Wide Spread Found in Drug Pricing

By KATHY CLANCY Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Orange County residents may pay as much as $12 more for a prescription at one pharmacy than they pay at another, according to a report released Friday by the county Office of Consumer

A survey of 187 county pharmacies showed the average prices for prescription drugs vary 27 percent from pharmacy to pharmacy. There also is a 12 percent average price range for non-prescription drugs the report

"The wise consumer would do well to comparison shop prior to making any drug purchases, the report concluded.

The survey was conducted last December at pharmacies in Newport Beach, Costa Mesa, El Toro, Fountain Valley, Huntington Beach, Irvine and nine inland communities.

Fourteen college student volunteers collected price information for 23 prescription drugs, ranging from birth control pills to tranquilizers to blood pressure medication.

They also checked the pricetags of 12 non-prescription medicines including popular brands of analgesics, sleep aids, multiple vitamins, antacids, decongestants, cough syrups and stomach remedies.

What they found, for example, was that the price of aldomet, a drug prescribed to regulate blood pressure, varied as much as $12.66 in price between pharmacies.

Among non-prescription items, the price differences were smaller but it still could cost as much as $7.70 more for the same 100-tablet bottle of vitamins at one drugstore than at another.

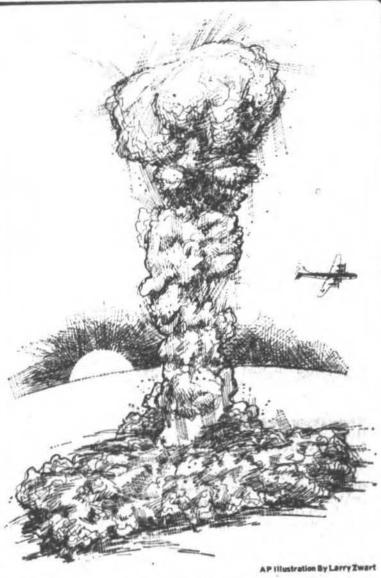

The surveyors also concluded that the least expensive prescriptions are found in chain pharmacies, defined as more than three stores owned by the same individuals.

The report showed prices at chain stores on the average are 18 percent lower in price than those at single-owned independent pharmacies.

The chain prices also are 26

Where Were You When Bomb Fell?

By ARTHUR R. VINSEL

Searing and sudden, brighter than the rising sun symbol of the island nation its imperial dreams destroyed, the atom bomb was dropped on the unsuspecting city of Hiroshima, Japan, 32 years ago today.

The awesome nuclear blast was followed by a second that devastated Nagasaki, ended World War II and began a new dread and fear that will nestle in the heart of mankind for all time.

Today, more than three decades later, Hiroshima and Nagasaki — up to 300,000 killed - still take their toll, physically, mentally and spiritually among the peoples of the world.

Where were you 32 years ago today? What did you feel? How did you react? How do you feel about it today?

One whole generation has been born, grown, matured, married and borne children approaching adolescence themselves since the day that what was then the ultimate weapon demonstrated to mankind he has the power in his hands to obliterate himself. The word came to some in the Honolulu Advertiser which arrived faithfully two days late as usual to GIs on Iwo Jima and in other publications on newsracks across America, from the streets of the Orange Coast to the sidewalks of New York. Costa Mesa City Attorney Roy June remembers the day

"I WAS FLYING P-51 Mustangs escorting B-29 bombers to Japan," says June, who had some harrowing experiences as a U.S. Army Air Force fighter pilot in the Pacific Theater.

"The day before the bumb was dropped, the plane, what was the name of it? Yeah, the Enola Gay, landed. There were two air fields on Iwo

Jima, the Upper Field and the Lower They cleared everybody out of the area of the Upper Field. We figured it was a bunch of VIPs coming in. Hell, maybe even the President," June recalls. Radio silence - total silence - was

June speculates it was both for top secret security plus the instability of the world's first nuclear bomb and the fact it might detonate prematurely before reaching its destina-

Police Probe Two Separate County Deaths

Police in two Orange County cities today are investigating two separate, unrelated apparent homocides in which no suspects or motives had been found by late Friday evening.

Mrs. Bobbie Brambaugh, 50, of 2500 W. Central St., Santa Ana, was found apparently strangled to death and wrapped in blankets in her home at 2 p.m. Friday, police reported.

The body was found by a carpet installer hired by Mrs. Brambaugh, said Santa Ana police Lt. Terry Dakin.

Mrs. Brambaugh's husband, whose name was withheld, has been notified of her death. He was not held by police, said

Orange County Coroner's investigators pronounced the victim dead at the scene. Dakin said there were no signs of a struggle at the house. In a separate incident earlier Friday, a 22-year-old man was found dead in an orange grove near Ash Street and Sycamore Avenue in Orange at 12:38 p.m., police reported. An orange grove caretaker found the dead man, whose name was withheld pending family notification and further investigation. The victim, was spotted lying on the ground, said Lt. Orion Ormiston. Ormiston said coroner's in-vestigators indicated the body had apparently been transported to the grove after the victim died. But they could turn up no signs of what caused the death, Ormiston

Autopsies for both victims found Friday are slated today, officials said.

Trial Delayed In Westminster Baby's Death

A four-month delay was ordered Friday in the Orange County Superior Court trial of a physician accused of strangling a new born infant in a Westminster Community Hospital nursery.

Judge James K. Turner set Jan. 3 as the new murder trial date for Dr. William Baxter Waddill Jr., 43, of Huntington Harbour, after defense lawyers explained that Dr. Waddill's wife is expecting a baby in September.

Dr. Waddill, free on $25,000 bail, had been scheduled to go on trial Sept. 14 before Judge Turner.

It was further argued for the defense that Dr. Waddill is in-volved in the trial of a medical malpractice lawsuit that is expected to be in progress during September. The lawsuit has no connection with the criminal action filed against the physician.

It is alleged that Dr. Waddill strangled an hour-old baby girl after he unsuccessfully attempted a saline abortion on an unmarried Huntington Beach girl.

Coast Couple Safe In Long Sea Ordeal

By RAY ESTRADA

Weary and famished but in good spirits after a 6-week ordeal, an Orange Coast couple and their friend were towed into Honolulu Friday evening aboard a disabled 31-foot sloop, U.S. Coast Guard officials in Hawaii reported.

Aboard the vessel Coral, reported missing for the past 21 days, were John Robert Eeds, 29, his wife, Roberta, 26, both of Newport Beach, and Larry Busby, 21, of Mill Valley.

The trio left Catalina June 25 for Hilo, which they expected to reach within 21 days.

But during the cruise the vessel suffered a broken boom, contaminated drinking water, navigation problems and a shortage of fuel, according to Jean Crawford, of San Juan Capistrano, Mrs. Eeds' mother.

Roberta, a former Miss San Juan Capistrano, married Eeds in May. The trip was part of their honeymoon, said Mrs. Crawford.

Eeds and Busby are employed at Mariner Yachts in Newport

Mrs. Crawford said her daughter telephoned her from Honolulu at about 10 p.m. (PST) and related that all was well. Mrs. Crawford and her husband, Robert, said they planned to eatch the first plane to Honolulu

Newport Beach investor-realtor Hancock "Bill" Banning III remembers Hiroshima well.

"A lot of us had heard about atomic capabilities but we didn't know very much about the subject," says Banning, who flew F6F Hellcat fighter-bombers from the aircraft carrier USS Belleau Wood.

"We had been on a mission on V-J Day and they radioed us to just drop our bombs in the oean and come on home. It was anice feeling," says Banning.

His combat unit flew in formation over the carrier USS Missouri Aug. 14, 1945, during ceremonies in which Japanese leaders signed the treaty of unconditional surrender.

Huntington Beach City Councilman and former mayor Ted Bartlett remembers the day the A-bomb was dropped on Hiroshima well.

"I was here in Huntington Beach that day," he says.

"I HAD KIND OF mixed feelings about it. I thought: 'those poor devils (the common people) didn't start the war. It was The Establishment.' But you had to look to the good side. It stopped the war. It was kind of a peculiar feel-

"I FELT AT the time it was fantastic. The war would be over and there would be no more killing. But as time goes by, you think about the innocents," says the veteran policeman.

"I saw a lot of my friends die over there," adds Broad but he points out none of them were women and children.

Longtime Costa Mesa civic leader and former City Councilman and Mayor Alvin L. "Pink" Pinkley was in the pharmacy and soda fountain he founded 44 years ago when the bomb fell.

"MV FEELINGS WERE like I think those of 95 percent of the people on the West Coast, a mixture of abject horror at the destruction and the philosophy that we had to get rid of those guys, says Pinkley.

He pointed out the Imperial Japanese forces on Dec. 7, 1941, showed no great deal of high regard for American lives when they struck Pearl Harbor.

Longtime Laguna Beach resident and former mayor Jess Riddle, who boasts he is 95½ years of age, remembers Hiroshima well.

"THAT WAS HARRY TRUMAN'S decision, wasn't it? I never criticized him for that. I think he did the right thing. It was a pitiful thing for those people but it had to be done, Huntington Beach Police Department Detective Sgt. Bert Chadwick was a boy of 15, growing up in Long Beach.

Chadwick has mellowed somewhat in retrospect, as most of those old enough to remember Aug. 6, 1945, have done with the years.

"I WAS REALLY HAPPY about it. But a lot of my thinking was controlled by what we got in the news media," says Sgt, Chadwick.

"I was still worried about my older buddies from the neighborhood who had gone overseas and I was glad the war was going to be over. There came a time when I was about the only kid in the neighborhood."

Both women admit the thought has crossed their minds.

Mrs. Gibbs confirmed this week that she is giving the possibility serious consideration but hasn't reached a decision.

Her family is believed to be supportive of her bid for the county post.

Mrs. Lawlor testified before Judge Weisman that her father liked to dabble in coins and safes He had four safes on a 25-acre weekend ranch home in Morongo Valley, a safe in Mrs. Lawlor's home, one in her sister's home and one in his own home which he shared with his wife of 30 years, Emily. Mrs. Lawlor said that after her father's death, a locksmith opened her safe and found $10,000 in cash and about 75 gold coins.

Her attorney said the money was placed in the hands of the public administrator who came to the house with an armed guard.

