lose

By CRAIG SHEFF
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

LONG BEACH—Golden West College ran out of pitching Friday and Long Beach City College took advantage of it to post an 8-5 baseball win at LBCC in a loser's bracket game of the Southern Cal JC playoffs.

Golden West, which eliminated Orange Coast, 6-3, in a morning game, was ousted from the tourney, Long Beach faces Canyons this morning at 11 with the winner facing unbeaten Cerritos at 3.

Cerritos outslugged Canyons, 16-15, in 10 innings Friday.

GWC's ace pitcher Peder White, working with only one day's rest, started and was effective through five innings. But White tired and the Vikings rallied for four runs for a 5-2 lead. They made it 7-2 the next inning, before Golden West rallied for three runs in the seventh.

Long Beach bombarded GWC pitching for 13 hits, getting baserunners in every inning. The Vikings stranded 11 runners.

Coach Fred Hoover's club could only punch out eight hits—three in the fifth and three in the seventh.

John Moses again stood out at the plate for the Rustlers, banging a triple and a single in four appearances. He finished with eight hits in 12 tries in the tourney—getting three triples and one double.

Vince Bienek had a two-run single in the seventh for Golden West.

In the GWC-Coast game, the Rustlers jumped to a 5-1 lead after four innings and breezed the rest of the way. Golden West got a solid relief pitching performance from Brian Costelloe, who tossed the last six innings, allowing two runs on six hits.

And OCC reliefer Jerry Sanchez gave up just one run on four hits over the last 51/3 frames.

Bienek and Moses were the hitting stars for Golden West. Bienek drove in two runs, getting three singles. And Moses slugged a double and two singles.

Coast stranded 11 baserunners. It was the third win this year by Golden West over OCC.

In the Cerritos-Canyons game, Cerritos grabbed a 13-3 lead after three innings, but Canyons rallied for a 15-13 advantage after seven.

But Cerritos scored two in the ninth to tie and one in the 10th to end the four-hour struggle.

Vikes Dealt 10-5 Defeat In Playoffs

VALENCIA—Crespi High School of Encino put together an eight-run inning and went on to post a 10-5 victory over Sunset League champion Marina High Friday afternoon at College of the Canyons here in CIF 4-A baseball playoff action.

The loss eliminated Marina (Huntington Beach) from the playoffs in the quarterfinal round with Crespi advancing against Lakewood.

Marina went in front briefly in the top of the third inning with two runs, 2-1. Ken Hanvey singled and went to third on Greg Ventura's single. After Ventura stole second, an error allowed both runners to score.

But in the bottom of the same inning, Crespi scored eight times with the aid of Marina miscues and pitching wildness and it was all over.

Marina added two runs in the fifth with a Ventura single adding to the total. In the sixth, Hanvey reached base on a fielder's choice and scored the final Marina run on another Crespi error.

Three Dolphins Smash Homers

By GLENN WHITE
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

OXNARD—It was a long ball game...not by duration, but literally as the Dana Hills High Dolphins unloaded three home runs to account for their first seven runs.

They added three more tallies to their count before the CIF class 2-A baseball playoff duel with host Rio Mesa High of Oxnard was over to claim a 10-3 conquest Friday afternoon before 684 fans who jammed into the little park surrounded by lemon orchards.

Dana Hills will face San Marino in the semifinals Tuesday. San Marino toppled Palo Verde, 6-1, Friday.

Coach Dennis Nespor's South Coast League champion Dolphins also got fine relief pitching from Stu Hein, who came on in the last of the sixth inning when the Spartans began to make a fuss.

Rio Mesa had already scored twice in that inning to cut the gap to 8-3 and had the bases loaded with only one out. So Nespor shifted Hein from first base to relieve pitcher Mark Kendall.

Hein responded by throwing six straight strikes to wipe out the No. 3 hitter and the cleanup batter, ending the uprising. Hein returned in the seventh, gave up a single but picked the runner off first base and wound up facing only three batters in that stanza.

