Daylight Raid Nets Handguns

In a daring daylight store looting, burglars used a tow truck to rip off the front door of the Grant Boys' store in downtown Costa Mesa Wednesday, escaping with about 68 handguns valued at up to $14,500.

Police said the burglary team hit the store on busy Newport Boulevard in broad daylight at 7:15 a.m.

So swift was the raid that the thieves had fled before police could answer the burglar alarm.

It was the second time within 10 days that gun thieves had looted the store at 1750 Newport Boulevard.

Police Lt. George Lorton said there is a strong possibility that the same bandits struck again.

In Wednesday's raid, the burglar alarm triggered a store alarm but moved quickly enough to load up the guns and escape before police arrived.

Police said at least two men were involved in the heist. The burglars used a white tow truck with a red boom to tear off the front door.

Once inside the store, the bandits swiftly shattered three gun cases and took at least 100 handguns of various calibers.

Store employees are still totaling the loss, estimated at between $17,000 and $25,000.

On Aug. 28, a similar break-in resulted in the loss of 37 revolvers valued at $4,837.

In both cases, the suspects are described as black men in their early 20s.

Wife Dies After Long Gun Battle

HOMEWOOD, Ill. (AP) — A depressed and jealous wife shot her husband while he slept, but he revived nearly 20 hours later and the couple then took turns shooting each other with her gun, police said. It began in bed and went on as they crawled bleeding from room to room.

The .32-caliber revolver changed hands several times.

It ended after police arrived. They said the woman, who had turned the gun on herself by that point, fired a final shot at her husband, collapsed, and died.

Her husband was hospitalized in critical condition.

Police said the bizarre episode began at 7 a.m. Tuesday in a second-floor condominium in a comfortable new building in the suburb of Homewood, southwest of Chicago. It ended at 3 a.m. Wednesday.

Police said Margaret Radevich, 56, shot her husband, Theodore, 56, twice in the chest while he slept Tuesday morning and later, for some unexplained reason, returned to the bed.

"When he regained consciousness Wednesday, he found his wife next to him in bed and pulled the gun out of her hand, shooting her once in each leg," said Police Chief William Nolan.

Nolan said Radevich also fired a shot out the window to attract attention and tried to throw the gun through a closed window.

The window broke, but the gun fell back inside the room, and Mrs. Radevich found it and reloaded it.

Radevich managed to crawl to another room, followed by his wife, who then shot him in the mouth, Nolan said.

TV Victory For 'Doors'

NEW YORK (AP) — The opening episode of ABC's "Washington: Behind Closed Doors" won a narrow victory in the national television ratings battle Tuesday night, according to A.C. Nielsen Company figures.

The rating service said today that an estimated 16,040,000 homes were tuned to ABC while CBS drew 15,450,000 for its film, "Logan's Run" and NBC drew 12,470,000 for the movie "The Hindenburg."

The national ratings were ABC, 22.0; CBS, 21.2 and NBC, 17.1. The rating is the estimated percentage of the total television sets in the country that are tuned to a particular program.

PARAMEDICS RUSH INJURED NEWPORT BEACH WOMAN TO AMBULANCE
Confusion Over Signals Leads to Five-car Crash in Huntington Beach Wednesday

HB Crash Victim's Condition Guarded

A 23-year-old Newport Beach woman was in guarded condition today at Pacifica Hospital after paramedics cut her from her auto which was demolished in a five-car accident in Huntington Beach Wednesday morning.

Lisa Ann French of 210 Fern St. suffered a concussion, fractured ribs and a broken pelvis when her compact car collided with a small sedan in the intersection of Brookhurst Street and Adams Avenue at 10:45 a.m., Huntington Beach police traffic investigators reported.

Four other drivers and passengers received minor injuries and were treated and released from local hospitals.

Police officer Richard Onstott blamed the chain reaction collision on malfunctioning traffic lights which apparently confused drivers of three of the vehicles.

None of the five drivers involved in the accident were cited, police said.

Driver Thomas B. Miller, 33, of Newport Beach, told police he struck a pickup truck in the intersection.

Police said Miss French's auto then struck Miller's compact sedan and went careening out of control into two other vehicles.

Miss French was pinned inside her auto but her passenger, Dale Ann Grove of Covina, was able to free herself from the battered car.

Fountain Valley paramedics and Huntington Beach firemen used the "Jaws of Life" cutting device to break through the auto's sides and remove the injured driver.

Miss Grove suffered multiple cuts but no major injuries.

Traffic was snarled for almost two hours at the intersection.

Trucker Killed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Early morning traffic was stalled for more than two hours on the Santa Ana Freeway following an accident that killed a 23-year-old Palmdale truck driver. William A. Hale died Wednesday when his tractor-trailer collided with a car driven by Janice Fields, 21, of Oakland, authorities said.

Wife Nabbed In Stabbing Of Husband

A Corona del Mar man is listed in critical condition today at Hoag Memorial Hospital after he was allegedly stabbed by his wife.

Rey Ochoa was rushed to the hospital at 11 p.m. Wednesday after his wife, Anita Beatrice Ochoa, 43, called police to tell them her husband had been stabbed, police said.

Paramedics and police arrived at the Ochoa home at 424 Marguerite Ave. moments later and found the wounded man sprawled in the entry way, bleeding profusely from a single stab wound in his upper right thigh.

Detectives said today they are investigating the case in an attempt to find a motive for the stabbing.

Mrs. Ochoa was booked into Orange County Jail on a charge of attempted murder.

Investigators say they believe the weapon used in the assault was a wooden-handled kitchen knife with a six-inch blade.

Stricken After Surgery

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — President Idi Amin of Uganda was reported by a top aide today to be "in a coma" after undergoing surgery in a Kampala hospital for an undisclosed ailment.

Robert Astles, British-born confidant of the 51-year-old president, said in a telephone interview with the Associated Press in Nairobi he did not have further details.

Asked the reason for Amin's operation, he replied: "We don't exactly know. But he's in a coma. We believe he'll pull out of it. I'm going over to the hospital right now to see what's happening."

Astles was speaking from his office in Kampala. He is a white Ugandan citizen married to a black Ugandan, Mary Astles, who is Ugandan minister of culture.

Earlier today, Uganda radio announced that Amin underwent the operation in Kampala's Nulago Hospital by a Soviet surgeon. The broadcast said the president was accompanied to the hospital by the Soviet ambassador on Wednesday, Dr. Feodor Senkof was identified as the surgeon.

Wallace Bugging Issue for Courts?

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — The bedroom bugging incident which Gov. George C. Wallace characterized last September as a "domestic matter between my wife and myself" could turn out to be a matter for the courts, too.

The Montgomery Advertiser reported today that the tapes produced by the bugging device on Wallace's bedroom telephone were not destroyed after their discovery last September.

Quoting what it said were reliable sources, the Advertiser said some 400 hours of taped conversations Wallace had with "prominent women" still exist and could play a vital role in any divorce proceedings initiated by his wife, Cornelia.

The Advertiser's sources said the tapes are of "conversations a married man ought not to be having with other women."

Mrs. Wallace moved out of the executive mansion Tuesday, saying she could no longer endure the "vulgarity, threats and abuse" from her husband.

She conferred about an hour Wednesday with attorneys, but her only comment was that she has "no plans yet" to file a divorce petition.

The 38-year-old Mrs. Wallace has, however, instructed attorneys "to do what is necessary" to protect her.

One attorney, Ira DeMent, indicated there will be discussions with the governor's lawyers to come up with an "amicable settlement."

Last September, when he confirmed that a taping system had been discovered in his bedroom, Wallace said, "This happened in my bedroom between me and my wife."

The 58-year-old Wallace also said, "I think we can better resolve our differences, if any, if the press would accept that this is purely a domestic matter."

When his wife moved her personal belongings from the executive mansion Tuesday, Wallace's only comment was: "It's a private matter and I trust that our friends can treat it as such."

The Wallaces' separation came one month after the disclosure that a divorce petition had been drawn on the governor's behalf, blaming the marital difficulties on "complete incompatibility of temperament" and an "irretrievable breakdown of the marriage."

The Wallaces were married Jan. 4, 1971. Both had been married before, Wallace's first wife, Lurleen, died of cancer while she was governor.

But he still was able to make his way to another bedroom. There he broke a window in another attempt to attract attention.

Meanwhile, Nolan said, Mrs. Radovich shot herself.

When police arrived, after being summoned by neighbors, they found Mrs. Radovich in a hallway. She was on the floor, and her husband was in the other room.

Police said that before they could reach Mrs. Radovich, she took one more shot at her husband through the doorway. The bullet missed, and she fell unconscious.

She was dead on arrival at a hospital.

Authorities found notes apparently written by Mrs. Radovich that "said such things as life being tough and difficult, and one note made reference to another woman."

"It appeared that she was very upset over probably a number of things," Nolan said. "She indicated that life was too tough for her and had been too tough for her all of her life."

Police said Mrs. Radovich recently bought the handgun without telling her husband, and arranged the couple's insurance papers in a shoe box with explanatory notes for anyone who found them. Police would not say whether they had children.

Rescue Try Fruitless

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A 25-year-old San Pedro man jumped to his death off the Vincent Thomas Bridge despite rescue efforts of a 71-year-old man who suffered an apparent coronary attack in the struggle.

Joseph Albert DeRocco died of massive head and spinal injuries Wednesday evening at San Pedro and Peninsula Hospital about two hours after he jumped from the 180-foot-high bridge. He was the son of Anthony J. DiRocco, a harbor area deputy for Los Angeles City Councilman John S. Gibson.

Howard W. Ball, 71, of Torrance was passing nearby in his 24-foot sailboat, steered to DiRocco's side and held the dying man out of the water until a Fire Department rescue boat could reach him.

Atiles said he did not know whether the comatose state was a normal after-effect of anesthesia, or whether it was induced by postoperative complications.

Amin, self-declared field marshal and president for life, came to power in January 1971 when he toppled President Milton Obote in a coup backed by junior army officers.

His rule has been marked by violence and bloodshed as he allegedly eliminated rival tribes who threatened his grip on the landlocked African country the size of the state of Oregon.

Married five times and divorced three, Amin is reputed to have fathered at least 36 children and once said he planned to have 400.

Visitors to Uganda who met with Amin in recent months say the heavy-set former boxing champion appeared to be in robust good health. But two of Amin's former physicians claim the president suffers from gout and may have contracted syphilis at one time.

Meanwhile, Ugandan radio said today that Amin rejected an appeal from Liberian President William Tolbert to spare the lives of 12 Ugandans scheduled to be publicly executed Friday for plotting to overthrow him.

In another development, a Kenyan newspaper reported that Ugandan soldiers carried out sledge hammer murders of some 180 Ugandan prisoners last month.

Quoting eight former inmates, the English-language Daily Nation said 100 persons were brought into a jail outside of Kampala Aug. 27 and "tied up and battered to death with a hammer."

On Aug. 28, another group of 80 persons were killed in the same manner, said the prisoners who claimed to be eyewitnesses to the murders.

Porno Store Causes Furor

VISTA (AP) — The Vista Chamber of Commerce is stripping a youthful board member of his seat because he issued a membership to an adult bookstore.

Carl Pietrantonio, 20, also has lost the drug store job that led to his selection for a seat on the board.

The board voted 10-6 last month in favor of Pietrantonio's resignation, but he refused. The board's new vote declared him off the governing body because the drug store where he worked has changed ownership.

Porn Suspect Kills Himself

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A 43-year-old man facing charges of being a child pornography distributor was found dead in his apartment, an apparent suicide, police said.

Richard Spaeth, his wrists and neck slashed, was found Wednesday afternoon lying on his bed in a pool of blood, police said.

A short note addressed to his family was found beside Spaeth's body, police said.

Lance to Resign?

Move May Follow Senate Defense

BOSTON (AP) — Budget Director Bert Lance plans to announce his resignation after defending himself next week at Senate hearings into his dealings as a Georgia banker, the Boston Herald American said today.

The newspaper quoted sources it said are close to Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff (D-Conn.), chairman of the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee which opened hearings today.

Ribicoff told President Carter on Sunday that Lance should resign. Ribicoff had been one of Lance's earliest supporters. He said six weeks ago that Lance had been unjustly criticized by the news media.

Meanwhile, the New York Daily News said in an editorial today that Lance's usefulness as budget director has been "destroyed" and that "if Lance won't resign gracefully, President Carter ought to pull the plug on his pal."

And the New York Times said in an editorial today that "For the President to ask for Mr.

Lance's resignation is not, finally, to surrender to lynch-mob injustice but to demonstrate an understanding and mastery of the rough-and-tumble of national politics. The most important issue is not Mr. Lance's probity as a banker but Mr. Carter's sagacity as a politician."

In another development the government's chief banking regulator today told a Senate committee he would have endorsed Lance as budget director only if certain Lance had corrected some of his practices as a Georgia banker.

Noting that his office had ordered the Calhoun First National Bank, headed by Lance, to correct questionable management practices that included permitting officers to write overdrafts on their checking accounts, John G. Heimann, comptroller of the currency, characterized Lance as "a very successful banker. His attention to detail clearly leaves something to be desired."

Heimann was the opening witness at the hearings by the Governmental Affairs Committee into Lance's financial dealings.

Lance is scheduled to testify next week.

While President Carter was described as remaining firm in his support of his budget director, Lance was coming under increasing pressure to resign.

Heimann became comptroller in July. Sen. William V. Roth (R-Del.), asked if Heimann would have endorsed Lance as fully as his predecessor when Lance was nominated as budget director by Carter.

"I would have informed the committee of everything I knew," Heimann said.

"We found his (Lance's) management to be faulty and we ordered it corrected," Heimann said.

He added that if the practices had been corrected he would have found Lance acceptable.

Reagan Cites Pact Dangers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ronald Reagan said today if the Senate ratifies the new Panama Canal treaty the Soviet Union and Cuba may be encouraged to expand their influence in Panama.

Urging rejection of the treaty signed by President Carter and Panamanian officials Wednesday night, Reagan said, "it should never surprise us that whenever the United States withdraws its presence or its strong interest from any area, the Soviets are ready, willing and often able to exploit the situation."

"Can we believe that the Panama Canal is any exception?"

Rating Down Carter's Popularity Slips

NEW YORK (AP) — President Carter's popularity is dropping, and many Americans are critical of the way he has handled the rising clamor over the financial dealings of Budget Director Bert Lance while he was a Georgia banker, according to a Harris Survey released today.

The survey found most Americans believe Carter still is doing a good job as president, but the majority has dropped from 59 percent at the end of July to 52 percent of the 1,419 people questioned between Aug. 13 and Aug. 20. Such a decline at this stage of an administration has not been uncommon in recent years, the survey noted.

Carter's rating on the handling of Lance's difficulties had 40 percent of those questioned disapproving; 33 percent approving, and 27 percent undecided. There have been many developments in the Lance controversy since the survey was made.

Senseless Killings Stun Toro Rancher

By WILLIAM HODGE Of the Daily Pilot Staff
Lealana and Carolisa were peacefully grazing in a quiet pasture just off Santiago Canyon Road in northeast El Toro when at least four shots rang out. Three .22-caliber slugs ripped through Carolisa's neck, killing her instantly. Another bullet tore through Lealana's heart, but she was able to gallop a few hundred feet up a hill to her young offspring. Perhaps she hoped to protect them from the danger. She dropped dead at her colt's feet. 'Our horses are just like our family,' a shaken Frank Waer said Wednesday. The 82-year-old has been raising show horses in the hills above El Toro for over 20 years. 'It was just like them shooting one of my daughters,' Waer said of the thrill-killers who struck Monday. The killers were described by a witness as two white men in their early 20s. Police are still seeking them. They leisurely parked their four-wheel-drive vehicle in Waer's driveway and shot the horses from about 30 feet away. Before their killing spree had ended, two cows were dead and another horse was injured. 'It's getting where if you value your life you better get out of this area,' Waer said, describing several other incidents of people taking shots at water tanks on his ranch from the hills above his home. Admission Day Closes Banks, Courts

Banks, county offices and courts will be closed Friday in observance of Admission Day, which commemorates California statehood. Most city offices in coastal Orange County will stay open, with the exceptions of offices in San Juan Capistrano, San Clemente and Costa Mesa.

School districts which will be closed include the Saddleback Valley Unified, Laguna Beach Unified, Ocean View and Huntington Beach High School districts.

Districts to remain open Friday include Capistrano Unified, Irvine Unified, Fountain Valley and Huntington Beach elementary.

Capistrano took its holiday Tuesday, Irvine is saving the day off for sometime in December, Fountain Valley was closed last Friday and Huntington Beach is trading Admission Day in favor of the day after Thanksgiving.

On the community college scene, Saddleback College will be closed.

However, the Coast Community College District and its two campuses will be open. District employees were given their Admission Day holiday on the Friday preceding Labor Day for a four-day weekend.

Bitter Winter Forecast Farmers' Almanac Predicts Icy Season

LEWISTON, Maine (AP) - Keep your long johns handy - the Farmers' Almanac says the coming winter is going to be a bitter one.

'For 1977-1978, we show another rough winter, with cold and snow aplenty although not as bad as the winter just past,' says the almanac's 161st annual edition, just off the presses.

The venerable publication was right on target last year when it forecast 'a big, bad winter,' followed by a 'scorchingly hot' summer.

'We predicted it first,' crows almanac editor Ray Geiger, 67, who obtains his forecasts from Harry K. Buie, a retired astronomer and school administrator in Inverness, Fla.

'He uses a secret formula, passed down since the almanac was founded in 1818,' says Geiger. 'It's based on sunspots, the position of the planets and the tidal action of the moon.'

The almanac has been issuing forecasts 52 years longer than the National Weather Service, says Geiger, who rarely passes up an opportunity for a good-natured jab at the government-run bureau.

'We call them a 'non-prophet' agency,' he says.

Despite the almanac's warning of a cold and snowy winter, its long-range prognostications offer the prospect of relief from extremes of heat and cold.

The summer of 1978, says Geiger, will be 'moderate and more pleasant. It won't be quite as hot or quite as dry as it was this summer.'

And in another year or two there will be a mild winter, he says.

In addition to weather information, this year's almanac is filled with the usual blend of homespun homilies, one-line jokes, inspirational essays and recipes, including ones for a 'concrete' pecan pie and hot tuna dogs.

Geiger's 48-page publication, not to be confused with the 185-year-old Old Farmers Almanac, is sold to banks and other businesses, which distribute it free to their customers. Geiger also publishes the American Farm & Home Almanac.

Emphasizing 'wholesomeness, honesty and integrity,' Geiger says his almanacs try to recall the niceties and values of a simpler life that has all but disappeared.

Treaty Celebrated

PANAMA CITY, Panama (AP) - Church bells rang, car horns blared and hundreds of Panamanians paraded through the streets Wednesday night to celebrate the signing of the new Panama Canal treaties. (Related story, A4).

Liddy Would Do It All Again

WASHINGTON (AP) - G. Gordon Liddy, in his first interview since leaving prison, said today that if a president asked him to repeat the work he performed in the Watergate break-in, he would answer: 'Yes, they will be done.'

Liddy said it dramatically, in Latin: 'Fiat voluntas tua.'

Liddy, thinner by 30 pounds than when he went into prison for burglary, wiretapping and conspiracy in January 1973, asked a small group of reporters to meet with him on his first full day of freedom.

Liddy was released Wednesday from the federal prison in Danbury, Conn., after serving more than 52 months for his role in the Watergate scandal.

His meeting turned into a full-size news conference with an unusual touch. A man threw an apple pie into Liddy's face as he entered the room.

A reporter asked Liddy: 'If the president of the United States asked you to do that kind of work again, what would you say?'

'Yes.' There was no hesitation. 'When the prince approaches his lieutenant, the proper response of the lieutenant to the prince is 'Fiat voluntas tua.'

Does he regard himself as a lieutenant?'

'Yes,' said Liddy, often described as the mastermind of the Watergate break-in. 'I would not rank myself as a captain.'

Was there any indication that Richard Nixon wanted Watergate done.

'I have no comment,' said Liddy.

In fact, he would not talk about Watergate at all.

Liddy said he had asked the reporters there because he wanted to discuss conditions that had led to his participation in a food boycott at Allenwood, Pa., federal prison.

And he wanted to relate second-hand what he had been told happened during a fire at the Danbury prison where five men had died earlier this year.

Q. Any remorse for Watergate? A. No.

Q. Why not? A. Just not.

Q. Can you tell us why you went into Watergate? A. I can, but I won't.

Q. Can you tell us what you were looking for? A. I could, but I will not.

Q. Why won't you? A. I choose not to. At one point, Liddy said 'I do not reproach myself' for his actions.

During the 45-minute conference, Liddy's five teen-age children stood behind him. His wife, a schoolteacher, sat in a chair nearby.

Liddy said he had no plans at present to write a Watergate book, although he said he had tried working on non-fiction without much success.

Astles was speaking from his office in Kampala. He is a white Ugandan citizen married to a black Ugandan, Mary Astles, who is Ugandan minister of culture.

Earlier today, Uganda radio announced that Amin underwent the operation in Kampala's Nulago Hospital by a Soviet surgeon. The broadcast said the president was accompanied to the hospital by the Soviet ambassador on Wednesday. Dr. Feodor Senkof was identified as the surgeon.

Astles said he did not know whether the comatose state was a normal after-effect of anesthesia, or whether it was induced by postoperative complications.

Amin, self-declared field marshal and president for life, came to power in January 1971 when he toppled President Milton Obote in a coup backed by junior army officers.

His rule has been marked by violence and bloodshed as he allegedly eliminated rival tribes who threatened his grip on the landlocked African country the size of the state of Oregon.

NEWPORT OFFICER MIKE JACKSON SHOWS OFF NEW NOVA PATROL CAR
It's Smaller, More Maneuverable Than Old Dodge Coronet (background)

Police Cars Shrink Cheaper, More Agile Novas Join Force

Newport Beach's police cars are shrinking.

Two years ago, patrolmen drove the same big Mercury used by California Highway Patrolmen. Last year, it was mid-sized Dodge Coronets. By January, the department's 19 marked police units all will be Chevy Novas.

The Novas are slightly cheaper to buy and city officials say they hope they'll be cheaper to run.

But the biggest factor in the changeover is the fact that the smaller car is more maneuverable than the Dodges currently driven by patrolmen.

Capt. Wayne Connolly, commander of the department's patrol division, said a city like Newport Beach doesn't need the big, heavy highway cruisers that can hit 120 mph in long-distance chases.

What Newport Beach needs is a small police car that can zip through the narrow alleys in the older parts of town without sideswiping telephone poles and garbage cans.

While the outside and inside of the Novas is smaller than the Dodges, the engine size is identical, Connolly said.

City officials say they will keep careful tab of the operating cost of the Novas to compare with the other cars used in the past by police.

"If nothing else," Connolly commented, "we should have a little less down time from repairing dings in the cars."

He said all of the equipment carried by the old cars fits in the new ones, but he noted that "we have had a few complaints about the leg room from the taller patrolmen."

Sniper Victim Dies

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — A second person died Wednesday of gunshot wounds suffered in a Labor Day sniper attack by a white youth wearing a swastika armband who took his own life after firing into a crowd of black picnickers. broken within three weeks and the firm hopes to complete the project in about one year.

Mayor Norma Hertzog noted that the development will be adjacent to, but not infringe on the city's 35-acre Canyon Park site. The park is expected to be developed in the next four or five years.

Jaeger said the installation of solar heating is a first for Costa Mesa and will cost the company added expense. However, there is no price tag yet on the overall development.

The townhomes will be two and three bedroom units at an estimated cost of about $75,000 each.

Trustee Sued Over Coast Home Dispute

A damage suit of $50,000 has been filed against Coast Community College Trustee George Rodda Jr. by a neighbor who claims he bought Rodda's $167,000 Corona del Mar home but was not allowed to move in.

The suit filed in Orange County Superior Court by Richard L. Borgen names Rodda and his wife, Marge, as defendants in the action. Borgen claims that he bought the house at 949 Goldenrod Avenue from them last Aug. 5.

Rodda said he reached "an oral agreement" with Borgen, his next door neighbor but the offer was under the true market value of the home.

"It's just one of those things that happen in the wild property market," said Rodda, adding that oral agreements are not enforceable.

Mrs. Crank Rites Slated In Costa Mesa

Funeral services will be held Friday for long-time Harbor Area resident Margaret L. Crank, who died Tuesday in Newport Beach of an apparent heart attack. She was 54.

A rosary will be recited tonight at 6:30 at St. Joachim's Church in Costa Mesa with a burial mass to follow at 10 a.m. Friday.

Mrs. Crank lived in the Orange Coast area for 31 years. She recently moved from Costa Mesa to Newport Beach.

She is survived by her husband, Roy C. Crank; son, Steven Crank of Newport Beach; and sisters Mrs. Blanch Stanley of Gabbs, Nev. and Marry Ann Gates of Merced.

Waeer said he would put his 80-acre spread up for sale. He is contemplating a move to the Santa Inez valley because of the shooting incident.

And the move would be the third time the 60-year Orange County resident has been forced to move because of the area's development.

"My first ranch was near where Harbor Boulevard and Edinger are today," the octogenarian explained.

"I had to move because of all the building going on in that area," he continued. Waeer relocated to another ranch that was situated where Irvine and 21st Streets now intersect in Costa Mesa.

His home abounds with photos of a development-free Newport Back Bay. But building in the bay area eventually forced Waeer to locate his ranch elsewhere once again and he settles in the El Toro hills where two of his thoroughbred Morgan mares were slaughtered.

MAP INDICATES WHERE SHIP WILL BE SUNK
State Moves Ahead With Fishing Reef Project

'Artificial Reef' Due for Newport

Officials at the State Department of Fish and Game said today they are moving ahead with plans to sink an old Liberty ship off Newport Beach to create an artificial fishing reef.

A similar project is slated to get under way Tuesday in Santa Monica Bay.

Fish and Game spokesman Ralph Young said the Newport Beach project is not likely to be completed until next June since bids are just now being sought for the project.

Fish and Game officials have obtained three World War II vintage ships, the Palawan, the Cheleb and the Oahu to be used for the reef-making projects.

The Palawan will be sunk next week off Santa Monica, the Cheleb is destined for the bottom off Newport and the Oahu will be sunk off Ventura.

The Newport project, may face an uncertain future in the face of some city opposition to the project based on its possible effect on beach erosion.

One city councilman, Don McInnis, who lives on the beach in West Newport, earlier this summer said he would oppose the project until the department had done a thorough study of the effect of the new reef on beach erosion.

The ship, which will be sunk in 120 feet of water is likely to block one of the many offshore submarine canyons and McInnis said he is fearful that the blockage could alter the currents on the West Newport shoreline.

But Young said today the Fish and Game project has received a declaration of negative environmental impact.

"It may take longer than six months just to get the ship ready for sinking," he said.

Mesa's Water Usage Shrinks During August

With help from an August rainstorm, water usage in the Costa Mesa County Water District dipped more than 135 million gallons during the month, or 22.3 percent less than it was in August 1976.

Water district officials say the monthly cutback is the biggest so far and has pushed the savings tally to more than 300 million gallons since April 1.

Officials have set a goal of one billion gallons in savings by April 1, 1979.

Although the rainstorm replenished groundwater supplies, officials still credit conscientious water usage by district customers as a major factor in the overall drop in water use.

IIC Bill Backed Assembly OKs Measure Despite Suit

A bill was approved by the state Assembly Wednesday that would allow development of the Irvine Industrial Complex-East despite a lawsuit that seeks to force its Irvine Company developer to provide housing for workers first.

The bill, SB 344, sponsored by Sen. Dennis Carpenter (R-Newport Beach), won the bare majority required for passage, and was returned to the Senate for action on amendments.

News of the legislation won a perplexed reaction from Irvine Mayor Bill Vardoulis and drew sarcasm from one of the plaintiffs of the lawsuit.

Vardoulis said he didn't understand the need for Carpenter's legislation, as it pertains to development of the industrial complex.

"I don't know what the hoopla is about," he said.

"I don't see why the Irvine Company couldn't proceed with industrial development with or without this bill," Vardoulis said.

"There's no restraining order in the lawsuit.

"My feeling is they haven't proceeded because of the potential outcome of the suit and because it has been hard to get financial backing with the suit pending."

The lawsuit is scheduled for a hearing in December. It was brought jointly by seven Irvine residents and the Orange County Fair Housing Council.

Westley Marx, an environmental writer who is one of the plaintiffs in the case, said the legislation was the product of an Irvine Company "sob story."

"I think the company and the city (which is a codefendant in the suit) realized that their legal base is eroding," said Marx, "so they're trying to get the legislature to buy their sob story about the industrial complex."

Marx agreed with Vardoulis that the lawsuit by itself isn't delaying the $1 billion industrial project.

Refund Due Pacific Tel Customers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Rate reductions and $14 million in refunds were ordered for 7.4 million Pacific Telephone Co. customers as a result of an admitted error of the state Public Utilities Commission.

The PUC ordered Wednesday that Pacific Telephone make the rate cuts and repay customers.

The phone company said it would ask the PUC to reconsider the ruling it branded as "yet another example of capricious regulation in California."

The commission said it was correcting a 21-month-old error that resulted in the phone company being granted a $65.2 million rate hike.

That December 1975 decision had been appealed by the city of San Diego, and the PUC reopened the case.

"Upon rehearing and reconsideration we find that we were in error," the PUC said in pointing out its mistake in estimating intrastate telephone revenues.

ALL SMILES AT PANAMA TREATY RECEPTION
Mrs. Alejandro Orfila With First Lady

Canal Bash

Ford, Lady Bird, Ali Invited

WASHINGTON (AP) Standing in the receiving line at the White House after the historic signing of the Panama Canal treaty as 27 hemispheric leaders and 140 guests filed by, President Carter saved his heartiest greetings for boxer Muhammad Ali. "How are you doing?" Carter said, slapping Ali on the back.

BEING INVITED TO THE White House for dinner was "the highest honor ever bestowed me," Ali said later in the company of guests that included former President Ford, Lady Bird Johnson, Henry A. Kissinger and Vice President Walter F. Mondale.

Ali presented Carter with two tickets to his next fight. But the big contest on Carter's mind these days is getting Senate ratification of the treaty as he expressed the hope that Americans would be "big enough, strong enough, courageous enough and understanding enough... to be proud of what has been accomplished." (Related story, photos, A4)

FORD CHATTED EASILY WITH reporters too, commenting that he and Mrs. Johnson were color coordinated — he in a natty three-piece brown suit and Mrs. Johnson in brown chiffon.

With heads of government and senators sitting at every table, much dinner conversation over lobster and veal touched upon the Panama Canal presumably. But at one table at least, the conversation was about going back to school.

GENERAL HUGO BANZER, THE Bolivian president, the wife of Ecuadorian President Alfredo Poveda; and Carter's Special Trade Representative, Robert Strauss, had the pleasure of Amy Carter's company. "We talked about school and the red shoes I bought my granddaughter," said Strauss. "I thought I had a very good seat. I hope she enjoyed her dinner companion as much as I enjoyed mine."

Nine-year-old Amy did not stay for the entertainment violinist Isaac Stern, pianist Andre Previn and soprano Martina Arroyo which extended the evening past midnight, making it one of the latest Carter state dinners so far.

WITH A HEARTY "I'LL BE seeing a lot of you tomorrow," the President waved goodbye to guests, who included bankers, attorneys, and contractors. Mrs. Carter's press secretary, Mary Hoyt, said the White House hoped the community leaders would go back home and talk favorably about the Panama Canal pact, actually composed of two treaties.

Future Witness?

Hanna Secluded In Arkansas Area

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (P) Richard T. Hanna, the former Orange County congressman who was named Tuesday as an undicted co-conspirator in the alleged influence-peddling operation of Korean businessman Tongsun Park, is living in relative seclusion here, the Arkansas Gazette reported Thursday.

Hanna declined to comment on the 36-count indictment of Park.

but his wife confirmed in a doorstep interview that Hanna would be called as a witness if Park is brought to trial, the newspaper said.

KOREA ATTEMPT FAILS; PARK WON'T RETURN—A4

Hanna's name appeared in one of the 36 charges against Park. The charges say Park gave Hanna money "in excess of $75,000" between 1967 and 1974 with the intention of having Hanna "make statements in his official capacity... which were favorable to the government of the Republic of South Korea."

Mrs. Hanna said the former Democratic congressman would not comment because he thought it inappropriate to discuss the indictment, the Gazette said.

The article quoted Mrs. Hanna as saying her husband criticized news accounts of the two-year investigation of Park by the Justice Department. Mrs. Hanna told the newspaper that the couple had informed friends to believe only news accounts that quote her husband.

The Gazette said the Hannas moved to Fayetteville last spring, bought a house valued at $120,000, and began moves to guard their privacy.

The Hannas have rebuffed offers of friendship from neighbors and recently declined an invitation to attend a large party here, the article said.

And, the newspaper said, the family recently constructed a five-foot wooden fence on one side of their home and that Hanna has an unlisted telephone number.

In a related incident, the newspaper reported that Governor David Pryor said he had nothing to do with Hanna moving to Arkansas. Pryor served with Hanna in the House in 1972.

Pryor said that he had received a telephone call from Hanna about a year ago and that Hanna discussed with him the possibility of moving from California to Arkansas, the newspaper said. The report said that Hanna told Pryor he was interested in a teaching position.

Pryor told the Gazette that Hanna, however, never asked for his help.

Variance Urged

Presley Body Move Request of Family

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) Elvis Presley's family wants to move the bodies of the singer and his mother to a garden at Graceland Mansion.

D. Beecher Smith II, an attorney for the family, submitted a request Wednesday to the Board of Adjustment for an exception or variation to the residential zoning of the singer's 13-acre estate.

A variation would be required before the bodies could be moved from the mausoleum at Forest Hill Cemetery to the Meditation Garden on the mansion grounds. The cemetery is about three miles north of Graceland.

Smith said in a letter the board should grant an exception because it is impossible to provide adequate security for the bodies at Forest Hill. Smith said the cost to the family of providing security at the cemetery is about $200 a day.

The 42-year-old singer, who died Aug. 16 after an apparent heart attack, was entombed two days after his death. The body of his mother, Gladys Love Presley, was moved from a grave in the cemetery to the mausoleum after her son's body was placed there. Mrs. Presley died Aug. 14, 1958.

The application sought permission for as many as six burial sites at the Meditation Garden, which visitors said is on the south side of the mansion grounds.

The petition said the mansion is surrounded by a high stone wall and guarded 24 hours a day. The family's request is expected to be heard at the board's next meeting Sept. 28.

Since Presley was entombed at Forest Hill, thousands of his fans have visited the cemetery, creating hardships for others who want to visit graves, cemetery officials said.

They Can Use Gator Aid

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) Beside bringing a lot of rain and wind to Louisiana, Hurricane Babe also left city officials here with a problem—a 6½-foot-long alligator in the sewer system.

Authorities turned Wednesday to state wildlife agent Ray Young, who had a ready solution. He climbed into the sewer and chased the critter out into the waiting lassos of police.

"The gator turned a lot in the hole until we got him out and got a wrap around his mouth," said policeman Wallace King. "I don't know if I'd have done it or not."

Cross-country Baby OK

County Birth Aided by Church Group

By RAY ESTRADA

Robert and Linda Okonewski came a long way to have their baby.

The Florida couple fled a judge's court order and journeyed to Fountain Valley where they became the proud parents of a nine-pound, four-ounce baby boy Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Okonewski, 26, who refused blood transfusions on religious grounds, underwent a successful Caesarean operation at Fountain Valley Community Hospital.

Circuit court Judge Stephen Booher had ordered all Florida hospitals and doctors to give Mrs. Okonewski whatever treatment deemed necessary — including transfusions — to perform the delivery.

In a telephone interview Wednesday, Robert Okonewski said he and his wife made their last minute decision to fly to California on the advice of other Jehovah's Witness church members.

Okonewski said he was told doctors in Southern California would be willing to perform the Caesarean section without blood transfusions.

During the operation, a physician cuts into the mother's abdominal and uterine walls to facilitate birth.

"My wife only lost half a pint of blood," said Okonewski, 25, who refused to allow his family to be photographed.

"We didn't know anyone in this area personally but that didn't worry us," he said. Local Jehovah's Witness church members aided the Florida family during their Orange County visit.

Okonewski, who shunned publicity about his flight to California, said Florida doctors had advised Judge Booher that blood transfusions may be necessary for his wife's operation.

Broward General Medical Center Administrator Jack Stephens in Fort Lauderdale said physicians felt Mrs. Okonewski's previous Caesarean section for her first child, her rare RH negative blood type and other complications greatly increased the possible need for blood transfusions.

Stephens said physicians felt they may have had to perform a blood exchange transfusion on the infant since it's mother's was different than the blood type.

"It is unfortunate that what the physicians felt was good medical practice was not consistent with Jehovah's Witness beliefs," said Stephens.

"The physicians felt if we did not give blood in the event it was needed, it would have been malpractice," he added.

"They tended to overdramatize the need for transfusions during the operation," said Okonewski, a West Palm Beach insurance salesman.

Okonewski said administrators at Broward General Medical Center in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. said transfusions would be necessary because of his wife's rare blood type.

Two assistant public defenders were appointed as guardians and attempted to make the fetus a ward of the court.

"I didn't even know about the public defenders until I read about them in a newspaper," said Okonewski who is also the father of a 2-year-old daughter, Stacey.

Okonewski said Florida hospital officials thought Stacey could sue for malpractice upon her eighteenth birthday in the event her mother died in the surgery.

The Okonewskis were willing to sign documents releasing the hospital of all responsibility in the transfusionless operation but officials would not agree.

Okonewski said the decision to fly to California was made "purely out of religious conviction."

"The Bible clearly states in Acts 15:20 that Christians abstain from things polluted by idols and from fornication and from what is strangled and from blood," he said.

"We as Jehovah's Witnesses believe that 'God's sanctity regarding the sacred value of blood is not to be mocked or circumvented in what men deem as critical circumstances,'" said Okonewski.

Dr. Anthony LeDonne, who performed the successful surgery, would not comment on the operation but described it as routine with no complications.

The child, named David Robert, and his mother are reportedly doing well and expect to return to West Palm Beach within a week.

No Small Potatoes

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — A 33-year-old California man has been convicted of embezzling about 400 sacks of potatoes he was trucking from California to Michigan and sold instead in Wyoming.

A U.S. District Court jury on Wednesday found Alfred David Scott of Bakersfield, guilty of embezzlement and theft. Authorities said Scott on May 5 contracted to haul the potatoes by truck from Giumarra Farms of Edison, Calif., to Broekhuizen Produce Company, Decatur, Mich. They said Scott sold the potatoes for $1,500 to Albertsons Grocery Store in Rock Springs.

Canadian Pipeline Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter and Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau announced today agreement on construction of a $10 billion pipeline across the Canadian Yukon to carry natural gas from Alaska to the lower 48 states.

"This joint undertaking will be the largest single private energy project in history," they said in a joint statement issued by the White House.

"MAJOR BENEFITS will accrue to both countries" from the pipeline, Carter and Trudeau said. They said it will give Canada greater ability to develop its own gas reserves, particularly in the frontier regions of the Mackenzie Delta.

"The U.S., in turn, will have the enormous benefit of new natural gas supplies from the North Slope of Alaska at a significantly lower cost-of-service price than could have been achieved through an all-U.S. route," they said.

"AFTER THE agreement is signed, each of us intends to submit our decisions to our respective legislative bodies for the appropriate authorizations and assurances," the President and the prime minister said.

Democratic Whip John Brademas of Indiana said Carter and his advisers told him and other House leaders during a meeting in the Roosevelt Room at the White House that the trans-Canada route "would deliver gas more cheaply and cleanly and equitably than the alternate route" through Alaska.

White House officials said details of the agreement were on their way to Congress as required by law. Congress has 60 days either to let Carter's decision stand or reject it.

The Senate Energy Committee has scheduled a hearing on the pipeline route for Sept. 26.

Brademas said the route through Canada would be acceptable to the House.

CARTER SIGNS PACT
Opposition to Speak

Opposition To Treaty Spotlights

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration has Latin American backing for the new Panama Canal treaty, but the support of the American people and Congress is still in doubt.

After the colorful treaty-signing ceremony, attended by 27 visiting leaders, the spotlight is focusing on opponents of the pact.

TWO LONG-TIME foes of relinquishing control of the Waterway planned to argue their case today before the Senate Judiciary subcommittee on separation of powers: former California Gov. Ronald Reagan and Rep. Daniel Flood (D-Pa.).

With public opinion polls showing only minority support for the treaty, Carter faces an uphill fight in his bid to convince two-thirds of the Senate that the accord is in the national interest.

American officials say the President is expected to use three main arguments in his campaign for the treaty.

HE IS EXPECTED to stress the international support the treaty enjoys, a point amply demonstrated Wednesday night.

The 27 foreign leaders were at the Organization of American States headquarters to watch Carter and Panamanian head of government Omar Torrijos mark the formal end of 13 years of negotiation with the signing.

The officials said Carter will also seek support by campaigning against the present treaty, which dates from the turn of the century.

HE TOLD THE OAS gathering, "That treaty, drafted in a world so different from ours, has become an obstacle to better relations with Latin America."

At a White House dinner for the visiting hemispheric dignitaries after the OAS ceremony, Carter noted that no Panamanian had read the 1903 treaty before it was signed.

The third point Carter will use in the coming weeks focuses on the provision in the treaty guaranteeing the United States the right to ensure canal neutrality even after Panama assumes control of the waterway at the end of this century.

Can't Force Him

Korea Urges Park to Leave

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — The South Korean government tried and failed to persuade Tongsun Park to return to the United States, but it cannot force him to go back, Foreign Minister Park Tong Jin told a news conference today.

