Residents win noise suit victory

Judge refuses to remove state from case clearing the way for possible settlement

By BOB VAN EYKEN
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Costa Mesa residents fighting a court battle over noise and traffic at Pacific Amphitheatre have won a partial victory and may be close to a settlement with the Orange County Fair Board, which administers the arena, the residents' attorney said Friday.

The residents' group, Concerned Citizens of Costa Mesa, filed suit in January of 1984 against the state of California, represented by the Fair Board, and Ned West Associates, which manages the amphitheater.

The board attempted Thursday to have its portion of the lawsuit, which mainly concerns traffic congestion, dismissed.

But Superior Court Judge Richard J. Beacom denied the motion.

Richard Spix, attorney for Concerned Citizens, said the state had become more interested in settling out of court since losing its bid to get out of the lawsuit.

"We're closer now than we've ever been," said Spix. "I'm hopeful and excited about the potential for settlement."

If the judge had granted the state's motion to be let out of the case, it would have closed the door on residents' concerns over traffic congestion at the amphitheater, Spix said.

"If you let the state out, there goes any chance of getting anything like a solution to the traffic," he said. "My knees were knocking Thursday when the judge was deciding. I was worried."

Russ Millar, a member of Concerned Citizens, agreed with Spix that traffic is a key issue in the suit.

"Of course it's a major issue, and we were very impressed by the zeal of the people who are affected by it and who testified concerning it," he said. "We're pleased that the judge denied the motion. There does seem to be a correlation between the denial and the prospects for settlement."

Pacific Amphitheatre is located on the Orange County Fairgrounds, and part of the traffic problem, Spix said, is that the Fair Board permits concerts to be held during seven of the 10 days in July when the fair is on.

He said he hoped any settlement would include a ban on concerts during the fair.

"Ned West is fighting that," he said. "That would be a major gap in Court allows trapping of foxes

Judge bans other forms of control in Bolsa Chica marsh

By ROBERT BARKER
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

A partial truce in the state's war against red foxes in the Bolsa Chica marshlands was declared Friday.

State employees can continue trapping the sly predators, but shotguns and poison is off limits until a suit against the state Department of Fish and Game is settled.

For several years, red foxes have trotted down from the bluffs and swam to two small islands in the Bolsa Chica marshlands to feast on eggs laid by the California least tern. The foxes wiped out so many nests that state Fish and Game officials launched a trapping program to stave off impending doom for the small shore bird, which has been on state and federal endangered species lists since 1970.

So far this year, officials have trapped and killed 12 foxes. But the campaign caused an uproar from members of the Animal Lovers Volunteer Association Inc. of Orange County, which filed a lawsuit to stop the slaughter.

Superior Court Commissioner Eleanor M. Palk issued an order Friday that temporarily blocks the state from using shotguns and poison in the battle with the foxes. But she said department employees can continue trapping foxes until a court hearing is scheduled on whether all eradication programs should be stopped. The hearing is scheduled July 19.

Palk turned down a bid by Hal Baerg to build an electric fence around the nesting areas or to have people monitor and protect the nests. Baerg is a member of the Animal Lovers group and a resident of Huntington Beach.

Baerg also claimed that other predators may be devouring the least

FV man sentenced in wife's murder

Terry Hannum gets 32 years to life for gunning down wife at auto dealership

By JONATHAN VOLZKE
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

A Fountain Valley man convicted of shooting his wife to death in 1984 was sentenced Friday to 32 years-to-life in prison.

Terry Hannum, 56, gunned down his wife of 10 years in front of a Westminster auto dealership in a moment of anger after learning that she was having an affair.

He was convicted after a week-long Newport Beach trial before Superior Court Judge Robert C. Todd.

Witnesses in the trial said the Hannum and his wife had matching Trans-Am sports cars and serviced the cars regularly at the Beach Boulevard dealership. In July 1894, however, the couple became embroiled in a heated argument at the dealership.

Gary Pursley, a service representative at the dealership, said he stepped outside the dealership after hearing a gunshot and saw Shirley Hannum running wounded from the car.

Pursley said he then saw Terry Hannum step from the car and raise a .38-caliber revolver "down in the killing position," and fire again at his fleeing wife, knocking her to the pavement.

Hannum fled in his wife's car, which was found in a nearby shopping center parking lot. He was arrested in North Carolina in 1985 when a woman he was dating there told police he had broken into her apartment after a fight.

Police investigated, and Hannum was taken into custody after a six-hour standoff that ended when Hannum shot himself in the chest. Although in critical condition immediately after the shooting, he recovered and was extradicted to Orange County for trial.

Deputy Public Defender Jeff Lund, who defended Hannum, and Deputy District Attorney Doug Woodsmall, the prosecutor, were unavailable for comment.

Judge refuses to drop murder charges in copter collision case

By ROBERT HYNDMAN
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Superior Court Judge John Ryan refused to drop murder charges Friday against the Anaheim man police helicopters were chasing just before the choppers collided, killing three people.

Ryan disagreed with defense attorneys who argued there was insufficient evidence to support the second-degree murder charges against Vincent Acosta. And following the brief morning hearing in Santa Ana, Ryan set July 13 as the date for Acosta's Superior Court trial.

But defense attorney Ronald Klar, who filed the motion to dismiss the charges, said it's unlikely the trial will start on that date. He and fellow defense attorney William Kelley intend to appeal Ryan's decision to the 4th District Court of Appeal.

If so, it will be their third attempt to have the charges dropped. Even before Friday's hearing, Municipal Court Judge James Brooks ruled that Acosta must stand trial on three counts of second-degree murder.

"It is pretty clear that he was trying to get away at all costs, without regard to the cost in human lives," Brooks said during the March preliminary hearing. "The helicopters wouldn't have been up there if it weren't for the defendant."

Acosta, 20, is suspected of leading police on a high-speed chase on March 10, 1987, after being spotted in a stolen car. The pursuit included the use of police helicopters, and it was when a copter from Costa Mesa was turning the chase over to a Newport Beach Police helicopter that the two collided over an Irvine field.

Huntington Beach man shot by police

By JONATHON VOLZKE
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

A 23-year-old Huntington Beach man was shot in the stomach by police early Friday after he allegedly stole a car at knifepoint in Santa Ana and led officers on a brief chase, authorities reported.

Jeffrey Duane Silvey was listed in stable condition at Fountain Valley Regional Hospital with a single gunshot wound following the 12:30 a.m. incident, said Santa Ana Police spokeswoman Maureen Thomas.

Thomas said the unarmed Silvey was shot after allegedly rushing a Santa Ana officer in Fountain Valley after a short chase. Thomas said.

Silvey allegedly took the car at 11:30 p.m. from Fifth Street and Harbor Boulevard. While the unidentified victim was giving police a report of the incident, Silvey allegedly drove past in the 1973 Mercury, she said.

A chase followed, and Silvey stopped at Lilac Avenue and Harbor Boulevard. But instead of surrendering to officers, he slammed the car into reverse, forcing the officers to jump out of the way, Thomas said.

Silvey then drove away, but crashed into a street divider at Lilac

Law enforcement coming down hard on illegal fireworks

Eight face felony charges after officials confiscate $75,000 worth of explosives

By BOB VAN EYKEN
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Fire investigators in Orange County and three neighboring counties have siezed $75,000-worth of illegal, explosive fireworks and made eight felony arrests during the past six weeks, county fire officials revealed Friday.

The massive, statewide undercover effort to halt the use of dangerous fireworks will continue over the weekend and more arrests and seizures are expected, according to Bruce Hunt, chief of investigations for Orange County.

The seized fireworks have filled 80 grocery sacks and 150 large cartons, said Patti Range, a county Fire Department spokeswoman.

"It was all kinds of things: bottle rockets, cherry bombs, fire crackers, M-80s, you name it," said Range.

Range said investigators were not releasing the names of those arrested on felony charges of importing illegal fireworks across state lines. She said most of the seized fireworks were either from Mexico or the Far East.

"These were not just people who went to Mexico and got a few fireworks to bring back," she said. "These were people who were heavily involved in the trade."

In addition to the felony arrests, investigators have made 10 misdemeanor arrests and issued numerous citations, Range said.

Illegal fireworks are any devices which fly through the air, move along the ground, or explode, she said. Those types of fireworks are banned throughout California, although some, such as bottle rockets, are available legally in other states.

Other kinds of fireworks, which

Mesa only Coast city to allow sales

By JONATHAN VOLZKE
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

You can find a fireworks stand every half-mile in Costa Mesa, on the average, at least.

But outside the city's limits and beyond the adjacent city of Santa Ana, those who wish to celebrate July Fourth with their own bang have to travel pretty far.

Costa Mesa is the only Orange Coast city that allows individuals to buy so-called safe and sane fireworks. Just seven other cities in Orange County — Santa Ana, Stanton, Garden Grove, Fullerton, Buena Park, Westminster and Fullerton — have yet to ban the sparklers, fiery cones and fountains.

Such fireworks are termed "safe and sane" by the state's fire marshal and are legal in the state and certain cities. Fireworks that fly or explode are illegal.

Fireworks opponents contend all displays are dangerous, while proponents contend the illegal fireworks are responsible for most of the damage caused every July.

Nevertheless, concerns about fire dangers and some extreme examples in Anaheim — where scores of families were homeless after a bottle-rocket sparked apartment fire in 1986 — and other parts of the county led city leaders to ban fireworks, except for professional shows.

But while that action may prevent fires, it has also burned the fund-raising hopes of non-profit groups that rely on profits from fireworks booths to bring in money.

Engineers try to stem flow of salt water on Mississippi

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Although salt water has moved up the drought-shrunken Mississippi River to within 17 miles of New Orleans, the Army Corps of Engineers still hopes a riverbottom dike will protect the city's water supply.

But a Louisiana State University professor says the salt water from the Gulf of Mexico could force its way to the New Orleans area by July 10 despite the Corps' efforts.

Work began Thursday on a $947,000 sand and clay barrier that will stretch 1,200 feet along the contours of the river bottom about 63 miles from where the river meets the Gulf of Mexico. The project is expected to take about a month.

The upper point of the saltwater wedge reached the Belle Chasse ferry landing Thursday, 17 miles downstream from New Orleans' Canal Street and about 15 miles past the dike that the Corps is building, spokesman Bruce Sossaman said Friday.

Salt water hugs the river bottom because it is heavier than fresh water. It is advancing upstream about 2 miles a day because the nation's worst drought in decades has weakened the Mississippi's flow so much that the river is not pushing the salt water back toward the Gulf as it normally does.

"The levee is not as good an idea as it was before," said Frederic Chatry, chief of the Corps' Engineering Division. "But we're not trying to solve the saltwater intrusion problem. We're just trying to mitigate the part of saltwater intrusion caused because we deepened Southwest Pass 5 feet ... last fall and winter."

To compensate for the saltwater's movement and to make up for lost time, the Corps might build the sand and clay sill slightly higher than in the original plans, Chatry said.

New Orleans and several other communities along the river get their drinking water from the Mississippi. But there is no need for New Orleans to panic, Sossaman said.

The first salt water to arrive will not perceptibly change the taste of the city's water supply, he said, and higher salinity levels that could occur later should not be hazardous, except to those under strict salt intake restrictions.

LSU professor emeritus Raphael Kazmann is not so optimistic. Kazmann predicts salt water in the Mississippi River will cause serious problems for New Orleans water users within a few weeks if current trends continue.

This year, salt water had moved as far upriver by the end of June as it reached on Oct. 8 in the severe drought of 1956, he said. The river is usually at its lowest point during the fall, which Kazmann said doesn't bode well for Louisiana this year.

Mild earthquake rattles desert

BORREGO SPRINGS (AP) — An earthquake rattled portions of the Southern California desert and was felt as far south as San Diego on Friday evening, but police had no immediate reports of injuries or damage.

The earthquake registered 4.1 on the Richter scale and was centered 23 miles southeast of Palm Springs in the vicinity of the town of Borrego Springs, said Steve Bryant, a seismic analyst at the California Institute of Technology in Pasadena.

"We've had no damage here, no calls at least. But we did feel the jolt. We've moved all our equipment out and we're ready for whatever happens," said David Born, a firefighter with Borrego Springs fire department.

A quake the magnitude of 4 can cuase moderate damage, but police stations throughout the desert reported no damage or injuries.

"It just rattled the windows a little bit. We could barely feel it, to tell you the truth," said Palm Springs police Officer Ruth Alvarez.

She said the earthquake was felt in the station at about 5:30 p.m.

Officials at KFMB-AM radio in San Diego said they began receiving calls from listeners at about 5:30 p.m. in all parts of San Diego county who had felt a quake.

A police dispatcher in Indio said that about 10 residents called to report a quake.

"It was just like a rolling feeling. It wasn't that strong," said police dispatcher Dan Montgomery.

The Richter scale is a gauge of the energy released by an earthquake as measured by the ground motion recorded on a seismograph. Every increase of one number means a tenfold increase in magnitude, or the height of quake-generated shock waves recorded on a seismograph.

Some experts say the actual amount of energy released may be 30 times greater.

An earthquake of 3.5 on the Richter scale can cause slight damage in the local area, 4 moderate damage, 5 considerable damage, 6 severe damage. A 7 reading is a "major" earthquake, capable of widespread heavy damage; 8 is a "great" quake, capable of tremendous damage.

The San Francisco earthquake of 1906, which occurred before the Richter scale was devised, has been estimated at 8.3 on the Richter scale.

Brush fire threatens homes

By The Associated Press

At least 100 acres of brush were consumed by a blaze that threatened a dozen homes in La Verne Friday and eight homes near Palmdale also were threatened by a wildfire that destroyed 75 acres, fire officials said.

Flames crawled close to the homes but there were no evacuations, property damage or injuries, authorities said.

The La Verne blaze erupted about 30 miles east of downtown Los Angeles at about 3:30 p.m. Firefighters were still trying to control the blaze nearly five hours later. The fire burned near the intersection of Live Oak Canyon Road and Summit Road.

Another brush fire was reported shortly after 4 p.m. at Juniper and 106th Sreet East near the high desert city of Palmdale about 60 miles northeast of downtown Los Angeles. It was doused 3½ hours later, said Los Angeles County Fire Capt. Terry Hart.

About 150 firefighters, two airplanes, a helicopter and more than a dozen engines were sent to prevent the blaze from burning the ranch-style houses, Hart said. Firefighters were aided by two bulldozers building a firebreak.

Winds blowing 15 to 20 mph hampered firefighting efforts Friday afternoon in La Verne, said county fire spokeswoman Diane Castro.

Up to 200 firefighters and two water-dropping helicopters battled the blaze, said Capt. Doug Ashby.

It was not immediately known how close the flames were to the 12 hillside homes located near Roughrider Road, Ms. Castro said.

"The engine companies are there right at the homes fighting the fire," said Lillian Estrella, a secretary for the La Verne Fire Department.

"The fire got real close," Ashby added. "Some homes were inhabited. A few of them were older structures with shake roofs. Some were newer, bigger homes." He was unsure how near the flames were to the structures.

The fire apparently began in La Verne and spread to the county area, said Inspector John Lenihan.

"The wind is dying down pretty good and we're getting the morning marine layer," Ashby said late Friday. "We're getting a line cut around it and we'll be working at it all night long."

two Newport officers were injured.

Acosta's attorneys maintain that their client could not have known of the danger the chase was posing to the helicopter occupants. Therefore they argue, charges of second-degree murder cannot be supported.

"There's no [illegible] whatsoever," Kelley said during the preliminary hearing. "At the time of the crash, the Costa Mesa helicopter was not even engaged in the chase any longer. Newport Beach was. So how do you link that with Acosta?"

