Since 1960, hormone levels

Pumping iron has replaced flower power. Pinstripes have replaced paisley. And Wall Street has replaced Woodstock.

But of all the major changes that have taken place since the 60's, one is hardly visible at all: the change that has taken place in the Pill.

In 1960, the Pill contained as much as 150 mcgs. of the hormone estrogen. Today, it's down to 35 mcgs. or less. That's a fraction of the original dosage.

Yet, today's Pill is as effective as yesterday's. In fact, it's still the most effective birth control available other than sterilization.

But is the Pill right for you? You should see your doctor to help you answer that. If the answer is yes, then the ultimate decision is yours. And it's important that you learn all you can about oral contraceptives.

First and foremost, what are the risks? Does the Pill cause cancer? Will it make you less fertile? Do you need to take a rest from it? These are just a few questions that have surrounded the Pill since 1960. Questions which must be addressed by you and your physician.

What about the Pill and breast cancer? Although there are conflicting reports concerning this issue, the Centers for Disease Control reported that women who took the Pill, even for 15 years, ran no higher risk of breast cancer than women who didn't. The CDC also reported that ovarian and uterine cancer are substantially less common among women who use oral contraceptives.

The Pill has been shown to have other health benefits as well. Pill users are less likely to develop pelvic inflammatory disease (tubal infections), benign breast disease, ovarian cysts and iron deficiency anemia, not to mention menstrual cramps.

But if the Pill is so effective at preventing pregnancy, can it later prevent you from having a baby when you're ready to have one? Studies

in the Pill have

indicate that if you were fertile before you took the Pill, taking it will not affect your ability to have children later. Some women may experience a short period of readjustment after discontinuing the Pill. Even so, most women usually become pregnant soon.

One piece of advice you may have heard if you're on the Pill is that you should take an occasional rest from it. Yet there's no medical basis for this advice. Furthermore, a rest could turn out to be anything but restful, since switching to a less effective form of birth control increases your chances for unplanned pregnancy.

Now that you know what the risks aren't, you should know what the risks are. For example, if you are taking the Pill, you should not smoke. Especially if you are over 35. Cigarette smoking is known to increase the risk of serious and possibly life-threatening adverse effects on the heart and blood vessels from Pill use. What's more, women with certain conditions or medical histories should not use the Pill.

Even if you're already on the Pill, you should see your doctor at least once a year. And read the patient information regularly.

Taking the Pill is easy. Deciding whether or not to take it isn't. That's why it's so important for you to make an informed decision. Continue reading everything you can about birth control methods. Seek out reliable sources. Talk to your doctor.

You've already taken a step in the right direction. Just think, since you began reading this, there's a good chance your knowledge level about the Pill has increased. Considerably.

dropped considerably.

Next Friday, pitcher Bill Gullickson starts a whole new ball game in the Tokyo Dome. So far, he and his family are having a ball.

an anything in baseball be more exciting than playing for the New York Yankees? Bill

YANKFE

Gullickson is about to find out. As the 1988 season opens around the globe, the 29-year-old right-hander will be making the long, slow walk to the mound in a far different place, the Tokyo Dome. He's the first USA pitcher in his prime to play in Japan. Right now, Gullickson is still somewhat astounded to find somewhat astoliaded to link himself on a new team, in a new country, in a new culture. He and his wife Sandy, 28, grew up in Joliet, III. "T'm a Midwestern-er," he says. "That's where I al-ways felt most at home."

A primer on

Sandy Gullickson, a former college tennis star, expects the couple's third child in July. They have two daughters, Cassie, 2½, and Carly, 16 months. Cassie puts the adventure this way: "Mommy's going to have a Japanese baby." Gullickson was thinking of his growing family when he accepted the offer that doubled his 1987 contract. His one-year deal with the Yomiuri Giants approaches $1.8 million, making him one of the top-paid pitchers anywhere.

But money wasn't the only lure, Gullickson says, and his agent Doug Baldwin agrees: "You're talking about a guy who's satisfied to be living in a $95,000 house and driving a Jeep Cherokee." Says Gullickson: "The Yankees - they've got a great team this year, it could mean a World Series ring. But I began to think that in 10 years I'd kick myself if I didn't do it - if only for the adventure."

PACHED: With wile Sandy, hids Carly and Cassie just before he left Kon-tucky for Japan in mid-February. The family followed a week later.

And an adventure it's been since he hit Japan Feb. 16. Fans filled his hotel room at spring training with flowers, dolls and other welcoming gifts. "These people," Gullickson says repeatedly, "are just crazy about baschall."

In his first week of spring training at Miyazaki — on the southern Japanese island of Kyushu — 30,000 fans showed up to watch Gullickson throw 43 pitches in batting practice. The next day, newspapers listed each pitch and told how the batter handled it.

The press followed him to the beach where the team did daily stretching exercises before breakfast - "always ending with five deep breaths facing the ocean."

Each afternoon, he had to address a press conference and answer reporters' questions through his interpreter, Icaro Kanuma. "The reporters kept asking, 'Did you find anyone's weakness today? They didn't seem to see it as spring training. They didn't seem to understand I was working my way into shape."

When Gullickson gave up a three-run home run in an early intrasquad game, he found it was not considered good form to admit he might fail again.

The reporters wanted to know about the home run. "Some days, you're going to fail," said Gullickson, "and some days you're going to succeed."

Kanuma did not translate the remark. "They're not going to understand that," he told Gulhickson

But even before he throws a ball or strike in the official 1988 season, Gullickson's name and face are known across Japan. Wherever he goes, fans salute him and shout his name.

Why the fuss? Gullickson is the first USA pitcher of his prominence to play in Japan; major-league hitters have more frequently starred.

Last year, former Atlanta Braves first baseman Bob Horner, now with the St. Louis Cardinals, hit 31 home runs for the Yakult Swallows. "The Red Devil," fans called him.

They took to him in a wonderful way, but he just didn't want to go back" to Japan, says Horner's agent, Bucky Woy. "It was like being a rock star. He couldn't come out of the house."

The fascination with Gullickson already has a name: "Gully Fever." Sandy Gullickson heard about it from Giants officials who called her before she joined her husband in Tokyo: "They called to say they wanted to thank me for allowing him to play in Japan."

Gullickson has never thought of himself as a big deal. He's nev-er sought the fast or flashy life, and describes a good time as be-ing with his family or fishing for bass on a quiet lake.

He even swears he often was surprised to find himself playing on the same diamond with the heroes of his youth - players like Houston Astros pitcher No-lan Ryan. When Gullickson was in high school, he waited for hours after a game in Chicago to get Ryan's autograph.

The awe resurfaced last August, when he was traded from the Cincinnati Reds to the Yankees. "When you put on the Yankee uniform," says Gullickson, "you feel like ... like you're almost John Wayne or something '

But then he spotted pitcher Tommy John on the Yankee bench. When Gullickson was a 9-year-old Little Leaguer, his whole team went to see John pitch for the White Sox.

In his first Yankee game, Gul-hickson beat Seattle 4-1. "I know it's Yankee Stadium, the Yankees and all that," he said afterwards, putting the event in his own unassuming perspective, "but it's still baseball."

"Generally, nothing fazes him," says Sandy.

Until last year, his major-league career was split between the Montreal Expos and Cincinnati Reds. By last season's end, he had become a free agent. He expected to play with the Yan-

Catholic High School; he was the second pick in the USA in the 1977 baseball draft. He then spent three up-and-down years in the minors at West Palm Beach, Memphis and Denver.

Then came the discovery that he has diabetes. Since being diagnosed in spring 1980, he's had to daily take two insulin shots and check his blood sugar four times.

"I thought Japan would be a great experience. We're young enough to find it an adventure."

But that same year, he went 10-5 with the Montreal Expos. struck out 18 Chicago Cubs in one game, and was named Na-tional League Rookie Pitcher of the Year by The Sporting News.

son, now calls itself the BEPC. It stands for Big Egg Pitchers Club.

The Giants manager is the leg-endary Sadahara Oh, who hit 868 home runs in his career. (By comparison, Henry Aaron's major-league record is 755.) Kanuma, who dresses as a trainer on the field, always is available to translate what Oh says. But Oh and some Giants players know enough English words to communicate on baseball matters.

Some kid Gullickson about his batting, asking: "How many big league home runs?" "Two."

Oh tells Gullickson that Japanese players need to develop a more aggressive style of play. He also came up with a ruse to con-

tos by Eli Miyazawa, Black Star fuse opposing-scouts: He had Gullickson toss knuckleballs in batting practice.

Maybe, Oh said, opponents will look for knuckleballs the rest of the year.

Throughout spring training, he also told Gullickson to relax and prepare himself at the pace he was used to in the USA. "No hurry," Oh said in English. "Show time, April 8."

came first.

In early December, the phone rang at the Gullickson's home in Crestview Hills, Ky., south of Cincinnati. Gullickson thought it was his friend Tom Browning, a Reds pitcher, playing a practical joke: "It was a voice with an accent: 'This is Richard Seko. We'd like to talk to you about pitching for the Tokyo Giants."

"I laughed and said, 'Browning, cut it out."

Sandy's first reaction: "No way we're going over there."

Seko met with Gullickson's agent Baldwin. They talked for two days — and Baldwin was impressed: "The Japanese start out looking at the player's background, his work ethic, his fam-ily," Baldwin says. "They'd been watching Gul-lickson for three years."

The Gullicksons soon found themselves weighing the pros and cons of a deal that doubled the $900,000 the Yankees would later offer. Another plus: Warren Cromartie, Gullickson's former teammate on the Montreal Expos, is entering his fifth season with the Giants.

And despite the lure of the Yankee uniform, the ups-and-downs of the baseball life have taught Gullicinon to be wary of great expectations. He pitched two no-hitters in each of three seasons at Joliet kees this year, but another offer He's played in the major leagues ever since."

The Gullicksons made the decision to move beyond the majors during a one-week trip to Japan in January.

At least until October, they're living in a three-bedroom condo in a high-rise downtown Tokyo neighborhood that's popular with English-speaking families. Across the street is a charming park where the children can play. Nearby is an international grocery next to a Baskin-Robbins ice cream parlor.

Around the corner, more fa-miliar names: Kentucky Fried Chicken and Shakey's Pizza.

The home of the Giants is the newly finished Tokyo Dome, nick-named The Big Egg. It has the latest wrinkle in Japanese base-ball thinking sound-proof bullpens. "They say they want their pitchers to concentrate when they warm up," says Gullickson.

The Giants pitchers had a private par-ty at a small nightclub during presea-son. They drank beer

- the younger pitchers always pour in deference to the older ones - and ate raw fish and rice. The group, including Gullick-

HIS WEEKEND'S

He's in the Navy now, but his eye's on the ball as he shoots for Olympic gold

What do basketball fans have in common with David Robinson, former U.S. Naval Academy hoop star and future center for the San Antonio Spurs? Just like the spectators, the superstar is watching - not playing - as the National Basketball Association builds toward the playoffs that begin this month.

FITNESS

"Sure it's been tough sitting on the side-lines watching my friends play. That's what I love to do, and it can be frustrating sitting on the sidelines," says the 7-foot-1inch All-American center.

Robinson, 22, currently is fulfilling a two-year post-graduate commitment to the Navy, working as a civil engineer. Like a lot of us, he's tied to a desk, which leaves little chance for him to go one-on-one with anyone in his league.

But the benched basketball player has two good reasons to stay sharp: NBA star-dom with the Spurs, so dazzled by his abilities they signed him for $26 million and are waiting out his Navy service; and his quest for Olympic gold this summer. "I'm looking forward to the chance to play in the Seoul Olympics," he says.

The Olympics are an incredible opportunity because they are so fleeting. The opportunity to go and represent your country is so special."

When tryouts for USA's Olympic basketball squad begin on May 18, Robinson says he'll be ready.

How? By pursuing a fitness regimen that's a killer: sprint drills — aptly called "suicide" drills; weightlifting and shooting practice. It's a routine that can help even recreational athletes compete well in several sports, he says. "Exercise isn't the most fun thing in the world, but it is one of the most fun things in the world seeing the results, seeing yourself get stronger and faster. It starts to show up in everything you do, whether it's basketball or softball or tennis."

His workouts aren't for the faint of heart or weak of leg.

'The opportunity to go and represent your country is so special. It's something I'd love to do."

 but it keeps you fit, says David Robinson.

Three days a week, Robinson runs the suicide drills, which consist of an everlengthening series of sprints on a field or court. Twice a week he runs for distance - two or three miles. He also pumps Nautilus weights three times a week for 45 minutes, and follows that with 15 minutes of stretching.

Every day he does an hour of fullcourt lay-ups, jump shots, foul shots. And his basketball skills aren't completely wasted. As a part-time assistant coach for the University of Jacksonville, just across the Florida line, he scrimmages with the team once a week. "The playing is great. It's what makes the other work all worth it," he says.

Robinson knows well the glory of good playing. During his '83 to '87 court career, he dominated the college basketball scene - setting a college record for blocked shots, bringing Navy to cham-pionship playoffs and gamering a host of player-of the-year awards.

If he makes the Olympic team, Robinson will have more than gold on his mind; he'll have revenge. He was a member of the U.S. basketball team in last summer's Pan American Games, where the team was upset 120-115 by the Brazilian team.

'We weren't mentally ready for that game," he says, vowing things will be different this summer in Seoul.

How you can run the 'suicide' drill

To stay in shape, Banid Bobleson runs the "sui-cide" drill, a sories of rigorous sprints that get progressively longer. The drill builds speed and used — and it's a biller to complete. ## From Vermont to Alaska, 3 flings for this spring

It's April, the sun is out and the ice is going, going or gone. In Alaska and New England, that signals the return of the salmon. In Bluegrass country, it hot in surf and turf, check out the April issues of Vermont Life, Alaska and Louisville magazines.

► Vermont Life, in its spring issue, covers the comeback of the Atlantic salmon - a species that had disappeared from New England's major rivers. For the first time in decades, the salmon are returning to the Connecticut River to spawn, rebounding from the ravages of water pollution.

The magazine tells where you can watch the flash of the salmon as they battle their way up the Connecticut River, skipping up a series of concrete steps around the Vernon Dam, just south of Brattleboro, or farther north at Bellows Falls.

The run starts in April, with the heaviest concentrations of fish cruising through in May and June. But don't plan on taking any home. Fishing for the recovering breed is illegal.

GET SET: Louisville's Laurin Meena in th Derby Museum's simulated starting gate.

▶ If horses draw your interest, Louisville magazine covers horses, horse breeding, horse lore and horse sense in its April issue in anticipation of the 114th running May 7 of the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs.

For the full Derby story, the magazine suggests a visit to the Kentucky Derby Museum, located adjacent to Churchill Downs.

The museum is devoted to the history of the Derby, great trainers and jockeys as well as the great horses and their breeding.

The favorite exhibit is the museum's spectacular 360-degree panoramic view of the Derby. The 96-slide extravaganza puts you in the middle of Churchill Downs and the Derby action.

The museum also includes computer-simulated races on which to hone your handicapping skills before the real run for the roses. You even can mount up in a simulated electronic starting gate and watch it fly open. But don't worry, this horse stays put.

But for a taste of the real thing, the museum offers a full tour of Churchill Downs. Stroll around its famous infield. Dig your toes into the world-class track. Wander around the stables that have held some of racing's most celebrated steeds.

A WORKBOOK ON FEELINGS Helping kids cope with new families

A new book is teaching kids and adults how to accept their feelings about separation, divorce and remar-riage. USA WEEKEND interviewed psychologist David Fassler about

Kids and Grown-ups (Waterfront Books, $14.95), which he co-wrote with Michele Lash and Sally Ives:

What is a changing family? One out of every six children under the age of 18 is a stepchild and one-third of all kids under 18 don't live with both biological parents.

Are children always better off in a traditional family? Not necessarily. If there is conflict in the original family, children may be better off living with one parent.

What are kids' biggest fears when their family life is changing? Many kids believe that they are somehow to blame for the changes in the fam-ilies: If they had behaved better, their a stayed together. We need to help children understand

Easing the pain they didn't cause the breakup.

How can parents ease the pain of divorce for their kids? Provide honest information about what's happening at a level the child can understand. They need concrete information about where they're going to live and where they'll be going to school. They need to know it's OK to be confused or angry.

What are some signs that a child is having problems coping? Poor school work, frequent headaches or stomach aches, acting sad or withdrawn.

What advice do you have for step-parents coming into a new family? Don't expect your new stepchildren to accept you immediately. Respect the child's relationship with the other biological parent. And don't try to win affection with gifts.

How would you like families to use your workbook? We want children to read it with caring adults who can respond sensitively to their comments. We want children to understand that they're not alone. And we want parents and children to realize that the process of divorce and remarriage need not be traumatic. If the child successfully masters these changes, chances are he'll be a stronger adult.

All hail! April rocks and rolls in a royal tribute to Chuck Berry

**** Roll over Beethoven and tell Little Richard the news: Hail! Hail! Rock and Roll, a top April release, is a terrific tribute to one of rock's founding fathers, Chuck Berry.

Director Taylor Hackford (An Officer and a Gentleman) does right by the legend. Besides performances by Berry, still hale and duckwalking up a storm, you get testimonials from Bo Diddley, Jerry Lee Lewis and Bruce Springsteen (who once backed Berry in the old days). The film isn't all that revealing — Berry bristles when things get personal — but it captures his spirit.

And it's a kick to see that bad boy of rock 'n' roll, Keith Richards, try to teach Chuck some discipline during rehearsals. The Rolling Stone acts as musical director for the film's bang-up concert finale that celebrates Berry's 60th birthday. (Says Richards: "He gave me more headaches than Mick Jagger.")