"We had to get off to a quick start and we felt we had to get five innings from Kendall, who was coming in from a two-week layoff," Nespor said.

Dana Hills hasn't been a long-ball-hitting club and Nespor said it was more a case of short fences than of a sudden outburst of power. It was 300 feet down the left field line and 330 to center.

Dana Brown was the big stick for the Dolphins, socking a 340-foot homer with two out in the fourth inning, hitting the first pitch to give the victors a pair of runs and a 4-1 lead.

Brown had three singles and drove in one other run.

Paul Bethke got the invaders off and running with two out in the first inning, belting a 2-2 pitch over the fence in left-center to make it 2-0.

Dana Hills' other circuit clout came in the fifth. And as it was with the first home run, it came after two outs had been recorded.

This time it was No. 9 hitter Mark Simon cashing in, sending it over the 300-foot sign in left field to break open the game as three more runs made it 7-1.

Artists Roll Past Volleyball Foe

By ROGER CARLSON
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Laguna Beach High's Artists are one step away from capturing a second CIF volleyball championship in three years' today following Friday's 15-7, 10-15, 15-5, 15-10 rout of Channel League co-champion Santa Barbara.

Tonight's winner of the Mission Viejo-San Marcos tiff will furnish the opposition Friday and if the Artists are playing as they did against Santa Barbara, they'll be tough to stop.

It was even at a game apiece with Laguna Beach's Phil McManus taking the initiative in the first contest.

Then, however, the Plummer-Engen tandem came into focus and swiftly the Artists of coach Mike Duncan jumped to a 7-0, then 11-1 lead in the third set.

And in addition to Plummer and Engen, three service aces by Steve Fair and a winning ace by Randy Smith made it a complete job.

All that was left was one more set and Laguna Beach jumped to an 11-5 lead, saw it melt to 11-10, then pulled away as the Dons crumbled under the constant pounding of Plummer, McManus, Fair, Smith, Andrew Dodds and Engen.

Santa Barbara, with junior whiz Karch Kiraly the ace, played well at times, but Laguna Beach had too many aces and an attack that combined power with the soft touch.

Too, Laguna Beach never faulted on the serve in contrast to several by the Dons. And, especially in the last two sets, the Artists had Plummer's constant spikes to stymie Santa Barbara hopes.

3-A Spikefest On Tap Today

Sprinter Greg Jones of Mission Viejo heads a list of 23 Orange Coast area athletes who vie at the CIF 3-A track and field finals today at El Modena High School in Orange.

Jones set a 3-A record in the 440 during last Saturday's prelims, clocking 48.7. He also qualified in the 220 with a 21.9.

Field events begin at 11 a.m. and the running starts at 1:45 for varsity and frosh-soph boys and girls.

All nine entries in the 100 have gone 9.9 or better and Don Hill of Kennedy High (Barstow) has a 9.6 to his credit. The CIF 3-A meet record is 9.7.

Area sprinters in that race include Tony Fuller of University High (Irvine) and Mike Kruthers of San Clemente. Each has a best of 9.9.

A record could also crumble in the high jump, where the established target is 6-8¼, set by Kelly Johnson of Arroyo Grande High last year.

Alan Gersten of University High (Irvine) and Dave Redick of Laguna Beach have each gone higher. They tied at 6-9¼ during a dual meet.

Joe Young of Costa Mesa has a shot at the two-mile record of 9:06.0, which has stood since 1974. Young has a top time of 9:09.5 this season.

Joining Young in the two-mile will be teammate John Gerhardt, whose best is 9:25.9. Gerhardt also runs the mile, along with South Coast League cohorts Mark LaBonte of Mission Viejo and Art Van Wie of El Toro.

JC Track Finals Set

AZUSA—Five coast area JC athletes will compete in tonight's Southern California track and field finals at Citrus College here. It begins at 5:45.