The minister said his government at Washington's request urged the wealthy South Korean businessman and rice dealer to return voluntarily to Washington, where he has been indicted on charges of attempting to bribe members of the U.S. Congress. But Park made clear that he has no intention of going to the United States, the foreign minister said.

MEANWHILE, PUBLISHED reports in the Washington Post today said President Carter already has sent one personal letter to South Korean President Park Chung Hee asking for Tongsun Park's return. But a White House spokesman said he knew nothing about such a letter, adding that to his knowledge, the matter "had not yet gotten to the President."

The minister insisted that his government is cooperating as much as it can with American efforts to investigate Park. But he said his government cannot go beyond the limits of international law, established diplomatic practice and South Korean law.

The South Korean government has repeatedly denied that it had any connection with Park's activities or that he was its agent trying to influence members of Congress to support legislation favorable to it. The foreign minister contended today that the case against Park involved only his personal activities as a rice dealer.

THE U.S. STATE Department said on Wednesday that it was trying through diplomatic channels to get the South Korean government to return Park to Washington to face trial. But there is no extradition treaty between the United States and South Korea, and Park told a news conference on Aug. 24 he would not permit American investigators to question him. He also denied the charges against him.

The foreign minister's tone was considerably more conciliatory today than it was in comments reported earlier by the Hapdong news agency.

Hapdong reported that on returning Wednesday night from a

WINS JUDGESHIP VOTE

Recall Vote Ousts Rape-quoted Judge

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Basing her campaign on "the right of everyone to know they will get a fair trial," attorney Moria Krueger defeated Dane County Judge Archie Simonson in a recall election sparked by his courtroom remarks on rape.

Ms. Krueger, 33, parlayed outrage at Simonson's comments linking rape and women's revealing clothing into 27,244 votes and a 35 percent plurality Wednesday. Six candidates were on the ballot in the first judicial recall election in Wisconsin history.

SIMONSON, WHOSE comments from the bench in a May 25 juvenile rape hearing attracted national attention and sparked a 35,000-signature local recall petition drive, received 25 percent with 18,435 votes.

"I'm a little overwhelmed," Ms. Krueger said at an uproarious celebration at a friend's home on the predominantly liberal West Side, which proved to be her stronghold.

The 52-year-old Simonson said, "The verdict is in and I have no comment other than that."

HOWEVER, HE repeated his steadfast campaign stance that he had run not against his opponents but against the notion he should be recalled for what he said.

The judge said his plans for the future are indefinite, but he indicated he probably would not try to regain his seat next spring. "If nothing else, I can practice law," he said.

He also said he might consider joining a local citizen's campaign against the sex-for-sale business.

"IT DEPENDS IF they ask me or not," said Simonson at a local hall after the ballots were counted.

Ms. Krueger refuses to attribute her victory to her link with the women's movement.

"The most important principle is the right of everyone to know they will get a fair trial," she said as the champagne and beer flowed at her victory party. "They aren't going to be judged on their gender or race or any other extraneous factors."

THE JUDGE-ELECT, who fought a "special interest" label during her feminist-led campaign, said she was surprised at the margin of victory in her battle to take over Simonson's $31,000-a-year job.

Election officials said she will be sworn in Sept. 18 to take over the remainder of Simonson's six-year term, which expires in April.

A Little Dry Humor

OH SO DRY: As our region continues to suffer in the worst drought in California history, some quips of odd happenings can bring a few smiles to parched lips.

Consider this one: California winemaker August Sebastiani was asked if he'd ever seen anything worse than the current drought in all his years in the wine industry.

"Yeah, I did," he replied. "Prohibition."

Then there was the scheduled grand opening in Sacramento for a garden of drought-resistant plants. Sponsored by the state Department of Water Resources, the groundbreaking rites had to be canceled.

The ceremony was rained out.

Or, consider the story from the lady just upcast who clearly hadn't absorbed the word on the current drought.

QUESTIONED ON her water-saving practices, she flabbergasted a reporter by telling him she had the same theory about her swimming pool as applied to her bathtub.

She drained the pool after every swim and then re-filled it.

"You never know what diseases people have," she told the numbed newsmen.

Upstate in Livermore, police are searching for some sneaky water hijackers.

It develops that the crooks drove a tanker truck onto the Chabot Junior College campus and made off with 9,000 gallons of water. They repeated the water hijacking by pulling the same stunt with a fire hydrant at the municipal airport.

It has also been reported by the Department of Agriculture that you shouldn't be plagued as much this year by buzzing, biting pesky little mosquito hordes. Because of the drought, mosquito breeding ponds are drying up.

MEANWHILE, there is other good drought news on the agricultural front: Our California Valencia orange crop is expected to be better than ever.

Valencia oranges, you see, like very little rain and no frost. So the weather this year has been perfect for the crop.

When we run out of water, we'll be able to turn to the juice.

And back upstate in Marin County, the parched people are taking water rationing very seriously. One outraged woman squealed to water authorities on her estranged hubby.

She alleged the bad guy, now living alone, had tried to claim her and their two children on his monthly water allotment. Shameful.

ALL THESE LITTLE slices of drought life were reported in the latest issue of Aqueduct magazine, published quarterly by the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California.

But in addition to the quips, the magazine is filled with thoughtful tips on how to grow thirsty but green gardens and other water-saving methods.

You might be able to wheedle a copy by contacting the water people at 1111 Sunset Boulevard, Los Angeles, 90012.

Water, Lemon Juice Cure Fraud?

RIVERSIDE (AP) — A nationwide investigation is under way into the practices of a controversial Murrieta Hot Springs clinic that allegedly promised to cure cancer patients with a diet of water and lemon juice.

The clinic became the center of controversy last month after the parents of 7-year-old Kimberly Cox of Milwaukee, tried to remove her from a Milwaukee hospital where she was being treated for leukemia and take her to the Murrieta clinic. The hospital refused to let her go.

THE CALIFORNIA Department of Consumer Affairs said Wednesday that A. J. Rudd & Associates, which operates the clinic, was being investigated for allegedly practicing medicine without a license, physician incompetence and illegal cancer treatment.

The department said its Board of Medical Quality Assurance was cooperating with other boards across the country in an investigation of at least 780 "testers" trained at the clinic to take urine and saliva samples from his patients.

The "testers" analyze the samples, then send their findings to the Murrieta clinic, which recommends treatment.

There are about 80 "testers" in California and 700 nationally, according to John Urso, regional director of the Consumer Affairs Department in Santa Ana.

"TESTERS" — WHO pay $15,000 for a week-long training course at the clinic — have also been reported in Australia, Japan, Jamaica and Germany, Urso said.

Horace C. Gibson, medical director of the Murrieta clinic, said the cure offered to patients included living on a diet of distilled water and lemon juice and receiving treatment from chiropractors. At least 12 cancer patients — including 8-year-old Eric Wells of San Jose — had been treated at the clinic recently, Gibson said.

Brown Gets Age, Job Bill

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Legislation allowing employees of state and local government to work beyond the mandatory retirement age — if they are still competent — has been sent to Gov. Edmund Brown Jr.

A 66-0 vote in the Assembly Wednesday approved Senate amendments to the measure (AB 658) by Assemblyman Richard Alatorre.

A SIMILAR bill affecting private employees was sent to the governor last week.

AB 568 would not affect police officers and firefighters. Mandatory retirement ages vary from 65 to 70. The state's is 67.

State and local agencies would set standards for employees to prove competence.

The public employe bill would take effect immediately upon the governor's signature. The effective date of Alatorre's private employe bill is Jan. 1.

Senate OKs Tax Delay

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The California Senate has approved a plan to allow senior citizens who earn less than $20,000 a year to postpone payment of their property taxes.

The measure, AB 1070 by Assemblyman Fred Chel, (D-Long Beach), would implement Prop. 13, a ballot measure approved by voters last year.

On a 34-0 vote Wednesday, it was returned to the Assembly for action on amendments.

UNDER THE bill, a homeowner 62 years or older could put off property tax payments until the house was sold or the owner died. The state would take a lien on the property and the taxes would be paid after the house was sold.

Supporters say the measure would prevent senior citizens on limited incomes from being forced out of their homes by skyrocketing property taxes.

Elderly Woman Slain

LONG BEACH (AP) — A 90-year-old woman, Gladys Ott, has been found beaten and strangled in her apartment, less than two weeks after her elderly next-door neighbor suffered the same fate, police said.

Mrs. Ott was found Wednesday by her daughter, who had tried to phone her during the day but had received a busy signal, police said.

On Aug. 29th, the victim's neighbor, Vernita Curtis, 83, was found in a similar condition by her daughter. In both cases there was forced entrance and the residences were ransacked.

LNG Measure Backed

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Assembly has approved a bill to expedite the remote siting of California's first liquefied natural gas terminal — but an attempt is expected to make populated areas eligible.

A 73-4 vote Wednesday sent the compromise bill back to the Senate for action on amendments.

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Legislation to curb the use of children in pornographic films and publications has easily won approval of the state Senate.

The measure, AB 1580, by Assemblyman Jim Ellis (R-San Diego), went back to the Assembly for action on amendment on a 36-0 vote Wednesday.

Families Evacuated

CANOGA PARK (AP) — Some 60 to 70 families briefly evacuated their homes early today after a load of chlorine gas spilled from a truck and began leaking toxic fumes, police said.

Police conducted a voluntary evacuation of families in a 20-block area when two 150-pound cylinders ruptured after falling from the flatbed truck shortly before midnight.

Major Water Users Lead Conservation

Costa Mesa Water District officials are patting themselves on the back after a four-month survey showed district water users saved about 11 percent in water from April to July this year.

But they give the bulk of the credit to the district's five biggest water consumers saying those agencies saved between 14 and 49 percent in water usage.

The City of Costa Mesa saved 22.5 percent over the four month period, the Newport-Mesa Unified School District saved another 14.4 percent, and even CalTrans got in the act, cutting back nearly 49 percent in its district water use—mostly in maintenance of median strips in the city.

The other big water users were the Orange County fairgrounds, which saved 22.5 percent, and Orange Coast College which cut water use 14 percent.

District board members approached the big five users before the survey and asked them to conserve.

The agencies have earned appreciation for their strong conservation efforts, along with a good share of the district's 19,000 water customers.

Impressive Service

Last week, Marian Bergeson ended 13 years of service on Harbor Area school boards by retiring to devote her full time to running for the Republican nomination for the 74th Assembly District.

At her final meeting as a member of the Newport-Mesa Unified School District board of trustees, Mrs. Bergeson was lauded for both the quality and quantity of her efforts on behalf of local schools.

We couldn't top all the nice things that were said by parents, school officials and the remaining school board members, but we would like to add our kudos to the rest.

Without a doubt, Mrs. Bergeson has been one of Newport-Mesa's most effective board members. She has always been well prepared for the board meetings and taken pains to inform herself about issues facing the district.

A gracious woman, her ability to deal fairly with all who appeared before the board was one of her greatest assets. Her presence will be missed.

Money-saving Effort

The Costa Mesa City Council's approval of a contract with a consulting firm for a management study designed to slice excess fat off the city's $700,000-plus annual parks maintenance budget looks like a good investment.

Granted, it was a tough offer to refuse. The Sherman Oaks consulting firm has vowed it will save the city $150,000 in the second year of operation, or the city can have its $65,000 retainer fee returned.

The approval was timely because the city is making a worthy effort to expand its park acreage. Sixteen new acres of parkland are currently under way to add to the existing 164 acres.

However, the cost of maintaining the parks—an estimated $4,285 per year for each acre—quickly mounts up.

If the management team lives up to its claims, the city will then be in a position to use the system on other city departments with little additional cost.

Nuclear Waste Crisis Looms

WASHINGTON—At least 20 nuclear reactors are so swamped with their own radioactive wastes that they will have to close down within seven years unless drastic action is taken.

The Carter administration has prohibited reprocessing used nuclear fuel and many nuclear plants have crammed their storage facilities to capacity with the spent fuel rods. A nuclear reactor must shut down if its lethal wastes cannot be stored or shipped away.

The nation's nuclear plants, meanwhile, are running out of room and time. An investigation by the Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA) has found several nuclear reactors with a critical oversupply of spent fuel.

For example, South Carolina's H.B. Robinson plant, operated by Carolina Power and Light, will be forced to shut down by February 1978 if it is not permitted to ship out its deadly radioactive wastes. A company spokesman admitted to us: "We're in trouble. Time is of the essence."

ANOTHER REACTOR on the problem list is located in La Crosse, Wis. The chaotic federal nuclear policy, complained the plant manager, is "complicating the nuclear industry." Several other nuclear facilities are also caught in the squeeze.

The nuclear industry, meanwhile, is grinding to a standstill while it waits for President Carter to produce a comprehensive nuclear policy. In a private letter to the president, Rep. John Moss (D-Calif.) has warned that "the earliest an industry spent fuel storage facility could be built and licensed is 1983. Yet by 1983, 30 reactors will have lost the ability to control their nuclear wastes properly."

THIS, stressed Moss, will result in the "imminent threat of nuclear reactor shutdowns."

In fairness, government experts claim the situation has improved from a dire emergency of a couple of years ago. But radioactive wastes continue to stockpile while storage space shrinks.

FARM EXPORTS: The Foreign Agriculture Service (FAS), an arm of the Agriculture Dept., sends both government men and businessmen abroad to promote the sale of U.S. farm products.

In all fairness, it must be said that these traveling pitchmen have been successful in boosting foreign sales of ripe tobacco leaf, surplus wheat and other commodities grown in the United States.

They haven't been quite as successful, however, as the FAS likes to claim. Last year, the agency inflated its claims with phony statistics—the better to justify its $40 million budget.

THERE WAS the matter, for example, of cattle exports to Hungary. A staff investigation for Chairman Charles Vanik (D-Ohio) of the House Trade subcommittee, found that Hungary is buying less cattle from the United States.

But the FAS solemnly assured Congress Hungary is purchasing more U.S. cattle than ever. For this, the agency took full credit.

It turned out, however, that the FAS had various statistics to choose from. The Economic Research Service, which keeps track of livestock exports, reported that 597 American steers reached Hungary in 1976.

The Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service keeps its own count of the cattle that is shipped overseas. By its arithmetic, 1,245 head of cattle made it to Hungary.

Neither figure was much to boast about. The FAS, therefore, seized upon some private statistics kept by the Holstein-Friesian Assn., a huge cattle cooperative. Triumphant, the FAS reported to Congress that the cooperative had exported 6,300 cattle to the Hungarian market. But the agency couldn't even get the private figures right. The surprised cooperative had reported shipping only 3,326 steers to Hungary.

IF CONGRESS has been misled about the amount of U.S. beef served to hungry Hungarians last year, the FAS is not repentant. An official told us the agency intended to "ignore" the congressional investigation. He said the FAS was constantly being investigated by Congress, without detriment. It is difficult, he added, to make sure all the figures are accurate.

But congressional critics are wondering why the taxpayers need to spend $40 million to promote agricultural sales overseas. The United States dominates agricultural trade and shouldn't need touring promoters to tout its beef and barley.

"It's a little bit," Vanik told us, "like Saudi Arabia advertising the benefits of its oil."

ELECTRONIC RIPOFFS — Computerized banking is becoming the new rage and may eventually replace cash and credit cards. In the electronic age, consumers will be able to purchase groceries by transferring funds electronically from their bank to the supermarket.

But under the present state of the art, computerized banking leaves the customers vulnerable to electronic ripoffs. One woman lost her life savings of $3,800 when her plastic bank card was stolen. Her account was emptied out by the enterprising thief. But under the current laws, she can't recover a dime.

INTERNAL staff memos of the National Commission on Electronic Fund Transfers warn, meanwhile, that the system could "cause severe hardship to consumers." If a citizen loses money because of "human or computer error," the documents note, "it would be his word against the bank's."

Boyd/Umbrellas

By L.M. BOYD

Another way in which the more critical Britisher judges a gentleman is by how sleekly he furls his broly. What, you've never seen a gentleman furl a broly? That's "fold up an umbrella." Umbrella comes from the Italian meaning "little shadow," let's throw that in, too.

When that Nazi bigwig Hermann Goering took cyanide during his war crimes trial at Nuremberg after World War II, he left a note "to the German people." Allied authorities impounded it, saying its message wouldn't be disclosed until 20 years later. That 20 years has come and gone and then some. Client asks if the letter has ever been made public. Don't know, don't know. Most mysterious. Have you ever heard of its disclosure?

Q. "Did Civil War soldiers have nude pinup pictures, too?"

A. Some. There were highly prized French Daguerrotypes of nudes by 1840. Most of the pinups, though, were fashion drawings with a lot of hoops and ruffles. And these were in tents all over.

Q. "Why was the first week in November picked for national elections?"

A. Because it came after the harvests and before the roads got too gummed up to make it to town. An 1845 law set the time.

Dactylogy is the art of communicating ideas with the fingers. Winston Churchill's two-fingered V for Victory sign is one example. The cutthroat drawing of the forefinger across the Adam's apple is another. And a third is the old Roman let-him-live signal of thumbs up. Any others?

Customer contends the greatest migration in history occurred between 1800 and 1875 when 7.5 million immigrants moved from the British Isles to the New World. Maybe so. But that's worthy of debate. I'll warrant that the migration from the farms to the cities during the last 50 years was somewhat greater.

Q. "What do boiler-makers make, besides boilers?"

A. Anything in steel that's watertight. Like ships, tanks, pipelines.

Q. "How many women were among those original 100 Jamestown settlers?"

A. None. ("I'll send for you, baby.") The women came later.

Planned Parenthood Accusation False

To the Editor: Supervisor Laurence Schmit's letter to the editor of Aug. 29 deserves a reply.

The Supervisor stated that Planned Parenthood promotes anti-family activities and promiscuous sex among teenagers. As president of Planned Parenthood of Orange County, I want to assure your readers that this is not true.

OUR BYLAWS state that the purpose of our organization is "to provide leadership for the universal acceptance of family planning as an essential element of responsible parenthood, stable family life and social harmony through education for family planning, the provision of the necessary services and the promotion of research in the field of human reproduction."

Our organization consists of dedicated and hard working volunteers and staff who provide clinic and education services in a cost effective, humane manner. Tax funds are supplemented by private donations from generous Orange Countians who agree with us that every child should be a wanted child.

SUPERVISOR Schmit persists in waving our literature around out of context in order, I assume, to stir up the bleak fantasies of evil imagined by the few fanatics who support him on this issue.

Contrary to what he and his friends have stated, we vocally condemn promiscuous, exploitative sex. We beg sexually active people to bring babies into the world only as members of a family unit with a supportive father and mother.

Supervisor Schmit, incidentally, has done nothing during his term of office to support, strengthen or assist the family unit. He should be very glad Planned Parenthood exists to struggle with the issue.

Shame!

To the Editor: Shame on those in high governmental places who would dare criticize former President Richard Nixon for allegedly keeping for himself some valuable gifts that belong to the U.S. government!

Nixon, it is reported from San Clemente, is "deeply hurt" by these dastardly accusations.

Nixon, while President, showed all of us that he is so honest, clean, wholesome and forthright that it should be incomprehensible for anyone to even consider accusing him of doing something that is not completely above board.

Shame on his nasty accusers! DAVID C. HENLEY

Says It All

To the Editor: Re: Supervisor Laurence J. Schmit's letter in the Aug. 29 paper.

The first part of his first sentence says it all.

"I have just had the opportunity to read your editorial of July 21..."

That's just about par for the supervisor, it seems. A little bit behind everywhere and in everything. NORA LEHMAN

Mobile Meals

To the Editor: In response to the Article titled "FISH Wheels Meals," written by Cheryl Romo, which appeared on the front of the Food section of Aug. 31, we would like to clarify some of the statements made.

This meals project is not Meals on Wheels, but is Mobile Meals and was started in November, 1974, by the Socialist International of Newport Harbor Area, in conjunction with FISH helping volunteer drivers and Hoag Memorial Hospital preparing the meals.

This meals project is not federally funded. Our club carries the financial burden of this project through money raised from our Ways and Means projects throughout the year. We purchase the necessary hot and cold carriers, accounting, application and routing forms, holiday tray favors and birthday cakes for the recipients, etc. Our club also handles all the book-keeping and routing. The cost to the recipient of $3 per day is paid to Hoag Memorial Hospital and covers their cost for the food and labor.

The FISH organization interviews applicants and supplies volunteer drivers to deliver the meals. St. Joachim Church of Costa Mesa also provides volunteer drivers for one of the meal routes. Thank you for letting us correct the errors in this article for your readers.

JEAN CONNER, President Soroptimist International of Newport Harbor Area

While the mobile meals program is federally funded at other hospitals, it is not federally funded at Hoag. — Editor

Age Irrelevant

To the Editor: I enjoyed reading your interview with Van France, which appeared in the Sunday, Aug. 28 Pilot. It was the gutsy and positive approach to life and work which he expressed which prompted this letter regarding Ms. Hyman's column in "The Weekender" on the South Coast Repertory Theater's recent production and her interview with Burgess Meredith.

Her description of Mr. Meredith evoked images of a very old party who had been rolled out of his convalescent home on a gurney, lifted into a wheelchair so he could be pushed onto the stage in order to deliver weakened-in-a-feeble, halting voice. I wonder how one so vital and able as Burgess Meredith, so sought-after as both actor and director in theater, movies and television, can possibly be described by her as "still energetic and agile despite his 67 years."

First, who cares if he's 67, 37 or 87? He's talented and experienced and was chosen to do a job among many others, presumably talented, regardless of age. What has age to do with ability and experience anyway? This message, this subliminal idea that it is newsworthy that an individual is ambulatory at senior citizen status, must be eliminated from the media and from our collective consciousness.

Second, equal rights to life, liberty and freedom to work and express oneself creatively must be extended to all of our citizens, regardless of age—whether 50, 60 or, heaven forbid, even 70 years of age or older. (Watch it there,

Cary Grant, Ruth Gordon, Will Geer, Margaret Mead, et al!)

By the way, Ms. Hyman mentioned that it was Mr. Meredith's first visit to Costa Mesa. I suggest that if he ever sees the article that visit may well be his last. ESTELLE O. WEBB

Business Jets

To the Editor:

Your readers, particularly those in the flight pattern of the Orange County Airport, will have noted the recent settlement of the suit brought against the County by Mr. Harry Rinker. This settlement, once again, highlights the major noise problem caused by the Orange County Airport, and sharpens the wits of other homeowners whose lifestyle is being adversely affected by the continued expansion of airport activity.

In this respect, it is high time that we began to focus on the expansion of business jets. Recent figures published indicate that business jet activity increased from 1,523 take-offs and landings for the second quarter of 1976 to 3,888 for the same period in 1977.

THE INFLUX of companies of the magnitude of Fluor, with their special helicopter facilities, and other similar companies capable of making substantial investments in private aircraft, are making our lives a misery.

Most of us have accepted commercial air traffic, as a necessary evil and a useful transportation system, to help the people in Orange County avoid having to face up to the realities of Los Angeles International Airport, but it is time to pause and take a good, hard look at our attitude to business jet activity which, in the opinion of the writer, are far more noisy and bothersome during take-off than the commercial airlines. DAVID A. W. YOUNG

Letters from readers are welcome. The right to condense letters to fit space or eliminate letters is reserved. Letters of 300 words or less will be given preference. All letters must include signature and mailing address but names may be withheld on request if sufficient reason is apparent. Poetry will not be published.

Dear Gloomy Gus. It's wonderful that the little taxpayers can contribute to Harry Rinker's wealth for his annoyance of jets flying out of Orange County Airport. R.F.H. Rooster Cock O' Walk BROOKINGS, Ore. (AP) — A speedy banty rooster named "Chicken Wild" blitzed nearly 100 other feathered foes to win the third annual world chicken race championship.

Cheered by 2,000 spectators, the triumphant clucker clocked 1.856 seconds on the 100-foot course race, which is liberally sprinkled with chicken feed to add to the suspense.

THE CHICKENS are thrown into the air at the blast of the starter's pistol and chased to the finish line by owners who sometimes look like chickens with their heads cut off.

Dennis Coit, race chairman, said chicken racing is an art that has evolved two definite schools of thought.

ONE IS THAT chickens run best when loved, respected and treated as equals.

The other is that the "fastest chicken is the "scareddest chicken."

Coit said a rooster trained in the later category competed in last year's race and beat the other birds silly.

COIT SAID the owner confided that every day for two weeks before the race, she would grab the rooster and shake it three or four times by the neck, not to hurt it, but just to get it mad. She then would knock it on the head and ruffle its feathers to get the clucker really incensed.

Powell's Feelings Nothing New

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jody Powell, the White House press secretary, confessed that he feels he has been barraged with sticks and stones as he has fielded questions about budget chief Bert Lance. When a reporter asked how long Powell harbored this feeling, the Carter spokesman demonstrated that his sense of humor has not deserted him.

"Actually," Powell replied, "it stems from an incident at age 2 when I repeated a statement my father had made and my mother washed out my mouth with soap. I stated I did not think that was fair inasmuch as my father had said the same thing. She agreed to take it up with my father when he came home, and he whipped my fanny. And ever since that time I have had the feeling that the world was indeed not fair."

He-man a Myth

Ideal No Longer 'Mr. Muscle'

SWANSEA, Wales (AP) — Mr. Muscle who struts along the beach flexing biceps and kicking sand in Skinny Weaking's face is no longer Betty Bathing Beauty's ideal man, says an American psychologist who specializes in studying love.

The traditional He-Man ideal glorified on everything from celluloid to cereal boxes is a myth today, says Dr. Sally Beck, a professor at Butler University in Indianapolis.

DR. BECK CONDUCTED a study involving 115 female undergraduates who were shown a series of male and female profile silhouettes. She hoped to determine which kinds of physique carry the most attraction.

The results of the survey indicate women are most attracted by men with small derrieres, Dr. Beck told 200 participants at the International Conference on Love and Attraction here Wednesday.

"Gentlemen," she told male delegates, "you may be sitting on your greatest asset."

WOMEN MOST PREFER a moderate-sized male with small buttocks, she said, while "the Mr. Atlas physique is given only slight endorsement."

Her 1977 study supports previous research which indicated only 1 percent of women interviewed report sexual arousal when seeing muscular " chests, shoulders and arms, said the psychologist.

She was one of nearly a dozen persons who presented papers on the second day of the four-day conference attended by scientists and academics from Europe and North America.

"LARGE MALES ARE preferred by women who enjoy sports, physical activity, and see themselves as less traditionally feminine," said Dr. Beck. "Moderate-sized males appeal to more traditionally feminine women who have interests centered in the home. The small male is selected by reserved women who come from higher backgrounds where thinness is highly valued."

Women attracted to men with small bottoms and large chests have a desire to achieve, especially academically, she added, while women who prefer men with smaller chests and legs tend to be passive and indecisive.

"Gentlemen, you may be sitting on your greatest asset."

HER STUDY ALSO indicated women admire other women who have small, trim figures, while a similar study conducted on male undergraduates indicates men are most attracted to women who have generous bust sizes.

Men with that preference were found to be more aggressive and independent than males who prefer women with smaller chest measurements.

"Men who choose large females are not emotionally calm and have little interest in academic achievement," said Dr. Beck. "Males attracted to larger female buttocks show a poor self-concept."

'Cuckoo's Nest' Revisited

Truck Crushes Carnie

Liddy's Evasive

Documentary Shows Comparative Scenes

By JAY SHARBUTT

LOS ANGELES (AP) — If you saw "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest" and wondered if the movie accurately depicted life in a mental hospital, you'll definitely want to see public TV's "Inside the Cuckoo's Nest" (Channel 28, tonight at 9.)

You might be relieved after seeing this 90-minute documentary, produced by KQED in San Francisco for airing over public TV's national hookup.

FILMED AT OREGON STATE Hospital, where the 1975 movie starring Jack Nicholson and Louise Fletcher was made, the show's aim is to study if what we saw in the movie was the McCoy or merely good drama.

Aiding the study with occasional narration and explanation is Dr. Dean Brooks, who played the head of the movie's mental hospital and in real life is superintendent of the Oregon State Hospital in Salem.

I suspect some in his field will view his participation in tonight's show as a belated effort to counter whatever bad image of mental hospitals Nicholson's powerful movie caused.

BUT I'D CALL IT a valuable effort to help lay viewers understand the actual treatment of mental illness, at least in his hospital, and in the process show how it differs from the make-believe of the movie.

The program starts slowly, with various comments by several supporting actors in the movie about their experiences making the film. Miss Fletcher, who won an Oscar for her portrayal of stern, authoritarian Nurse Ratched, also discusses her role briefly.

Bear with all this, because the show immediately improves as it juxtaposes key scenes from "Cuckoo's Nest" with what KQED's film crew shot at the hospital.

EXAMPLE: THE MOVIE SHOWED patients docilely lined up for their daily medication. They weren't told what it was, but it clearly was dispensed to control them, not help them.

The "Inside" view: Patients know what they're getting; why and discuss it with a hospital "treatment team" of experts.

STARRING ROLE Jack Nicholson

DISCUSSES FILM Louise Fletcher

One of the strongest, most terrifying scenes of "Cuckoo's Nest" showed Nicholson receiving electro-shock treatments.

Strong drama, but technically wrong, Dr. Brooks says. The patients don't get the treatment cold, as in the movie, but are first anesthetized and given drugs to reduce convulsions.

AN ENSUING SCENE OF SUCH a treatment is an extremely disturbing fight, but infinitely more humane than what folks saw in "Cuckoo's Nest."

You may worry that "Inside" grossly invades the privacy of the patients it shows. But KQED says no filming was done until the patients, their doctors and the patients' families all gave permission.

AND, SAYS EXECUTIVE PRODUCER Zev Putterman, all the patients had the right, after seeing the completed show, to delete the scenes in which they appeared. None did, he added.

The show was financed by grants totaling $130,000, he says, from the National Institute of Mental Health, the Maurice Falk Fund and the Oregon Committee for the Humanities.

OLATHE, Kan. (AP) — A carnival worker sleeping under a truck was crushed to death when the truck was moved by the driver, police said.

Dead is Kery Lin Dey, 24, of San Francisco, where she and her husband, David, were working with the Hales Shows carnival, which was being set up for a weekend celebration in Olathe.

Police said the woman and her husband were sleeping in sleeping bags under the truck when the accident occurred.

Investigators said David Dey managed to move away from the truck but the noise from a freight train nearby drowned out his yells to the driver. Part of a tire passed over Dey's foot and he was slightly injured.

DANBURY, Conn. (AP) — Standing outside the federal prison here, Gordon Liddy, with his wife, loaded cartons and attache cases containing his prison possessions and papers into the trunk and back seat of the brown Ford Pinto with Maryland license plates.

A reporter asked where he was going. "EAST OF THE SUN and west of the moon," he replied.

No one was sure what he meant, except that "East of the Sun, West of the Moon" is a ballad that Frank Sinatra made popular many years ago with the Tommy Dorsey orchestra.

His wife, Frances, dressed in a two-piece, light blue fall outfit, had come to take him home to Oxon Hill, Md. Her husband, mastermind of the bungled Watergate burglary, was a free man after 52½ months in prison — 18 of them for refusing to tell a federal grand jury about Watergate.

30 Days Starts Anytime

DEAR PAT: I have found an apartment that I like much better than my present one. Do I have to give 30 days notice on the date that corresponds with the rent due date, or can it be on any date just as long as 30 days notice is given?

D.W., Fountain Valley
Your notice of departure does not have to correspond to the rent due date, according to section 1946 of the civil code. You can pay rent on the first day of the month, give 30 days notice on the 10th, and move out the next month on the 10th. Of course, you still have to pay the first 10 days rent for that month. You do have to pay for every additional day you remain on the premises. If you move out early, you should try to make an arrangement with your landlord that if someone else moves in, the new tenant will pay the remaining portion of the rent, and you will receive that portion back.

Odor Washed Away

DEAR PAT: I've often noticed a very strong odor after washing new, dark-colored clothing. I've had trouble getting rid of this odor, and wonder if there isn't something I could do to solve this problem.

D.M., Newport Beach

The home adviser's office of the Cooperative Extension says that not much can be done to make this odor disappear until the initial heavy concentration of dye or chemicals used in some permanent-press fabrics becomes "washed out." Pre-soak products may help some, as will borax added to the wash water or soaking in a solution of fabric softener and water.

Support Not Affected

DEAR PAT: My ex-husband has told me that he plans to file for bankruptcy. Will his action cut off my spousal support payments?

N.H., Huntington Beach
Spousal support obligations are not dischargeable in bankruptcy, just as certain attorney fees of the person receiving spousal support can't be wiped out in bankruptcy. This is a tricky area of the law, however, and you'd be wise to consult an attorney if problems arise.

Women Lead Men In Family Killings

CHICAGO (AP)—For the first time, more women than men killed their spouses in Chicago last year, police statistics showed.

In 1976, 35 women, compared to 28 men, killed their spouses. In 1975, 31 wives were charged with domestic-related homicides compared to 44 men.

Family service specialists in the police department said self-defense against abusive, violent or drunken husbands frequently is listed as the cause of such killings. They said they rarely saw cases of bullying wives picking on husbands.

"With more handguns available today, and women much more independent, it isn't surprising we're seeing more of this," said a police spokesman.

Judges Nixed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) California judges have been barred from making certain comments designed to break up a deadlocked criminal case jury. The state Supreme Court ruled judges cannot use the so-called "dynamite charge" in instructing juries having trouble reaching a verdict.

From Sublime... Indoor Outhouse

SOUTH LAKE TAHOE (AP) — Commercial jets would be banned from nighttime takeoffs at Lake Tahoe Airport under an ordinance introduced by El Dorado County Supervisors.

The proposal calls for a ban on commercial jet takeoffs from 8 p.m. to 8 a.m., but permits landings from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. when the FAA tower is operating.

THE BOARD voted 4-1 to introduce and hold a public hearing on the ordinance Sept. 27.

Earlier this summer, supervisors passed an emergency ordinance prohibiting commercial and private jet operations from 8 p.m. to 8 a.m.

IT WENT into effect after the board became aware that Pacific Southwest Airlines PSA was flying charter 727 jets into the airport.

PSA has since canceled charter flights into Tahoe.

If the proposed ordinance is adopted, it will allow private jets three more hours to land at the airport.

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — Dr. Larry Eld and his family might be the only people in Boise, or anywhere, with an indoor outhouse.

Eld decided last year to have a friend design an extension of his house into his back yard. The addition included a master bedroom, family room and bathroom.

THE BATHROOM included a sunken bathtub, with an outdoor garden, accessible through a sliding patio door, next to it. When Mrs. Eld decided she wanted privacy, the answer was wooden blinds surrounding the garden.

"I was trying to figure out how to make this a masculine thing... my private toilet," Eld said.

SO THE INDOOR privy was made of 75-year old wood and has the traditional half-moon on the door. Shingles were hand-cut and the outside lamp was made from an old jar.

"You might call this going from the sublime to the ridiculous," said Eld. "When we show people our house we show them the new addition and then lead them to our outhouse."

Bear's Mauling Horror Story for Newlywed

STANFORD (AP) — Cynthia Dusel Bacon knew there were bears in the wilderness region near Fairbanks, Alaska, where she had worked three summers for the U.S. Geological Service. But she had never seen one.

Suddenly, here was this bear just 30 feet away in some brush, looking at me. The 31-year-old woman recalled Wednesday from her bed at the Stanford Medical Center where the newlywed is recovering from a mauling which claimed both arms.

THE 170-POUND BEAR started for her, she recalled, circling. It looped behind and knocked her to the dirt.

The first bite was on the neck. Next, Mrs. Dusel-Bacon said, "she began working on my right arm, ripping the flesh off. I played completely dead all the while, offering no resistance."

The bear dragged its prey over rocks and brush, down a slope.

"EVERY ONCE IN a while the bear seemed to get tired and let go and I could hear her panting in my ear," Mrs. Dusel-Bacon said.

The bear crushed her head and arms. It concentrated on the right arm first, biting and then licking the jagged wound.

"I tried to reach my radio in my knapsack with my left hand," Mrs. Dusel-Bacon said, "but it was latched into the pocket and I couldn't get at it."

"I JUST LAY THERE and thought, 'What a tragedy, six months married and what a way to go.'"

As the bear continued to pull Dusel-Bacon over rough country, the hardy woman began to cry out in pain.

The animal sat down a few feet away, allowing its victim to reach the radio and message a nearby helicopter.

AS THE CHOPPER began a search for the woman which would take 10 minutes, the bear resumed its attack.

Jaws snapped down once — hard — on Mrs. Dusel-Bacon's head. The bear chewed viciously at her other arm.

Frustrated in his effort, the helicopter pilot returned to base and picked up another geologist to help in the hunt.

FINALLY, AFTER 50 MINUTES of horror, Mrs. Dusel-Bacon was spared. The bear became interested in the rations in her backpack, allowing the mangled woman to send out a homing signal to her rescuers. The helicopter swooped down on the attack site and scared off the bear.

Mrs. Bacon's left arm immediately was amputated six inches below the shoulder. She lost her right arm two weeks later when what had appeared to be a successful skin graft became infected.

THE BEAR EVENTUALLY was shot by Alaskan officials, who learned it was a mother with cub. The Alaskan Fish and Game Department said it was the worst bear attack in five years.

Today, three weeks after her hideous encounter with a bear, Mrs. Dusel-Bacon is in good spirits. She lost her arms but not her life.

"I made it to hell and back," she said.

Ted Turner Prepares for Cup Defense

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Ted Turner grew up with sailing in his blood.

"My father got me a dinghy when I was a kid, 11 years old," said the 38-year-old millionaire. "Just the way some parents buy their kids a bat or a glove and they go on to play ball, I started sailing."

"But, come to think of it, the ball and bat wouldn't have been a bad idea either."

TURNER, BEST known as the outspoken owner of the Atlanta Braves, has been making waves this summer with Courageous, a 12-meter sloop that successfully defended the America's Cup in 1974 and will defend again this year.

While the Braves won't be making the playoffs for a while, Turner believes this may be the year he takes the World Series of sailing.

"I'm very happy with Courageous, its performance, and the crew," he said. "I wouldn't make any changes. I'm, shall we say, optimistic."

COME NEXT Tuesday, Turner will be again at the helm of Courageous against challenger Australia, which represents the Royal Perth Yacht Club from western Australia.

I'M OPTIMISTIC
Skipper Ted Turner

Nov. 19, 1938. He started sailing in 1950 and competing shortly thereafter. He was commodore of the Brown University Yacht Club.

In 1966, Turner won the Southern Ocean Racing Championship and was picked as skipper of unsuccessful 1974 defense candidate, Mariner. He earlier won national championships in smaller boats in 1963 and 1965.

A THREE-TIME winner of the United States' 5.5-meter championship, Turner also has taken the Scandinavian Gold Cup twice, been named yachtsman of the year twice and World Ocean Racing Champion once (1972).

Outspoken in many of his pursuits, Turner added color to the 1977 America's Cup races in a running feud with Lowell North, San Diego sailmaker and former skipper of Enterprise.

The squabble began when North refused to provide sails for Courageous and intensified when North entered a protest against Turner's sailing tactics.

"EVERYONE KNOWS what a liar North is," Turner said. "He proved that when he promised to sell me sails and wouldn't."

Now, however, Turner is no longer interested in North sails. In fact, he says he never really wanted them. It was a matter of principle, with Turner saying 12-meter racing is an amateur sport where cooperation should be understood.

North and rival sailmaker Ted Hood, whose yacht Independence preceded Enterprise in being eliminated from the defense, hoped to gain a financial windfall in their sailmaking businesses by winning the prestigious America's Cup.

HOWEVER, TURNER says there is no financial gain if he wins. The Braves are doing okay financially and Turner Communications Corp. of Atlanta is a money making bonanza.

"I'm just in it for my own personal satisfaction," he said. "I want to do a good job and do whatever I can to help the New York Yacht Club. I'm not going to make money off this."

"I'm strictly an amateur, the last of the Corinthians."

Tax Delinquents On Wanted Posters

BOSTON (AP) — The city is planning to embarrass some of its prominent residents into paying delinquent property tax bills by splashing their pictures and tax bills on wanted posters in various public spots.

Details of the poster campaign are still sketchy, according to George Regan Jr., Mayor Kevin H. White's press secretary, but the handbill-size posters were expected to be up this week. Possible locations for the posters include city hall and the downtown Park Square billboard.

REGAN, WHO WOULD not identify any tax delinquents, said putting pictures on wanted posters would be harsh. But he said it would get the point across — that the city is serious about collecting an estimated $50 million owed in property taxes for the last three fiscal years.

Boston has recently used several tactics to get that point across, all of which have been somewhat successful.

LAST WEEK, CITY officials, along with a pilot and television crews, tried to confiscate attorney F. Lee Bailey's helicopter at the Plymouth Airport. Bailey owes the city $18,000 in back taxes for his downtown law offices. The plan was to land it at City Hall Plaza and display it as testimony of the city's determination to collect its taxes.

Bailey apparently caught wind of the plan and locked the helicopter in a garage. However, his office did come up with a $5,000 payment.

Also last week, the city confiscated two taxi cabs whose owners have large, outstanding tax bills. One owner, who owes $16,000, immediately paid $6,000 and promised quick payment of the remainder.

THE MOST SUCCESSFUL effort to collect taxes was last spring when the city released and the Boston Globe published the names of 6,000 delinquent taxpayers. Tax Collector Newell Cook estimated that action brought the city about $2 million in the final six weeks of the last fiscal year.

Meanwhile, in nearby Revere the mayor was the first resident embarrassed by efforts to get the names of delinquent taxpayers publicized.