As for the music, Nadine, Maybellene, Little Queenie, Sweet Little Sixteen, Carol — all of Berry's gals sound as fresh as ever. Chuck even gets to croon a bit on the bluesy standard, I'm Through With Love. Concert appearances in-

These April fools will tickle your funny bone

For those who love comedy in the raw, the place to find it is on a concert tape — just a comic, a live audience and no net. Many of today's top film comedians paid their dues in stand-up; thanks to video, these early performances live on. (Warning: The first four uncensored videos are not for the kids.)

Here's a sampling — and what fine fools these mortals be:

► Whoopi Goldberg. In her one-woman Broadway show, Whoopi plays a strutting dude who steals his way to Europe and a pregnant Valley girl ("Like I'm totally PG"). Vestron, $59.98, 1985.

► An Evening With Bobcat Goldthmait — Share the Warmth. This screeching, stammering, sweaty comic is an acquired taste. Among Bobcat's bizarre revelations: "Animals are our friends, but they won't pick you up at the airport." Vestron, $59.98, 1987.

▶ Best of John Belushi; Best of Dan Aykroyd; Best of Chevy Chase. These Saturday Night Live compilations capture the comics in their Not-Ready-For-Prime-Time prime. The best by far is Belushi's. Highlights: "Samurai Deli" and the Blues Brothers doing Soul Man. Warner Home Video, $19.98, 1985. Aykroyd dons his conchead, plus offers a savage Julia Child. Warner, $19.98, 1986. ## Jane Seymour stays busy on the home screen

JAY BOBBIN Tribune TV Log

If there's one thing of which Jane Seymour can't be accused these days, it has to be inactivity. For two full years, the British-born actress has been moving from project to project almost non-stop, though the bulk of that time has been occupied by a single piece of work: the forthcoming ABC miniseries "War and Remembrance," in which she assumes the role of Natalie Jastrow Henry, played in the original "Winds of War" by Ali MacGraw. However, two of Seymour's other credits both hit the air this week. On Sunday, she portrays Wallis Simpson - the American divorcee who scandalized England in the 1930s by having an affair with King Edward VIII (played by Anthony Andrews) - in the CBS drama "The Woman He Loved." Then, on Monday (in most areas), she appears as host and narrator of a new PBS documentary series with a self-explanatory title, "Japan."

Viewers might recall the PBS drama of several years ago entitled "Edward and Mrs. Simpson," which concerned the same subject as "The Woman He Loved," but Seymour stresses what she deems to be a major difference in the new version. "This is really Wallis' story," she says, "and I think that makes it even more interesting. Wallis

Seymour and Andrews as Simpson and the King-to-be always has been depicted as this terrible, manipulative woman who jeopardized the monarchy and stole the Prince of Wales, but I think we show all the sides of her. There were definite shades of gray, and we also see the circumstances under which she ended up with the King... and he manipulated her, too.

"The really fascinating part for me," Seymour continues, "is that it's the story of the naivete of a very smart, very chic American woman living in Europe, and not really understanding that the members of the monarchy are powerless. They don't have the right to change the rules that, say, the President of the United States has. They have to live and abide by the rules and regulations that the people have stipulated for them, and the government can tell them who they may or may not marry." Indeed, the royal reaction to Wallis Simpson's two previous divorces forced the King to make a staggering choice: either to end his romance with her, or to abdicate the throne of England.

Seymour also enjoyed the role of Simpson because it required her to change her physical appearance drastically. "I look enormously like Wallis in this, and not at all like me. People kept saying, "How could she possibly play Wallis?" Well, first, you lose 10 pounds. Then; having starved yourself, you remove most of your eyebrows; you paint these ugly lips on; you stick a mole on your chin; and you wear funny, flat hair. It was really a great challenge to re-create Wallis. I met a lot of people who knew her, and I had an enormous amount of research material that I could work from, so I really was very fortunate."

"Following my double mastectomy. I decided against reconstructive surgery Instead, I decided to wear Camp/Amoena breastforms. They're unusually like your own breast tissue. They become warm with you and they're very pliable. They feel like a natural extension of yourself. My choice is Amoena breastforms ... I recommend them to any woman who's had a mastectomy.

OPEN 7 DAYS 9 AM to 8PM 2121 CLIFF DR. NEWPORT BEACH

By JENNIFER WEBER Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Hours after Newport Beach Police announced they arrested the mastermind of an reportedly phony car dealership, they arrested another principal in the alleged embezzlement scam.

Brent Edward Clem was arrested without incident at about 5 p.m. Friday at his Corona del Mar home. He was released at about 1 a.m. Saturday in lieu of $25,000 bail.

Clem. 31, was the first manager of the Auto Gallery in Newport Beach. Det. Doug Parmentier said. The dealership, on West Coast Highway, reportedly was the front for an elaborate embezzlement scheme that bilked 95 people of nearly $2 million.

Clem is the third person to be arrested in connection with the dealership, Parmentier said. The president and Clem's successor as manager also face charges of grand theft in connection with the scheme.

"What we've done is concentrate on the major players." Parmentier "The three of them basically said.

were the ones who set the policy and held here on $500,000 bail, said owners received no money after the enforced the policy.

The detective would not say if additional arrests were likely to be forthcoming, but said the investigation is continuing.

On Thursday, FBI agents in Hawaii arrested James Anderson, 39, of Newport Beach. Anderson is being held by authorities in Honolulu pending extradition proceedings, and police hope to have him in custody by Tuesday or Wednesday He will be Parmentier.

Anderson was president of the company, which opened for business in late 1986 and shut down in January of this year after the alleged illegalities were revealed.

Police received complaints about alleged wrong-doing at Auto Gallery as early as June, buit a formal investigation was not launched until November. ### Lido Isle pre-Easter egg hunt a smash

By JENNIFER WEBER Of the Daily Pilot Staff

With his stockpile of Easter eggs huddled close to his side, Matthew Singer hunched over in concentration, smashing the brightly colored shells on the brick walkway and dumping its contents into his wicker basket

Singer, 7, wasn't paying too much attention to what was going on around him. More important issues were at hand. Like how much candy and cereal and raisins he'd managed to collect during the hunt at Judith and Willis Longyear's Easter egg hunt.

"It's great" he said of the annual event as he smacked another shell on the pavement, cupped the goodies in his hand and poured them onto the growing pile in the basket. "You gets lots of things, lots of candy. Every one gets better.

Singer speaks like a veteran, and he should. He's been going to the Longyears' house on Holy Saturday for the past five years. He's not alone - some of the grown-up partygoers have been at the Longyears' every Saturday before Easter since they were Singer's age and younger. This is a tradition on Lido Island,

BEDFORD, Mass. (AP) - A 9ear-old California boy landed his father's twin-engine plane in this Boston suburb Saturday, becoming the youngest pilot to complete a transcontinental journey

Tony Aliengena of San Juan Capistrano touched down at 5:45 p.m. at Hanscom Air Field to break the record set last August by 10-yearold Christopher Lee Marshall of Oceano, officials said.

"I like to fly so I wanted to break it," the 4-foot-8 pilot said after he was greeted by his parents and friends. who gave him a trophy an aviator's scarf and a glass of champagne.

National Aeronautics Association observer Don Taylor, who accompanied Tony, verified that the boy was at the controls throughout the transcontinental flight.

Spring break ends on fairly quiet note

Police units from three cities respond to bottle-throwing incident at Aliso Pier

By JENNIFER WEBER Of the Daily Pilet Stall

Spring break, the wave of student revelers that threatened to break into chaos last weekend, ebbed toward a quiet close Saturday along the Orange Coast.

The one ripple on an otherwise smooth surface broke out at 10:20 p.m. Saturday near the Aliso Beach Pier when drinking teen-agers started throwing beer bottles at Laguna Beach officers who were trying to break up their party.

No one was injured in the altercation, but the officers did request help from sheriff's deputies and Newport Beach Police in dispersing the crowd of 250 to 300 youths.

"It was never really out of control. but it was right on the edge." said Laguna Beach Sgt. Greg Bartz.

A 17-year-old boy was arrested on suspicion of assaulting a police officer after he allegedly punched an officer. The boy ran back into the crowd of youngsters and another volley of bottles were thrown at police.

Officers broke up the crowd in about half an hour, Bartz said.

Other than the night fight, lifeguards at local beaches reported the northern sands, beachgoer went home early because of stiff winds.

The high in Newport Beach was a balmy 64 degrees, with Saturday's low marked at 52.

The Easter Bunny was expected to make his annual appearance today under a mostly sunny, hazy sky. Forecasters were calling for late-night and morning low clouds and fog through Monday. Highs will be in the moderate, well-behaved crowds. On mid-60s to lower 70s lows in the mid-40s to lower 50s.

Fair weather came as good news to local pastors planning for this morn ing's Easter services.

Less welcome was the news that daylight savings time kicked into effect early this morning. The prospect of their flocks forgetting to set their clocks an hour ahead worried ministers that church-goers would show up to services an hour late.

Saturday's low-key feeling came in sharp contrast to last weekend's near riot in Huntington Beach.

Police arrested a Bellflower woman March 5 who allegedly had been engaging in sex with an unknown partner on the sand, police said.

Yes. Virginia, there is an Easter Bunny. You usually call it the Orange ounty Transit District

Peg Schmitz, the director of the Interfaith Shelter, opened her mail Friday to find 150 bus tickets.

It was the district's contribution to the 70-bed, non-profit shelter for homeless families. Interfaith fell victim to two burglaries in three days recently, losing its IBM personal computer, petty cash, contribution checks and bus passes.

Costa Mesa police have no suspects or leads in either case, which Schmitz thinks are related.

The first burglary was March 23, when someone broke a window and stole the computer, $120 worth of passes and $191 in petty cash. The shelter would give the money to homeless people to do laundry and make phone calls - essentials in job hunting - or for transportation to welfare offices.

By March 25, the computer was still gone, but Interfaith had received $1.200 in donation checks - including one for $191 to replace the petty cash fund. The shelter had $38.50 in cash and another $120 worth of bus passes by then

Northwood boys hoping to repeat the dream season

Little Leaguers swing into action this week

By GREG KLERKX · Daily Place Stat

A fever swept through Orange County late last summer.

It began in Irvine last July, and spread through the city like wildfire, eventually infecting everyone from the mayor to police officers to school children. By late August, the entire county was hopelessly smitten. It was baseball fever: Championship fever

And it was Northwood fever, as in the Northwood Little League All-Stars, a group of 14 kids hand-picked from the city's Little League to take on the best young players in the nation.

They had only two weeks to become a team, and many of the youngsters had never played together before. But under the guidance of manager Bob Garcia and coach Bob Jones, the All-Stars were honed into a finely-tuned baseball machine that virtually mowed over other all-star teams from coast to coast. The Northwood All-Stars chalked up an 18-1 record on their way to becoming national champs

There was only one dark moment during the team's magical year, a humiliating 21-1 loss to a Taiwan team in the Little League World Series in Williamsport, Pa. But even in defeat, the All-Stars were gracious and mature - showing that they'd learned about more than baseball on their way to the top.

This week, the bats will swing and the pitches fly once again. Little League season begins.

The unspoken question is already on every Northwood Little Leaguer's lips: Can the Northwood All-Stars defend their national title and, if they do, can they win the world?

According to league officials, that (Please see LITTLE/A3)

lewport-Mesa schools fare poorly in national ranking

Y ROBERT BARKER Daily Plint Stall

The Newport-Mesa Unified School District received a score well below the national median in a first-time guidebook that ranks 500 metropolitan school districts across the country

"Public Schools USA" rates the districts on a scale of 0-100. The median score nationwide was 58. Newport-Mesa, reportedly the only Orange Coast district to be included in the 366-page book, was given a score of 38.

California schools generally ranked towards the bottom of the scale. Oakland had a score of 13; Fontana, 17; Bellflower, 20; Pasadena, 23; Los Angeles, 28; and Pomona, 29.

The highest score by any district was received by Brighton, N.Y., with a score of 98.

The author, education writer Charles H. Harrison, rated each district, using 22 statistics gathered from mailed questionnaires filled out by the districts themselves.

Harrison used 10 of the 22 statistics to devise his "effective school index."

Publisher John Williamson said that Newport Mesa got a perfect score of 10 in the category for average daily attendance, with 99 percent of Newport- Mesa students attending class every day.

The district, with about 16,300 pupils attending school in Newport states, skyrocketing ratios in

Beach and Costa Mesa, got a score of five for current yearly expenditures of 3,482 per pupil

For a dropout rate that allegedly has reached 26 percent, Newport Mesa received a score of zero. However, that statistic was disputed by a local school official.

Forty-six percent of Newport Mesa students took the Scholastic Aptitude Tests, and the district received a grade of six in that category. The local students made an average score of 953 on the SAT for a grade of seven.

In the category on teacher-student ratios in the elementary schools, Newport Mesa received a score of three for a ratio of one-to-27. But the district received a zero in high school teacher-student ratio of one-to-29.

The district also received zero scores for its counselor-student ratio of one-to-430 and for the number of pupils per music specialist in the elementary schools, one-to-1,200.

Newport-Mesa also received a score of seven for offering seven advanced placement courses.

Newport-Mesa School District Trustee Jim de Boom said Friday that many of the scores are dependent on the amount of money that the districts receive from Sacramento 'and that the governor and the Legislature control the purse strings."

Newport-Mesa and other California districts receive about $2,500 less than districts in some other classroom size, counselors and music instructors, de Boom said.

"The important categories are how many of our students take SAT and how they score. Our students are unbeatable in that area."

De Boom said that the author of the book is "dead wrong" in statements about the Newport-Mesa dropout rate. The author said the rate is 26 percent. But de Boom said the rate is less than 2 percent.

Comments that PTA members and other members of the community made to the author of the guidebook said they rated the quality of instruction for additional learning opportunities in Newport-Mesa from fair to good, but for low-achieving students, it was only fair.

The curriculum for college-bound students was rated excellent, but the curriculum for the non-college students was fair.

The instances of disruption and vandalism were rated very low.

One of the observers wrote that Newport Mesa officials are doing a good job with the money that they have.

The author of the book, which is scheduled to be off the presses in about three weeks, said the tome is meant as a consumer guide and was not a scientific study or survey.

More information about the book can be obtained by calling Wil-liamson Publishing at (800) 356-8791.

to Calfornia this week taking the long way home he says he will beat the distance record, too.

Tony, who is known as "Buzz," completed the longest leg of his fourday trip Saturday after taking off from Memphis. He had to land twice - in Bristol, Tenn., and Cambdridge, Md. because of a stomach ache and was two and a half hours late in arriving. He spent five hours in the air Saturday.

When his father, Gary, asked why he didn't stay on the ground if he felt sick, Tony replied: "I wanted to make it here.

"I'm very proud of him." said his father, who is from Palmer.

The trip began Wednesday when Tony took off in his father's twinengine Cessna from John Wayne Airport in Costa Mesa. He plans to return to California next Saturday, spending four to seven hours aloft each day except Easter Sunday, when he visits relatives in Palmer.

With him in the cockpit were Taylor and his flight instructor, Ed Fernett.

Tony, who uses a booster seat to see over the control panel is to fly to Washington on Monday to receive an award from the National Aeronautics Association for being the world's youngest pilot.

LITTLE LEAGUERS' DREAM SEASON ....

question is a tough one to answer, and for several reasons. All but three of the 1987 All-Stars have moved into a different age group, the Junior/Senior Major League, and so will not have the opportunity to defend their national crown, which they won as members of a Little League Majors team.

However, all but one of last year's All-Stars are still playing baseball in Irvine. The one exception, All-Star second-baseman Didgit Tuttle, has moved to Lake Forest and will play in a league there.

So there are really three questions: Can last year's All-Star players get selected for an All-Star team in a different age group, win the national title AND win the world?

By most accounts, the answer to all three questions is a resounding yes.

"We started hoping at the begin-ning of the season last year, and we're already hoping again this year," said Ryan Jones, catcher/pitcher on last year's All-Star team. "None of us have really talked about it, but I know we've all thought about it.'

Like most other All-Stars who have turned 13 since their championship season, Ryan will play in the Junior/Senior league, which consists of players 13-15 years old. Ryan's team, the Orioles, will be coached by his father, Bob Jones, who coached last year's All-Stars to the national championship.

The organization of the Junior/Senior league actually improves the odds of last year's All-Stars making a repeat performance, ac-cording to league officials. Instead of one select team, two teams will be picked from the league one consisting of all 13-year-olds and the other a 14- and 15-year old team.

"I pretty much think that the same players (from last year's All-Star osquad) will be on this year's (13-yearold all-star) team," said Ryan.

Ryan's father, Bob Jones, said he believes the 12-year-old division is olds make it to the world chamactually tougher than the older league, and said that gives the All-Star members a better chance to repeat as champs.

"I would say it's more difficult at the 12-year-old level," said Jones. "You have a tendency for kids to just not stick around (after the 12-year-old league), to just drop out. There's just not as many kids, so the odds are better.

Also playing with Ryan Jones on the Orioles are All-Star thirdbaseman Loc Tran and pitching ace Aron Garcia, whose blistering pitching style and hot hitting brought him mounds of national media during last year's championships. Aron's father, Bob Garcia, also managed last year's team, but temporarily "retired" after into the game. The final score was #### last season.

The three Oriole All-Stars will be playing different positions to start the year. Jones will play first base, Tran will play third and — because of an injury — Garcia will play short-stop. "He's coming along fine and hopes to pitch later this season." Jones said of Garcia, who injured his shoulder during a freak accident while playing recreational basketball at school.

The first round of games on the road to the national championships will be played in June. Players for the Northwood All-Star team will be drawn from the nine teams in the Junior/Senior league, said North-wood Little League President Wolfgang Greinke, also the father of All-Star catcher/pitcher Chris Greinke. who will play on the Yankees this scason. Greinke said that, if the 13-year-

Jones said he expects the players who endured the pressures of last year's championships to be better for the experience, and twice as prepared if they make tournament play this year.