Golden West College sprinter Jim Rohrig tops the list. Rohrig had the third best time in the 200 meters in last Saturday's prelims—21.32.

Teammates Bob Gasway and Chuck Tuey also qualified, along with Orange Coast's Curt Eilenberg and Saddleback's Stu Foster.

Gasway was the sixth top qualifier in the shot put (51-6) while Tuey qualified eighth in the javelin (204-11) and Eilenberg was 12th (198-1). Foster had a mark of 14-6 in the pole vault.

Rustlers in Finals

Softball Title Game Set Today

By HOWARD L. HANDY

Two outstanding fielding plays by Sarah Strube and Shelly Gribbin, the timely hitting of Cheri Ertel and the steady pitching of Kathi Rosenbery led Golden West College into the championship finals of the national AIAW junior college women's softball tournament Friday night.

Channel 50 at Noon

The GWC Rustlers toppled Cerritos for the fourth time in five meetings this season by a 2-0 score in semifinal round action at Greer Park in Huntington Beach Friday night. The victory moved Golden West into today's finals beginning at noon.

Cerritos dropped into the loser's bracket and must battle Illinois Central at 9 this morning to gain the finals. This is the route GWC followed a year ago to gain the championship.

In Friday night's battle, Strube picked off a hard line drive in the first inning off the bat of opposing pitcher Barbara Reinalda to put down the side in order.

Then, after Golden West had scored a pair of unearned runs in the bottom of the sixth, Gribbin threw a perfect strike to catcher Julie Winklepleck after catching a fly ball for a game-ending double play. The throw cut down a Cerritos runner trying to score from third after the catch.

Diablos Seek Finals

Mission Viejo High's surprising volleyball team hosts San Marcos High of Santa Barbara tonight at 7:15, with the winner advancing to the CIF championship match Friday night against Laguna Beach.

Mission Viejo was South Coast League runnerup to Laguna, which beat Santa Barbara High Friday night.

San Marcos is 15-1 on the year and co-champion of the Channel League. Both coaches say they expect a tough, even match.

"They're not real big but they're quick," says Mission Viejo coach John Murio. "I haven't seen them play, but I understand they're very well coached."

San Marcos coach Tom Shogi says, "Mission Viejo is a superb team and we'll have our hands full. But we're ready and they'll have their hands full, too."

Mission Viejo's strength lies in its persistent offense. "It's a sophisticated offense that involves a lot of different hitting formations," Murio says.

Primary forces in that offense are Mike Brawley, Joe Blum, Steve Feicht and Kevin Severson, each of whom made the All-South Coast League team.

Blum is only 5-8 and primarily a setter, but he jumps well and can also hit. Feicht is a solid, all-round player while Brawley (6-3) and Severson (6-1) handle much of the blocking and hitting.

?Trivia??? By T.T.

Don't look now, but the Desk Jockeys are just seven points out of second place after scoring nine to lead the week's field.

Banded together in the runner-up slot were Ed Schmerler, Ruth E. Davis, Max Fraley and Mortimer, all of whom came up with eight correct answers. Jeff Sturm had seven, while the Bayview Bombers came through with six.

Number four was supposed to be an easy question, but nobody could remember "That Old Time Religion" from the opening moments of "Inherit the Wind." We're surprised.

Three players who've been absent for more than three weeks have been dropped from the column, so many of you are moving up by default this week. Number eight will be worth two points to all you fans of "John Goldfarb," one of the more underrated movie comedies of all time.