Mrs. Lawlor said her father was "a very frugal man all his life. Money was his thing." Her father told her stories of great sums of money, but never mentioned exactly how much he had or where he kept it, she said. Kent Tibbetts, the attorney for

Mrs. Lawlor, said he will continue to press for his client to be named administrator. He indicated he thought that the judge would look more favorably on her request now that the money is in safe hands. The treasure was removed from the desert home Friday by

Judge Holding Off Key Cella Ruling

By TOM BARLEY

Orange County Superior Court Judge William C. Speirs refused Friday to rule immediately on a motion that the defense believes could make or break the district attorney's case against Dr. Louis J. Cella Jr. and Stephen Robert Judge Speirs closed three days of final arguments late Friday by advising lawyers for both sides that he will rule on the defense motion to suppress prosecution evidence by Aug. 15.

Defense lawyers believe that if the motion is granted the prosecution may have to abandon it's case against Cella, 52, and former Mercy General Hospital Administrator Evans, 32.

Both men were indicted by the grand jury on multiple felony charges stemming from the alleged syphoning of an alleged $2 million from two county hospitals controlled by Cella as secretary-treasurer.

But the report noted that of the 15 Newport Beach drugstores only one was chain-operated while 11 of Buena Park's 13 pharmacies were chain stores.

In totaling the purchase price for the 12 non-prescription drugs, Newport Beach pharmacies again were the highest-priced at The lowest 12-price total was in El Toro where the bill came to $26.96, the report showed. The surveyors suggested those buying medicines ask their druggist if the prescribed drug is available under a different name at a lower price.

They noted the prices on two prescription antibiotics which bear the same name but contain the same medicine, varied as much as $4.75 per prescription and by an average of $1.95. In addition, they recom-mended that physicians help educate their patients about pharmacy prices and comparison shopping. The surveyors started with a list of 221 pharmacies taken from the 1976 telephone directory in an area they defined as Central Orange County. Of the total, some had gone out of business or moved, others did not have prices posted, and in three instances the surveyors were asked to leave before completing their inventories, the report said.

Both men were tried in Los Angeles Federal Court last year and convicted on related charges. Cella is free on appeal from a five-year prison term. Evans is appealing a one-year sentence.

If Judge Speirs sustains the prosecution in the current motion he will have to hear two more motions before a trial date is set.

Attorney James Riddet, representing Evans, will ask Judge Speirs to order a separate trial for his client. The defense also plans to argue a motion for dismissal of the charges.

Pre-trial action on the charges filed against the two defendants began in Judge Speirs courtroom almost a year ago.

Judge Speirs has made it clear that if all defense motions are rejected he is prepared to order the trial transferred from Orange County to another jurisdiction.

Defense lawyers argue that pre-trial publicity has ruled out the possibility of a fair trial in Orange County.

Some 128,000 persons were killed and hundreds still die of the slow after-effects. Total deaths are unknown because those at ground zero were simply erased. Vaporized.

There was nothing left to pray over but their memories, or their shadowy smudges on a sidewalk.

The lady lived in Huntington Beach in 1962, on that year's anniversary of the atomic bomb. But, on Aug. 6, 1945, the young woman and her sister took a day off work to visit their aging aunt at her farm in the countryside.

She recalled a strange, distant thud one moment about noon and gradually, the sky became dark and a weird wind struck, generated by the first A-bomb

And the first A-bomb was puny by standards of the weapons contained in today's growing in-ternational arsenal. "About six o'clock that night six hours later, documents and office papers began to flutter down out of the sky onto my aunt's farm," she recalled.

Puzzled, she and her family later learned it was the work of the Pika-Don, as the Japanese called the doomsday weapon. Once Hiroshima was open again—or the spot where it stood once — they could not even find the city blocks in which their

Safety Officials Bargain

By JOANNE REYNOLDS

Newport Beach's 191 police employes, who had a 5 percent pay raise imposed on them by city councilmen last month, will ask the council Monday to withdraw that raise and reopen negotiations.

Meanwhile, members of the 115-member Newport Beach Fire Fighters Association remain without a contract for the existing fiscal year. Recent balloting on a city contract offer ended in a stalemate Jack Hamilton, president of the fire fighters' association, said a general membership meeting has been set for Aug. 12. At that time an attempt will be made to iron out the differences that have split the organization.

The offer under consideration was a two-year contract calling for no pay raise in the 1977-78 fiscal year and a 5 percent pay raise in the 1978-79 year.

The firemen are seeking a change from the existing Public Employes Retirement System (PERS) to the California Highway Patrol (CHP) plan.

The PERS system pays benefits after age 55 with 20 years service. The payments are 50 percent of the average of the last three years' salaries.

The CHP system pays benefits at age 50 after 20 years. The payments are calculated by multiplying 2 percent times the number of years served. That figure is the percentage applied against the average of the last three year's salaries.

The two-year contract offered by the city would give firemen the CHP plan on the last day of the fast year.

A change from PERS to CHP retirement also has been sought by police employes, whose spokesman, Jim Gardiner, declined further comment until after Monday's council session.

Hamilton said the vote by firemen on the two-year contract was 51 against, 47 for, with nearly all of those in favor being the older members of the fire department who face retirement in the next few years and who want the system changed.

Those opposed, he said, are generally the younger firemen who consider the pay raises in the two-year offer "almost insulting.

"The point of the Aug. 12 meeting will be to try to unite the organization," Hamilton said. "I hope we can come out of it with some kind of decision. Firemen declared an impasse in negotiations two months ago and asked for mediation. The two-year contract is the result of

The chairman of UC Irvine's Academic Senate said Friday she's against having state legislators impose a financial disclosure policy on university faculty members.

Dr. Renee Hubert said Friday a universitywide committee has been working on such a policy and that a proposal is due to be revealed soon. She said the mat-ter should be left in the hands of educators, not politicians.

The Legislature is threatening to impose a financial disclosure policy because, lawmakers argue, there is too much consulting, or moonlighting, going on among professors.

Dr. Hubert, a professor of French and comparative literature, says she knows of few instructors who have let consulting work interfere with their teaching.

The topic arose earlier this week at a joint meeting of UC Academic Senate leaders and members of an Assembly subcommittee.

At that meeting, Assemblyman Gordon Duffy (R-Handord) threatened to push for a policy that would force faculty members to disclose all income earned outside of their university jobs, unless the university develops a strong policy of its own.

Dr. Hubert said she does not know the content of the proposed UC policy because she was not a member of the committee that worked on it.

What the Legislature is suggesting is out of line anyway, unless they're more specific about consulting," said the Academic Senate leader.

"What do they mean by consulting? Is it a colleague who attends one panel and gets a reimbursement of funds, plus a little something?" asked Dr. Hubert. 'Or is it someone who goes to Washington, spends an hour and returns?" she added.

"If someone regularly spends all day on another job, earning oodles of money, that's something else," she concluded.

"Their assumption is that we don't spend enough time with our teaching obligations, but that's entirely erroneous," said the humanities professor.

'I've taught a very long time and I'm convinced teachers are taking their responsibilities more and more seriously," Dr. Hubert said

U.S. Officials In Mediation Over Contract

WASHINGTON (AP) Federal mediators stepped into contract talks Friday night in an effort to avoid a nationwide strike of 700,000 telephone company workers against the Bell System, scheduled for midnight

'Federal mediation is now involved. Conversations are going to continue," a spokesman for the Communications Workers of America (CWA) said.

Earlier in the day, the CWA and two smaller unions rejected as inadequate a new wage offer from management. But the CWA spokesman said bargaining would "continue around the clock if necessary."

He said the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service "asked to come in" to the negotiations.

Turkey Too Much; Back to Owner

Costa Mesa bird man Andy Mayo has his prize Appalachian Wild turkey back today, thanks to a Newport Beach banker who got the bird as a gift and couldn't wait to get rid of it.

Banking executive Larry Waters spent a bad weekend with the borrowed bird after receiving it as a gag gift aboard a yacht where about 100 friends helped him celebrate his birthday.

DURING THE next two days, the turkey:

-Terrified his toy poodle; Ate the flowers in his backyard; -Soiled his indoor-outdoor

-Prompted a neighbor to call the police because of the turkey's complaining gobble.

IT WAS SYMPATHETIC police officers who suggested the banker contact officials at Prentice Park Children's Zoo in Santa Ana and ask them to take the

For Marriage

Vasectomies OK, Says Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP) -- The Vatican declared Friday that men with vasectomies can enter valid marriages.

The Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith, the most important judge of Roman Catholic orthodoxy, published a decree in which it changes church practice on the vasectomy issue.

UNTIL NOW, THE Roman Rota - or supreme court of the Catholic Church — annulled any marriage entered by a man who had been surgically sterilized or was otherwise "incapable of ejaculating semen."

The decree, dated May 13, left intact the Catholic teaching that men who are impotent, or incapable of intercourse, may not be validly married.

The document also leaves unchanged the church stand condemning vasectomy as a means of birth control. Vasectomies are sometimes performed for medical reasons and not for purposes of birth control.

THE DECISION ON a new attitude toward sterility in marriage'is in line with documents of the Second Vatican Council which recognize that procreation, or child-bearing, is not the only purpose of marriage.

Meanwhile, the Vatican newspaper L'Osservatore Romano, in an editorial signed by Chief Editor Virgilio Levi, criticized noted moral theologian Bernard Haring for questioning the rhythm method of birth con-

Father Haring wrote an article in the specialist journal "Theological Studies" in which he cited reports that the rhythm method - the only birth control method admitted by the Vatican outside total abstinence - may lead to an increased number of spontaneous abortions and malformations.

THE REDEMPTORIST scholar called on the church hierarchy to "pay attention to this new knowledge and promote further research.

The editorial cited an article by Jesuit Angelo Serra, director of the institute of human genetics of the faculty of medicine of the Catholic University of Rome, which challenged the fears of Father Haring and called on him to support Church teaching on the bedpost overnight." Waters said he couldn't kill the bird, "because you kind of get to know the darn thing." He looked for a turkey ranch, but couldn't

But Mrs. Pickles said she'd be willing to return the bird to Andy, and as of late this morning, the bird man was on his way to pick up his feathered friend.

'Sounds like he's had a rough week," Mayo said. "I'll give it special food and some love and everything should be all right."

AND THAT would be just fine with Larry Waters.

"That bird has a mind of its own," he said.

JIM GREENE SMASHES GLASS COLLECTED AT THE LAGUNA BEACH RECYCLING CENTER Expensive Wine Bottles Reflect 'Definitely an Upper Class Clientele'

Recyclers Glimpse 'Dregs of Society'

"It's definitely an upper class clientele, you can tell by their waste," observed Jim Greene refering to a collection of empty bottles, wine bottles, wondrously expensive vintage-chateau bottled wine.