"It was terrible," Jones recalling the day before the world title game. Aron was sick the day before and had a 103-degree temperature. With the media coverage and everything, the kids didn't have a chance to relax with their parents. We would have been much happier playing in Irvine. "It was tough but very enjoyable. The kids learned a lot from it, and I think they're tougher for it," he added. "It's always hardest the first time.

Perhaps the most pressure-tested duo on last year's team was Bob and Aron Garcia - father and son, pionship, they probably have a better shot at winning than last year.

"The Taiwanese are weaker when it gets to that age group. Americans have generally dominated that age group," he said.

There was no doubt who domi-nated the Little League World Championship game last August. After rolling over two American teams (8-1. 3-0) on their way to the American title, weeks of exhausting play and the pressure of national media coverage and hometown expectations took their toll on the Northwood players.

The Taiwan team, bigger and more experienced, rocked pitcher Garcia for five runs in the first inning, and the Northwood team never got back

Aron was the one looked to by many players and fans to lead the team to victory. His aggressive pitching and hitting powered the North-wood team, and brought out the best in his teammates.

One of the most poignant portraits of last year's world was a shot of the Northwood dugout toward the end of the disastrous game. Aron sat on the bench, head in his hands, after being pulled from the game in the third inning. His father - who pulled him off the mound - stood next to him. silently watching his team endure humiliation before an international television audience of millions. Garcia said it took his son some time to get over his humiliating performance in the world title game. "Aron bounced back He's a very

In retrospect, Garcia makes no excuses for his team: "I don't think we could have beaten them (Taiwan)." he said.

But Garcia and other Northwood officials have watched videotapes of the game, and feel there were a the first practice. I promised I'd get number of factors that worked against them to Williamsport, only because

Led by the hitting of Aron Garcia, left, daring baserunning

"I knew that one day we'd get an umpire who didn't call the corners. I knew that was the only thing that could beat us," said Garcia, who still refers to the 1987 All-Stars as "my boys.

Garcia expressed doubts that this year's Northwood Little League All-Stars - whoever they are - will be able to repeat as national champs. saying that back-to-back repeating teams are "really rare."

"I would love to see it, but I don't think they're going to repeat." said Garcia "This was a one-time shot We had the perfect coordination of players, the perfect ability of players. It just meshed." said Garcia. "After the first practice. I promised I'd get of what I saw. Those were 14 super ballplayers."

Garcia said he anticipates that a great deal of pressure will be placed on the three 1987 All-Stars who are still in the 12-year-old division: Ryan O' Toole, Eric Sobek and Tom Louie.

They're going to be placed in the pressure positions, and a lot is going to be asked of them." said Garcia. "A lot of people will expect them to repeat

Garcia himself hopes to have another shot at the All-Star players. He said there is a chance he will coach baseball at Irvine High School sometime soon And in about two years. nine of the 14 All-Stars will attend Irvine High School, he said.

We could have quite a team." said Garcia

Costa Mesa water customers are going to be paying more this fall because of a rate increase approved by the Mesa Consolicated Water District.

The board of directors granted permission for a 7.8 percent increase in water rates. The higher costs will be reflected in bills sent on or after Oct. 1. spokesman Chuck Hamilton said.

The rate increase means an average bill, which covers two-month periods, will jump from $35.45 to $38.23.

The increase breaks down into two parts!

• The basic water rate - the amount the district charges whether the customer uses water or not - will increase from the current $6 fee to $7 for the standard size meter. Hamilton said.

 The rate for water actually used will go from 99 cents to $1.05 per 100 cubic feet, the standard billing unit for water. "The increased rate was necessary to keep the district operating in the black," General Manager Karl Kemp said.

The increase is the first in four years. Hamilton said.

The district has $32 million worth of projects on the drawing board and is looking for ways to pay for the improvements. Plans include new reservoirs, lines and wells.

Two weeks ago, the water district agreed to charge developers and residents adding extra units onto their property. Directors settled on a $63 charge for every gallon of water used in a minute. The "developer fee" is the first such fee Mesa Consolidated has ever levied against builders.

Averaged out, Hamilton estimated the fee for each new house or condominium unit will be $1.008.

With the thought that the Costa Mesa slowgrowth initiative could pass, however, the directors felt they could not rely on developer fees to offset the cost of the proposed projects and opted for higher water rates. Hamilton said.

A consultant who initially proposed the developer fees told the directors they could count on $1 million annually from the charge. But if the initiative passes, the board expects construction will drop and it will receive only a quarter of that, Hamilton said.

The directors decided to take the conservative line with the higher water rate increase.

But if developer fees do generate more than $250,000 yearly, water rates are not likely to go down. Instead, Hamilton said, it will just be longer before the district has to raise them again.

'Nightmare on drug street' premieres Monday

By PAUL ARCHIPLEY he Daily Pilet Staff

A two-year effort to produce and distribute a drug education video to every elementary school district in the nation culminates Monday with the screening of "Nightmare On Drug Street" at a black tie premiere in Irvine.

Launched by the non-profit Orange Coast group called the Search Foundation, the video is aimed at grade school children before they get caught up in drug abuse.

According to foundation chairwoman Beverly Thompson, the story features three children who were victims of drug-associated deaths.

"They're trying to figure out how it happened to them and where they went wrong." Thompson said

The story aims not to scare but to educate children about "the complete hell of family enemy No. 1 in our country, drug abuse," she said.

The foundation's members decided to target elementary students because research shows children are first exposed to drugs or alcohol around the fifth or sixth grade, she said. "The entry level is the fifth grade where they try beer and marijuana," Thompson said. "Then it's cocaine; then crack."

The 22-minute video will be distributed to some 6,100 public school districts this spring, free of charge. It will later be distributed to the nation's private schools, Thompson said.

The foundation, which has grown to about 500 members, estimated the taping and distribution would cost about $4.8 million, she said.

However, so many organizations donated facilities, labor and other help that costs were greatly reduced, the Newport Beach resident said.

Filming began on Feb. 14 at Universal Studios at no charge other than insurance or production costs and union fees that could not be waived, she said

The foundation has so far collected more than $200,000 through local fund-raisers, Thompson said.

Monday's premiere begins at 6:30 p.m. at the Registry Hotel, with the video slated to be viewed at 7:30. Cost is $75 per person, $750 per table of 10.

Counsel hits roadblocks in Ed Meese investigation

WASHINGTON (AP) - Indepen-dent counsel James McKay's crimi-nal investigation of Attorney General Edwin Meese III has run into roadblocks because key witnesses have refused to cooperate with the probe.

Among those who have erected a wall of silence that McKay has been unable to penetrate is a central figure in the probe, longtime Meese friend E. Robert Wallach.

The attorney general's former financial manager, W. Franklyn Chinn - who was introduced to Meese by Wallach - also isn't talking to McKay. Chinn and Wallach were indicted in December in the Wedtech scandal, one of the areas in which Meese has been under investigation.

Former Wedtech consultant R. Kent London, another indicted in the Wedtech scandal, also has also refused to talk to McKay

The latest figure to stand in the way of McKay's probe is Swiss oil man Bruce Rappaport. Sources familiar with the probe said he decided at the last minute not to give a deposition in London, where he had agreed to meet with McKay's investigators, on questions of whether Meese may have been part of a bribe conspiracy in

Richardson joins chorus calling for resignation

WASHINGTON (AP) - Former Attorney General Elliot Richardson, a casualty of the "Saturday Night Massacre" in 1973, added his voice on Saturday to those calling for Attorney General Edwin Meese III to step down. Richardson said on Cable News Network's "Newsmaker Saturday" program that Meese "has forfeited confidence" and should resign. Too many questions" have been raised, he said, and Meese "was too close to too many questionable dealings," which are being investigated by an independent counsel.

Richardson resigned on Oct. 20, 1973, a Saturday, after refusing to carry out an order from President Nixon to fire special prosecutor Archibald Cox. At the time, Cox was investigating the White House's involvement in the Watergate scandal.

Richardson said that as a private citizen. Meese is entitled to full rotection of the law, just as any citizen is. But, he said that as the nation's chief aw enforcement official. Meese must be held to a higher standard.

It is absolutely vital that there be maintained the highest possible public confidence in the integrity of the Department" of Justice, Richardson said.

Federal prosecutors decided to have criminal charges filed against Wallach, Chinn and London and decided not to grant them immunity from prosecution to compel their testimony

Democratic hopefuls stump in Wisconsin

MILWAUKEE (AP) - Demo-cratic presidential hopefuls Michael Dukakis and Jesse Jackson campaigned Saturday for momentum and Paul Simon fought for survival in this week's Wisconsin primary, as the state reclaimed its historic role as a decisive crossroad on the long nomination trail.

Dukakis and Jackson are locked in a close Wisconsin contest whose outcome could label one the frontrunner in the 1988 race

Both men were in Wisconsin and Colorado on Saturday, preparing for Colorado's precinct caucuses Monday that will set the stage for the Wisconsin balloting Tuesday.

Dukakis, delivering a major foreign policy speech Saturday at the University of Wisconsin at Oshkosh. offered strong support for Israel while blaming Arab leaders for the failure to achieve peace in the Middle East.

At a news conference later, Dukakis said he disagreed with Jackson's embrace of PLO leader Yasser Arafat and his position that Israel and the Palestinians are moral equivalents.

Jackson, who was campaigning near Greeley, Colo., kept his attack on the Reagan administration, which he said has "the most indictments, the most corruption, the highest sleaze factor in the history of American government, we deserve better government - we deserve honorable leaders.

In Wisconsin, both candidates have laid down a clear appeal to the blue-collar workers who are critical to Democratic success in the state.

"I have argued your case. I've stood with you and with the working people of America," Jackson told a crowd at St. Norbert College near Green Bay late Friday. "And now I want you to stand with me."

Dukakis turned his fire on the coporations.

'If we're serious about winning the battle for our economic future, we've got to get control of the merger and acquisition binge that's ... leaving the average working men and women of America holding the bag," he said in Racine.

The two other Democrats - Sens. Simon of Illinois and Albert Gore Jr. of Tennessee - ignored Colorado in favor of Wisconsin.

The latest poll, published Sunday in the Milwaukee Journal, showed Dukakis with a 43 percent to 35 percent lead over Jackson among voters who said they would vote for, or leaned toward, a Democratic candidate. Gore received 15 percent and Simon was fourth with 5 percent. The poll, conducted last Wednesday and Thursday among 845 likely voters, has a margin of error of plus or minus 5 percentage points.

Byrd urges president to sign compromise trade legislation

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - Senate Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd today urged President Reagan to sign comprehensive trade legislation worked out by congressional negotiators this week. "This is not the time for a veto," Byrd, D-W.Va., said in the weekly Democratic radio address. "The trade bill is a strong comprehensive bill that helps American workers help themselves." Byrd complained that "the president has done nothing but cry protectionism and wave his veto pen" as the ability of the United States to compete has eroded. He said the Democrats' "goal has been a bill that the president will sign." adding. "We have extended our hand in cooperation." Under a compromise worked out by House and Senate negotiators Thursday night, the U.S. trade representative would have the authority to impose import curbs on the goods of nations who violate trade agreements. The president could warve the curbs if he thought their cost would outweigh the benefit.

Gates vows all-out Easter gang patrol

White House rejects use of military force in Panama

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Police the city and county governments Chief Daryl Gates vowed Saturday to proclaim that such an emergency deploy 1,000 officers on gang-ridden south-central streets and keep Easter churchgoers safe following a Good Friday drive-by shooting that left one man dead and 12 other people wounded.

Meanwhile, county Supervisor Kenneth Hahn sent a telegram to Gov. George Deukmejian urging him to declare a state of emergency in Los Angeles and send in two companies of military police from the California National Guard.

"The people of Los Angeles County are increasingly living in a state of fear. No one is safe," he wrote.

"The governor is very concerned about the escalation of gang violence in Los Angeles County." said Kevin Brett, the governor's press secretary However, the governor would declare a state of emergency only after exists and that it exceeds the capabilities of local law enforcement officials, Brett said.

No arrests had been made in Friday's shootings, but Gates said police were investigating leads on two men seen shooting from a Buick or Cadillac. One of those wounded in the 7:15 p.m. attack was a 4-year-old boy

The shootings came in the midst of a police crackdown on escalating gang violence, which only a day earlier prompted a first call from Hahn for help from the California National Guard.

"If we were angry before, we are exceedingly angry now." Gates said at a news conference where he blasted gang members as "rotten little cowards ... who shoot down 4-year-old kids.

Plans are under way to put 1,000 officers on south-central streets where 200 officers usually patrol, Gates said, adding that 300 officers would be out Saturday night.

He also called for night hours at all courts in order to speed up trials and put criminals behind bars, special courts to handle gang and narcotic cases, and a south-central justice center.

Gates also had harsh words for the state Legislature, saying Assembly Speaker Willie Brown and his "lilly-livered toadies" are stalling much needed legislation that would allow law enforcement to use wire-tapping against gangs.

"This is Easter. This is the holy weekend," he said. "We have all this shooting going on on the holy weekend. People in south-central L.A. want to go to church tomorrow and we're going to make sure they're

Cmdr. William. Booth said 13 people were hit by gunfire. Only 11 were accounted for at local hospitals. Rodney Bragg, 16, said he saw men

Animal rights group raids hatchery to liberate hens

By The Associated Press

GILROY - The Animal Liberation Front claimed responsibility Saturday for a raid on a large hatchery that resulted in the theft of 28 hens in what it called an "Easter liberation for life." Members of the underground group broke into the Davis Poultry Co. & Egg Ranch in rural Gilroy late Friday, stole the hens and spraypainted the walls and grounds, said Santa Clara Deputy Sheriff Roland Perez. The underground group said it raided the Davis Poultry Farms because of alleged "atrocious conditions" at the farm such as overcrowding and disease, according to Margo Tannenbaum, president of Action for Animals in San Bernardino. Tannenbaum was asked by the ALF to speak for them. The ALF claimed it took more than 78 laying hens and that the raid occurred early Saturday. The poultry farm action was the second by the ALF this Easter season. On April 27, the group raided a rabbit-breeding company in Hayward and freed 73 rabbits in protest over the slaughter of rabbits for medical research, furs and meat.

Detective fools suspect into surrendering

Daniel Loya of San Fernando was arrested for investigation of grand theft. reckless driving and evading a peace officer. Pollock said he had heard about a police pursuit in progress and had just stepped outside the San Fernando Valley police station when he saw a yellow Datsun pickup truck turn the corner with Loya at the wheel. The detective stepped into the street, crouched and aimed his clasped hands at Loya, who stopped and threw up his hands. Pursuing officers blocked any exit, and he was arrested.

Six Palestinians killed by Israelis as riots intensify

JERUSALEM (AP) - Israeli troops shot and killed six Arab protesters Saturday on the eve of U.S. Secretary of State George P. Shultz's visit to the Middle East. It was the highest one-day death toll in four months of unrest in the occupied territories

The violence, coming at the beginning of the Jewish Passover holiday. was expected to take its toll on Christian Easter celebrations as well.

Church officials have said they expect a severe drop in pilgrims attending the traditional Easter Sunday Mass in Jerusalem because of the unrest

Thousands of Christians usually attend the Mass at the 12th-century Church of the Holy Sepulchre, where tradition says Jesus Christ was crucified and resurrected.

In Bethlehem, army helicopters buzzed a funeral procession for a slain Palestinian and flew over the site where Chrisitans believe Jesus was born

Since Dec. 8, 133 Palestinians and one Israeli soldier have been killed in the violence in the territories occupied by Israel in the 1967 Middle East war.

The most violent clash Saturday took place in the seaside Gaza Strip, where the army said a gang of Palestinian protesters hurled knives and metal rods at troops patroling a main street of Gaza City.

An army spokesman said the protesters tried to seize the soldier's weapons, and troops opened fire to extricate themselves, killing three Arabs and wounding two.

One Israeli soldier suffered medium stab wounds and was taken to nearby Tel Hashomer hospital, the spokesman said. He said another soldier was slightly injured.

Troops in the biblical West Bank town of Bethlehem shot and killed a 23-year-old Arab during a battle with hundreds of protesters in the winding. cobblestoned streets of the town's main market.

Troops also killed a protester in Beit Liqya, in the West Bank 10 miles north of Jerusalem, and killed another in nearby Deir al Sudan when their patrols came under attack, the army spokesman said.

Palestinian reporters identified the dead as Jihad Assi, 19 from Beit Ligya and Hamis Mahmud Ahmed, 41. from Deir al Sudan.

The army's version of the clash in Gaza conflicted with reports from N officials, who said the violence began when Israelis in civilian clothing got out of two cars and tried to arrest a Palestinian youth.

Daring escape raises doubts about Philippines military

By The Associated Press

MANILA. Philippines - The daring prison escape of the leader of the August coup attempt raised new doubts about military leadership under President Corazon Aquino's government. The flight Saturday of former Lt. Col. Gregorio "Gringo" Honasan, with 14 prison guards from an elite navy unit, came four days after the military boasted of the arrest of seven tops communist rebels. Honasan, 39, served as security chief when Enrile, now and opposition leader, was minister of defense. Before dawn Saturday, Honasan fled the prison ship where he had been held since his capture in December. The 14 officers from the navy's special warfare unit were supposed to be guarding. him, but they fled with him. In what may be worse for the military's image, spokesman Col. Oscar Florendo acknowledged the armed forces learned last week of a possible escape attempt and had doubled the guard force on the ship. The dinghies had come with the increased security.