Kelley said Acosta may be guilty of nothing more than stealing a car.

Prosecutors, as well as Judge Brooks, took a different position. Brooks said the dangerous conditions were created by Acosta, which makes him liable for the consequences.

The National Transportation Safety Board [illegible] the helicopter wreck, but did not determine the cause of the crash.

In a four-page report released this week by Costa Mesa Police Officer Dave Snowden, safety board investigator Jim Wells said the Newport Beach police officer was heading east, just south of the John Wayne Airport, when collided with the Costa Mesa helicopter.

Snowden maintains that his officers did nothing wrong.

A NTSB official said the final report is sent to Washington D.C. where [illegible] from the Federal Aviation Administration will determine the cause of the crash.

"I don't think the Newport Beach copter caused the wreck," he said.

bear the official seal of the state fire marshal, are permitted in many parts of the state, including parts of Orange County.

Eight of the county's 28 cities, including Costa Mesa, permit so-called "safe and sane" fireworks.

But even safe and sane fireworks are banned in the other cities and in all county unincorporated areas.

Range said police and fire officials would be patrolling the streets to discourage the use of illegal fireworks.

Possession of state-banned fireworks is punishable by a fine of $1,000 and up to six months in jail, or both.

Possession of safe and sane fireworks in areas where they are forbidden will probably not result in arrest or citation, Range said, although officials will confiscate the fireworks.

Lt. Rod Gillman said Fountain Valley police flooded the area with more than 10 officers, and helped Santa Ana officers surrounded the housing tract.

Less than 20 minutes later, a Santa Ana officer found Silvey and ordered him to the ground at gunpoint, Thomas said. Silvey did not comply immediately, but after briefly laying down he allegedly jumped to his feet and charged the Santa Ana officer, who fired one shot, Thomas said.

A knife allegedly was found in the car, but Silvey was not armed, she said.

District Attorneys' investigators are looking into the incident, a common practice in all officer-involved shootings, Thomas said.

WEATHER

Clouds to give way by afternoon

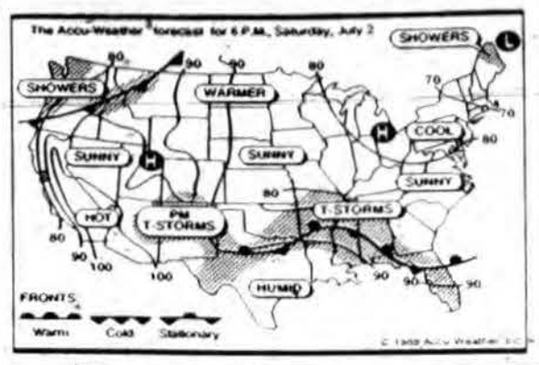

The forecast for the Coast calls for more of the same with the usual night and morning low clouds burning off by afternoon. Highs will be 68 to 75, lows 58 to 64.

In the mountains, expect variable clouds afternoon and evening hours with a slight chance of thundershowers. Otherwise it will be fair through Sunday with resort highs 82 to 88, lows 50 to 58.

In the deserts, there will be variable clouds during afternoon and evening hours.

Inner coastal waters: There will be light variable winds night and morning hours becoming west to southwest from 10 to 15 knots through the afternoon. Seas will be 2 feet with a southerly swell of 5 feet with occasional breakers of 7 feet on south facing beaches.

Outer coastal waters: Expect west to southwest winds from 10 to 15 knots through evening with 4-foot seas and a southwest swell of 8 feet.

MESA ONLY CITY TO ALLOW FIREWORKS...

From A1

"We sell fireworks at half-price to non-profit groups who man our booths, so they get a 50 percent profit," said Pam Zanelli, a spokeswoman for Pyrotronics Corp., in Anaheim. "They can usually count on $3,000 profit, as a minimum."

In Costa Mesa, a city of 15.2 square miles, there are 26 fireworks booths, run by groups ranging from the Coastline Chapter of B'nai B'rith Women to four booths run by Costa Mesa High School athletic boosters.

"Fireworks sales are our largest fund-raiser of the year," said Debbie Phillips of the Girls and Boys Club of Fountain Valley/Huntington Beach. She said the recreation and day care center raised several thousand dollars last year with two booths in Fountain Valley, but were forced to move to Costa Mesa when that city outlawed fireworks.

"Especially with the United Way cutting back what they're giving us, fireworks are very important to us."

City Manager Allan Roeder said the benefit to the non-profit groups is the chief reason the City Council decided against a fireworks ban.

Instead, he said, the city focused its efforts on fireworks education, producing pamphlets and even a videotape on safety. The videotape is shown on the city's cable television channel. The city worked with fireworks manufacturers on the safety lessons, Roeder said.

Fire Marshal Tom McDuff said fireworks booths are closely inspected by city fire officials and operators must follow super-strict regulations geared toward safety. The rules include mandatory distances from buildings, streets and sidewalks and ensure that someone is at the booth around the clock. The laws also mandate posted "no smoking" signs and fire extinguishers.

Additionally, teams of police and fire officials roam the city, looking for illegal fireworks and any misuse of safe and sane fireworks. Violators are cited, McDuff said.

The prudence apparently paid off.

McDuff said just four fireworks-related blazes were reported in Costa Mesa last year. Two were grass fires sparked by legal smoke bombs; one palm tree caught fire when a sparkler was thrown into the air, which is a misuse and illegal. A $2,200 garage fire was started by an illegal bottle rocket, McDuff said.

"We took that package to the council in support of a ban, but our position is that if there is going to be a ban, it should be regional," McDuff said. "Going jurisdiction by jurisdiction is too hard to enforce."

Roeder said the city also makes a profit from the fireworks sales, through sales tax, but added profit played no role in the city's decision to allow fireworks.

"In the scheme of the city's tax revenue, it's a real small amount, very insignificant," he said.

Roeder said he expected a flood of applicants this year for fireworks booths because of new bans in surrounding Orange Coast cities, but the storm never came.

The city actually has one less booth this year than last, he said.

"It's a little surprising," he said. "We thought we'd be swamped."

FOX TRAPPING ALLOWED...

tern eggs. He said the red foxs — which he enjoys watching romp in the evening dusk — may be innocent.

He also claimed that the department's trapping campaign is indiscriminately killing other animals that wander into the traps.

Esther Burkett, Fish and Game manager at the Bolsa Chica Preserve, said building an electric fence or posting human monitors at nesting sites would disturb the birds at a critical time.

The birds are expected to migrate to South and Central America between Aug. 15 and Aug. 30, she said, and may not survive any disturbances. They're expected to return to the Bolsa Chica next April.

Burkett said the trapping program has been successful because the number of least tern nests have doubled from 16 to 32 in recent weeks. In May, however, 40 nests were lost to predators, she said.

Three foxes were trapped in late June before they could get to the island nests, and there have been no recent indications foxes have intruded into the nesting grounds.

Burkett said that the current Bolsa Chica tern population is 50 adult and eight fledglings (young birds ready to fly.) Last year at this time, there were 50 fledglings, she said.

There may be about three fox families remaining in Bolsa Chica, she said. But others have been sighted in Huntington Beach Central Park and at the nature refuge at the Seal Beach Naval Weapons Station.

Red foxes were brought to the area about 100 years ago by hunters, officials said.

their summer booking."

Spix said residents are also seeking a major change in the entrance and exit to the fairgrounds, to prevent the massive traffic jams which clog Fairview Road on concert nights.

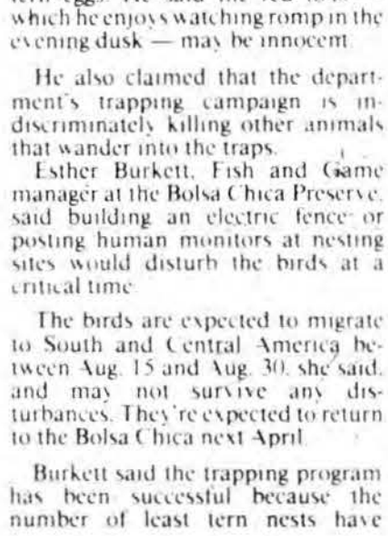

"That traffic creates bedlam in the surrounding communities," he said. "What we hope to see is a 10-lane, Disneyland-style gate which will take traffic right out to the Newport ditch, which is going to be the Newport Freeway. That's what the planning department in Costa Mesa originally recommended."

In addition to the traffic measures, residents are seeking a permanent ban on concert noise which exceeds county standards, and they want regulators to have the authority to turn down the sound when violations occur. Residents have not asked for any monetary damages.

Clean Harbor Day set next Saturday on Newport waters

Concerned citizens and volunteers will help Newport Harbor clean up its act next Saturday in the annual Clean Harbor Day festivities.

The harbor cleanup will be conducted from 8 a.m. to noon and interested volunteers should meet at the Cannery restaurant, 3010 Lafayette Ave. Volunteers will be assigned to clean up zones along the Newport Beach area.

Following the cleanup, a beach barbecue and awards ceremony will be held at the Cannery. Refreshments will be served and prizes awarded to all volunteers. Call Bill Schonlau at 650-8501 for details.

Pageant tickets available

The Orange County chapter of the Multiple Sclerosis Society is offering tickets for the Laguna Beach Festival of the Arts, which runs from July 8 through Aug. 28.

Choice seats for individuals and groups are available and a tax-deductible donation is included in the ticket price. Call the MS office at 633-9391 for more information.

Roller skating classes

The basic fundamentals of roller skating will be taught in a new eight-week class beginning Friday in Orange and sponsored by Iglesia Community Park in Laguna Hills.

The course is scheduled for 6:15 p.m. at a cost of $24, including skate rental, instruction and three-hour evening session. Call Iglesia Park at 830-8318 to register.

Pest control seminar

A free class in plant pest control will be offered at Sherman Library and Gardens in Corona del Mar next Saturday at 9:30 a.m.

Participants will learn to identify common pests and diseases, select the proper pesticide and prevent problems through proper cultural practices. For further information, call the garden office at 673-2261.

Museum excursion slated

An excursion to the J. Paul Getty Museum will be conducted next Saturday by the Irvine Family Services Department, with participants leaving at 10 a.m. from the Irvine Youth Services Center, 14301 Yale Ave.

The tour will run until 5 p.m. and will include Greek, Roman, Medieval and French artifacts. The cost is $10 and those interested should make reservations by calling David Anderson at 660-3920.

Teddy bear show set

Teddy bear fanciers will be congregating at the Doubletree Hotel in Orange next Saturday for a special teddy bear show and sale with proceeds going to the Orangewood Children's Foundation.

The event will run from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. and will feature artists' bears, new bears, antique bears, bear-making supplies and other "bearaphernalia." Admission is $3 for adults and $1.50 for children.

Used items being sought

Used clothing, books, toys, jewelry and small appliances are needed for the Discovery Shop drive of the Orange County unit of the American Cancer Society, to be held next Saturday.

The event is scheduled for the rear parking lot of Humana Hospital Huntington Beach, 17772 Beach Blvd., and gently used items may be dropped off between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. All donations are tax deductible, and more information is available at 751-0441.

Blood drive in Capo

The Orange County chapter of the American Red Cross will hold a blood drive next Saturday at the Mission San Juan Capistrano Church, 31641 El Camino Real.

Volunteers may donate blood from 2:45 to 7:30 p.m. Call 240-7744 for an appointment.

Traffic school slated

Traffic violators' school will be offered at Saddleback College in Mission Viejo this summer, with classes beginning next Saturday. All sessions will meet at the College Emeritus Center.

A Department of Motor Vehicles completion certificate will be issued to each student assigned to attend a traffic violators' school upon satisfactory completion of the course. The fee is $25, and pre-registration is advised. Call 582-4646 for more information.

Mountain lion study

The Orange County Cooperative Mountain Lion Study will be the subject of a lecture by Dr. Allan Brody next Saturday at the Caspers Wildernexx Park volunteers meeting.

The volunteers will meet at 9:30 and the lecture follows at 10:30. The public is invited to attend the program, which will be held in the little theater at the Visitor Center. Caspers Park is located at 33401 Ortega Highway in San Juan Capistrano.

West Point Club meets

Parents of the class of '88 will share their experiences with the families of the incoming class of '92. Call Virginia Kroenlein at 779-5476 for further information.

Head Start enrolling

The Irvine Unified School District's Head Start program is currently enrolling 4-year-olds for September classes.

The program is free to low-income families who quality and also is available to pre-school children and their families. More information is available by calling Gloria McClintock at 786-5221 or by visiting the Head Start center at 5144 Michelson Ave. in Irvine.

Hospital needs volunteers

Volunteers are needed in various departments of Humana Hospital-Westminster to assist nursing personnel with non-nursing tasks.

Among the duties are manning the information desk, assisting with clerical duties, running errands and working in the gift shop. Call the director of volunteer services at 893-4541, ext. 1095, for additional information.

County dissolves parks district

By BOB VAN EYKEN
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

In an effort to escape the confines of California's Gann spending limit, county supervisors have agreed to wipe out the 50-year-old Harbors, Beaches and Parks District.

With the dissolution, Orange County joins several other California counties where supervisors control spending on parks and other recreational areas.

Under the district, tax revenues were specifically targeted for harbors, beaches and parks and could be spent for no other purpose.

The move to absorb the district was prompted by the need to obtain extra spending authority to finish the 1987-88 fiscal year, which ended June 30, county officials said.

The county recently came close to bumping against the Gann limit, a state imposed spending ceiling. The district, however, still has $6 million left under the Gann limit, and by taking the district over, the county acquires its spending authorization.

The dissolution passed without protest and virtually without discussion. Still, several district board members had opposed the change.

"I think the success that our county has had in the area of harbors, beaches and parks has been due to the fact that in the 1930s, the people of Orange County saw fit to create the district and to give us our own funding source," said Leonard McKain, a 13-year board member.

The Board of Supervisors assured district officials that funding for parks, beaches and harbors would not be reduced under the dissolution.

"We've set up a special fund and those revenues that have accrued to the district will go into that fund, so they will essentially be protected," Christie McDaniel, an assistant to Supervisor Thomas Riley, said.

But McKain said he was not convinced parks would always maintain their privileged status.

"Our feeling is that sooner or later the county will reach its spending limit again, and at that point our funds will be vulnerable," he said.

McKain said he and other district board members did not protest at Tuesday's supervisors' meeting because they believed it would have been inappropriate for them to do so.

"Ultimately, it is the board that decides," he said. "And they are the ones who appointed us, so it is not for us to tell them what they should or should not do."

Great racers prepare for final leg of journey

By BOB VAN EYKEN
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Vintage cars in the Great American Race will be rolling into Wilkes-Barre, Pa. tonight to rest up for their final dash to Boston on Sunday.

The parade of classic automobiles participating in the 11-day cross-country rally has already made its way from Southern California to Northern California and across Nevada, northern Utah, part of Wyoming, Colorado, Kansas, Missouri, Kentucky and Ohio.

The grueling race has already taken its toll on contestants, said Bill Halliday, of Newport Beach. Of the 120 cars that began the race, fewer than 80 remain in the competition, he said.

"They've taken us on some pretty rough roads," he said. "You've got to spend at least a couple of hours in the evening working on your car, to make sure something doesn't fall off of it."