Greene and partner Hal Thomas see a lot of bottles. They see a lot of cans and they see a sea of paper. Greene and Thomas run a recycle center in Laguna Beach - the

THE CENTER is a cooperative project of the City of Laguna Beach and the Environmental Coalition of Orange County.

The center collects glass. types of paper products.

"These are useful products, they have a value, and beyond the value that is lost when they are thrown away, there is a social cost involved in landfill and in energy," Thomas said.

So far, the recycle center has been sustained by about 40 "regulars" who have been involved with the recycle effort since it began several years ago as a citizen project fabricated, he said.

Thomas and Greene, who described themselves as "fugitive administrators" were hired by the city under the federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) grant good for one year.

DURING THE YEAR, Thomas said he projects a goal of recycling 28 tons of newspaper a month, 10 tons of glass and a half ton of aluminum monthly.

They plan on doing this by in-creasing the "visibility" of the recycling center through media exposure, and by soliciting the recycling business of Laguna Beach businesses.

Already, the "Sawdust Lady" a restaurant at the Sawdust Festival is supplying the center with cardboard boxes, glass and other materials. Hobie and Russell surfboard manufacturers have given the center a batch of barrels to be used for the glass collection.

"We're impressed with the attitude of the people in Laguna Beach toward recycling. We're here to make it easy for them to do what they know is the necessary thing to do," Thomas

Equalizing Of School Sports Set

Saddleback Valley Unified School District trustees have approved a plan to equalize boys and girls' athletic programs at their three intermediate schools.

The plan, devised by physical education department chairmen from the three schools, includes adding 11/2 coaching positions for boys sports and 61/2 coaches for girls' teams.

District administrators estimated the total cost of the program at $8,235.

According to the plan, boys will have teams in football, basketball, soccer and track and field. Girls will have basketball, softball, tennis and track and field. The schools' volleyball teams will be coed.

The district is required to provide equal opportunities for boys and girls by federal legislation.

Boys Clubbers Set for Camp

Upper Bay Branch manager Harlan Andersen said boys between 7 and 13 years of age will participate in camping activities at Camp Norris including hiking, fishing, campfire programs and nature study walks.

Cost of the week at camp is $65, but club director Lou Yantorn said financial aid is available for those members who qualify.

'I COULDN'T BE HAPPIER, THE WINE IS GOOD' Pat McCoy Finds Happiness in a Cheese Factory

Alternative Road Leads to Happiness

By JULES LOH

MOHLER, Ore. - Everybody should have an alternative road. Pat McCoy said, sipping contentedly, almost smugly. Everybody should have a turnoff route in case life's superhighway develops a Pat McCoy, a jolly good fellow with a face like a toby mug and the proper girth to match, discovered his alternative road while reading a book on his favorite subject. Its title: "Cheeses and Wines of France and England with Notes on Irish Whiskey.

WHAT MORE COULD A MAN ask of life, he mused, than to be winemaker - a winemaker in a cheese factory?

That was it.

He put aside his order pad and his artificial smile, he let his shoes go unshined, and he set upon a search. He traveled the Oregon coast, where he knew that cheese factories once proliferated. At Nehalem Bay, tucked in a hillside, he found one, abandoned. Perfect.

Today that former cheese factory is the Nehalem Bay Winery. I couldn't be happier. The wine is good. The profits are not bad. The scenery is excellent.

AMERICA

PAT MCCOY WILL GET NO argument about the scenery Nehalem Bay is an azure inlet among the timbered hills and crags of one of the most spectacular coastlines on the conti-

Whether those hills will produce grapes is yet to be seen, but their production of violet foxglove and crimson elderberry and a riot of other wild and beautiful growing things is astounding.

Meanwhile, Pat McCoy buys his grapes from Oregon's Hood River country, an equally scenic piece of northwestern geography sprinkled with roadside fruit stands which are impossible to pass up and never disappointing.

"I KNOW YOU CAN GROW GRAPES right here on the coast, though, and next spring I'm going to plant some. Right now I'm looking for just the right southwest slope. Won't that be pretty, a vineyard on a hillside? I want one just to look at.

'The climate is marginal, I realize. But for the truly great wines, the grape needs to struggle. We're at latitude 46. That's the same as Medoc. I wouldn't be surprised to see Oregon become the Pat McCoy, at 40, is nothing if not an optimist. But he is also a practical person. His choosing an old cheese house for a winery, for example, was logical as well as romantic.

"HOW DO YOU MAKE CHEESE? YOU take a liquid, ferment it, package it and age it. How do you make wine? Same way. I figured a cheese factory would be designed just right for a winery. At one time there were 21 small cheese factories in this county. When better roads were built they consolidated into one, down at

'By the way, do you realize that in one 23-mile stretch of this coast you find wine, cheese, some of the best seafood on earth and also a sausage plant. Do you know of another place with such a variety of native treats concentrated in so small an area?

That's another reason I chose this area. I like good food and drink. I knew that if I looked at enough of those abandoned cheese plants I would find just the right one, and I did. That was four

"IT'S SMALL, BUT IT'S just what my wife and I and a few helpers can handle. Our son, Brian, is the tour director. We like to show it off. Brian, direct a tour.

Brian led the way through cool, dark rooms and passageways with comfortable old beams and damp floors and wine barrels cradled in heavy oaken racks. It had a medieval feel and a musty smell, most appealing.

At the front of the building is the tasting room, Pat McCoy's favorite spot. He presides behind a counter with a row of bottles set out and insists his visitors try every one. Does the vintner drink anything so precious as the stuff he sells? Pat McCoy does. He tastes right along with the taster. Pouring, he is happy.

Tougher Car Sales Law Accents Miles

TV Shuts In Village

Bush villagers up in Kipnuk, Mekoryuk and Noatak are going out less and enjoying life more now that they can watch "blood and guts and sex" in their living rooms on satellite-beamed television, a state survey has found.

"It gives us something to do on this boring island," one student said in response to the Alaska Department of Education's question: "How do you feel about having TV in the of 22 villages from the Arctic Ocean south to the Alexander Archipelago who have been getting television since January, thanks to a $2 million statesupported experiment.

Dr. James Orvik, of the University of Alaska's Center for Northern Educational Research, said it appears that 'meetings - the town council or school board meetings - suffer tremendously because of TV. Television creates a tremendous audience out there almost immediately.

Orvik is taking part in a study of five villages with television and five without to determine the "replacing effects" of the tube on traditional Eskimo and Indian culture.

THAT STUDY AND others will be used to help the state decide whether to expand satellite broadcasts to 80 additional villages

A poll by the state Office of Telecommunications found that the most popular show now available is "The Six-Million-Dollar Man," with "Charlie's Angels" not far behind, and that the most-asked-for programs in-clude "Policewoman," "Starsky and Hutch" "SWAT" and "Kung. Fu."

"BLOOD AND GUTS AND Sex has universal appeal even in rural Alaska, said Mike Porcaro, executive director of the Alaska Public Broadcasting Commission. "Television viewers in Noatak are no less sophisticated than those in San Francisco. They want to watch TV and have their beer just like anybody else."

The poll found that among the least-liked programs were two basketball series and "Capital

America's 100 largest industrial corporations owe their employes at least $38 billion more in pensions than the companies have put aside to pay retirement checks.

This massive potential debt is more than the companies' combined profits of $32 billion in 1976. one indication that it could pose a major problem for some companies and for their employes.

THE BILL COLLECTOR won't come around next week or even next year to collect this debt. Piece by piece, like a home mortgage, the companies have to pay off the debt.

And if the companies fold or can't pay their pension debts, the government will step in with taxpayer funds.

Paying off these long-term debt obligations plus funding the pension checks due now is quite a burden already for some companies, since it is a business expense that must be paid out of income and thus lowers profits.

For example, Uniroyal's pension costs of $79.4 million were almost four times its $20.1-million profit. McDonnell-Douglas, the aircraft company, made a $108.8 million profit in 1976, but that is overshadowed by the $115.6 million it paid for employe pension costs.

Others among the top 100 whose profits were lower than pension costs include Lockheed, Republic Steel, LTV and Litton.

TOGETHER, THE TOP 100 firms paid $9 billion for pensions last year both in current costs and paying off the $38 billion liability.

That's up $1.4 billion from 1975 costs, a 20 percent rise in one year.

These totals come from an Associated Press study of annual reports and other official reports to the Securities and Exchange Commission by the largest 100 industrial corporations, as ranked by

Despite the huge dollar figures, individual workers' pensions generally are not threatened. A semi-government agency, the Pension Benefit Guaranty Corp., now insures pensions for millions of workers, assuring them of retirement benefits up to a certain dollar limit, even if the company is unable to pay the benefits.

The $38 billion figure is the total of the so-called "unfunded liabilities" of the pension plans of the top 100 companies. These liabilities are estimates of how much the firm must pay in pensions for all its workers, minus what it already put in the bank and what it plans to put in the bank in the future to pay retirement benefits.

These are estimates based on extremely complicated assumptions, such as future salary increases, inflation in future years and how the stock market will perform.

In terms of total unfunded liabilities, General Motors is No. 1 with an estimated liability of $7.3 billion dollars. Next is Ford with a $3.3 billion burden and Chrysler with $2.04 billion.

Each firm uses different assumptions in determining its "unfunded liabilities," based on each company's particular view of economic conditions and its own pension experience. Although this means company pension liabilities are not strictly ed liability, enough to eliminate it over 30 or 40

Companies also must pay each year for the pension checks going out. Company-by-company. the pattern of annual pension costs is similar to that of total unfunded liabilities.

General Motors spent the most last year on pensions and paying of the unfunded liabilities — $1.07 billion. Next came IBM, with $590 million; Ford, $505 million; Western Electric, $400 million; Exxon, $291 million; Chrysler, $277 million; Bethlehem Steel, $261 million; General Electric, $240 million; U.S. Steel, $221 million; and Dupont, $212.8 million.

Many factors affect a company's pension costs.

-The more workers a company has, the higher the pension costs. - Generally, the more employes represented by a strong union, the higher the pension benefits negotiated in collective bargaining.

- The younger the work force, the smaller the current pension liabilities: The workers simply haven't worked long enough to build up their pension

- THE MORE CONSERVATIVE the accounting policies, generally the smaller the pension liability. For example, Western Electric has the fourth highest annual pension cost. But its accounting policies since the 1940s have required full funding of pensions, its own experts say. Western Electric has no unfunded liabilities.

- The more profitable a company is, the more money it has to pay in fringe benefits, including pensions, and the more likely it is to fund its pension costs fully.