Mayor William G. Reinsteine gave the city tax collector a check for $4,017.92 a few days after the Lynn Evening Item reported that he had not paid last year's property tax bill.

Reinsteine told the Boston Globe he had forgotten about the bill until the Item printed the story.

U.S. Employee Union Rejects Military

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Federation of Government Employees says members have voted four-to-one against trying to bring military men and women into the union.

The idea had drawn strong opposition in Congress and the Pentagon.

A Pentagon spokesman said, "We are satisfied with the decision."

The union's president, Kenneth T. Blaylock, said that the poll results should not be seen as a rejection of the idea that military personnel need such representation.

But, he added, "it is my intention to live by this decision. . . . Press speculation to the contrary, we will not be acting to organize military personnel now or at any time in the foreseeable future."

He said that the rejection of his pro-organizing view seemed to be based on a feeling among the union's members "that we should first organize a larger percentage of the federal civilian work force."

A ballot on the military-union question was mailed to each of the AFGE's 1,566 locals in May.

More than 60 percent of the union's membership was represented in the tally of 151,582 votes "no" and 38,764 "yes," a spokesman said. Blaylock said he personally feels that the military needs a union.

"I believe that eroding conditions for military personnel — cutbacks in pay, medical benefits, subsistence and many others — will force military personnel into a more militant posture," he said.

Sen. John Stennis (D-Miss.), chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said that despite the union's vote he will continue to seek passage of a bill to prohibit military unions. The bill has been unanimously approved by the committee but not acted on by the Senate.

The Savings loan

What it is.
How it works.
Where you get it.

Here are the facts. Savers who have certificate accounts at Mutual Savings can borrow up to 90% of their savings account balance without incurring the usual substantial interest penalty required by federal regulations for early withdrawal.

EXAMPLE: You have a certificate with us earning at the annual rate of 7 3/4% ($1,000 minimum, 6 year term). A need arises — vacation, new car, emergency, whatever — for you to have some cash. You can borrow up to 90% from us at only 8 3/4% Annual Percentage Rate, while the account continues to earn at 7 3/4%. A difference of only 1%. Similar arrangements can be made on any of our term savings certificates.

The advantage is obvious. You can afford to put your savings in a certificate that pays considerably higher interest than a passbook account without having to concern yourself about the required penalty should you need funds from the account before it matures. Naturally, Mutual Savings accounts are insured to $40,000 by an agency of the federal government.

Compare where you presently save. All savings institutions are not the same. You will find it easy to open an account at Mutual Savings since we can arrange to transfer your funds from wherever they are now located. Call or visit any of our 16 Southern California offices for further details.

A Pentagon spokesman said, "We are satisfied with the decision."

The union's president, Kenneth T. Blaylock, said that the poll results should not be seen as a rejection of the idea that military personnel need such representation.

But, he added, "it is my intention to live by this decision. . . . Press speculation to the contrary, we will not be acting to organize military personnel now or at any time in the foreseeable future."

He said that the rejection of his pro-organizing view seemed to be based on a feeling among the union's members "that we should first organize a larger percentage of the federal civilian work force."

A ballot on the military-union question was mailed to each of the AFGE's 1,566 locals in May.

More than 60 percent of the union's membership was represented in the tally of 151,582 votes "no" and 38,764 "yes," a spokesman said. Blaylock said he personally feels that the military needs a union.

"I believe that eroding conditions for military personnel — cutbacks in pay, medical benefits, subsistence and many others — will force military personnel into a more militant posture," he said.

Sen. John Stennis (D-Mass.), chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said that despite the union's vote he will continue to seek passage of a bill to prohibit military unions. The bill has been unanimously approved by the committee but not acted on by the Senate.

The Savings loan

What it is.
How it works.
Where you get it.

Here are the facts. Savers who have certificate accounts at Mutual Savings can borrow up to 90% of their savings account balance without incurring the usual substantial interest penalty required by federal regulations for early withdrawal.

EXAMPLE: You have a certificate with us earning at the annual rate of 7 3/4% ($1,000 minimum, 6 year term). A need arises — vacation, new car, emergency, whatever — for you to have some cash. You can borrow up to 90% from us at only 8 3/4% Annual Percentage Rate, while the account continues to earn at 7 3/4%. A difference of only 1%. Similar arrangements can be made on any of our term savings certificates.

The advantage is obvious. You can afford to put your savings in a certificate that pays considerably higher interest than a passbook account without having to concern yourself about the required penalty should you need funds from the account before it matures. Naturally, Mutual Savings accounts are insured to $40,000 by an agency of the federal government.

Compare where you presently save. All savings institutions are not the same. You will find it easy to open an account at Mutual Savings since we can arrange to transfer your funds from wherever they are now located. Call or visit any of our 16 Southern California offices for further details.

Clerk Takeover Delayed

Both Sides Get Time To Resolve Differences

By GARY GRANVILLE
Of The Daily Pilot Staff

Orange County's Superior Court judges have agreed to delay their planned administrative takeover of the clerks who serve their courts, according to Board of Supervisors Chairman Thomas Riley.

The board chairman said the 30-day amendment to a court order that would transfer the clerks from County Clerk William St John's domain to the judges "will give both sides time to resolve their differences."

BOTH SIDES IN THIS CASE are the judges, who say court efficiency will improve with the transfer, and St John, who says the judges have no right to take his clerks from him.

On the sidelines and generally strongly in favor of the move from St John's control are about 100 clerks who tend to Superior Court needs.

Tuesday Riley met with court officials and a team of county administrators in an attempt to head off litigation over the dispute.

At the meeting were county Administrative Officer Robert Thomas, county Personnel Director Bert Scott, county Counsel Adrian Kuyper and Supervisor Philip Anthony.

Also present were Byron McMillan, presiding judge of the Superior Court, and court executive officer Les McCartney.

RILEY CALLED the meeting "a very fruitful exploration of the problems the (court transfer) order seeks to solve and the necessity for proper planning of any administrative and organizational changes."

The Newport Beach supervisor said those at Tuesday's meeting agreed to form a joint committee "to explore the matter in depth and to propose practical steps to accomplish the desired goals."

St John was not at the meeting because he was ill, Riley said.

THE COUNTY CLERK HAS BEEN an outspoken critic of the changeover, which is based on recent legislation empowering courts to take full control of the clerks who serve them.

Armed with a county counsel's opinion that said the planned clerk takeover might be illegal, St John said he will take the issue to a higher court if the judges persist.

The county clerk is an elected official who doubles in Orange County as clerk of the Superior Court.

HB to Delay League Dues

Contending it pays too much money for the amount of influence it has, Huntington Beach has decided for the time being not to pay its 1977 assessment to the Orange County League of Cities.

The action means that unless the city has a change of heart and pays annual dues of $3,500 by the end of this month, it will not be permitted to vote at future league meetings.

MAYOR RON PATTINSON, co-chairman of the league's public safety committee and a member of its criminal justice committee, claims that big cities are paying about 60 percent of the league's fees and have only an equal voice with the small cities who pay much less.

"We seem to be losing on all the issues," Pattinson said.

Of the other large cities, Garden Grove has recently agreed to pay its dues while Santa Ana has paid assessments for three months only. Anaheim has taken no action on the fees.

IN VOTING TO HOLD UP ITS dues this week, the Huntington Beach City Council indicated that it may vote to pay in future deliberations.

The decision not to pay dues was opposed by Harriet Wieder and Norma Gibbs.

Mrs. Wieder said the league is of "tremendous" value in improving leadership skills and for lobbyist efforts in Sacramento and Washington.

"I HATE TO SEE OUR investment being thrown away," she said.

Carolyn Ewing, executive director of the Orange County League, said the apparent pullout by Huntington Beach is not a good or healthy sign.

"It makes our budget more restrictive."

"I also find it most interesting that a city would want to have more votes for more money," she added.

MRS. EWING SAID THE LEAGUE serves as a vehicle for carrying the cities' message to the Orange County Board of Supervisors and to state legislators.

Cities pay $100 base rate for membership plus 2 25 cents for each citizen.

Mrs. Ewing said the base limit for all 26 member cities is expected to be increased to $500 next year.

Promoted
John A. Nuttmann of Huntington Beach has been promoted to the rank of captain in the Los Angeles City Fire Department. He has been with the department for 18 years.

Condition's Good

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Mormon Church President Spencer W. Kimball, 82, was reported in good condition and resting comfortably today after being hospitalized for breathing difficulties. He was taken by ambulance to LDS Hospital on Wednesday after becoming ill during a church Board of Education meeting.

"Wow! Daddy's watch just hums, but Grandma's TICKS!"

Boy Killed

Safety Tip Misdirected

MIAMI (AP) — Florida game officials say they recommended last April that a higher wall be built around a crocodile pit where a boy was killed over the weekend — but they mailed their suggestion to the wrong exhibition park.

Maj. Don Ashley of the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission said the letter pointed out that the pit at the Miami Serpentarium was unsafe. He said the letter was mistakenly mailed to the Seaquarium on Rickenbacker Causeway.

DAVID MARC WASSON, 6, of West Palm Beach was killed by a 12-foot, 1,800-pound Nile crocodile when he fell over the three-foot wall into the reptiles' pit Saturday. The crocodile was later put to death.

Bill Haast, owner of the Serpentarium, said he doesn't remember receiving a written report but recalls a discussion with inspectors. He said he was advised to take steps to prevent the crocodiles from escaping.

Subsequently, the floor of the crocodile pit was lowered to make the walls steeper and put more distance between the animals and visitors.

ASHLEY SAID THAT REGARDLESS of the disposition of the letter Haast had "met the spirit of the recommendations. There is more than one way to comply."

Ashley said the attraction was asked in 1975 to post warning signs, which were erected, but "not right at the pit area."

The only signs are at the Serpentarium entrance. Verbal warnings to keep away from the animals are given during tours.

STATE OFFICIALS ALSO SAID that they will evaluate their inspections of hundreds of crocodile and alligator exhibits in the state because of the boy's death.

Haast said a six-foot wrought iron fence will be installed around the pit in about two weeks. Until then, he said, a guard will be stationed at the pit.

Toyota Recalling Defective Coronas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Toyota Motors is recalling 134,605 Corona automobiles to correct a defect that reportedly has caused 54 fires in the center consoles of the vehicles, the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration has announced.

Models involved are the 1970 through 1972 Corona and Corona Mark II with automatic transmissions. The safety administration has been investigating the problem for four months.

THE AUTOS ARE BEING RECALLED to replace the neutral safety switch, an electrical device that prevents the car from starting in any gear other than park or neutral.

The problem is the result of poor quality insulating material that can cause electrical shorts and fires in the transmission console between the front seats, where the switch is located, the agency said, Wednesday.

None of the reported fires has caused an accident or injury, it added.

TOYOTA HAS ORDERED THE necessary replacement parts but will not be ready to conduct the recall campaign until late September or early October. At that time, owners will receive letters from Toyota notifying them of the recall.

Until the repairs are made, agency administrator Joan Claybrook cautioned owners to be "especially alert to any burning odors or smoke coming from the vicinity of the transmission console."

Ex-CdM Star Keough Sparkles in Debut

OAKLAND (AP) — The Chicago White Sox won a baseball game Wednesday night, but most of the talk was about losing pitcher Matt Keough of the Oakland A's.

Keough, a former Corona del Mar High standout, making his first major league start, held the White Sox to four hits in seven innings before going down to a 5-1 defeat.

"He's got good potential and very good stuff," manager Bob Lemon of the White Sox said of Keough. "He has the poise of a veteran pitcher right now."

Keough, 22, started the season as an infielder in the A's farm system but switched over to pitching because he felt it would give him a better chance to make the major leagues.

"I thought my future was pitching," Keough said. He was a pitcher in high school before switching to the infield when he signed a professional contract.

The White Sox scored two runs off Keough in the second inning on a triple by Don Kessinger.

"It felt funny to be pitching to Kessinger," Keough said. "He played against my father in the major leagues."

Matt is the son of Marty Keough, who had a long career with several major league teams.

Kessinger remembered Keough's father. "It's kind of scary to think I've been around that long," he said. "But I started when I was very young. The kid is a very good pitcher."

Manager Bobby Winkles of the A's said Keough would continue to be a starting pitcher for the remainder of the season. "He pitched well enough to get another chance," Winkles said. "He threw all his pitches very well and had good control."

Winning pitcher Steve Renko held the A's scoreless on only two hits until the eighth inning. Oakland scored its run on a double by Tony Armas, an infielder out, a walk and a wild pitch.

Dave Hamilton took over for Renko with two outs in the eighth inning and struck out Mike Jorgensen to end the inning. He got his seventh save of the season.

The White Sox scored their other run on a walk, a single by Jorge Orta and an infield out by Lamar Johnson in the sixth inning and then scored twice off reliever Joe Coleman in the ninth inning.

Jim Essian doubled and scored when Ralph Garr hit his 10th homer of the season.

Keough struck out five in the seven innings he pitched, walking four.

I'll Help Club, Says Ernie D.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ernie DiGregorio, branded by some as a showboat lacking in defensive ability, believes he's received new life as a basketball player.

DiGregorio, known as Ernie D., but sometimes called Ernie No-D, for defense, signed a multi-year contract with the Los Angeles Lakers Wednesday and was enthusiastic in discussing the upcoming National Basketball Association season.

"I look forward to playing for a great team," said DiGregorio, who had an up-and-down four-year pro career with the Buffalo Braves after achieving All-American honors at Providence College. "I have a lot of confidence in my ability."

"I know if they let me handle the ball and hit the open man they'll be happy with the results," added the 26-year-old DiGregorio. "I do that better than anyone in the game."

DiGregorio, who said basketball wasn't fun at Buffalo the past three years, was the second former NBA rookie-of-the-year to join the Lakers this summer. Jamaal Wilkes signed with Los Angeles after playing out his option with the Golden State Warriors.

Compensation, if any, to Buffalo for DiGregorio and terms of his new contract were not revealed by the Lakers.

The 6-foot ball-handling expert, winner of the Joe Lapchick Memorial Award as the outstanding college player in the nation at Providence in 1972-73, was voted the NBA's top first-year player the following season when he averaged 15.2 points and 8.2 assists at Buffalo.

His problems began early in

the 1974-75 season. He tore cartilage in his left knee in the sixth game of the year and missed 40 games while recovering from surgery. He played in just 31 games, averaging just 7.8 points and 4.8 assists.

In 1975-76, he started the first 19 games of the season but saw limited action after that. He averaged 6.7 points and 3.9 assists.

Last season, playing in every game, DiGregorio scored 10.7 points and averaged 4.7 assists.

DiGregorio's contract with the Braves was estimated at $2 million for five years and had one year to go.

"We figure he's one of the best playmakers in the league," said Los Angeles general manager Bill Sharman. "He's the same type of player that Bob Cousy was."

Sharman and Cousy were teammates for 10 years with the Boston Celtics.

To reports that the Braves would pay part of the final year contract brought answers of "no comment" from the Lakers.

Bukich or Bashore? Decision Due

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Last fall, UCLA began its football season without an established quarterback in a nationally televised game against a highly touted opponent. The Bruins won easily.

The situation is similar in 1977. Coach Terry Donahue would love to see history repeat itself.

There is one major difference this time around. While Jeff Dankworth, who performed brilliantly in the Bruins' 28-10 victory over Arizona State, was a clear-cut starter, Donahue enjoys no such luxury now.

UCLA opens the current season Monday night against the University of Houston at the Astrodome, and Donahue is still unsure about his starting signal-caller.

"A decision will be made either Friday or Saturday," said Donahue. "But we'll probably play both of them."

Donahue referred to Steve Bukich, who prepped at Newport Harbor High, and former Edison High (Huntington Beach) star Rick Bashore, who have been battling for the position since last spring.

But Donahue added that the quarterback situation on the Bruins probably won't be settled even when a starter is named for Monday night's game.

"The performance of Bukich and Bashore at Houston is going to be very important in my thinking on the subject," said Donahue. "In all honesty, I would like an established quarterback, every coach would, it creates more continuity in your football team."

"I think a two-quarterback system could work but I prefer one," added the second-year UCLA coach. "The battle between Bukich and Bashore is very competitive and close."

"I have a lot of information on Bukich and Bashore, but only during scrimmages and practices. Neither has had much game experience."

Bukich, a junior, completed 12 of 31 passes for 166 yards and two touchdowns last year, and rushed for 183 yards on 30 attempts. Bashore, a sophomore, completed five of eight passes for 50 yards and carried 13 times for 54 yards.

Even with the loss of Dankworth, who led the Bruins to a 9-2-1 record, Donahue feels that the current team will be more effective throwing the football this season and the coach plans to have the Bruins pass more than they did a year ago.

Evert Tops King

Stove Too Strong For Me--Austin

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Chris Evert beat the past and Betty Stove beat the future to advance to their semifinal matchup at the U.S. Open tennis championships.

The top-seeded Evert provided a barometer for Billie Jean King's continuing singles comeback Wednesday night with a 6-2, 6-0 victory over the former queen of women's tennis.

About 4½ hours earlier, Tracy Austin, the 14-year-old future queen of tennis, drove her Cinderella carriage to center court. But Stove turned the clock to midnight with a powerful 6-2, 6-2 triumph.

In the other women's quarterfinals matches today, Martina Navratilova faced Mima Jausovec and Virginia Wade fell to Wendy Turnbull 6-2, 6-1.

With all the hoopla attached to Austin, the most famous school girl this side of Amy Carter, a pair of men sneaked less dramatically into the semifinals.

Guillermo Vilas has a Saturday semifinal date with Harold Solomon, who wore down Dick Stockton, 6-4, 6-4, 6-2.

The other semifinal pairing will be determined today. Brian Gottfried plays surprising Corrado Barazzutti and Jimmy Connors meets Manuel Orantes.

While school bells were beginning to ring around the country, Austin — set to enter the ninth grade in Rolling Hills, a week from today — was given a professional tennis lesson from Stove, the 32-year-old native of The Netherlands.

"She just overpowered me," said Tracy, standing tall on the court at 5 feet and 90 pounds. "I was lucky to get in a rally. Most of the time she just put the ball away off her serve, and hit winners off mine. She was too strong for me."

Stove gave Tracy a professional beating because she was able to see her pig-tailed opponent as the enemy, not just some cute little kid.

"Five or six years ago, I would have been sentimental, too," said the 6-foot, 160-pound Stove. "And I would have lost to her."

"I never saw Tracy at all. I only saw the ball."

"I considered her a competitor, a very good competitor. She has a real good future."

King, a four-time champion here, had a wonderful past. But if her comeback from knee surgery and a year's retirement from tournament singles doesn't progress, she hinted that she would retire permanently.

"I'm really ticked with my play," said the person most responsible for the growth of women's tennis. "I played the big points badly. Chris played them much tougher."

"I better be ready by October or November, or that's it."

One person cheering for Billie Jean's comeback is Evert, whose 11th straight clay-court victory was her third over King in three meetings this year.

"It's great for me if Billie Jean makes it," said Chris, heading for her third straight U.S. Open title. "Billie Jean is competition. At my stage, I need a lot of competition to keep me going, keep me eager."

It's a Dream Come True

LA Rookie Pitcher Wins as Parents Watch

ATLANTA (AP) — It was every young pitcher's dream and it happened at Atlanta-Fulton County Stadium Wednesday night.

But, as with most good things this baseball season, it happened to someone in a visiting team's uniform at the expense of the Atlanta Braves.

Just called up from the Dodgers' Albuquerque farm club last week and with his parents in the stands, rookie pitcher Dennis Lewallyn was suddenly put into the game after Los Angeles starter Burt Hooton experienced arm trouble in the third inning.

Lewallyn scattered three hits in four scoreless innings, striking out two and walking none, to earn the second major league victory of his career as the Dodgers outscored the Braves, 5-2.

"That was a hell of a job for a rookie coming up from the minors," observed Dodgers manager Tom Lasorda after the game. "His parents were in the stands and that made it even more gratifying."

Lewallyn was lifted in favor of relief pitcher Elias Sosa in the seventh after giving up back-to-back singles to the first two Braves batters.

"I wasn't about to let him lose the game after the way he pitched," Lasorda said. "I felt I needed to get one of my veterans in there in that situation."

Lewallyn got all the support he needed from Ron Cey, who drove in three runs with a pair of homers, and Dusty Baker, who added a solo shot.

It was Cey's 26th home run of the year, and Baker's 23rd.

Uni Seeks Image Change After Sparse '76 Offense

The days of "Big D. Little O" may be over at University High (Irvine).

The Trojans, long known as a team strong on defense but weak on offense, are changing their image this fall in a bid to escape the South Coast League cellar they stumbled into last season.

But head coach Dick Roche, entering his third year at the helm, says the switch in emphasis is as much a matter of design as it is of necessity.

"We'll be more of an offensive team this year," promises Roche. "We have to score more points. I'm tired of getting beat 2-0 and 6-0."

University's dismal 2-6-1 overall record (1-6 in league) was generally attributed to an offense that generated a total of 62 points during the entire campaign—less than seven points an outing. The situation was especially disheartening during the first three games when the Trojans neither allowed or scored a single touchdown while earning a 1-1-1 split on scores of 0-0, 3-0 and 0-2.

This year, the Trojans will go with a split-out offense instead of the I formation used in the past. The major differences include using two tight ends and one wide receiver, a move Roche feels will improve University's blocking. In addition, Roche expects more of an aerial attack. "We hope to throw the ball more, to do what we have to do when the situation dictates," he says. "We're definitely going to throw more than in the past."

Defensively, University will stay in its 6-1 alignment which features four down linemen in addition to the two tight ends and just one linebacker. Under the setup, Roche claims the Trojans can be effective against the inside rush while still maintaining adequate coverage in the secondary.

With a squad of just 40, Roche has been stressing conditioning drills recently since most of the starters on offense will also see action on defense.

There are just five starters back on offense but three are in the backfield. Gilbert Zaldivar (5-7, 160) gained over 350 yards as a running back last year while junior David Langmade (5-10, 170) gained over 300 yards in addition to kicking field goals measuring 35 and 45 yards. Langmade, who led the Trojans in pass interceptions last year with five, will also handle punting chores.

John Davis (5-7, 150) returns as the starting quarterback and the change to a split-out system should help the senior co-captain improve on last year's three touchdown pass total.

The other two starters are on the line. Steve Tilles (6-2, 195), the other co-captain, will split his time between tackle and tight end while Tom Hughes (6-1, 200) returns to the other tackle slot.

Roche said it was too early to tell as far as the other offensive positions were concerned. Tight end hopefuls include Steve England (6-4, 195), a transfer from Long Beach Wilson, David Hart (5-11, 165) and Jim Hartigan (5-8, 150). Dan Schroeder (5-11, 185), Leroy Polliard (5-9, 200) and Chris Kearns (6-0, 170) are pencilled in at guard with junior John Ortman (6-0, 195) slated for tackle duty.

Defensively, Langmade and Zaldivar have berths locked up in the secondary, Tilles will split time between guard and tackle and Schroeder will return to his middle linebacker slot. Ortman, Polliard and Perry Totten (6-1, 190) will rotate at the tackle slots with Hartigan also seeing action at guard.

England and John Exley (6-1, 175) will open at the defensive end positions with Hart and Bob Perek relieving Johnny Rogers (6-1, 175), who is also a backup running back, will start at strong safety with Ruben Zaldivar (5-9, 155) at free safety. Joe Cruz (5-8, 140) and Norman Burger (5-8, 140), will also see plenty of action in the secondary.

Roche says this year's team is in much better physical and mental condition than last year's squad was at this stage of the season. "We're in better shape and we have a much better attitude," he says. "We've been working hard and the kids haven't complained about it."

University will travel to Huntington Beach High Saturday for a 10 a.m. scrimmage in its final tuneup before the Sept. 16 season opener against Tustin. The game is scheduled to be played at the University stadium which is currently still under construction. If it is not completed in time, the game will be played at Tustin.

'77 Grid Outlook

Newport Aiming For Bigger Things

With experienced depth at quarterback, speed all over the place and a solid linebacking corps the Newport Harbor High Sailors are preparing for bigger and better things as the 1977 football season approaches.

The road to bettering a 5-4 overall record has some rough obstacles, however, beginning with non-league foes Long Beach Millikan and Servite and Laora of Anaheim prior to Sunset League warfare which includes Fountain Valley, Westminster and Huntington Beach's Edison.

"We have some team goals," says Newport Harbor coach Bill Pizzica. "Fountain Valley is awesome and Edison and Westminster are always good. It's just a tough old league. But we know our capabilities and if we play up to them we are capable of doing well."

The Sailors are smaller than usual, but with more speed as exemplified by tailback Chris Corum, receivers Wayne Kasparek and Frank Venelick and defensive back Bryon Ward.

Corum, a 5-11, 175-pound senior, runs 40 yards in 4.5 seconds, has done a 9.9 100 and anchored Newport Harbor's mile relay team which went to the state meet in the spring.

Also at tailback with Corum is 5-9, 155-pound senior Bob Brown, who excels with the change of direction and pace, while Corum is more of a darting runner geared to the inside game.

Newport is solid at fullback where Don Barker (6-1, 200, sr.), Dana Wandrocke (5-11, 185 sr.) and Dave Thompson (5-11, 185 jr.) are available.

At quarterback Pizzica has two proven veterans in Craig Lyons (6-0, 185 sr.) and Greg Paquin (6-1, 175 sr.). Lyons had the job nailed down in '76 before an injury in the Fountain Valley game.

"We were ahead at that point," recalls Pizzica. "But we went down quickly after that." Lyons has improved, is considered the better runner and rivals Paquin's passing ability.

Flanker Kasparek and wide receiver Venelick are in the 4-6-4-7 range for 40 yards, but Venelick broke his arm in practice and isn't expected back until league play.

Others of note in the receiving department include Paul Helfrich (5-10, 160 sr.), tight end Jeff Bitetti (6-2, 200 sr.) and Larry Higby (6-1, 175 sr.).

Up front is the usual type of Newport talent—tackles Joe Carnahan (6-4, 240 jr.) and Mike Ashen (5-11, 200 sr.), guards Doug Brockmeyer (6-3, 200 sr.), Steve Bullington (5-10, 180 sr.), Ryan Abbate (5-10, 175 jr.) and David Sturgis (5-10, 200 sr.) and Don Burns (5-11, 175 sr.) and Steve Kraemer (6-0, 185 sr.) at center.

Mark Hales joins the long list of excellent placekickers at Newport Harbor.

Newport's talent is emphasized by the fact that the 1974 freshmen and '75 sophomores (today's seniors) compiled a 14-4 record, outscoring the opposition, 362-117. Among the sophomore victims in '75 was Fountain Valley (9-6) and the summer passing league team from Newport whipped Fountain Valley, Edison and Westminster.

Defensively a lot of names crop up again with Bitetti, Brockmeyer, Ashen and Kraemer at ends, Sturgis, Abbate and Dave Voboril (5-11, 185 sr.) at tackle.

Barker, who led the team with 118 tackles as a junior, leads a linebacking contingent which includes Wandrocke and Jim Corum (6-0, 180 sr.), plus Thompson.

In the secondary some of the nuggets include Helfrich, Dave Hitzel (5-10, 165 jr.) and Venelick (when he's healthy) at the corners; Kasparek, Paquin and Ward at safety; and Brown, who returns at rover with Higby backing him up.

UNI'S JOHN DAVIS RETURNS AT QB.

UCI Trains At Altitude For Opener

UC Irvine has won two straight NCAA cross-country championships and the Anteaters figure to have their best team ever in 1977—but an NCAA championship is definitely out of the question.

The reason?—the Anteaters' coach Len Miller have moved to a notch in Division I.

"Right now I feel that by the end of the year our 10th runner will be as good as our No. 4 runner was last year," says Miller.

"And for whatever it's worth we will probably have the best team in the country that is composed solely of U.S. citizens. I'm not sure we can fare in Division I remains to be seen."

"We'll have a better team than we did last year and a finish in the top seven in the NCAA meet is conceivable, but it's a little premature to tell right now," says Miller.

Irvine will train for the next 14 days in Westwood, Calif., which is 24 miles above Susanville an 45 miles from Mt. Lassen. The Anteaters are training at the 5,000-foot site in preparation for the Reno Invitational, Sept. 17.

UCI has seven runners back from last season's Division I championship squad, including junior Ralph Serna, sophomore Eric Hulst and senior Steve Scott. Serna, Hulst and Scott finished 1-2-3 in the Division I meet.

Other lettermen include seniors John Koningh, Ed Ahlmeyer and Dave Bernstein and sophomore Don Moses.

Topping the list of freshmen is Edison High (Huntington Beach) product Charlie Christensen. He captured the CIF 4-A individual cross-country title last year.

Another good one is David Daniels of San Geronimo High who finished second in the 4-1/2 run last season.

Freshmen Larry Green (Paradise High) in Northern California and David Schrive (Montebello High) round out the squad.

"Serna gives every indication of being tremendously improved," says Miller. "And Bernstein is the most improved runner on the team."

Scout's Tip Aids Angel In 4-1 Win

For Paul Hartzell, travel was enlightening.

The California Angels spent three games recently in Baltimore, where pitcher Hartzell was reunited with scout Walter Youse, who signed him to his first contract.

Youse imparted some advice and the young righthander used it Wednesday to propel the Angels to a 4-1 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers at Anaheim stadium.

"Walter has seen me pitch more than anyone," said

Hartzell after his five-hit victory raised his record to 7-9. "He told me to raise my arm more when I'm throwing. I hurt my shoulder in spring training. The ball doesn't sink as much when I raise it, but I get more strikeouts."

Hartzell needed those in the first inning. Von Joshua walked and Sixto Lescano was safe on a two-base error. Hartzell struck out Cecil Cooper and Don Money. Then, after walking Sal Bando intentionally, he struck out Robin Yount.

"That's the best fastball I've had in two months," Hartzell said. "It got me out of a lot of trouble."

"Have I ever struck out the side before? Heavens, no. Once or twice I've struck out two in the same inning at some level of baseball."

One batter who wasn't striking out was Don Baylor of the Angels. He smashed a two-run homer and a double off loser Jerry Augustine, 12-16.

Baylor has collected seven hits in nine at-bats to raise his average to .258.

OCC Led by Former End Hall to Quarterback in Saturday's Lid-lifter

By CRAIG SHEFF
 Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Larry Hall is not the type to pass up a good opportunity.

A second team tight end for Orange Coast College during the first seven games of the 1976 football season, Hall was switched to quarterback for the final three contests.

And he made the most of it.

Ushered into a game with Ceritos in the waning minutes, the 6-2, 200-pound former Estancia High (Costa Mesa) standout completed four of five passes for 60 yards, including a 22-yarder for a TD in the final second.

The following week he ran for 111 yards and a TD against Mt. San Antonio in a 17-7 win. He also tossed a 22-yard touchdown pass and had a 50-yard TD run that was nullified.

More heroics came a week later in the season finale against Grossmont when he completed 7 of 9 passes (3 for TDs) and ran for 66 yards in a 26-6 victory.

He hopes that streak will carry over this Saturday night when he leads the Pirates against Cypress College at La Palma Park (7:30).

Despite his success as a quarterback, Hall would immediately return to tight end—or play some other position—if Tucker asked him to.

"I'll play anywhere if it will help the team, it doesn't matter to me. If coach Tucker asked me today to play tight end I would," says Hall.

But Tucker has no plans to switch Hall. "We have quality quarterbacks in Hall, Gary Guiness and Dave Mollica. I would not hesitate to use any one of them," Tucker says.

Hall's play at quarterback for OCC last season wasn't his first experience at the position. At Estancia he earned All-Century second team behind Guiness during his junior year.

Then after breaking a leg in a skiing accident near the end of the school year, Estancia coaches shifted Hall to fullback for his senior season. He was also a starter at linebacker.

"When I came to Coast there were 12 guys out for quarterback so they made me into a tight end. And I really didn't mind it because I got to play," says Hall.

But injuries took their toll and when OCC got down to one QB (Jim Conley), Tucker switched Hall to the signal-calling duties.

The move might have been out of near-desperation, but so far the OCC coach looks like a genius.

"Larry is a versatile and outstanding athlete. He can do a lot of things for us. He's a better runner than a passer, but he can throw the ball very well," says Tucker.

Hall's versatility is shown in the fact that as a high school senior he was also a starter of the basketball team and high jumper 6-4. And at Orange Coast last spring he earned second team All-conference volleyball honors.

And Tucker is hoping that versatility will pay off in big dividends this football season.

Budget Analysts

Gas Deregulation Cited as 'Gamble'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional analysts say that proposals to deregulate the price of natural gas are a gamble with only a small chance of paying off in substantially increased supplies of the vital fuel.

The findings of Congressional Budget Office analysts were released Wednesday as the Senate Energy Committee prepared to start work today on President Carter's price control plan.

Carter's plan, which provides for higher price ceilings, cleared the House largely intact after several major clashes between administration supporters and allies of the natural gas industry, which is pushing hard for deregulation.

THE BUDGET OFFICE study concluded that if the industry were free of federal price controls, the national supply of natural gas would increase only 5 percent by 1985.

In the meantime, the industry would reap an increase of $76 billion in revenues, the study said, with no assurance of how much of the extra profits would be invested in more exploration and development.

Also, the study said, deregulation would result in a sharp runup of prices, doubling in the short term from the current price limit of $1.45 per thousand cubic feet to $3. Spot prices in some parts of the country could run as high as $6, they added.

SUCH PRICE hikes would add to inflation, reduce the demand for products manufactured with the aid of natural gas and result in a slight increase in unemployment, the study said.

On the other hand, the analysts said Carter's pricing plan would stimulate industry exploration while protecting consumers from boom and bust cycles in the economy.

The House essentially endorsed the administration approach approving an initial hike of 30 cents in the price of natural gas to $1.75. The price would be allowed to rise to an estimated $3.30 by 1985. Under deregulation, after the sharp runup, the analysts estimate the price in the mid-1980s would settle at about $2.80.

ALTHOUGH deregulation might lead to cheaper prices by 1985, the analysts argued, higher prices in the meantime would cost consumers the extra $76 billion.

The analysts said several other studies, including industry's disagree with their conclusion that deregulation would result in scant increases in supplies. But the analysts said the other studies fail to say where additional supplies will come from and what amount of additional investment is necessary to develop them.

Several attempts were made in the House to couple deregulation with a tax on industry windfall profits. But the analysts said this approach would be difficult to enforce because of industry accounting procedures.

'YOU EITHER HAVE TO MAKE IT OR QUIT TALKING' Jack Easley Wrestles With Barrel in His Winery

Family Hobby

Attorney Easily Dons Wine Smock

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — For Jack Easley, the transition from big city tax lawyer to Ohio Valley winemaker is as simple as walking through a doorway and donning a grape-stained smock.

"The type of law I practice, I can control pretty well," says Easley, a vigorous man of 50 whose humor and directness explode notions of gray-flannel types steeped in tax manual rhetoric.

"And I knew that some of the clients that were happiest with me wouldn't care where I had my office — even in a winery."

SO THAT'S WHERE it is, tucked in the corner of a onetime ice cream factory rescued from inner-city oblivion 3 1/2 years ago. Easley turned it into a winery that is not merely an avocation, but a passion.

Using French hybrid grapes grown on the southern Indiana bluffs over the Ohio River, Easley and his wife, Joan, turn out nine varieties of wine bearing their "Cape Sandy" label. The name derives from the community near the vineyard, located in the river's scenic, sparsely populated "Big Bend" country.

Despite the 160-mile haul between picking grapes at Cape Sandy and processing them in Indianapolis, Easley thinks the split operation may be the economic salvation of the winery, one of six in Indiana.

The Easleys began winemaking as a hobby a dozen years ago, and within two years they bought an interest in a Michigan vineyard near their summer cottage north of Benton Harbor.

"There's something about it," Easley muses. "It's almost like dope. You get hooked on it, you get so absorbed in it."

DREAMS OF A vineyard inevitably grew into the dream of producing marketable wines, but Easley speaks of it more like an artistic vision that he has cultivated against women, but they have been very selective. This is a special effort that was born in the White House.

smile. "At first, you don't even tell your wife. Then you finally share it with her. Then you tell her mother. And then you've told so many people that you either have to make it or quit talking."

Easley began haunting libraries, devouring all the winemaking literature he could lay hands on. He also packed off to university viticulture seminars from California to Cornell.

IN 1970, ARMED with climatological data from the National Weather Service, the Easleys purchased 120 acres at Cape Sandy.

Easley calls the vineyard and winery "strictly a Mom and Pop operation," although they raise 11 grape varieties and produce almost 50,000 gallons of wine annually, a figure they'll soon increase under the 100,000-gallon limit allowed by a 1977 amendment to the Indiana Small Winery Act.

Joan Easley, who gave up running a local market research firm to become their sales force, has been able to place the label on the shelves of about 125 central and southern Indiana liquor stores and on the wine lists of a handful of restaurants.

"When it comes to things that are created by man — whether it's wine, art, a meal or a machine — each person that's about to enjoy that thing is the only one to satisfy," Easley says. "What right do I have to tell you that a thing you're enjoying shouldn't be enjoyed?"

Women's Loans Backed

'Special Effort' Allocates $100 Million

NEW YORK (AP) — The government will back $100 million in loans for women who want to start or expand their businesses, the Small Business Administration has announced.

"We've got guarantees for $100 million in loans available to women in the fourth quarter of this year and we aim to distribute them," said Woodie Williams, New York district director of the SBA.

THE LOANS WILL be made by banks throughout the nation with the government's guarantee. The SBA is conducting seminars for bank officials and women interested in the program with perhaps the most ambitious program in New York.

Beginning next week, the SBA will station an assistant director at the First Women's Bank, midtown Manhattan. This will mark the first time the SBA has branched out from its own offices.

"We have women coming in here every day seeking counsel and advice and SBA loans," said Lynn Salvage, president of First Women's Bank, founded by women. "There is a tremendous need for counseling and our staff just isn't equipped to do this fulltime."

After the paperwork is completed, the SBA will decide within five days whether to back a loan, Williams said.

When asked if the program is designed to make amends for possible discrimination in the past, Williams replied: "The banks haven't discriminated against women, but they have been very selective. This is a special effort that was born in the White House."

But Jobless Rate Rises

State Unemployment Drops

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Unemployment dropped to a 33-month low in California during August, but the seasonally adjusted unemployment rate rose from 7.4 to 7.5 percent, the state has reported.

The jobless rate rose because of adjustments that compare it with normal employment patterns, which traditionally show more jobholders in August than during July.

THE STATE UNEMPLOYMENT Development Department said there were 9,352,900 Californians working during August, a gain of 406,000 jobs over the past 12 months and an increase of 85,600 jobs over July.

The monthly state jobs report said there were 720,300 Californians seeking work in August, 47,000 fewer than July, and 112,000 below the August 1976 figure.

Construction jobs set a record for the third consecutive month, with 387,500 men and women employed.

CALIFORNIA'S SEASONALLY adjusted unemployment rate of 7.5 percent compares with a national rate of 7.1 percent.

The state job report showed employment gains in construction, agriculture, manufacturing, wholesale and retail trade, services, finance, insurance and real estate.

Government employment was down by 15,000 jobs to 1,718,500, which reflects a seasonal decline in education jobs.

NYSE COMPOSITE TRANSACTIONS

Third Time Cereal-juce Merger Nixed

By MILTON MOSKOWITZ For the third time in four years the "breakfast table" merger of Kellogg and Tropicana has been called off.

Kellogg, leader of the cereal market, and Tropicana, leader of the chilled single-strength orange juice market, agreed to merge in 1974. It would have brought Tropicana into the Kellogg orbit for $150 million. But the marriage was canceled.

In 1976 the heads of the two companies renewed their courtship, agreeing to go to the altar under an offer worth $315 million to Tropicana shareholders. But again the deal fell through.

THIS YEAR KELLOGG WAS BACK with another offer, valued at $380 million. Once again it was tentatively accepted by the Tropicana management, only to be called off for the third time.

Tune in next year for another episode in this long-running corporate melodrama. By then the Florida orange juice packer should be worth at least $400 million to the Battle Creek, Mich., cereal producer.

While it failed in its quest for Tropicana, Kellogg continues to hold a firm grip on the $1.7 billion cereal business, according to the latest share-of-market figures compiled by Maxwell Associates, Richmond, Va.

Kellogg is running away with 42.5 percent of the dollars spent by American families on dry cereals. That's up from the 42 percent it held in 1975.

There are two ways to measure market position — by pounds and by dollars — and they do not always jibe. For example, measured by pounds of cereal sold, the market leader is Kellogg's Corn Flakes. That means more packages of Kellogg's Corn Flakes are bought than any other cereal. However, in terms of dollar sales, the market leader is the Cheerios brand of General Mills. It doesn't sell as many packs as Kellogg's Corn Flakes but it's priced higher.

HERE ARE THE 10 LEADING CEREAL brands in America (ranked by percentage of total dollar sales):

- Cheerios 6.4 percent
Sugar Frosted Flakes 5.4 percent
Kellogg's Corn Flakes 5 percent
Rice Krispies 5 percent
Raisin Bran (Kellogg) 4.4 percent
Raisin Bran (Post) 3.6 percent
Cap'n Crunch 3.4 percent
Fruit Loops 3.1 percent
Special K 3 percent
Shredded Wheat 3 percent

Those 10 brands take 42.3 percent of the entire cereal market, and six of the leaders come from Kellogg. In addition to the Corn Flakes and Raisin Bran entries, the Kellogg brands are Sugar Frosted Flakes, Rice Krispies, Fruit Loops and Special K.