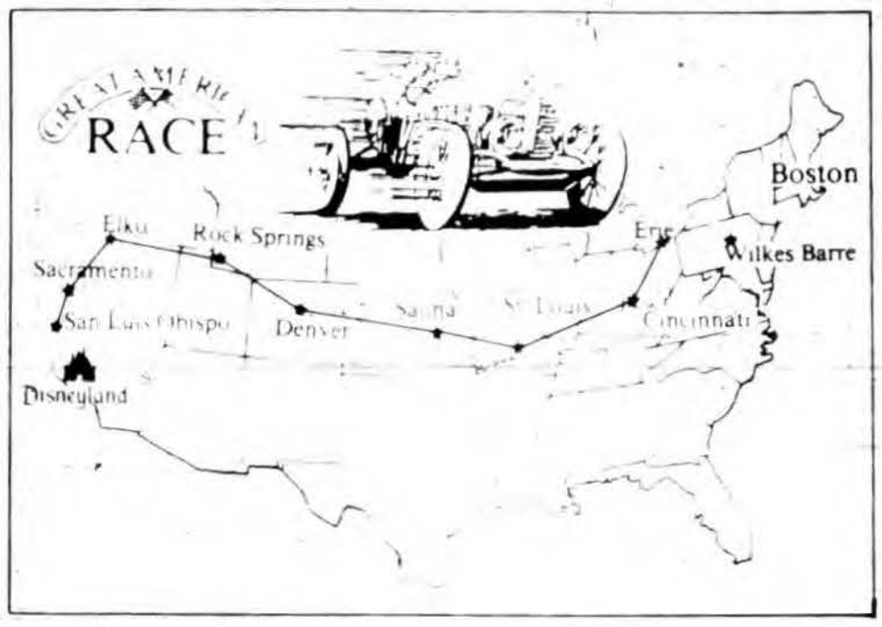

Racers went from Cincinnati, Ohio to Erie, Pa. Friday, with a lunch stop in Akron, Halliday said.

Results of Friday's leg were not available Friday night. But first in Thursday's competition were Wayne Stanfield, of Costa Mesa and Alan Travis, of Phoenix. The two are driving a 1915 Mitchell.

Halliday said several Orange County drivers were in contention for the race's $250,000 purse.

Among the top contenders are Travis and Stanfield, Dick Burdick, of Rosanky, Texas, in a 1923 Bentley; Dick Belveal, of Newport Beach, in a 1936 Ford; and Newt Withers, of Fountain Valley, in a 1934 Packard.

Halliday and his navigator, Mary Travis, of Phoenix, are in 19th or 20th place, he said.

Teacher salaries reach an all-time high

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Average beginning teacher salaries pushed past $18,000 for the first time this past school year and average pay for the entire profession reached a record high of $28,085, a union survey revealed Friday.

Teachers earned 17 percent more on average than all American workers in 1987 and 10 percent more than all government workers, the American Federation of Teachers said.

"The public is really supporting teachers. It's the seventh straight year salaries have exceeded inflation," said E. Howard Nelson, an assistant research director of the AFT, which released the survey on the eve of its biennial convention.

The AFT survey of state departments of education found starting salaries for the school year that just ended were $18,557, up 5.4 percent from a year earlier and more than double the $9,085 beginners were paid in 1977.

The average salary for all teachers was up 5.5 percent over 1987, and Jewell C. Gould, the AFT's director of research, predicted a similar increase for the school year starting this fall.

Alaska leads nation in teacher pay

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Here are some of the average and beginning salaries released Friday by the American Federation of Teachers, based on state departments of education and other sources.

The union said it estimated some of the figures, which are rounded to the nearest dollar.

The figures are each state's average salary for public school teachers, its national rank, rank adjusted by the AFT to reflect differences in the cost of living and average beginning teacher salaries.

Alaska
Arkansas
California
Florida
Hawaii
Idaho
Louisiana
Massachusetts
Michigan
Nebraska
New Jersey
New York
Pennsylvania
Texas
Utah
Vermont
Washington

But the AFT also ranked the states by cost-of-living and by how teachers' pay compared to salaries of other workers.

The adjustment for differences in the cost of living shows that Michigan, Alaska, California and Minnesota pay teachers the most; Louisiana, Arkansas, Hawaii and South Dakota rank on the bottom.

Adjusted for inflation, the record $28,085 average salary is just $665 more than teachers earned in 1972. The average 1972 salary of $9,705 is the equivalent of $27,420 in today's prices.

Likewise, the beginning salary of $6,970 in 1972 is the equivalent of $19,739 in today's dollars — more than today's starting salary.

Among the states cited by Pittsburgh, Rochester, N.Y., and the state of Connecticut as places that are "setting a new standard for teacher salaries."

The 1.95 million-member AFT represents more than half of the nation's 2.4 million public school teachers, primarily in big cities. The 1.7 million-member National Education Association, which opens its convention Monday in New Orleans, has 1.8 million members.

Connecticut reported the highest salary increase — 9.6 percent, for 1987-88 — pushing its average pay level to $33,776, the highest in the AFT report, said Gould.

The average female year-round worker made 65 percent as much as teachers, and men made 41 percent as much as women.

Entrance fee at county landfill increased

By BOB VAN EYKEN
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

It will cost much more to haul trash to Orange County's landfills beginning next January.

The county Board of Supervisors approved a gate fee increase for the county landfills this week that will nearly double the cost to private users by July 1, 1989.

Now set at $6.12 per ton, the basic fee at county landfills will rise to $9.50 a ton on Jan. 1 and to at least $11 a ton on July 1.

Board members decided to review the gate fees again next February to determine whether an even larger increase is needed.

Landfill gate fees are already higher in neighboring counties, which charge an average of $12 a ton for waste disposal, say county officials.

County waste management officials need the gate fee increase because the county will be facing a number of huge costs over the next few years, said R.A. "Bert" Scott, director of the county General Services Agency.

"There have been a number of significant legislative and regulatory changes that have placed on us a series of projects with a total cost of about $60 million," said Scott.

Among those projects are a $15 million monitoring and cleanup program for present and former landfill sites and closure costs for the Coyote Canyon landfill, which have risen from an estimated $6 million in 1982 to an estimated $20 million now.

Other major costs include $21 million to meet environmental protection requirements at two future landfill sites.

Also included in the rate hike is an increase in the charge per vehicle from $2 to $5 per car and from $3 to $5 for trucks under 7,000 pounds gross weight.

The increases were supported by the county's Solid Waste Commission and by the Solid Waste Association, a waste haulers organization.

59 AND HOLDING

NANCY McINTYRE

Every so often a little black cloud appears from nowhere and rains on your parade. It's not big enough to be a depression — nor small enough to shrug off. The blahs are somewhere between a head cold and a toothache. When you're down in the dumps the world looks like it was filmed in black and white by a bad photographer. Not even a close-out sale will bring you back to life.

You won't find the blahs in any medical book, but they're probably the most common ailment we all share. In fact, if we didn't have a downer occasionally we wouldn't be normal. Perpetual cheerfulness is neurotic, therapists warn us. The blues give us a respite from being endlessly upbeat and optimistic.

Still, you ask yourself why am I feeling sorry for myself? Nothing has changed in my life, I'm not being audited, none of my kids have eloped with a Hell's Angel and my mother-in-law isn't due for her three-month annual visit. We look for big, dramatic reasons for the blues when most of the time it's the everyday stuff that makes us feel lower than an ant's eyebrows. The Institute for Blah Research has compiled a list of the most common causes for downers which might surprise you.

Number one is fatigue. People tend to blame their black moods on Congress when actually it's the sandman. It's easy to confuse the two since both induce a somniferous state. Men are more guilty than women in refusing to admit they're tired. The mere suggestion they should sleep it off is an affront to their masculinity. A sleeping pill in his evening cocoa, girls, will give you both a good night's rest.

Getting out on the wrong side of the bed in the morning has never been scientifically proved as a cause for depression. But looking in a three-way mirror in a department store dressing room is ample justification for a crying jag — or a good primal scream. Loss of self-esteem due to cellulite thighs and other stages of deterioration evokes a sad, wistful expression that's unmistakable. The lost-youth look. Every dressing room should have a resident therapist to help ladies put their lives back together after pulling on a half a dozen mini-skirts.

Piano bars thumping out nostalgic tunes from the good old days should be avoided at all costs, unless you have a raincoat and galoshes. The torrent of tears flowing from bar-fly baritones clustered around a Steinway can give you a frightful chill. The blahs are bad enough let alone a head cold. Watch those trips down memory lane. Better to live in the nitty gritty present than get teary-eyed for the days that used to be — which weren't that great, anyway.

Unexpected bills will wipe that grin off your face. Anything over $25.95 qualifies as unexpected. Bills come in clusters like buckshot. If you survive the first couple of hits in the morning mail, the last bill is sure to finish you off. You might try the McIntyre safety net. I only open one bill a day so I don't put a sudden load on my blood pressure.

Doctors are a primary source for the blahs. No matter how good you're feeling, there's a medico out there who's plotting to put you on a restricted diet of No-Salt-No-Spirits-No-Coffee-No-Sex — or any other pleasures he can think of. The thought of a future imbibing salt-free, meat-free, fat-free pastrami sandwiches made of soy beans is enough to make anyone's jowls droop.

While there's hundreds of reasons for feeling blue, most of them aren't worth ruining your mascara over. As soon as I feel a glassy stare coming on, I take my blahs to the zoo and feed the elephants. There's something about the remarkable vacuuming powers of a pachyderm that puts the world in perspective — and I realize I'm taking the sideshow too seriously.

Nancy McIntyre lives in Laguna Niguel.

Judge clears way for disconnecting dial-a-porn firms

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A federal judge refused Friday to declare that Pacific Bell has authority to disconnect "dial-a-porn," but said he would do so unless providers of the sexually oriented messages could prove government coercion.

Unless the firms can show that Pacific Bell's move is a response to threats or pressure from the state, the telephone company will not be bound by constitutional guarantees of free speech and can cut off services based on their content, said U.S. District Judge Eugene Lynch.

He rejected Pacific Bell's argument that its motives were irrelevant to the case. But Lynch told lawyers for seven companies that offer sexual phone messages that they would not be allowed to interrogate Pacific Bell officials unless they could state within two weeks what kind of government involvement they could prove and how they could prove it.

Lawyers for the companies said they would offer evidence that the state Public Utilities Commission, which authorized Pacific Bell to disconnect "dial-a-porn," has exerted pressure in private meetings; also, that Pacific Bell's hand was forced by pending state legislation that would cut its revenue for all fee-per-call service unless the program was reformed.

Sexually oriented messages have been the most lucrative and controversial feature of a fee-call service that began in 1983.

Pacific Bell spokeswoman Lynn Jimenez said $57 million of the $91 million spent on 976 calls last year was for "dial-a-porn."

School bill pays off for attendance

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Schools with good student attendance records would receive more money under legislation that the Assembly has sent the upper house.

The proposed change in the way California funds its public schools could cost the state additional money and earlier attempts have been vetoed three times by Gov. George Deukmejian. But the change was recommended last month by the governor's own special education commission.

Critics have argued the proposal, which the Assembly sent the Senate on a 54-18 vote Thursday, would cut funding for poor inner-city schools.

Supporters maintain that just the opposite has been true in a test of the system, which involves 32 schools.

Nevertheless, Los Angeles County schools have been exempted from the measure at the request of Assemblywoman Maxine Waters, a Los Angeles Democrat, said Joan Christensen, a spokeswoman for the bill's author.

AB3809, by Assemblyman Bill Leonard, R-Redlands, would require the state to calculate funding for schools on the basis of actual attendance beginning in 1990.

The bill would also give schools an additional percentage of funds based on the statewide rate of excused absences. The rate would be determined over a two-year period.

Currently, schools receive funds based on their actual student attendance, plus excused absences for illness and other reasons.

Lee Lundberg of the California Association of Supervisors of Child Welfare and Attendance, which sponsored the measure, said the measure would give schools the motivation and time to bolster student attendance.

He said the motivation would stem from the quest for additional funds; the time, from being freed of paperwork associated with tracking excused absences.

The state Education Department supports the bill in it current form.

Stringfellow cleanup could cost as much as $800 million

GLEN AVON (AP) — Cleaning up the Stringfellow acid pits could cost $227 million to $812 million and require five decades to 4½ centuries to accomplish, according to a report issued by the state Health Department.

The 20-acre dump in Pyrite Canyon was shut down after about 34 million gallons of solvents, metals, acids, polychlorinated biphenyls (PCBs) and pesticides were dumped there from 1956 to 1972.

Chemicals have spread two miles underground and contaminated the drinking water in this small western Riverside County community where residents have been using bottled water for several years.

The California Department of Health Services on Thursday released a report on a four-year, $10.3 million study and proposed five cleanup strategies.

"This study has all the information in it that all of us can use to sit down and make a decision and go forward with the cleanup," said Ted Rauh, Stringfellow project manager for the state Health Department.

The 1,800-page report came in 2½ years late and $9 million over budget. Raugh said the complexity of the dump caused the delay. The study examined 86 cleanup methods and there were six full-scale tests of methods.

One of the five proposals is expected to be selected by the state and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency in a year.

The cheapest proposal was to let rainfall seep through the dump and dilute the contaminants. The contaminated water would be pumped up and treated. The plan would cost $227 million and take 448 years to make the site safe.

A $293 million plan would leave the site contaminated but permanently lower the water table to halt movement of pollutants underground.

The most costly proposal would require spending about $812 million to excavate 2.7 million tons of soil and burn it in an incinerator. Cleaning the dump would take 10 years but groundwater wouldn't be clean for 63 years.

RIVERSIDE (AP) — A late-night search by police on foot and in a helicopter for a burglar in a department store ended when an officer found the alleged thief sleeping in a store air duct.

Police were led to 18-year-old Vincent Martin Torres at 5 a.m. Thursday by the sound of the suspect's snoring, said Lt. Ellis Asper.

"We woke the young man up and took him to jail," Asper said.

The search began Wednesday night when the Montgomery Ward and Co.'s silent alarm was tripped. Officers looked through the store windows and saw a man wearing black, Asper said.

Eight officers searched the roof and the store, a police helicopter circled overhead and two police dogs sniffed about, but the burglar was not to be found, said Asper.

By Thursday morning, all but two officers were called off the search.

Then, a noise that sounded like snoring drew Officer Warren Holm to the air duct above the ceiling panels over the store's optometrist.

Near Torres's sleeping body, police found ropes, a knapsack, and about $3,800 worth of videotape recording equipment, Asper said.

Torres was being held in Riverside County Jail in lieu of $5,000 bail for investigation of burglary.

Gorbachev wins support for reform

MOSCOW (AP) — Mikhail S. Gorbachev won Communist Party backing Friday for sweeping changes that would limit top officials to 10 years in office and create a stronger presidency that he might assume while remaining party chief.

The four-day national conference of 5,000 party members, the first since 1941, closed with Gorbachev saying the reforms would point the way to a new "democratic image of socialism."

He also found himself in the middle of an open feud between the No. 2 Kremlin leader, Yegor K. Ligachev, and former Moscow party chief Boris N. Yeltsin, which was played out on television and gave millions of viewers an unprecedented look at cracks in the party monolith.

Alexander Lukyanov, secretary of the party Central Committee, told a late-night news briefing that several resolutions were approved.

He said the conference backed Gorbachev's proposals to allow elected party officials only two five-year terms, with no exceptions.

He also said the new, stronger presidency would have the powers Gorbachev requested to settle matters of foreign policy and head the Defense Council, a position traditionally held by the party chief.

Also approved was Gorbachev's controversial recommendation that party leaders lead the corresponding legislatures, all the way up to combining the job of president and party general secretary. That could enable Gorbachev to take an even firmer grip on power by assuming a stronger presidency while retaining the party leadership.

Georgy Razumovsky, a non-voting member of the ruling Politburo, said 209 delegates voted against that provision, an extremely rare show of dissent in the party.

An amendment calling for the party newspaper Pravda to be taken away from the policy-making Central Committee and turned over to the party as a whole received only 56 votes, said Tass, the official news agency.