1. THE HUSBAND HUNTER'S Handbook crops up periodically in what comic strip?
2. The phrase "B.O." originally was associated with what soap?
3. On Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman, what did the initials GGG stand for?
4. Who was the first person shot in the Coliseum by the sniper in the movie "Two Minute Warning?"
5. HOW ABOUT THE MOTTO on the Adam-12 police cars?
6. The name, please, of Dennis the Menace's cat.
7. James Bond escaped premature burial in what movie?
8. Name the publication for which Shirley MacLaine worked in the movie "John Goldfarb Please Come Home."
9. IN MOSS HART'S PLAY "Light Up the Sky," name the new play being tried out in Boston.
10. "The cowboy got the children and the missus got the horse" is a lyric from what popular song of the Forties?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Even though they are now on different continents, director Federico Fellini and producer Dino De Laurentiis will be rejoining for another film.

Now based in Beverly Hills, De Laurentiis announced he and Fellini will combine for a 1978 movie, the subject not revealed.

Their association dates back to such classics as "La Strada" in 1954 and "The Nights of Cabiria" in 1956.

ENTERTAINMENT

'I Do' at Harlequin

Intermission
Tom Titus

The first act is cute and the third act is charming, but the second act of "I Do, I Do" at the Harlequin Dinner Playhouse is downright terrific.

That's when the temperature really warms up in this two-character musical satire on marriage. It's rife with conflict, and it gives its stars, Jennifer Williams and Mark Vance, the chance to fully demonstrate their talents.

"I DO, I DO," THE second production of the new dinner theater just north of Costa Mesa on Harbor Boulevard, is the genesis for such popular numbers as "My Cup Runneth Over" (Act I) and "What is a Woman?" (Act III). But it's the songs you've never heard before — "Nobody's Perfect," "It's a Well Known Fact" and "Flaming Agnes" — in the second segment that merit the loudest and longest applause.

"I DO, I DO"

THE CAST
Agnes ..... Jennifer Williams
Michael ..... Mark Vance

This is when Vance and Miss Williams have at each other intellectually, and only some finger-crossing contrivance by authors Tom Jones and Harvey Schmidt get them back in each other's arms by the second act curtain.

VANCE IS AN EXCELLENT facial comic who conveys changes of characterization with the arch of an eyebrow. His timing is very good, though his physical aging process really isn't striking until the final sequence.

Miss Williams relies more on the snappy comeback and physical mannerisms to give the necessary bounce to her character. Her gradual maturing process is better delineated, and she curiously grows more attractive the "older" she becomes.

Director Barth Benedict has come up with some unique staging methods for "I Do, I Do," letting his cast get cozy with the audience whenever possible. Above all, he keeps things moving at a steady clip to prevent audiences from growing weary of the same two faces.

"I Do, I Do" continues nightly (except Monday) at the Harlequin, 3503 S. Harbor Blvd., Santa Ana, through June 12, to be followed on the 14th by the Orange County premiere of a new comedy, "Natalie Needs a Nightie."

Do Not Disturb; Director Gene Wilder at Work

By BOB THOMAS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sign on Stage 5 at 20th Century-Fox studio:

"You have often heard the expression Closed Set. You are actually now standing in front of a real one. Please don't be offended. Love, Gene."

That's how zealousy Gene Wilder guards his privacy in filming "The World's Greatest Lover," his second movie as director-writer-star.

"WHEN STRANGERS ARE on the set, I can actually feel the actors tensing up," he explains. "I know that I always felt the same way. When there was one person on the set I had known from another connection, I would be distracted. I know some people think 'What right do actors have to privacy?' Well, they have just as much right as anyone else to do their work in peace."

Wilder now displays a certain sureness which was not as evident in his directorial debut, "Sherlock Holmes' Smarter Brother."

LOOKING BACK TO THE 1975 film, he mused, "Knowing what I do now, I would rewrite 'Sherlock' completely. I would do the same story, but with a different script. I can see what were the weaknesses, and they generally arose when I attempted to go for the heart. I realize that I am much happier going for the comedy.

"Oh, yes, I will have touching scenes, but I won't dwell on them. I don't want to do what five-six-seven other people can do. I have a theory that prevades morals, philosophy, politics. It was said by Walter Lipman, and I am paraphrasing: 'Man is not good; he is good at something.'"