LISBON, Portugal - Angolan rebels killed 57 government soldiers and shot down a Cuban-pilored helicopter in three attacks last week, the rebels said in a statement issued here Saturday. The National Union for the Total Independence of Angola, which is fighting the communist government with U.S. and South African backing, said it killed 51 Angolan soldiers last Sunday in Tota in the northern i offee-growing province of Lunda. The UNITA rebels said they captured 63 Soviet-made AK-47 automatic rifles and destroyed three trucks. ### Contras seek to postpone start of peace talks

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) - Nicaraguan rebels on Saturday said they would delay talks with the Sandinista government for one week. but the government called on the Contras to stick to the original timetable for discussing a lasting peace

The high-level talks between delegations from the government and rebels, known as Contras, were scheduled to begin on Wednesday.

A rebel leader indicated the Contras wanted more time for technical commissions of both sides to work out details of the five zones inside Nicaragua where rebel forces are to gather under the provisions of a 60day cease-fire accord.

Adolfo Calero, one of the top

Contra leaders, said in a telephone interview from Miami that the rebel delegation will not meet with the Sandinistas until April 12.

"We feel it's not violating the accord," Calero said of the postponement.

A government statement Saturday signed by Deputy Foreign Minister Victor Hugo Tinoco stressed it was "extremely important" to comply with the cease-fire pact's timetable and stick by the April 6 meeting date.

The statement said the government considered it "counterproductive to postpone the April 6th high-level meeting.

Tinoco said the Contras showed "a tendency to systematic lack of compliance with the agreed-upon calen-

March 23 aimed at ending the more than six-year war. The Sandinistas met the first parts of the plan by freeing 100 political prisoners, holding technical talks on the cease-fire and formally enacting the 60-day cease-fire on Friday

But the two days of technical talks among military officers from both sides failed to net desired results for the Contras. According to the ceasefire agreement, the rebels are to move into zones during the first 15 days of April while talks go on for the duration of the 60-day cease-fire.

The two sides agreed to five zones but failed to specify their size or exact locations Nor did they work out operating guidelines while the rebels remained in the zones.

The Sandinistas reportedly want the Contras to lay down their arms, a move the rebels say they will never Calero also charged the Sandinistas had violated the agreement by not freeing the prisoners they had requested.

The University of California Board of Regents recently approved two new endowed chairs proposed by UCI, bringing the campus total to nine.

The Arnold and Mabel Beckman Chair in Laser Biomedicine has been established with a gift of $250,000 from the UCI College of Medicine Board of Trustees. The gift was matched by a $250,000 donation from Dr. Arnold O. Beckman, founder of Beckman Instruments, and his wife, for whom the chair is named.

In the Graduate School of Management, the Walter B. Gerken Endowed Chair in Enterprise and Society has been established in Gerken's honor with gifts and pledges from friends and colleagues totalling nearly $450,000. The lead gift of $175,000 was made by Pacific Mutual of Newport Beach, where Gerken served as chairman and chief executive officer for 11 years before retiring in 1987. Search committees are being formed to recruit top scholars in each field to fill the chairs. Each chair provides funding for research and teaching activities, excluding the professor's base salary, supported by income from a fund established by private gifts totalling a minimum of $250,000

Each chair may be filled by one individual indefinitely or by a series of individuals appointed for prescribed periods of time.

UCI to get first cyclotron

The Irvine Health Foundation recently awarded a $575,000 grant to UCI to be used for the purchase of Orange County's first cyclotron, a machine used in advanced brain research and experimental studies of Alzheimer's disease and other disorders.

The foundation's grant to the College of Medicine. Department of Psychiatry's Brain Imaging Center, will go toward the purchase of the $1.5 million, 22-ton device. expected to be installed in mid-1989, said Superior Court Judge David Sills, foundation board chairman.

The cyclotron produces particles needed to operate a positron emission tomography (PET) scanner, a device which produces computer-enhanced images of a live brain. UCI owns a PET scanner, but currently ships in cyclotron-produced particles from UC Davis.

The cyclotron will be housed in a specially constructed cement vault withwalls more than one yard thick in the Nelson Research Building at the College of Medicine.

Widening of Canyon Road, South Laguan housing vote

To the Editor:

Your editorial introduced me to a new political term - silly season. You were right the first time. It is much too early in the 40th Con-gressional District race for such a term

Most people know that my concern about Laguna Canyon predates my decision to run for Congress by a long shot. There is a connection however. Most of the problems I care about solving cannot really be handled at the local level. We need a good representative in Congress. For example, the Reagan Administration is sitting on $6 billion specifically designated for the purchase of open space. The Laguna Canyon Conservancy knows where to spend that money.

About the canyon. Most of us who travel Laguna Canyon Road know how many lives have been lost and we drive cautiously. But we also know we are most vulnerable in the straightaways. When Lara plants his white crosses, most appear between the El Toro Road intersection and the 405 Freeway, However, I did not assume that Big Bend was safe. When the subject of widening Big Bend came simple presentation of facts like these might add, a "silly season" editorial. that persuaded the Coastal Commission of the folly of the Caltrans plan.

Now that the safety issue is, at the very least, open to question, Caltrans brings in new information about liability cases. They say there are 33 liability cases regarding road design. We are now investigating this issue. Are those all in the Big Bend area? Is the state winning or losing those lawsuits? The city of Laguna Beach is sued every year by hundreds of people, and most of those cases are later dropped. When we have the information, we can evaluate Big Bend again.

Early on in the game. I spoke to two traffic engineers repsonsible for Crown Valley Parkway. MacArthur traffic Boulevard and Dover Drive, roads similar to Laguna Canyon Road. One of those engineers said."You don't have a problem with the road: you have a problem with the press." What we have here is a classic example of a propaganda techinique known as the big lie. When you repeat something over and over, it becomes perceived as true.

The question then becomes, why re Caltrans and Supervisor Riley so I had always regarded State Senator Bergeson and Supervisor Riley as friends of Laguna Beach. Their recent stand against Laguna Beach's wishes on widening Laguna Canyon Road has dispelled this illusion. As the old saying goes, "With friends like them, who needs enemies?

In South Laguna, as in most California beach towns, there are many mini-cultures living close togther. They have lived here compatibly for years. Now a special aspect of this area, and the people who live in it, has formed the basis for two strongly antagonistic groups. This aspect is that a large number of extra living units exist in the area and they are filled with people.

One of these antagonist cultures contends that the extra units are illegal, that they should be eliminated

To the Editor:

I resent Greg Klerkx's immature and flippant handling of a serious issue for all Newport Beach residents, that of the airline traffic over Newport Beach. He included one sentence indicating that he was aware of the concern of Newport Beach residents of jet noise, however, he ignored two other more important issues, safety of the people on the ground and air pollution. He obviously was not in the area when airplane parts rained on houses below the flight patterns, and apparently was oblivious to the tragedies in other cities such as Cerritos. Having an airport in your back yard is not always a blessing.

READER'S FORUM

He said that the residents who backed the anti-noise requirements would change their minds if they experienced a takeoff such as he did. Does he think that the pople who live near the noise pattern sit in their houses and never fly to other places? Most of the people have taken those same flights, trading the discomfort of the flight for the convenience of having it available. We, as Mr. Klerkx, have the option of going to Long Beach, LAX, Ontario or even Burbank, if we are too terrifed by the takeoffs. If more people chose to go elsewhere to fly, Newport Beach might survive Playa del Rey's fate. We also have the choice of moving elsewhere, which most of us do not want to do. When most of the homes affected by the dangers of the airport were built and bought. John Wayne Airport was Orange County Airport and had no jets. Because of its location and the size of the the runways, it could have been assumed to have remained a sleepy small airport. As a way of improving his perspective, I would suggest that Mr. Klerkx try talking on the phone when a jet goes up and over almost any house in Dover Shores or the Bluffs or that he assume the task of keeping patio furniture free of the greasy residue from jet smoke. He might change his mind about the anti-noise, afford it," tax him.

Cruiser and future cruisers read this and beware.

This is a story of bureaucracy operating at its usual level of incompetence. And blatant disregard for the rights of the individual.

In February of 1985 I sailed out of Newport Beach aboard the "Con Todo" on a cruise that was to last several years, possibly forever. But fate decreed otherwise, and I was forced to return in the middle of 1987. The "Con Todo" was put on a permanent mooring in La Paz, BCS, Mexico and offered for sale. And, lo and behold. When the new buyer checked with the Orange County tax assessor to obtain clear title, he was told that there were three years personal property tax (plus penalties) due Alton Cannon, chief of the Marine Division for Orange County, interprets the state tax law to read that a boat cruising anywhere in the world is in transit and must pay tax to Orange County. Even if you cruise for 10 years and the boat is your permanent home, Alton Cannon claims the right to assess personal property taxes.

This is not the proper inter-pretation of the law. I consider this position arbitrary, unreasonable and bsolutely without logic.

When I left Orange County, I severed all ties with the state. No bank account, no mailing address, no residence or ownership of any kind. The tax assessor has a letter on file that the boat was permanently leaving the country. By what convoluted logic can Alton Cannon claim me or the boat as part of the Orange County tax base?

Our taxes are used to support schools, roads, fire stations, police, etc. If you are not using, and don't intend to use the services, what are you being taxed for? This idiotic attempt to misuse the law is a prime example of the bureaucratic philosophy. "if he owns a boat, he can ALEX HARDY

I am caring for my three grandsons' orkshire terrier. I walk him twice a day and carry my plastic bag and paper towels. One day I went to the ocean at the proper time - before 9 a.m. I received a ticket because I had dropped the dog's leash to pick up the dog droppings. The young woman came up in a jeep, I thought she had stopped to wish me a beautiful morning. Then she said she had to give me a citation.

I took the ticket to the courthouse before 8:30 in the morning. Outside 1 had to stand in a long line, then was told the fine would be $76. I was going to see the judge anyway. By the time I had the judge laugh at me because 1 got caught, it was noon. He asked me if I was guilty. I said I had dropped the leash to pick up the dog pile. The judge acted like he was doing me a favor when he reduced the fine to $19.

In my walking and talking to other dog owners. I talked to Lee (65 years old plus). She said she got a ticket when she dropped her dog's leash to tie her shoe.

Just this week I talked to a man that had been on the beach with his big dog. in the surf - without a leash. He was surprised to hear what had happened to me, He didn't know they were serious. He got a warning.

I'm going to see an attorney and find out if my grandsons' dog, who is never off a leash and is never left alone, could be considered restrained by command. He comes and he sits. This dog is too valuable to run loose.

I suggested to the officer that she could make her quota for the day onehalf hour after she goes off duty. The big dogs are all out, but then again. they don't have a little old lady along.

I suggest the young people on the dog patrol be put to some use in juvenile work to earn their pay because whatever they are supposed to be doing, it does not work. The dog droppings on the beach are disgraceful.

Let's see if we can get the numbers right this time. In an 11-year period from 1977-1988 there were 36 fatalities along the entire length of Laguna Canyon Road, from PCH to the 405 Freeway. Three of those occured at Big Bend, the site of CalTrans' widening plan. One conclusion you might reach is that Big Bend is safer than straighter, wider stretches of the road, probably because people automatically slow down. It was the concerned about Big Bend? The real answer is "capacity." I suspect that housing and commerical development planned for Laguna Canyon Road are contingent upon increasing the capacity of traffic flow, especially once the voters pass the Sensible Growth Initiative. The pressure on Supervisor Riley, who probably has had to depend on developer dollars. must be enormous.

Perhaps your editors will see everything I do through the prism of my run for Congress in the 40th. That is your prerogative. It won't keep me from being fully involved in my work as a member of the Laguna Beach City Council.

as soon as possible and that the people in them be sent away.

The other culture contends that the city should legalize these units, one way or another, so that these people can stay in the area.

Elements such as parking, city liability, fire access, how and when the units originated, etc. are side issues because they are otherwise solvable. This whole thing resolves down to a single question: Shall we get rid of these people, or not?

The Laguna Beach City Council will be deciding this fundamental question on April 5, regardless of whatever else is discussed in their findings.

Poet William Blake (1757-1827) wrote "A dog starved at his master's gate, Predicts the ruin of the State." Blake is saying that when a master's conscience no longer urges him to respect his dog, the whole society is in decay. With this, it seems important that a statement be made by the council in respect for diversity in the citizenry of the Laguna area. Otherwise we will be marking the start of a slide by this society into oppressive mediocrity.

hardly a day has passed that the Pilot hasn't repeatedly played up, in glowing and often front page accounts. Evelyn Hart's decision to run against Assemblyman Gil Ferguson in the Republican primary

Now, the fact that Hart would do so just when Republicans are about to close in on the Democrats' majority is certainly big news in this con-servative, highly Republican District, especially since Ferguson is a key leader working to displace the Democrats before the next reapportionment.

The amount and especially the type of treatment the Pilot is giving Hart, however, suggests her candidacy has become a fixation for your editors and your reporters.

Whether or not your staff will be able to vote for or contribute money to her doesn't really matter, as you have already lavished on her a fortune in free advertising which, given her lackluster service on the Newport Beach City Council, she hardly deserves.

Some of us will be waiting to see if the Pilot's "in-kind contributions" to her campaign will be duly reported on her disclosure forms to comply with the fair political practices law, which you regard as sacrosanct and insist on for everyone else.

For the past two weeks, it seems for services rendered, to the Republican Party state and local, for all the sage advice and counsel you have delivered on your pages, i.e., how to remain the minority party for the next decade.

DON DU BOSE Balboa Island

To the Editor: Much has already been said with respect to Evelyn Hart's courageous decision to challenge incumbent Gil Ferguson in the 70th Assembly District. A great deal more needs to be said, however, and I'd like to do so by applauding Evelyn for giving us an opportunity to vote for hetter government in Sacramento.

I happen to be one of that large body of people who think it's absolutely appropriate to look to our elected officials for leadership and effective representation. We subscribe to the preposterous notion that those who live up to these standards deserve our continued support; those who fail to do so, regardless of their party affiliation, unequivocally do not. Indeed, it is the essence of our democracy that each of us has the right to choose between offering such support or withholding it. For Gil Ferguson or anyone else to abrogate this right - even in the cause of such a worthy effort as Project 90 - is both a sad commenaffront to the intelligence of the electorate.

But before the furor surrounding this political battle gives the impression of impending open warfare in the Republican camp. I submit that perhaps not all is lost. There may be a way to avoid the "problems" created by the challenge Mrs. Hart poses. And the beauty is that it's manifestly simple, a "win-win" solution for everyone, and completely within Assemblyman Ferguson's power to implement. All he has to do is withdraw from the primary (precisely the option he and others have apparently urged Mrs. Hart to explore)! This statesman-like act by the incumbent Assemblyman would enable the Republican Party to avert the financial profligacy he envisions in the event of a contested Republican primary, and it would free him to focus his considerable energies on Project 90 - an issue he has seemingly accorded a higher priority than the effective representation of his Orange County constituents. Best of all, it would give the residents of the 70th Assembly District a dedicated public servant who represents the best in Republican leadership and ideals.

AGLITTER FOR EASTER

By VIDA DEAN Of the Daily Pilot Staff All that glitters in the closet is not necessarily mom's fancy evening apparel. Little girls are going for the glitter, too. "It started last year on playwear for the younger girls and now it shines on the dressy clothes," says Kitty Leslie, fashion coordinator for Fashion Island stores.

"The younger ones want to look like big sister and they are mimicking their moms' fancy ball gowns," adds Leslie.

The "Easter Parade" for the younger set should be one of the most sparkling in years.

"Designers are adding buttons, bows and rhinestones like never before," says Valaree Wahler, manager of Kiere, a girls and juniors shop in Fashion Island. Metallic highlights flash on some styles and sequins sparkle on others.

Fabrics are shining in the spring and summer fashion lineup for the younger female set. "Taffeta dresses are popular for Easter along with chintz," says Yvette Hatch, manager of the Red Balloon in Fashion Island. Other trends she noted were puffed sleeves, hand smocking and European styles in longer lengths. And, just like moms, the younger girls go for the bubble dresses.

"We carry infants to women dresses...I have the same dress for the mother and the daughter.," adds Hatch.

Summer colors are vibrant — hot shades of pink, yellow, turquoise, electric blue and jade green. Floral prints are significant for the school set. The flowers are flourishing on all styles and the trend is Playing up to the Easter Bunny in dressy styles are Natalie Clark, 5, daughter of Donna and Dac Clark of Corona del Mar, wearing a handsmocked cotton French lashion from Red Balloon; Monique Wong, 12, doughter of Susan and Edward Wong of Newport Beach in a ret-overtaffeta, gold-accented dress from Kiere; and Beth Godber, 812, daughter of Mary and Rick Godber of Newport Beach, outfitted in Kiere's Spanish-made Chiauitas style detailed with sequins. Stripes are also hot for the young men, said Albert, referring to one shirt with different colored stripes going in three directions.

Washability is one factor mothers of young children are interested in. "Now they can find cotton double breasted blazers and pants in the traditional dress-up look in 100 percent cotton," Albert says. "The blazers are unlined, easy to wash, but they do have to be ironed."

The kids getting the best grades in fashion at school in the fall will be the ones in platds — classic platds, bright platds and platds in pastels.

The shift and the set 14/11 expected to continue in the tall.

Children's accessories for the total look are important — matching sandals, hair decorations and fun-filled "glitter watches" for dress-up, and sunglasses and sun visors for play.

"Little boys know what they like and it's comfort," says Claudette Albert, manager and buyer for Forever Children, another Fashion Island store. The younger boys are loyal to their favorite designs. "When he finds a style he likes, it's hard to get him to change. One mom told me her son has a favorite pair of shorts. She wanted to find the same kind because she was washing them every day."

Like the big boys, the younger ones are choosing baggy pants and pants with pleats. "The rolled cuff is 'in' at this time and the finished cuff is 'out', " says Albert.

"The layered look is very good now for the boys," she added. "Especially here it's important because they can add a shirt for extra warmth or take off a shirt when it gets warm." The store is combining prints in shirts for the layered look and shirts over sweat tops.