South Africa unveils tough new segregation measures

By The Associated Press

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — The government on Friday proposed tough measures to enforce residential segregation, and critics said it could mean mass eviction of blacks from white areas. "The new amendment has a clear political message — apartheid is alive and well," said Mahomed Dangor, spokesman for a group which has fought to block evictions of blacks living illegally in whites-only areas. Government opponents condemned the proposal to tighten enforcement of the Group Areas Act, which segregates residential areas by race. The government has not strictly enforced the 35-year-old act in recent years, angering conservative whites opposed to integrated neighborhoods. The proposed amendment is viewed as an accommodation to right-wing whites prior to nationwide municipal elections in October. Tian van der Merwe, a Parliament member for the anti-apartheid Progressive Federal Party, called the new measures "so harsh and so brutal" that up to 200,000 blacks could be evicted on short notice.

Shultz wraps Central American trip

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica — Secretary of State George P. Shultz ended a visit to Central America Friday and leaders of Nicaraguan guerrillas said they discussed with him ways to win congressional approval for aid to the rebels. Alfredo Cesar, a leader of the rebels known as Contras, met with Shultz on Thursday and later said the package discussed could include direct U.S. aid to the leftist Sandinista government if it fulfills promised democratic reforms. The United States cut all aid to the Nicaraguan government in 1981. Shultz spent six hours in San Jose after a flight from Guatemala, where another rebel leader, Adolfo Calero, said there was discussion on a $30 million aid package for the guerrillas, known as Contras.

Columbian troops destroy 5 tons of cocaine

BOGOTA, Colombia — Army troops found and destroyed 5.2 tons of cocaine and 36½ tons of coca leaves and paste, the Ministry of Defense said Friday. The troops had been sent to a zone near Ayapel, north of Bogota, in a search and destroy mission, the ministry said. Army troops and air force fighters forced the landing of two planes in a clandestine airstrip at a farm and found more than a ton of cocaine. The soldiers found another 4.2 tons of cocaine at the farm June 25.

Billion dollars in military contracts ordered halted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary Frank Carlucci, declaring "we do not need to wait (for) convictions, or even trials," in the Pentagon procurement affair, on Friday suspended payment on $1 billion worth of potentially tainted military contracts.

Carlucci acted on the basis of information included in search-warrant affidavits that were unsealed by a federal magistrate in Dallas on Thursday. In the documents, the FBI said it eavesdropped as one consultant obtained and passed along inside information on nine contracts worth more than $522 million. They heard a Navy procurement official read off 10 sealed bids in a $120 million contract.

Carlucci also announced that the Pentagon was beginning suspension procedures against three individuals and a company named in the documents.

He said the Defense Department was reviewing existing contracts with four implicated companies and freezing new contracts on nine weapons systems.

"The affidavit provides the department with evidence concerning individuals and companies," he told reporters.

"The Navy has initiated suspension procedures with respect to George Stone, Mark Saunders, Joe Bradley and the Continental Electronics division of Varian Associates Inc."

The Navy said it would be unable to give full details on the contracts for which payment was suspended until Tuesday.

"Names of those companies and status of those contracts will be provided when the information has been appropriately verified for accuracy," the Navy said in a statement.

The Justice Department, caught off guard by the disclosures in Dallas, took steps to ensure that no additional affidavits or search warrants are disclosed in the probe.

At a hastily called news conference, Carlucci said the Pentagon would take further actions as evidence in the case becomes public.

"Wherever we have specific evidence, we will take action," he said. "We do not need to wait (for) convictions, or even trials, for that matter."

Paisley seeks affidavit from probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense consultant Melvyn Paisley went to court Friday in a bid to obtain the affidavit secretly filed by government investigators to search his office for evidence in the Pentagon bribery probe.

Paisley's lawyers asked U.S. District Judge John H. Pratt to expedite consideration of their motion, saying they needed the affidavit to help advise their client on how to comply with "numerous subpoenas" issued in the case. Those subpoenas are due on July 19, according to the court papers.

The Justice Department, meanwhile, took steps to ensure that no additional affidavits or search warrants are inadvertently disclosed in the Pentagon bribery probe.

Drought not broken by rainfall

By The Associated Press

The drought could deal North Dakota's economy a $3 billion blow this year, an economist said Friday, and hay arrived in parched Indiana from Southern farmers repaying a 2-year-old debt.

Ohio Gov. Richard Celeste issued an executive order Friday that he said would speed delivery of hay to drought-stricken farmers and ban most outdoor burning, and he urged mandatory water use restrictions statewide.

Rain that spread across Iowa earlier this week wasn't enough to keep the state from surpassing Dust Bowl days with the driest first half-year on record, a state official said.

"If this is what we get for the next month it's not going to be enough," Nebraska Agriculture Director Roy Frederick said of the rain. "What we did receive was somewhat spotty and with the moisture deficiency we have in the eastern part of the state, this is not going to do the job for us."

President signs Medicare expansion bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan on Friday signed a major expansion of Medicare to provide insurance against lingering major illnesses but warned future presidents and Congresses to keep the cost down lest it grow into "a program we can't afford."

"Every administration since the Medicare program was passed has worried about the seemingly uncontrollable cost increases in our government health care programs," Reagan said at a ceremony in the White House Rose Garden.

"Whoever the president in office, program costs have exceeded the best congressional budget estimates," he said. "Unless we are careful, it is possible that aspects of this legislation will do the same."

The bill is the first substantial expansion of Medicare since it was established in 1965.

Major portions of the new program will take effect in 1989, with some provisions phased in over subsequent years. Medicare officials plan to mail a pamphlet to all beneficiaries explaining details of the changes.

Reagan noted that the legislation provides new benefits for the nation's 32 million Medicare recipients, including prescription drugs and care provided to patients in their homes.

"We have no real way of knowing how much these services will cost," he said. "So if future administrations and Congresses aren't diligent, these new benefits could contribute to a program we can't afford.

"This could be more than a budget problem. It could be a tragedy. The program, after all, is to be paid for by the elderly themselves. So we must control the costs of these new benefits or we'll harm the very people we are trying to help."

Medicare enrollees will pay for the additional benefits through a flat increase in the premium deducted from monthly Social Security checks and an additional sliding scale premium on the approximately 40 percent of the elderly who pay federal income tax.

The flat increase will be $4 a month in 1989, climbing to $10.10 in 1993. The sliding scale premium is projected to rise from a maximum of 15 percent of regular income tax liability in 1989 to about 28 percent in 1993.

"If administered with prudence, this program can provide countless Americans with peace of mind," the president said.

Authorities seize 6,000 pounds of pure cocaine

By The Associated Press

HICKSVILLE, N.Y. — An estimated 6,000 pounds of pure cocaine, sealed in blocks of chocolate, was seized at a Long Island warehouse in what may be the nation's largest drug bust outside Florida, officials announced Friday. The seizure, valued at $480 million, is likely to drive up the price of coke in the New York City area this summer, some officials said. Three Colombian nationals, thought to be members of a major Colombian drug cartel, were arrested in a raid of the Toronto Imports warehouse in Hicksville by 50 agents Thursday night, said Robert Stutman, special agent in charge of the Drug Enforcement Administration in New York.

Five firefighters die in roof collapse

HACKENSACK, N.J. — The burning roof of a car dealership collapsed onto firefighters Friday, killing five of them in a shower of fiery debris, authorities said. The fire, which destroyed the building and contents of Hackensack Ford, apparently started shortly after 3 p.m. in the ceiling space above the rear service section of the building, said Fire Chief Anthony Aiello. Aiello said the roof collapsed as the firefighters inside the building were cutting a hole in the false ceiling in order to attack flames between the ceiling and the roof. "All of a sudden the entire 60 foot square inside ceiling fell on them," he said, adding that four other firefighters inside at the time escaped injury. Aiello said the men were spraying the space between the ceiling and the roof trying to create a "fog" to decrease the heat of the fire. "They did what they were supposed to do," he said.

Space shuttle to be moved to launch pad

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. — Space workers will hold a special Fourth of July ceremony when they move Discovery to the launch pad to be readied for the first space shuttle mission since the Challenger tragedy. One of the five astronauts slated to fly the early September mission and NASA officials will watch from a flag-bedecked grandstand as the spaceship is rolled out.

Indictments handed down against porn dealers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pornography dealers said to be responsible for much of the country's sexually oriented mailings were charged Friday in federal indictments with distributing obscene materials through the mails.

Twenty people and 14 companies were named in indictments unsealed in eight states as part of an investigation dubbed "Project Postporn," which targeted mailings that depicted or advertised hard-core pornography.

"The mailings arrive indiscriminately at homes addressed to adults, children or simply "resident," said Brent Ward, U.S. attorney for Utah and chairman of the attorney general's subcommittee on obscenity.

"They arrive unsolicited in innocuous-looking envelopes in the homes of unsuspecting people who have never subscribed to pornography, do not want it in their homes and are never going to order any obscene material," Ward said at a news conference at the Justice Department.

Those indicted were charged under a section of federal law that makes it a crime to use the mails for advertising or distributing obscene material. The investigation began a year ago, officials said, in response to complaints from people who had received unsolicited material at their homes.

Jack Swagerty, the assistant chief postal inspector, said that such mailings had increased in recent years, prompting more than 350,000 people to file postal service forms requesting that they not receive sexually oriented material though the mail. About 100,000 of the forms were filed in the last year, he said.

Ward said that the investigation targeted only "hard-core obscenity

Archbishop Marcel Lefebvre

Rebel archbishop heralds big split

By HANNS NEUERBOURG
Associated Press Writer

ECONE, Switzerland — Marcel Lefebvre speaks softly, but his benign smile belies his fierce fight to rid the Roman Catholic Church of what he calls the "satanic influence" of liberalism.

"Our future is the past," the 82-year-old French traditionalist declares.

He says the church has been infiltrated by "wolves and thieves." He blasts the "neo-modernist and neo-Protestant tendencies" created by Vatican reforms and says the church must be saved from "auto-destruction."

The rebel archbishop's crusade culminated Thursday with the consecration of four traditionalist bishops in this hamlet where he founded the St. Pius X Fraternity, named for the pope who condemned modernism in a 1907 encyclical.

The Vatican announced the excommunication of the five shortly afterward, citing church rules that prohibit consecration of bishops without papal permission.

It led to the first major split in the church since 1870, when the Old Catholics broke with Rome after the First Vatican Council proclaimed the doctrine of papal infallibility.

Followers venerate Lefebvre as a representative of the "true church." To critics he is an incorrigible reactionary who admired Gen. Francisco Franco, the late Spanish dictator, and would like the French monarchy restored.

He says a French cardinal, Gabriel-Marie Garrone, once called him a lunatic.

Lefebvre was ordained in 1929 after obtaining doctorates in philosophy and theology. In 1932, he was sent to Gabon, then a French colony, and spent 13 years there as a missionary.

After a brief spell in France after World War II, he returned to Africa as apostolic delegate, the Pope's personal representative for all French-speaking regions of the continent.

He was appointed archbishop of Dakar, Senegal, in 1955 and was succeeded in the post by a native Senegalese, now Cardinal Hyacinthe Thiandoum, whom he had ordained.

Pope John XXIII made him a member of the commission that prepared the Second Vatican Council.

During that council in 1962-65, Lefebvre was among the leaders of a group committed to "uphold the traditional faith." He refused to sign two of the council's 16 documents, those called "Religious Freedom" and "The Church in the Modern World."

Traditionalists say the campaign against Lefebvre originated in France. They claim the French hierarchy, facing a decline in its own system, was envious of the increasing number of seminarians at Econe.

He continued celebrating Mass in the Latin liturgy and dismissed the "bastard rites" in the vernacular that took its place under the Second Vatican Council.

In 1976, Pope Paul VI suspended him from priestly functions "because of the scandal caused to the Christian people by your obstinacy."

That barred him from celebrating Mass and giving the sacraments, but Lefebvre called the sanction "illegal" and has ignored it, ordaining more than 220 traditionalist priests.

His organization operates seminaries thoughout the world and Lefebvre says bishops must be consecrated to carry the movement on after he dies.

He toned down his comments after the election in 1978 of Pope John Paul II, whom liberal theologians consider pro-conservative.

Reconciliation with the Vatican seemed near when he and Cardinal Joseph Ratzinger signed a "protocol" May 5, but Lefebvre finally rejected the accord because of a clause giving Vatican representatives the majority on a commission to settle differences in interpretation of Vatican II documents.

Adventists study women's ordination

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — A commission of the Seventh-day Adventist Church wants more time to study whether to allow ordination of women as full "ministers of the Gospel."

Neal Wilson, denominational president, told the 80-member commission that "fairness requires that this issue be given priority treatment, and it must not go on forever."

The denominations's annual council is to consider the issue in late 1989, with recommendations about it to go to a 1990 general conference.

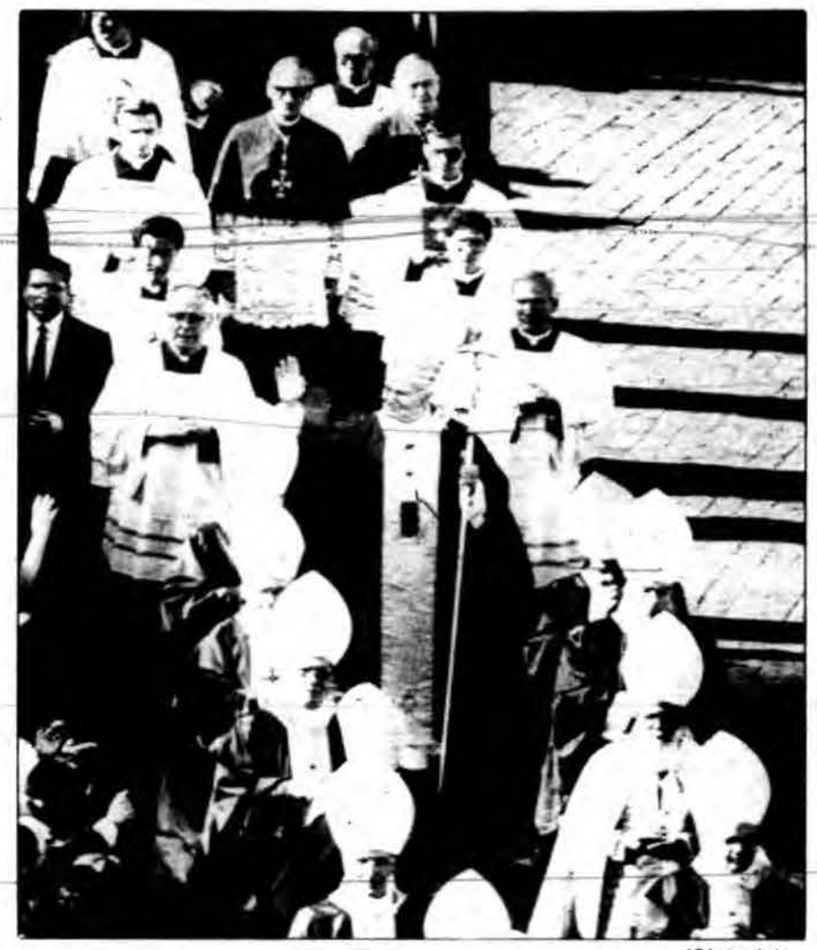

ATLANTA — Calling abortion the "No. 1 social and moral issue of our day," the Southern Baptist Home Missions Board is encouraging churches to start crisis pregnancy centers, says board President Larry Lewis.

The board has named Sylvia Boothe, a former foreign missionary, as the agency's first coordinator for abortion alternatives. She has directed a crisis pregnancy center in Oklahoma City for the past two years.