No other company has more than one brand in the top 10. Cheerios is the long Big G brand. Post division of General Foods is represented only by its Raisin Bran. Cap'n Crunch comes from Quaker Oats, and Shredded Wheat is marketed by cookie-and-cracker maker Nabisco.

So while it's still thirsting to get into the orange juice business, Kellogg can't complain about the way the cereal dollars are being distributed.

Stock Market Rally Ends After 5 Days

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market headed lower today after the quiet rally of the past five sessions stalled.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, up 17.50 points in five trading days, dropped back 8.23 points to 868.16.

Traders seemed cautious about joining the rally in view of the unimpressive trading volume that accompanied it.

Brokers said the market also was weighed down by speculation that leading banks might soon raise their prime lending rates again. The basic charge on business loans recently rose from 6 3/4 to 7 percent at most banks across the country.

'Kiss' Weak Comedy

tackled by the Westminster players since "Thieves Carnival" six years ago.

SHARKEY'S CHARACTERS, unlike his crisply defined roles of "Jeremy Troy," are little more than cardboard cutouts manipulated around strained gag lines. Even the title itself is a circuitous contrivance.

Nevertheless, a few members of the Westminster cast manage to survive their material and turn in impressive performances. One of these is Bunny Goodmansen in the leading role of an artist upon whom is sprung a "mother," a "brother" and myriad other baffling circumstances. Miss Goodmansen handles the situation brightly and competently.

Two other performers who rise above their assignments are Bill Aebi as a city planner preoccupied with crocodile domiciles and Martha Faulkner in a brief appearance as a Boston socialite. Both contribute sharp comic portrayals.

SHERI GOLDSTEIN IS unconvincing as an architect who initiates the confusion partly because of her youth and partly because she is called upon to further Sharkey's almost unplayable plot. Robin Cooke's afro hairdo alone renders him questionable as a treasury agent, and he fails to maintain a high level of comic frustration. Jim Laucotic encounters problems with enunciation as Miss Goodmansen's fiancé, while Jack McBride, playing a New York cop, requires stage seasoning.

Following on the heels of a successful slapstick show ("See How They Run"), Westminster's "Kiss or Make Up" presents a pallid comparison.

Transparent plotting intended to sustain a bullion-thin script becomes increasingly wearying as the Westminster show plods through a mercifully brief three acts. Director John Williams' cast lacks the cohesiveness necessary to render this concoction at least partially believable, but the troupe is betrayed at the outset by the worst raw material

Childhood Cancer Survivors Grow Up

CHICAGO (AP) — A new group of children is growing up in the United States. They are "the long-term survivors" of childhood cancer, a medical team reports.

They are "children who now are off drugs, getting married, having offspring of their own, and becoming productive members of society," Dr. John R. Hartman of the Children's Orthopedic Hospital in Seattle, Wash., said here Wednesday.

BUT, LIKE CHILDREN who still are battling cancers, they have specialized needs, he told the American Cancer Society's second national conference on human values and cancer.

"Obtaining adequate medical coverage for themselves, genetic counseling regarding the effects of their own drug and radiation treatment on their offspring, vocational rehabilitation, job security, and living daily with the fear that their disease may recur, are just a few of the concerns and stresses facing this group of young adults."

"We have an obligation to these children, not only to try and give them a life free from cancer, the disease, but free from the emotional scars of cancer, which if ignored can be just as crippling and devastating as the disease itself," Hartman said.

"NO LONGER CAN the child with cancer be assumed to have a fatal disease," he said, "but rather, working with the philosophy that cancer in childhood is curable, children with such cancers as acute leukemia, Hodgkin's disease, non-Hodgkin's lymphoma, Wilms' tumor and rhabdomyosarcoma are being given the opportunity of a normal life span."

In acute lymphoblastic leukemia, for example, the five-year survival rate has increased from less than 10 percent in studies begun in 1964 to a projected five-year survival rate now of over 80 percent.

But treatment can have its penalties of sickness from strong drugs, radiation sickness, loss of hair, even loss of limbs, heavy expenses, and stresses within family life, Hartman said.

"THERE IS LIFE after cancer," said Lane W. Adams, executive vice president of the American Cancer Society, speaking of some 1,700 persons, at the conference, involved in various aspects of cancer care.

"We need to seek the cancer patient not as a statistic or as an isolated organ, but as a person... a person who must continue living day to day, even while fighting a battle that far too many people lose," said Mrs. E. Morgan Montgomery, of Atlanta, Ga., a volunteer and vice president of the society.

Bowser Battles The Bulge

'Fat dogs are basically a people problem,' says one vet. 'People feed their dogs too much and they eat too much themselves.'

By JUDITH OLSON
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Daisy Neal is 10 years old, cute as a button. She has been on a diet for some time and is proud of her new weight, down to 22 pounds from 28.

Daisy is a dachshund, one of the estimated 41.3 million pet dogs in the U. S., and not the only one to suffer from a few extra pounds.

In fact, according to William E. Birdsall, a Laguna Hills veterinarian, most dogs are overweight. "And most people are too," he added.

In the last few years, acknowledging the problem, several brands of "diet" dog foods have come on the market.

In a country where so many diet products are offered for humans, and where people are always fighting the battle of the bulge, diet dog food seems the ultimate absurdity.

The basic problem, Dr. Birdsall said, is that dogs do not have a built-in "appetite" to control their hunger. If food is put before them, they will eat it, even if they are not really hungry.

A SPOKESMAN for Russo's Pet Shop in Newport Beach said many owners add to the problem by giving their dogs table scraps, which is bad because "people food has a lot more fat."

With many dogs living in close quarters, either apartments or small back yards, they get little exercise, which compounds the problem still further.

Dr. Birdsall suggested that the pet food industry is partly to blame because it "recommends too much food."

But pet owners are the ones who think it's "cute" to see their dog sit up and beg for high-calorie tidbits from the table.

Cats are not so much a problem, Dr. Birdsall said, because they are much more able to regulate their own eating. "There are a few fat cats," he said "but not as nearly as many as dogs."

A dog is too fat, the veterinarian said, if his ribs cannot be felt through his flesh. "You should be able to feel the dog's ribs but not see them."

Fat dogs are subject to many more health problems than their leaner counterparts, veterinarians agree.

IN FACT, according to Dr. Birdsall, a dog's life expectancy is lowered if it is too fat.

"Larger dogs tend to have hip problems anyway and obesity makes them more arthritic than ever when they are older," Dr. Birdsall said.

"Small and large dogs both may end up with chronic congestion and heart problems, all complicated by fat. Any surgery is more difficult because it's much harder to work around the fat."

Dr. John Rich, director of Newport Center Animal Hospital, agrees that pet food companies suggest too large a feeding.

"The dog food companies are forced to give you a suggested feeding amount, but it doesn't take into account each dog's exercise pattern, nervousness and type of food eaten," he added.

"In the first year dogs grow rapidly and have a large consumption. When they level out, people keep feeding them the same amount."

STILL ANOTHER major contribution to dog obesity is lack of exercise. Many new pet owners either don't like the work entailed in taking them for a walk or get too busy to do it, Dr. Rich said.

"They also forget how large puppies will grow," he noted.

Several kinds of diet dog foods have been put on the market in the past three years but the Washington, D. C.-based Pet Food Institute could offer no explanation for the trend other than the fact that "there has been a steady evolution of the industry."

"There is more and more competition and a proliferation of brands," said Bob Wilbur. "There are more advertising campaigns. Diet dog food is

A Farm That Welcomes Aphis

Without bugs, research couldn't go on.

There's a very funny farm in Orange County. Aphis, mealybugs, scale and spidermites are all welcome to enjoy the bounty and the farmers are not happy unless they do.

Without them, agriculture research cannot go on, explained Randy Heim, PhD, director of the South Coast Field Station in Santa Ana.

The station, comprised of 200 acres of prime farmland near Mission Viejo and El Toro, is the setting for important work done by scientists from the University of California.

It is one of nine such stations throughout California, all of which provide opportunities to test crops in the areas where they actually are grown.

New, more tasty or more bug-resistant plants are bred, new varieties of turf are developed and imported plant varieties are "tried on for size" in the California climate.

THE NEW CORN, at the field station, for example, may not be as high as an elephant's eye but it's as sweet as a sun-kissed pineapple.

Seeds now are available for it and any home gardener can plant the variety for a special treat.

Having such a field station available for agricultural research is like a scientist having a completely equipped lab at his disposal, pointed out Dr. Heim.

"The labor here is made up of machinery and farming skills," he said. "We are a farming operation."

In other words, staff members are available to plant the crops, repair the tractors and do

ERA Staff Pitches In

By THOMAS D. ELIAS

If the Equal Rights Amendment to the U.S. Constitution is finally ratified before its 1979 deadline, a significant share of the credit will go to California feminists.

Those California feminists eased off their work for the ERA after their own state ratified it in 1973. For California women, the amendment became almost a foregone conclusion.

Now, however, they're alarmed over delays in ratification and convinced that "we don't have anything in California unless we get another three states."

Three more states must okay the amendment, already approved by 35, before it becomes law. If it's not approved, many feminists worry that existing equal rights laws not only won't be expanded, but might even be rolled back.

For several years after their own legislature acted, the California women contented themselves with fund-raising and moral support for ERA ratification drives in other states, while focusing their main efforts on other, more local, issues.

This year that has changed. Fund raising still goes on — just last month, more than $40,000 was raised in California for the ERA drive. But now California women have begun to lead the national ERA effort, largely coordinated by the National Organization of Women.

It was California chapters that initiated a national ERA strike force within NOW.

This unit will use five fulltime organizers and all of NOW's paid national staff when legislatures begin considering the amendment again next year.

If their pressure tactics seem similar to those used on state legislators in California four years ago, it will be no accident.

Three of the women who lobbied hardest and most effectively for the ERA in California are now paid national NOW officers. They are Arlie Scott, a vice president, treasurer Eve Norman and Western regional director Jeane Bendorf.

Their expertise in pressuring legislators was gained in drives like a 1972 recall movement against state Senate President Pro Tem James Mills of San Diego.

Their campaign caused Mills to change an earlier position and support the ERA, clearing the way for its passage.

In a move similar to what NOW currently contemplates on a national basis, women's rights activists from all over the state flooded Mills' district to apply the pressure.

It worked, despite strong resistance to the ERA by organized labor, a prime Mills supporter.

ERA activists expect to spend about $500,000 on their national activities, with almost 20 percent to be raised in California.

The money will be used along with volunteers organized through scores of NOW chapters. But the major impetus will come in states like Nevada, close to the large urban centers where most feminist activity occurs.

Experts, Family Both Divided on Issue

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Does anyone know what causes homosexuality? Our son told us a year ago he had chosen this lifestyle. We cannot accept it — or him.

My husband blames his genes because he has two nephews who are gay. Yet the other five are straight. If it was a matter of genes, I say they all would have turned out gay.

Ours has been a beautiful marriage and we thank the Lord we have each other. We give one another strength to face this terrible thing that has happened to our life. Please enlighten us and millions of others who are — SEARCHING FOR ANSWERS

DEAR SEARCHING: Even the experts are sharply divided on whether or not homosexuality is an illness that warrants a psychiatric diagnosis or if it's an alternate lifestyle. They all seem to agree, however, that homosexuality is NOT inherited. I am with those who believe homosexuality is a psychological disorder caused by one of a number of problems. It could be an excessive attachment to a "smothering" mother or a tyrannical, weak or absent father. To make matters more complicated, some individuals with these very backgrounds may develop into normal heterosexual adults. Finally, glandular factors cannot be entirely ruled out in some cases.

If you cannot accept your son's homosexuality, so be it, but I would ask you, please, don't reject him. Homosexuals do not "choose the lifestyle."

It's far more complicated than that.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I need some answers and am depending on you for the true facts. Can you tell me a few things about silicone injections to increase the bust size?

1. Are they expensive?
2. Are there any serious side-effects?
3. How long does it take for them to work?
4. Can it be done privately without anyone knowing?
5. Where can I get these shots? — IS AND FLAT ASA PANCAKE

DEAR FLAT: You didn't ask the most important question: Are silicone injections legal? The answer is NO, they are not. They've been proven very dangerous.

Silicone implants ARE legal, however, and they are safe. Your best source of information is your family physician or the county medical society.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please, please tell your readers that vasectomies are not 100 percent effective. I am 43 years of age (unmarried) and learned a few weeks ago that I am pregnant. My gynecologist says my lover had a botched job or the sperm's normal pathway reformed as a result of a long-term healing process. Please print this as a warning to others. — BUM BREAK

DEAR B.B.: Six weeks after a vasectomy the male should have his sperm count checked. If it's zero, he is considered permanently sterile. What happened to your friend is most unusual — but it's additional evidence that there are very few things in life one can be absolutely sure of — forever.

Sock It to 'Em, American Moms

Mothers of America! You have been given one more chance to be fashion pacesetters.

White anklets are back! They've been seen throughout Europe being worn with high-heeled shoes. I know it is only a matter of time before Princess Grace, Queen Elizabeth, Jackie Onassis and Barbara Walters are schlepping around in them.

Before you shake your head and say, "No, it'll never work," let me assure you I went through the same humiliation route with white anklets that you went through back in the '40s and '50s. I too was maligned by my family.

My sons self-destructed before my very eyes once when I appeared in white anklets on the playground. My husband said they made my legs look like tree stumps, and one day when a friend of my daughter's came to the house to play she said, "What team does your mother play for?"

We let them shame us into giving up our white socks. And what did we get in return? Pantyhose. You have to be in shape to wear pantyhose. Just ask Joe Namath. I personally never put on a pair of pantyhose without thinking I got a pair that was hatched prematurely and needed another few months in the egg.

Ah, the good old days of white anklets. They never sprung a run. . . never slid down over your hips when you coughed. . . never cut off circulation when you crossed your legs. White socks went with everything, winter and summer, and you never had cracked heels.

Remember the warm, fuzzy feeling you had in white socks? Critics are the first to point out how ridiculous they looked. Sour grapes.

The trouble with Mothers is they are never the pacesetters of anything. They borrow a few T-shirts and jeans from their sons, klutzy shoes and funky blouses from their daughters, sweaters from their husbands and a few dresses from their mothers. But they do not have one style that is exclusive, unique, and theirs alone.

The white socks could do it for us. It could establish mothers as trendsetters. What have you got to lose — except your ankles.

Have you got the guts?

Question: What is Luminizing?
(Ms. H. H. Newport Bch.)
Answer: Luminizing is Clairol's answer to the Henna trap, except that Luminizing is only expected to last one month compared to Henna's three.

Question: What would Luminizing do to my hair [dirty blonde] coloring?
(Ms. N. S. Costa Mesa)

Answer: Clean it up — lighten it a couple of shades and give it body and sheen (conditioning).
Question: Is Luminizing better than Henna?
(Jack P., Costa Mesa)

Answer: Is Your Girl-Friend Better than Mine? — No, they are really two different trips (the products I mean); each one has its advantages. But they both condition and color.

whatever chores the researcher needs to have done before or during his work.

The results of the experiments "are not disseminated to the public," Heim added. "The research here may be so isolated we have no idea what its impact will be."

IT IS CRUCIAL for keeping the food costs down, if nothing else. "The end point is to reduce the cost of production of a unit of food, fiber or oil," Heim said. "We don't want to promise the consumer a cheaper item but a lower cost in any given year based on the inflationary spiral."

Without such research, Heim noted, food prices would not be as small as they are today. A case in point is strawberries, which are Orange County's biggest food crop.

"After World War II the average production of strawberries here was two tons per acre," Heim said. "It now is 25 tons per acre. We wouldn't be eating strawberries for what we are today at that yield."

Researchers also are concentrating on what Heim calls "biological control," which is increasing the use of natural predators in killing insect pests.

SOME INSECTS, he said, can't be controlled chemically and these must be taken care of by predators which are "friendly" to the plants.

Such research is "critical" because "man is losing the battle against insects," Heim said. Since they are so fast-breeding they are able to develop new strains to withstand different pesticides.

"Government regulation is needed, but the more it is regulated the more expensive it is to develop new pesticides," Heim commented.

Researchers in the "farm" currently are trying to develop virus-resistant lemons, short trees for use under power lines, strong turf for the increasing number of California greenbelts and aphid-resistant canteloupes.

All usable crops from the research projects are sold through "normal marketing channels," Heim said. "We try not to waste anything that is marketable. This way, 25 percent of our total annual overhead is returned to the university."

"This research is so vital," Heim asserted. "We encourage the urban population to support the issues of agricultural research in the legislature."

New Directions in Alcohol Care

By MARCIA FORSBERG
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Three modest, four bedroom houses on tree lined Wilo Street in Costa Mesa stand empty right now.

After thorough scrubbing, fresh coats of paint and new carpeting, the dwellings await new residents. But the people who move in won't be typical families.

They'll be recovering alcoholic women. The homes, made comfortable with cheerful wallpaper and nice furnishings, will function as half-way houses for women with drinking problems.

Thanks to the Junior League of Newport Harbor, the project, New Directions For Women, Inc., is becoming a reality and the three recovery houses (leased from Orange County government) will open in mid-September.

The project started two-and-a-half years ago when the group surveyed treatment facilities and health agencies in Orange County, noted Pam Wilder, League member.

Findings showed a need for education of the public in the field of alcoholism and a need for facilities for women alcoholics, she said.

"THERE IS VERY little available for the recovering alcoholic woman, particularly a middle-class woman who had the benefits of some education and a good background," says Muriel Zink, vice president of the board of directors for New Directions and manager of special projects for CompCare.

"The very rich can go to spas or sanitariums, the very poor can get help from agencies, but what happens to the woman in the middle?" she asks.

Often, that woman is discharged from hospital treatment only to find herself right back in the same stress-inducing environment—where there may have been problems with her job, husband or children. (Although there will be no children on the premises, mothers needn't worry. "Arrangements will be made for child care," said Mrs. Zink.)

"The woman needs a kind of cushion," she says. "She needs a place where she can be re-socialized, where her self-esteem can be built up so she can learn self-confidence."

The half-way houses will provide those needs through social, vocational, psychological, spiritual and economic aspects. There will be in-house Alcoholics Anonymous meetings, yoga, guest lectures, dance therapy, outings, communications skills, assertive training, vocational guidance and more professionally directed groups. Trained Junior League volunteers will assist in conducting programs.

The 15 to 18 women who live in the houses will be involved in planning nutritious meals, cooking, setting the table, doing their own housekeeping—activities that will make them feel as though they're at home.

THE PROGRAM is designed to keep the women "productively busy," added Mrs. Zink, so they can "see their capabilities as talented and creative people."

The type of woman seeking shelter and help from the Costa Mesa homes is not the "derelict, loose lady" stereotype, she noted.

"The typical alcoholic woman is in her mid-30's, probably is in a relatively good socioeconomic position, active in the community and she probably has a college education," Mrs. Zink revealed.

These facts about the type of women who would be temporarily living at the homes for a minimum of one month, plus a description of the project and its goals, were discussed with each family in the neighborhood, according to Anne

Members of WAND clean and scrub.

Tierney, executive director of New Directions. The reaction was positive when residents of the area understood that there wouldn't be "taxi arriving with drunk women in the middle of the night," said Mrs. Zink.

In fact, criteria for admission requires that the women be detoxified (not drunk), with a desire for continuing sobriety and a promise to use no drugs or alcohol.

THE WOMEN WILL be referred to the treatment center by a sponsor—a doctor, friend, agency representative or hospital. Admission is voluntary.

Each of the homes will be under the supervision of a resident manager, assistant resident manager or a senior resident. (The senior resident will be a recovered alcoholic woman with a number of years of continuous sobriety.)

Financial and emotional support for the project has come from the Women's Auxiliary for

New Directions (WAND), more than 100 citizens who devoted their energies to cleaning, sweeping, painting and decorating the three homes, noted Mrs. Tierney, former president of the group.

New Directions has been awarded a $20,000 two-year grant from the Fluor Corporation and a $40,000 grant from the James Irvine Foundation. To date, $125,000 has been raised, and the Junior League expects to reach its original $200,000 commitment this year, said Mrs. Wilder.

Judge Phillip A. Petty, a member of the New Directions board of directors, says, "A majority of the cases that I see in municipal court are directly or indirectly related to alcohol and drug abuse."

"I think that anything we can do to assist those who are recovering from alcohol ought to be done."

New Directions will offer the warm, positive, caring environment needed "so women can walk in dignity again," said Mrs. Zink.

another way of competing for the customers' dollars."

Wilbur said the institute has been telling people "for years" not to feed their dogs too much and to avoid giving scraps, which he said are "too fatty and greasy."

ONE LARGE corporation, which put its diet product on the market in February, 1976, added it to the line "because it was felt that there was a need for different kinds of food for dogs," a spokesman said.

"We wanted to provide a nutritionally balanced food for each important stage of a dog's life."

A local market spokesman said, however, that diet dog food is selling "no better and no worse" than regular brands.

Once an owner discovers his pet is overweight and wants to help him, what can he do?

Dr. Edward R. Cole, the Newport Beach veterinarian who worked with Daisy the dachshund, suggested giving the dieting dog the same "people treats" that dieting humans get: low-fat cottage cheese, green beans and carrots.

According to Dr. Birdsall's experience, dogs who slim down successfully, such as Daisy, are rare. "Owners succeed once in a while," he said. "But fat dogs basically are a people problem."

"People feed their dogs too much and they eat too much themselves."

Staying slim will be even more difficult for dogs now that there is a frozen pet dessert on the market. Made of whole milk, dressed chicken, eggs, beef liver, wheat germ and lots of vitamins, it is just like ice cream.

"It's very nutritious," a pet food shop saleswoman said. "It's good for finicky eaters."

Outrage at TV's 'Soap' Unprecedented

PLAYING THE CONFESIONAL FOR LAUGHS Diana Canova, Sal Viscuso in TV's 'Soap'

ABC Offering Madness Crying Out for Sanity?

By JERRY BUCK
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Never before has a television show not yet on the air and unseen by the public inspired such outrage as ABC's "Soap."

But then, never before has a television comedy series tried to wring laughter from suburban peccadillos.

FOR INSTANCE: a tennis pro who's bedding mother and daughter, a boy who wears his mother's clothing and wants a sex-change operation, a girl with the hots for a Jesuit priest, a young man whose ambition is to be a gangland hit man.

Church groups across the nation called it "moral pollution" and the opening wedge of sexually explicit material on prime-time television. A gay activist group said it cringed at the depiction of homosexuals as "limp-wristed fruitcakes."

Some stations planned to shift "Soap," set to premiere on ABC at 9:30 p.m. Tuesday, to a later, and, hopefully, less controversial hour. Eight stations said they won't carry it at all.

"SOAP" WAS DESIGNED as a steamy spoof of soap opera preoccupation with sex, following in the waxy yellow buildup to "Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman."

The idea was to take adultery, promiscuity, impotence and homosexuality and stretch them to absurdity. But it snapped back in angry protests to the network, affiliate stations and the show's potential sponsors.

TV PREVIEW

"I can't believe you really think these are comedy subjects," former CBS censor Sam J. Taylor said in an open letter to ABC Entertainment President Fred Silverman in The Tidings, the newspaper of the Los Angeles Catholic Archdiocese.

HE APPEALED TO Silverman to withdraw the program.

"If all the filth were removed from 'Soap' there would be little left but the commercials," said Dr. Harry N. Hollis Jr., director of Family and Special Moral Concerns of the Christian Life Commission of the Southern Baptist Convention in Nashville, Tenn.

Hollis is one of the few church critics who has actually seen the show.

Hollis is going to ask why any responsible network would have accepted such trash for public consumption in the first place, why any local television station committed to public service would air it, and why any responsible American business would sponsor it."

THE U.S. CATHOLIC Conference urged Catholics to work with others to prevent "this debasement of the television medium through a contempt for human beings."

Al Antczak, editor of The Tidings, said, "There is exploitation of degeneracy in this production."

ABC's Silverman said part of the difficulty had risen because "Soap" was an innovative comedy that defied convenient labeling. He said, "It is perhaps best described as an adult character comedy, with a continuing story line."

IN A CLOSED-CIRCUIT telecast to affiliate stations, Silverman also said, "If you were to take all the overblown criticism of 'Soap' literally, the only logical conclusion would be that the network had suddenly gone berserk. These critics would have you and the American public believe that we're going to throw it all away in one gamble because we're so intent on debauching the morals of the American people."

"Well, that, of course, is completely absurd." The Rev. Everett C. Parker, director of the Office of Communications of the United Church of Christ in New York, said the church's General Synod had unanimously passed a resolution against "exploitive television practice."

HE SAID HE HAD not seen "Soap" but that, "From all of the reports that have come out, this is the opening gun in a program to make gratuitous sexual items the same thing for titillating interest that they have done with violence in the past."

After an initial showing of two pilot episodes of "Soap" to 85 television critics assembled in San Diego last June, ABC has clamped a tight lid on the show. In the face of the gathering storm, it has declined to preview it — although some, like the Baptist leaders, have gotten local stations to show it — and no official of ABC or the producers, Witt-Thomas-Harris, will talk about it.

"It's a tacky, unfunny show," said Terrence O'Flaherty, TV critic of the San Francisco Chronicle, who called it a cross between "Shampoo" and "Captain Billy's Whiz Bang." He said he didn't object to the morality as much as to the sophomoric level of the humor.

Performs Live

Miss Stevens Effervesces

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Connie Stevens is just as bubbly today as she was more than a decade ago when she bubbled "Crickett" on "Hawaiian Eye."

But now she's bubbling before live audiences, singing and dancing in her own show.

SHE IS CONCLUDING a summer theater tour and is getting ready to rehearse for an upcoming stint in Las Vegas.

And although she relishes performing, it's evident after speaking with her for a few minutes that her daughters come first.

"I stayed out of television for quite a while because my girls were so young and I didn't want to miss that part of their lives," she said in an interview here prior to a one-week engagement at the nearby Coliseum summer theater.

"AND, BESIDES, I'D BEEN in television for a long time."

She also starred in "77 Sunset Strip" and "Wendy and Me."

Joely, her oldest daughter is 9. Tricia Leigh is 8. Their father is Connie's former husband, Eddie Fisher.

"When Joely was five days old was the first time she went on the road and they've been all over the world. I feel like I have no right arm if I don't have them along."

Connie speaks as enthusiastically about her daughters as she does about her own career, which has also included various films, records, and a Broadway appearance in Neil Simon's "Star Spangled Girl."

Joely is a promising dancer now and Tricia Leigh is a skilled gymnast who already is practicing with girls twice her age, boasts mom.

Although the girls do attend school in their hometown of Malibu, they are tutored when they are on the road with their celebrity mother for any length of time.

Connie says she has been negotiating with NBC for a television series for some time.

"They want it to be a half-hour situation comedy," she said. "And we're working on a format that would be an hour and would combine singing."

"IF YOU'RE GOING TO DO a television series — it's a consuming medium — so you've got to do something that you're going to be proud of," she explained.

After a three-week stint in Chicago, she will perform in Phoenix and then it's on to Las Vegas, where she usually performs three months each year.

"It's quite an undertaking — a new show in Las Vegas," she said. "It's about a month's rehearsal with the choreography and special effects. We're doing kind of a galactic ballet."

CONNIE, WHO WAS RAISED in the Bronx, later in a group with three girls in high school. Sater, she was the female member of a group named The Fourmost.

Her big break came when she was 17 and with the group, which was later to become The Lettermen.

"They were starting college and I was working as a salesgirl. And we lost one of the boys because his dad wanted him to concentrate on staying in college."

"SO WE WERE AUDITIONING for another voice and some agent was there and asked me if I ever thought of being in the movies. I said, "Yes, but I don't know."

"And they sent me out on a bread commercial. I got the job and I've been eating ever since."

Plane Hits TV Tower

5 in Craft Killed, 10 Employees Escape

BARRIE, Ontario (AP) — Flying in rain and fog, a small twin-engine plane hit the 1,000-foot CKVR television transmission tower and brought it crashing down on the station building late Wednesday afternoon.

The five occupants of the plane were killed, but about 10 CKVR employees inside the building escaped injury.

Jack Matternly, the general manager of CKVR Television Ltd., said the station a mile south of Barrie would be off the air for some time. He estimated repairs would cost about $1 million.

The plane, a Beech-Baron, was owned by Falconbridge Nickel Mines Ltd. and was en route from Sudbury, Ont., to Toronto. A spokesman for the company said it was on a routine business flight but he was unable to identify those aboard immediately.

Gays' Rights Supported

CHICAGO (AP) — Resolutions approved by the American Sociological Association have condemned all attempts — including the use of "abused sociological data" — to prevent homosexuals from gaining equal rights.

The sociologists approved resolutions Wednesday opposing oppressive action against homosexuals and favoring laws, ordinances and other legal measures which guarantee civil rights for homosexuals. The action came during the association's national convention.

Chinese Bid Disclosed

TOKYO (AP) — A special office that guarded Mao Tse-tung reported today former Chinese Defense Minister Lin Piao used warships, bombers and flame throwers in his abortive attempt to seize power in 1971.

This previously undisclosed aspect of the secrecy-shrouded Lin Piao affair was published in a 7,000-word article by the Theoretical Study Group of the general office of the Communist party Central Committee and distributed by the Hsinhua news agency.

13 in Plane Feared Dead

ANCHORAGE (AP) — There was no sign of survivors near the wreckage of a commercial twin-engine plane that crashed with 13 persons aboard on 10,000-foot Mt. Iliamna, the Federal Aviation Administration said.

But an FAA spokesman said that until a search team can reach the site, officials cannot rule out the possibility that some persons on board survived the crash.

Terrorist's Wife Hunted

NEW YORK (AP) — The FBI says a fingerprint on a phony job application led to charges that the wife of a suspected Puerto Rican terrorist planted a bomb that killed one person last month.

FBI Special Agent Edward Foley said Wednesday a warrant had been issued for Marie Haydee Beltran Torres, 22, wife of suspected FALN leader Carlos Alberto Torres, 25. The FALN claimed responsibility for Aug. 3 bombing of Mobil Oil Co. office building that killed Charles Steinbert, 26.

Ethiopia 'War' Forecast

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Diplomats in Nairobi see Ethiopia's break in diplomatic relations with Somalia as the prelude to a declaration of war or an effort to pressure the Kremlin into cutting off arms to the Somalis.

A broadcast from Addis Ababa Wednesday night said Ethiopia's ruling military council had ordered Somalia diplomats to leave the country within 48 hours.

Telethon Mike Stolen

LAS VEGAS (AP) — Not everybody gives to the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Telethon. Some take.

At least one person made off with a microphone valued at $1,500 from the Sahara Space Center after it was dismantled at the close of the telethon, police said.

Hongisto: Maverick Sheriff

Lawman Said Unconventional — Even for San Francisco

EDITOR'S NOTE — Some said it could only happen in San Francisco. Some think that even for San Francisco, he's rather much. Certainly Richard Hongisto is, for a law and order man, remarkably unconventional.

By LINDA KRAMER

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — At a desk, he checks the .38-caliber revolver he wears in a holster at the waist of his dapper, pin-striped suit and enters the county prison for an inspection tour.

"Hey, sheriff," an inmate sings out, "we hear you was in jail."

"Yeah," Sheriff Richard Hongisto replies, "you mind being seen with a criminal?"

LAUGHING, HE SAUNTERS past. The inmate looks after him, admiringly.

"He's different than most sheriffs," he says. "Sometimes I doubt if he's a sheriff at all."

Others have been similarly bemused since Hongisto, a former city cop, took office in 1971 and began shaking up traditional notions of how sheriffs should act.

HE STARTED BY replacing the county seal on his badge of office with a peace symbol. It was the time of Vietnam. When he couldn't pry money for his jail from the city treasury, he organized a rock concert benefit for the jail and boogied on the stage.

Since taking office, Hongisto has built a playground for the children of jail visitors, started a general disease treatment program, ended censorship of prisoner mail and named an ombudsman to handle inmate and staff complaints.

He got a taste of prison life from the other side of the bars last April, serving five days in San Mateo County Jail (not his own) for defying a court order to evict tenants from a Chinatown hotel. The sheriff insisted he lacked manpower to do the job without bloodshed. Later, he carried out the court's mandate.

CHARACTERISTICALLY, Hongisto, used his time in confinement to take notes on prison life and jot down ideas for improving his own jail.

Hongisto is 39, a Ph.D. candidate in criminology and a practitioner of transcendental meditation, and he's sometimes called the "flower power sheriff." But he's gathered more than bouquets in his five years of office.

The Deputy Sheriffs Association, for example, opposed him for re-election and in the past has complained to the civil grand jury about his administrative practices. The group's attorney, Stephen Bley, says many of Hongisto's subordinates "feel he's brought discredit on the department."

BLEY SAYS HONGISTO'S actions in the hotel case "held all law enforcement officers up to ridicule. Everyone thinks it's a big joke, but it's not. Criminals say if the sheriff can get away with it, so can they."

"I gave the court excellent reasons why we couldn't carry out that eviction," Hongisto says. "I don't think I should have been convicted."

A native of San Francisco, Hongisto studied to be a teacher, became a policeman instead and was refused a leave of absence to work on public television.

IN 1971, HONGISTO assembled a coalition of youths, minorities, liberals and homosexuals and ousted the 15-year incumbent, Matt Carberry.

The same coalition helped Hongisto to easy re-election in 1975.

San Francisco has a large gay population and Hongisto was one of the first office-seekers to appeal directly for homosexuals' votes. He keeps acknowledged homosexuals on his staff, has ridden on a float in the annual gay-rights parade and journeyed to Miami to campaign against singer Anita Bryant's anti-gay movement.

ALL THIS INVOLVEMENT has prompted questions about the bachelor sheriff's personal orientation, but, he replies, "I'm utterly conventional in my sexual habits."

In running his six-story lockup, Hongisto stresses rehabilitation, has hired more counselors and expanded programs despite arguments that inmates don't stay long enough in county jail to make the effort worthwhile.

"Most people in this business just process people through the jails," Hongisto says. "They stuff them in at one end and push them out at the other. Rehabilitation hasn't really been tried."

DURING A TOUR OF the jail, Hongisto points out classrooms where inmates study English, music, and put out a prison newspaper. He stops to talk with prisoners waiting for treatment at a new dental clinic "paid for by my hell-raising" and jokes with the chef in the renovated kitchen about the next meal.

"The quality of the food is very important to inmate life," Hongisto said. "I had my own chance to prove it" during his own brief jail term.

Saddleback College

New Arts Complex 'Beautiful Music'

Beautiful music is being made for the first time in Saddleback College's new $3.2 million fine arts complex.

That's because the college music department is the first tenant of the facility, which is still under construction. College officials expect the art wing to be completed within the month and the drama section later this fall.

MONTE LaBONTE, FINE arts division director, is like a kid in a new tree house, especially since music is his specialty. "Listening is one of the most important aspects of music," he said. "We have the capabilities of a professional recording studio here."

With new studio equipment in the building, technicians will be able to mix, record and play back vocal and instrumental performances from the two rehearsal rooms.

"PERFORMING GROUPS need quality playback and we can produce music here which is disc-ready if we wish," LaBonte said. The division director said the facilities offer opportunities for students in radio and television and recording as well as the music purists.

The college's music program has grown to a proportion that will make full use of the new complex.

LaBONTE SAID FALL offerings include such things as classical, non-classical, Flamenco and jazz guitar in addition to piano, opera and other classes.

The college and community bands, string and symphonic orchestras, woodwind, brass and percussion ensembles and other performing classes will also use the facility.

Formal dedication of the fine arts complex is set for later in the year. Until then, with the din of construction as background, there is already music in the air.

Art Show Set For Newport

Artworks ranging from a mounted marlin skull to crocheted place mats are on display this month at Newport Beach city hall as part of the city's annual employes' art show.

The display features work by employes, elected and appointed officials and their families. Included in the show are photographs by Mayor Milan Dostal and library trustee Carter McDonald and a painting by councilman Trudi Rogers.

The multi-media display will remain through the end of the month.

Hospital Unit On Cable TV

The Saddleback Community Hospital Odds and Ends Auxiliary will be featured Monday at 10:30 a.m. on the "You and Your Health" program, RETV, Channel 6, and Sept. 13, at noon.

Host of the show is Dr. Lydia G. Deane, second vice president of Saddleback Hospital board of directors and chairman of community relations.

Woman's Condition Critical

FREDERICK, Md. (AP) — A woman who shot herself in front of the jury that awarded her $2,000 damages in a lawsuit seeking $75,000 remained in critical condition today.

Nancy Suddith, 33, of Lynchburg, Va., pulled a .22-caliber pistol from her purse after the jury's verdict was announced Wednesday in Frederick County Circuit Court and shot herself in the face, authorities said.

NONE OF THE jurors saw the actual shooting, according to Sheriff Donald C. Barnes, but one of them saw her reach into her purse after the verdict and another was treated for shock after the incident.

Miss Suddith was awarded $2,000 in damages stemming from a 1973 car accident in which she injured her shoulder. The injury later required plastic surgery.

SHE SUED JOHN W. Frank of Frederick, who was in the courtroom when she shot herself. He later declined comment.

At the trial, Miss Suddith, who is employed as a GS-9 by the Department of Defense, testified that she suffered so much as a result of the accident that she wished she had died.

HER ATTORNEY, Carville Downes, told the jury that she suffered from depression since the accident and had not been able to perform as well at her job as a quality-control specialist.

Barnes said Miss Suddith "had been emotionally disturbed for some time, and was being treated for the problem by her own doctor."

One juror said that Miss Suddith had cried often during the trial.

Monster of Spell

NB Woman's Book Aid to Reading

By JOANNE REYNOLDS

Of the Daily Pilot Staff

The Ray Moss family of Balboa Island is pretty much a typical group of parents and kids except that it includes a puffy-faced blob that talks in rhymes and turns itself into letters.

The blob, known as the Monster of Spell, was born into the family between the second and third of the four boys because their mother, Janette, couldn't bear to shunt one child to the side while she read to the other.

THE MONSTER OF Spell went to school along with the Moss boys where he was shared with their classmates in an effort to motivate them in reading.

And now he is the subject of a book aimed at helping parents to help their youngsters learn to read.

The book, "Insure That Your Child Will Read," is the product of Mrs. Moss' belief in the importance of encouraging children so they don't learn failure.

'Monster' Gets Life For Murder

NEW YORK (AP) — A Harlem teen-ager who at age 4 set fire to his sister and is now what a psychiatric report termed a "monstrous human being" has been sentenced to life in prison for murdering a cab driver.

"If ever there was a fit subject for capital punishment, you are that individual," Justice Burton B. Roberts declared Wednesday as George Adorno smirked and gazed at the ceiling during sentencing.

ADORNO, 18, PLEADED guilty in state Supreme Court, which in New York is a trial court, to the robbery and murder of Stephen Robinson, 27, a cab driver and college student. Police said Robinson, two credits away from a degree, was robbed of $60 when shot to death Feb. 23.

The justice quoted the psychiatric report as saying of Adorno: "He's a monstrous human being. . . no remorse, no nothing, doesn't care, doesn't give a damn. The warning signs were there — at the age of 4 he set fire to his sister," who recovered from the burns.

ROBERTS SAID ADORNO "knows more about the ins and outs of police stations and Miranda warnings than half the lawyers in the city."

"He knows how to play it like a concert pianist plays the piano. He knows how to give them the baloney, the malarkey."

The justice said Adorno may be implicated in four other killings, and directed the Manhattan district attorney to try to resolve a conflict in the defendant's birthdate to determine whether Adorno was old enough at the time of the crimes to qualify for trial instead of juvenile punishment.

ROBINSON'S PARENTS were in the courtroom when Roberts pronounced sentence, and referred to the cab driver's plans to enter law school.

"We live in a society where we have too many George Adornos," Roberts said. "We can't afford to lose another Stephen Robinson."

and pages too long. It's easy to hold a child's attention while you're telling them a story, but you can't work it the same way when you're writing it."

Initial sales of the book have been encouraging—pre-printing orders resulted in a 10,000 issue initial press run — and there are plans for a full-color version of the boom as well as a Monster of Spell, part II.

Mrs. Moss' life since she wrote Monster of Spell has been full with promotional tours and work on future projects.

"I HAVEN'T EVEN had time to read it since it came off the press," she said.

Busy as her life has become, she says she is thoroughly enjoying it.

"You know, I don't think I will ever get used to the idea that I've actually done it — that there's something like that with my name on it."

Sabiches Ask For Files of Prosecutor

ASPEN, Colo. (AP) — The parents of Claudine Longet's slain lover, Spider Sabich, have taken Dist. Atty. Frank Tucker to court in an effort to gain release of the prosecutor's files on the entertainer.

But Tucker told Judge J. E. Devilbiss on Wednesday it would not be in the public interest to release them. He said the files consisted of memos from Miss Longet's January trial and his impressions of her diary, which was not used as evidence in her trial.

TUCKER SAID HE told the Sabiches at first they could have the files, but changed his mind when he read the applicable law.

In a brief, Tucker and Deputy Dist. Atty. Barry Bryant said that if the files were released, confidential sources in the Longet case might be "harassed by the news media, parents of Sabich or others."

TUCKER HAS ALSO said the files in question were stolen in a burglary at his home and never recovered.

Sabich, a professional skier, was shot to death more than a year ago in the home he shared with Miss Longet. The singer was convicted in January of criminally negligent homicide and served 30 days in jail.

Road Work Worries Parents

Parents whose children attend R.H. Dana Elementary School in Dana Point have organized a safety committee to protect children walking to school on streets where traffic is disrupted by the widening of Selva Road, shown here looking north from the Street of the Golden Lantern intersection. "Heavy traffic is being rerouted every which way, and the school children are right in the middle of it," said Carol Sue Mullen, committee chairman. "We're afraid it's the old story—no action will be taken until something tragic happens."