Shirts get their share of color — one solid colored sports style is brightened with different colored buttons and button holes. "Little boys love red," Albert says, "and color is important this season with denim pants showing up in the bright shades. I he plaids, according to Wahler, are interpreted in a variety of ways — all over prints, overprinted with cabbage rose, trims and in a wild mix of plaids.

Scotties will be the most popular dogs in town this fall. They show up on all types of sporty outfits. Black and white houndstooth (naturally), tartan and almost any plaid mix well with the Scottie dog theme.

In the kitchen with the great chefs behind THE ART OF DINING I

By JUDY CHAMBERLAIN Daily Pilot Restaurant Critic

"The Art of Dining I" was such a success that the Newport Harbor Art Museum did it again last weekend, and once again Joachim Splichal stole the show.

"That little devil," said a "foodie." "Last year it was the salmon in phyllo. It sounded so ordinary. And now he's done it ogain with the turnips." Last year, Splichal, the chef consultant for the Regency Club in West Los Angeles, wowed the approximately 250 culinary devotees at the first "Art of Dining" with a deceptively simple but devastatingly good salmon in phyllo pastry. This year at "The Art of Dining II," he stopped the show at Four Seasons Hotel in Newport Beach with something he called "mini turnips stuffed with wild mushrooms and parsley sauce." According to a spokeswoman for the Newport Harbor Art Museum, Splichal, who acts as food coordinator for the event, lets the other chefs choose the courses they want to prepare. "They all get first choice and he works his recipe around what everybody else wants," said Kathy Bryant, who added, "I don't know how he comes up with these things."

It's Splichal's longstanding friendhips

with the rest of the chefs that brings them to come to Orange County for what has become, for a neophyte event, an important showcase for the international community of food.

Seventy-two Leonard of Paris spring fashions were modeled at the annual event sponsored by the Newport Harbor Art Museum's Council.

When not fashion watching, guests were visiting the attractively appointed table set with tea, coffee and punch services and and centered with a spring floral arrangement by mem-ber Nora Lehman. The food created by council members was getting raves, especially Ginny Shaw's petit fours.

Harriett Gage was chairwoman for the party. Assisting were June Donovan, Eleanor Gallagher, Joyce Galentine, Shirley Geldert and Jan

A hearty lunch of barbecued chicken, cornbread and ice cream bars was served to the 400 people at the annual benefit held by the Trojan League of Orange County. The event was staged on the USC campus: beginning with a program in Bing Auditorium with John McKay, Craig Fertig, director of women's athletics Barbara Hedges and quarterback Rodney Peete as speakers, and continuing to a big tent for the lunch. The theme for the day was "100 Years A Million Cheers.") with Ginner Ochsner as chairwoman for the celebration. Ochsner capped off the afternoon by presenting Ron Orr, the assistant director of athletics, with a $15,000 check from the OC group.

Seen in the crowd were Hyla Bertea, Alice and John Davis, Beverly and Paul Salata, Dardie Dunlap, Betty Sizemore, Donnie and Barbara Ward, Lynn Magor, Ann Marie Broderick, Kristen Hulett, George Ochsner, Darylis DePaolo, Dodie Sadahiro and Dottie DeLoach.

Huntington Beach home of daughter and son-in-law Carlene and Larry Kennedy.

As they were 50 years ago, Nadine and Charles Giordano were attendants for the Freitases. Nephew Jim Newkirk of Laguna Beach toasted the celebrants.

Daughter Joan Page and her husband Darrell Page were at the party with their sons Jeff, Tres and Trevor along with the Kennedys' sons, John and Kerry. The golden anniversary couple now make their home at Lake Elsinore.

More than 360 Kappa Deltas and their guests attended a fashion luncheon at the Ritz-Carlton in Laguna Niguel to raise funds for Project Shamrock, a child abuse prevention program supported by the sorority.

Buffums provided fashions modeled by members. Janice Hunt was chairwoman, and Karen Lawson was mistress of ceremonies.

A three-day floral extravaganza will be held April 15, 16 and 17 by Libros Y Artes in the courtyard of the library in San Juan Capistrano. All manner of plantings and installations, including a sumptuous orchid pavilion, will delight gardeners and flower aficionados.

The upcoming event "The Flower as Art: a Sensory Realm" was the topic of discussion Monday as Ninetta and Gavin Herbert hosted a luncheon at Casa Pacifica. Guests talked about lectures being held in conjunction with the extravaganza. Nancy Goslee Power, a landscape designer who is Los Angeles editor of House Beautiful, will speak on "The Intimate Garden"; florist Cliff Fulkerson will reproduce an 18th century floral arrangement in the lavish style of Flemish floral painters; and Sybil Connolly will fly in from Dublin to talk about Irish gardens.

Dangers of wearing sunglasses at night

Recently Style published a picture of some cute sunglasses - just the accessory to wear at night to the next dance or party. Dr. Bernard Simon sends us some information saying sunglasses are not simply a fashion accessory.

'They should never be worn in any restricted light conditions, including nighttime or indoors," said the Costa Mesa optometrist.

'Wearing sunglasses at night won't harm your eyes, but they restrict your ability to see and are especially dangerous if you are driving."

Shades are meant to protect the eves against the sun's ultraviolet rays, infrared rays and glare, to add comfort during sunny-day activities.

lens color, he says, is gray. The next best is green. The two colors he recommends least interfere with color preception.

The lenses should be perfectly matched in color. "Look for glasses that have solid color lenses." The ones featuring fadeaway colors dark at the top and fading away to nothing at the bottom - let too much light in at the bottom, Simon said. If you need a prescription, of course, you are going to a doctor. Simon also notes that a doctor of optometry can help you select the right kind of non-prescription sunglasses as well as offer current

For proper protection:

1. Check out the tag or frame - it should say that the glasses will screen out ultraviolet and infrared rays.

2. Make sure the lenses are ground and polished to be entirely free of distortion and imperfection. A simple test is to hold the glasses at arm's length and look at a straight line (such as the corner of the room) and rotate them. If the line is distorted it's not a good lens.

Hats are back on top

The big-brimmed hat has made a big comeback in both romantic and tailored styles:

Designer Frank Olive sees the flowered hat as an Edwardian confection, with a deep crown and upturned brim eradling a group of pink roses at one side.

His flowered creations were among the new spring styles he showed during a recent visit to Neiman-Marcus, Fashion Island.

"I believe the hat to be the quintessence of dress. It is the most personal statement of a woman's wardrobe. A hat creates the mood of the moment and allows for a vast array of attitudes." said Olive.

"The art of wearing a hat can transform a woman from just another attractive face in a crowd into an exciting personality with a sense of drama.

PAPARAZZI A dish for every taste at 'The Art of Dining II'

By VIDA DEAN of the Delty Pliot Staff

"Each one of you just consumed 1,400 calories," chef/dinner coordi-nator Joachim Splichal said at the close of "The Art of Dining II."

Eight world-class chefs had prepared the eight-course dinner. each presenting his or her particular specialty

It was no place for calorie counters, and the 430 diners roared with laughter at Splichal's report. "He's joking," commented George

Argyros. "There were more than 1,400 calories in that dinner."

"I think he meant that many calories in the last dessert,"said Sandra Beigel. "I'm a dessert person and I ate every bite of the chocolate."

There seemed to be a dish to suit every individual fancy at the Newport Harbor Art Museum black-tie benefit last weekend at Four Seasons Hotel. An appropriate wine accompanied each dish. Said wine expert Michael Mercado, "We have had $30,000 worth of wine donated tonight and everybody has to drink their share.")

"The cranberry sauce on the pheasant mousse was great." Wini Voegelin said of the first course by Michel Pieton of Four Seasons. "We have a copy of the recipe." Each guest also received a souvenir dining apron to wear while trying out the recipes.

Roast duck prepared by Jimmy Schmidt of the Rattlesnake Club, Denver, was Pam Goldstein's favorite, while husband Sam, chairman of the event, liked everything. He had seen samples of the dishes prior to the three-hour dinner, and and thought Splichal's mini turnips filled with mushroom puree looked very interesting. Seated with the Goldsteins were longtime friends and former Studio City neighbors Jane and writer Earl Hamner (of TV's The Waltons" and "Falcon Crest"). didn't take any arm twisting to get us to come this year," said Hamner.

> "The museum is very lucky. My job was to get the food donated and most of it was either donated or we were able to get it at cost," said committee member Susan Porter. Four seasons gave us lots of cooperation and were very helpful. It seems that I've been on the phone for two months. I missed last year's dinner and was really looking forward to this one." she said.

"The secret to eating at a dinner like this is to eat some of everything but not all of each dish." said Ann Stern, seated with artist Majic Mega. Gerhard Michler from San Francisco. Jean-Louis Palladin of Jean-Louis in the Watergate Hotel in Washington D.C.) and Michel Richard from Los Angeles' Citrus rounded out the list of star chefs who joined Splichal and Four Seasons' own Michel Pieton in the kitchen of the Newport Beach Hotel.

Anyone who had dared to venture behind the dining room doors would have come upon a scene to rival any Marx Brothers movie.

An occasional cigarette, a bit of wine, some serious clowning around and the immediate camaraderie of assorted relaxed, confident cooking styles kept the chefs going between interviews with the press and other annoying interruptions The air was thick with shared respect and admiration.

ready for a feast.

With everything served separately in small courses, the menu had something for everyone. Former Four Seasons executive chef Esther Carpenter teamed up with new chef Pieton to turn out a first course of wild pheasant mousse which had somehow been dubbed "quenelles". Actually these little morsels, nicely turned out of barquette pans, more closely resembled mini-mounds of pheasant pate; they were served with toast points and a sweet, dribbly, wonderful cranberry sauce made in saucier heaven.

Next came Michel Richard's egg-plant and bell pepper terrine. "It fell apart this morning," grinned Rich-ard, "I almost died. But I fixed it." Asked to elaborate on his fixing process, he declined to explain, then joked "I put it in the freezer."

"I've made that terrine hundreds of times in my restaurant," said the Citrus chef, "and it's never failed before — but, for awhile there. I thought I was going to have to serve terrine salad.

This offering, consomme of red and green cabbage prepared by Jean-Louis Palladin, really did have quenelles (appropriately poached pike, or whitefish), along with 140 pounds of Santa Barbara shrimp. "It's confided Palladin. "Yeah," shot back Richard. "It's the first time you're making it without frozen shrimp." The consomme was superb.

Stunning 'Letters Home From Vietnam'

By LANNY LARSON

There doubtless are millions of Americans who've already had enough of the Vietnam War because of the past year's blitz of movies and television shows dramatizing the subject.

It's too bad, because HBO airs today perhaps the most important and one of the best movies about the war, "Dear America: Letters Home from Vietnam."

Based on the book of the same name, the film is a chronological documentary of the war made riveting by well-read excerpts from letters of U.S. servicemen and women in Vietnam to their loved ones.

The letters, read off-camera by a stream of big-name actors, are eloquent beyond their simple words and deeply moving. The humanity makes you want to laugh, cry and scream.

Here's a sampling of the letters:

"I am unhurt and have not been touched, but with all the death and destruction I've seen in the past week

Ferguson to substitute at Playboy Jazz Festival

From Daily Pilot wire services

Virtuoso trumpeter Maynard Ferguson and his seven-piece electronic fusion band High Voltage have been signed to replace Michael Brecker on the talent lineup for this year's 10th Anniversary Playboy Jazz Festival at the Hollywood Bowl, June 18-19. Brecker was forced to drop out due to a scheduling conflict.

Three-time Grammy nominee and continual Downbeat award winner Ferguson made his first Playboy Jazz Festival appearance with his orchestra in 1982, and returned to perform again in 1986, earning a standing ovation.

Ferguson is now traveling and recording with his High Voltage band.

The 10th Anniversary 1988 Playboy Jazz Festival will be held on the weekend of June 18-19. The Saturday lineup will include: Kenny G. Carmen McRae, Larry Carlton, Maynard Ferguson & High Voltage, the Fabulous Thunderbirds. King Sunny Ade. Ray Brown Trio. World Saxophone Quartet, Bob Florence and the Limited Edition, and the winner of the Western States Jazz Festival.

The Sunday lineup features: Ray

Charles, the Racletts and the Ray Charles Orchestra: Dizzy Gillespie and his All-Star Big Band, under the direction of Jon Faddis' Spyro Gyra: Bobby McFerrin; Ahmad Jamal; Latin Jazz '88, starring Freddie Hubbard, Airto, Flora Purim and Dave Valentin; the Timeless All-Stars, featuring Curtis Fuller, Billy Higgins, Bobby Hutcherson, Harold Land, Cedar Walton and Buster Williams: Jeannie and Jimmy Cheatham; and the winner of Hennessy Jazz Search

The master of ceremonies for both days will once again by Bill Cosby.

Husband needs to admit he's addicted to sex

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently you ran a letter from "Agonizing in Lafayette, Ind.," a wife who dis-covered that her husband frequented massage parlors and topless bars and visited prostitutes.

She wrote, "He doesn't drink, smoke or use drugs," and then went on to describe the symptoms of a man suffering from addiction to sex. Often people who have this illness lead double lives, hiding their inability to control themselves. The problem frequently comes to light because of an arrest.

We don't know as much about this illness as we know about other compulsive behavioral problems, such as alcoholism or gambling, but progress is being made and help is available.

The first step is to stop all sexual activity outside of a committed relationship. Going to massage parlors and topless bars is verboten. As with other addictions, denial that the problem exists and blaming others are common.

If you see yourself in this column, I suggest that you find a therapist who is knowledgeable about sexual addictions.

The next step is to join a support group such as Sex Addicts Anonymous. This organization practices a 12-step program of recovery, similar to Alcoholics Anonymous and Overeaters Anonymous. The address is P.O. Box 3038, Minneapolis, Minn., 55403. A self-ad-dressed, stamped envelope will be appreciated. You will receive a brochure that includes 21 questions. The answers will reveal whether you have this problem. - Ph.D. IN PHILADELPHIA.

DEAR P .: I urge anyone who finds himself or herself needing to indulge in sex several times a day to get help.

(Honeymooners and newlyweds excluded.)

DEAR ANN LANDERS: God bless "A Truthteller in Arkansas." When I read that letter. I stood up and cheered. At least there is one other person out there who knows the truth about those "poor, forgotten old folks whose rotten children never visit."

Like "Truthteller" I am no longer young, but my mother can still make my life (and the lives of everyone she knows) miserable. So why should I feel guilty because I can't stand her? Please don't tell me to be compassionate. That woman has used up girl enough compassion for 10 lifetimes, and she appreciates none of it. My only consolation is knowing that, in spite of my mother, I have made a decent life for myself, and that my children love me.

Obviously you have never been in this spot or you would realize that ridding oneself of these feelings is not easy

Please, Ann, don't be so hard on us "bad children." We have already had enough misery for one lifetime. --TRUTHTELLER'S BUDDY IN MASSACHUSETTS

DEAR BUDDY: It is no secret that Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Smith, Irvine, all mothers aren't lovable, but keep working at forgiving her. It will be a reat victory, and you will benefit from it. That load of hatred you are carrying is hurting you more than it's hurting her.

Defense is a difficult art. The correct solution to West's problem was found the day after the hand was played!

South's bidding was strictly for the birds. He might have ended up in an unmakeable six-heart contract when seven diamonds was an absolute laydown. As it was, he was most unfortunate to find that much of his partner's values was in the preemptive bidder's suit and opposite his void.

West got his side off to an excellent start when he chose to lead the ace of clubs rather than a spade. East followed with the ten. Since a spade shift was obviously futile, West continued with a club in the hope that it was his partner who held the singleton. Declarer rose with the king of clubs and successfully finessed the the jack of diamonds. The ace of trumps was followed by a trump to the king, felling the queen. When both defenders followed to the repeat diamond finesse and the queen held, the slam was home.

The key to the hand was to restrict declarer's ability to take two diamond finesses. A shift of only one suit at trick two will prevent declarer from being able to do that. Obviously, the lead of either black suit gives declarer the second entry for two diamond finesses. It is equally apparent that a diamond shift does declarer's work for him. The only suit which does not help declarer is a trump, possibly sacrificing a trick with the queen!

Not surprisingly, we located no one who found the winning defense. Be honest with us: Would you have?

G.M. Peters gives first-time buyers a chance to own

Half the units at new Signal Terrace in Long Beach have been sold, and sales continue briskly toward the midpoint at sister development, Signal View, according to developer Gary Peters.

Signal Terrace is a community of 24 two-bedroom and two-bath condominiums at 1629 Cherry Ave. Signal View comprises 61 twobedroom and two-bath units at 2507 East 17th St.

Prices at Signal Terrace begin at $76,900. No unit is priced higher than $88,900. Prices at Signal View range from $77,900 to $88,900. Included are two bedrooms and two full baths with tub and shower, washer and dryer pair at no additional charge and more

Both projects feature enclosed. gated ground floor parking and security access. Fast sales of first floor (the floor above the garages) and top floor units has created an opportunity for second floor ownership at a time when such prime units are customarily sold out.

Each condominium comes with drapes, carpets and linoleum and is move-in ready. Kitchens feature built-in range, dishwasher and disposal, plus hardwood cabinets. A balcony with privacy facing is included. Shared amenities include fullsecurity access, garden courtyard with spa, indoor bicycle storage and a windowed elevator.

And, unlike other projects in the area, Signal View and Signal Terrace offer a choice of units in all price ranges, not just one or two at the "leader price." With $2,150 down, payments can be as low as $576 per

Protecting yourself from home burglaries

By ILENE SCHNEIDER

A reported burglary occurs every eight seconds in the United States. Only 49 percent of the burglaries are reported to the police About one out of four homes in the country will be burgiarized.