TUPELO, Miss. — The American Family Association says CBS should apologize to the public and fire those responsible for showing Mighty Mouse sniffing what appeared to be cocaine on a Saturday morning cartoon.

The Rev. Donald E. Wildmon, AFA executive director, said that in the episode, Mighty Mouse feels dejected until he draws a handful of powder from under his cloak, inhaling it, and afterward is back to normal.

Wildmon says the intent seemed to be to "show that cocaine helps one overcome feeling 'down.'"

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm 36 years old, a successful career woman who makes over $100,000 a year. I'm no beauty but I'm certainly presentable. Why can't I hold a man's interest?

In my entire life I've had two lovers, one for three years, the other for six years. Both times I was dumped.

Several months ago I met a lawyer who is rich, generous and attractive. He liked me a lot. He called every day and we went out every weekend. After two months he cut me dead. I called him four or five times to find out what went wrong. He said he had been busy. Two months later, I learned from a friend that he thought I was "very immature" and that I took the relationship too seriously.

I wrote him a very loving letter, hoping he would be touched by it. He didn't respond so I phoned him. As soon as he heard my name he hollered, "Oh, hell, it's you!" A second later he said, "Can you call me back tomorrow night? I'm in the middle of something."

I didn't call back and neither did he.

What's wrong? I can't figure it out. We seemed so well suited to one another. Can you give me a clue, Ann? I am — LONELY IN MARYLAND.

DEAR MARYLAND: A good therapist may be able to help you understand how you are perceived by the men you go out with. From what you've written, I would say you are too aggressive and too willing to let men treat you shabbily — another case of low self-esteem.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was impressed by this article by Sandra Evans for the Washington Post.

This is such an emotionally charged issue that I avoid the subject when I am in the company of mothers who work full time. If you think the points are valid, please run it in your column. — D.C. WOMAN.

DEAR D.C.: I agree that the topic is an explosive one, but the article you sent contains good information and deserves to be seen by a wide audience. Here it is:

DOWNSIDE OF CHILD CARE SHOWN IN NEW STUDY

Adding to an ongoing debate about the social and psychological effects of child care, new research indicates that children who are in day care from an early age are more likely to be uncooperative and unpopular by the third grade.

Full-time child care also was associated with poorer study skills, lower grades and diminished self-esteem, according to a study of middle-class children conducted by University of Texas at Dallas researchers Deborah Lowe Vandell and Mary Anne Corasaniti. The findings were presented at an International Conference on Infant Studies held in Washington.

This study found that extensive child care during the first year of life had long-term negative results. In addition, children who went into full-time care did not develop as well socially, emotionally or intellectually as those who were in part-time care or those whose mothers stayed home with them.

A bright spot for parents with part-time jobs was the finding that children who had part-time care (less than 30 hours a week) were performing well, regardless of when the care began.

Old Bill really had 'em buffaloed

"A man becomes what he does," said Madison Wheeler. Cowboy outfits were created by Buffalo Bill. For his Wild West Show. Real cowhands had never worn that sort of getup. Some did thereafter, though.

Q. Do cats get AIDS? A. Something like it. Vets say the fatal feline disease seems to have infected about percent of the cat population so far, and it's spreading swiftly.

Q. What's "synesthesia"?

A. Visualizing musical notes in color. Lot of people do it. Deep notes are dark, high notes light.

Nothing new about using charcoal to purify water. Sailors of old sometimes threw burnt-muffins into their water barrels. The charred bread was thought to soak up whatever made the water smell bad.

Otherwise, it was a bad day at Black Rock for local triviaddicts. Nobody could match Lemuel Siddons with the movie "Follow Me, Boys."

TOM TITUS

This week's card may be a little easier to master, although the first and last questions may cause a bit of head scratching. Have at 'em.

1. Vashti Snythe was a character in what movie?
2. Who was the "question authority" on the TV quiz show "The $64,000 Question?"
3. Pop Tait runs a soda fountain in what comic strip?
4. Name the first U.S. president to publish a book while in office.
5. The pop song "Judy's Turn to Cry" is a follow up to what other tune?
6. What Arthur Miller play was a thinly disguised account of his life with Marilyn Monroe?
7. What player has bucketed the most points in an NBA all-star game?
8. The "Institute for the Very, Very Nervous" was the name of a sanitarium in what movie?
9. Name the only movie made by the Marx Brothers that wasn't written especially for them.
10. Identify the four historical figures "portrayed" by Richard Mulligan in the movie "Teachers."

Last Week's Answers

1. "Follow Me, Boys" (Lemuel Siddons).
2. Ed (Benny's vault keeper).
3. Fifi (Maggie's dog).
4. Sears Roebuck ("cheapest supply house").
5. Jimmy ("Leader of the Pack").
6. Hugh O'Connell Pickering.
7. Bobby Orrich (first in Angels Hall of Fame).

Desert park proposal ignites political battle

By GEORGE GARTIES
Associated Press Writer

KELSO DUNES — It's 112 degrees in the shade in parts of the Mojave Desert these days. But the political heat is rising as folks from here to Washington fight over a plan to set aside 7.5 million acres as wilderness.

The battleground is a starkly beautiful land of brushy desert and craggy mountains, stretching from Death Valley to the Mexican border, from the snow-capped Sierra Nevada and coast ranges to the sandy borders of Nevada and Arizona.

The rugged 35,000-square-mile sweep is home to shy bighorn sheep, the threatened desert tortoise and a few hard-working cattle ranchers. It has two existing national parks, rich lodes of gold and minerals and a sprinkling of fiercely independent communities.

Park proponents, led by Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., the Sierra Club and the Wilderness Society, see the desert as a fragile treasure, already scarred beyond recovery in some spots by mine pits and recreational vehicles.

They would set aside a slice of varied desert terrain bigger than the state of Delaware as Mojave National Park.

And, they would designate as wilderness areas 80 spots deemed ecologically sensitive, biologically unique or just beautiful, including the South Algodones Dunes, the Orocopia Mountains, the Saline Valley and the Mecca Hills.

Even opponents agree the desert deserves special reverence.

"It's not the dollar value," said cattleman Dave Fisher, sipping a beer at a barbecue thrown by ranchers worried the bill might drastically limit livestock grazing on federal land. "It's the greatness of a way of life. My God, look at that sky. Look across the top of them old pinon trees. This is God's country."

Leading the fight against the bill is U.S. Interior Secretary Donald Hodel, who toured the region last week.

Hodel believes Mojave National Park would unfairly exclude hunters, prospectors and explorers. He also backs a Bureau of Land Management recommendation to limit designated wilderness areas to 44, covering less than half the area envisioned by Cranston.

Government land outside park and wilderness should be open to multiple use, say Hodel and the BLM, meaning vehicles could traverse unmaintained roads and tracks, and selected mining and grazing would be allowed.

"I just don't think we have to choose between either preserving and protecting, on the one hand and natural resources, transportation corridors and the rest on the other hand," Hodel said. "We can do both."

Park backers nervously monitor the encroachment of civilization from Los Angeles and San Diego.

"What is the megalopolis of Southern California going to need in its back yard 100 years from now?" muses Jim Dodson, Sierra Club desert coordinator and resident of the booming desert suburb of Lancaster. "My feeling is, if we don't set these areas aside right now, my grandchildren won't have any opportunities."

The two sides line up like this:

• The Mojave National Park would cover 1.5 million acres of the eastern Mojave Desert next to the Nevada border between Interstates 10 and 40. The BLM wants the same land declared a national scenic area, allowing carefully regulated off-road vehicles, cattle grazing and other commercial activities that wouldn't be permitted in a park.

• Cranston's proposal, dubbed S-? after its Senate bill number, would make 4.5 million acres of wilderness, off-limits for vehicles and new mining. The BLM is proposing 44 wilderness areas totaling 2 million acres.

• Death Valley National Monument would be expanded from 2.1 million acres to 3.4 million acres under S-? and Joshua Tree National Monument would grow from 600,000 acres to 800,000. The BLM favors less extensive expansions of both parks.

The debate is complex, mixing economic and national security concerns with the battle over recreation.

One issue is the fate of four-wheel-drive routes. The vehicles would be limited to established roads in parks and banned from wilderness areas.

"It would fence out old people, young people, people with physical impairments," said Carmelita Swarts, a San Diego retiree who has roamed the desert by Jeep, collecting agates, jasper and petrified wood.

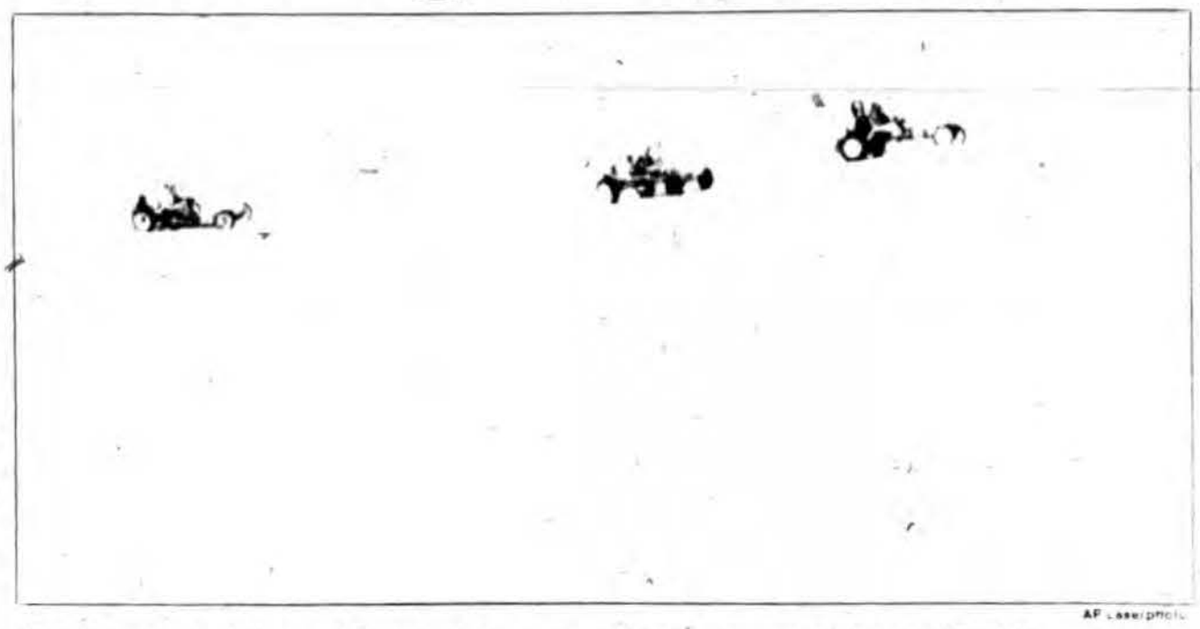

Bill backers say proposed wilderness boundaries were carefully drawn so that 85 percent of the wilderness would be within 3 miles of a road or track that would remain open to vehicles.

The BLM estimates that S-? would close 2,200 of the 21,000 miles of unmaintained but passable dirt roads and tracks in the area covered by the bill, while the Sierra Club puts the mileage at 1,200.

About 5,000 acres would remain open for riding across country.

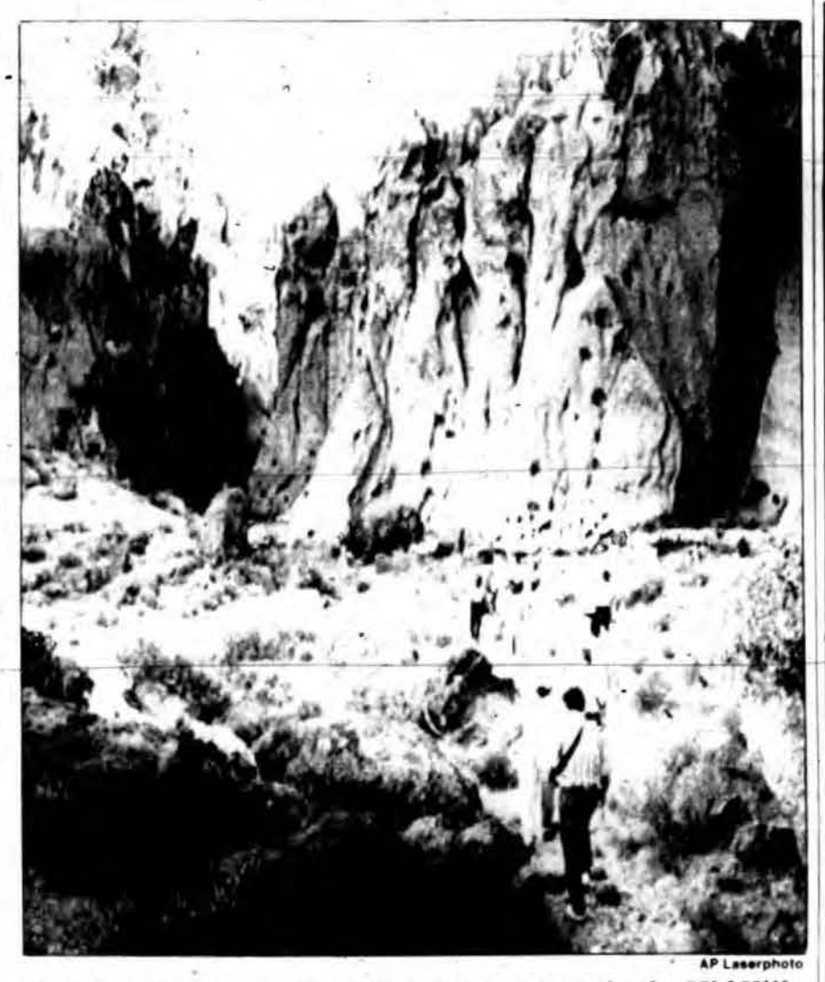

Mining also would be affected. New technology that extracts gold from low-grade ore has brought a mineral boom. Each year about $138 million in gold is mined in the desert along with other minerals that bring the total mining take to $1.2 billion.

S-? supporters say they drew park and wilderness boundaries to leave known mineral-rich areas in the clear. But mining executives worry that wilderness designation, which forbids new exploration, could close off rich areas.

New technology spurs gold rush in desert

MOUNTAIN PASS (AP) — There's a new gold rush in the California desert, powered by 1980s technology for coaxing gold out of low-grade ore, but miners are worried that plans for a national park could someday end the boom.

In the last five years, the amount of gold produced in the region has soared from 5,000 ounces a year to 300,000, and the industry is now worth $135 million a year, according to the U.S. Bureau of Land Management.

There are 15 active mines in the area stretching roughly from Death Valley to the Mexican border, and seven more awaiting approval to start operations, according to the BLM, which manages much of the region.

"What we are doing down here makes the Mother Lode look like small change," said Peter Ertman, who oversees mining for the BLM in Imperial County.

The boom is the result of a decade-old run-up in gold prices and demand combined with large-scale use of a gold extraction technique called the heap-leach method.

Low-grade ore that wouldn't have been worth exploring with older technology is crushed, pushed in to heaps hundreds of yards long and more than 10 feet tall, and then saturated with a solution of cyanide and water. The cyanide dissolves, or leaches out the gold, and the water is collected at the bottom of the heap for treatment to remove its precious cargo.

But prospectors' horizons may be shrunk by the proposal to set aside vast areas of the desert as a park and wilderness, miners told U.S. Interior Secretary Donald Hodel at a recent meeting at Gold Fields Corp's Mesquite mine.

"I have two kids who want to grow up to be mining engineers," Graeme said. "I don't want to see anything happen to preclude them from making a positive contribution to the economy of the United States."

Environmentalists worry that the huge heap-leach mines endanger the water table and wildlife because the cyanide-laced water runs through open troughs from the base of the ore piles to huge open ponds, where it sits awaiting further processing.