"Unfunded liabilities" are estimates, the basic elements of which are: - Pension benefits due already retired workers.

- Pensions that each individual worker has earned through his accumulated years of service with the company.

- Pensions that each worker will earn over the rest of his years working for the company, adjusted for salary increases.

Offsetting to some degree these liabilities can be these assets: - The value of money and investments in the pension fund. An estimate of how much the company will put into the pension fund over the working lives of the employes. - A projection of how much other income the fund will earn over the working lives of the employes, including employe contributions and investment income.

'Agency Shops Worthy'

By DOUG HALLEN

SACRAMENTO - Fred Kline said in a recent column, "It's always been a puzzle why organized labor needs the government to do its business, such as requiring union or agency shops. It would seem that if a labor union has something good to offer. . .the state shouldn't have to require it.

Service Employe Unions, the largest AFL-CIO union in California, wishes to set the record straight.

THE AGENCY shop bill now before the legislature (SB 1065), authored by Senator Bill Greene, is not a state mandate directing union membership. It merely permits public employes and their employer to negotiate agency shop agreements.

Agency shop is not something new in public employment, many states and Canada have had agency shops for years, without problems. In California, however, the Hayward case became the definitive law on agency shop, holding such agreements invalid under the Meyers-Milias-Brown Act, noting such union security devices "must await authorization by the Legislature.

This result was reached in spite of Government Code Section 3507 which obligates the exclusive bargaining agent to represent all employes in the unit, regardless of whether such employes contribute to the cost of such representation.

THE UNITED States Supreme Court in a 9-0 decision on May 23, 1977, upheld the constitutionality of agency shop agreements for public employes.

In California, not only may public employes reap "free" representation but such employes may hold the union financially liable for inadequate (malpractice type) representation. Only through the agency shop may the cost of union representation mandated by Government Code Section 3507 be fairly and equitably borne by covered public employes; it is similar to the union sector workers since the 1930s under the Wagner Act. AGENCY SHOP costs the public security mechanisms permitted private

It would apply only where a majority of employes in a bargaining unit determine they desire union representation, and is negotiated and agreed to by the public agency involved. If we accept the premise public employes should be permitted to decide whether they wish union representation then such workers should not be denied the financial mechanism to share the cost of that chosen representation.

Utilities In Coast Squeeze

By THOMAS D. ELIAS

A preliminary report just issued by the staff of the state Coastal Commission indicates the conservation-minded agency may seek to thwart one of the major aims some state legislators had when they okayed the compromise Coastal Act last

The report divides the entire coastline into 46 sections, each with a different rating for desirability as a potential site for new electric power plants.

THE KEY POINT in the preliminary report is that not a single spot anywhere on the coast is listed as a good place to build.

This runs contrary at least to the spirit of the Coastal Act. which said power plants could be permitted at will by the state Energy Commission in any spot not designated as harmful by the Coastal Commission.

Should the coastal agency adopt its staff's report — final action is required by Jan. 1 — electric companies wanting to build along the coast would be forced into long proceedings before both agencies, not just the energy one.

This would not only prolong the permit process, something that is now anathema to business and labor, but also leave the utilities dealing with at least one agency that is traditionally hostile to

THE POSSIBILITY of apply ing only to the Energy Commission was written into the Coastal Act just to prevent this kind of trouble for the electric

Under the staff plan, about 840 of the 2003 miles of California coast would be ruled out as completely unacceptable for power plant siting.

Any company that applied for permit where the Coastal Commission had made such a ruling would be wasting its time and

But three other types of areas are also proposed.

In each, the planners working under the coastal commissioners would require substantial study before okaying any new power plant or any expansion of an older one.

POWER COMPANIES will be especially put off by the requirement that even where they already have facilities, they must go through a whole new re-view process before being allowed to expand.

But the commission staff sees itself as bound by the Coestal Act to impose that condition on power plants.

The report points out that virtually the only advantage of locating generating facilities along the coast is the abundance of water that can be used to cool turbines or other equipment. That's a big advantage over other areas.

But that same water is then dumped back into the sea.

"For a 1,000 megawatt unit," the staff report notes, "the con-tinual flow would be...nearly equal to the flow in the Colorado River Aqueduct."

Dumping so much hot water into the ocean at any point pro-mises to be quite disruptive for nearby marine life and the Coastal Act requires the com-mission to guard against such

SHOULD THE commission adopt its staff report in full, the political rivals of Gov. Brown would have one more ground for accusing him of worsening the California Business climate.

For Brown championed the coastal legislation before it became law, all the while proclaiming it an arrangement that business and labor could live

If no coastal areas at all are declared fair game for power plants, it's hard to see how Brown could deny the argument that at least along the coast, he helped make things harder for business, while also lessening the job market for labor.

The idea is to become so tired you are delighted to get back to work for a good rest.

UNCLE LEN'S CORNER

Hi girls and boys.

Today is the day the grand prize winners of the clown face design and essays to Ellie contests are announced. Of course, as you read this many of you, including the two grand prize winners, have already attended the circus.

Grand prize for the clown face went to Suzy Evans of Newport Beach. She received a dozen tickets to the circus.

Patty Richards of Costa Mesa wrote the winning essay and also received 12 tickets to the Friday matinee. Her essay:

That's why I think cows are famous.

> Patty Richards, 9 2345 Fordham Drive Costa Mesa

Now that the circus contest is over it's back to the usual weekby week contests.

For those of you who have seen or know something about the current hit movie "Star Wars," Uncle Len invites you to send in a drawing for next Saturday of a scene from the film.

The drawing should be done on white paper four and a half inches wide by four inches deep with black ink or black pen. Crayolas will not reproduce. Entries should be mailed to Unele Len at P.O. Box 1560, Costa Mesa 92626.

The winning drawing will appear next Saturday along with photographs of the grand prize winners from the circus contest. They were clowns in Friday's circus parade.

"Star Wars," for those who haven't seen it, is a space-oriented "throwback" to the western matinees Uncle Len watched as a youngster.

It has all the thrills of a Roy Rogers or Gene Autrey chase after the "bad" guys in the westerns of yesteryear. Only this time, of course, the chase is in space ships. But just like the westerns of old, the good guys win in "Star Wars.

Good luck with your movie drawings. Until next Saturday.

Miss Baker, the squirrel monkey who was captured from the jungles in Peru when she was about six months old, is about 75 to 80 years old in human terms.

THE ANIMAL was billed as the First Lady of Space when she made her journey atop a Jupiter ballistic missile May 28, 1959, as a precursor to manned space flight. She rode to an altitude of about 100 miles, then splashed down in the Atlantic where she was recovered.

Her crewmate, a rhesus monkey named Able, died when doctors tried to remove medical instruments, but the flight proved that primates could survive space flight. Able has been stuffed and put on display at the National Air and Space Museum in Washington.

About 40 children were on hand for Miss Baker's birthday observance, which included a cake and letters of congratulations from space program officials and some members of Congress.

MISS BAKER and her "husband," Big George, stuffed themselves with their regular meal of cottage cheese, then scampered around, blinking at camera lights, screaming kids and popping balloons.

Can you imagine anything cooler to think about on a hot summer day than the ice age?

The earth's history includes a number of different ice ages. Scientists tell us a first ice age hit during the Precambrian time more than 1,000 million years ago, with a second during the Cambrian period 600 million years ago. A third came between the Carboniferous and Permian periods between 350 million and 230 million years ago.

Ice Age usually refers to the earth's most recent big freeze which started about two million years ago and ended about 10,000 years ago during the Pleistocene Epoch. During this time, glaciers formed in the mountains and polar regions and a series of ice sheets covered much of the northern continents.

BETWEEN SIX AND 20 glaciations, or glacier forma-tions, built up in Europe and North America. Spreading from the Hudson Bay region, almost all of Canada was covered and much of the northern United States. The Greenland icecap is all that re-mains of these today.

Ice built up from 8,000 to 10,000 feet thick. In North America, were covered going southward to the present valleys of the Missouri and Ohio rivers. In Europe it moved 800 miles southward, going almost to Moscow and covering northern England, Denmark and Germany.

During this last ice age, the ice

Telephone Credit Cards Win in Vote

Huntington Beach City School District trustees have voted themselves the right to use telephone credit cards at district expense. but only two of five board members want them.

Despite objections from trustees Norma Vander Molen and Paula Hulse, who claimed the former system of filling out expense accounts for calls should remain, trustees voted 3 to 2 in favor of granting credit cards to those who want

The swing vote came from trustee Roy How, who said, "I'm in favor of the credit cards and I don't want one.

This leaves Board President Brian Garland and trustee Dave Sonksen, both of whom will use the new credit cards. Neither could understand the objections from fellow trustees since board members receive no pay for their services.

My time is too valuable to fill out an expense report for 50 said Sonksen before voting for the credit card approval.

Huntington Board Approves Spending

Huntington Beach City School District trustees have approved a $12.8 million budget for the 1977-78 school year that calls for a drop of about three cents in the district's tax rate

The tax rate is expected to drop from last year's $2.89 to $2.86 per $100 assessed valuation

TRUSTEE NORMA Vander Molen voted against the budget, criticizing the district for "de ficit spending." The final vote was 4-1 to approve the budget.

Mrs. Vander Molen opposed the district dipping into its reserve fund for $323,000 to meet its expenses for the upcoming school year

But district officials said this loss will be recovered when the state Legislature passes a new school financing bill.

THE APPROVED budget is about $1.7 million greater than last year's budget of $11.1 million. Business Manager Bob Hawthorne said the increase is due to a 6.7 percent teacher salary increase (costing the district more than $800,000) and hikes in the district's utilities and residents

IN THEIR FIRST action, council authorized use of a consultant for a four-phase downtown mall study culminating in an economically feasible development plan for the area. The proposal calls for a final improvement plan to be adopted by Feb. 15.

A major priority in the proposal is improved traffic flow through the downtown area and increased parking facilities.

The proposal also requests a detailed study of the area's economic potential to determine if the plans would be lucrative to area businesses.

MAYOR YVON Heckscher, a longtime downtown mall proponent, suggested consultant proposal bids should include fixed prices for the first phase of the study only. He said the bids should also include 'budgetary and planning' prices for

The lot that was the subject of the suit is the middle one of three adjacent to the public view area at the foot of Narcissus Avenue at the east end of Corona del Mar State Beach.

The Friends have sought unsuccessfully to have all three lots purchased by public agencies. When those efforts failed, the Friends tried to raise the money themselves.

THE PUBLIC agencies that turned down the purchase cited the high price — estimated as high as $250,000 per lot — in a location where the prime view area already is publicly held.