Stolen Plane to Smuggle?

Long Beach police said today they believe a $160,000 twin-engine plane stolen from a Huntington Beach firm about a week ago may end up as a vehicle for drug trafficking between the U.S. and Mexico.

The eight-passenger Cessna 402-B belonging to the Watson Manufacturing Company was taken Aug. 31 from Long Beach Municipal Airport.

"That it will be used to smuggle narcotics from Mexico to the U.S. is only an assumption on our part, but some stolen airplanes have been used for this purpose in the past," said Long Beach detective Conrad Nutzmann.

He said the thief apparently pried open a door to the cockpit and flew away from turning on a switch. Nutzmann said that larger planes of this type do not require an ignition key.

The theft was discovered by George Watson, general manager of the Watson Manufacturing Company, when he went to the airport Aug. 31 to fly the plane to another plant owned by the company in New Mexico.

Watson said that he has been informed that airplane thieves often alter serial numbers and repaint the craft.

Banks, county offices and courts will be closed Friday in observance of Admission Day, which commemorates California statehood.

Most city offices in coastal Orange County will stay open, with the exceptions of offices in San Juan Capistrano, San Clemente and Costa Mesa.

School districts which will be closed include the Saddleback Valley Unified, Laguna Beach Unified, Ocean View and Huntington Beach High School districts.

Districts to remain open Friday include Capistrano Unified, Irvine Unified, Fountain Valley and Huntington Beach elementary.

Capistrano took its holiday Tuesday, Irvine is saving the day off for sometime in December, Fountain Valley was closed last Friday and Huntington Beach is trading Admission Day in favor of the day after Thanksgiving.

On the community college scene, Saddleback College will be closed.

However, the Coast Community College District and its two campuses will be open. District employees were given their Admission Day holiday on the Friday preceding Labor Day for a four-day weekend.

'Amigos' Plan Briefing on Marsh Wildlife

Huntington Beach Planning Director Edward Selich will give a briefing tonight on the planning for the Bolsa Chica wildlife area at a meeting of the Amigos de Bolsa Chica.

The Huntington Beach City Council has recently approved partial annexation of 329 acres of bluffs in the area that is expected to result in residential development.

Another 324 acres of lowlands under consideration for state acquisition and is not affected by the partial annexation action.

The State Legislature has authorized $3.6 million for acquisition of that portion of the marshlands.

Tonight's meeting will be held at 8 o'clock at the home of Margaret Carlberg, 17422 Lido Lane, Huntington Beach.

The Amigos de Bolsa Chica is an organization which advocates restoration and preservation of Bolsa Chica for ecological and recreational open space.

Lance Due To Resign Next Week?

BOSTON (AP) — Budget Director Bert Lance plans to announce his resignation after defending himself next week at Senate hearings into his dealings as a Georgia banker, the Boston Herald American said today.

The newspaper quoted sources it said are close to Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff (D-Conn.), chairman of the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee which opened hearings today.

Ribicoff told President Carter on Sunday that Lance should resign. Ribicoff had been one of Lance's earliest supporters. He said six weeks ago that Lance had been unjustly criticized by the news media.

Meanwhile, the New York Daily News said in an editorial today that Lance's usefulness as a budget director has been "destroyed" and that "if Lance won't resign gracefully, President Carter ought to pull the plug on his pal."

And the New York Times said in an editorial today that "For the President to ask for Mr. Lance's resignation is not, finally, to surrender to lynch-mob injustice but to demonstrate an understanding and mastery of the rough-and-tumble of national politics. The most important issue is not Mr. Lance's probity as a banker but Mr. Carter's sagacity as a politician."

In another development the government's chief banking regulator today told a Senate committee he would have endorsed Lance as budget director only if certain Lance had corrected some of his practices as a Georgia banker.

Noting that his office had ordered the Calhoun First National Bank, headed by Lance, to correct questionable management practices that included permitting officers to write overdrafts on their checking accounts, John (See LANCE, Page A2)

HB Crash Victim's Condition Guarded

A 23-year-old Newport Beach woman was in guarded condition today at Pacifica Hospital after paramedics cut her from her auto which was demolished in a five-car accident in Huntington Beach Wednesday morning.

Lisa Ann French of 210 Fern St. suffered a concussion, fractured ribs and a broken pelvis when her compact car collided with a small sedan in the intersection of Brookhurst Street and Adams Avenue at 10:45 a.m., Huntington Beach police traffic investigators reported.

Four other drivers and passengers received minor injuries and were treated and released from local hospitals.

Police officer Richard Onstott blamed the chain reaction collision on malfunctioning traffic lights which apparently confused drivers of three of the vehicles. None of the five drivers involved in the accident were cited, police said.

Driver Thomas B. Miller, 33, of Newport Beach, told police he struck a pickup truck in the intersection.

Police said Miss French's auto then struck Miller's compact sedan and went careening out of control into two other vehicles.

Miss French was pinned inside her auto but her passenger, Dale Ann Grove of Covina, was able to free herself from the battered car.

Fountain Valley paramedics and Huntington Beach firemen used the "Jaws of Life" cutting device to break through the auto's sides and remove the injured driver.

Miss Grove suffered multiple cuts but no major injuries. Traffic was snarled for almost two hours at the intersection.

City traffic engineers are still investigating what caused the traffic signals to malfunction.

TV Victory For 'Doors'

NEW YORK (AP) — The opening episode of ABC's "Washington: Behind Closed Doors" won a narrow victory in the national television ratings battle Tuesday night, according to A.C. Nielsen Company figures.

The rating service said today that an estimated 16,040,000 homes were tuned to ABC while CBS drew 15,450,000 for its film, "Logan's Run" and NBC drew 12,470,000 for the movie "The Hindenburg."

The national ratings were ABC, 22.0; CBS, 21.2 and NBC, 17.1. The rating is the estimated percentage of the total television sets in the country that are tuned to a particular program.

Parents Face 'Lie' Tests

SANTA MONICA (AP) — The parents of an 11-year-old girl missing since Monday have agreed to undergo lie-detector tests as scores of searchers "turned up nothing."

Lt. George Hawes said Wednesday that parents of Rachel Hanna Ziselman, Rosemary Ziselman and John Zee, who are separated, were taking polygraph tests to assure that the disappearance was not part of a custody dispute.

However, he cautioned that polygraph tests in such cases were not unusual and that "no one should assume . . . that the parents are suspected of any wrongdoing."

Ailment Required Surgery

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — President Idi Amin of Uganda was reported by a top aide today to be "in a coma" after undergoing surgery in a Kampala hospital for an undisclosed ailment.

Robert Astles, British-born confidant of the 51-year-old president, said in a telephone interview with the Associated Press in Nairobi he did not have further details.

Asked the reason for the operation, he replied: "We don't exactly know. But he's in a coma. We believe he'll pull out of it. I'm going over to the hospital right now to see what's happening."

Astles was speaking from his office in Kampala. He is a white Ugandan citizen married to a black Ugandan, Mary Astles, who is Ugandan minister of culture.

Earlier today, Uganda radio announced that Amin underwent the operation in Kampala's Nulago Hospital by a Soviet surgeon. The broadcast said the president was accompanied to the hospital by the Soviet ambassador on Wednesday. Dr. Feodor Senkof was identified as the surgeon.

Astles said he did not know whether the comatose state was a normal after-effect of anesthesia, or whether it was induced by postoperative complications.

Amin, self-declared field marshal and president for life, came to power in January 1971 when he toppled President Milton Obote in a coup backed by junior army officers.

His rule has been marked by violence and bloodshed as he allegedly eliminated rival tribes who threatened his grip on the landlocked African country the size of the state of Oregon.

Married five times and divorced three, Amin is reputed to have fathered at least 36 children and once said he planned to have 400.

HB Planners Delay Land Use Hearing

Huntington Beach planning Commissioners have postponed a public hearing on changes in the city for further study.

Commissioner Ruth Finley asked for the delay Wednesday so that two recent appointees to the commission—Frank Hoffman and John Stern—can familiarize themselves with the complicated action.

The commission set a study session on the matter for Sept. 13. A public hearing in which residents can give their viewpoints is rescheduled for Sept. 20.

Included in the plan is a proposal to change about 200 acres in the central industrial corridor along Gothard Street from industrial to residential use.

A provision to phase out certain small businesses in the area also is included in the plan.

68 Pistols Stolen in Costa Mesa

In a daring daylight store robbing, burglars used a tow truck to rip off the front door of the Grant Boys' store in downtown Costa Mesa Wednesday, escaping with about 68 handguns, valued at up to $14,500.

Police said the burglary team hit the store on busy Newport Boulevard in broad daylight at 7:15 a.m.

So swift was the raid that the thieves had fled before police could answer the burglar alarm.

It was the second time within 10 days that gun thieves had looted the store at 1750 Newport Boulevard.

Police Lt. George Lorton said there is a strong possibility that the same bandits struck again.

In Wednesday's raid, the burglars triggered a store alarm but moved quickly enough to load up the guns and escape before police arrived.

Police said at least two men were involved in the heist. The burglars used a white tow truck with a red boom to tear off the front door.

Once inside the store, the bandits swiftly shattered three gun cases and took at least 100 handguns of various calibers.

Store employees are still totaling the loss, estimated at between $17,000 and $25,000.

On Aug. 28, a similar break-in resulted in the loss of 37 revolvers valued at $4,837.

In both cases, the suspects are described as black men in their early 20s.

Police are seeking additional witnesses to the burglary which occurred in full view of motorists on busy Newport Boulevard.

Treaty Celebrated

PANAMA CITY, Panama (AP) — Church bells rang, car horns blared and hundreds of Panamanians paraded through the streets Wednesday night to celebrate the signing of the new Panama Canal treaties. (Related story, A4).

Couple Swap Gunshots

HOMWOOD, Ill. (AP) — A depressed and jealous wife shot her husband while he slept, but he revived nearly 20 hours later and the couple then took turns shooting each other with her gun, police said. It began in bed and went on as they crawled bleeding from room to room.

The 32-caliber revolver changed hands several times. It ended after police arrived. They said the woman, who had turned the gun on herself by that point, fired a final shot at her husband, collapsed, and died.

Her husband was hospitalized in critical condition.

Police said the bizarre episode began at 7 a.m. Tuesday in a second-floor condominium in a comfortable new building in the suburb of Homewood, southwest of Chicago. It ended at 3 a.m. Wednesday.

Police said Margaret Radovich, 56, shot her husband, Theodore, 56, twice in the chest while he slept Tuesday morning and later, for some unexplained reason, returned to the bed.

"When he regained consciousness Wednesday, he found his wife next to him in bed and pulled the gun out of her hand, shooting her once in each leg," said Police Chief William Nolan.

Nolan said Radovich also fired a shot out the window to attract attention and tried to throw the gun through a closed window.

The window broke, but the gun fell back inside the room, and Mrs. Radovich found it and reloaded it.

Radovich managed to crawl to another room, followed by his wife, who then shot him in the mouth, Nolan said.

But he still was able to make his way to another bedroom. There he broke a window in another attempt to attract attention.

Meanwhile, Nolan said, Mrs. Radovich shot herself.

When police arrived, after being summoned by neighbors, they found Mrs. Radovich in a hallway. She was on the floor, and her husband was in the other room.

Police said that before they could reach Mrs. Radovich, she took one more shot at her husband through the doorway. The bullet missed, and she fell unconscious.

She was dead on arrival at a hospital.

Authorities found notes apparently written by Mrs. Radovich that "said such things as life being tough and difficult, and one note made reference to another woman."

"It appeared that she was very upset over probably a number of things," Nolan said. "She indicated that life was too tough for her and had been too tough for her all of her life."

Police said Mrs. Radovich recently bought the handgun without telling her husband, and arranged the couple's insurance papers in a shoe box with explanatory notes for anyone who found them. Police would not say whether they had children.

Council Mistaken in Closing Tax Debate

The Huntington Beach City Council has reduced the city property tax rate for the first time in five years. It is a feat that normally might be greeted with huzzahs from the public and a round of self-congratulations and back-patting by members of the council. But not this time. The action left a bad taste in the mouths of many and hurt feelings among council officials. The city cut the tax rate seven cents to $1.55 per $100 assessed valuation and set aside another three cents to go into a reserve fund in case it loses an appeal in an $1.2 million lawsuit on real estate transfer taxes it collected in parts of 1974 and 1975.

Many residents, however, were holding out for a 10-cent tax cut. Perhaps more importantly, they wanted a chance to speak to the issue before the council took action. Unfortunately, they were denied this opportunity by the majority of the council.

A ruling by the city attorney's office held that the meeting was adjourned from a regular meeting in which residents had a chance to make oral comments.

Because they had the right to speak earlier, it presumably was not necessary for the tax-setting deliberations to be thrown open to the public.

Making the city's posture even more questionable was the fact that public comment was not specifically addressed to the tax-setting issue at the previous session.

It may be true that the requirements had been legally satisfied, but the action taken by the council majority to shut off comment is hardly morally defensible.

The council would have been much better off, even if its decision would not have been substantially affected, to listen to public concerns rather than quarreling among themselves for an hour over that point.

The tax-setting imbroglio also pointed out the political prowess of Councilwoman Harriett Wieder who was later to be accused of grandstanding after she sent letters to residents, imploring them to pack the council chambers and demand a 10-cent cut.

Mrs. Wieder succeeded in attracting more than 100 residents to the meeting. And it seems as if the decision to squelch public discussion was intended more as a rebuff to Mrs. Wieder than to the residents.

It appears that she had her council colleagues trapped in a tight corner on the tax issue. They were unwise to apparently react to Mrs. Wieder's activities of doing their duty.

And that's to listen to what is going on out there.

Secrecy No Help

Fountain Valley (elementary) School District officials and teachers have finally agreed on a contract after seven bitter months of haggling.

It's certainly good news when the district and teachers can stop bickering and name-calling and get back to educating our youngsters.

But the teachers and district officials decided at the last minute to withhold details of a tentative contract agreement they reached last week until the pact was ratified.

This was not only unnecessary but unfair to Fountain Valley and Huntington Beach taxpayers who pick up the tab for teachers' and district officials' salaries.

This "it's none of the citizens' business" attitude on the part of teacher group leaders and district officials must cease.

School board members should not sanction this type of secrecy and should hold district employees accountable to the end of the contract negotiations.

No one is served by secret tactics on the part of the teachers or the board.

Boyd/Umbrellas

By L.M. BOYD

Another way in which the more critical Britisher judges a gentleman is by how sleekly he furls his broly. What, you've never seen a gentleman furl a broly? That's "fold up an umbrella." Umbrella comes from the Italian meaning "little shadow," let's throw that in, too.

When that Nazi bigwig Hermann Goering took cyanide during his war crimes trial at Nuremberg after World War II, he left a note "to the German people." Allied authorities impounded it, saying its message wouldn't be disclosed until 20 years later. That 20 years has come and gone and then some. Client asks if the letter has ever been made public. Don't know, don't know. Most mysterious. Have you ever heard of its disclosure?

Q. "Did Civil War soldiers have nude pinup pictures, too?"
A. Some. There were highly prized French Daguerrotypes of nudes by 1840. Most of the pinups, though, were fashion drawings with a lot of hoops and ruffles. And these were in tents all over.

Q. "Why was the first week in November picked for national elections?"

A. Because it came after the harvests and before the roads got too gummed up to make it to town. An 1845 law set the time.

Customer contends the greatest migration in history occurred between 1800 and 1875 when 7.5 million immigrants moved from the British Isles to the New World. Maybe so. But that's worthy of debate. I'll warrant that the migration from the farms to the cities during the last 50 years was somewhat greater.

Q. "How many women were among those original 100 Jamestown settlers?"
A. None. ("I'll send for you, baby.") The women came later.

Nuclear Waste Crisis Looms

WASHINGTON—At least 20 nuclear reactors are so swamped with their own radioactive wastes that they will have to close down within seven years unless drastic action is taken.

The Carter administration has prohibited reprocessing used nuclear fuel and many nuclear plants have crammed their storage facilities to capacity with the spent fuel rods. A nuclear reactor must shut down if its lethal wastes cannot be stored or shipped away.

The nation's nuclear plants, meanwhile, are running out of room and time. An investigation by the Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA) has found several nuclear reactors with a critical oversupply of spent fuel.

For example, South Carolina's H.B. Robinson plant, operated by Carolina Power and Light, will be forced to shut down by February 1978 if it is not permitted to ship out its deadly radioactive wastes. A company spokesman admitted to us: "We're in trouble. Time is of the essence."

ANOTHER REACTOR on the problem list is located in La Crosse, Wis. The chaotic federal nuclear policy, complained the plant manager, is "constipating the nuclear industry." Several other nuclear facilities are also caught in the squeeze.

The nuclear industry, meanwhile, is grinding to a standstill while it waits for President Carter to produce a comprehensive nuclear policy. In a private letter to the president, Rep. John Moss (D.-Calif.) has warned that "the earliest an industry spent fuel storage facility could be built and licensed is 1983. Yet by 1983, 30 reactors will have lost the ability to control their nuclear wastes properly."

THIS, stressed Moss, will result in the "imminent threat of nuclear reactor shutdowns."

In fairness, government experts claim the situation has improved from a dire emergency of a couple of years ago. But radioactive wastes continue to stockpile while storage space shrinks.

FARM EXPORTS: The Foreign Agriculture Service (FAS), an arm of the Agriculture Dept., sends both government men and businessmen abroad to promote the sale of U.S. farm products.

In all fairness, it must be said that these traveling pitchmen have been successful in boosting foreign sales of ripe tobacco leaf, surplus wheat and other commodities grown in the United States.

They haven't been quite as successful, however, as the FAS likes to claim. Last year, the agency inflated its claims with phony statistics—the better to justify its $40 million budget.

THERE WAS the matter, for example, of cattle exports to Hungary. A staff investigation for Chairman Charles Vanik (D.-Ohio) of the House Trade subcommittee, found that Hungary is buying less cattle from the United States.

But the FAS solemnly assured Congress Hungary is purchasing more U.S. cattle than ever. For this, the agency took full credit.

It turned out, however, that the FAS had various statistics to choose from. The Economic Research Service, which keeps track of livestock exports, reported that 597 American steers reached Hungary in 1976.

The Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service keeps its own count of the cattle that is shipped overseas. By its arithmetic, 1,245 head of cattle made it to Hungary.

Neither figure was much to boast about. The FAS, therefore, seized upon some private statistics kept by the Holstein-Friesian Assn., a huge cattle cooperative. Triumphant, the FAS reported to Congress that the cooperative had exported 6,300 cattle to the Hungarian market. But the agency couldn't even get the private figures right. The surprised cooperative had reported shipping only 3,326 steers to Hungary.

IF CONGRESS has been misled about the amount of U.S. beef served to hungry Hungarians last year, the FAS is not repentant. An official told us the agency intended to "ignore" the congressional investigation. He said the FAS was constantly being investigated by Congress, without detriment. It is difficult, he added, to make sure all the figures are accurate.

But congressional critics are wondering why the taxpayers need to spend $40 million to promote agricultural sales overseas. The United States dominates agricultural trade and shouldn't need touring promoters to tout its beef and barley.

"It's a little bit," Vanik told us, "like Saudi Arabia advertising the benefits of its oil."

ELECTRONIC RIPOFFS — Computerized banking is becoming the new rage and may eventually replace cash and credit cards. In the electronic age, consumers will be able to purchase groceries by transferring funds electronically from their bank to the supermarket.

But under the present state of the art, computerized banking leaves the customers vulnerable to electronic ripoffs. One woman lost her life savings of $3,800 when her plastic bank card was stolen. Her account was emptied out by the enterprising thief. But under the current laws, she can't recover a dime.

INTERNAL staff memos of the National Commission on Electronic Fund Transfers warn, meanwhile, that the system could "cause severe hardship to consumers." If a citizen loses money because of "human or computer error," the documents note, "it would be his word against the bank's."

Planned Parenthood Accusation False

To the Editor:

Supervisor Laurence Schmit's letter to the editor of Aug. 29 deserves a reply.

The Supervisor stated that Planned Parenthood promotes anti-family activities and promiscuous sex among teenagers. As president of Planned Parenthood of Orange County, I want to assure your readers that this is not true.

OUR BYLAWS say that the purpose of our organization is "to provide leadership for the universal acceptance of family planning as an essential element of responsible parenthood, stable family life and social harmony through education for family planning, the provision of the necessary services and the promotion of research in the field of human reproduction."

Our organization consists of dedicated and hard working volunteers and staff who provide clinic and education services in a cost effective, humane manner. Tax funds are supplemented by private donations from generous Orange Countians who agree with us that every child should be a wanted child.

SUPERVISOR Schmit persists in waving our literature around out of context in order, I assume, to stir up the bleak fantasies of evil imagined by the few fanatics who support him on this issue.

Contrary to what he and his friends have stated, we vocally condemn promiscuous, exploitative sex. We beg sexually active people to bring babies into the world only as members of a family unit with a supportive father and mother.

Supervisor Schmit, incidentally, has done nothing during his term of office to support, strengthen or assist the family unit. He should be very glad Planned Parenthood exists to struggle with the issue.

Shame!

To the Editor:

Shame on those in high governmental places who would dare criticize former President Richard Nixon for allegedly keeping for himself some valuable gifts that belong to the U.S. government!

Nixon, it is reported from San Clemente, is "deeply hurt" by these dastardly accusations.

Nixon, while President, shined all of us that he is so honest, clean, wholesome and forthright that it should be incomprehensible for anyone to even consider accusing him of doing something that is not completely above board.

Shame on his nasty accusers!

Says It All

To the Editor:

Re: Supervisor Laurence J. Schmit's letter in the Aug. 29 paper.

The first part of his first sentence says it all.

"I have just had the opportunity to read your editorial of July 21..."

That's just about par for the supervisor, it seems. A little bit behind everywhere and in everything.

Rights Overlooked

To the Editor:

Your headlines "Huntington Plans Airport Closing" on Aug. 23 must have the real estate developers jumping with joy. If the airport is closed, more high density buildings can be constructed.

The fact that airplane owners have rights too is completely disregarded. The people who bought homes knew the airport was there so why did they buy? I would be willing to bet that a large portion of residents near the airport who have petitioned its closure are renting apartments nearby. Why do they not move elsewhere?

My sympathies lie with Mr. Nerio who will have to fight his battle with his own money for attorneys, but the City of Huntington Beach and Mr. Bonfa, with his staff of attorneys, can use taxpayers funds.

DALE JOHNSON

To the Editor:

I enjoyed reading your interview with Van France, which appeared in the Sunday, Aug. 28 Pilot. It was the gutsy and positive approach to life and work which he expressed which prompted this letter regarding Ms. Hyman's column in "The Weekender" on the South Coast Repertory Theater's recent production and her interview with Burgess Meredith.

Her description of Mr. Meredith evoked images of a very old party who had been rolled out of his convalescent home on a gurney, lifted into a wheelchair so he could be pushed onto the stage in order to deliver directions in a feeble, halting weakened-by-age-and-disease voice. I wonder how one so vital and able as Burgess Meredith, so sought-after as both actor and director in theater, movies and television, can possibly be described by her as "still energetic and agile despite his 67 years."

First, who cares if he's 67, 37 or 87? He's talented and experienced and was chosen to do a job among many others, presumably talented, regardless of age. What has age to do with ability and experience anyway? This message, this subliminal idea that it is news-worthy that an individual is ambulatory at senior citizen status, must be eliminated from the media and from our collective consciousness.

Second, equal rights to life, liberty and freedom to work and express oneself creatively must be extended to all of our citizens, regardless of age—whether 50, 60 or, heaven forbid, even 70 years of age or older. (Watch it there, Will Grant, Ruth Gordon, Will Geer, Margaret Mead, et al.).

By the way, Ms. Hyman mentioned that it was Mr. Meredith's first visit to Costa Mesa. I suggest that if he ever sees the article that visit may well be his last.

ESTELLE O. WEBB

To the Editor:

Your readers, particularly those in the flight pattern of the Orange County Airport, will have noted the recent settlement of the suit brought against the county by Mr. Harry Rinker. This settlement, once again, highlights the major noise problem caused by the Orange County Airport, and sharpens the wits of other homeowners whose lifestyle is being adversely affected by the continued expansion of airport activity.

In this respect, it is high time that we began to focus on the expansion of business jets. Recent figures published indicate that business jet activity increased from 1,523 take-offs and landings for the second quarter of 1976 to 3,888 for the same period in 1977.

THE INFLUX of companies of the magnitude of Fluor, with their special helicopter facilities, and other similar companies capable of making substantial investments in private aircraft, are making our lives a misery.

Most of us have accepted commercial air traffic, as a necessary evil and a useful transportation system, to help the people in Orange County avoid having to face up to the realities of Los Angeles International Airport, but it is time to pause and take a good, hard look at our attitude to business jet activity which, in the opinion of the writer, are far more noisy and bothersome during take-off than the commercial airlines.

U.S. Probes Clinic

Water, Lemon Juice Cure Fraud?

RIVERSIDE (AP) — A nationwide investigation is under way into the practices of a controversial Murrieta Hot Springs clinic that allegedly promised to cure cancer patients with a diet of water and lemon juice.

The clinic became the center of controversy last month after the parents of 7-year-old Kimberly Cox of Milwaukee, tried to remove her from a Milwaukee hospital where she was being treated for leukemia and take her to the Murrieta clinic. The hospital refused to let her go.

THE CALIFORNIA Department of Consumer Affairs said Wednesday that A. J. Rudd & Associates, which operates the clinic, was being investigated for allegedly practicing medicine without a license, physician incompetence and illegal cancer treatment.

The department said its Board of Medical Quality Assurance was cooperating with other boards across the country in an investigation of at least 780 "testers" trained at the clinic to take urine and saliva samples from his patients.

The "testers" analyze the samples, then send their findings to the Murrieta clinic, which recommends treatment.

There are about 80 "testers" in California and 700 nationally, according to John Urso, regional director of the Consumer Affairs Department in Santa Ana.

"TESTERS" — WHO pay $15,000 for a week-long training course at the clinic — have also been reported in Australia, Japan, Jamaica and Germany, Urso said.

Horace C. Gibson, medical director of the Murrieta clinic, said the cure offered to patients included living on a diet of distilled water and lemon juice and receiving treatment from chiropractors. At least 12 cancer patients — including 8-year-old Eric Wells of San Jose — had been treated at the clinic recently, Gibson said.

Brown Gets Age, Job Bill

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Legislation allowing employees of state and local government to work beyond the mandatory retirement age — if they are still competent — has been sent to Gov. Edmund Brown Jr.

A 66-0 vote in the Assembly Wednesday approved Senate amendments to the measure (AB 658) by Assemblyman Richard Alatorre.

A SIMILAR bill affecting private employees was sent to the governor last week.

AB 568 would not affect police officers and firefighters. Mandatory retirement ages vary from 65 to 70. The state's is 67.

State and local agencies would set standards for employees to prove competence.

The public employe bill would take effect immediately upon the governor's signature. The effective date of Alatorre's private employe bill is Jan. 1.

Senate OKs Tax Delay

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The California Senate has approved a plan to allow senior citizens who earn less than $20,000 a year to postpone payment of their property taxes.

The measure, AB 1070 by Assemblyman Fred Chel, (D-Long Beach), would implement Prop. 13, a ballot measure approved by voters last year.

On a 34-0 vote Wednesday, it was returned to the Assembly for action on amendments.

UNDER THE bill, a homeowner 62 years or older could put off property tax payments until the house was sold or the owner died. The state would take a lien on the property and the taxes would be paid after the house was sold.

Supporters say the measure would prevent senior citizens on limited incomes from being forced out of their homes by skyrocketing property taxes.

Beaten, Strangled

Elderly Woman Slain

LONG BEACH (AP) — A 90-year-old woman, Gladys Ott, has been found beaten and strangled in her apartment, less than two weeks after her elderly next-door neighbor suffered the same fate, police said.

Mrs. Ott was found Wednesday by her daughter, who had tried to phone her during the day but had received a busy signal, police said.

On Aug. 29th, the victim's neighbor, Vernita Curtis, 83, was found in a similar condition by her daughter. In both cases there was forced entrance and the residences were ransacked.

LNG Measure Backed

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Assembly has approved a bill to expedite the remote siting of California's first liquefied natural gas terminal — but an attempt is expected to make populated areas eligible.

A 73-4 vote Wednesday sent the compromise bill back to the Senate for action on amendments.

Families Evacuated

CANOGA PARK (AP) — Some 60 to 70 families briefly evacuated their homes early today after a load of chlorine gas spilled from a truck and began leaking toxic fumes, police said.

Police conducted a voluntary evacuation of families in a 20-block area when two 150-pound cylinders ruptured after falling from the flatbed truck shortly before midnight.

Girlie 'King' Evicted

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Hollywood's onetime "king of the girlie parlors" has been evicted by a feisty landlady.

Mrs. Po C. Lin obtained an eviction judgment in Municipal Court against both the lessee, the Rev. Michael Ford, and the sublessee, William Norman, who last month opened a nude modeling studio in her Hollywood storefront.

Gays Backed

Jim Brown, former Cleveland Browns star fullback, said Wednesday human rights issues faced by homosexuals are similar to problems he has faced as a black. The television and movie actor appeared at a news conference held to announce a Sept. 18 Hollywood Bowl concert from which the proceeds will be used for education on the homosexual issue.

WILL THEY BE NEXT VICTIMS OF THRILL KILLER? Offspring of Two Horses Slain on El Toro Ranch

By WILLIAM HODGE

Lealana and Carolisa were peacefully grazing in a quiet pasture just off Santiago Canyon Road in northeast El Toro when at least four shots rang out. Three .22-caliber slugs ripped through Carolisa's neck, killing her instantly. Another bullet tore through Lealana's heart, but she was able to gallop a few hundred feet up a hill to her young offspring. Perhaps she hoped to protect them from the danger. She dropped dead at her colt's feet. 'Our horses are just like our family,' a shaken Frank Waer said Wednesday. The 82-year-old has been raising show horses in the hills above El Toro for over 20 years. 'It was just like them shooting

one of my daughters,' Waer said of the thrill-killers who struck Monday. The killers were described by a witness as two white men in their early 20s. Police are still seeking them. They leisurely parked their four-wheel-drive vehicle in Waer's driveway and shot the horses from about 30 feet away. Before their killing spree had ended, two cows were dead and another horse was injured. 'It's getting where if you value your life you better get out of this area,' Waer said, describing several other incidents of people taking shots at water tanks on his ranch from the hills above his home. 'The last two years have been a nightmare. I guess I should (See KILLINGS, Page A2)

IIC Bill Clears Hurdle

Mayor Perplexed; Marx Sarcastic

A bill was approved by the state Assembly Wednesday that would allow development of the Irvine Industrial Complex-East despite a lawsuit that seeks to force its Irvine Company developer to provide housing for workers first. The bill, SB-344, sponsored by Sen. Dennis Carpenter (R-Newport Beach), won the bare majority required for passage, and was returned to the Senate for action on amendments. News of the legislation won a perplexed reaction from Irvine Mayor Bill Vardoulis and drew sarcasm from one of the plaintiffs of the lawsuit. Vardoulis said he didn't understand the need for Carpenter's legislation, as it pertains to development of the industrial complex. 'I don't know what the hoopla is about,' he said. 'I don't see why the Irvine Company couldn't proceed with industrial development with or without this bill,' Vardoulis said.

'There's no restraining order in the lawsuit. 'My feeling is they haven't proceeded because of the potential outcome of the suit and because it has been hard to get financial backing with the suit pending.' The lawsuit is scheduled for a hearing in December. It was brought jointly by seven Irvine residents and the Orange County Fair Housing Council. Wesley Marx, an environmental writer who is one of the plaintiffs in the case, said the legislation was the product of an Irvine Company 'sob story.' 'I think the company and the city (which is a codefendant in the suit) realized that their legal base is eroding,' said Marx, 'so they're trying to get the legislature to buy their sob story about the industrial complex.' Marx agreed with Vardoulis that the lawsuit by itself isn't delaying the $1 billion industrial project. (See SUIT, Page A2)

Idi Amin Stricken, In Coma

REPORTED IN COMA Uganda's Idi Amin

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — President Idi Amin of Uganda was reported by a top aide today to be "in a coma" after undergoing surgery in a Kampala hospital for an undisclosed ailment.

Robert Astles, British-born confidant of the 51-year-old president, said in a telephone interview with the Associated Press in Nairobi he did not have further details.

Asked the reason for Amin's operation, he replied: "We don't exactly know. But he's in a coma. We believe he'll pull out of it. I'm going over to the hospital right now to see what's happening."

Astles was speaking from his office in Kampala. He is a white Ugandan citizen married to a black Ugandan, Mary Astles, who is Ugandan minister of culture.

Earlier today, Uganda radio announced that Amin underwent the operation in Kampala's Nulago Hospital by a Soviet surgeon. The broadcast said the president was accompanied to the hospital by the Soviet ambassador on Wednesday. Dr. Feodor Senkof was identified as the surgeon.

Astles said he did not know whether the comatose state was a normal after-effect of anesthesia, or whether it was induced by postoperative complications.

Amin, self-declared field marshal and president for life, came to power in January 1971 when he toppled President Milton Obote in a coup backed by junior army officers.

His rule has been marked by violence and bloodshed as he allegedly eliminated rival tribes who threatened his grip on the landlocked African country the (See AMIN, Page A2)

68 Pistols Stolen From Mesa Store

In a daring daylight store looting, burglars used a tow truck to rip off the front door of the Grant Boys' store in downtown Costa Mesa Wednesday, escaping with about 68 handguns valued at up to $14,500.

Police said the burglary team hit the store on busy Newport Boulevard in broad daylight at 7:15 a.m.

So swift was the raid that the thieves had fled before police could answer the burglar alarm.

It was the second time within 10 days that gun thieves had looted the store at 1750 Newport Boulevard.

Police Lt. George Lorton said there is a strong possibility that the same bandits struck again.

In Wednesday's raid, the burglars triggered a store alarm but moved quickly enough to load up the guns and escape before police arrived.

Police said at least two men were involved in the heist. The burglars used a white tow truck with a red boom to tear off the front door.

Once inside the store, the bandits swiftly shattered three gun cases and took at least 68 handguns of various calibers.

Store employees are still totaling the loss, estimated at between $17,000 and $25,000.

Admission Day Closes Banks, Courts

Banks, county offices and courts will be closed Friday in observance of Admission Day, which commemorates California statehood.

Most city offices in coastal Orange County will stay open, with the exceptions of offices in San Juan Capistrano, San Clemente and Costa Mesa.

School districts which will be closed include the Saddleback Valley Unified, Laguna Beach Unified, Ocean View and Huntington Beach High School districts.

Districts to remain open Friday include Capistrano Unified, Irvine Unified, Fountain Valley and Huntington Beach elementary.

Capistrano took its holiday Tuesday, Irvine is saving the day off for sometime in December, Fountain Valley was closed last Friday and Huntington Beach is trading Admission Day in favor of the day after Thanksgiving.

On the community college scene, Saddleback College will be closed.

However, the Coast Community College District and its two campuses will be open. District employees were given their Admission Day holiday on the Friday preceding Labor Day for a four-day weekend.

Rating Down Carter's Popularity Slips

NEW YORK (AP) — President Carter's popularity is dropping, and many Americans are critical of the way he has handled the rising clamor over the financial dealings of Budget Director Bert Lance while he was a Georgia banker, according to a Harris Survey released today.

The survey found most Americans believe Carter still is doing a good job as president, but the majority has dropped from 59 percent at the end of July to 52 percent of the 1,419 people questioned between Aug. 13 and Aug. 20. Such a decline at this stage of an administration has not been uncommon in recent years, the survey noted.

Carter's rating on the handling of Lance's difficulties had 40 percent of those questioned disapproving; 33 percent approving, and 27 percent undecided. There have been many developments in the Lance controversy since the survey was made.

Lance Resignation Predicted by Papers

BOSTON (AP) — Budget Director Bert Lance plans to announce his resignation after defending himself next week at Senate hearings into his dealings as a Georgia banker, the Boston Herald American said today.

The newspaper quoted sources it said are close to Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff (D-Conn.), chairman of the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee which opened hearings today.

Ribicoff told President Carter on Sunday that Lance should resign. Ribicoff had been one of Lance's earliest supporters. He said six weeks ago that Lance had been unjustly criticized by the news media.

Meanwhile, the New York Daily News said in an editorial today that Lance's usefulness as budget director has been "destroyed" and that "if Lance won't resign gracefully, President Carter ought to pull the plug on his pal."

And the New York Times said in an editorial today that "For the President to ask for Mr. Lance's resignation is not, finally, to surrender to lynch-mob justice but to demonstrate an understanding and mastery of the rough-and-tumble of national politics. The most important issue is not Mr. Lance's probity as a banker but Mr. Carter's sagacity as a politician."

In another development the government's chief banking regulator today told a Senate committee he would have endorsed Lance as budget director only if certain Lance had corrected some of his practices as a Georgia banker. Noting that his office had ordered the Calhoun First National (See LANCE, Page A2)

Another Icy Winter Likely, Almanac Says

LEWISTON, Maine (AP) — Keep your long johns handy — the Farmers' Almanac says the coming winter is going to be a bitter one.

"For 1977-1978, we show another rough winter, with cold and snow aplenty although not as bad as the winter just past," says the almanac's 161st annual edition, just off the presses.

The venerable publication was right on target last year when it forecast "a big, bad winter," followed by a "scorchingly hot" summer.

"We predicted it first," crows almanac editor Ray Geiger, 67, who obtains his forecasts from Harry K. Buie, a retired astronomer and school administrator in Inverness, Fla.

"He uses a secret formula, passed down since the almanac was founded in 1818," says Geiger. "It's based on sunspots, the position of the planets and the tidal action of the moon."

The almanac has been issuing forecasts 52 years longer than the National Weather Service, says Geiger, who rarely passes up an opportunity for a good-natured jab at the government-run bureau.

Jobs Rise By 32,100 In County

Since last August, a business boom in Orange County has provided a total of 32,100 new jobs which have helped make the county the best job market in the state, according to the State Department of Employment Development.

Figures released Wednesday showed the county's unemployment rate for August down to 4.3 percent, the lowest in the state and a five-year low for Orange County.

Last August, the unemployment rate was 5.9 percent. State officials said the August, 1977 figure contrasts with the July figure of 4.4 percent.

Department analysts are also predicting that the county's job market will continue to expand through the close of the year with new firms moving into the county and with the seasonal boost in retail trade.

According to the statistics, the labor force of 863,800 was up 40,200 from a year ago, but most of the increase in workers available was offset by the increase in jobs.

The biggest categorical increase occurred in wholesale and retail trade where 10,000 new jobs were counted this year over last, due primarily to the openings of new department stores.

Construction industries also registered a major job gain with 9,000 more jobs listed this year than last, due in part to a 22 percent increase in building over the same period.

Other job gains in the past year were shown in service industries, including hospitals, hotels and repair services, where the job count was up 5,500; in finance, insurance and real estate where the yearly increase was 3,000.

TV Victory For 'Doors'

NEW YORK (AP) — The opening episode of ABC's "Washington: Behind Closed Doors" won a narrow victory in the national television ratings battle Tuesday night, according to A.C. Nielsen Company figures.

The rating service said today that an estimated 16,040,000 homes were tuned to ABC while CBS drew 15,450,000 for its film, "Logan's Run" and NBC drew 12,470,000 for the movie "The Hindenburg."

The national ratings were ABC, 22.0; CBS, 21.2 and NBC, 17.1. The rating is the estimated percentage of the total television sets in the country that are tuned to a particular program.

Rescue Try Fruitless

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A 25-year-old San Pedro man jumped to his death off the Vincent Thomas Bridge despite rescue efforts of a 71-year-old man who suffered an apparent coronary attack in the struggle.

Joseph Albert DeRocco died of massive head and spinal injuries Wednesday evening at San Pedro and Peninsula Hospital about two hours after he jumped from the 180-foot-high bridge. He was the son of Anthony J. DiRocco, a harbor area deputy for Los Angeles City Councilman John S. Gibson.

Howard W. Ball, 71, of Torrance was passing nearby in his 24-foot sailboat, steered to DiRocco's side and held the dying man out of the water until a Fire Department rescue boat could reach him.

LANCE...

Bank, headed by Lance, to correct questionable management practices that included permitting officers to write overdrafts on their checking accounts, John G. Heimann, comptroller of the currency, characterized Lance as "a very successful banker. His attention to detail clearly leaves something to be desired."

Heimann was the opening witness at the hearings by the Governmental Affairs Committee into Lance's financial dealings.

Lance is scheduled to testify next week.

While President Carter was described as remaining firm in his support of his budget director, Lance was coming under increasing pressure to resign.

Heimann became comptroller in July. Sen. William V. Roth (R-Del.), asked if Heimann would have endorsed Lance as fully as his predecessor when Lance was nominated as budget director by Carter.

"I would have informed the committee of everything I knew," Heimann said.

"We found his (Lance's) management to be faulty and we ordered it corrected," Heimann said.

He added that if the practices had been corrected he would have found Lance acceptable.

Two Scientists Follow Smog With Balloon

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A pair of scientists began chasing the smog across the skies over Los Angeles in a balloon today, in an effort to determine how much smog from polluting areas ends up in the skies over nonpolluting areas.

"The little critter took off from next to the Queen Mary in Long Beach and started heading southeast," said Al Duran, of the Air Quality Management District, which sponsored the flight. "If all goes well, it will be over the San Gabriel Valley by mid-afternoon, when the oxidants (pollutants) are at their worst."