Complaints have forced a variety of protective measures, including laying multiple layers of lining beneath leach piles and ponds to keep cyanide out of underground water supplies.

The ponds are enclosed by chain-link fences topped with razor wire and reinforced with small mesh at the base to keep out animals large and small. Brightly-colored streamers are draped across the ponds, and compressed-air cannons boom at regular intervals to scare away birds.

UCI runners Judy McLaughlin, Beth McGrann and Jill Harrington all have Olympics on their minds this summer.

UCI runners have Seoul on their minds

Trio has overcome adversity in bids for Olympic berths

By JON FERGUSON
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Judy McLaughlin, Jill Harrington and Beth McGrann have all faced different facets of life's — and runners's — adversities over the past four years but each has demonstrated the desire to overcome them.

In doing so, each has found her way — or at least is on the way — to a pinnacle — at least thus far — in track and field.

McLaughlin will run for her native Guatemala in the Olympics at Seoul, South Korea, this fall, while Harrington and McGrann try to earn spots on the United States team at the Olympic trials in Indianapolis during mid-July.

The latter two's success or failure might be measured more accurately by the intangible gains of experience and poise through competition with the best, while hopes of landing one of three U.S. berths in their respective events will be difficult considering the present field's experience.

McLaughlin and Harrington have completed successful collegiate careers at UCI which included top-three placements in the 3,000 meters at the NCAA Track and Field Championships in early June, while McGrann, who finished 11th in the [illegible] at the NCAAs, has a year of eligibility remaining for the Anteaters.

Judy McLaughlin

"I don't know how many times I came into this office and said the (expletive deleted) I'm quitting," McLaughlin said of her troubled sophomore year at UCI. "It doesn't even seem real now. I was always upset."

After a very successful freshman season, which left her tabbed as one of the Anteaters' top seven returning distance runners, McLaughlin was saddled with numerous injuries and illness.

"I couldn't deal with them and got discouraged," McLaughlin said. "I had a good year my freshman year when nobody expected anything from me. The following year I got injuries, articles were written about

Edberg proves point to critics

Swede sheds tag of 'choker' with comeback victory

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — People used to say Stefan Edberg had no heart at Wimbledon. They can't any more.

And to prove it, the Swede can point to a moment in his semifinal victory Friday over Miloslav Mecir that turned the match around and showed he had steel and well as skill.

For only the second time in his career, Edberg came back from two sets down to win as he tamed the "Big Cat" from Czechoslovakia and reached his first final at the famed Grand Slam tournament.

"It was hard to believe I could come back today," Edberg said after his 4-6, 2-6, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4 victory on a windy Centre Court. "It felt such a long way off. I was in big trouble then I got my act together."

Edberg's coach, Tony Pickard, said the comeback was the perfect answer to critics who had accused the Swede of being a choker with no mental toughness.

"Everybody's been knocking him, saying he hasn't got any guts and there's no fire in his belly. This has made an awful lot of people look a bit silly," Pickard said.

His opponent in the final will be top-seeded Ivan Lendl or two-time champion Boris Becker. Becker led the rain-delayed second semifinal, 6-4, 6-3, 6-7 (8-10), when play was halted by darkness.

That match will be resumed today prior to the women's final between six-time defending champion Martina Navratilova and top-seeded Steffi Graf.

Lendl saved three match points in the tiebreak, which ended just before officials suspended play.

Although it was the first set Becker has lost in the tournament, history will be on his side when the match resumes.

The last time a men's semifinal in progress was carried over an extra day, in 1985, Becker beat Anders Jarryd and went on to win his first Wimbledon title over Kevin Curren.

Edberg, who lost in the semifinals last year on a surface perfectly suited to his serve-and-volley game, looked to be on his way out again at the same stage.

For 2½ sets, Mecir thundered service returns passed him from both sides of the court. Even a volleyer as sharp as Edberg was completely bewildered by the pace and placement.

Then, facing three break points in the seventh game of the third set, the Swede suddenly remembered what was at stake and refused to die.

Forcing two errors from his opponent, Edberg got to 30-40, then pulled out a big service winner. He went on to hold serve and win the game.

From that moment, it was Edberg's match.

"That was a very important stage of the match," Edberg said. "I did not know what to do early on. Everything was very flat. But it was important to stay with him. I felt really good out there in the end."

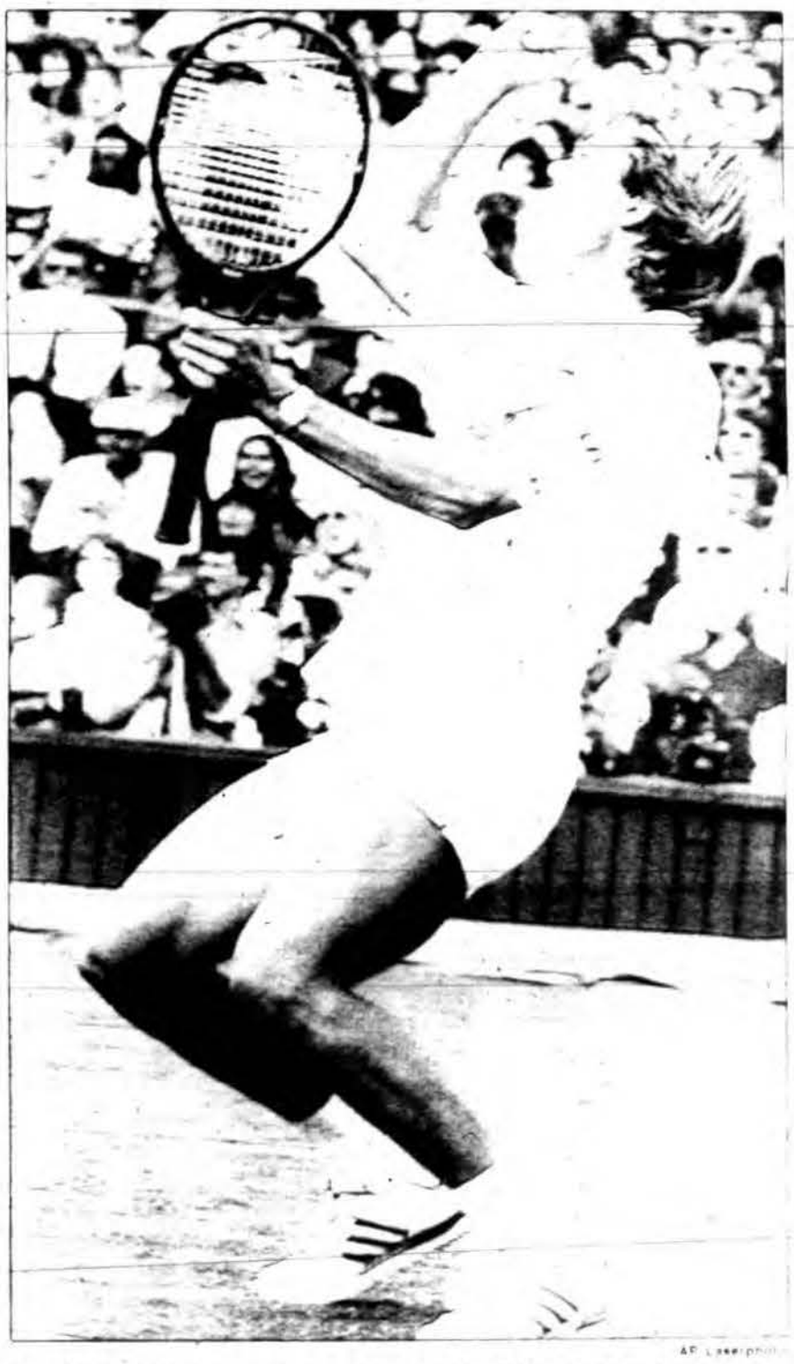

Edberg said only intestinal fortitute got him through.

"It was a gutsy performance out there," he said. "If I didn't have guts, I would not have won the match."

Edberg, who saved a total of six break points in both the third and fourth sets, said he kept thinking about his previous meeting with Mecir, a Davis Cup match in April, when the Swede came back from 1-4 in the fifth set to win.

That comeback inspired him to repeat the feat on the Centre Court at

Angels buried by Tigers' big inning

Detroit rolls, 11-0, after scoring seven times in second

Tigers right-hander Doyle Alexander allowed Friday night that he wouldn't sweat either, but a seven-run second inning was all the Tigers needed.

Bergman drove home three of Detroit's seven second-inning runs with a [illegible] and a single as the Tigers routed the California Angels 11-0 at Tiger Stadium. The win coupled with Chicago's 2-1 victory over New York gave the Tigers a 2½-game lead for the Western Division of the American League East.

Alexander, who allowed seven hits in seven innings, Paul Gibson and Mike [illegible] finished as the Tigers [illegible] their shutout.

"The chemistry on this team is as good as I've ever seen," said Bergman, a former Angel who is batting .333 (6-for-18) against California pitching this season. "Everyone gets this clubhouse [illegible] and they don't know how lucky they are to be on this club."

Bergman said he made an adjustment in his swing at the start of the month and Sparky [illegible] Anderson [illegible] batting practice.

Grace powers Chicago past Dodgers, 9-2

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mark Grace drove in five runs with a three-run homer and a two-run single Friday night as the Chicago Cubs beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 9-2 at Dodger Stadium.

The victory was the Cubs' 11th in their last 15 games, and improved their National League-leading record against left-handers to 15-5.

Jamie Moyer, 5-7, scattered nine hits in 6⅔ innings and defeated the Dodgers for the first time in four lifetime decisions. He lost his shutout bid in the seventh inning on an RBI single by Kirk Gibson.

Moyer went 3-2 on the next hitter, Mike Marshall, before Manager Don Zimmer brought in Les Lancaster. The right-handed reliever slipped a third strike past Marshall to end the threat.

Left-hander Fernando Valenzuela, 5-6, failed to win for the eighth time in his last 10 starts. He pitched seven innings and surrendered eight singles, five of them in the third inning, while striking out only two batters and walking six.

Valenzuela — who hasn't struck out more than four batters in any of his last 10 starts — gave up one-out singles to Shawon Dunston and Rafael Palmiero in the third, then loaded the bases with a walk to Andre Dawson.

Chicago added its sixth run in the [illegible] RBI single by Palmiero.

Earlier Friday, the Dodgers placed [illegible] handers Don Sutton and Mario [illegible] disabled list, and moved shortstop [illegible] to the 30-day list.

Petry put on disabled list

From The Associated Press

The California Angels announced Friday they have placed right-handed pitcher Dan Petry on the 15-day disabled list retroactive to last Sunday and activated reserve infielder Gus Polidor.

Petry, who has a 5-8 record, three complete games and a 3.98 earned run average, has a sprained right ankle. He was [illegible] in his last start at Minnesota [illegible] June 25.

Area trio chosen to play on Junior National water polo squad

By RON CARLSON
Daily Pilot Correspondent

Three local high school water polo players have been selected to play on the Junior National water polo team which headed for Europe Friday morning.

They were among the 13-member team selected from approximately 200 players that tried out, mostly from California.

"To have three players come from the same area, is a credit to Orange County high school water polo," said Junior National Coach Tom Milich.

Scott Taylor, 17, of Costa Mesa High; Steve Moore, 17, of Newport Harbor, and Gunner Gustafson, 17, of Corona del Mar, have been chosen.

They left for Holland to play in exhibition games and train with older players.

Then the team will fly to Sweden to compete in a six-team International Tournament featuring the United States, Denmark, Belgium, Sweden, France, and Great Britain.

Milich has high praise for the three local players.

"Steve works very hard at guarding the two-meter man and Gunner's position is the most strenuous," he said.

Moore will see a great deal of playing time as the two-meter guard for the national team in Europe, Milich said.

"Steve's greatest attribute is his competitive instinct and drive to be the best he can," said Milich.

"Gunner is the secondary set and is in the water the whole time," said Milich. "He does a good job because the opposing players are always trying to foul him. Speed is his one weakness, though."

The goalie is the leader on a water polo team because he has to always communicate with the defense, and Taylor will start in the net for the U.S.

"Scott has tremendous legs and does a good job of communicating and blocking the ball," said Milich. "He has good quickness and eye-hand coordination. Scott is also the leader on defense."

Taylor started playing water polo as a freshman and was encouraged by his Math teacher, Mike Conroy, to try out for Costa Mesa's team. Taylor offers some advice to being a good goalie.

"You have to have good legwork and instinct and just be fundamentally sound," he said.

Taylor has helped lead Costa Mesa to two straight CIF-2A titles, but that has not been the highlight of his high school career.

"Making the junior nationals team has been the highlight. It's taken a lot of dedication and time," Taylor said.

"I hope to learn and gather experience from the older players we will practice with. I want to learn different styles and face tougher competition."

The Junior National team when chosen, consisted of players 16 and under while several have turned 17 since. The European teams are comprised of players 19 and under, so the U.S. faces older, more experienced players.

Despite this age factor, Milich says it will be a good experience for the team and players.

"I basically want to see what type of potential all of the players have," he said.

White Sox fans celebrate team's staying in Chicago

From The Associated Press

CHICAGO — Chicago White Sox fans were jubilant Friday over an extra-inning victory in the state Legislature that will keep the ballclub in the city it's called home for nearly 90 years.

But many scorned the multimillion-dollar package for a new stadium to keep the ballclub from leaving town and blamed greediness on the part of the team's owners for the near-exodus to St. Petersburg, Fla.

"I think it's great! My heart was breaking last night when it looked like this deal wasn't going to pass," Paul Losensky said outside Comiskey Park while waiting to buy tickets for Friday night's game.

"This is one of the charter teams in the major leagues. It would have been kind of a cruel joke on the city" if the White Sox left town, said diehard fan and jazz musician Joe Bianco, 30.

"They're an institution that's associated with Chicago," said Bill Lazzaro, 46, who's lived near Comiskey Park, the team's stadium, all his life.

But Losensky, 30, and Lazzaro accused legislators of mixing up their priorities by favoring sports over more important issues like education.

The deal, narrowly passed as a midnight deadline Thursday expired, could cut $60 million from the team's cost of occupying a new $150 million state-financed stadium near the site of its current home.

But education would get only a $200 million funding increase under a budget being prepared by lawmakers, far less than educators had sought. And Gov. James R. Thompson's proposed 40 percent state income tax increase, tied heavily to funding education, fell on deaf ears in the Legislature.

"I find that a really bad set of priorities," said Losensky, a student at the University of Chicago.

"Schools should be first; sports should be last," Lazzaro said.

Legislators point out that funding for the White Sox deal is not directly tied to a tax increase and comes from a 2 percent tax on hotel and motel rooms in Chicago that was imposed specifically to pay for the stadium.

Gov. James R. Thompson said Friday the White Sox are now "legally and morally bound to stay" in Chicago.

"They signed a lease. We have their word," he said. "The White Sox promised to stay in Chicago if we passed the bill, and we passed it."

Quote of the day

Tommy John, veteran New York Yankees pitcher, after watching the Oakland A's, managed by Tony LaRussa, who has a law degree: "If he doesn't win over there (in the American League West), he should be sued for malpractice."

Cobras add former NFL kicker

LOS ANGELES — Former NFL place-kicker Nick Mike-Mayer has signed a contract with the Los Angeles Cobras, the Arena Football League team announced Friday.

Mike-Mayer, 38, will be in uniform tonight when the Cobras, 4-5, face the New York Knights, 1-8, at the Los Angeles Sports Arena starting at 5:30 p.m.

The Cobras will carry two place-kickers on their roster this week — Marty Zendejas will be on their taxi squad.