In Orange County a home is likely to be burglarized once in 10 years. The likelihood increases to once in 2 or 3 years if the home is on a corner.

Burglars look for homes where they can steal things easily, rather than homes with the most valuable things. More than half of the burglars enter a home through a door or a window Most burglaries take place between 9 a m and 4 p m, when residents are most likely to be away from home. Nearly 80 percent of the stolen property is not recovered.

Household members are present during about 13 percent of burglaries. In such instances, violent crimes are committed 30 per cent of the time.

In spite of the alarming statistics, only 8 percent of all American households have any type of security system The public's general knowledge of safety is not good. Most people hide valuables in obvious places

When homeowners consider purchasing a security system, they bould think about factors such as the location of the house, the number of glass doors and windows, the valuable collections that need protection. the value of a security system in

East Hill: Redefining state-of-the-art

By LILIANA TAYLOR

Too often terms like "state-of-theart" and "luxury development" are used to describe new communities that in reality don't quite measure up to buyer's expectations.

At J.M. Peters Co.'s East Hill development in Coto de Caza, it is industry experts, local and national publications, real state analysts and most importantly, numerous moveup home buyers who will define the quality of the homes built by the Newport-based firm, according to Julie Newcomb, vice president of marketing

East Hill will comprise a collection of 67 executive homes designed for the discerning tastes of those who enjoy a setting in which highly amenitized residences will offer panoramic views overlooking the lushly green fairways of the championship-length golf course J.M. Peters will begin selling their acclaimed single-family homes in mid-April.

East Hill at Coto de Caza

Developer: J.M. Peters Co. Type of development: Single family. Mediterranean. Price range: Not available. Number of floor plans: Three. Square footage: From 3,350 to 3.679. Financing: Conventional. Sales information: 854-2500.

"The renowned estate resort environment of the Coto de Caza community will set the tone for these premium homes, which will combine the grand tradition of country manor living with the finest in contemporary home comforts," said Newcomb.

The collection, designed by Aram Bassenian & Associates, Inc., includes three two-story floor plans with five bedrooms and four-andone-half baths with interiors ranging from 3.350 to 3.679 square feet. One of the bedrooms can be converted into a den.

The residences offer lots averaging 8.000 square feet to make the most of the view of the golf course designed by architect Robert Trent Jones Jr. (Please see EAST/C2)-

No growth slow growth, the mushrooming trend that especially "infects" the West, will be the topic of discussion at the Pacific Coast Builders Conference's third annual Western Builders Conference, according to Aaron Kolkey. PCBC president.

The Western Builders Conference has already made itself a PCBC tradition by discussing the current challenges facing not only homebuilders in the West, but also future homebuyers and western communities." Kolkey says "Previous topics have been wetlands and last year's Water and the Western Builder

The conference-within-a-conference, which is being presented in cooperation with the National Institute for Building Sciences, will be held on May 25, from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. at Moscone Convention Center in San Francisco. Kolkey notes that this year's conference theme is most appropriate "No Growth - Who Wins and Who Loses?

The 30th annual PCBC is sponsored by the California Building Industry Association (CBIA) and runs from May 24 through May 27. It is the oldest and largest regional building industry conference and new product exhibit in the nation.

With close to 70 known growth control measures being promoted in California alone, this topic is of vital importance to all involved in the western building industry and future balanced economic expansion of the West." adds Kolkey. The San Diego-

ON THE INSIDE

On the question "Who Wins and Who Loses?," moderator Warren remarks. "Of course, there will be shaded areas between the winners and losers in a slow-growth confrontation. The decision to control natural economic expansion affects more than builders and future homebuvers.

To grow or not to grow also affects industry, merchants and even the public sector," Warren adds. The cteran industry activist points out that the long-range effects of a no- or slow-growth municipal policy will not only result in fewer housing choices for the community's children. but also decide the fate of city maintenance levels of present/future services and infrastructure systems.

In such situations of long-term growth control, both Kolkey and moderator Warren believe there are no real winners, only losers

Keeping the ownership dream alive

One of the biggest obstacles to home-

The benefits of homeownership to the individual, to society and to the economy -outweigh the benefits of renting. However, the American dream of homeownership has remained just that - a dream - for many younger and low-income Americans, states a study released recently by the National Association of Realtors.

'Our study confirms the fact that both owners and renters consider homeownership an important value to protect in this country. We hope this will stimulate this nation's policymakers to pursue options that will help people make the transition from renter to homeowner," said Nestor R. Weigand, Jr., president of the association would include idenitifying ways to reduce and/or restructure fees that create high down payments and excessive seller costs such as up-front mortgage insurance premiums levied by the Federal Housing Administration and private insurers," Weigand said.

Ira Gribin, NAR's president-elect, who is participating in the National Housing Task Force, which will make housing policy recommendations to Congress later this month, also stressed the need for federal government intervention to alleviate the nation's housing problems.

"Since 1981, the federal government has all but dismantled the nation's housing programs," Gribin said, "The number of new federally assisted housing units built plummeted from more than 200,000 in 1980 to about 25,000 in 1987. Housing programs funded by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development were cut from more than $33 billion in 1980 to less than $8 billion in 1987 — a drastic reduction of $25 billion or 75,per cent.

"One consequence of the federal government's withdrawal from the housing arena has been the plateau of the homeownership rate, and then its eventual decline," Gribin said. The association's report notes that America's homeownership rate slowly but steadily declined between 1980 and 1986, after climbing consistenly since the end of World War II. The homeownership rate rose from 47.8 percent in 1930 to 65.6 percent in 1980, and then declined 2.9 percent to 63.8 percent in 1986.

Gribin, a Realtor from Encino, said that even more disturbing than the overall decline in homeownership, is the steeper drop in homeownership rates for people under the age of 25 and those in the prime homebuying ages of 25-34. For people under age 25, the homeownership rate has dropped from 26.4 percent in 1980 to 21.6 percent in 1986 — an 18.2 percent decline. And for people in the 25-34 age group, the rate has dropped from 55.0 percent to 45.4 percent — a 17.5 precent drop.

"Federal policies no longer stimulate homeownership as they had in the past. The declining homeownership rates of the 1980s are testimony to this change," Gribin said.

Weigand added: "It is time for the federal government to recognize that homeownership is beneficial to everyone — to individuals, to families, to the economy, to democracy."

maintaining or lowering insurance rates and the value of the home itself. They should contact the crime prevention officer of the local police department who can offer advice on the type of security systems needed.

Westec Security, headquartered in Irvine, begins the process of providing total security solutions by sending a security consultant to the home of a person looking for a security system. A written questionnaire, a face-toface interview and a survey of the house and grounds give Westec the pertinent information to determine the level of protection needed. The company manufactures systems with 72, 36 or 15 protective devices.

All Westec security systems are tied into one of the company's four computerized central monitoring stations. These stations monitor customer systems constantly. In many areas Westec also provides patrol, armed reponse or both to its customers.

Central monitoring stations also monitor the integrity of individual systems to tell the difference between a system malfunction and an intrusion through a door or window. Individual systems have an independant abort feature that allows the homeowner to turn off the alarm within 20 seconds if it is accidentally set off. After 20 seconds, Westec calls the homeowner and asks for an abort code. If the code is wrong or there is no answer, Wester notifies the police and dispatches armed response where available.

Still, the best total security solution program may not be enough if the homeowners allow themsoelves to be easy targets for burglars. Westec, which has been in the security business for almost 20 years, advised that homeowners take the following precautions:

•Don't flaunt wealth, espcially when it contrasts with the area.

• Don't allow domestic servants and gardeners who are not bonded onto your property.

• If you live close to a freeway access, your home is more vulnerable to burglary.

 Don't leave cars on the street where they are visible to potential intruders.
 Don't allow solicitors into your home.

• Don't allow newspapers to gather on your lawn when out of town.

•Unplug phones when you go on vacation so potential burglars aren't clued by excessive ringing. •Electrical timers should be hooked

•Electrical timers should be hooked up to lights, a radio or television and the air conditioner. If a burglar spots a house on a hot night in the summer without the air conditioner running, it's a tipoff that the house is empty.

Understanding and shopping for the right title insurance firm

By JIM JOHNSON Clatchy News Servic

SACRAMENTO - One of the most important but least understood steps in buying a home involves the purchase of title insurance.

Few buyers go shopping for it, or know what it costs or how it works, industry representatives say. And once homeowners get it. they forget about it — unless something goes for Chicago Title Insurance Co. in Sacramento. Title insurance, he explained, is a one-time premium that provides protection for as long as the purchaser owns the property. "Unlike other insurance that assumes risks for people, it limits them." Bodwell pointed out.

The reason title companies have such low public profiles is that they don't aim much advertising at consumers. Instead, their sales pitch is directed primarily toward real estate agents, who account for most of their referrals.

In the early 1970s, rebates to real estate agents reached such scandalous proportions that legislation was enacted to prohibit the practice.

Although the anti-kickback law only mentions real estate pro-fessionals, said Reid McClaran, a staff attorney with the state Department of Insurance, it also was aimed at attorneys, lenders and others in a position to induce their clients to obtain title insurance from specific companies.

Basically, there are two kinds of title insurance. One is designed to protect the lender, and the other the home-buyer. Usually, they are offered as a package in residential-sales transactions.

Lenders insist on a policy to protect their loan and insure its marketability. Bodwell said. An owner's policy protects the owner's equity. against claims others have to the property.

If a buyer pays $20,000 down on a $100,000 home and gets an $80,000 mortgage, the lender would require an $80,000 title policy, Bodwell explained. To protect his interest, the buyer would need a $20,000 owner's policy.

If title is lost and a buyer doesn't have an owner's policy, the lender would be paid but the buyer would lose the property and his equity in it. Coates said.

Buyers may obtain a hinder policy if they expect to sell the home within a few years.

The California Land Title Association, a Sacramento-based tradefindustry organization. offers free brochures about title insurance and closing costs. Requests should be sent to P.O. Box 13963. Sacramento, Calif. 95853, with a self-addressed and stamped business-sized envelope.

Casino pit boss can sell his people-management skills

Dear Rence,

Dear D.J.

I was visiting some friends last weekend and read your column in their paper. I hope you can assist me. I'm a pit boss in Carson City, Nev., and have been for nine years now. The hours are irregular and there is little or no growth opportunity. I'm willing to relocate and am degreed in liberal arts. What would you consider as transferrable skill? I'm interested in a supervisory or managerial position. - D.J.

With nine years experience work-option, too.

Dear Renee.

tions that are asked during an interview, such as questions about

- Unemployed and Confused Dear Unemployed,

being married or having children? I If asked personal questions of that don't feel that I want to answer them. nature, ask, but don't confront, the interviewer if those questions are but I don't want to lose a possible job opportunity becaue I didn't answer relevant to the job description and if so, you would be happy to give that information. Almost always they will say no and continue on with the interview without pushing for an answer.

Dear Renee.

I am a recent graduate in business administration and have not been overly excited about my position, and even more important, the prospect of continuing to work in this career. Do you have knowledge of any projections of the type of careers that will be in demand in the next 15 or 20 years that can help me decide whether to plan a career change? -BC

Changing Times magazine. No-vember 1987 edition. summarizes a Labor Department study of future job market needs for the Workforce 2000. The study concludes that high-tech positions such as enginering, computer and basic science will increase rapidly, but by 1995 will number only one out of eight jobs. Service-oriented industry and manufacturing will remain as a significant part of the economy. The fields offering the best career prospects are health services. hotel management, food service. financial services, and related professions. There are other studies and the projections may vary to some that you can. Dear Renee.

Orange Coast DAILY PILOT/Sunday, April 3, 1988

In my job I handle complaints all day long. How do I keep from getting down and staying positive?

- M.D Dear M.D.,

C7

Why not make a game of your assistance role? See how many people you can help and get to change their complaint to a thank you. What a rewarding experience that can be.

Northern California over 10 days in Terrill says.

By STEVE GEISSINGER

Firefighters who buried 10 comrades just six months ago, after the state's worst fire siege in modern times, are mobilizing earlier than ever for the firestorm they believe again faces parched California.

"This year, we're worse off than last ear and everybody knows how bad last year was. There are drought conditions all over the state and in some areas, extreme drought conditions," says Jerry Partain, chief of the state Department of Forestry and Fire Protection.

"Fire season is also starting much earlier, so we'll have to be on alert even longer," Partain says.

Fire officials say state crews go on around-the-clock alert Monday in Southern California and within two to four weeks elsewhere in the state because of the return of the deadly combination of conditions that indiscriminately razes forests and subdivisions alike. Some federal forest fire crews also have gone on alert in the south state.

Lack of rain and snow has already left grass and brush as dry as it would be in June, they say. Temperatures have been unseasonably high, strong winds have lashed the state, and humidity has been unseasonably low. Those conditions can only worsen as summer approaches.

In the south, desert winds have fanned several small brush fires. Hills green for St. Patrick's Day in mid-March were already turning brown hues a week later. Arsonists will deliberately strike the match in some cases. Twenty percent of California's wildfires are arson. The rate climbs dramatically when conditions are ripe for flame and blazes have already erupted because arsonists become more ac-

Brush fires to take an increasing toll of hillside homes

country will end more and more often in nightmarish losses of more homes and more forests to wildfires.

That was the tragic conclusion of local, state and federal fire officials at a recent two-day fire prevention seminar here.

County planners should revise general plans to require proper protections in and around rural homes and subdivisions, and the state should pass more requirements without placing financial burdens on counties, they

But the fire experts said ultimate responsibility for protecting homes lies not with government and not with firefighters, who are often powerless to stop walls of flames

The responsibility belongs to the homeowner, they said

The basic problem is that "homeowners resist placement of the burden on them," said Dean Cromwell. the state Board of Forestry's executive officer.

We think a wildire won't happen to us. Then if the area burns once, we think it won't happen again.

'How short-sighted can we be? The answer is: very.' Residents of rural areas can help themselves by following state laws on clearance of combustible

CHICO (AP) - The California dream of living in the vegetation and creation of a natural fire barrier, said fire prevention officers with the California Department of Forestry and the U.S. Forest Service.

The regulations require residents to clear such material at least 30 feet around their homes, trim trees back 10 feet from a chimney, put wire-mesh screen over a chimney, and remove flammable material such as pine needles from roofs

But enforcement is difficult and spotty, fire officials said

Compliance not only helps the homeowner, they said, but also can help preserve the very reason they chose to live in a country setting - the country.

Wildland firefighters say that, more and more, they are forced to allow forests to burn while they use their equipment - designed to fight wildfires not structure fires - to save homes that are encroaching into the wilderness

Protecting homes is the top priority, said CDF Director Jerry Partain, but the structures often stand in the way of one of the surest and safest methods of fighting blazes, backfiring, in which crews set a fire to burn into the path of an advancing blaze and stop it.

Instead, ground crews must often directly confront towering walls of flames with pumpers, hoses and hand tools, he said. At times, they have to flee, or die. When they have no time to flee, they must dive under heat-resistant shields and weather the firestorm overhead.

The severity of this environmental conflict between the dream of rural living and preservation of California's forest was never more evident than during the lightningspawned siege of blazes in 1987.

Firefighters saved 4,000 houses and lost just 38, sparing themselves much of the criticism and tremendous policial pressure that has followed destruction of homes.

But the blazes killed 10 firefighters, an unusually high number for a single season in California, and seared threequarters of a million acres of forest in one of the worst onslaught against the state's natural resources in modern times

Firefighters say tens of thousands of acres burned simply because of the conflict between homes and forests.

'Every year the potential for trouble seems even greater because more and more people are building homes in the wildlands," said Dan Frias, a fire prevention officer in San Bernardino County.

Usually, they don't want to denude the vegetation too much around their houses, so when a fire does take off it'll take their house out with it," he said.

Orange County Fire Capt. Patrick McIntosh said his region "is getting so built up the only place to go is up into the hills." But he noted that developers are responding to requirements that they plant buffer zones of fire- and drought-resistant plants around new homes.

Statewide, an estimated 7 million peple are living in so-called "urban interface" zones, new housing subdivisions in previously undeveloped areas.

The danger stems from the fact more than 60 percent of California is covered by natural, and highly combustible, vegetation. Experts say combining that with the state's mild winters, hot and dry summers, and rugged topography, produces one of the world's most hazardous fire regions.

During the past two decades, the state's population has increased from 18 million to more than 27 million. During the same period, the number of wildfire outbreaks annually has more than doubled.

Since 1960, more than 65 people have died and more than 2,900 homes have been lost in wildfires, with damage estimates averaging about $30 million annually.

With California's population continuing to swell. experts say the wildfire threat to homes and the conflict between rural living and protection of forests can only increase.

Valvano says noto UCLA position

He makes decision after discussions with family

LOS ANGELES (AP) - North Carolina State basketball coach Jim Valvano withdrew his name from consideration for the head coaching job at UCLA, saying it was in the best interests of his family, the university announced Saturday.

Valvano said in a statement that he came to his decision after meeting with UCLA officials and talking it over with his family.

"After meeting with the folks from UCLA and discussing the situation with my family, it is my decision to withdraw my name from consideration from the position," Valvano said

"It is a great job and the people I met with were wonderful, but I feel it is in my family's best interests to stay at North Carolina State. My oldest daughter is a freshman at NC State and my middle daughter is a sophomore in high school and I think it best for them that we stay where we are at this time," Valvano said.

Valvano announced his decision a day after he and his wife arrived in Los Angeles to discuss the job. Walt Hazzard, who helped UCLA win its first NCAA title in 1964, was fired on Wednesday, less than three weeks after completing his fourth season with the Bruins.

UCLA was only 16-14 this season, well below expectations for a team coming off a Pacific-10 Conference championship in 1987. The Bruins finished in a tie for second in the Pac-10, but were upset by Washington State, 73-71, in a first-round game of the conference tournament on March 11.