The Friends were successful earlier this year in getting the coastal commission to impose a 60-day waiting period on Renner's construction plans to give them time to raise the purchase money. When they failed to raise the money to buy the lot, they filed the suit, alleging they had not been given sufficient notice of the coastal commission meeting to adequately oppose the Renners' application.

THE OWNER OF the lot closest to the Point, architect Stewart Woodard, was also given coastal commission approval to build on his lot in June, although an identical 60-day quiting period was imposed on him.

The organization has argued that plans for both multi-level homes will block the view of the coastline and will be incompatible with the environment. The two lot owners contend that the members of the Friends are all residents of the immediate area who are trying to preserve views from their own homes by blocking construction of the Renner and Woodard re-

State Law Protects Desert

Ever thought of digging up some desert plants and taking them home for the garden? Forget it. You could be breaking a state law, and you might not get off as easy as Dickerson L. Groves Jr., 22, of Whit-

Groves appeared recently in Desert Municipal Court, Palm Springs, and pleaded guilty to removing two yucca plants from Devil's Garden in Riverside County. He was fined $150, which on one year's probation.

THE CITATION was issued on April 10 by warden Craig T. Tate of the Department of Fish and Game. Tate was acting under authority of Section 384 of the Penal Code, which makes it a misdemeanor to willfully or negligently cut, destroy, mutilate or remove any tree or shrub, or fern or herb or bulb or cactus or flower, or huckleberry or redwood greens, growing upon state or county highway rights-of-way or public or private lands without 'The intent of the law," Tate said, "is to protect wildlife habitat, and as far as the welfare of fish and game is concerned, that's the name or with red, pink, white of the game.

Novelty

For a new novelty in the garden, how about considering night blooming flowers? The plants comprising this group are a select few with a certain charm rarely surpassed. Besides, many are extra sweet scented and beautiful. Surely the air of mystery and the suspense of waiting for their blooms to open must intrigue you!

A LITTLE LESS exofic but still excitingly different is the Moonflower (Calonycwas suspended, and put tion aculeatum) a vigorous climing perennial grown as an annual in cold winter areas. It has a large, up to 6' white, Morning Glorylike flowers opening in early evening which emit sweet scents as they unfold. This plant is happiest in lean soil and hot sunny locations. Weekend Gaedening Checklist

If you have excessive runoff problems when watering or if your soil can't seem to soak up the water, try perforating it with a fawn spiker or aerator removing soil cores after you finish.

Make sure your lawn mower blades are set at 2-3" high. Leaving taller grass plants will help keep the soil and their roots shaded and cooler which means less frequent irrigating.

Flower size can be improved by dividing erowded clumps of Shasta Daisies. Divisions can be made every two years or so.

For continued bloom for Hibiscus, the key is using an acid-type fertilizer on a regular basis. Don't fertilize after August (September in Southern California) or you'll promote new growth too tender for cold fall weather.

Garden insects are at their peak. Tomatoes and other vegetables should be sprayed at the first aigns of trouble.

specific varieties that LOCATE your plants is very critical. Even if you do grow the more heat tolerant varieties, they will still need protection from direct exposure to the sun. A general guide is to place the plants where you would be comfortable on a hot summer afternoon in the shade, under a tree, or on the north side of the house. Protection from the summer wind is also necessary or the leaves will shrivel or burn and the flowers will dry up. One of the most important considerations in growing Fuchsias is providing adequate water. As long as your soil or container mix drains well, it's almost impossible to overwater these plants. Potted specimens, especially hanging basket plants, will need water a minimum of once a day but more likely 2-3 times daily during hot

THIS IS WHY a welldraining, loose soil that retains water is essential for growing Fuchsias. Also, as a result of this frequent watering and because they are heavy feeders, nutrients are rapidly depleted from the soil. You should fertilize your plants in light doses every two weeks or so with a mild complete food.

Another very helpful practice to adopt is mist-ing your plants as often as possible with a light spray of water. A fogger hose attachment works best. It will increase best. It will increase humidity and lower leaf temperatures besides keep the plants clean and discourage spider mites. Maintaining healthy, well-fed and watered plants free of pests or diseases will also give Fuchsias a better chance in summer hot spells. in summer hot spells.

Blackout, Bombs, Sniper Hit Gotham

NEW YORK (AP) - New Yorkers jam the subways, the sidewalks and the skyscrapers despite a summer of violence, wary maybe but still there

In succession, they have endured staggering blows. A blackout. Son of Sam, the killer who stalks young couples. Bombs that murder and maim and drive populations the size of whole cities from single buildings

THERE REMAIN THE sores of that violence, but the city survives more or less intact.

To the police department. parsuing two of its biggest investigations ever, the fight against the twin terrors has been as frustrating as it has been exhausting.

To some New Yorkers, the violence, quickly sensed but slowly understood, has turned this into a city besieged "This is like a time bomb,"

says a Queens woman seeking safety in anonymity

BUT MANY OF the eight million are not so much scared as they are, in the words of Mayor Abraham D. Beame, "damned angry.

There are many, of course, who pay the violence little heed. Most, worried or not, go about their business anyway.

It's like I'm living on a fron-'tier," a self-styled liberal woman from Manhattan complains. "On my way to work this morning, it thit me that it's crazy, passing through Grand Central station every day to get to and from A helicopter can fall on me, a bomb in my office can kill

"THE LOOTERS ALMOST reached down here to where I live. The owner of a bodega on the next block, where my kids run little errands sometimes, is shot. I feel under attack and I just want some peace.

But New Yorkers are nothing if not resilient.

"It's one of those things," remarked Bernard Gelman, one of 35,000 people driven into the rain by a bomb scare at the World Trade Center "You just get used

SO IT IS THAT the subways are jammed during rush periods with people commuting as usual The lines are just as long at banks. And talk as often concerns the Mets as it does the .44-caliber killer, Son of Sam.

New York Reeling Phones lackout, Bombs, Sniper Hit Gotham EW YORK (AP) - New less jam the subways, the College

Saddleback College trustees found themselves tangled up in telephone lines this week when they considered bids for a new campus telephone system.

Trustees were prepared to ac-cept the low bid from Telink, Inc., when several competing telephone concerns - including Pacific Telephone — showed up to argue about the bidding

THE ENSUING discussion revealed a bizarre tale of missed connections and inadequate knowledge of telephone equip-

"We went nuts trying to put this bid together," Saddleback Director of Procurement Ray Duthoy told trustees.

He outlined meetings with Pacific Telephone Company, ITT and a non-paid consultant, which were the basis of the specifications released to potential bidders on the proposed phone system.

AS THE DISCUSSION continued, the bone of contention turned out to be which bidding company had followed the specifications.

Because trustees and college staff weren't knowledgeable about telephone equipment, they were little help in resolving questions by different bidders over such things as "trunks and backbone cables."

Then, Charles O'Hare of the Executone Company arose to outline where each of the competing companies had not lived up to certain specifications. He concluded by saying his company was the only one that followed the specifications to the

between the district's non-paid consultant on the telephone bid and O'Hare. The consultant maintained other companies had followed the specifications.

Scratching their heads in confusion, trustees finally agreed to reject all the bids and the contract specifications in favor of hiring a paid consultant to develop new specifications

7 Speakers Stolen From School Site

A subcontractor at the Shorecliffs Junior High School site in San Clemente has reported the theft of seven speakers, valued at $2,100.

the construction day. There is no way this can be connected with any kind of van-dalism," Medeiros said. "There were construction workers all around. It's not uncommon for people in the trades to 'borrow from one another."

Artist Paints Old Puffers

By ARTHUR R. VINSEL

Artist Fred Bonn spent years executing portraits of the aluminum and exotic alloy Conestoga wagons of America's aerospace adventures until 1970. when he quit and devoted himself to painting the Iron Horses that helped win the West.

Bonn, a youthful, cheerful 37, currently is exhibiting his works at the Sawdust Festival and enjoying his best sales in six years.

"I STARTED exhibiting my work in 1970 and began making more money per year at my art than I was making in the aerospace industry," says the antique train enthusiast

"Mostly, I paint western railroads rather than the eastern roads," says Bonn. His work is done in brilliant colors of acrylic paint. They show the hand of a precise draftsman, with just a taste of cartoon caricature

"It's really acrylic paint and pen and ink — half painting and half drawing,"he explains.

BONN, WHO ALSO paints antique planes and old houses, fire trucks, public buildings and waterfront scenes, works in a home studio on Temple Hills Drive in Laguna

"I research the trains and planes for historical accuracy. You'll notice each railroad engine was different and some had names and specific numbers.

'Since I've been here, Laguna Beach and the Sawdust Festival have been really good to me, says Bonn, a veteran of two seasons exhibiting at the main Festival of the Arts, down Laguna Canyon Road. He doesn't care to go back.

"THE SAWDUST is so vital because it's the last big show run by artists," he says earnestly. And that is something that should be pointed out. There are no promoters here.

I did the main festival two years, but sales are better here. I normally sell about 100 paintings a summer," Bonn adds, noting he also has two one-man art shows per year.

He will, on rare occasions, take a commission job for his bright, cheery and sometimes zany paintings, but clings to the do-itfor-yourself art philosophy that has paid off so well.

"I SHY AWAY from commissions because a person gets a better painting when he chooses and buys what you've just painted.

Bonn says painting to order can cramp an artist's style and terribly often - it destroys the spirit inherent in his work, the element that attracted a buyer in the first place.

All three Laguna Canyon art shows run through Aug. 28 and Bonn plans to keep his booth walls full of new material for the duration.

"I have a couple of girls who help with the sales. I have to . spend most of my time at home painting," he explains.

Office Use Illegal

Saddleback Council Center of Flap

The Saddleback Area Coordinating Council (SACC) has been using a county office and employe innocently but illegally to conduct business.

SACC has occupied the south county office, in the industrial complex at Lake Forest Drive and Moulton Parkway, as its operational headquarters.

THE FACILITY IS financed through service area taxes collected in Laguna Niguel, Laguna Hills, South Laguna Hills, El Toro-Lake Forest, Aegean Hills and Aegean Heights.

It was established as a point for liaison between residents of the large unincorporated area and the county government in Santa

But a sign out front marks it as a SACC office. Secretaries announce that it is the "South County and SACC office" when they answer the telephone.

SACC MEMBERS meet and store their files there. The secretary takes minutes of their meetings and handles their correspondence.

Now, however, a deputy county counsel has said that SACC, as an organization not officially part of county government, has no right to use the office, telephone, files and secretary for anything other than county business.