Mike-Mayer first signed with an NFL team in 1973 when he joined the Atlanta Falcons. He later played with the Philadelphia Eagles and Buffalo Bills.

Jacobsen surges to lead by two

Peter Jacobsen scored an eagle-3 on the way to a 7-under-par 65 Friday that lifted him into a two-shot lead after the second round of the Western Open Golf Tournament in Oak Brook, Ill. Jacobsen, on the rebound from a back injury that has slowed him for four seasons, completed two trips over the Butler National Golf Club course in 135, nine under par. He one-putted nine times in the best round of the tournament. The eagle came on the 12th hole, when he hit a 5-iron second shot to about eight feet and made the putt. He avoided what would have been his only bogey on the final hole by sinking another eight-footer after putting his approach in a bunker. Ed Fiori and Dan Forsman shared second at 137. Fiori had a 67 and Forsman shot a 69. It was another two strokes back to Joey Sindelar, Tom Sieckmann, Jim Benepe and Rocco Mediate. Benepe scored two eagles in a round of 68. Sieckmann matched par-72. Mediate shot a 70 and Sindelar had a 69. PGA champion Larry Nelson, a winner last week in Atlanta, moved up with a 69 and was at 140. Sally Little overcame damp playing conditions to shoot a 7-under-par 65 and take a one-shot lead after two rounds of the du Maurier Classic in Coquitlam, British Columbia, the third of the LPGA's four majors. Little had seven birdies in a bogey-free round that left her at 5-under-par 139 after 36 holes of the only LPGA stop in Canada. Laura Davies of England, Debbie Massey and first-round leader Sherri Turner were next at 140. Davies shot a 1-under 71 and Massey had a solid 68, while Turner matched par with a 72. Little, 36, has gone six years without a win on the LPGA Tour. After four victories in 1982, she underwent abdominal surgery and has had difficulty in regaining her form. She birdied three holes on the front nine and four on the back side during the second round.

Mears earns pole in Cleveland

Indianapolis 500 winner Rick Mears, who hasn't won on a road course since 1982, took the provisional pole position for Sunday's Cleveland Grand Prix with a speed of 136.054 mph Friday in the first of two qualifying sessions. Mears' speed was a fraction off the record qualifying speed of 136.287 mph set by Roberto Guerrero a year ago. The race is run on a 12-turn, 2.48-mile course on the runways and taxiways of Burke Lakefront Airport, on the Lake Erie shore. The second qualifying session was to be held today . . . The money is on the line and the pressure is only beginning for Rusty Wallace in today's Firecracker 400 NASCAR stock car race in Daytona Beach, Fla. Wallace, who has won twice and finished no worse than third in his last five starts, leads two-time defending series champion Dale Earnhardt by 130 points heading into the 15th race of the season — the halfway point in the 29-race series.

Wilks, Phair sign with Kings

Wilks, 22, was limited to only 18 games with New Haven, the Kings' American Hockey League affiliate, last season. He was a second-round selection in the 1984 entry draft.

Phair, 26, signed a one-year termination contract which will make him a free agent at the conclusion of the 1988-89 season. He played in 45 games with New Haven and 28 games with the Kings last season.

The Kings also signed defenseman Steve Richmond, a free agent who spent last season with the New Jersey Devils' AHL affiliate in Utica, N.Y., to a one-year contract. Richmond, 27, played in 79 games at Utica last season.

In addition, center Mario Chitaroni has been signed to an AHL contract by the Kings and will play at New Haven next season. Chitaroni, 21, played for the Flint Spirits of the the International Hockey League last season where he had 49 goals and 47 assists in 80 games.

Scott placed on DL by Astros

The Houston Astros placed pitcher Mike Scott on the 21-day disabled list Friday and sent pitcher Rocky Childress outright to Tucson of the Class AAA Pacific Coast League. To fill the spots on the roster, the Astros recalled pitchers Dave Meads and Ernie Camacho from Tucson. Scott was injured on June 16. He pitched only two-thirds of an inning on June 21 and missed his last turn with a strained left hamstring. Scott had been scheduled to pitch tonight . . . Former University of Kentucky star Rex Chapman said that a "miscommunication" resulted in his attorney notifying the Amateur Basketball Association of the United States that he was withdrawing from the U.S. Olympic basketball trials. Tom McGrath, associate executive director of the association, announced from Colorado Springs, Colo., that Chapman and Shelton Jones, both of who played with the U.S. Select Team on its recent European tour, had withdrawn from the trials . . . The Los Angeles Rams and cornerback Leroy Irvin, who was suspended by the club for one game last season, have agreed to terms of a new three-year contract worth $1.65 million. The deal was a renegotiation of the already renegotiated contract Irvin signed and then complained about in March 1987, an extension that was to have paid him $500,000 in both 1988 and 1989. The new deal will pay Irvin $515,000 this year, $510,000 in 1989 and $625,000 in 1990 . . . Daron Sutton, a pitcher-first baseman whose father is Los Angeles Dodgers pitcher Don Sutton, has signed a grant-in-aid scholarship with Auburn University at Montgomery, officials said . . . A field of nine headed by Lively One and Stalwars was entered to run in Sunday's Silver Screen Handicap at Hollywood Park. Others entered were Cougarized, Bel Air Dancer, Ongoing Mister, Blade Of The Ball, Iz A Saros, Keepmeinstitches, and Just As Lucky. If all nine entries go to the post, the total purse will be $164,900 and the winner will earn $97,400.

Expos rely on speedsters to dump Braves

Nixon, Hudler score seven runs, as Atlanta drops sixth straight

From The Associated Press

For Otis Nixon and Rex Hudler, it was simply a matter of doing what they have been doing all season.

The difference Friday night was they did it at the major-league level, sparking the Montreal Expos to a 9-3 victory over the Atlanta Braves at Olympic Stadium.

The two speedsters, who were recalled 10 days ago by the Expos from their Class AAA affiliate in Indianapolis, reached base eight times between them and scored seven runs as Montreal won its third straight game.

"It seemed like every time I looked up, those guys were on base," said Braves Manager Russ Nixon, whose club dropped its sixth straight game.

Otis Nixon, who stole 40 bases this season for Indianapolis, had only one hit but crossed the plate four times as Montreal's leadoff hitter, while Hudler had a pair of hits and came home on three occasions.

"I've been playing with Hudler all year and that's the type of game we've been playing," said Nixon, who also stole two bases. "When we were at Indy, it was our job to make things happen and that's what we're trying do here."

Andres Galarraga had four hits, including a pair of doubles, and drove in three runs. Cleanup hitter Hubie Brooks chipped in with a pair of sacrifice flies.

Pascual Perez, 5-3, went 6⅓ innings for the victory. He extended his scoreless-inning streak to 22 before Ken Oberkfell homered in the fourth. Joe Hesketh pitched 2⅔ hitless innings for his third save.

Mets 3-5, Astros 2-6: Kevin Bass hit a two-out single in the 13th inning that scored Billy Hatcher from second base, giving Houston a split at Shea Stadium.

The Mets won the opener behind the pitching of Ron Darling and Randy Myers when Mackey Sasser tripled home the winning run with two out in the seventh inning.

Dave Meads, recalled earlier in the day and the sixth Houston pitcher, won his first decision this season. Gene Walter lost his first decision.

The Astros snapped their three-game losing streak and New York's four-game winning streak.

In the opener, Ron Darling, 9-5, got the victory and Joaquin Andujar fell to 0-4.

Pirates 5, Giants 2: Darnell Coles, R.J. Reynolds and Rafael Belliard hit run-scoring singles in the 10th inning for Pittsburgh at Candlestick Park.

Andy Van Slyke tripled with one out off Atlee Hammaker, 4-2, and after an intentional walk, Coles singled. Craig Lefferts relieved and Reynolds and Belliard hit RBI singles.

Jeff Robinson, 6-2, struck out four in the final 1⅔ innings for the victory. He combined with starter John Smiley and reliever Dave Rucker on a two-hitter.

Padres 5, Cardinals 1: Andy Hawkins pitched a three-hitter and San Diego beat slumping St. Louis at Jack Murphy Stadium.

Hawkins, 8-6, won his third straight decision and has allowed only two runs in his last 23⅓ innings. He walked four and struck out two in his third complete game.

Reds 5, Phillies 3: At Veterans Stadium, Nick Esasky and Barry Larkin homered, helping Tom Browning to his fifth straight victory.

Browning, 7-3, gave up five hits in 7⅔ innings and John Franco worked the ninth for his 10th save. Shane Rawley, 5-9, allowed five runs in eight innings and lost his third straight decision.

In the American League:

Twins 5, Brewers 4: Frank Viola won his American League-high 13th game and Gary Gaetti and Randy Bush each homered as Minnesota held on at County Stadium.

Viola tied for the major-league victory lead with the Chicago Cubs' Greg Maddux. The left-hander became the earliest 13-game winner in Twins' history.

Viola allowed seven hits and struck out five before yielding to Jeff Reardon, who pitched the ninth for his 21st save.

Royals 8, Red Sox 7: Kurt Stillwell doubled home the go-ahead run in the sixth inning at Royals Stadium as Kansas City snapped Boston's five-game winning streak.

Steve Farr, the fifth Royals pitcher, collected his sixth save with 1⅓ innings of relief of Jeff Montgomery, 1-0. Steve Ellsworth, 1-6, was the loser.

Dwight Evans was 4 for 5 with a double, triple, two singles and three RBI for the Red Sox.

Mariners 11, Indians 3: In Cleveland, Scott Bradley had four hits, scoring three runs and driving in two, and Mark Langston got his first victory since May 30 as the Mariners handed the Indians their sixth consecutive defeat.

Mike Jackson pitched 3⅓ innings for his second save in relief on Langston, 6-8, who snapped a personal six-game losing streak. Langston allowed three runs on six hits and six walks in 5⅓ innings.

Athletics 2, Blue Jays 1: Mark McGwire snapped out of a 15-for-88 slump with a two-run single in the seventh inning that broke up a scoreless tie at Exhibition Stadium.

Dave Stieb, 10-5, had blanked the Athletics on two hits through six innings. But Jose Canseco led off the seventh with a double, Dave Henderson singled with one out and Carney Lansford was hit by a pitch to load the bases.

White Sox 2, Yankees 1: Gary Redus greeted reliever Cecilio Guante with a game-winning single in the ninth inning, lifting Chicago to the victory at Comiskey Park.

Orioles 7, Rangers 1: Mike Boddicker pitched his third complete game this season and Fred Lynn homered in the first inning, helping Baltimore to the win in Arlington.

Sand bass biting at local landings

JIM NIEMIEC

OUTDOORS

Salt water anglers fishing sportboats out of local landings are enjoying a red hot bite on large sand bass.

The "sandies" have moved into the beach and anglers are finding the great eating and hard fighting bass eager to hit most any bait or lure cast close by. Eddie DiRuscia, public relations manager for Davey's Locker (673-1434), reports that limits of sand bass are the rule for fishermen fishing on Davey's fleet of large sportfishers in and around the "flats".

In addition to the good sand bass action, log barracuda have moved in and large "spots" of barries are being located near the oil rigs and outer island waters.

Both Newport harbor landings offer a wide variety of fishing opportunities for local anglers and now is the time to get out and fish.

Even though reservations are necessary for day trips on the "Freelance" and "Thunderbird" out of Davey's Locker, there is ample room at the rail for half-day and twilight trips to nearby fishing grounds.

Catalina Island is producing some good calico bass fishing and few large yellowtail and bonito. There will be a lot of boating activity at the popular recreation island this weekend along with heavy boat traffic in channel waters.

Private boats heading over to the islands should stop on kelp patties and fish for yellowtail. The bait barge is set up inside the east jetty of Newport for private boaters heading out of Newport bay.

Bay fishing has been good for halibut and spotted bay bass for anglers fishing off the Pavilion dock and in rental skiffs. Even though the bay is off color, the fish seem to be in a feeding mood.

A number of keeper halibut were taken this week in the bay by anglers fishing live bait. There are also lots of of undersized white-sea-bass being caught and they should quickly be released as they are under the 28-inch limit.

There is a better than even chance that the first marlin of the season will be caught this holiday weekend and weighed in at either Avalon or the Balboa Angling Club.

Tailers, sleepers, jumpers and a couple of feeders have been spotted in local waters but no one has hooked into a spikebill to date. There have been two boardbill swordfish hooked and landed in recent weeks and this is an indication of good fishing days ahead.

No word on the albacore as of press time. It seems that all conditions are favorable, but that the albies just haven't showed up close enough to the beach for a fishing boat to run over a feeding school with a jig line.

Look to the first longfin of the season to be landed this week and fishing could begin for Southland anglers by the third week of July.

The Santa Ana River Lakes, Irvine and Corona Lake are all producing good fishing for channel catfish, bass, crappie and small bluegil. Terry and Don Robertson of Huntington Beach, fished Corona Lake this week and really hammered the fish.

The anglers accounted for double limits of channel catfish totaling 41 pounds and then finished off the day with seven nice largemouth bass. All three lakes were heavily stocked this week and will provide excellent fishing this holiday weekend.

Ferrell breezes at Fairgrounds

Dubb Ferrell of Whittier emerged in the lead after breaking free on turn 2 and breezed to a four-length victory in the scratch main event Friday night during the weekly speedway motorcycle racing program at the Orange County Fairgrounds in Costa Mesa before 6,234 fans.

Ferrell captured the scratch main for the first time at the Fairgrounds this season.

In the handicap main, despite starting from the 40-yard line, Brad Oxley was able to work his way through the pack, took the lead on the fifth lap, and was never challenged.

More at stake than title in women's final

Navratilova, Graf each trying to make history

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — The women's final at Wimbledon today between the world's top two players is not just any championship match.

For both Steffi Graf and Martina Navratilova, there is far more at stake than just winning the title.

Navratilova, who has dominated the event for almost a decade, is aiming at two records — a ninth singles title to overtake the mark she shares with Helen Wills Moody, and a seventh successive Wimbledon crown.

Graf also is on a quest to make history. The 19-year-old West German, winner of the French and Australian championships, will complete the third leg of the Grand Slam if she wins.

Then, only the U.S. Open will stand between Graf and a place in the annals of tennis. American Maureen Connolly and Margaret Court of Australia are the only other women to win the four Grand Slam tournaments in the same calendar year.

The match is a repeat of last year's final when Navratilova won 7-6, 6-1, wearing down a nervous Graf with a sliced serve to the West German's backhand that reaped points.

Navratilova won again when the pair met once cement in the final of the U.S. Open, stretching her career record against Graf to 7-3.

But since then, her opponent has been on a remarkable roll.

In her three Grand Slam tournaments this year, Graf has won 20 matches in a row without dropping a single set, including six rounds on the grass at Wimbledon on what has always been regarded as her least favorite surface.

In reaching the final, she has lost only six games at an average of 2.83 games per match.

It's a statistic Navratilova can get nowhere near matching.

For while Graf has destroyed all opponents in her way, driving them off the court with her devastating forehand and a quickness that had semifinal victim Pam Shriver shaking her head in disbelief, Navratilova has struggled.

In her quarterfinal, the defending champion, playing in her 16th Wimbledon, was down, 4-2 in both the second and third sets against unseeded Ros Fairbank of South Africa.

With a mixture of guts, instinct and a little luck, Navratilova pulled through, but was shaken again in the semifinals by her old rival, Chris Evert.

Evert took Navratilova to the brink. She saved three match points before going down, 6-1, 4-6, 7-5.

Evert, having met Navratilova 78 times, knows her rival's game better than anyone. Yet she still picks Graf to win today.

"I think Martina is a little fragile," Evert said. "I don't think she's confident."

EDBERG PROVES POINT . . .