Duran said the main purpose of the two-man balloon flight was to "add to the district's source-receptor relationship," that is, measuring how much smog is carried by the winds from polluting areas to non-polluting areas.

"They will stay at 500 feet through mid-morning, then move inland with the polluted air," Duran said.

On board the craft were aeronautics expert Peter Nushel and the pilot, Thomas F. Heinsheimer of the district.

The balloon was expected to land Friday morning.

Today's flight was originally planned for Wednesday, but ill winds forced a postponement.

Porno Store Causes Furor

VISTA (AP) — The Vista Chamber of Commerce is stripping a youthful board member of his seat because he issued a membership to an adult bookstore.

Carl Pietrantonio, 20, also has lost the drug store job that led to his selection for a seat on the board.

The board voted 10-6 last month in favor of Pietrantonio's resignation, but he refused. The board's new vote declared him off the governing body because the drug store where he worked has changed ownership.

Waer said he would put his 80-acre spread up for sale. He is contemplating a move to the Santa Inez valley because of the shooting incident.

And the move would be the third time the 60-year Orange County resident has been forced to move because of the area's development.

"My first ranch was near where Harbor Boulevard and Edinger are today," the octogenarian explained.

"I had to move because of all the building going on in that area," he continued. Waer relocated to another ranch that was situated where Irvine and 21st Streets now intersect in Costa Mesa.

His home abounds with photos of a development-free Newport Back Bay. But building in the bay area eventually forced Waer to locate his ranch elsewhere once again and he settles in the El Toro hills where two of his thoroughbred Morgan mares were slaughtered.

The dead horses were valued at $15,000 each.

"They weren't just regular horses," Waer explained. "Their sire produced 32 grand champions."

Orange County's growth has brought a wealth of problems to Waer and his prize-winning horses that the aging rancher finds hard to understand.

"Times have sure changed since I came to this county," Waer recalled. "At one time we were one big family here in Orange County — now, it's dog eat dog."

Arraignment Set in Death Of Mesa Teen

A 19-year-old transient, accused of shooting and stabbing a teen-aged boy to death Sunday in Costa Mesa, will be arraigned in Harbor Municipal Court Sept. 12.

The district attorney's office has filed a complaint seeking a murder charge against Donald James Hartman.

Hartman is suspected of shooting 16-year-old Raymond Jerome Gaspard at least twice with a .22 caliber revolver Sunday at an abandoned house at 1818 Pomona Ave., Costa Mesa.

The dead youth was also beaten, stabbed several times and his throat had been slashed.

Hartman was arrested after he returned to the scene and was taken into custody for questioning in the youth's death.

The two young men, both unemployed transients, apparently were friends and police believe the fatal incident was triggered by an argument.

However, police are still seeking a firm motive in the slaying and will continue an investigation seeking new witnesses.

A coroner's investigation is still under way, but police believe the youth died from gunshot wounds before he was stabbed and mutilated.

Wallace Bugging Issue for Courts?

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — The bedroom bugging incident which Gov. George C. Wallace characterized last September as a "domestic matter between my wife and myself" could turn out to be a matter for the courts, too.

The Montgomery Advertiser reported today that the tapes produced by the bugging device on Wallace's bedroom telephone were not destroyed after their discovery last September.

Quoting what it said were reliable sources, the Advertiser said some 400 hours of taped conversations Wallace had with "prominent women" still exist and could play a vital role in any divorce proceedings initiated by his wife, Cornelia.

The Advertiser's sources said the tapes are of "conversations a married man ought not to be having with other women."

Mrs. Wallace moved out of the executive mansion Tuesday, saying she could no longer endure

Reagan Cites Pact Dangers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ronald Reagan said today if the Senate ratifies the new Panama Canal treaty the Soviet Union and Cuba may be encouraged to expand their influence in Panama. (Related story Page A4)

Urging rejection of the treaty signed by President Carter and Panamanian officials Wednesday night, Reagan said, "it should never surprise us that whenever the United States withdraws its presence or its strong interest from any area, the Soviets are ready, willing and often able to exploit the situation."

"Can we believe that the Panama Canal is any exception?"

Farm Fund

Planners Nix Vote on Land

Some of Orange County's dwindling farm land should be preserved, county planning commissioners agreed Wednesday.

But the planners oppose seeking voter approval of a $100 million bond issue to buy agricultural land and believe the county should avoid subsidizing the farming industry.

Supervisors had referred an agricultural preservation study prepared by a joint county-business-citizens group to the commission on June 8.

The study outlined three alternatives ranging in cost from $7.8 million to $145 million and varying in scope from the eventual loss of most county farm land to public acquisition of some 10,000 acres.

Commissioners, in their report to supervisors, said the county's primary objective should be preserving some farm land but chiefly for its open space benefit.

While some of that land may continue to be used for agriculture, their report said, the county should not subsidize farming.

In addition, they said, there is no guarantee county intervention would successfully preserve agriculture because the industry is subject to cost factors beyond county government's control.

The report also called farm land preservation a statewide issue.

Commissioners recommended identifying prime candidate lands for agriculture preservation and said among those should be some smaller parcels that produce the valuable food crops.

They said some farm land may be preserved through open space easements and by offering farmers the benefit of the Williamson Act, which reduces their property taxes.

But land should be purchased only if it has important open space value and could provide parkland or trails near regions of high population.

Despite the almanac's warning of a cold and snowy winter, its long-range prognostications offer the prospect of relief from extremes of heat and cold.

The summer of 1978, says Geiger, will be "moderate and more pleasant. It won't be quite as hot or quite as dry as it was this summer."

And in another year or two there will be a mild winter, he says.

In addition to weather information, this year's almanac is filled with the usual blend of homespun homilies, one-line jokes, inspirational essays and recipes, including ones for a "concrete" pecan pie and hot tuna dogs.

He predicted that the legislation, if carried by the Senate and signed by the governor, would have minimal impact on the lawsuit.

Uganda's Idi Amin Reported 'in Coma'

Stricken After Surgery

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — President Idi Amin of Uganda was reported by a top aide today to be "in a coma" after undergoing surgery in a Kampala hospital for an undisclosed ailment.

Robert Astles, British-born confidant of the 51-year-old president, said in a telephone interview with the Associated Press in Nairobi he did not have further details.

Asked the reason for Amin's operation, he replied: "We don't exactly know. But he's in a coma. We believe he'll pull out of it. I'm going over to the hospital right now to see what's happening."

Astles was speaking from his office in Kampala. He is a white Ugandan citizen married to a black Ugandan, Mary Astles, who is Ugandan minister of culture.

Earlier today, Uganda newspaper announced that Amin underwent the operation in Kampala's Nulago Hospital by a Soviet surgeon. The broadcast said the (See AMIN, Page A2)

Heisler Center Studied

Laguna Beach councilmen have agreed to look into the possibility of constructing a community center in Heisler Park near the lawn bowling courts, despite problems posed by the state coastal commission.

Councilmen heard a request for the preparation of a feasibility study on the proposal from Alan E. Adams, president of the city's Council on Aging.

But Planning Director Doug Schmitz said he believes the request from the Council on Aging should be part of a mandatory Local Coastal Program, due before coastal commissioners in 1980.

He also expressed doubts the coastal commission would approve a community center at the blufftop location because of the parking requirement generated by such a high-use activity.

Finding a home for a community center has been a frustrating task for the planning department and citizens over the past few years.

Proposals considered by the council have included the employees' parking lot near City Hall, a post office, a eucalyptus grove along Laguna Canyon Road and a site at the rear of the community playhouse.

Wednesday night's suggestion by Adams was greeted with cautious enthusiasm by councilmen, who admitted getting a plan through the commission, "would be a tough go."

But Mayor Jon Brand said he believed the city should decide where the center would go. (See CENTER, Page A2)

PARENTS WELCOME NEW TEACHERS TO DISTRICT Breakfast Served at Dana Hills to 111 Instructors

District Welcomes 111 New Teachers

Thousands of teachers from all over the country applied for 111 openings this fall in the Capistrano Unified School District. The successful candidates were welcomed Wednesday at a breakfast meeting.

"We always have at least 2,000 applications on hand for teaching positions," a district spokesman said. "I guess people like the idea of teaching in a smaller community, away from big city violence and smog."

The 111 teachers and administrators new to the Capistrano school district represent 14 percent of 763 certificated personnel.

Wednesday's breakfast meeting at Dana Hills High School, sponsored by district parents' associations, offered the new teachers a chance to get acquainted.

"These teachers have a lot in common," said Joy Carter of the district personnel department. "They not only work in the same field, for the same school district, but many are new to the area. They help one another find places to live in this high-cost housing community."

Three new schools are scheduled to open in the district Monday — Capistrano Valley High School in Mission Viejo, Shorecliffs Junior High (meeting on a double session program until November at Marco Forster Junior High in San Juan Capistrano) and Harold Ambuehl Elementary School in San Juan.

"We had 18 administrative positions open in the district this fall because of the new schools," said Mrs. Carter, "but only five new administrators were hired."

"We had a 'round-robin' effect going, with district administrators being reassigned, creating new vacancies, many of which were filled by promotions."

Of the 111 teachers, 37 are new to the teaching profession, and 33 have five or more years of teaching experience, Mrs. Carter said.

Two of the new employees hold doctorate degrees, and 46 have master's degrees.

Cost Curbs Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter told House leaders today he wants Congress to pass a bill curbing hospital costs.

Garage Criticized As 'Rapist Haven'

A San Clemente woman told the City Council Wednesday that a proposed parking structure near the city pier might provide a haven for rape attacks on women.

"We're already getting reports of five to eight rapes a week on city beaches, according to third party reports," said Shirley Davis of San Clemente Citizens Against Rape.

She said the grading of the proposed parking garage would prevent adequate police surveillance to protect women from rape attacks.

Mrs. Davis proposed that closed circuit television be installed in the garage or that it be closed late at night. She said one of the chief worries of her organization is that women employees of a restaurant planned in conjunction with the garage would be subjected to attacks as they returned to their cars after work.

Police Chief Gary Brown said he disagreed with Mrs. Davis on the number of rapes in the city. "I agree that police do not have accurate rape figures, because some women choose not to report rape attempts," he said. "I doubt though, that the number of unreported rapes is as high as eight to 10 a week."

"We only had one rape attempt reported in the entire month of August, and in 1976 we had only 13 rapes all year."

City Council postponed action on the pier area redevelopment, including the garage, until Oct. 5.

Laguna Residents Protest Pool Hall

Angry homeowners who live near the Old Brussels restaurant in Laguna Beach turned out in force at Wednesday's council meeting to protest what they called schemes for a dance and pool hall in the restaurant.

The residents, who live along Ocean Way and Diamond Street, accused operators of the 43-year-old restaurant of planning to operate a discotheque and of attempting to bypass the council to put in a hardwood dance floor.

David Carter, a spokesman for about 30 homeowners, said the so-called restaurant/disco/pool hall would create intolerable noise for neighbors, increase traffic and create parking congestion along residential streets.

"They are planning to put in a disco and pool hall, not a restaurant," Carter said. One by one, homeowners approached the speakers to protest alleged clandestine re-furbishing plans for the restaurant, located at 2007 South Coast Highway.

Their comments were rebutted by owners Lucien Brack and Robert Shoemaker, who said they plan to operate a quiet restaurant with quiet music.

Brack, angered by earlier comments, told councilmen, "They tell you lies, and if they keep on doing so, I'll sue. We are trying to provide a place in Laguna Beach for people to have (See SCHEME, Page A2)

Admission Day Closes Banks, Courts

Banks, county offices and courts will be closed Friday in observance of Admission Day, which commemorates California statehood.

Most city offices in coastal Orange County will stay open, with the exceptions of offices in San Juan Capistrano, San Clemente and Costa Mesa.

School districts which will be closed include the Saddleback Valley Unified, Laguna Beach Unified, Ocean View and Huntington Beach High School districts.

Districts to remain open Friday include Capistrano Unified, Irvine Unified, Fountain Valley and Huntington Beach elementary.

Capistrano took its holiday Tuesday, Irvine is saving the day off for sometime in December, Fountain Valley was closed last Friday and Huntington Beach is trading Admission Day in favor of the day after Thanksgiving.

On the community college scene, Saddleback College will be closed.

However, the Coast Community College District and its two campuses will be open. District employees were given their Admission Day holiday on the Friday preceding Labor Day for a four-day weekend.

Can't Refuse LOGO Gets Real Bargain
MAYBE IT WAS the thought of drawing money from the yet-untaught contingency fund that led Laguna Beach Councilman John McDowell to make his generous offer Wednesday night.

Orange Coast Weather
It will be a little cooler Friday, but not much. The highs inland will be in the 80s, 70s at beaches. Lows tonight in the low 60s. It will be fair Friday with the exception of fog and low clouds tonight and early in the morning.

TV Victory For 'Doors'

NEW YORK (AP) — The opening episode of ABC's "Washington Behind Closed Doors" won a narrow victory in the national television ratings battle Tuesday night, according to A.C. Nielsen Company figures.

The rating service said today that an estimated 16,040,000 homes were tuned to ABC while CBS drew 15,450,000 for its film, "Logan's Run" and NBC drew 12,470,000 for the movie "The Hindenburg."

The national ratings were ABC, 22.0; CBS, 21.2 and NBC, 17.1. The rating is the estimated percentage of the total television sets in the country that are tuned to a particular program.

have gone before now." Waer said he would put his 80-acre spread up for sale. He is contemplating a move to the Santa Inez valley because of the shooting incident.

The move would be the third time the 60-year Orange County resident has been forced to move because of the area's development.

"My first ranch was near Harbor Boulevard and Edinger are today," the octogenarian explained.

"I had to move because of all the building going on in that area," he continued. Waer relocated to another ranch that was situated where Irvine and 21st Streets now intersect in Costa Mesa.

His home abounds with photos of a development-free Newport Back Bay. But building in the bay area eventually forced Waer to locate his ranch elsewhere once again and he settles in the El Toro hills where two of his thoroughbred Morgan mares werelaughtered.

The dead horses were valued at $15,000 each.

"They weren't just regular horses," Waer explained. "Their sire produced 32 grand champions."

Orange County's growth has brought a wealth of problems to Waer and his prize-winning horses that the aging rancher finds hard to understand.

"Times have sure changed since I came to this county," Waer recalled. "At one time we were one big family here in Orange County — now, it's dog eat dog."

fun." Shoemaker admitted the owners plan to have dancing in the restaurant "at some future time," adding they will try to keep the noise level down.

But homeowners saw nothing but problems with the proposal, and asked the council to make a commitment to revoke the restaurant business license if the owners violate city ordinances.

Mayor Jon Brand asked the city staff to make sure the letter of the law is enforced, and warned, "If there is an escalation from a restaurant with soft music to anything less compatible with the neighbors, we want to know about it."

Vice Mayor Sally Bellerue assured homeowners that the Old Brussels operators would have to come before the council to get an entertainment permit, "if they plan to have dancing and loud music."

Councilwoman Phyllis Sweeney agreed, saying, "If any violations do occur, I would think their permits could be revoked."

32,100 New Jobs In OC

Since last August, a business boom in Orange County has provided a total of 32,100 new jobs which have helped make the county the best job market in the state, according to the State Department of Employment Development.

Figures released Wednesday showed the county's unemployment rate for August down to 4.3 percent, the lowest in the state and a five-year low for Orange County.

Last August, the unemployment rate was 5.9 percent. State officials said the August, 1977 figure contrasts with the July figure of 4.4 percent.

Department analysts are also predicting that the county's job market will continue to expand through the close of the year with new firms moving into the county and with the seasonal boost in retail trade.

According to the statistics, the labor force of 863,800 was up 40,200 from a year ago, but most of the increase in workers available was offset by the increase in jobs.

The biggest categorical increase occurred in wholesale and retail trade where 10,000 new jobs were counted this year over last, due primarily to the openings of new department stores.

Construction industries also registered a major job gain with 9,000 more jobs listed this year than last, due in part to a 22 percent increase in building over the same period.

Other job gains in the past year were shown in service industries, including hospitals, hotels and repair services, where the job count was up 5,500; in finance, insurance and real estate where the yearly increase was 3,000, and in manufacturing where the increase was 4,600 compared to last August.

the coastal commission. "I think we should develop the best plan for Laguna and let the commission bear the responsibility for thwarting a community center at Heisler Park."

Councilwoman Phyllis Sweeney disagreed, saying she does not look upon the commission as an adversary.

"If we are sincere, I think we should be realistic about it," she said.

"I don't care who bears the onus, I would hope we find one (a location) that has a chance of flying."

Councilmen voted to: —Make a commitment to seek a community center.

—Appoint a committee comprised of the mayor, vice mayor and two planning commissioners to help city planners come up with a design for the proposed center.

—Prepare a feasibility study.

—Begin to contact the coastal commission about the city's plans.

"If we include the commission in the beginning, we have a better chance of getting the Heisler site approved," Mrs. Sweeney said.

'Artificial Reef' Due for Newport

Officials at the State Department of Fish and Game said today they are moving ahead with plans to sink an old Liberty ship off Newport Beach to create an artificial fishing reef.

A similar project is slated to get under way Tuesday in Santa Monica Bay.

Fish and Game spokesman Ralph Young said the Newport Beach project is not likely to be completed until next June since bids are just now being sought for the project.

Fish and Game officials have obtained three World War II vintage ships, the Palawan, the Cheleb and the Oahu to be used for the reef-making projects.

The Palawan will be sunk next week off Santa Monica, the Cheleb is destined for the bottom off Newport and the Oahu will be sunk off Ventura.

The Newport project, may face an uncertain future in the face of some city opposition to the project based on its possible effect on beach erosion.

One city councilman, Don McInnis, who lives on the beach in West Newport, earlier this summer said he would oppose the project until the department had done a thorough study of the effect of the new reef on beach erosion.

The ship, which will be sunk in 120 feet of water is likely to block one of the many offshore submarine canyons and McInnis said he is fearful that the president was accompanied to the hospital by the Soviet ambassador on Wednesday. Dr. Feodor Senkof was identified as the surgeon.

Astles said he did not know whether the comatose state was a normal after-effect of anesthesia, or whether it was induced by postoperative complications.

Amin, self-declared field marshal and president for life, came to power in January 1971 when he toppled President Milton Obote in a coup backed by junior army officers.

His rule has been marked by violence and bloodshed as he allegedly eliminated rival tribes who threatened his grip on the landlocked African country the size of the state of Oregon.

Married five times and divorced three, Amin is reputed to have fathered at least 36 children and once said he planned to have 400.

Visitors to Uganda who met with Amin in recent months say the heavy-set former boxing champion appeared to be in robust good health. But two of Amin's former physicians claim the president suffers from gout and may have contracted syphilis at one time.

Meanwhile, Ugandan radio said today that Amin rejected an appeal from Liberian President William Tolbert to spare the lives of 12 Ugandans scheduled to be publicly executed Friday for plotting to overthrow him.

In another development, a Kenyan newspaper reported that Ugandan soldiers carried out sledge hammer murders of some 180 Ugandan prisoners last month.

Quoting eight former inmates, the English-language Daily Nation said 100 persons were brought into a jail outside of Kampala Aug. 27 and "tied up and battered to death with a hammer."

On Aug. 28, another group of 80 persons were killed in the same manner, said the prisoners who claimed to be eyewitnesses to the murders.

Porn Suspect Kills Himself

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A 34-year-old man facing charges of being a child pornography distributor was found dead in his apartment, an apparent suicide, police said.

Richard Spaeth, his wrists and neck slashed, was found Wednesday afternoon lying on his bed in a pool of blood, police said.

A short note addressed to his family was found beside Spaeth's body, police said.

SC Okays Cab Service

Two Firms to Operate Four Taxis Each

Two taxicab firms won City Council approval Wednesday to operate a minimum of four cabs each in San Clemente for the next six months, with current rates to be reviewed within 30 days.

Mayor Donna Wilkons and Councilmen William Walker and Tony DiGiovanni voted to approve six-month licensing to Checker Cab of Laguna Beach and AAA Cab of San Juan Capistrano.

Councilmen Patrick Lane and Thomas O'Keefe voted against the approval, saying licensing should not be limited to two companies. Two other cab firms, Mission Cab of El Toro and Saddleback Valley Cab, had also applied for licensing.

Councilmen voted unanimously Wednesday to direct police chief Gary Brown to prepare recommendations for amendments to the existing taxicab ordinance, including proposed rate changes.

Brown is to present his recommendations to City Council within 30 days. In the meantime, cab fares will continue at the present rate — 60 cents for the first mile and 10 cents for each additional one-seventh mile.

Both Checker and AAA spokesmen assured councilmen each company will keep at least one cab operating within the city at all times.

Mayor Wilkons said the council would require absolute assurance that elderly San Clemente residents could get cab service when they need it. She said this would mean not allowing all available taxis to cater to the more profitable Camp Pendleton fares.

Laguna Man Arrested In Absentia

Laguna Beach police booked a 22-year-old man in absentia Wednesday after he was apprehended by Fresno authorities with a car reported stolen from the Laguna Beach bus depot.

The local charges involve the theft of a color television set taken in a Glenneyle Street apartment burglary a month ago. Police allege they later bought the stolen television set during an undercover investigation.

Shane Parrish, who police said lives in Sacramento but frequents the Laguna Beach area, was held on a $10,000 warrant alleging suspicion of burglary and possession of stolen property.

Police Detective William Heiden said additional cases are pending and more arrests may be forthcoming.

San Juan TV Hike Wins Tentative Okay

San Juan Capistrano subscribers to Storer Cable TV can expect to pay higher monthly service charges beginning Nov. 1 after initial City Council approval Wednesday of a Storer rate increase.

The unanimously approved rates would raise present monthly charges from $6 to $7.50 per month beginning Nov. 1.

The action also allows additional home outlets to increase from $2 to $2.50 per month.

Storer had requested rate increases periodically over the past three years. Each time, the council denied the increases due to service complaints by city residents.

Councilmen finally directed the company to make equipment improvements while city staff rewrote the community's cable television regulations.

The council also lent initial approval Wednesday to a new 12-year franchise for Storer Cable TV.

Storer has been withholding so-called pay television from San Juan residents pending the outcome of the rate increase request.

Storer's area manager

Douglas Rook said today the company would begin taking orders for the "Showtime" service immediately.

Cost of the pay television service, which provides first-run movies and specials, will be $9.95 per month. During the month of September, installation of the Showtime service will be offered for $19.95.

Beginning in October, Rook said, installation will cost $29.95.

Boy Wounded By LA Police

Time for Trustee to Bow Out Gracefully

Saddleback College Trustee Frank Greinke last week announced his resignation from the college board effective no later than Nov. 15.

From the discussion that followed his resignation announcement, it appears fellow trustees will allow Greinke to participate in the discussion regarding selection of his own successor.

We don't believe that's a healthy idea. Depending on the extent of his participation, it could be illegal.

By law, Greinke is forbidden from his replacement and justifiably so, since his successor will represent the needs and desires of Trustee Area One, not Frank Greinke.

Also, the present group of trustees will be the ones working with the appointee, Greinke will be gone.

We think it is fine for Greinke to be one of the candidates for the position, but it is the other six trustees who should decide the appointment.

Greinke should bow out gracefully and leave the discussion and selection of his successor to the other six trustees.

Calm May Be Costly

With tentative agreement between negotiators of the Capistrano Unified School District and teachers for a 6 percent pay increase, a measure of tranquility has come to the district. The district may have to pay later for its calm, however.

Negotiations this year were among the most discordant in the district's history. A deadlock and threat of a fall strike was resolved only after an outside mediator was brought in.

While much of the attention is on the salary figures, a more significant part of the contract proposal involves imposition of a form of binding arbitration on future talks.

This is an opening wedge to remove from the local elected school board the power to set employe salaries. While the tranquility is welcome, the new contract opens a Pandora's box with which future school boards will have to contend.

Meter Cheater Loot

The Laguna Beach city treasurer has a lot of loose change lying about, and she wouldn't mind getting rid of it.

About 70 pounds of loose change, to be specific, and it all came from parking meters around town. The bags of coins have been collecting dust for about five years, according to treasurer Peg Morreale, and she thinks it's about time to get some use out of them.

The banks won't touch the stuff and, short of tossing it out, the only solution seems to be a coin auction. There are coins from more than a dozen nations in the bags, along with bus tokens, parking lot tokens and mutilated U.S. coins.

The city council should consider organizing some form of auction, raffle or other means of disposing of the coins. Just stacking them up in a wall safe doesn't do anyone any good.

Who knows. Maybe there are some real finds in that stack for collectors. And the city could recoup at least a part of its losses to meter cheaters over the past years.

Boyd/Umbrellas

By L.M. BOYD

Another year in which the more critical Britisher judges a gentleman is by how sleekly he furls his broly. What, you've never seen a gentleman furl a broly? That's "fold up an umbrella." Umbrella comes from the Italian meaning "little shadow," let's throw that in, too.

When that Nazi bigwig Hermann Goering took cyanide during his war crimes trial at Nuremberg after World War II, he left a note "to the German people." Allied authorities impounded it, saying its message wouldn't be disclosed until 20 years later. That 20 years has come and gone and then some. Client asks if the letter has ever been made public. Don't know, don't know. Most mysterious. Have you ever heard of its disclosure?

Q. "Did Civil War soldiers have nude pinup pictures, too?"

A. Some. There were highly prized French Daguerrotypes of nudes by 1840. Most of the pinups, though, were fashion drawings with a lot of hoops and ruffles. And these were in tents all over.

Q. "Why was the first week in November picked for national elections?"

A. Because it came after the harvests and before the roads got too gummed up to make it to town. An 1845 law set the time.

Customer contends the greatest migration in history occurred between 1800 and 1875 when 7.5 million immigrants moved from the British Isles to the New World. Maybe so. But that's worthy of debate. I'll warrant that the migration from the farms to the cities during the last 50 years was somewhat greater.

Dactylography is the art of communicating ideas with the fingers. Winston Churchill's two-fingered V for Victory sign is one example. The cutthroat drawing of the forefinger across the Adam's apple is another. And a third is the old Roman let-him-live signal of thumbs up. Any others?

Q. "What do boiler-makers make, besides boilers?"

A. Anything in steel that's watertight. Like ships, tanks, pipelines.

Q. "How many women were among those original 100 Jamestown settlers?"

A. None. ("I'll send for you, baby.") The women came later.

Nuclear Waste Crisis Looms

WASHINGTON—At least 20 nuclear reactors are so swamped with their own radioactive wastes that they will have to close down within seven years unless drastic action is taken.

The Carter administration has prohibited reprocessing used nuclear fuel and many nuclear plants have crammed their storage facilities to capacity with the spent fuel rods. A nuclear reactor must shut down if its lethal wastes cannot be stored or shipped away.

The nation's nuclear plants, meanwhile, are running out of room and time. An investigation by the Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA) has found several nuclear reactors with a critical oversupply of spent fuel.

For example, South Carolina's H.B. Robinson plant, operated by Carolina Power and Light, will be forced to shut down by February 1978 if it is not permitted to ship out its deadly radioactive wastes. A company spokesman admitted to us: "We're in trouble. Time is of the essence."

ANOTHER REACTOR on the problem list is located in La Crosse, Wis. The chaotic federal nuclear policy, complained the plant manager, is "constipating the nuclear industry." Several other nuclear facilities are also caught in the squeeze.

The nuclear industry, meanwhile, is grinding to a standstill while it waits for President Carter to produce a comprehensive nuclear policy. In a private letter to the president, Rep. John Moss (D-Calif.) warned that "the earliest an industry spent fuel storage facility could be built and licensed is 1983. Yet by 1983, 30 reactors will have lost the ability to control their nuclear wastes properly."

THIS, stressed Moss, will result in the "imminent threat of nuclear reactor shutdowns."

In fairness, government experts claim the situation has improved from a dire emergency of a couple of years ago. But radioactive wastes continue to stockpile while storage space shrinks.

FARM EXPORTS: The Foreign Agriculture Service (FAS), an arm of the Agriculture Dept., sends both government men and businessmen abroad to promote the sale of U.S. farm products.

In all fairness, it must be said that these traveling pitchmen have been successful in boosting foreign sales of ripe tobacco leaf, surplus wheat and other commodities grown in the United States.

They haven't been quite as successful, however, as the FAS likes to claim. Last year, the agency inflated its claims with phony statistics—the better to justify its $40 million budget.

THERE WAS the matter, for example, of cattle exports to Hungary. A staff investigation for Chairman Charles Vanik (D-Ohio) of the House Trade Subcommittee, found that Hungary is buying less cattle from the United States.

But the FAS solemnly assured Congress Hungary is purchasing more U.S. cattle than ever. For this, the agency took full credit.

It turned out, however, that the FAS had various statistics to choose from. The Economic Research Service, which keeps track of livestock exports, reported that 597 American steers reached Hungary in 1976.

The National and Plant Health Inspection Service keeps its own count of the cattle that is shipped overseas. By its arithmetic, 1,245 head of cattle made it to Hungary.

Neither figure was much to boast about. The FAS, therefore, seized upon some private statistics kept by the Holstein-Friesian Assn., a huge cattle cooperative. Triumphant, the FAS reported to Congress that the cooperative had exported 6,300 cattle to the Hungarian market. But the agency couldn't even get the private figures right. The surprised cooperative had reported shipping only 3,326 steers to Hungary.

IF CONGRESS has been misled about the amount of U.S. beef served to hungry Hungarians last year, the FAS is not repentant. An official told us the agency intended to "ignore" the congressional investigation. He said the FAS was constantly being investigated by Congress, without detriment. It is difficult, he added, to make sure all the figures are accurate.

But congressional critics are wondering why the taxpayers need to spend $40 million to promote agricultural sales overseas. The United States dominates agricultural trade and shouldn't need touring promoters to tout its beef and barley.

"It's a little bit," Vanik told us, "like Saudi Arabia advertising the benefits of its oil."

ELECTRONIC RIPOFFS — Computerized banking is becoming the new rage and may eventually replace cash and credit cards. In the electronic age, consumers will be able to purchase groceries by transferring funds electronically from their bank to the supermarket.

But under the present state of the art, computerized banking leaves the customers vulnerable to electronic ripoffs. One woman lost her life savings of $3,800 when her plastic bank card was stolen. Her account was emptied out by the enterprising thief. But under the current laws, she can't recover a dime.

INTERNAL staff memos of the National Commission on Electronic Fund Transfers warn, meanwhile, that the system could "cause severe hardship to consumers." If a citizen loses money because of "human or computer error," the documents note, "it would be his word against the bank's."

Planned Parenthood Accusation False

To the Editor: Supervisor Laurence Schmit's letter to the editor of Aug. 29 deserves a reply.

The supervisor stated that Planned Parenthood promotes anti-family activities and promiscuous sex among teenagers. As president of Planned Parenthood of Orange County, I want to assure your readers that this is not true.

OUR BYLAWS say that the purpose of our organization is "to provide leadership for the universal acceptance of family planning as an essential element of responsible parenthood, stable family life and social harmony through education for family planning, the provision of the necessary services and the promotion of research in the field of human reproduction."

Our organization consists of dedicated and hard working volunteers and staff who provide clinic and education services in a cost effective, humane manner. Tax funds are supplemented by private donations from generous Orange Countians who agree with us that every child should be a wanted child.

SUPERVISOR Schmit persists in waving our literature around out of context in order, I assume, to stir up the bleak fantasies of evil imagined by the few fanatics who support him on this issue.

Contrary to what he and his friends have stated, we vocally condemn promiscuous, exploitative sex. We beg sexually active people to bring babies into the world only as members of a family unit with a supportive father and mother.

Supervisor Schmit, incidentally, has done nothing during his term of office to support, strengthen or assist the family unit. He should be very glad Planned Parenthood exists to struggle with the issue.

Shame!

To the Editor: Shame on those in high governmental places who would dare criticize former President Richard Nixon for allegedly keeping for himself some valuable gifts that belong to the U.S. government!

Nixon, it is reported from San Clemente, is "deeply hurt" by these dastardly accusations.

Nixon, while President, showed all of us that he is so honest, clean, wholesome and forthright that it should be incomprehensible for anyone to even consider accusing him of doing something that is not completely above board.

Shame on his nasty accusers! DAVID C. HENLEY

Says It All

To the Editor: Re: Supervisor Laurence J. Schmit's letter in the Aug. 29 paper.

The first part of his first sentence says it all.

"I have just had the opportunity to read your editorial of July 21..."

That's just about par for the supervisor, it seems. A little bit behind everywhere and in everything. NORA LEHMAN

Role Models

To the Editor: Capistrano Unified School District trustee Robert Bachelor's comments regarding homosexual and Communist teachers are interesting (Daily Pilot, Aug. 23).

I wonder how he feels about ignorant and prejudiced people serving as role models for the children they teach. Seems to me he should resign his post or at least take a leave of absence until he straightens himself out. RICHARD RENTZ

Big Spenders

To the Editor: In one of the shoddiest performances this writer has seen so far, the current city council of Laguna Beach met last Wednesday night to set the city tax rate for 1977-78. Most conspicuous by their absence at a meeting so vital were our city clerk, our city treasurer, our city attorney and our incumbent and latest mayor, Jon Brand.

This lame duck council spent money that night like the proverbial drunken sailor, adding an additional $750,000 to an already top-heavy proposed budget of $7.1 million, the latter figure even then being some 12 percent over last year's actual budget.

The new and now official budget for 1977-78 is a whopping $7.7-plus million, and as such is 22.8 percent more than this same council stole last year. Think of it...$7.7 million to run this "quaint little village" for just one year.

Next, our elected and benign officials proceeded to set the tax rate at $1.68 per $100 assessed property value. The vote was 3 to 1, with Councilman McDowell voting a firm and loud no.

Then Acting Mayor Bellerue (remember, Jon Brand chose not to be present for this most important vote) beamingly informed the handful of victims who still remained in the audience that the $1.68 rate was a drop of nine whole cents from last year's rate. Shouldn't we all show our gratitude by making a unified candle-lit pilgrimage on foot to the residences of Bellerue, Sweeney and Johnson some night soon?

Heartbreakingly enough, the next morning's press carried the story of the new tax rates of two nearby cities: Newport Beach at $1.03 and Fullerton at $1.275. Does it make you wonder, just a little?

TREVOR A. CUSHMAN JR. President, Laguna Beach Taxpayers Assn.

Ghost Town?

To the Editor: I read, with little amusement, reasons advanced for the failure of tourists to return to San Clemente this summer. Being just returned from a tour of the country, and an intimidating array of No Vacancy signs, I suspect they skirted reality.

No one mentioned that last summer San Clemente beaches were closed each three day weekend due to sewer eruptions. This is not evocative of lyric memories. It does not imbue a desire to return and recapture; to recommend, and bring your friends.

NO ONE mentioned that, since water control cut the ribbon and fired the starting pistol, San Clemente is a gold mining camp; an avid city government and wayfaring developers, out of control, digging money from the San Clemente hills.

No one appears willing to recognize that, historically, such atmosphere rarely attracts more than prospectors and prostitutes. Tourists come later, when booms are spent and hills milked dry, to savor a ghost town.

BUCKLEY O'NEILL

Skills Needed

To the Editor: Regarding your editorial of Aug. 24 about Laguna Beach's housing rehabilitation program, I must take exception to your perception that poor people are getting ripped off because some of the rehabilitation funds will be used for staff to implement the program.

Poor people were not benefiting by having the $75,000 lying unused due to lack of city staff time to implement the program. Your glib suggestion that current staff priorities be rearranged to free up such time reveals a lack of understanding for the program and of staff's current functions.

Housing rehabilitation is a complex effort involving a delicate relationship between local government, needy citizens and skilled laborers willing to do the work.

A typical planning department staff person may be able to design a program which allows for a smooth-running relationship such as this, but planners cannot be expected to have the skills necessary to actually fit the pieces together.

The Laguna Beach Planning Department is no exception. Someone who has the skills, knowledge and freedom to carry out the rehabilitation program is clearly required so that the thousands of dollars now going unused will be spent more efficiently and effectively for those Laguna residents in need.

U.S. Probes Clinic

Water, Lemon Juice Cure Fraud?

RIVERSIDE (AP) — A nationwide investigation is under way into the practices of a controversial Murrieta Hot Springs clinic that allegedly promised to cure cancer patients with a diet of water and lemon juice.

The clinic became the center of controversy last month after the parents of 7-year-old Kimberly Cox of Milwaukee, tried to remove her from a Milwaukee hospital where she was being treated for leukemia and take her to the Murrieta clinic. The hospital refused to let her go.

THE CALIFORNIA Department of Consumer Affairs said Wednesday that A. J. Rudd & Associates, which operates the clinic, was being investigated for allegedly practicing medicine without a license, physician incompetence and illegal cancer treatment.

The department said its Board of Medical Quality Assurance was cooperating with other boards across the country in an investigation of at least 780 "testers" trained at the clinic to take urine and saliva samples from his patients.

The "testers" analyze the samples, then send their findings to the Murrieta clinic, which recommends treatment.

There are about 80 "testers" in California and 700 nationally, according to John Urso, regional director of the Consumer Affairs Department in Santa Ana.

"TESTERS" — WHO pay $15,000 for a week-long training course at the clinic — have also been reported in Australia, Japan, Jamaica and Germany, Urso said.

Horace C. Gibson, medical director of the Murrieta clinic, said the cure offered to patients included living on a diet of distilled water and lemon juice and receiving treatment from chiropractors. At least 12 cancer patients — including 8-year-old Eric Wells of San Jose — had been treated at the clinic recently, Gibson said.

Jim Brown, former Cleveland Browns star fullback, said Wednesday human rights issues faced by homosexuals are similar to problems he has faced as a black. The television and movie actor appeared at a news conference held to announce a Sept. 18 Hollywood Bowl concert from which the proceeds will be used for education on the homosexual issue.

Brown Gets Age, Job Bill

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Legislation allowing employees of state and local government to work beyond the mandatory retirement age — if they are still competent — has been sent to Gov. Edmund Brown Jr.

A 66-0 vote in the Assembly Wednesday approved Senate amendments to the measure (AB 658) by Assemblyman Richard Alatorre.

A SIMILAR bill affecting private employees was sent to the governor last week.

AB 568 would not affect police officers and firefighters. Mandatory retirement ages vary from 65 to 70. The state's is 67.

State and local agencies would set standards for employees to prove competence.

The public employe bill would take effect immediately upon the governor's signature. The effective date of Alatorre's private employe bill is Jan. 1.

Senate OKs Tax Delay

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The California Senate has approved a plan to allow senior citizens who earn less than $20,000 a year to postpone payment of their property taxes.

The measure, AB 1020 by Assemblyman Fred Chel, (D-Long Beach), would implement Prop. 13, a ballot measure approved by voters last year.

On a 34-0 vote Wednesday, it was returned to the Assembly for action on amendments.

UNDER THE bill, a homeowner 62 years or older could put off property tax payments until the house was sold or the owner died. The state would take a lien on the property and the taxes would be paid after the house was sold.

Supporters say the measure would prevent senior citizens on limited incomes from being forced out of their homes by skyrocketing property taxes.

Beaten, Strangled

Elderly Woman Slain

LONG BEACH (AP) — A 90-year-old woman, Gladys Ott, has been found beaten and strangled in her apartment, less than two weeks after her elderly next-door neighbor suffered the same fate, police said.

Mrs. Ott was found Wednesday by her daughter, who had tried to phone her during the day but had received a busy signal, police said.

On Aug. 29th, the victim's neighbor, Vernita Curtis, 83, was found in a similar condition by her daughter. In both cases there was forced entrance and the residences were ransacked.

LNG Measure Backed

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Assembly has approved a bill to expedite the remote siting of California's first liquefied natural gas terminal — but an attempt is expected to make populated areas eligible.

A 73-4 vote Wednesday sent the compromise bill back to the Senate for action on amendments.

Kid Porn Bill Approved

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Legislation to curb the use of children in pornographic films and publications has easily won approval of the state Senate.

STATE

The measure, AB 1580, by Assemblyman Jim Ellis (R-San Diego), went back to the Assembly for action on amendment on a 36-0 vote Wednesday.

Families Evacuated

CANOCA PARK (AP) — Some 60 to 70 families briefly evacuated their homes early today after a load of chlorine gas spilled from a truck and began leaking toxic fumes, police said.

Police conducted a voluntary evacuation of families in a 20-block area when two 150-pound cylinders ruptured after falling from the flatbed truck shortly before midnight.

Girlie 'King' Evicted

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Hollywood's onetime "king of the girlie parlors" has been evicted by a feisty landlady.

Mrs. Po C. Lin obtained an eviction judgment in Municipal Court against both the lessee, the Rev. Michael Ford, and the sublessee, William Norman, who last month opened a nude modeling studio in her Hollywood storefront.

WILL THEY BE NEXT VICTIMS OF THRILL KILLER? Offspring of Two Horses Slain on El Toro Ranch

By WILLIAM HODGE Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Lealana and Carolisa were peacefully grazing in a quiet pasture just off Santiago Canyon Road in northeast El Toro when at least four shots rang out. Three .22-caliber slugs ripped through Carolisa's neck, killing her instantly. Another bullet tore through Lealana's heart, but she was able to gallop a few hundred feet up a hill to her young offspring.

Perhaps she hoped to protect them from the danger. She dropped dead at her colt's feet. "Our horses are just like our family," a shaken Frank Waer said Wednesday. The 82-year-old has been raising show horses in the hills above El Toro for over 20 years. "It was just like them shooting one of my daughters," Waer said of the thrill-killers who struck Monday.

The killers were described by a witness as two white men in their early 20s. Police are still seeking them. They leisurely parked their four-wheel-drive vehicle in Waer's driveway and shot the horses from about 30 feet away. Before their killing spree had ended, two cows were dead and another horse was injured.