The county cannot support a group which is not a part of the county, explained Rick Bohay. SACC president, during a meeting of his executive board this

Although it is not official yet. the county attorney has promised to send legal guidelines specifying how the office can be used, he said

But Bohay and other directors said the bulk of their business should be allowed to continue in the office because it involves county planning, parks and recreation and other functions.

FOR THE MOST part, the group reviews and reacts to county plans as representatives of the residents.

They said they would only have to take down the sign, refrain from using the telephone number and move some of their membership files.

And, they have a plan so that even this may not be necessary They are asking the county to negotiate with the Hon Develop-

SINCE THE FIRM has agreed to donate space for SACC's files and a telephone in that office, they would then legally be able to

One member suggested that they change the group's name to South County Council. Then, he said, their efforts could all be described as liaison work.

The issue orders arose after SACC and representatives of area homeowner associations rejected a resolution which would have made the group an official liaison with the county.

If they had approved the res: olution, then their use of the office might have been legalized, Bohay said. But, he added, their approval would not have guaranteed the necessary approval from the Board of Supervisors.

Doctor's Fountain Wife Accused

ATWATER (AP) -The wife of a physician in this small Merced County community has been arrested on charges of stealing large quantities of morphine from her husband's office and medical bag.

Mrs. Arlene "Terri"
Holm, 48, wife of Dr.
Richard Holm and a fiveyear member of the board of directors of Bloss Hospital here, was taken into custody Thursday.

Holm noticed the missing narcotics in November but reported the thefts last week, said Lt. James Moore of the county's Anti-Drug Abuse Task Force.

Mrs. Holm was arrested on a warrant issued after an investigation revealed she had been taking the drugs.

RETURNS TO GGCC Dr. Ray Beckering

Dr. Beckering Back at GGCC For 3 Weeks

Dr Raymond Beckering, pastor emeritus of the Garden Grove Community Church, will return to the GGCC pulpit this Sunday to begin a three-week series of messages.

Dr. Beckering, who recently retired from his full-time pastoral duties, will share the message, "A Going Church," at the 9:30 and 11:15 a.m. services.

PAST PRESIDENT of the General Synod of the Reformed Church in America, Dr. Beckering served on the GGCC staff for 10 years. Among his numerous accomplishments at GGCC was the establishment of the New Hope Telephone Counseling Service, the first 24-hour, live telephone counseling service sponsored by a single church in the United States.

Dr. Beckering came to GGCC from the Second Reformed Church of Zeeland, Mich. Previously he pastored churches in Gary, Ind., Chicago, Ill., and Los Angeles, and also served as president of the Particular Synods of Michigan and Chicago

DR. BECKERING earned both his bachelor and doctoral degrees from Central College in Pella, Iowa, and received his theological degree from Western Theological Seminary in Holland, Mich. He also pursued graduate studies at McCormick Theological Seminary in Chicago and the University of Southern California.

Both services this Sunday will be held in GGCC's walk-in, drivein sanctuary, located at Chapman Avenue and Lewis Street, near the junction of the Santa Ana, Garden Grove and Orange freeways. Nursery and Sunday School classes for all ages will be conducted during both hours

Guest Speaker

Patty Cerney, Bible teacher at Melodyland, will address women of the Christian Mission Church at their monthly luncheon meeting Wednes day at noon at the Mission Viejo Country Club. Moms are invited to bring daughters who are 10 years of age or older to this Mother-daughter luncheon.

Jehovah's Witnesses End Rally

Some 24,000 persons jammed Hollywood Park recently for the final session of the "Joyful Workers" district convention of Jehovah's Witnesses.

Principal address of the con-vention, "How God's Kingdom Can Benefit You," was delivered by W.L. Barry, member of the Witnesses' governing body in Brooklyn, New York

SPEAKING TO an audience comprised of all age groups and all races and national origins, Barry made it clear that a change in world government is needed and is coming.

"What a blessing it would be to live in peace and security, without any fear of crime or violence of any kind," he said in his opening remarks. "Surely all of us here today would welcome such a world - a world where all mankind, whether black, white or yellow, would live as one united brotherhood, with everyone joyfully serving for the common

SHIELD HALVAJIAN, convention manager, said the convention, one of three scheduled for Hollywood Park for late July and early August, was a com-

Halvajian expressed appreciation to the management of Hollywood Park and to the people of Inglewood for making the conventions possible

VEGETABLES, FRUITS AND FLOWERS FLOURISH AT UC IRVINE GARDEN Bruce Knight, Advanced Horticulture Student, Hoes The Crops

Professor Uses Garden to Teach

Dr. Joe Arditti's garden at UC Irvine first sprouted during the days of the student rebellion, when college kids everywhere were clamoring for more relevant courses.

UCI students asked for a horticulture course and wound up with Biological Science 60 taught by Arditti. He lectures twice weekly and requires the students to spend time working in the UCI garden.

ARDITTI CALLS IT his "seduction" course. "It's my way of seducing students into plant science," says the professor of the popular course.

The garden, spread out behind the Mesa Court dorms, now boasts about 500 plots, containing a wide variety of vegetables, fruits and flowers

The bulk of the garden consists of routine homegrown fare, such as gigantic zucchini and oversized carrots. But there are also a few new twists such as the tiny vineyard on one edge of the garden that is equipped with a drip irrigation system.

CORN STALKS TOWER above shorter varieties of produce and giant golden sunflowers reach even higher than the corn.

The garden is actual; tended by three groups of students, plus assorted faculty and staff members and others from the communi-ty who have learned about the garden.

Bio Sci 60 is the beginning course, Bio Sci 61 is a little more advanced and Bio Sci 98 is a peer tutoring class in which superior horticulture students assist beginning students in the garden.

ABOUT 10 PERCENT of the plots are tended by non-students at UCI and by former students who are reluctant to relinguish their

'One of my students from five years ago is married now, but still lives in Irvine. He comes with his family and gardens on the weekends," Arditti says.

Some of the students bring their mothers and fathers into the garden and it often turns out to be a family affair.

ARDITTI POINTED OUT that the garden can be a resource for the community, besides being a teaching tool for his students.

He says community people can visit the garden seven days a week and see what kinds of plants can grow in this area, how they should be planted and tended, and how to mulch properly.

A row of fruit trees lines one edge of the garden, displaying nearly all of the types of fruit that can be grown locally.

Huntington Beach City School District trustees will hold a special board meeting Thursday at 7 a.m. at Smith School to name a new assistant superintendent of personnel.

The No. 1 candidate is the Fountain Valley (elementary) School District's chief negotiator, Dr. Pat Clark.

Dr. Clark confirmed that she had been interviewed for the spot vacated in spring by Betty Funkhouser who resigned due to personal reasons. Sources say Dr. Clark was recommended by the district this week and would be formally named at the special meeting. Dr. Clark, 36, is the Fountain Valley District's chief negotiator during contract mediation with its 480 teachers.

uling Trims 'Gifted' Enrollment

By ANNE COOPER

Parents of gifted students new to the Capistrano Unified School District may find their children's names placed on a waiting list for the district's Mentally Gifted Minor (MGM) program.

Trustees voted 6-0 this week, with trustee Sarah Lipp absent, to reduce the number of children enrolled in the program. They took this action to comply with Attorney General Evelle Younger's recent opinion that the full amount of state MGM funding allotted per student must be spent on each stu-

PREVIOUSLY, THE CAPISTRANO district has chosen to distribute state MGM funds, which amounted to nearly $75,000 last year, among all students who qualified for the program. Less was spent per student, but all qualified students could participate.

Six or seven percent of the Capistrano Unified student body meets the MGM criterion of scoring at least 132 on such intelligence quotent (IQ) tests as the Stanford-Binet. Most students score about 100.

The nearly 1,000 students in the Capistrano MGM program are not isolated from classmates, said Don McNeff, director of special education.

"THE PROGRAM VARIES CONSIDERABLY from school to school, but we don't believe in isolating MGM kids, away from the real world," he said.

They are offered opportunities to participate in special activities like studying marine science at the tide pools or attending a ballet in Laguna Beach. Not all the children choose to go on these excursions, but they have the opportunity, if they want to go."

Trustees endorsed the following recommendations for limiting MGM participants, proposed by a Capistrano Unified citizens advisory council:

-THE SCHOOL DISTRICT WILL try to make MGM available to all students currently enrolled in the program.

State MGM funds will be pro-rated in accordance with state guidelines, not less than $75 per

-Students identified during the summer test-ing program as qualifying for MGM will be given the same consideration for the program as students already enrolled.

Parents of students who qualify for MGM, but who moved into the district after July 1, will be notified that their youngsters' names will be put on an MGM waiting list.

IF THE NUMBER OF STUDENTS enrolled in the MGM program in September means that less than $75 is being spent per student, additional modifications to student participation will be made.

'No student is denied any course offering in the district because he is not in the MGM program," said trustee William Thompson of Mission Viejo. "A qualified MGM student, who is not in the program, would be denied only extra-curricular amenities.

'Some students identified as MGM students do not choose to participate. I experienced that in my own family. My son didn't want to be identified as an MGM student. I don't know why - maybe he thought the athletes would look down on him.

THOMPSON SAID THE CAPISTRANO curriculum is of sufficiently high quality that a bright student can be prepared for college without participating in the MGM program.

Superintendent Jerome Thornsley told trustees that pending state legislation relating to school financing may eliminate the MGM program altogether as discriminating in favor of gifted students. dents.

Angels In 5-0 Victory

Bobby Bonds slammed a two-run homer and Frank Tanana won his first game since July 3 with a three-hitter, leading the California Angels to a 5-0 victory over the Baltimore Orioles Friday night at Anaheim Stadium.

Tanana, 13-7, lowered his earned run average to 2.06 with his league-leading seventh shut-out. The left-hander walked two and struck out seven in his brilliant performance.

Ross Grimsley, 9-6, took the loss.

Stars Rally For Victory

Orange County's Stars, down 5-1 in the tiebreaker, rallied to defeat visiting Phoenix, three games to two, in International Volleyball Association action before a crowd of 1,408 at University High in Irvine Friday

The victory was the Stars' sixth in a row. The game scores were 4-12, 12-6, 12-8, 11-13 and 6-5. The Stars appeared out of it, trailing 5-1. But three blocked shots put them back in it, 5-4. After Phoenix took a time out, Hebner, Bob Boone's double and Sizemore's sacrifice fly.

Smith saved Rhoden at least one run in the fifth when he speared Hebner's drive off the right field screen. The Phillies had runners at first and third at the time.