Valvano's record at North Carolina State is 169-93 and his career mark is 305-190 in 17

seasons

UCLA Athletic Director Peter Dalis praised Valvano as a coach and said the search would continue, though he did not name other candidates.

"Jim is one of the best and first available coaches with whom we have had discussions about the head coaching position," Dalis said, 'and we will continue to discuss the job with other candidates."

In withdrawing, Valvano, 42, said he had "meaningful and productive" discussions with UCLA officials "but I want to stress that nothing was ever reduced to a final proposal."

Valvano said he wished to make clear that North Carolina State had given him permission to look at the UCLA job. 'My contract did not enter into my decision to withdraw, rather it was my concern for the best interests of my family." he said.

The coach added that he loved living and working in North Carolina and was "looking forward to leading NC State's basketball and athletic program to the best of my ability in the future.

Hazzard, who guided the Bruins to the league championship and was named Pac-10 Conference Coach of the Year for 1986-87. played at UCLA under John Wooden and was the Bruins' fifth coach since Wooden resigned after taking the school to the 1975 NCAA title - its 10th in 12 years.

But UCLA has been to the Final Four only twice since then - in 1976 under Gene Bartow and in 1980 under Larry Brown. Gary Cunningham coached the Bruins for two years between Bartow and Brown, and Larry Farmer held the job between Brown's and Hazzard's stints

Valvano succeeded Norm Sloan as North Carolina State's head coach in 1980

NCAA's Big Twoemerges from Big Eight

Manning takes over, leads Kansas past Blue Devils and into title game, 66-59

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) -Kansas may not be a one-man team, but this was Danny Manning's oneman show Saturday as the Jayhawks earned their first trip to the national championship game in 31 years.

Kansas got an 18-point lead on fifth-ranked Duke with barely nine minutes gone, then held on to beat the Blue Devils, 66-59, in the semifinals of the NCAA Final Four.

The unranked Jayhawks held Duke to just one field goal in the first 11 possessions, and the Blue Devils shot just 34.3 percent for the game, their worst of the season, to 50 percent for Kansas.

"We came out and played great defense," said Manning. who scored 25 points, had 10 rebounds and led a smothering Kansas defense - bor-rowing Duke's trademark in beating the Blue Devils and avenging a 1986 Final Four semifinal loss to Duke.

"We had great intensity and put great pressure on the ball," Manning said of a Kansas effort that included a semifinal-record nine blocked shots,

Duke, led by Danny Ferry, twice cut the Kansas lead to three points in the second half, but each time, Manning was there along with team-mate Milt, Newton, who had 20 points, to turn away the Blue Devils.

The 59 points were the fewest scored by the Blue Devils this season. and it was the first time in 20 games that Duke had lost while holding its opponent to less than 70 points. "They attacked us well," Duke Coach Mike Krzyzewski said. "Our youngsters did a good job in the second half to get us back in, but Manning and Newton had, great games. I just wish we got off to a better start. We were very tentative.'

national final in 1957 and won its only title in 1952, got only four points from Manning as a sophomore when the Jayhawks went to the Final Four two years ago.

This time, the two-time All-American not only scored points, but he rejected six shots, made four steals both semifinal records - and had a pair of assists in sending Kansas to the championship final.

If the Jayhawks win, they would do it with more losses, 11, than any other team in 50 years of Final Fours.

"More than anything. our guys just wanted to win the game." said Kansas forward Chris Piper, who had 10 points. "The revenge factor was there. but we just wanted to get into the chmpionship game, and that meant beating Duke! I hated to see a team like theirs lose because they are a class team.

Kansas, 26-11, ran up a 24-6 lead in the first nine minutes of the game. and this time, they held onto it. Two months ago, Kansas led Duke, 28-7, by 15 points in a regular-season game before losing in overtime.

"We hung together and competed. and that's why we're here," Kansas Coach Larry Brown said.

Duke's point guard, Quin Snyder, said the difference in the two games was consistency.

"I think in the first game Kansas

Oklahoma not slowed down by King's foul trouble in beating Arizona, 86-78

KANSAS CITY, Mo (AP) -Harvey Grant picked up the slack when Stacey King picked up his fourth foul and Oklahoma resorted to a zone defense to pick up the pressure.

The fourth-ranked Sooners beat No. 2 Arizona, 86-78, Saturday night to set up an all-Big Eight final with unranked Kansas, a team they beat twice this season, on Monday night, Grant and King each scored 21 points to offset 31 by Arizona All-American Sean Elliot and led the Sooners. 35-3 and the nation's second-highest scoring team at 104 points per game.

King wasn't around for the game's final nine minutes, but Grant was there to fuel the offense while the Sooners were confounding Arizona with first a press and then a matchup zone defense, something they used "less than 10 percent of the time this season." according to Coach Billy Tubbs.

King, a 6-10 junior center and the Sooners' leading scorer at 22.9 and the NCAA tournament's leading scorer with 135 points in five games. was charged with his fourth foul with 9:16 remaining and Oklahoma leading, 58-49. "I told my teammates that if Stacey got in foul trouble. I'll pick up the slack," said Grant, who also had 10 rebounds. "I give all my credit to Stacey for going out and getting all the fouls. King said he wasn't worried when he went out. We know if I get in foul trouble. Harvey will take over." King said of the Sooners' second-leading scorer this season at 21.1. "We'll play any way it takes to get the job done." said Tubbs, who has said repeatedly that 100 points is his team's magic number.

Elliott We were having trouble stopping their penetration. It seemed to disrupt them a bit. It looked like the thing to do.

Arizona was taken out of its game by the Sooners as the Wildcats committed 15 turnovers, nine in the first half, after averaging just 12 per game this season.

Arizona was also far from its usual three-point shooting team as it made just six of 23 compared with a season percentage of 49.

Arizona's Steve Kerr who made 60 percent of his three-point attempts during the season, was just 2 of 13 from the field, 2 of 12 on threepointers

"I'm the guy who's supposed to shoot down the zone," Kerr said. "I made about 30 in a row in warmups. Maybe I used them all up

The Sooners seemed to take command of the game with an 11-0 run in the first half and they led. 39-27, at halftime

"They do that to a lot of people." Arizona Coach Lute Olson said. "I think it's typical of their year and We had some typical of our year tremendous runs this year. too. Obviously, they had more runs than we did

"I think their inside people really hurt us." Olson said. "We made so many mistakes under their pressure. They did a great job of getting the ball inside. They play great defense. The better team won, no question about that. They were quicker than we WETE But the Wildcats, 35-3, got within 51-48 with 12 51 left on a three-point play by Elliott, the All-American forward who led the Wildcats with 31 points played well at times, but didn't sustain it," Snyder said. "Today, they played better for the whole game."

Ferry scored the first six points in a 13-2 run that cut Kansas' margin to 51-46 with 9:28 to play. Duke got the lead down to 55-52 with six straight points, four by Ferry, with 4:17 to play and again cut it to three on a basket by Snyder with 2:29 left.

Scooter Barry hit two free throws, Newton hd one and Kevin Pritchard scored twice more from the foul line (Please see KANSAS/D2)

FV splits; Gibson homers in Dodgers' 7-2 victory Anteaters Edison

swept

Fountain Valley High's baseball team came close to sweeping a doubleheader from Rolling Hills Saturday, but the Barons had to settle for a split with a 12-3 win in the second game.

The Barons lost the first game, 3-2, when Steve Grack was thrown out at the plate in the seventh inning. In the second game, David Schautschick's two-run'single in the second inning ignited a seven-run outburst, and Jeff Hale and Craig Lane combined on a four-hitter, with Hale (1-2) getting the win.

Schautschick, Jeff Watts, Jeff Higbee and George Hoffstaetter each had two hits for Fountain Valley (6-7). in that game.

In the first game, Rolling Hills scored three runs in the sixth, but the Barons' countered with two in the scventh on a two-out, two-run homer by Mark Dodd. Following the homer, Grack reached second on a bunt and error but was thrown out trying to score on a single by Higbee. Fountain Valley starter Steve Montgomery (2-4) and Lane held Rolling Hills to only four hits, but the Baron's also had four hits and just one through the first six innings.

In another prep twin bill: Valescia 8-7, Edison 7-6: The host Tigers swept the non-league doubleheader with the help of a couple final-inning runs and 11 Edison errors.

In the first game, Edison trailed, 7-1, after two innings but scored twice in the third and evened things up on a three-run homer by Mark Whitcher in the fourth.

Both teams failed to score again, unitl Valencia ended the game with a run in the ninth. The Chargers (5-5-1) committed seven errors in the first

LOS ANGELES - Kirk Gibson drove in two runs with a sacrifice fly and his first home run of spring training, and Mike Marshall extended his hitting streak to 10 games with a tie-breaking double Saturday night as the Dodgers beat the Angels, 7-2, in exhibition baseball.

In each of the Waves' victories in singles, the decisions came in straight sets. Only Mike Briggs, a product of Corona del Mar High. could prevent a sweep in that department as he defeated David Wells-Roth, 2-6, 7-6, 6-3

"They took us to school and taught us a lesson." said a disap-pointed UCI Coach Greg Patton. hose sixth-ranked Anteaters fell to 17-4. "I was hoping for three points in singles from No. 3 through No. 6, but when they won at five and six, that was basically

He'll send Witt to the mound

for opener against White Sox

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox launch their 88th American League campaign against the Angels Monday, but the usual Opening Day pageantry is surrounded by rumbling and grumbling. The rumbling comes from the Dan Ryan Expressway, undergoing a two-year repair job. The Dan Ryan lies on the eastern boundary of Comiskey Park and is the main traffic artery to the parking lots. The renovation project is expected to have an adverse effect on attendance.

The grumbling is from team owners who have yet to see ground broken on a new ball park that has been promised to take the place of the crumbling, 78-year-old edifice, which opened in 1910 as "The Baseball Palace of the World."

White Sox chairman Jerry Reinsdorf said nearly $20 million has been spent in a losing battle to keep the old ball park in shape since 1981 when he and Eddie Einhorn headed a group that purchased the team for $19 million.

But some oppose the new park because it will displace some residents and others favor renovating the old structure — something the White Sox owners claim is impossible because of the advanced stages of deterioration.

The issue is hot - reports have even circulated that the White Sox are considering a move to St. Petersburg.

Fla., where a new ball park is under construction. But for one day, Opening Day, all those problems will be set aside. That's what Opening Day is all about. A crowd of over 30,000 is expected and the forecast is for sunny skies with the temperature in the mid-50s.

Cookie Rojas, who succeeded Gene Mauch a couple of weeks ago, will be making his managerial debut with the Angels and has named right-hander Mike Witt, 16-14 last year, as his starting pitcher. Witt has a 10-6 lifetime record against the White Sox.

Chicago Manager Jim Fregosi will counter with lefthander Rick Horton, who was acquired from the St. Louis Cardinals in the Jose DeLeon trade. Horton, used mainly in relief last year, had an 8-3 record with seven saves.

But before they throw a pitch, there will be the Opening Day ceremonics.

Bonnie Blair, the Olympic gold medal-winning speedskater from Champaign, Ill., will throw out the ceremonial first pitch and the Boy Scouts of America will add to the "Olympic Salute" by covering both baselines with flags of other countries while the video scoreboard runs Olympic highlight clips.

Besides Horton, the White Sox will have two new faces in the lineup. Rookie Lance Johnson, acquired with Horton from the Cardinals, will be in center field and Dan Pasqua, who came from the New York Yankees in the Richard Dotson trade, will start in left field.

The Angels will have only one new face in the starting lineup - free agent Chili Davis in right field. Devon White moves to center and former second baseman Johnny Ray has shifted to left field to make room for Mark McLemore.

Wally Joyner will be at first, Dick Schofield at short and Jack Howell at third. Bob Boone will do the catching and Brian Downing is the designated hitter.

Head coach, two assistants nabbed scalping tickets

From The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - The head basketball coach at Iowa Wesleyan and assistant coaches at Montana State and North Dakota were among 14 people arrested for allegedly scalping tickets to the NCAA

Final Four. The coaches were arrested by undercover officers at or near their hotels Friday. They were identified as Jerry Olson of Mount Pleasant, Iowa; Ron Anderson of Bozeman, Month and Don Rockstad of Grand Forks. N.D.

Police said they did not know if the tickets that police confiscated from the coaches Friday were from the block of 2,400 seats given to the National Association of Basketball Coaches.

Coaches found scalping tickets given to them by the NABC stand to lose their ticket privileges for future games, NABC President Eddie Sutton said Saturday.

Sutton, in a brief telephone interview from his Kansas City hotel room, refused to discuss the arrests of the head coach of Iowa Wesleyan, and assistant coaches from Montana State University and the University of North Dakota.

"I can just tell you the ticket policy," said Sutton. who is the head coach at Kentucky. "The NABC board has a policy that anyone caught selling their tickets loses their ticket privileges in the future."

Another man arrested Friday identified himself to police as an assistant college basketball coach. Maj. William Frazier of the police department's fraud and fugitive division said he would not release the name of the man until he is arraigned early this week.

Tickets of those arrested were confiscated and will be held by the police as evidence for trials.

Rockstad, Anderson and Olson, as well as most of the others arrested, were released on $500 bond. If convicted, they face sentences of 60 days in jail and $500 fines.

The face value of one ticket is $50, but police said they had agreed to pay between $300 and $700 to the scalpers. Police made their first arrest Thursday night and 13 more on Friday. Frazier said him, Newsday reported today. In a the first installment of a copyright two-part series the newspaper said that Luchnick, who lives in San Antonio and has an office in Houston, paid the coaches with the understanding that they were to keep some of the money and that some of it was to go to players.

Lady Techsters in the Tacoma Dome. "It doesn't mean anything," Barmore said at a news conference. "In fact, I didn't even know that. There are some things you don't even think about. That Leon's teams, but these kids weren't involved in those games," Ciampi said. "They don't even know about the 0-3 record.

Manning scored four points in a six-point Kansas run that put the Jayhawks ahead 24-6 at the midway mark of the first half.

This time, the Jayhawks held an 11point lead at the half. 38-27, and refused to allow the stubborn Blue Devils to finish their comeback.

Actually, Manning refused. Duke pulled within 24-14 after a run of eight in a row, including a three-

> KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) -Oklahoma sent Arizona to the cleaners Saturday night and the Wildcats came back pressed - right out of the Final Four.

> The Sooners used a stifling pressing defense to confound Arizona and turn around an early deficit for an 86-78 victory that carried them to Monday night's title game against Kansas.

Arizona had shot in front, 9-2, when the Sooners stole consecutive in-bounds passes for layups by Stacey King and Dave Sieger. The next thing Arizona knew, Oklahoma was in the middle of 13-2 spurt and was leading. 31-19

"They play great defense," Arizona Coach Lute Olson said of a Sooners' team that led the nation in offense.

"They have a tremendous full-court press and they challenge everything. It's not over when you get past the mid-court line, either."

After the Sooners' press had softened up Arizona, Oklahoma spiced it with some selective zones and forced the Wildcats into their game.

"We will play whatever it takes to win," Oklahoma Coach Billy Tubbs said. "It disrupted them a bit. It seemed like the thing to do."

They were the same old Sooners on offense, flirting with 100 points again. King and Horace Grant led Oklahoma with 21 points apiece and King managed that without playing for the last nine minutes of the game because of foul trouble.

When King picked up his fourth ersonal, the score was 58-49. Andre iley replaced him with no noticeable falloff in production. So the Sooners star sat the rest of the way.

"We were saving Stacey for the last three or four minutes," Tubbs said.

"Wiley was playing pretty good. You hate to break it up when you have a good thing going. What we had in there was working. If it was a one or two point game, you would have seen him in there."

It never got that close so King stayed where he was. That was fine with Arizona's Sean Elliott, who scored 31 points but had his hands full with Oklahoma's big men.

"Those guys are obviously horses on the inside," he said. "We haven't faced an inside combination like that Il season.

"The thing we wanted to do was get King in foul trouble, but when we did, Wiley came in and just played a tremendous game. You have to give him a lot of credit."

"If it had kept going the way it was, it probably would have ended 82-20," Duke Coach Mike Krzyzewski said. "They came out and attacked us really well. I wish we got off to a better it couldn't recover start. We were very tentative early. "You can't be tentative and play

"This is as good as I can play," Alcott said in describing her second and third rounds. "It feels really good. This is what it is all about.

"It's hard when you get to the point you are hitting it so good that it's boring. I try not to think about it. I try to keep my concentration

You just know you better enjoy it because we all know it is not always there."

Alcott then touched on a bit of sadness and also spoke of her future (after golf).

"I would like to win this one for Ann Paulson who is a friend of mine," she added. "She's 25 and a young. beautiful girl who is going through hell with colon cancer.

"I told her dad, Dr. Richard Paulson, that my first tournament win this year would be for Ann to give her strength.

Alcott then turned to the dogs. "I enjoy being in the white lights. My first love in life is Scottish Terriers and I eventually want to show dogs. Someday I'm going to be a celebrity judge at the Westminster dog show." Alcott shot identical nines of 33 on Saturday.

"Thirty-three is a good number for a 32-year-old." she

Lyle passes Sluman to lead by three

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) - Sandy Lyle surged past struggling Jeff Sluman and took a three-stroke lead Saturday after three rounds of the $1 million Greater Greensboro Open golf tournament. Lyle, a husky Scot who won this title in 1986, came from two shots off the pace with a 4-under-par 68 and tied the tournament scoring record for 54 holes at 199, 17 under par.

"I don't think I could have squeezed much more out of the round," said Lyle a former British Open champion who is seeking his second victory of the year on the American Tour.

Sluman, who led through the first two rounds, slipped to a 73. He takes a 202 total into today's final round of the chase for a $180,000 first prize.