"It's getting where if you value your life you better get out of this area," Waer said, describing several other incidents of people taking shots at water tanks on his ranch from the hills above his home. "The last two years have been a nightmare. I guess I should (See KILLINGS, Page A2)

IIC Bill Clears Hurdle Mayor Perplexed; Marx Sarcastic

A bill was approved by the state Assembly Wednesday that would allow development of the Irvine Industrial Complex-East despite a lawsuit that seeks to force its Irvine Company developer to provide housing for workers first. The bill, SB 344, sponsored by Sen. Dennis Carpenter (R-Newport Beach), won the bare majority required for passage, and was returned to the Senate for action on amendments. News of the legislation won a perplexed reaction from Irvine Mayor Bill Vardoulis and drew sarcasm from one of the plaintiffs of the lawsuit. Vardoulis said he didn't understand the need for Carpenter's legislation, as it pertains to development of the industrial complex. "I don't know what the hoopla is about," he said. "I don't see why the Irvine Company couldn't proceed with industrial development with or without this bill," Vardoulis said.

"There's no restraining order in the lawsuit. "My feeling is they haven't proceeded because of the potential outcome of the suit and because it has been hard to get financial backing with the suit pending." The lawsuit is scheduled for a hearing in December. It was brought jointly by seven Irvine residents and the Orange County Fair Housing Council. Wesley Marx, an environmental writer who is one of the plaintiffs in the case, said the legislation was the product of an Irvine Company "sob story." "I think the company and the city (which is a codefendant in the suit) realized that their legal base is eroding," said Marx, "so they're trying to get the legislature to buy their sob story about the industrial complex." Marx agreed with Vardoulis that the lawsuit by itself isn't delaying the $1 billion industrial project. (See SUIT, Page A2)

Mesa Heist

68 Pistols Stolen From Grant Boys

In a daring daylight store looting, burglars used a tow truck to rip off the front door of the Grant Boys' store in downtown Costa Mesa Wednesday, escaping with about 68 handguns valued at up to $14,500. Police said the burglary team hit the store on busy Newport Boulevard in broad daylight at 7:15 a.m. So swift was the raid that the thieves had fled before police could answer the burglar alarm.

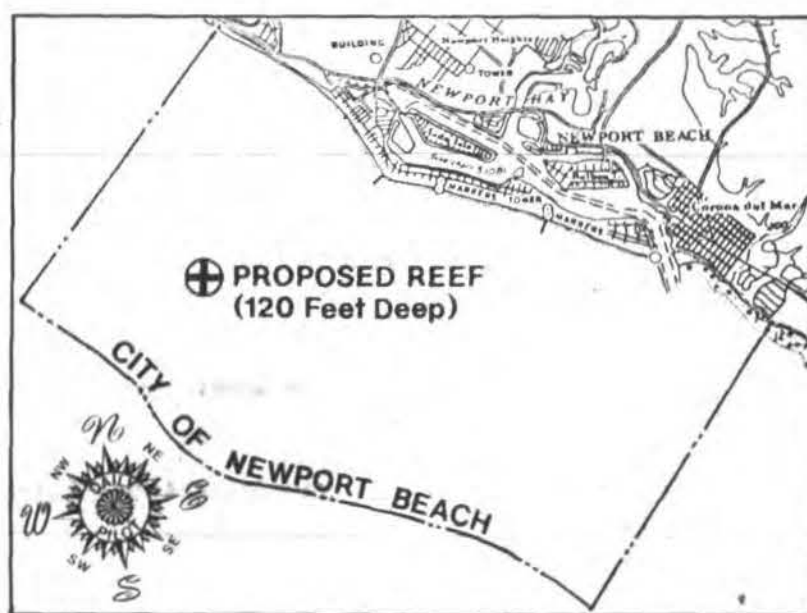

It was the second time within 10 days that gun thieves had looted the store—at 1750 Newport Boulevard. Police Lt. George Lorton said there is a strong possibility that the same bandits struck again. In Wednesday's raid, the burglars triggered a store alarm but moved quickly enough to load up the guns and escape before police arrived. Police said at least two men were involved in the heist. The burglars used a white tow truck with a red boom to tear off the front door. Once inside the store, the bandits swiftly shattered three gun cases and took at least 68 handguns of various calibers. Store employees are still totaling the loss, estimated at between $17,000 and $25,000.

Wife Nabbed In Stabbing Of Husband

A Corona del Mar man is listed in critical condition today at Hoag Memorial Hospital after he was allegedly stabbed by his wife. Rey Ochoa was rushed to the hospital at 11 p.m. Wednesday after his wife, Anita Beatrice Ochoa, 43, called police to tell them her husband had been stabbed, police said. Paramedics and police arrived at the Ochoa home at 424 Marguerite Ave. moments later and found the wounded man sprawled in the entry way, bleeding profusely from a single stab wound in his upper right thigh. Detectives said today they are investigating the case in an attempt to find a motive for the stabbing. Mrs. Ochoa was booked into Orange County Jail on a charge of attempted murder. Investigators say they believe the weapon used in the assault was a wooden-handled kitchen knife with a six-inch blade.

MAP INDICATES WHERE SHIP WILL BE SUNK State Moves Ahead With Fishing Reef Project

'Artificial Reef' Due for Newport

Officials at the State Department of Fish and Game said today they are moving ahead with plans to sink an old Liberty ship off Newport Beach to create an artificial fishing reef. A similar project is slated to get under way Tuesday in Santa Monica Bay. Fish and Game spokesman Ralph Young said the Newport Beach project is not likely to be completed until next June since bids are just now being sought for the project. Fish and Game officials have obtained three World War II vintage ships, the Palawan, the Cheleb and the Oahu to be used for the reef-making projects. The Palawan will be sunk next week off Santa Monica, the Cheleb is destined for the bottom off Newport and the Oahu will be sunk off Ventura. The Newport project, may face an uncertain future in the face of some city opposition to the project based on its possible effect on beach erosion. One city councilman, Don McInnis, who lives on the beach in West Newport, earlier this summer said he would oppose the project until the department had done a thorough study of the effect of the new reef on beach erosion. The ship, which will be sunk in 120 feet of water is likely to block one of the many offshore submarine canyons and McInnis said he is fearful that the blockage could alter the currents on the West Newport shoreline. But Young said today the Fish and Game project has received a declaration of negative environmental impact. "It may take longer than six months just to get the ship ready for sinking," he said.

Another Break-in?

Freed, Liddy Vows He'd Obey Order

WASHINGTON (AP) — G. Gordon Liddy, in his first interview since leaving prison, said today that if a president asked him to repeat the work he performed in the Watergate break-in, he would answer: "Yes, thy will be done." Liddy said it dramatically, in Latin: "Fiat voluntas tua." Liddy, thinner by 30 pounds than when he went into prison for burglary, wiretapping and conspiracy in January 1973, asked a small group of reporters to meet with him on his first full day of freedom. Liddy was released Wednesday from the federal prison in Danbury, Conn., after serving more than 52 months for his role in the Watergate scandal. His meeting turned into a full-size news conference with an unusual touch. A man threw an apple pie into Liddy's face as he entered the room. A reporter asked Liddy: "If the president of the United States asked you to do that kind of work again, what would you say?"

"Yes." There was no hesitation. "When the prince approaches his lieutenant, the proper response of the lieutenant to the prince is 'Fiat voluntas tua.'" Does he regard himself as a lieutenant? "Yes," said Liddy, often described as the mastermind of the Watergate break-in. "I would not rank myself as a captain."

Smaller, More Agile Cars Join NB Force

Newport Beach's police cars are shrinking. Two years ago, patrolmen drove the same big Mercury used by California Highway Patrolmen. Last year, it was mid-sized Dodge Coronets. By January, the department's 19 marked police units all will be Chevy Novas. The Novas are slightly cheaper to buy and city officials say they hope they'll be cheaper to run. But the biggest factor in the changeover is the fact that the smaller car is more maneuverable than the Dodges currently driven by patrolmen. Capt. Wayne Connolly, commander of the department's patrol division, said a city like Newport Beach doesn't need the big, heavy highway cruisers that can hit 120 mph in long-distance chases. What Newport Beach needs is a small police car that can zip through the narrow alleys in the older parts of town without sideswiping telephone poles and garbage cans. While the outside — and inside — of the Novas is smaller than the Dodges, the engine size is identical, Connolly said. City officials say they will keep careful tab of the operating cost of the Novas to compare with the other cars used in the past by police. "If nothing else," Connolly commented, "we should have a little less down time from repairing dings in the cars." He said all of the equipment carried by the old cars fits in the new ones, but he noted that "we have had a few complaints about the leg room from the taller patrolmen."

After Defense

Lance to Quit, Paper Claims

BOSTON (AP) — Budget Director Bert Lance plans to announce his resignation after defending himself next week at Senate hearings into his dealings as a Georgia banker, the Boston Herald American said today.

The newspaper quoted sources it said are close to Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff (D Conn.), chairman of the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee which opened hearings today.

Ribicoff told President Carter on Sunday that Lance should resign. Ribicoff had been one of Lance's earliest supporters. He said six weeks ago that Lance had been unjustly criticized by the news media.

Meanwhile, the New York Daily News said in an editorial today that Lance's usefulness as budget director has been "destroyed" and that "if Lance won't resign gracefully, President Carter ought to pull the plug on his pal."

And the New York Times said in an editorial today that "For the President to ask for Mr. Lance's resignation is not, finally, to surrender to lynch mob justice but to demonstrate an understanding and mastery of the rough-and-tumble of national politics. The most important issue is not Mr. Lance's probity as a banker but Mr. Carter's sagacity as a politician."

In another development the government's chief banking regulator today told a Senate committee he would have endorsed

Lance as budget director only if certain Lance had corrected some of his practices as a Georgia banker.

Noting that his office had ordered the Calhoun First National Bank, headed by Lance, to correct questionable management practices that included permitting officers to write overdrafts on their checking accounts, John G. Heimann, comptroller of the currency, characterized Lance as "a very successful banker. His attention to detail clearly leaves something to be desired."

Heimann was the opening witness at the hearings by the Governmental Affairs Committee into Lance's financial dealings.

Lance is scheduled to testify next week.

While President Carter was described as remaining firm in his support of his budget director, Lance was coming under increasing pressure to resign.

Heimann became comptroller in July. Sen. William V. Roth (R-Del.), asked if Heimann would have endorsed Lance as fully as his predecessor when Lance was nominated as budget director by Carter.

"I would have informed the committee of everything I knew," Heimann said.

"We found his (Lance's) management to be faulty and we ordered it corrected," Heimann said.

He added that if the practices had been corrected he would have found Lance acceptable.

REPORTED IN COMA Uganda's Idi Amin

Uganda's Idi Amin in Coma

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — President Idi Amin of Uganda was reported by a top aide today to be "in a coma" after undergoing surgery in a Kampala hospital for an undisclosed ailment.

Robert Astles, British-born confidant of the 51-year-old president, said in a telephone interview with the Associated Press in Nairobi he did not have further details.

Asked the reason for Amin's operation, he replied: "We don't exactly know. But he's in a coma. We believe he'll pull out of it. I'm going over to the hospital right now to see what's happening."

Astles was speaking from his office in Kampala. He is a white Ugandan citizen married to a

NB Woman Injured Condition Guarded After 5-car Crash

A 23-year-old Newport Beach woman was in guarded condition today at Pacific Hospital after paramedics cut her from her auto which was demolished in a five-car accident in Huntington Beach Wednesday morning.

Lisa Ann French, of 210 Fern St. suffered a concussion, fractured ribs and a broken pelvis when her compact car collided with a small sedan in the intersection of Brookhurst Street and Adams Avenue at 10:45 a.m., Huntington Beach police traffic investigators reported.

Four other drivers and passengers received minor injuries and were treated and released from local hospitals.

Police officer Richard Onstott blamed the chain reaction collision on malfunctioning traffic lights which apparently confused drivers of three of the vehicles.

None of the five drivers involved in the accident were cited, police said.

Driver Thomas B. Miller, 33, of Newport Beach, told police he struck a pickup truck in the intersection.

Police said Miss French's auto then struck Miller's compact sedan and went careening out of control into two other vehicles.

Miss French was pinned inside her auto but her passenger, Dale Ann Grove of Covina, was able to free herself from the battered car.

Fountain Valley paramedics and Huntington Beach firemen used the "Jaws of Life" cutting device to break through the auto's sides and remove the injured driver.

Miss Grove suffered multiple cuts but no major injuries.

Traffic was snarled for almost two hours at the intersection.

City traffic engineers are still investigating what caused the traffic signals to malfunction.

Bitter Winter Forecast Farmers' Almanac Predicts Icy Season

ANOTHER ROUGH WINTER Almanac Editor Geiger

LEWISTON, Maine (AP) — Keep your long johns handy the Farmers' Almanac says the coming winter is going to be a bitter one.

"For 1977-1978, we show another rough winter, with cold and snow aplenty although not as bad as the winter just past," says the almanac's 161st annual edition, just off the presses.

The venerable publication is right on target last year when it forecast "a big, bad winter," followed by a "scorchingly hot" summer.

"We predicted it first," crows almanac editor Ray Geiger, 67, who obtains his forecasts from Harry K. Buie, a retired astronomer and school administrator in Inverness, Fla.

"He uses a secret formula, passed down since the almanac was founded in 1818," says Geiger. "It's based on sunspots, the position of the planets and the tidal action of the moon."

The almanac has been issuing forecasts 52 years longer than the National Weather Service, says Geiger, who rarely passes up an opportunity for a good-natured jab at the government-run bureau.

have gone before now."

Waer said he would put his 80-acre spread up for sale. He is contemplating a move to the Santa Inez valley because of the shooting incident.

And the move would be the third time the 60-year Orange County resident has been forced to move because of the area's development.

"My first ranch was near where Harbor Boulevard and Edinger are today," the octogenarian explained.

"I had to move because of all the building going on in that area," he continued. Waer relocated to another ranch that was situated where Irvine and 21st Streets now intersect in Costa Mesa.

His home abounds with photos of a development-free Newport Back Bay. But building in the bay area eventually forced Waer to locate his ranch elsewhere once again and he settles in the El Toro hills where two of his thoroughbred Morgan mares were slaughtered.

The dead horses were valued at $15,000 each.

"They weren't just regular horses," Waer explained. "Their sire produced 32 grand champions."

Orange County's growth has brought a wealth of problems to Waer and his prize-winning horses that the aging rancher finds hard to understand.

"Times have sure changed since I came to this county," Waer recalled. "At one time we were one big family here in Orange County — now, it's dog eat dog."

SUIT...

"They claim the lawsuit is delaying the complex, when the company hasn't even applied for a building permit," Marx said. "They can't even show that a particular savings and loan institution has refused a loan" for the development.

Marx contended management problems in the company are the actual cause for the delays.

He predicted that the legislation, if carried by the Senate and signed by the governor, would have minimal impact on the lawsuit.

Irvine Company officials had no immediate comment.

Trustee Sued Over Coast Home Dispute

A damage suit of $50,000 has been filed against Coast Community College Trustee George Rodda Jr. by a neighbor who claims he bought Rodda's $167,000 Corona del Mar home but was not allowed to move in.

The suit filed in Orange County Superior Court by Richard L. Borgen names Rodda and his wife, Madge, as defendants in the action. Borgen claims that he bought the house at 949 Goldenrod Avenue from them last Aug. 5.

Rodda said he reached "an oral agreement" with Borgen, his next door neighbor but the offer was under the true market value of the home.

"It's just one of those things that happen in the wild property market," said Rodda, adding that oral agreements are not enforceable.

Accusing the Roddas of bad faith, Borgen claims that the couple refused to complete escrow arrangements after both parties agreed on the sale and transfer of the Rodda home.

Mrs. Crank Rites Slated In Costa Mesa

Funeral services will be held Friday for long-time Harbor Area resident Margaret L. Crank, who died Tuesday in Newport Beach of an apparent heart attack. She was 54.

A rosary will be recited tonight at 6:30 at St. Joachim's Church in Costa Mesa with a burial mass to follow at 10 a.m. Friday.

Mrs. Crank lived in the Orange Coast area for 31 years. She recently moved from Costa Mesa to Newport Beach.

She is survived by her husband, Roy C. Crank; son, Steven Crank of Newport Beach; and sisters Mrs. Blanch Stanley of Gabbs, Nev. and Marry Ann Gates of Merced.

Boy Wounded By LA Police

LOS ANGELES (AP) — In the wake of a Police commission review of killings by policemen, an officer has wounded an unarmed 15-year-old boy accused of stripping a car, police said.

Officer Gerald D. Williams, a six-year veteran of the force, wounded the boy in his buttocks Wednesday with one of two shots, Lt. Charles Higbie said Wednesday.

Planning Projects Warrant Attention

It's not easy to get excited about a couple of planning programs like Newport Beach's Local Coastal Program and the Cannery Village-McFadden Square Specific Area Plan. Both of these rather complex items began what will be a lengthy public hearing process last week before the city's planning commission. The Local Coastal Program (LCP) is the device which will eventually enable the city to resume all of the permit-granting authority now held by the coastal commission. The specific area plan is an examination of the Cannery Village-McFadden Square area to identify and then find the ways to solve the area's problems through changes in zoning and road systems. That sounds pretty dull, but we would be remiss if we didn't point out that the two items are important to all Newport Beach residents. The decisions made now are going to have long-term political and economic effects that will be felt throughout the city. Residents would do well to take the time to familiarize themselves with the issues and become involved.

Impressive Service

Last week, Marian Bergeson ended 13 years of service on Harbor Area school boards by retiring to devote her full time to running for the Republican nomination for the 74th Assembly District. At her final meeting as a member of the Newport-Mesa Unified School District board of trustees, Mrs. Bergeson was lauded for both the quality and quantity of her efforts on behalf of local schools. We couldn't top all the nice things that were said by parents, school officials and the remaining school board members, but we would like to add our kudos to the rest. Without a doubt, Mrs. Bergeson has been one of Newport-Mesa's most effective board members. She has always been well prepared for the board meetings and taken pains to inform herself about issues facing the district. A gracious woman, her ability to deal fairly with all who appeared before the board was one of her greatest assets. Her presence will be missed.

Dubious Decision

The regional coastal commission's decision which would force residents of Dover Shores to spend a total of $50,000 to dredge their two boat channels has got to rank as one of the more asinine moves that board has made. Commissioners ruled that if the homeowners association is to remove the 5,000 cubic yards of silt filling the channels, the sand will have to be hauled out to sea and dumped. The association was trying to get a permit to dig three pits on nearby North Star beach, partially fill them with the dredge material, cover them with native beach sand and then grade the whole thing level. It appears the commission based its decision on the testimony of one witness who wanted commissioners to press for better roadway access to North Star beach and who further claimed, without benefit of technical expertise, that the homeowners' plan would irreparably harm the beach. We fail to see how access to the beach through the residential neighborhood has anything to do with dredging and we are mystified at the commissioners for taking as gospel the undocumented testimony of one witness while throwing out scientific data presented by homeowners on the opposing side.

Boyd/Umbrellas

By L.M. BOYD

Another way in which the more critical Britisher judges a gentleman is by how sleekly he furls his broly. What, you've never seen a gentleman furl a broly? That's "fold up an umbrella." Umbrella comes from the Italian meaning "little shadow," let's throw that in, too. When that Nazi bigwig Hermann Goering took cyanide during his war crimes trial at Nuremberg after World War II, he left a note "to the German people." Allied authorities impounded it, saying its message wouldn't be disclosed until 20 years later. That 20 years has come and gone and then some. Client asks if the letter has ever been made public. Don't know, don't know. Most mysterious. Have you ever heard of its disclosure? Q. "Did Civil War soldiers have nude pinup pictures, too?" A. Some. There were highly prized French Daguerrotypes of nudes by 1840. Most of the pinups, though, were fashion drawings with a lot of hoops and ruffles. And these were in tents all over. Q. "Why was the first week in November picked for national elections?" A. Because it came after the harvests and before the roads got too gummed up to make it to town. An 1845 law set the time. Dactylogy is the art of communicating ideas with the fingers. Winston Churchill's two-fingered V for Victory sign is one example. The cutthroat drawing of the forefinger across the Adam's apple is another. And a third is the old Roman let-him-live signal of thumbs up. Any others? Customer contends the greatest migration in history occurred between 1800 and 1875 when 7.5 million immigrants moved from the British Isles to the New World. Maybe so. But that's worthy of debate. I'll warrant that the migration from the farms to the cities during the last 50 years was somewhat greater.

Nuclear Waste Crisis Looms

WASHINGTON—At least 20 nuclear reactors are so swamped with their own radioactive wastes that they will have to close down within seven years unless drastic action is taken. The Carter administration has prohibited reprocessing used nuclear fuel and many nuclear plants have crammed their storage facilities to capacity with the spent fuel rods. A nuclear reactor must shut down if its lethal wastes cannot be stored or shipped away.

The nation's nuclear plants, meanwhile, are running out of room and time. An investigation by the Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA) has found several nuclear reactors with a critical oversupply of spent fuel. For example, South Carolina's H.B. Robinson plant, operated by Carolina Power and Light, will be forced to shut down by February 1978 if it is not permitted to ship out its deadly radioactive wastes. A company spokesman admitted to us: "We're in trouble. Time is of the essence."

ANOTHER REACTOR on the problem list is located in La Crosse, Wis. The chaotic federal nuclear policy, complained the plant manager, is "constipating the nuclear industry." Several other nuclear facilities are also caught in the squeeze. The nuclear industry, meanwhile, is grinding to a standstill while it waits for President Carter to produce a comprehensive nuclear policy. In a private letter to the president, Rep. John Moss (D-Calif.) has warned that "the earliest an industry spent fuel storage facility could be built and licensed is 1983. Yet by 1983, 30 reactors will have lost the ability to control their nuclear wastes properly."

THIS, stressed Moss, will result in the "imminent threat of nuclear reactor shutdowns." In fairness, government experts claim the situation has improved from a dire emergency of a couple of years ago. But radioactive wastes continue to stockpile while storage space shrinks.

FARM EXPORTS: The Foreign Agriculture Service (FAS), an arm of the Agriculture Dept., sends both government men and businessmen abroad to promote the sale of U.S. farm products. In all fairness, it must be said that these traveling pitchmen have been successful in boosting foreign sales of ripe tobacco leaf, surplus wheat and other commodities grown in the United States. They haven't been quite as successful, however, as the FAS likes to claim. Last year, the agency inflated its claims with phony statistics—the better to justify its $40 million budget. THERE WAS the matter, for example, of cattle exports to Hungary. A staff investigation for Chairman Charles Vanik (D-Ohio) of the House Trade subcommittee, found that Hungary is buying less cattle from the United States. But the FAS solemnly assured Congress Hungary is purchasing more U.S. cattle than ever. For this, the agency took full credit. It turned out, however, that the FAS had various statistics to choose from. The Economic Research Service, which keeps track of livestock exports, reported that 597 American steers reached Hungary in 1976. The Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service keeps its own count of the cattle that is shipped overseas. By its arithmetic, 1,245 head of cattle made it to Hungary. Neither figure was much to boast about. The FAS, therefore, seized upon some private statistics kept by the Holstein-Friesian Assn., a huge cattle cooperative. Triumphant, the FAS reported to Congress that the cooperative had exported 6,300 cattle to the Hungarian market. But the agency couldn't even get the private figures right. The surprised cooperative had reported shipping only 3,326 steers to Hungary.

IF CONGRESS has been misled about the amount of U.S. beef served to hungry Hungarians last year, the FAS is not repentant. An official told us the agency intended to "ignore" the congressional investigation. He said the FAS was constantly being investigated by Congress, without detriment. It is difficult, he added, to make sure all the figures are accurate. But congressional critics are wondering why the taxpayers need to spend $40 million to promote agricultural sales overseas. The United States dominates agricultural trade and shouldn't need touring promoters to tout its beef and barley. "It's a little bit," Vanik told us, "like Saudi Arabia advertising the benefits of its oil." ELECTRONIC RIPOFFS — Computerized banking is becoming the new rage and may eventually replace cash and credit cards. In the electronic age, consumers will be able to purchase groceries by transferring funds electronically from their bank to the supermarket. But under the present state of the art, computerized banking leaves the customers vulnerable to electronic ripoffs. One woman lost her life savings of $3,800 when her plastic bank card was stolen. Her account was emptied out by the enterprising thief. But under the current laws, she can't recover a dime. INTERNAL staff memos of the National Commission on Electronic Fund Transfers warn, meanwhile, that the system could "cause severe hardship to consumers." If a citizen loses money because of "human or computer error," the documents note, "it would be his word against the bank's."

Planned Parenthood Accusation False

To the Editor: Supervisor Laurence Schmit's letter to the editor of Aug. 29 deserves a reply. The Supervisor stated that Planned Parenthood promotes anti-family activities and promiscuous sex among teenagers. As president of Planned Parenthood of Orange County, I want to assure your readers that this is not true. OUR BYLAWS say that the purpose of our organization is "to provide leadership for the universal acceptance of family planning as an essential element of responsible parenthood, stable family life and social harmony through education for family planning, the provision of the necessary services and the promotion of research in the field of human reproduction." Our organization consists of dedicated and hard working volunteers and staff who provide clinic and education services in a cost effective, humane manner. Tax funds are supplemented by private donations from generous Orange Countians who agree with us that every child should be a wanted child.

SUPERVISOR Schmit persists in waving our literature around out of context in order, I assume, to stir up the bleak fantasies of evil imagined by the few fanatics who support him on this issue. Contrary to what he and his friends have stated, we vocally condemn promiscuous, exploitative sex. We beg sexually active people to bring babies into the world only as members of a family unit with a supportive father and mother. Supervisor Schmit, incidentally, has done nothing during his term of office to support, strengthen or assist the family unit. He should be very glad Planned Parenthood exists to struggle with this issue. GABRIELLE PRYOR

Summer Hordes
To the Editor: After suffering through the great influx of tourist traffic this summer, that many times was three times that of the population, it was good to read on your front page Aug. 25 that Bill Flicker and Jean Watt are going to work to solve our traffic problems. As we don't seem able to build more roads to handle the traffic, Jean's plan of stopping building is an admirable one. But it doesn't go far enough. Instead of just stopping building so more people cannot live here, all those that do should help by not having company during the summer months. Families and friends do love to visit at the beach when it's hot. So if we could stop this added influx, it would lessen the traffic, even if only minutely. Every little bit helps. Good going, Jean! GINNY DONOHUE

Says It All
To the Editor: Re: Supervisor Laurence J. Schmit's letter in the Aug. 29 paper. The first part of his first sentence says it all. "I have just had the opportunity to read your editorial of July 21..." That's just about par for the supervisor, it seems. A little bit behind everywhere and in everything. NORA LEHMAN

Mobile Meals
To the Editor: In response to the Article titled "FISH Wheels Meals," written by Cheryl Romo, which appeared on the front of the Food section of Aug. 31, we would like to clarify some of the statements made. This meals project is not Meals on Wheels, but is Mobile Meals and was started in November, 1974, by the Soroptimist International of Newport Harbor Area, in conjunction with FISH supplying volunteer drivers and Hoag Memorial Hospital preparing the meals. This meals project is not federally funded. Our club carries the financial burden of this project through money raised from our Ways and Means projects throughout the year. We purchase the necessary hot and cold carriers, accounting, application and route forms, holiday tray favors and birthday cakes for the recipients, etc. Our club also handles all the book-keeping and routing. The cost to the recipient of $3 per day is paid to Hoag Memorial Hospital and covers their cost for the food and labor. The FISH organization interviews applicants and supplies volunteer drivers to deliver the meals. St. Joachim Church of Costa Mesa also provides volunteer drivers for one of the meal routes. Thank you for letting us correct the errors in this article for your readers. JEAN CONNER, President Soroptimist International of Newport Harbor Area

Age Irrelevant
To the Editor: I enjoyed reading your interview with Van France, which appeared in the Sunday, Aug. 28 Pilot. It was the gutsy and positive approach to life and work which he expressed which prompted this letter regarding Ms. Hyman's column in "The Weekender" on the South Coast Repertory Theater's recent production and her interview with Burgess Meredith. Her description of Mr. Meredith evoked images of a very old party who had been rolled out of his convalescent home on a gurney, lifted into a wheelchair so he could be pushed onto the stage in order to deliver directions in a feeble, halting, weakened-by-age-and-disease voice. I wonder how one so vital and able as Burgess Meredith, so sought-after as both actor and director in theater, movies and television, can possibly be described by her as "still energetic and agile despite his 67 years."

First, who cares if he's 67, 37 or 87? He's talented and experienced and was chosen to do a job among many others, presumably talented, regardless of age. What has age to do with ability and experience anyway? This message, this subliminal idea that it is newsworthy that an individual is ambulatory at senior citizen status, must be eliminated from the media and from our collective consciousness. Second, equal rights to life, liberty and freedom to work and express oneself creatively must be extended to all of our citizens, regardless of age—whether 50, 60 or, heaven forbid, even 70 years of age or older. (Watch it there, Cary Grant, Ruth Gordon, Will Geer, Margaret Mead, et al!) By the way, Ms. Hyman mentioned that it was Mr. Meredith's first visit to Costa Mesa. I suggest that if he ever sees the article that visit may well be his last. ESTELLE O. WEBB

Business Jets
To the Editor: Your readers, particularly those in the flight pattern of the Orange County Airport, will have noted the recent settlement of the suit brought against the county by Mr. Harry Rinker. This settlement, once again, highlights the major noise problem caused by the Orange County Airport, and sharpens the wits of other homeowners whose lifestyle is being adversely affected by the continued expansion of airport activity. In this respect, it is high time that we began to focus on the expansion of business jets. Recent figures published indicate that business jet activity increased from 1,523 take-offs and landings for the second quarter of 1976 to 3,888 for the same period in 1977.

THE INFLUX of companies of the magnitude of Fluor, with their special helicopter facilities, and other similar companies capable of making substantial investments in private aircraft, are making our lives a misery. Most of us have accepted commercial air traffic, as a necessary evil and a useful transportation system, to help the people in Orange County avoid having to face up to the realities of Los Angeles International Airport, but it is time to pause and take a good, hard look at our attitude to business jet activity which, in the opinion of the writer, are far more noisy and bothersome during take-off than the commercial airlines. DAVID A. W. YOUNG

Water, Lemon Juice Cure Fraud?

RIVERSIDE (AP) — A nationwide investigation is under way into the practices of a controversial Murrieta Hot Springs clinic that allegedly promised to cure cancer patients with a diet of water and lemon juice.

The clinic became the center of controversy last month after the parents of 7-year-old Kimberly Cox of Milwaukee, tried to remove her from a Milwaukee hospital where she was being treated for leukemia and take her to the Murrieta clinic. The hospital refused to let her go.

least 780 "testers" trained at the clinic to take urine and saliva samples from his patients.

The "testers" analyze the samples, then send their findings to the Murrieta clinic, which recommends treatment.

There are about 80 "testers" in California and 700 nationally, according to John Urso, regional director of the Consumer Affairs Department in Santa Ana.

"TESTERS" — WHO pay $15,000 for a week-long training course at the clinic — have also been reported in Australia, Japan, Jamaica and Germany, Urso said.

Horace C. Gibson, medical director of the Murrieta clinic, said the cure offered to patients included living on a diet of distilled water and lemon juice and receiving treatment from chiropractors. At least 12 cancer patients — including 8-year-old Eric Wells of San Jose — had been treated at the clinic recently, Gibson said.

THE CALIFORNIA Department of Consumer Affairs said Wednesday that A. J. Rudd & Associates, which operates the clinic, was being investigated for allegedly practicing medicine without a license, physician incompetence and illegal cancer treatment.

The department said its Board of Medical Quality Assurance was cooperating with other boards across the country in an investigation of at

Elderly Woman Slain

LONG BEACH (AP) — A 90-year-old woman, Gladys Ott, has been found beaten and strangled in her apartment, less than two weeks after her elderly next-door neighbor suffered the same fate, police said.

Mrs. Ott was found Wednesday by her daughter, who had tried to phone her during the day but had received a busy signal, police said.

On Aug. 29th, the victim's neighbor, Vernita Curtis, 83, was found in a similar condition by her daughter. In both cases there was forced entrance and the residences were ransacked.

LNG Measure Backed

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Assembly has approved a bill to expedite the remote siting of California's first liquefied natural gas terminal but an attempt is expected to make populated areas eligible.

A 73-4 vote Wednesday sent the compromise bill back to the Senate for action on amendments.

Kid Porn Bill Approved

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Legislation to curb the use of children in pornographic films and publications has easily won approval of the state Senate.

STATE

The measure, AB 1580, by Assemblyman Jim Ellis (R-San Diego), went back to the Assembly for action on amendment on a 36-0 vote Wednesday.

Families Evacuated

CANOGA PARK (AP) — Some 60 to 70 families briefly evacuated their homes early today after a load of chlorine gas spilled from a truck and began leaking toxic fumes, police said.

Police conducted a voluntary evacuation of families in a 20-block area when two 150-pound cylinders ruptured after falling from the flatbed truck shortly before midnight.

Girlie 'King' Evicted

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Hollywood's onetime "king of the girlie parlors" has been evicted by a feisty landlady.

Mrs. Po C. Lin obtained an eviction judgment in Municipal Court against both the lessee, the Rev. Michael Ford, and the sublessee, William Norman, who last month opened a nude modeling studio in her Hollywood storefront.

Jim Brown, former Cleveland Browns star fullback, said Wednesday human rights issues faced by homosexuals are similar to problems he has faced as a black. The television and movie actor appeared at a news conference held to announce a Sept. 18 Hollywood Bowl concert from which the proceeds will be used for education on the homosexual issue.

Brown Gets Age, Job Bill

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Legislation allowing employees of state and local government to work beyond the mandatory retirement age — if they are still competent — has been sent to Gov. Edmund Brown Jr.

A 66-0 vote in the Assembly Wednesday approved Senate amendments to the measure (AB 658) by Assemblyman Richard Alatorre.

A SIMILAR bill affecting private employees was sent to the governor last week.

AB 568 would not affect police officers and firefighters. Mandatory retirement ages vary from 65 to 70. The state's is 67.

State and local agencies would set standards for employees to prove competence.

The public employe bill would take effect immediately upon the governor's signature. The effective date of Alatorre's private employe bill is Jan. 1.

Buy Blocked

Assemblyman Daniel Boatwright (D-Concord), has confirmed he helped block a buy by the state Wildlife Conservation Board of 317 acres in the Suisun Marsh near Concord. A business associate holds an option for building homes on the land. Boatwright claims the state unit was ready to pay $4,500 an acre for land "worth $300 or $400 an acre."

Senate OKs Tax Delay

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The California Senate has approved a plan to allow senior citizens who earn less than $20,000 a year to postpone payment of their property taxes.

The measure, AB 1070 by Assemblyman Fred Chel, (D-Long Beach), would implement Prop. 13, a ballot measure approved by voters last year.

On a 34-0 vote Wednesday, it was returned to the Assembly for action on amendments.

UNDER THE bill, a homeowner 62 years or older could put off property tax payments until the house was sold or the owner died. The state would take a lien on the property and the taxes would be paid after the house was sold.

Supporters say the measure would prevent senior citizens on limited incomes from being forced out of their homes by skyrocketing property taxes.

Senseless Killings Stun Toro Rancher

WILL THEY BE NEXT VICTIMS OF THRILL KILLER? Offspring of Two Horses Slain by Crazy Youths

By WILLIAM HODGE

Lealana and Carolisa were peacefully grazing in a quiet pasture just off Santiago Canyon Road in northeast El Toro when at least four shots rang out. Three .22-caliber slugs ripped through Carolisa's neck, killing her instantly. Another bullet tore through Lealana's heart, but she was able to gallop a few hundred feet up a hill to her young offspring.

Perhaps she hoped to protect them from the danger. She dropped dead at her colt's feet. "Our horses are just like our family," a shaken Frank Waer said Wednesday. The 82-year-old has been raising show horses in the hills above El Toro for over 20 years. "It was just like them shooting one of my daughters," Waer said of the thrill-killers who struck Monday.

The killers were described by a witness as two white men in their early 20s. Police are still seeking them. They leisurely parked their four-wheel-drive vehicle in Waer's driveway and shot the horses from about 30 feet away. Before their killing spree had ended, two cows were dead and another horse was injured.

"It's getting where if you value your life you better get out of this area," Waer said, describing several other incidents of people taking shots at water tanks on his ranch from the hills above his home. "The last two years have been a nightmare. I guess I should (See KILLINGS, Page A2)

Uganda's Idi Amin Reported 'in Coma'

Stricken After Surgery

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — President Idi Amin of Uganda was reported by a top aide today to be "in a coma" after undergoing surgery in a Kampala hospital for an undisclosed ailment.

Robert Astles, British-born confidant of the 51-year-old president, said in a telephone interview with the Associated Press in Nairobi he did not have further details.

Asked the reason for Amin's operation, he replied: "We don't exactly know. But he's in a coma. We believe he'll pull out of it. I'm going over to the hospital right now to see what's happening."

Astles was speaking from his office in Kampala. He is a white Ugandan citizen married to a black Ugandan, Mary Astles, who is Ugandan minister of culture.

Earlier today, Uganda radio announced that Amin underwent the operation in Kampala's Nulago Hospital by a Soviet surgeon. The broadcast said the (See AMIN, Page A2)

District Approves Study

Two Saddleback Valley Unified School District trustees apparently unwittingly cast the deciding votes to hire a consulting firm to do a study they originally opposed.

As part of a personnel action which routinely is not made public before the vote, trustees agreed Wednesday to hire the management consulting firm of Arthur Young and Company to study the district's central office operation.

The item passed on a 4-1 vote with Trustee Carole Neustadt dissenting.

Although she is still a strong supporter of the study, Mrs. Neustadt said she cast the negative vote because she didn't like the way the recommendation was presented.

But trustees Loa Young and William Kohler have consistently opposed the study. Yet they cast favorable votes.

After the meeting, the pair admitted that they had been thinking of other personnel issues and forgotten that the consulting firm's study was included in the action.

If they had realized this, the two said, they would have cast negative votes and presumably had the chance to kill the study.

The study's first phase — the only part approved by trustees — will cost about $14,000. It may cost more, however, if the firm recommends changes.

"It could cost us $25,000. I am opposed to that because I think we have expertise in the district (See STUDY, Page A2)

PARENTS WELCOME NEW TEACHERS TO DISTRICT Breakfast Served at Dana Hills to 111 Instructors

District Welcomes 111 New Teachers

Thousands of teachers from all over the country applied for 111 openings this fall in the Capistrano Unified School District. The successful candidates were welcomed Wednesday at a breakfast meeting.

"We always have at least 2,000 applications on hand for teaching positions," a district spokesman said. "I guess people like the idea of teaching in a smaller community, away from big city violence and smog."

The 111 teachers and administrators new to the Capistrano school district represent 14 percent of 763 certificated personnel.

Wednesday's breakfast meeting at Dana Hills High School, sponsored by district parents' associations, offered the new teachers a chance to get acquainted.

"These teachers have a lot in common," said Joy Carter of the district personnel department. "They not only work in the same field, for the same school district, but many are new to the area. They help one another find places to live in this high-cost housing community."

Three new schools are scheduled to open in the district Monday — Capistrano Valley High School in Mission Viejo, Shorecliffs Junior High (meeting on a double session program until November at Marco Forster Junior High in San Juan Capistrano) and Harold Ambuehl Elementary School in San Juan.

"We had 18 administrative positions open in the district this fall because of the new schools," said Mrs. Carter. "but only five new administrators were hired."

"We had a 'round-robin' effect going, with district administrators being reassigned, creating new vacancies, many of which were filled by promotions."

Of the 111 teachers, 37 are new to the teaching profession, and 33 have five or more years of teaching experience, Mrs. Carter said.

Two of the new employees hold doctorate degrees, and 46 have master's degrees.

Cost Curbs Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter told House leaders today he wants Congress to pass a bill curbing hospital costs.

Saddleback Schools Reconsider Busing

Parents concerned about their children's safety convinced Saddleback Valley Unified School District trustees Wednesday to re-evaluate their busing plans for the new school year.

District officials and at least one parent were scheduled to walk from several Mission Viejo neighborhoods to La Paz Intermediate and Mission Viejo High schools this morning to check the distance and safety of the routes.

If any route is longer than two and a half miles or considered unsafe, trustees said, children in neighborhoods generally south of Alicia Parkway and west of Trabuco Road should be provided transportation when school opens on Monday.

Children living in those areas received bus service last year. They were knocked off the buses, however, when trustees increased the walking distance for secondary students from two to two and a half miles during budget deliberations.

Trustees said the change would save the district from $60,000 to $70,000.

But several of the many parents who proceeded to the podium Wednesday objected that they are paying more taxes and getting less service.

Primarily, the parents said, they are concerned that their children will be crossing major streets, traveling some routes that have no bike lanes or sidewalks and going and coming from school in darkness during the winter months. (See ROUTES, Page A2)

Another Icy Winter Likely, Almanac Says

LEWISTON, Maine (AP) — Keep your long johns handy — the Farmers' Almanac says the coming winter is going to be a bitter one.

"For 1977-1978, we show another rough winter, with cold and snow aplenty although not as bad as the winter just past," says the almanac's 161st annual edition, just off the presses.

The venerable publication was right on target last year when it forecast "a big, bad winter," followed by a "scorchingly hot" summer.

"We predicted it first," crows almanac editor Ray Geiger, 67, who obtains his forecasts from (See FREEZE, Page A2)

Homeowners Seek Antenna Removal

The Barcelona Homeowners Association will try again Monday to enlist the aid of the Mission Viejo Municipal Advisory Council in its fight for removal of a cable television antenna erected several months ago in the community.