Rhoden hit Bake McBride with a pitch to start the Philadelphia first and with one out Schimdt singled. But Luzinski, who started the game in an 0-for-11 slump, grounded into a double play. In the second, Hebner struck out but reached first safely when the third strike was a wild pitch. Maddox followed with a single. Sizemore, however, hit into a double play after Boone fouled out. Garvey opened the fourth with a double and, with two out, Oates was given an intentional walk. Rhoden then grounded into a force.

Los Angeles got a lead-off single by Davey Lopes in the fifth and he reached second on a balk. Garvey got a lead-off single in the sixth, but Lonborg set down the next three batters in both in-

Tijuana Native Leads Hartford Open

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP) — Mexican Victor Regalado, the last man on the golf course, birdied the final hole in near darkness to card a second round 63 and grab the lead at the half way point Friday in the weather-delayed Greater Hartford Open golf tournament. Regalado rolled in a 12-15 foot birdie putt on the 18th hole that finished off his eight-under-par effort over the stormlashed and darkness-shrouded, 6,598 yard Wethersfield Country Club

It gave the Tijuana native, winner of one title in his five years on the American tour, a 36-hole total of 130, 12 under par. He held a one stroke advantage over first round pace-setter Lee Elder and rookie Curtis Strange, who posted their 131 totals moments before a violent thunderstorm hit central Connecticut in mid-afternoon and caused a 11/2 hour suspension of play.

That, combined with the two hour delay in getting started because of morning fog, set the schedule back so that Victor had to play his last two holes in the gathering gloom of early even-

Around Leagues in 30 Days Father, Two Sons to See All 26 Teams

BLOOMINGTON, Minn : (AP) - A father and his two teenage sons from Vancouver, Wash., are establishing a reputation as one of the nation's most avid baseball families.

William Click and his sons Carl, 17, and John, 15, are on an expedition to see all 26 major league baseball teams play withing a one-month period. They began their trip July 24 in Seattle.

The Clicks watched the Minnesota Twins defeat the Detroit Tigers 11-1 Wednesday night for their ninth game. They had seen a game in Milwaukee Tuesday night and watched the Texas Rangers and Chicago White Sox in Chicago Thursday

The Clicks are calling their baseball holiday "Around the Leagues in Thirty Days." It fulfills their search for an adventure which Click and his sons could enjoy together "before the boys are too old for this sort of thing," the father explained.

By the time it's over, they will have driven more than 15,000 miles, spending an average of 10 hours per day on the road. Click and his oldest son share the driving, each occasionally grabbing a nap on a mattress in the back of their station wagon.

Click is a high school mathematics teacher and has the summer off, so it was no great problem to find the time for the trip. But it took the three from last August up until the time they left home to work out the itinerary and fit it into 30 days.

The three figure it will cost them about $2,000 for the trip, including $500 that went into fixing up the station wagon and $800 to $900 for gas.

"This means a lot more to us that just seeing the games and making the trip," said the father. "I'm getting to know my boys better than

Dream Now Nightmare For Reds Pitcher, 40

CINCINNATI (AP) - Joe Hoerner's dream was answered when the 40-year-old pitcher was coquired by a pennantcontending team.

But the dream has turned into a nightmare.

Since being acquired by the mitching-starved Cincinnati Reds June 16, the 15-year veteran reltever has racked up several career firsts. He has yielded his first two grand-slam homers, has balked on a move to first, and, in his most recent appearance, was beoed upon entering the game. "That's probably the worst booing I've ever gotten," Hoerner said. "But I've been here long enough to know that if I get the hell knocked out of me, tomorrow's another day." How many more tomorrows Hoerner will get is a matter of speculation. After seven games Hoerner, who began the season with a 2.89 lifetime earned run average, is saddled with a 14.40

Hoerner noted, "I'm sure I'm not throwing the ball as hard as I used to, and I've had control pro-

Reggie to Stay?

NEW YORK - A source ver close to Reggie Jackson said Friday that the star outfielder does not have an escape route in his contract with the New York Yankees.

The New York Post reported in its Friday editions that Jackson could get out of his contract and that he apparently intends to do so at the end of the season.

"There is nothing in the contract that would permit him to do that," said the source, who has spoken to Jackson recently and knows how he feels about his troubled year with the Yankees.

"There's absolutely no truth to the story. Reggie has every intention of fulfilling the contract. He's been under a lot of pressure and it hasn't been the greatest time for him, but he made a commitment to a man and he will honor that commitment."

Eagles Belt Jets; Denver Tops Colts

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) - The Philadelphia Eagles, who lost all six exhibitions a year ago, rode short touchdown runs by Tom Sullivan. Herb Lusk and Cleveland Franklin to a 21-3 victory over the New York Jets Friday night in a National Football League preseason game. Ron Jaworski's 38-yard pass to Harold Carmichael put the Eagles in position for Sullivan's decisive three-yard scoring dive with 2:52 to go in the first period, wiping out New York's 3-0 lead. Lusk scored from the one at 5:50 of the third period after John Walton completed passes of 22 yards to Charles Smith and 20 to Vince Papale. Franklin went in from one yard out to cap the scoring with 4:55 to play.

The Jets, who lost their exhibition opener (20-6) to Chicago last Saturday, again failed to score a touchdown. They managed only a 19-yard field goal by Dom Antonini 4:12 into the first period. It came six plays after New York quarterback Richard Todd opened the game with a 57-yard pass to Richard Caster, which brought the ball to the Philadelphia 17.

Jaworski, acquired by the Eagles in the trade that sent tight end Charles Young to the Los Angeles Rams, played the first two periods, completing 9 of 16 passes for 176 yards. Todd, in three quarters, hit 10 of 18 for 126 yards.

Broncos Win, 14-8

DENVER - Craig Morton and Craig Penrose each threw second-half touchdown passes, rallying the Denver Broncos to a 14-8 victory over the Baltimore Colts Friday night in the opening National Football League preseason game for both teams.

The Broncos trailed 6-0 before Morton connected with fullback Lonnie Perrin on a 51-yard scoring play early in the third period. Perrin had slipped through the Colt defense and was wide open, catching the ball at the Baltimore 23-yard line and strug-gling to keep his footing before diving into the end zone.

Baltimore went ahead 8-7 when Morton was tackled in the end zone by Ron Fernandes for a safety. But Penrose, who played about half the game, then hit wide receiver Rick Upchurch on a 15-yarder with 11:27 remaining in the final period for the other Denver touchdown. Hard run-ning by rookie Rob Lytle helped set up that score.

Toni Linhart's field goals of 39 and 18 yards, along with the safety, accounted for Baltimore's scoring. Bert Jones played the first half at quarterback and Bill Troup the second half for the Colts.

Ike Armstrong

Ex-Utah Coach Takes Look Back

Editor's Note: The modern era sports vista is providing entertainment, quality and occasionally controversy on a scale never before attained in the world of athletics. Yet sports of days gone by also had great moments and star performers. Today our look at those days focuses on Corona del Mar resident lice Armstrona.

By HOWARD L. HANDY

He once had Knute Rockne as referee of a game his University of Utah football team played in Hawaii (1926) and won 17-7.

He was succeeded as Utah football coach by Cactus Jack Curtice after a successful 25-year coaching career in which his teams posted a 140-57-13 record.

He was an intimate acquaintance of Clark Shaughnessy, Howard Jones and Amos Alonzo Stagg.

After leaving Utah, he served as athletic director at the University of Minnesota for 13 years during which time the Golden Gophers went to the Rose Bowl on two oc-

The man in question is Ike Armstrong, slim and lean as he was during his coaching career and enjoying life along the Orange Coast. He plays golf three times a week at Irvine Coast Country Club except when the weather interferes Armstrong played college football at Drake University. "But I was never allanything," he says.

His greatest memories of his Utah coaching days perhaps center around five trips to Hawaii.

In 1926, when Rockne made the trip, the Utes had an overnight train ride to the Pacific Coast from Salt Lake City.

After that it was five days aboard ship and then a week of preparation in the islands before the game.

'Rockne was involved in a clinic and made the trip with Armstrong recal served as referee for our game and I got to know him real well. He had a great football mind."

After two additional trips by ship, the Utes went by air on two other occasions following World War II.

Armstrong recalls that in 1941 his team had played Arizona University and had returned home to prepare for a trip to the islands.

What is the one big change that occurred in football over the years (47) he was associated with the game?

Movies has to be the answer," he says without hesitation. "Howie Odell at the University of Washington started it. He would take movies on Saturday and review them Monday, then give his kids a grade. After that he would show them the movie and point out mistakes.

"Officials as well as players view films today. In the Big 10 officials, review their last game and benefit from any mistakes they made, just like the ball players

Armstrong feels the instant replay on television is a bonus for officials. "When they show these replays, they find out that the officials are pretty nearly always right."

Are the players today better than when he was coaching?

"No, I don't believe they are. Oh, they may be bigger and better trained but I don't think they are any better

What players stand out in his memory as tops at Utah during his coaching regime?

With Christensen and Johnson on the squad, Armstrong feels his 1930 team was the best of all with an 8-0 record, scoring 340 points and limiting the opposition to 20 in the days when players went both ways.

His Utah teams won 13 conference championships and returned from a 14-13 win in Hawaii to post a 26-0 triumph over New Mexico in the Sun Bowl in 1938.

Chargers Face Dallas, Dorsett

DALLAS (AP) - Tailback Tony Dorsett, collegiate football's All-time ground gainer, makes his professional debut tonight in Texas Stadium if his sore right knee behaves when the Dallas Cowboys host the San Diego Chargers in a National Football League exhibition game.

Dorsett, the Heisman Trophy winner from national champion Pittsburgh, was running in full pads this week. He hurt the knee at UC Irvine in a scrimmage. Dorsett has been listed anywhere from second to fourth place on the Cowboys depth chart.

The knee was only bruised but Cowboys coach Tom Landry put Dorsett in sweat clothes for several days. Dorsett has yet to make any spectacular runs in camp but Landry isn't con-

"He has all the moves of a great back," said Landry. "It's just going to take him a long time to learn the system.

Rogers played in Canada for two years and may be used as both a running back and a wide receiver in Chargers coach Tommy Prothro's wide-open attack.

San Diego comes off a 6-8 season while the powerful Cowboys were 11-3 in 1976.

"We've had a good, hardworking camp," says Landry. "The players reported in excellent condition and we're just about where we would expect to be at this point."

Landry plans to open with a veteran starting lineup featuring quarterback Roger Staubach.