Ken Green moved into third place at 204 after a 69. Scott Hoch was next at 72-206.

Dr. Gil Morgan and Donnie Hammond were at 207, eight shots off the pace: Morgan, who hasn't finished lower than eighth this season, shot 71. Hammond had a

No one else was within 10 shots of the leader.

Lyle, a winner at Phoenix earlier this year and winner of more than 20 international titles, needed only two holes to overtake Sluman.

Lyle lofted his approach to within six feet of the flag and made the birdie putt on the first hole. He reached the par-5 second in two and 2-putted for another birdie that tied it.

He went ahead when Sluman, playing with him in the last group on the Forest Oaks Country Club course, missed the green and bogeyed the fifth.

They went along with pars until Sluman's 6-iron shot bounced over the green and he bogeyed the 12th, giving Lyle a two-stroke advantage. It went to three on the 16th when Lyle hit a 180-yard shot from a fairway bunker to within 15 feet of the cup and made the birdie putt.

Some familiar faces have changed places

A number of major changes featured as baseball opens

By BEN WALKER

Kirk Gibson, Jack Clark and Lee Smith signal a year of familiar faces in new places while spring's high hopes turn to reality Monday when Roger Clemens throws the first pitch of the 1988 baseball season.

The Dodgers, New York Yankees and Baltimore Orioles all made major changes during the winter with Bob Welch, Brett Butler and Danny Jackson among those others who switched leagues.

The Minnesota Twins, trying to become the first World Series champion to repeat since the 1977-78 Yankees, stood pat. The only changes they made came in the financial department - they now have seven million-dollar players, the most in the major leagues. "I think 'repeat' is the most hated word around here," Twins outfielder Tom Brunansky said. "That's all everyone asks us about.

In Boston, they are asking whether Clemens can become the first pitcher to win three straight Cy Young awards. He will begin that effort awards. He will begin that effort Monday at 1:05 p.m. EDT when Detroit and starter Jack Morris face the youthful Red Sox at Fenway Park in the first game of the year. "We're probably a better ballclub than we were in 1986," Boston Manager John McNamara said, refer-ring to the Red Sox team that came within one strike of winning the World Series. "It's a different type of club, by design. It's taken us three years to change to what we wanted." The acquisition of Smith, a top reliever from the Chicago Cubs, was one of the changes made in the offseason.

Detroit, wiped out by Minnesota in the American League playoffs, will try to squeeze another year out of its veterans, now minus Gibson, who signed a free-agent contract with the Dodgers. The Tigers, as usual, had the worst record in the AL during spring training while looking at lots of youngsters.

Mario Soto, back from two years of injuries, will start for host Cincinnati an hour later against St. Louis in the traditional National League opener.

Soto was not expected to make the Reds roster when spring training began, but pitched himself into the opening-day assignment. Joe Ma-grane will start for the NL champion Cardinals, the only team to reach the World Series three times this decade. The Reds are favored by many to win the NL West. They will have to fend off the Dodgers and NL West champion San Francisco, who play at Dodger Stadium in one of nine openci's Monday.

Company hoping to attract squad for spring training

From The Associated Press

The Disney Company announced Friday it has become an official corporate sponsor for Major League Baseball and that may only be the beginning.

There have been reports the Disney people are considering constructing a baseball complex near DisneyWorld in Orlando. Fla. and would like to bring in a major league team for spring training. Some of the Arizona teams — including the Chicago Cubs have been approached.

A three-year sponsor agreement was announced at a news conference at Walt Disney Studios by Com-missioner Peter, Ueberroth and Michael Eisner, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of the Walt Disney Company.

The first Disney programs at a major league ballpark are scheduled April 8-10 with the Chicago White Sox and will be followed by programs with the Houston Astros on April 29-30 and May 1; the Atlanta Braves on May 6-8, and the New York Yankees on May 13-14.

Each Disney appearance at those ballparks will include a pre-game entertainment spectacular, Disney souvenirs for every fan in attendance. and vacation trip giveaways to Dis-neyland and Disney World between each inning, it was announced.

Federated announces pact with Campeau, Macy

Acquisition is largest in U.S. not involving oil companies

By JOYCE M. ROSENBERG

NEW YORK - Campeau Corp. won its 2-monthold battle for Federated Department Stores Inc. on Friday, but R.H. Macy & Co. Inc., Campeau's rival for the nation's fifth largest retailer, will end up with two of Federated's divisions.

Campeau will acquire Federated for $73.50 a share, or a total of $6.58 billion. Campeau and Federated said in a statement.

Macy came away from the fight with the I. Magnin chain and the Bullock's and Bullock's-Wilshire operation, for which it would pay $1.1 billion, the statement said.

The acquisition would be the fifth largest corporate takeover in U.S. history, and the largest deal not involving oil companies

The purchase of the two divisions would give Macy an expanded presence in California and the Southwest. Most of Macy's nearly 100 department and specialty have made a prudent decision. stores are in the eastern half of the country. Campeau, a Toronto-based real estate developer that Campeau is expected to sell off Federated's supermarket, discount store and specialty store chains including Ralphs supermarkets in Southern California, as well as some of its department store chains. The Canadian company previously agreed to sell the Foley's and Filene's department stores to May Department Stores Co. if it won the fight for Federated. Walter Loeb, a retail industry analyst with the investment firm Morgan Stanley & Co., predicted Goldsmith's department stores also would go on the block

He said Campeau likely would retain "the core companies that made Federated" - Bloomingdale's. Lazarus and Abraham & Straus.

Federated also owns Burdine's and Rich's department stores.

Macy agreed to terminate a merger agreement it reached with Federated last month. The definitive agreement signed by the three companies also calls for Macy to be paid $60 million for its expenses in the takeover fight.

Edward S. Finkelstein, Macy's chairman, said his company was pleased with the outcome and believed "we also owns Allied Stores Corp. in the United States, won Federated following two meetings of the retailer's board this week.

Campeau's offer was expected to remain open until April 14, subject to the company's obtaining financing commitments, but it might be extended until May 12.

Friday's deal ran along the lines of the "lockup" agreement between Macy and Federated last month, which gave Macy the right to buy Bullock's and Magnin if the two companies' merger fell through. After Campeau bought Allied in 1986, it sold off most of Allied's store divisions to pay off debt, and ever since Campeau launched its bid on Jan. 25, analysts have predicted the same fate would befall Federated.

'I'm sad about the fact that a fine department store like Federated is being split up and decimated," Loeb

During his battle for Federated, Campeau Chairman Robert Campeau announced he would sell another Allied division, Brooks Brothers, to the British retailer Marks and Spencer PLC if he acquired Federated.

Many analysts have said Campeau wanted Federated because it provided a foothold into shopping malls.

Federated management had sided with Macy in the belief the company's future as a retailer would be more secure

Before Friday's meeting, Macy had offered to buy Federated for $6.73 billion, while Campeau bid $6.62 billion

Campeau's winning bid was 50 cents-a-share less, but a source close to the negotiations said that the two offers were "roughly equivalent" for Federated stockholders because Campeau would be paying all the money at once under Friday's agreement. Macy offered on Thursday to pay $78.92 a share in cash for 80 percent of Federated's 89.5 million outstanding shares. It offered to pay $60 in cash or exchange five shares in the merged company, Macy's-Federated Inc., for each remaining Federated share. That would have produced a deal with an aggregate value of $75.14 a share Federated stock closed at $72.871/2 a share on the New York Stock Exchange on Thursday. The stock market was closed for Good Friday.

Federated had reached a merger agreement with Macy on March 2 but reopened the bidding after Campeau, a Canadian real estate developer, raised its offer last week.

Computer solutions found at International Spectrum

Anaheim exposition visitors saw what is available today

By ILENE SCHNEIDER

Many computer software and hardware manufacturers purport to have the ideal solution to a given businessperson's problem. Unfortunately, the busi-nessperson often hears the frustrating words, "but it won't run on anyone else's computer.

A San Diego-based company. International Database Management Association Inc. (IDBMA), has come up with a real solution to that problem. It created International Spectrum, a worldwide annual series of expositions and conferences for business computer-users. Every system - every piece of hardware and software shown - is compatible with every other system on the floor. Attendees can shop for solutions rather than computers.

The most recent exposition, held in Anaheim last week, offered more than 100,000 square feet of exhibits and demonstrations of modern and innovative business computer solutions. The show floor featured computer hardware built by such computer giants as IBM. Digital Equipment Corp., NCR. Honeywell, Altos, NEC. Prime, Fujitsu and others, as well as hundreds of proven applications for today's business and government computer-users.

International Spectrum has become the businessperson's favorite computer show all over the world." said Gus Giobbi, founder and chairman of its sponsoring

"This is the seventh annual event in the United States, but the first time it's been held in California, where the show was conceived and where world headquarters for Spectrum is located. That's one of the reasons we wanted this homecoming to be our best show ever."

Giobbi explained that International Spectrum is not a computer show or a computer trade show.

"It's a businessperson's computer show, with demonstrations of hundreds and hundreds of solutions developed by computer manufacturers, consultants, value-added dealers, software publishers and even computer-users themselves," he said. "It's a once-a-year opportunity for people who need to use computers in business, or who want to modernize and computerize, to see first-hand and hands-on what's available right now."

Using Solution Finder symbols in the show directory and on exhibits, attendees are able to easily identify the types of applications and solutions being demonstrated.

They can find the widest range of applications shown under a single roof, according to Giobbi. Attendees also had the chance to meet tomorrow's computer stars at The Ware-House, a testing ground of new products from budding entrepreneurial companies. The attendees could browse through the International Spectrum bookstore, a collection of books, manuals, magazines, newsletters, directories and workbooks. Many of the authors were on hand for the occasion.

IDBMA produces the annual exhibitions all over the world, publishes computer magazines in the United States and various other countries, publishes a technical journal with worldwide circulation and offers an annual business software catalog.

Pricing rebates extended forcars By JANET BRAUNSTEIN

DETROIT - Chrysler Corp. says it will offer a $750 rebate or discount loan financing on its slow-selling new Eagle Premier, while General Motors Corp. said it was extending its buyer incentive program on certain Buick and Oldsmobile models.

Chrysler's new rebate program takes effect Friday and will continue indefinitely. The rebate or annual rates of 8.8 percent on loans of up to 72 months may be applied to purchases or leases of the Canadianbuilt car.

Eagle is a brand-new nameplate and customers are still unsure what it stands for," Chris Cedergren, analyst with J.D. Power and Associates in suburban Los Angeles. said Thurs-

'New models, when they are introduced in a market full of incentives, need incentives on them now to draw attention," he added. Otherwise, buyers ignore the new cars and look for models bearing sale tags, he said.

"Premier needed a level playing field. It has a chance to compete now because it has incentives on it." Cedergren said. William Hoglund, a GM vice president and executive in charge of its Buick-Oldsmobile-Cadillac group. made similar comments earlier last week about GM's new Buick Regal. Despite pricing that GM considered low for a new model, Regal's sales were disappointing until early March, when GM offered optionpackage discounts of up to $900 on the car, Hoglund said. Last Thursday, Buick and Olds-mobile extended incentives scheduled to expire April 15 until May 11, following a similar step by Chevrolet. Buick extended rebates ranging from $400 to $750 on four models and option-package discounts on six models including Regal. Oldsmobile extended similar rebates on four models and option discounts on six models. As of March 20, Chrysler had sold only 5,086 Premier models since the car's introduction late last year, including 4,894 during 1988. Cedergren said Chrysler had expected Premier to take off slowly. On the GM products, Buick rebates include $400 on Skylark and $750 on Century, LeSabre and Electra-Park Avenue. Cars must be delivered by May 11. Rebates may be used as down payments or taken in cash. Oldsmobile rebates include $400 on Calais and Cutlass Calais and $750 on Cutlass Ciera, Delta 88 and Ninety-Eight.

BUSINESS NOTES

Health service firms report quarter, annual profits up

From Daily Pilot wire reports

Laguna Hills-based Community Psychiatric Centers has announced that earnings per share for the first quarter of its fiscal year ended Feb. 29, 1988, were 37 cents compared with 32 cents for the first quarter of the prior year, a 15.6 percent increase.

Total revenues, net carnings and average shares outstanding for the first quarter of 1988 were $81,626,000. $16,836,000 and 45,946.000, respectively, compared with $68,421,000, $14,686,000, and 45.288,000 for the first quarter of the prior year.

CPC owns and operates a chain of acute psychiatric hospitals. It also provides alcoholic treatment services, operates a chain of kidney dialysis centers, and owns a home health care services business. These facilities are located primarily in the western and southeastern United States and in the United Kingdom.

American Health Services Corp., a Newport Beach-based operator of outpatient diagnostic imaging centers, has announced its financial results of operations for the year ended Dec. 31, 1987.

Revenues for the year were $5,675,000, compared with the previous year's revenues of $3,830,000, an increase of 48 percent. According to American Health's percent to $3,017,355 from president, S. Lewis Meyer, "With the $1,818,267 in 1986. Oil and gas sales addition of five new center operations in the fourth quarter and more centers in various stages of development, we should be able to significantly improve upon our growth of the last two years."

Income from center operations (after provision for profit distribu-tion) increased 47 percent to $647,507 for the year ended Dec. 31. 1987, compared with $439,665 for the previous year. American Health reported a net operating loss for the year ended Dec. 31, 1987, of $4,951,700. This loss includes $2.612,600 in expenses incurred as a result of American Health's investment in the clinical research and development of Trans-Cranial Electrostimulation Therapy (TCET), for which the exclusive domestic license was acquired by the company in January 1987. Corporate operating expense, at year-end, was adversely affected by center pre-opening expenses without the benefit of offsetting revenue and income from those new centers.

Seahawk Oil International Inc., an independent oil and gas exploration company in Newport Beach, reported last Thursday its results for the year ended Dec. 31, 1987.

Revenues for the year increased 66 increased 70 percent from $1,374,303 in 1986 to $2,344,946 this year. Seahawk had a net loss of $671,362, or 11 cents per share, for the year, compared to a loss of $3,953,563, or 72 cents per share in 1986.

In Laguna Hills Heidi's Frogen Yozurt Shoppes Inc. has announced that conditions of its master franchise agreement with Nissin Sugar Manufacturing Co. Ltd. and C. Itoh Metals & Materials Co. Ltd. of Tokyo have been met, under which Nissin and C. Itoh will develop up to 353 Heidi's Frogen Yozurt Shoppes in Japan.

Because the initial franchise fee of $800,000 will be recognized as income in March, the company expects that operations for the quarter ending March 31 will be profitable.

President Heidi A. Miller commented, "We are fortunate to be able to cross-promote the introduction, by still another company, of the Heidi Miller's Hard Body Fitness Bar in Japan. In fact, in mid-April two television commercials will begin airing emphasizing Heidi's winning commitment to health and fitness."

Option-package discounts are available on all rebate models as well as Buick Regal and Skyhawk and Oldsmobile Cutlass Supreme and Toronado.

Market's quarter grade: Not bad

By CHET CURRIER

NEW YORK - The stock market spent the first three months of 1988 healing some of the wounds it suffered last fall.

But as the end of the quarter arrived on Thursday, it was still suffering from the aftereffects of the crunch that culminated on Black Monday Oct. 19.

By holding a moderate but steady pace of growth, the economy has done its part so far to reassure investors that the crash wasn't an immediate harbinger of a recession or worse. Yet many frightened analysts and investors seem reluctant to put much credence in the favorable news, reasoning that the market last fall foresaw something that hasn't yet become visible to the naked eye.

If the economy isn't going to slide immediately into a recession, the pessimists argue, then it might be heating up so much that the Federal Reserve will be forced to tighten credit, inducing a business slump later on.

The confusion that reigns in the marketplace is illustrated by the two worst-performing stock groups in the first quarter through March 23, as calculated by Standard & Poor's Corp. Gold mining stocks suffered the biggest decline, falling 8.9 percent, presumably reflecting a drop in inflationary expectations

But savings and loan holding companies, down 7.5 percent, seemed to be signaling expectations of rising interest rates prompted by increased inflationary pressures.

Still, analysts at some of Wall Street's biggest brokerage firms describe the touchy, cautious mood of investors as a significant plus for the market outlook over the next few months at least.

We doubt if a medium-term top in the market will be made amid alternating worries about a too strong or too weak economy." maintains Phil Roth, a technical analyst at Shearson Lehman Hutton Inc.

"These worries keep buying power on the sidelines and enhance the market's technical position. It is more likely that a real top will be made when investors are actively buying stock despite real fundamental worries." At Merrill Lynch, chief market analyst Robert Farrell contends, "We think the market has shown unusual underlying strength in light of the trauma of last Octobe

"Most of the flaws and concern seem to be part of the wall of worry that strong advances need to keep going." The market made some grudging progress in the past week, which was cut to four sessions by the Good Friday holiday. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials rose 9.11 to 1,988.06, closing out the first quarter with a net gain of 49.23 points.

Other readings for the week showed the NYSE's composite index up 0.02 at 146.60; the NASDAQ composite index for the over-thecounter market up 2.10 at 374.64, and the American Stock Exchange market value index up 1.77 at 296.43.

Volume on the Big Board averaged 146:80 million shares a day, against 157.26 million the week before.

Edward Yardeni, economist Prudential-Bache Securities, has been a vocal optimist lately, arguing that steady growth is possible for the next several years.

He contends that the markets, in particular the bond market, now exert a powerful degree of discipline over economic conditions.

"Economywide recessions are unlikely to occur in the future," he argues. "Rolling recessions that are limited to certain industries and sectors of the country are more likely to occur. "Market forces will keep the economy from booming. So it won't develop the excesses which typically set the stage for an economywide

"Global competitive pressures are intense and will keep a lid on wage and price inflation. Such a scenario should be bullish for stocks and bonds."