Officers of the association sought another hearing before the MAC because they claimed the initial discussion in mid-June was inadequate.

The large antenna was raised by TM Cablevision between Via San Gabriel, Via Bahia and Trabuco Road. The Barcelona residents contend it is higher than existing water reservoirs in the area.

"It is visually offensive and does not blend into the surroundings," the association officers have argued.

According to the association, the antenna violates the community's Covenants, Conditions and Restrictions, which specify use of underground utilities to maintain esthetic quality.

Other items on the agenda at the 7:30 p.m. in council offices at 27021 La Paz Road, include: —Continued discussion of vandalism in community parks.

—Discussion of a proposed joint powers pack for use of Oso Viejo Park between county government and the Capistrano Unified School District.

—Discussion of a supplemental environmental impact report on the Santa Margarita Water District's water reclamation plan.

Admission Day Closes Banks, Courts

Banks, county offices and courts will be closed Friday in observance of Admission Day, which commemorates California statehood.

Most city offices in coastal Orange County will stay open, with the exceptions of offices in San Juan Capistrano, San Clemente and Costa Mesa.

School districts which will be closed include the Saddleback Valley Unified, Laguna Beach Unified, Ocean View and Huntington Beach High School districts.

Districts to remain open Friday include Capistrano Unified, Irvine Unified, Fountain Valley and Huntington Beach elementary schools.

Capistrano took its holiday Tuesday, Irvine is saving the day off for sometime in December, Fountain Valley was closed last Friday and Huntington Beach is trading Admission Day in favor of the day after Thanksgiving.

On the community college scene, Saddleback College will be closed.

However, the Coast Community College District and its two campuses will be open. District employees were given their Admission Day holiday on the Friday preceding Labor Day for a four-day weekend.

TV Victory For 'Doors'

NEW YORK (AP) — The opening episode of ABC's "Washington: Behind Closed Doors" won a narrow victory in the national television ratings battle Tuesday night, according to A.C. Nielsen Company figures.

The rating service said today that an estimated 16,040,000 homes were tuned to ABC while CBS drew 15,450,000 for its film, "Logan's Run" and NBC drew 12,470,000 for the movie "The Hindenburg."

The national ratings were ABC, 22.0; CBS, 21.2 and NBC, 17.1. The rating is the estimated percentage of the total television sets in the country that are tuned to a particular program.

32,100 New Jobs In OC

Since last August, a business boom in Orange County has provided a total of 32,100 new jobs which have helped make the county the best job market in the state, according to the State Department of Employment Development.

Figures released Wednesday showed the county's unemployment rate for August down to 4.3 percent, the lowest in the state and a five-year low for Orange County.

Last August, the unemployment rate was 5.9 percent. State officials said the August, 1977 figure contrasts with the July figure of 4.4 percent.

Department analysts are also predicting that the county's job market will continue to expand through the close of the year with new firms moving into the county and with the seasonal boost in retail trade.

According to the statistics, the labor force of 863,800 was up 40,200 from a year ago, but most of the increase in workers available was offset by the increase in jobs.

The biggest categorical increase occurred in wholesale and retail trade where 10,000 new jobs were counted this year over last, due primarily to the openings of new department stores.

Construction industries also registered a major job gain with 9,000 more jobs listed this year than last, due in part to a 22 percent increase in building over the same period.

Other job gains in the past year were shown in service industries, including hospitals, hotels and repair services, where the job count was up 5,500; in finance, insurance and real estate where the yearly increase was 3,000, and in manufacturing where the increase was 4,600 compared to last August.

Harry K. Buie, a retired astronomer and school administrator in Inverness, Fla.

"He uses a secret formula, passed down since the almanac was founded in 1818," says Geiger. "It's based on sunspots, the position of the planets and the tidal action of the moon."

The almanac has been issuing forecasts 52 years longer than the National Weather Service, says Geiger, who rarely passes up an opportunity for a good-natured jab at the government-run bureau.

"We call them a 'non-prophet' agency," he says.

Despite the almanac's warning of a cold and snowy winter, its long-range prognostications offer the prospect of relief from extremes of heat and cold.

The summer of 1978, says Geiger, will be "moderate and more pleasant. It won't be quite as hot or quite as dry as it was this summer."

And in another year or two there will be a mild winter, he says.

In addition to weather information, this year's almanac is filled with the usual blend of homespun homilies, one-line jokes, inspirational essays and recipes, including ones for a "concrete" pecan pie and hot tuna dogs.

Geiger's 48-page publication, not to be confused with the 185-year-old Old Farmers Almanac, is sold to banks and other businesses, which distribute it free to their customers. Geiger also publishes the American Farm & Home Almanac.

Emphasizing "wholesomeness, honesty and integrity," Geiger says his almanacs try to recall the niceties and values of a simpler life that has all but disappeared.

have gone before now." Waer said he would put his 80-acre spread up for sale. He is contemplating a move to the Santa Inez valley because of the shooting incident.

And the move would be the third time the 60-year Orange County resident has been forced to move because of the area's development.

"My first ranch was near where Harbor Boulevard and Edinger are today," the octogenarian explained.

"I had to move because of all the building going on in that area," he continued. Waer relocated to another ranch that was situated where Irvine and 21st Streets now intersect in Costa Mesa.

His home abounds with photos of a development-free Newport Back Bay. But building in the bay area eventually forced Waer to locate his ranch elsewhere once again and he settles in the El Toro hills where two of his thoroughbred Morgan mares were slaughtered.

The dead horses were valued at $15,000 each.

"They weren't just regular horses," Waer explained. "Their sire produced 32 grand champions."

Orange County's growth has brought a wealth of problems to Waer and his prize-winning horses that the aging rancher finds hard to understand.

"Times have sure changed since I came to this county," Waer recalled. "At one time we were one big family here in Orange County — now, it's dog eat dog."

to do (the study)," explained Kohler.

Both he and Mrs. Young said they believe administrators within the district could do the same job as the management consultants. They argue that the money spent on the study could be spent on other district programs.

During budget deliberations, they also objected to the board majority's decision to freeze expenditures at the central office level until after the study is completed.

Although there was some talk of calling for another vote on the issue, Mrs. Neustadt indicated that she would not vote against the study. She promised this morning, "I will not see the needs assessment fail."

She explained that she only voted against it Wednesday because she felt there should have been some public discussion and the board should have been informed of the proposals and fees of other firms.

"I vigorously supported the needs assessment and I still continue to do so," she said.

He said the firm, which has offices in Los Angeles and San Francisco, is the largest management consulting firm in the state. He said the first phase of the study should be started next week and completed by mid-October.

Wallace Bugging Issue for Courts?

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — The bedroom bugging incident which Gov. George C. Wallace characterized last September as a "domestic matter between my wife and myself" could turn out to be a matter for the courts, too.

The Montgomery Advertiser reported today that the tapes produced by the bugging device on Wallace's bedroom telephone were not destroyed after their discovery last September.

Quoting what it said were reliable sources, the Advertiser said some 400 hours of taped conversations Wallace had with "prominent women" still exist and could play a vital role in his divorce proceedings initiated by his wife, Cornelia.

The Advertiser's sources said the tapes are of "conversations the married man ought not to be having with other women."

Mrs. Wallace moved out of the executive mansion Tuesday, saying she could no longer endure the "vulgarity, threats and abuse" from her husband.

She conferred about an hour Wednesday with attorneys, but her only comment was that she has "no plans yet" to file a divorce petition.

The 38-year-old Mrs. Wallace has, however, instructed attorneys "to do what is

Rating Down Carter's Popularity Slips

NEW YORK (AP) — President Carter's popularity is dropping, and many Americans are critical of the way he has handled the rising clamor over the financial dealings of Budget Director Bert Lance while he was a Georgia banker, according to a Harris Survey released today.

The survey found most Americans believe Carter still is doing a good job as president, but the majority has dropped from 59 percent at the end of July to 52 percent of the 1,419 people questioned between Aug. 13 and Aug. 20. Such a decline at this stage of an administration has not been uncommon in recent years, the survey noted.

Carter's rating on the handling of Lance's difficulties had 40 percent of those questioned disapproving; 33 percent approving, and 27 percent undecided. There have been many developments in the Lance controversy since the survey was made.

Lance Due To Resign Next Week?

BOSTON (AP) — Budget Director Bert Lance plans to announce his resignation after defending himself next week at Senate hearings into his dealings as a Georgia banker, the Boston Herald American said today.

The newspaper quoted sources it said are close to Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff (D-Conn.), chairman of the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee which opened hearings today.

Ribicoff told President Carter on Sunday that Lance should resign. Ribicoff had been one of Lance's earliest supporters. He said six weeks ago that Lance had been unjustly criticized by the news media.

Meanwhile, the New York Daily News said in an editorial today that Lance's usefulness as budget director has been "destroyed" and that "if Lance won't resign gracefully, President Carter ought to pull the plug on his pal."

And the New York Times said in an editorial today that "For the President to ask for Mr. Lance's resignation is not, finally, to surrender to lynch-mob injustice but to demonstrate an understanding and mastery of the rough-and-tumble of national politics. The most important issue is not Mr. Lance's probity as a banker but Mr. Carter's sagacity as a politician."

In another development the government's chief banking regulator today told a Senate committee he would have endorsed Lance as budget director only if certain Lance had corrected some of his practices as a Georgia banker.

Reagan Cites Pact Dangers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ronald Reagan said today if the Senate ratifies the new Panama Canal treaty the Soviet Union and Cuba may be encouraged to expand their influence in Panama.

Urging rejection of the treaty signed by President Carter and Panamanian officials Wednesday night, Reagan said, "it should never surprise us that whenever the United States withdraws its presence or its strong interest from any area, the Soviets are ready, willing and often able to exploit the situation."

"Can we believe that the Panama Canal is any exception?"

necessary" to protect her.

One attorney, Ira DeMent, indicated there will be discussions with the governor's lawyers to come up with an "amicable settlement."

Last September, when he confirmed that a taping system had been discovered in his bedroom, Wallace said, "This happened in my bedroom between me and my wife."

The 58-year-old Wallace also said, "I think we can better resolve our differences, if any, if the press would accept that this is purely a domestic matter."

When his wife moved her personal belongings from the executive mansion Tuesday, Wallace's only comment was: "It's a private matter and I trust that our friends can treat it as such."

The Wallaces' separation came one month after the disclosure that a divorce petition had been drawn on the governor's behalf, blaming the marital difficulties on "complete incompatibility of temperament" and an "irretrievable breakdown of the marriage."

The Wallaces were married Jan. 4, 1971. Both had been married before, Wallace's first wife, Lurleen, died of cancer while she was governor.

Grant Boys

Daylight Raid Nets Handguns

In a daring daylight store looting, burglars used a tow truck to rip off the front door of the Grant Boys' store in downtown Costa Mesa Wednesday, escaping with about 68 handguns valued at up to $14,500.

Police said the burglary hit the store on busy Newport Boulevard in broad daylight at 7:15 a.m.

The swift was the raid that thieves had fled before police could answer the burglar alarm. It was the second time within 10 days that gun thieves had looted the store at 1750 Newport Boulevard.

Police Lt. George Lorton said there is a strong possibility that the same bandits struck again.

In Wednesday's raid, the burglars triggered a store alarm but moved quickly enough to load up the guns and escape before police arrived.

Police said at least two men were involved in the heist. The burglars used a white tow truck with a red boom to tear off the front door.

Once inside the store, the bandits swiftly shattered three gun cases and took at least 68 handguns of various calibers.

Store employees are still totaling the loss, estimated at between $17,000 and $25,000.

On Aug. 28, a similar break-in resulted in the loss of 37 revolvers valued at $4,837.

In both cases, the suspects are described as black men in their early 20s.

Refund Due Pacific Tel Customers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Rate reductions and $14 million in refunds were ordered for 7.4 million Pacific Telephone Co. customers as a result of an admitted error of the state Public Utilities Commission.

The PUC ordered Wednesday that Pacific Telephone make the rate cuts and repay customers.

The phone company said it would ask the PUC to reconsider the ruling it branded as "yet another example of capricious regulation in California."

The commission said it was correcting a 21-month-old error that resulted in the phone company being granted a $65.2 million rate hike.

That December 1975 decision had been appealed by the city of San Diego, and the PUC reopened the case.

"Upon rehearing and reconsideration we find that we were in error," the PUC said in pointing out its mistake in estimating intrastate telephone revenues.

One father noted that an 11-year-old Pacific Palisades girl disappeared while walking to the store last weekend. "It's happened before and I think it's going to happen again," he said.

Two parents told trustees their children could not walk to school because of health problems. Others claimed their homes were beyond the two and a half mile limit.

Although trustees ordered a reconsideration of the routes, the problems may not be solved if a large number of students are involved.

Claudia Hall, the district's transportation dispatcher, said it would be "humanly impossible" to provide the buses if a large number of students are involved.

She explained that the number of buses are limited, routes and schedules have been set and day is the last working day before school opens.

She said the only solution if a large number of students are involved would be to get them "to school super early and home super late." She said students would have to wait more than an hour after school for a bus.

Time for Trustee to Bow Out Gracefully

Saddleback College Trustee Frank Greinke last week announced his resignation from the college board effective no later than Nov. 15.

From the discussion that followed his resignation announcement, it appears fellow trustees will allow Greinke to participate in the discussion regarding selection of his own successor.

We don't believe that's a healthy idea. Depending on the extent of his participation, it could be illegal.

By law, Greinke is forbidden from voting on his replacement and justifiably so, since his successor will represent the needs and desires of Trustee Area One, not Frank Greinke.

Also, the present group of trustees will be the ones working with the appointee. Greinke will be gone.

We think it is fine for Greinke to suggest candidates for the position, but it is for the other six trustees who should decide the appointment.

Greinke should bow out gracefully and leave the discussion and selection of his successor to the other six trustees.

Coyote Territory

The wily coyotes of south Orange County are making life risky for small domestic pets in areas where new housing tracts are inching into the wild hills.

In fact, say county animal control experts, the coyote population is on the rise and the wild canines have actually developed an epicurean taste for dogs and cats.

New construction poses many problems, ranging from traffic congestion to overloaded sewage systems. Now it seems that as man's domain overlaps that of the coyote, there is an additional problem to contend with.

The animal control people say that a modicum of caution and good sense can prevent the taking of domestic pets by coyotes and perhaps eventually turn the coyotes' attention back to their regular diet.

In fringe areas, owners of small pets should keep an eye on them at night or keep them indoors. Most solid fences and walls will deter coyote attacks but it is still a good idea to keep some lights on if the pets are outdoors.

Allocation Unfair

Irvine Mayor Bill Vardoulis is urging the state Highway Commission to increase its funding of roadway projects in Orange County to more closely reflect the dollars residents are spending.

He said that Orange County get a bigger percentage of its contributions.

His plea is one felt countywide, but especially in the developing southern part of the county.

Vardoulis cited Orange County's share of the taxes it contributes for highway projects at only 37 cents per dollar.

That's too low for the fastest growing county in the state. The need is particularly hard felt in cities like Irvine, where growth is most rapid.

Orange County cities, and county government itself, ought to join together and continue to lobby the commission for a fair share of their highway taxes.

Another way in which the more critical Britisher judges a gentleman is by how sleekly he furls his broly. What, you've never seen a gentleman furl a broly? That's "fold up an umbrella." Umbrella comes from the Italian, meaning "little shadow," let's throw that in, too.

When that Nazi bigwig Hermann Goering took cyanide during his war crimes trial at Nuremberg after World War II, he left a note "to the World, he people." Allied authorities impounded it, saying its message wouldn't be disclosed until 20 years later. That 20 years has come and gone and then some. Client asks if the letter has ever been made public. Don't know, don't know. Most mysterious. Have you ever heard of its disclosure?

Q. "Did Civil War soldiers have nude pinup pictures, too?"

A. Some. There were highly prized French Daguerrotypes of nudes by 1840. Most of the pinups, though, were fashion drawings with a lot of hoops and ruffles. And these were in tents all over.

Q. "Why was the first week in November picked for national elections?"

A. Harvest and came after the roads got too gummed up to make it to town. An 1845 law set the time.

Customer contends the greatest migration in history occurred between 1800 and 1875 when 7.5 million immigrants moved from the British Isles to the New World. Maybe so. But that's worthy of debate. I'll warrant that the migration from the farms to the cities during the last 50 years was somewhat greater.

Dactylogy is the art of communicating ideas with the fingers. Winston Churchill's two-fingered V for Victory sign is one example. The cutthroat drawing of the forefinger across the Adam's apple is another. And a third is the old Roman let-him-live signal of thumbs up. Any others?

Q. "What do boiler-makers make, besides boilers?"

A. Anything in steel that's watertight. Like ships, tanks, pipelines.

Q. "How many women were among those original 100 Jamestown settlers?"

A. None. ("I'll send for you, baby.") The women came later.

Nuclear Waste Crisis Looms

WASHINGTON—At least 20 nuclear reactors are so swamped with their own radioactive wastes that they will have to close down within seven years unless drastic action is taken.

The Carter administration has prohibited reprocessing used nuclear fuel and many nuclear plants have crammed their storage facilities to capacity with the spent fuel rods. A nuclear reactor must shut down if its lethal wastes cannot be stored or shipped away.

The nation's nuclear plants, meanwhile, are running out of room and time. An investigation by the Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA) has found several nuclear reactors with a critical oversupply of spent fuel.

For example, South Carolina's H.B. Robinson plant, operated by Carolina Power and Light, will be forced to shut down by February 1978 if it is not permitted to ship out its deadly radioactive wastes. A company spokesman admitted to us: "We're in trouble. Time is of the essence."

ANOTHER REACTOR on the problem list is located in La Crosse, Wis. The chaotic federal nuclear policy, complained the plant manager, is "constituting the nuclear industry." Several other nuclear facilities are also caught in the squeeze.

The nuclear industry, meanwhile, is grinding to a standstill while it waits for President Carter to produce a comprehensive nuclear policy. In a private letter to the president, Rep. John Moss (D-Calif.) has warned that "the earliest an industry spent fuel storage facility could be built and licensed is 1983. Yet by 1983, 30 reactors will have lost the ability to control their nuclear wastes properly."

THIS, stressed Moss, will result in the "imminent threat of nuclear reactor shutdowns."

In fairness, government experts claim the situation has improved from a dire emergency of a couple of years ago. But radioactive wastes continue to stockpile while storage space shrinks.

FARM EXPORTS: The Foreign Agriculture Service (FAS), an arm of the Agriculture Dept., sends both government men and businessmen abroad to promote the sale of U.S. farm products.

In all fairness, it must be said that these traveling pitchmen have been successful in boosting foreign sales of ripe tobacco leaf, surplus wheat and other commodities grown in the United States.

They haven't been quite as successful, however, as the FAS likes to claim. Last year, the agency inflated its claims with phony statistics—the better to justify its $40 million budget.

THERE WAS the matter, for example, of cattle exports to Hungary. A staff investigation for Chairman Charles Vanik (D-Ohio) of the House Trade subcommittee, found that Hungary is buying less cattle from the United States.

But the FAS solemnly assured Congress Hungary is purchasing more U.S. cattle than ever. For this, the agency took full credit.

It turned out, however, that the FAS had various statistics to choose from. The Economic Research Service, which keeps track of livestock exports, reported that 597 American steers reached Hungary in 1976.

The Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service keeps its own count of the cattle that is shipped overseas. By its arithmetic, 1,245 head of cattle made it to Hungary.

Neither figure was much to boast about. The FAS, therefore, seized upon some private statistics kept by the Holstein-Friesian Assn., a huge cattle cooperative. Triumphant, the FAS reported to Congress that the cooperative had exported 6,300 cattle to the Hungarian market. But the agency couldn't even get the private figures right. The surprised cooperative had reported shipping only 3,326 steers to Hungary.

IF CONGRESS has been misled about the amount of U.S. beef served to hungry Hungarians last year, the FAS is not repentant. An official told us the agency intended to "ignore" the congressional investigation. He said the FAS was constantly being investigated by Congress, without detriment. It is difficult, he added, to make sure all the figures are accurate.

But congressional critics are wondering why the taxpayers need to spend $40 million to promote agricultural sales overseas. The United States dominates agricultural trade and shouldn't need touring promoters to tout its beef and barley.

"It's a little bit," Vanik told us, "like Saudi Arabia advertising the benefits of its oil."

ELECTRONIC RIPOFFS — Computerized banking is becoming the new rage and may eventually replace cash and credit cards. In the electronic age, consumers will be able to purchase groceries by transferring funds electronically from their bank to the supermarket.

But under the present state of the art, computerized banking leaves the customers vulnerable to electronic ripoffs. One woman lost her life savings of $3,800 when her plastic bank card was stolen. Her account was emptied out by the enterprising thief. But under the current laws, she can't recover a dime.

INTERNAL staff memos of the National Commission on Electronic Fund Transfers warn, meanwhile, that the system could "cause severe hardship to consumers." If a citizen loses money because of "human or computer error," the documents note, "it would be his word against the bank's."

Planned Parenthood Accusation False

To the Editor: Supervisor Laurence Schmit's letter to the editor of Aug. 29 deserves a reply.

The supervisor stated that Planned Parenthood promotes anti-family activities and promiscuous sex among teenagers. As president of Planned Parenthood of Orange County, I want to assure your readers that this is not true.

OUR BYLAWS say that the purpose of our organization is "to provide leadership for the universal acceptance of family planning as an essential element of responsible parenthood, stable family life and social harmony through education for family planning, the provision of the necessary services and the promotion of research in the field of human reproduction." Our organization consists of dedicated and hard working volunteers and staff who provide clinic and education services in a cost effective, humane manner. Tax funds are supplemented by private donations from generous Orange Countyans who agree with us that every child should be a wanted child.

SUPERVISOR Schmit persists in waving our literature around out of context in order, I assume, to stir up the bleak fantasies of evil imagined by the few fanatics who support him on this issue.

Contrary to what he and his friends have stated, we vocally condemn promiscuous, exploitative sex. We beg sexually active people to bring babies into the world only as members of a family unit with a supportive father and mother.

Supervisor Schmit, incidentally, has done nothing during his term of office to support, strengthen or assist the family unit. He should be very glad Planned Parenthood exists to struggle with the issue.

Shame!

To the Editor: Shame on those in high governmental places who would dare criticize former President Richard Nixon for allegedly keeping for himself some valuable gifts that belong to the U.S. government!

Nixon, it is deeply hurt" by Clement, is "deeply hurt" by these dastardly accusations.

Nixon, while President, showed all of us that he is so honest, clean, wholesome and forthright that it should be incomprehensible for anyone to even consider accusing him of doing something that is not completely above board.

Shame on his nasty accusers!

Says It All

To the Editor: Re: Supervisor Laurence J. Schmit's letter in the Aug. 29 paper.

The first part of his first sentence says it all.

"I have just had the opportunity to read your editorial of July 21..."

That's just about par for the supervisor, it seems. A little bit behind everywhere and in everything.

To the Editor: The article on protecting little egos on your Sunday editorial page (Aug. 28) really hit the nail on the head.

If we did away with the frills in education and got down to some good basic teaching, maybe our kids would learn something.

We need more people working in our schools like the author of this article.

Role Models

To the Editor: Capistrano Unified School District trustee Robert Bachelor's comments regarding homosexual and Communist teachers are interesting (Daily Pilot, Aug. 23).

I wonder how he feels about ignorant and prejudiced people serving as role models for the children they teach. Seems to me he should resign his post or at least take a leave of absence until he straightens himself out.

RICHARD RENTZ

To the Editor:

I enjoyed reading your interview with Van France, which appeared in the Sunday, Aug. 28 Pilot. It was the gutsy and positive approach to life and work which he expressed which prompted this letter regarding Ms. Hyman's column in "The Weekender" on the South Coast Repertory Theater's recent production and her interview with Burgess Meredith.

Her description of Mr. Meredith evoked images of a very old party who had been rolled out of his convalescent home on a gurney, lifted into a wheelchair so he could be pushed onto the stage in order to deliver directions in a feeble, halting, weakened-by-age-and-disease voice. I wonder how one so vital and able as Burgess Meredith, so sought-after as both actor and director in theater, movies and television, can possibly be described by her as "still energetic and agile despite his 67 years."

First, who cares if he's 67, 37 or 87? He's talented and experienced and was chosen to do a job among many others, presumably talented, regardless of age. What has age to do with ability and experience anyway? This message, this subliminal idea that it is news-worthy that an individual is ambulatory at senior citizen status, must be eliminated from the media and from our collective consciousness.

Second, equal rights to life, liberty and freedom to work and express oneself creatively must be extended to all of our citizens, regardless of age—whether 50, 60 or, heaven forbid, even 70 years of age or older. (Watch it there, Cary Grant, Ruth Gordon, Will Geer, Margaret Mead, et al!)

By the way, Ms. Hyman mentioned that it was Mr. Meredith's first visit to Costa Mesa. I suggest that if he ever sees the article that visit may well be his last.

ESTELLE O. WEBB

To the Editor:

Your readers, particularly those in the flight pattern of the Orange County Airport, will have noted the recent settlement of the suit brought against the county by Mr. Harry Rinker. This settlement, once again, highlights the major noise problem caused by the Orange County Airport, and sharpens the wits of other homeowners whose lifestyle is being adversely affected by the continued expansion of airport activity.

In this respect, it is high time that we began to focus on the expansion of business jets. Recent figures published indicate that business jet activity increased from 1,523 take-offs and landings for the second quarter of 1976 to 3,888 for the same period in 1977.

THE INFLUX of companies of the magnitude of Fluor, with their special helicopter facilities, and other similar companies capable of making substantial investments in private aircraft, are making our lives a misery.

Most of us have accepted commercial air traffic, as a necessary evil and a useful transportation system, to help the people in Orange County avoid having to face up to the realities of Los Angeles International Airport, but it is time to pause and take a good, hard look at our attitude to business jet activity which, in the opinion of the writer, are far more noisy and bothersome during take-off than the commercial airlines.

U.S. Probes Clinic

Water, Lemon Juice Cure Fraud?

RIVERSIDE (AP) — A nationwide investigation is under way into the practices of a controversial Murrieta Hot Springs clinic that allegedly promised to cure cancer patients with a diet of water and lemon juice.

The clinic became the center of controversy last month after the parents of 7-year-old Kimberly Cox of Milwaukee, tried to remove her from a Milwaukee hospital where she was being treated for leukemia and take her to the Murrieta clinic. The hospital refused to let her go.

THE CALIFORNIA Department of Consumer Affairs said Wednesday that A. J. Rudd & Associates, which operates the clinic, was being investigated for allegedly practicing medicine without a license, physician incompetence and illegal cancer treatment.

The department said its Board of Medical Quality Assurance was cooperating with other boards across the country in an investigation of at least 780 "testers" trained at the clinic to take urine and saliva samples from his patients.

The "testers" analyze the samples, then send their findings to the Murrieta clinic, which recommends treatment.

There are about 80 "testers" in California and 700 nationally, according to John Urso, regional director of the Consumer Affairs Department in Santa Ana.

"TESTERS" — WHO pay $15,000 for a week-long training course at the clinic — have also been reported in Australia, Japan, Jamaica and Germany, Urso said.

Horace C. Gibson, medical director of the Murrieta clinic, said the cure offered to patients included living on a diet of distilled water and lemon juice and receiving treatment from chiropractors. At least 12 cancer patients — including 8-year-old Eric Wells of San Jose — had been treated at the clinic recently, Gibson said.

Brown Gets Age, Job Bill

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Legislation allowing employees of state and local government to work beyond the mandatory retirement age — if they are still competent — has been sent to Gov. Edmund Brown Jr.

A 66-0 vote in the Assembly Wednesday approved Senate amendments to the measure (AB 658) by Assemblyman Richard Alatorre.

A SIMILAR bill affecting private employees was sent to the governor last week.

AB 568 would not affect police officers and firefighters. Mandatory retirement ages vary from 65 to 70. The state's is 67.

State and local agencies would set standards for employees to prove competence.

The public employe bill would take effect immediately upon the governor's signature. The effective date of Alatorre's private employe bill is Jan. 1.

Senate OKs Tax Delay

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The California Senate has approved a plan to allow senior citizens who earn less than $20,000 a year to postpone payment of their property taxes.

The measure, AB 1070 by Assemblyman Fred Chel, (D-Long Beach), would implement Prop. 13, a ballot measure approved by voters last year.

On a 34-0 vote Wednesday, it was returned to the Assembly for action on amendments.

UNDER THE bill, a homeowner 62 years or older could put off property tax payments until the house was sold or the owner died. The state would take a lien on the property and the taxes would be paid after the house was sold.

Supporters say the measure would prevent senior citizens on limited incomes from being forced out of their homes by skyrocketing property taxes.

Beaten, Strangled

Elderly Woman Slain

LONG BEACH (AP) — A 90-year-old woman, Gladys Ott, has been found beaten and strangled in her apartment, less than two weeks after her elderly next-door neighbor suffered the same fate, police said.

Mrs. Ott was found Wednesday by her daughter, who had tried to phone her during the day but had received a busy signal, police said.

On Aug. 29th, the victim's neighbor, Vernita Curtis, 83, was found in a similar condition by her daughter. In both cases there was forced entrance and the residences were ransacked.

LNG Measure Backed

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Assembly has approved a bill to expedite the remote siting of California's first liquefied natural gas terminal — but an attempt is expected to make populated areas eligible.

A 73-4 vote Wednesday sent the compromise bill back to the Senate for action on amendments.

Kid Porn Bill Approved

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Legislation to curb the use of children in pornographic films and publications has easily won approval of the state Senate.

The measure, AB 1580, by Assemblyman Jim Ellis (R-San Diego), went back to the Assembly for action on amendment on a 36-0 vote Wednesday.

Families Evacuated

CANOGA PARK (AP) — Some 60 to 70 families briefly evacuated their homes early today after a load of chlorine gas spilled from a truck and began leaking toxic fumes, police said.

Police conducted a voluntary evacuation of families in a 20-block area when two 150-pound cylinders ruptured after falling from the flatbed truck shortly before midnight.

Third Time Cereal-juice Merger Nixed

By MILTON MOSKOWITZ. For the third time in four years the "breakfast table" merger of Kellogg and Tropicana has been called off. Kellogg, leader of the cereal market, and Tropicana, leader of the chilled single-strength orange juice market, agreed to merge in 1974. It would have brought Tropicana into the Kellogg orbit for $150 million. But the marriage was canceled.

In 1976 the heads of the two companies renewed their courtship, agreeing to go to the altar under an offer worth $315 million to Tropicana shareholders. But again the deal fell through.

THIS YEAR KELLOGG WAS BACK with another offer, valued at $380 million. Once again it was tentatively accepted by the Tropicana management, only to be called off for the third time.

Tune in next year for another episode in this long-running corporate melodrama. By then the Florida orange juice packer should be worth at least $400 million to the Battle Creek, Mich., cereal producer.

While it failed in its quest for Tropicana, Kellogg continues to hold a firm grip on the $1.7 billion cereal business, according to the latest share-of-market figures compiled by Maxwell Associates, Richmond, Va.

Kellogg is running away with 42.5 percent of the dollars spent by American families on dry cereals. That's up from the 42 percent it held in 1975.

There are two ways to measure market position — by pounds and by dollars — and they do not always jibe. For example, measured by pounds of cereal sold, the market leader is Kellogg's Corn Flakes. That means more than any other cereal. However, in terms of dollar sales, the market leader is the Cheerios brand of General Mills. It doesn't sell as many packs as Kellogg's Corn Flakes but it's priced higher.

HERE ARE THE 10 LEADING CEREAL brands in America (ranked by percentage of total dollar sales):

- Cheerios 6.4 percent
Sugar Frosted Flakes 5.4 percent
Kellogg's Corn Flakes 5 percent
Rice Krispies 5 percent
Raisin Bran (Kellogg) 4.4 percent
Raisin Bran (Post) 3.6 percent
Cap'n Crunch 3.4 percent
Fruit Loops 3.1 percent
Special K 3 percent
Shredded Wheat 3 percent

Those 10 brands take 42.3 percent of the entire cereal market, and six of the leaders come from Kellogg. In addition to the Corn Flakes and Raisin Bran entries, the Kellogg brands are Sugar Frosted Flakes, Rice Krispies, Fruit Loops and Special K.

No other company has more than one brand in the top 10. Cheerios is the long Big G brand. Post division of General Foods is represented only by its Raisin Bran. Cap'n Crunch comes from Quaker Oats, and Shredded Wheat is marketed by cookie-and-cracker maker Nabisco.

So while it's still thirsting to get into the orange juice business, Kellogg can't complain about the way the cereal dollars are being distributed.

Drought Impact Limited - Bank

Although the ongoing drought is having an impact on Southern California, researchers at Security Pacific Bank say the effect is less severe than some had originally feared. Because of Southern California's more abundant sources of water, voluntary and mandated water conservation, crop selection and cost-effective use of water by farmers and ranchers, the bank's researchers say, the impact of the drought is less severe locally than in other regions of the state.

THE LATEST ISSUE OF THE BANK'S publication, Monthly Summary of Business Conditions in Southern California, reports that latest official estimates show a 21 percent drop in water usage by Los Angeles area residents during July, compared with use in July 1976.

Richard W. Ayer, assistant vice president, says that although Southern California agriculture has been affected by the drought, "the damage to date has not been nearly as great as some originally had feared. The state Department of Water and Agriculture recently lowered its projection for the drought-caused loss in the state's agricultural revenue for this year, and now estimates some $800 million in losses instead of more than a billion dollars. Because of our more abundant sources of water, Southern California probably will not have to share proportionally in this projected loss in agricultural revenue," Ayer said.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA'S LIVESTOCK industry and such dryland grain crops as cotton and hay are suffering the most severe drought damage, the report says.

As for the impact on food prices, the bank says the drought will generate some upward pressure on the prices of many farm products. However, it says, the picture is not as bleak as some might believe.

Neither sugar nor rice prices should be affected by California's reduced production of these crops, since there is a glut of both these commodities on the world's markets. Similarly, grain prices should not be affected since California produces only a small share of such grains as corn, wheat and oats. As for the state's vegetable crops, the bank says many of these are grown in regions that have not suffered from any immediate shortage of irrigation water.

"Over-all, although the prices of some fresh fruits and vegetables will rise because of the drought, most retail food prices are not expected to be appreciably affected by California's drought, unless it continues through next year and beyond," the bank says.

Altec Lansing Opens Engineering Group

Altec Lansing Sound Products Division, Anaheim, has announced formation of an engineering group to support contractors, consultants, architects and engineers design and develop commercial sound systems.

Headed the group will be Bob Davis, director of systems applications engineering. He is former manager of marketing development and training. Joining Davis is Dr. Rex Sinclair, former acoustical product design engineer. Also working with the group will be senior engineer Chris Foreman, who has a background in sound systems engineering spanning 10 years, and George Westbrook, technical writer, a long-time Altec Lansing employee. Westbrook holds a B.A. degree from California State University at Long Beach.

Stunter Jumps to Airplane

LOS ANGELES (AP) Stuntman Dar Robinson jumped out of an airplane eight times in an attempt to drop one mile down to land on another airplane. He made it three times.

Robinson, 30, performed the stunt over California City in the Mojave Desert for an NBC special called "Super Stunt."

ON THREE drops he grabbed the wings of the Stearman catch plane and landed with the plane. He missed the plane five times, but parachuted to safety.

"The biggest problem was air turbulence around the catch plane and staying away from its propeller," said Robinson. "I nearly went into the propeller once."

Robinson said that each time he bailed out of a Cessna at 10,500 feet and dropped more than 5,000 feet to an open cockpit Stearman plane piloted by Mike Dewey.

Second City Sets 'Invasion' of TV

By JAY SHARBUTT

LOS ANGELES (AP) — For years, Chicago's famed Second City comedy club has been largely known as the joint such folks as Valerie Harper, Avery Schreiber and many of NBC's "Saturday Night" gang came from.

But it could escape its graduate-school-faughter tag soon — with its own weekly TV comedy series. The name of the half-hour effort is "Second City TV." The inmates are taping 26 shows for starters.

The series, sold to stations on a syndicated basis in 43 markets so far, will commence next month in most of those markets, save New York, where the goods don't go on display until October.

ACCORDING TO BERNARD Sahlins, producer of the show and operator of the 17½-year-old Chicago chuckle works, the aim of the TV show is to make sport of, ah, television.

The spoofing occurs at Second City's Channel

109, a mythical station which employs seven performer-writers from the troupe's home club and one it opened in Toronto, Canada, about five years ago.

"What we're doing is parodying every conceivable television form, from sitcoms to 'Sunrise Semester,' everything we can lay our hands on," he said. "I tell you, it's an unlimited field."

SPEAKING BY PHONE from the Windy City, he said each show's satirical and just plain off-the-wall skits all are written by the series' featured — and relatively unknown — players.

Wares range from a "full-length" TV version of "Ben-Hur," lasting 14 minutes, to a piece on critics, with someone posing as Geraldo Rivera asking a Rex "Gong Show" Reed poseur about the carping.

Sahlins, whose Chicago club seats 350 patrons, 351 if they're well-acquainted, was asked why his gang didn't try the weekly TV route before. He said times weren't as right for it as now.

"THERE'S A WHOLE NEW generation of viewers out there now who were brought up on 'Laugh-In,' 'That Was the Week That Was,' even 'Sesame Street,' with quick, fast humor that shortcuts the story exposition required in situation comedies," he said.

"They don't demand continuing characters in the same way audiences did before, and that's sort of a trend in humor now."

He cited the non sequitur jesting of 'Monty Python's Flying Circus' as a prime example of the kind of tomfoolery young urban audiences now seem to prefer when they turn on the tube.

"I think in many cases the television audience is underestimated in this sense," he said. "I suspect the situation comedy might be in for a little heavier going from now on."

IF THE SHOW — TAPED in Toronto because it cost less to make there — clicks with viewers and reviewers, he said, production on another 26 episodes will start in May.

"For us, this is the road," he said, alluding to the fact that Second City's brand of humor usually is shown outside Chicago through two touring companies.

Should the TV version draw insufficient numbers of home viewing patrons, he added, laughing, "we can always lick our wounds and retreat to our club."

Violence Subject Of Drama

LOS ANGELES (AP) — NBC will air the first dramatization about television violence and its effect on children in a movie called "The Storyteller."

Academy Award winner Martin Balsam will star as a scriptwriter whose TV movie is accused of causing a 12-year-old viewer to set a fire that killed another youngster.

The film is being written by Richard Levinson and William Link, authors of such TV movies as "My Sweet Charlie," "That Certain Summer," and "The Execution of Private Slovik."

A Political Actor Vaughn FDR After 'Washington'

By BOB THOMAS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I came from an Irish-Catholic family that worshiped God and Roosevelt," says Robert Vaughn in partial explanation of why his life and acting career have been intermingled with politics.

Vaughn was one of the first performers to speak against the Vietnam war. He has stumped for a variety of causes and candidates and earned his doctorate in mass communications at the University of Southern California with a thesis on the influence of government Redhunters on the entertainment industry.

This week Vaughn is being seen nightly on ABC's blockbuster "Washington: Behind Closed Doors." He plays Frank Flaherty, protector and adviser of President Richard Monckton, portrayed by Jason Robards. Any resemblance to Richard Nixon and H.R. Haldeman appears fully intended.

MONDAY, VAUGHN will comprise the entire cast of "FDR," when it has its premiere in Seattle. The play is by Dore Schary, who also wrote "Sunrise at Campobello," the play about Franklin Roosevelt's conquest of polio. Vaughn will tour in "FDR" for nine months, with time out to appear in a second 10 hours of "Washington: Behind Closed Doors" — if the specials have the "Roots"-like reception ABC is hoping for.

Vaughn paused for an interview between rehearsals for the play. He had memorized the first act and was plowing through the second.

"Those are a lot of words when you're the only person on the stage," the actor sighed.

HE TALKED FIRST about Frank Flaherty — "a mean, cold, awful person, which made him wonderful to play." About reports he steals the show Vaughn said: "Nobody steals anything from Jason."

Vaughn commented that Flaherty was scarcely portrayed in the book on which the specials were based, "The Company," by onetime White House aide John Ehrlichman. In fact, the producers say that Ehrlichman's slim novel provided only the "bookends" for the film, the major portion being written by David W. Rintels and Eric Bercovici.

"I think it's a very important film," said Vaughn, "and I'm glad that the networks are now dealing with political subjects. Five years ago you couldn't sell anything political. The change is one of the good things to come out of Watergate."

IN 'WASHINGTON' ROLE Actor Robert Vaughn

THE "FDR" ROLE is something else again. Vaughn not only occupies the stage alone; he plays most of the performance in a wheelchair. He is ambulatory only in one flashback scene when Roosevelt was a state senator.

"What do I remember about Roosevelt?" Vaughn said. "Mostly he was a voice that came out of the radio; I saw him only in the newsreels. I recall that his Fireside Chats had a good spiritual quality that was comforting to people in troubled times."

"I remember the day he died. I was playing in North Commons Park in Minneapolis, and I came home and found my grandparents crying. I was sad, too. I was 13, and he was the only president I had known. I was born two weeks after he was elected."

VAUGHN ADMITTED that his affinity for politics started during his Minneapolis childhood. "I grew up during the ferment of the Farmer-Labor party," he said. "Harold Stassen was governor of Minnesota, Hubert Humphrey was mayor of Minneapolis, and Gene McCarthy was teaching at a small college."

Will Vaughn ever run for office? "Never. I don't like Sacramento or Washington, and I wouldn't want to be mayor of New York. I see no reason to reduce my life style to live in those cities."