Polo Crown To Newport

Special to the Daily Pilot NORTH MIAMI BEACH-James Bergeson and Jeff Fults combined to score 11 goals, leading Newport Beach's boys water polo team to a 14-8 victory over Stanford in the championship game of the national Junior Olympics water polo tournament here Friday.

Bergeson tallied six goals and Fults had five and both were selected to the all-tourney team, along with teammates Mike Grier, Graham DeVries and goalie Drew Cree.

Newport breezed to a 9-4 halftime lead and it was easy the rest of the way. "The kids played just great," said Newport coach Bill Barnett.

Newport defeated Ann Arbor. Mich. Thursday by a 16-2 score. And earlier in the week had toppled North Miami Beach, (14-5), Hollywood, Fla. (27-3) and Madison, Wisc. (21-4). Score by Quarters

PUTTING AROUND THE HOLE

I suggest you begin your pre-round putting practice by putting "around" the hole from about four feet away. Continue this putting from all sides of the hole until you feel that your stroke is on the beam, and that you have a definite idea of how fast the green is and how much break those sidehillers will take.

If you miss a putt, don't repeat it; just go on to the next ball. There will be no second chances out on the course.

He's A Pleasure Tops Los Al Field

He's A Pleasure, win-ner of the Vandy's Flash Stakes in his last start, will face a tightly-drawn field of 10 3-year-olds in the $15,000 Sophomore Invitational Handicap at cellent times. He ac-400 yards at Los Alamitos tonight, including Shadow Moon Walk, a winner of six of eight starts this year.

Owned, bred and trained by Ray Seeley, He's A Pleasure has won three races during the summer season. A 3year-old gelded son of Raindancer, the hardhitting young runner split a pair of game allowance scores with a runnerup effort in the Independence Day Stakes before taking the 350 yard Vandy's Flash in 17.93 seconds.

'He's A Pleasure, highweighted for the upcoming test at 126 pounds, has now won best in the second half of 12 lifetime starts. The entire lineup for the Sophomore Invitational will include from the rail to the outside, Native Way, Raymar's Rockette, Suwanee Jude, Man Kind, Shadow Moon Walk, He's A Pleasure, Jet Equept, Think Money, Lotsa Luck and Truly Terrific.

Lawrence Wilcoc's Shadow Moon Walk has been a steadily improving runner since the first of the year. Offered for a $3200 caliming price in Colorado five months ago, the Top Moon speedhorse has put together six wins in eight starts and could be unbeaten during the successful string except for a pair of very poor starts. Now, Carter JFK Mimic Tries Again

LOS ANGELES (AP) - By November 1963, Vaughn Meader's zany impressions of President John F. Kennedy in "The First Family" record album had sold more than six million copies. Meader became a popular entertainer at night clubs throughout the country. Then came Dallas.

NOW, ALMOST 14 YEARS after the assassination of the man he mimicked, Vaughn Meader is living in Hollywood and developing an impression of another president, Jimmy Carter.

Following the assassination, sales of the First Family album were halted and much of the punch also was removed from Meader's night club act.

Kennedy's death also af fected Meader's personal life.

"I seemed to be like a liv ing reminder of a tragedy. It was a problem on stage. Meader said recently. "I don't think I was as personally involved with Kennedy in my own mind as other people seemed to have me in theirs. It started to affect me emotionally."

MEADER DROPPED OUT of the show biz circuit in 1968. He went on the road for about three years, living in a log cabin in Maine, with the flower children in San Francisco and them briefly with the Yippies in New York. In 1971, Meader cut another comedy album which failed to sell well, and he went to Louisville where he started a band and played country music.

MEADER

NOW 41, MEADER HAS lived in Hollywood for about three years, making his living as a songwriter and by playing the piano at various recording sessions

Although Meader is developing an impression of President Carter, he says he is not eager to join an already-crowded field of Carter mimics.

"I'm not going crazy waiting," he said.

Jack Benny Remembered

Milt Josefsberg, writer for Bob Hope, Lucille Ball and Jack Benny, fills in for Hy Gardner this week by talking about his book, "The Jack Benny Show," his recent tour, and many of his experiences with the beloved Benny.

Q. What gave you your greatest thrill talking to Jack Benny's and your unknown fans?

A. "I knew that Jack Benny was a legend.
Although I called my book The Jack Benny Show --The Life and Times of America's Best Loved Entertainer,' I didn't realize how truly beloved he was until I discovered a rather large cult which collects tapes of old Jack Benny radio shows. And one of my biggest surprises came from the voluminous mail book — and also questioning certain facts in the from strangers telling me how much they loved the

Q. Did you have any amusing things happen during book interviews?

"Several, During a call-in program a man phoned and flattered me by telling me that he was reading the book and it had particular meaning for him because he felt he was a lot like Mr. Benny. He kept repeating that it was the best book he ever read, and even though is's a long and big book, it was so interesting and funny that he found himself smiling and laughing - occasionally with a tear in his eye. I was very touched and told him that if he'd bring the book over to the studio I's autograph it. He said to me, 'Oh, you can't write in the book. I told you,

> "Two years ago I said Benji was the most entertaining family picture of our time. Maybe of all time. I was wrong. This one is better!

"There aren't enough superlatives to describe this sensational new film! Benji's acting performance is even better than in his first film."

JACK BENNY BREAKING UP GAG WRITER MILT JOSEFSBERG IN 1953 Biographer Recalls 'Best Loved Entertainer' in New Book

I'm a lot like Jack. I borrowed the book from a circulating library, and it's costing me 15 cents a day

Q. What was the on-the-air call that warmed vour heart most?

A. "It was not anything broadcast on radio or TV or printed in a newspaper. It was a telephone call I received when I returned home. A call from Mervyn LeRoy, one of Jack Benny's dearest friends for many years. He called to tell me he has read the book and wanted to personally thank me for the great pleasure I gave him.

"I can't describe how I felt when he thanked me for giving him pleasure. I told him that his numerous great pictures had thrilled the entire world. How just one of his films, 'The Wizard of Oz, gave pleasure to me, my children, my grandchildren and all children for all time to come. He modestly acknowledged this but added, 'Milt, yours was on a more personal level. You were writing with love about a man I loved and still do.

'He concluded by saying he loved the book so much he was buying several copies to send to friends, and then he thanked me again. If I get nothing else out of writing the book, this was payment enough.

Q. Is there anyone who might object to your calling Jack "America's Best Loved Entertainer"? "Possibly Don Rickles might think it's not fair to him, but I think he'll forgive me.

Gebel-Williams Superb At Circus in Anaheim

Rarely could a circus ringmaster be accused of understatement when introducing a star performer, but in the case of Gunther Gebel-Williams, superlatives simply aren't strong

What Laurence Olivier is to the stage, or O.J. Simpson to the football field, Gebel-Williams is to the big top. And his superb showmanship is on display at the Anaheim Convention Center where the Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey Circus is in residence through Aug. 15.

There are two editions of the Greatest Show on Earth and, this being an odd year, the West Coast is treated to the segment spotlighting Gunther Gebel-Williams, wild animal impressario par excellence. It is an opportunity which should not be missed, for Gebel-Williams is, indeed, a superstar of his chosen

WHETHER ROLLING on the arena floor with a trio of leopards, carrying one on his back outside the cage, putting a plethora of snarling tigers (17 actually) through their paces or running a show of wall-to-wall elephants, Gebel-Williams is simply superb. The leopard act is new this year, and the crafty cats are put through some deceptively difficult routines, including one where an animal vaults from one stand to another - using Gebel - Williams' back as a stopover

The ubiquitous animal trainer winds up his busy evening with a 'chariot ride'' on two elephants around the arena track. He also appears in the circus parade with a favorite stunt viewed here two seasons ago - riding with a tiger atop an elephant.

It's said that RBB&B producer Irvin Feld had to buy an entire German circus to obtain the services of Gebel-Williams, so loyal was the star to the or-ganization that trained him. That 1968 purchase is paying handsome dividends for both the Greatest Show and its many ANOTHER HIGHLIGHT of the 1977 edition is the high-wire artistry of Pedro Carrillo, who came to California as part of a duo act until his partner was injured in a fall at the Forum. Going it alone, Carrillo puts on a breathtaking display of rope skipping some 50 feet above the arena, without benefit of a net. It's clearly the most hazardous act in the show.

A second generation star makes her debut in the current production - aerialist Dolly Jacobs, whose father Lou is the king of the circus clowns with over a half century in Clown Alley. Impressive also are the Budzyn, a Polish gymnastic troupe which offer a flip through a flaming hoop for a finale.

THE MIXED animal act, perfected by Gebel-Williams, is staged this year by his assistant Henry Schroer (with the master close at hand to keep an eye on things). About the only disappointment is the trapeze act which (on opening night anyway) failed to produce the popular

The Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey Circus, which features a Mardi Gras format for its production number this year, will be in the Convention Center through Aug. 15 with two performances daily (except Aug. 8, a day off). With the showmanship of Gunther Gebel-Williams as a headliner, it truly is the greatest show on earth.

Lanking: Staid Field Offers Variety

By Joe L. Kennedy

Dear Joyr I am writing you in regard to career in banking. I want to bebank officer.

— V., Columbus, Ohio

While being can no longer be charactized as a granite garrison estaidness, on the whole, thindustry remains more burneratically structured the most within the hierarchieshe faces of banking are change and growing numbers of tim are black and brown and male.

Women, for instance, com-prise 21 percent of all bank officers and managers, according to a recent federal report.

JOB PROSPECTS for bank executives are better than average and pay is improving. An MBA degree (generally a would-be banker's most valua-ble credential) commands as much as $20,000 a year to start at major banks, while a bachelor's degree may be priced to start at $12,000.

An interesting aspect about banking is that it offers CAREERS something for nearly every type of personality, from the fasttrack international loan officer who jets around the world, to the small-town banker who receives satisfaction in knowing his or her customers personally.

THIS HUGE INDUSTRY, which employs 1.8 million workers can be described in broad triadic terms: commercial, savings, and invest-ment banking.

Commercial banking with its 14,000 institutions — 37,000 if you count each branch bank — provides the most jobs. A college degree, particularly the MBA, offers the quickest ascent.

Finance, economics, accounting, marketing and computer courses are important, as are languages for overseas work, and agribusiness for rural com-munities. It's still possible for the high school grad to become a mid-level manager, but the college grad has the edge in hiring and advancement.

Investment banking deals with arranging corporate mergers and raising big money for cor-porations by arranging to float stocks and bonds.