Wilder is constantly analyzing his work, not only in the writing of scenes but in the playing of them. He employs the system developed by Blake Edwards and Jerry Lewis of taping each scene as it is photographed. Thus the film maker is afforded an immediate replay, instead of waiting 24 hours for rushes.

"I AM HAVING TO re-shoot a scene I did the other day," Wilder remarked. "The video broke down and couldn't view the scene immediately. When I saw it later, I recognized that it was amusing. I don't want 'amusing.' I don't want the titer or the smile. I am going for all the marbles."

Will he achieve it? No less an authority than Mel Brooks believes so. Wilder invited Brooks, his close friend and director of "Blazing Saddles" and "Young Frankenstein," to witness some rushes one noontime.

It was a scene in which a sedate pair sit down to lunch in a fancy restaurant of the Hollywood 1920s. The man asks, "Waiter, may I have some water?" The waiter signals above and a torrent pours down on the bewildered pair. The scene was both senseless and sidesplitting.

"THAT SHOWS YOU HOW a perfect idea can work," analyzed the delighted Brooks. "You have sculpted the edges of it."

Afterward Wilder sat down to a health-food salad on the veranda of the 20th Century-Fox commissary and talked about "The World's Greatest Lover." He portrays a yokel who comes to Hollywood to become a star. Also in the cast: Carol Kane, Dom De Luise, Fritz Feld, David Huddleston, Sidney Miller.

"I have a stronger story this time," he said, "and better comedy. There are sad and touching moments, too, but they last for only three-fifths of a page."

WILDER WAS DELIGHTED with the huge success of "Silver Streak" despite bad reviews. "It was the first script I've done since 'Blazing Saddles' that I didn't write," he said. "I did it because I believed in the story. It was modeled after 'North by Northwest' and was the kind of picture I like to see."

Henceforth he will only appear in his own scripts or with a director he has always wanted to work with. His reasoning: "Why go through the heartache of having someone else ruin something when I can screw up as well as anyone?"

IRVINE UNIFIED SCHOOL DISTRICT'S INITIAL PROPOSAL ON COMPENSATION AND RELATED BENEFITS

INTRODUCTION
The Irvine Unified School District's Initial Proposal for Compensation and Related Benefits for 1977/78, 1978/79, and 1979/80 embodies a significant change in the philosophical direction of the District's Certificated Salary Structure. Based upon the year long study by the Task Force on Alternative Compensation, it offers a phased program of performance compensation eliminating the present salary variable of college units in the 1978/79 year (substituting tuition reimbursement), with a salary reopener on the merit pool in the 1979/80. It establishes the category of Master Teacher in 1978/79, encouraging outstanding teachers to remain in the teaching profession rather than pursuing alternative careers for financial reasons. Its long term goal is to fairly compensate all employees while rewarding outstanding performance in a fiscally responsible manner.
PHASE I 1977-78 Compensation Proposal
During the 1977/78 school year, each certificated employee would have their present salary augmented by $500. In addition, the District would assume $60,000 of the additional cost for existing fringe benefit coverage.
PHASE II 1978-79 Compensation Proposal
Phase Two assumes:
(1) that compensation should reflect employee performance.
(2) that the present salary structure is inequitable.
(3) that good teachers should make professional salaries.
(4) that the beginning years of experience reflect accelerated growth and should, therefore, receive more salary recognition.
(5) that assessing performance is difficult and should, at least initially, reflect major differences in performance.
(6) that no current employee should make less than their 1977/78 salary in 1978/79.
(7) that the system should be implemented in gradual stages.
(8) that all future raises must be tied to additional District revenues.

BASE SALARY SCHEDULE 1978-79

	YEARS OF EXPERIENCE
Level One Teacher	1	11,500
Level Two Teacher	3	13,500
Level Three Teacher	5	15,500
Level Four Teacher	7	16,750
Level Five Teacher	10	17,750
Master Teacher		21,500

In addition to the above salary placement, a certificated employee shall be eligible for participation in a merit pool, the total of which shall be determined by the meet and negotiate process beginning no later than February 15, 1978. No employee shall be paid less in 1978/79 than their contract salary in 1977/78.
The employee's merit award shall be determined by his/her evaluation rating score. Those employees receiving rating scores within one standard deviation of the mean would be entitled to a proportionate share of 50% of the merit pool total. Those employees receiving rating scores more than one standard deviation above the mean would be entitled to a proportionate share of the remaining 50% of the merit pool total.
Two percent of the District's certificated employees would be designated as Master Teachers for the 1978/79 school year. Such designation shall be determined by their 1977/78 rating score and previous record of service to the District.
Seventy-five percent of the fringe benefit cost shall be borne by the District in 1978/79.
To encourage teachers to continue their education, the District will pay up to $300 a year for tuition on approved classes at accredited colleges and universities.

EVALUATION SYSTEM PRECIS
All teachers shall be rated for their share of the 1978/79 merit pool based upon their performance during the 1977/78 school year. The Evaluation System shall assess a teacher's product, process, environment, adjunct duties and professional growth. The total possible score would be 100 points, —with 0-40 points earned for designing and meeting goals and objectives consistent with school and district goals;
—with 0-20 points earned for exhibiting the following teacher process behaviors, structuring, questioning, listening, clarifying, facilitating data acquisition, waiting, and modeling;
—with 0-20 points for classroom management, discipline, record keeping, and communication with parents;
—with 0-20 points earned for adjunct duties and professional growth as evidenced by college training and service at the school and district level.
Each teacher would rate themselves and be rated by their appropriate administrator. Following the rating, a conference shall be held to attempt to reconcile the two scores. A final rating shall be prepared by the administrator subject to review by the superintendent or his designee whose sole judgment shall be final and binding. No evaluation rating shall be subject to the grievance procedure.
PHASE III 1979-80 Compensation Proposal
The sole variable for consideration in 1979/80 shall be the amount of the merit pool. However, no employee shall receive less than his/her 1977/78 contract salary in 1979/80.
One hundred percent of the fringe benefit cost shall be borne by the District. The meet and negotiate process shall commence no later than February 15, 1979 to determine the amount of the merit pool.
To encourage teachers to continue their education, the District will pay up to $300 a year for tuition on approved classes at accredited colleges and universities.
SUMMARY
The above shall be supplemented by an appendix of necessary procedures to fulfill the requirements of the California Education Code, and smoothly implement the philosophic commitment to quality education, fair compensation, and fiscal responsibility.

A customized office
And a Koi pond too
The house is a dream
Not the slightest bit blue,
Lots of sun

Buyers Step Up!
Consider a Bentley Mercia Roadster. We start with a Bentley Sedan, discard the body, modify the chassis to sport car standards with every single part checked, repaired, re-machined, or replaced as is required. 800 man hours later a virtually new chassis is the result, with a pre 1955 title.
THEN an all aluminum coach built Roadster body is manufactured and installed. Trimming is to highest standards. A gorgeous machine.
The prototype is in our showroom. The second car is in transit. 8 MORE are in production. Prox $37,000. Jim Rickman Motors, 2124 E. Colorado Bl, Pasadena (213) 795-2551 or locally call Carlos Carrion at 752-7847

Alfa Romeo 9705

Alfa Romeo Giulietta Sprint. Excellent, newly painted body and separate, strong running 1300 Veloce engine w/ 4-speed transmission. Also many extra Alfa 1300 parts incl block, head, crank, trans, etc. When put together as is will be a good looking, good running car — or would definitely be worth investing time and money for completion of restoration of this classic Bertone design $1500. 645-5108 after 6 & weekends, or leave message at 648-7542.