From B1

Wimbledon.

"I had that in my mind today," said Edberg, who trailed 1-3 in the final set of Friday's clash. "I don't think I could have won today if I hadn't also won that match. I'm sure about that."

The only other time Edberg had staged a similar recovery was in the fourth round of the 1985 Australian Open, against home favorite Wally Masur.

He went on to win that title and, me being in the top seven, it put pressure on me to get back quickly. Then my sister died of cancer while I was living at home, but I still did well in school."

Then came an adjustment period up to her senior season, where she re-evaluated — or perhaps employed a little self analysis — her priorities.

Stronger mentally and with her health intact, McLaughlin flourished this spring, capping off the season with a 10th-place finish in the 3,000 meters at the NCAA Track and Field Championships in 9:27.85. She also established a personal record of 4:18.03 in the 1,500 and is the Guatemalan national record-holder in both events.

"I had been running poorly for so many years, no one expected anything out of me this year," McLaughlin said. "When I started running, that was all that was important. That's why I continued to devastate myself because I took it too seriously.

"Finally I realized what things are important. Once I put running and my life in perspective, then I didn't put as much pressure on myself."

Graduating with a major in cognitive psychology, the study of consciousness, McLaughlin's education has already served a practical use in connection with her running.

"It depends on your attitude. If you're negative in the first place, it makes it worse. If you have a positive attitude, it helps. I try to put myself in a state of consciousness when I run that you're running, but you're blank. I'm not aware of the other people and competing, but concentrating on what I'm doing."

Jill Harrington

"My main goal is to get experience," said Harrington, who hopes to try again in 1992. "Second, I'll try to make it to the final. Anything after that, I'll take whatever happens and consider it a blessing."

While she is shooting for 4:14 or under after running a personal best 4:16.76 as a junior in the 1,500 as a junior, but slipping as a senior, Harrington says, "You can't ever predict what will happen." She points to Ruth Wysocki, who shattered her personal best of 4:14 at the 1984 trials to make the team.

A three-time NCAA qualifer in track and field and twice in cross country, she's run in the U.S. tracks nationals twice before and enters the trials with her confidence at a high for 1988.

Stress fractures sidelined her for two months last summer and surgery in February shelved her training for another 1½ months, but she has emerged from life in the recovery room.

"It was really frustrating. I'm a competitive person and not being able to compete right where you were before the injury takes a lot patience.

"I'm definitely in great shape (now)," Harrington said. "It's just a matter of putting it together, physically and mentally being confident of what I've done and what I'm capable of now . . . I only started feeling like my old self again in the conference (PCAA) track meet. I qualified for nationals and it made all the hard work and frustration worth it."

After the trials, Harrington will be married in August and move to St. Louis, hopefully gaining employment in sports promotions with Anheuser Busch.

Beth McGrann

When the Mt. San Antonio Invitational arrived in late May, a last-chance qualifying meet for the NCAAs, McGrann had only competed in distances further than 5,000 meters twice in her life, both in road races.

What ensued was a 10:55.00 time, setting a UCI record and qualifying her for the NCAAs, where she repeated her time (10:55.20 actually) to earn 11th place for All-America honors.

"Vince thought I could break the school record (by trying the 10,000)," McGrann said. "Actually, I didn't find out I qualified until a week after the race. I thought I missed it by two seconds.

"I don't feel like I really know what I can do in the other events. I thought I would have to go in the 3 or 10 to make the trials. I knew I didn't have the speed for the 3. But in the 10, I'm getting a feel for it a little bit."

As a sophomore, McGrann finished ninth in the 5,000 at the NCAAs in an event where she also holds the UCI record.

McGrann suffered asthma since birth, but thought she had outgrown it when it recurred in late 1986. Each time she thought medication had suppressed it, the attacks came back. Later she found she was hypersensitive.

"I almost dropped out of school because I was getting frustrated with my physical situation," McGrann said. "I'd be so sick and tired all the time. It was like having a 600-pound gorilla on my chest."

With proper medication and a watchful eye on her diet, McGrann has found her health once more, everything finally falling into place at the Mt. San Antonio Relays in April.

PUBLIC NOTICE

LEGAL NOTICE COLLEGE HOSPITAL COSTA MESA ISSUES PROPOSITION 65 ADVISORY

In accordance with the new Safe Drinking Water and Toxic Enforcement Act of 1986, the Hospital Council of Southern California recently issued a public warning on behalf of all licensed acute general hospitals in the region Many of these facilities release into the atmosphere two chemicals — ethylene oxide and benzene — listed by the State of California as known to cause cancer, birth defects or other reproductive toxicity

However, the Hospital Council's warning noted that both chemicals are released in such small amounts that the state does not consider them hazardous even for occupational exposure

The Council's warning is in accordance with the public notification provisions of Proposition 65, and covers Los Angeles, Riverside, Orange, San Bernardino, Ventura, and Santa Barbara Counties

Ethylene oxide (EtO) plays a vital role in the general quality of health care It is used in its gaseous form to sterilize devices such as cardiac pacemakers, heart valves, heart catheters, hip prostheses, microneurosurgical instruments, and other equipment that cannot be safely sterilized at the hospital using conventional steam sterilization Ethylene oxide is essential for the control of in-hospital infections

Because the amounts of EtO released to the atmosphere by hospitals are so small, the exposure levels are not measurable even using the most sophisticated detection instruments The amounts of EtO released certainly do not even begin to approach the levels that have been established by both the State and the Federal Government as a safe limit for occupational exposure However, in keeping with the new Proposition 65 regulations, it is College Hospital Costa Mesa's responsibility to inform you our community, that most hospitals use and emit EtO in the course of providing normal patient care

The primary concern of our hospital is the providing of the highest quality of care To that end we have and will continue to use EtO responsibly in order to make these life-saving procedures available to our patients and to protect them from life-threatening infections

One other listed chemical, benzene, may also be present in vapors released in the immediate environment surrounding the hospital's fuel storage tank, but it is extremely unlikely that any members of the public will be exposed to concentrations of benzene which the State considers to be hazardous

If you require further information, contact the Public Relations Department at College Hospital Costa Mesa at 714-642-2734 extension 199

SOAP SUMMARY

Missing ring reappears on 'Another World'

By LYNDA HIRSCH

ALL MY CHILDREN: Jesse's death puts everyone in a tailspin. Investigating Jesse's murder, the police question Sean, whose claim of ignorance about the night Jesse was shot is not convincing. Remy goes to his lawyer and insists they find out who wants him dead. Jesse's death makes Nico uneasy about having business dealings with Remy. Cindy, Stuart and Scott decide to make each day count. Charlie asks Julie to elope before he goes to Stanford Medical School. Julie vetoes the elopement but tells Charlie she will marry him in one month. Haunted by his childhood, Ross heads for Pigeon Hollow. Near bankruptcy, Travis fires Pamela. Unaware of Travis' financial bind, Erica orders a scenic designer to create fabulous sets for the "Natalie Hunter Story."

ANOTHER WORLD: Vicki, overhearing Jamie tell Amanda that he really cares about Lisa, tries to trick him into believing that she is pregnant. When he learns the truth, he breaks up with her. Jamie makes Lisa happy by telling her that she is his choice, but she says she won't be ready to live together or get married until she comes to terms with her past. Vicki and Jake share a passionate kiss, but she refuses to sleep with him. Tracy is jealous of the time Matt spends with Josie on the phone. Ada warns Charlene that she is being too strict with Josie. Cass is intrigued by the haunting story of a girl who once lived where is staying. Cass tells Nicole that he didn't propose because the ring had mysteriously disappeared from its box, but when he opens the box, the ring is there.

AS THE WORLD TURNS: At the ball to benefit AIDS research, Kirk and Iva clash. Barbara confronts Lucinda about Lucinda's pirating of Simply Barbara designs. Holden is upset when Caleb is smitten with Lily. Craig finds Emily attractive. Unable to deal with all the pressures of the past few months, Holden is about to crack. Seth and Betsy kiss. Lucinda has plans to turn the Snyder farm into a development.

BOLD AND BEAUTIFUL: Margo asks Clark to marry her, but he wants time to consider it. After seeing her doctor, Margo tries to reach Clark with the good news. Kristen asks for the family's approval to marry Clark. They ask her to wait, but she and Clark fly to Las Vegas, get married and drive off for a brief honeymoon. Kristen phones Stephanie, who advises her about birth control. She and Ridge agree to welcome Clark into the family. Margo is stunned to learn that Clark has married. Donna thanks Nick with a kiss for his gift. He agrees to meet her family. Bill warns Nick he wants to use the nude photos of Donna in a U.S. magazine. When Ridge assures Brooke he is over his love for Caroline, they reconcile, but she accepts that he is not ready for marriage.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES: Jack sees the adoption papers but refuses to believe he is Billy Johnson. Harper claims the papers are fake, but later admits they are genuine. Jo is devastated that Billy has learned the truth. Jack will not accept his true heritage. Harper admits to Anjelica that he is sterile. Kayla remembers her attacker and writes his name. Kimberly is attacked while Kayla is nearby, but she can't hear the struggle. Diana and Roman fly to the Canary Islands.

GENERAL HOSPITAL: Anna is relieved when she finds the missing Robin. As Felicia lies unconscious in her hospital bed, a stranger dons hospital attire, sneaks into her room and tries unsuccesfully to take her music box. Felicia awakes and sees Colette trying to abscond with the music box. Sean wonders if the inscription C.N. Abel is a clue to Frisco's fate. Without Lucy's knowledge, Scott writes himself a check from the Daycare Center funds. Lucy snaps a photo of Scotty paying Butcher to leave town. Hoping to ease Louise's fear of men, Tom enjoys a slow dance with her. Lucy is unhappy when Audrey gets the post she was vying for. Steve warns Tom that his suspension may halt any promotions Tom had hoped for.

GUIDING LIGHT: Alan Michael and Harley learn about George's drug dealings. Harley wonders if Frank is involved in the unsavory business. Alan Michael has the same fears about Alan. Rick is devastated when one of his young patients dies of a drug overdose. Cameron is deeply affected by the death. Maeve accepts Fletcher's marriage proposal and his requirement that they say "I do" within 48 hours. Johnny convinces Reva to return to Springfield.

LOVING: Kate warns Clay he had better do something about Egypt. Jim is heartbroken when he learns his divorce from Shana will be final in two weeks. Jack buys a condo. When Jack starts to drop big bucks at the gaming tables, Rick tosses him out of the casino. Clay is nervous about Ava's pregnancy, but Ava feels this may be their chance to start life anew. Clay dreams that his secrets are exposed and that everyone casts him out. Jack falsely believes that Stacey and Rick are lovers.

ONE LIFE TO LIVE: The real Bo calls Asa's for help. "Faux" Bo answers the phone and, disguising his voice, promises the real Bo that he and Didi will soon be rescued. The real Bo learns that Delilah is being held captive and will be killed if Didi and Bo do not come forward. A heartbroken Cassie watches as Rob and Joanna wed. Mary Lyn has sex with Wade after pretending she and Griffin have had a session of rough sex. Brenda grows closer to Steve. Tina thinks "faux" Bo, who she does not know is an impostor, is falling in love with her.

RYAN'S HOPE: Ryan is numbed by Mark's death. When drugs are found in Mark's possession, the police think he may have died of an overdose. Ryan assures them that Mark did not use drugs, but they tell her that even a single use of drugs can be deadly. Anthony is out on bail. Sister Mary Joel is not sure she agrees with Mother Superior's contention that the man Sister Mary Joel is concerned about is dead. Zena wants to have her graduation party at Ryan's bar.

SANTA BARBARA: Pamela gives Gina half a million to get Jeffrey off the hook for trying to kill Kelly, and to get T.J. on the hook. As Kelly lies in a coma, Sophia visits T.J. and slaps him, saying she wanted to see the man who tried to kill her daughter. Heather and Scott make love. Heather tells her brother, Father Michael, that Sister Sarah needs medical attention. Kelly comes out of her coma. Julia's ignorance about religion makes Father Michael suspicious of her contention that she is a nun.

YOUNG AND RESTLESS: Philip invites Nina to his birthday party. She gives him photos of his family and thanks him for making her feel a part of it. Philip agrees to give Nina money for new clothes. Mitchell tells Victor he can't legally withhold Philip's trust fund. Nicki finally tells Victor she is pregnant. He agrees to assume financial responsibility for the child, but promises nothing beyond that. Jessica improves, but John and Crickett have questions about her illness. Working under cover, Nathan gets a lead in the theft case. Lauren continues to pursue Paul.

Women elected to Friar's Club

NEW YORK (AP) — A bevy of high-powered female celebrities, including Barbra Streisand, Elizabeth Taylor and Lucille Ball, were the first women elected to the Friar's Club to comply with a recent U.S. Supreme Court ruling.

Other newcomers were Barbara Sinatra, Carol Burnett, Eydie Gorme, Dinah Shore, Phyllis Diller and Martha Raye. Liza Minnelli, who applied for regular membership, was approved.

'Yesterday' relevant today

PASADENA (AP) — Actress Rebecca DeMornay, reprising Judy Holliday's Oscar-winning role in the 1946 comedy-drama "Born Yesterday," says she's amazed the story on Washington corruption is so relevant today.

DeMornay, who starred in the films "Risky Business" and "The Trip to Bountiful," plays a woman who learns her boyfriend is involved in government corruption in a stage production beginning Sunday at the Pasadena Playhouse.

"It's amazingly reflective of our times," DeMornay said. "I'm going to rehearsals and I see huge headlines in the newspapers, 'Bribery Exceeds All Limits.' That's what this play is about!"

Masters' works elegantly played

MICHAEL RYDZYNSKI

The Haydn Orchestra distinguished the second concert of the Seal Beach Chamber Music Festival Wednesday evening with sensitive, elegant interpretations of works spanning more than 150 years.

Under the steady direction of conductor Alan Parker, who started the festival 13 years ago, the all-string Haydn Orchestra opened with Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart's String Divertimento No. 2 in B-flat Major, K. 137 (1772). Although starting rather heavy and stretched out (andante), the performance finally came together in the much quicker allegro di molto and allegro assai movements, both marked by crisp phrasing and articulate nuances.

In Johann Sebastian Bach's Suite No. 2 in B Minor for Flute, Strings and Basso Continuo, BWV 1067, written between 1717 and 1723, Lawrence Kaplan rendered his solo flute part with quiet dignity and finesse. His mellow tone and accurate, rapid fingerwork matched and meshed well with the orchestra. Especially notable was the duet between Kaplan and principal cellist Andrew Honca in the Polonaise-and-Double movement, characterized by rhythmic conciseness and lilting buoyancy.

However well he played, Kaplan should have been physically integrated into the orchestra, since the suite isn't a flute concerto. And the orchestra really did miss the gentle but conspicuous support of a harpsichord.

After intermission, the Haydn Orchestra finished the concert with Antonin Dvorak's 1875 Serenade in E Major for Strings, Op. 22. Unlike the Mozart and the Bach, where the number of players was ideal, size proved somewhat of a detriment in the Dvorak. The 12-piece orchestra occasionally struggled to sound like a fully complemented string ensemble, with soft passages in the violins' higher registers sounding especially thin and tonally unstable — as in the Slavonic folk dance-like second movement (tempo di valse).

Still, there were times when the orchestra sounded at least a little larger than it was, including (curiously enough) most forte passages. Volume contrasts were delineated most effectively, while a vivid stereophonic balance was struck between the violins and the celli/bass — with violas switching sides — during such compellingly dramatic dialogues as those in the first movement.

As a whole, the orchestra's Dvorak performance was marked by extreme clarity.

And oh, yes, this time the players only retuned three times during the night (and none in the Mozart!). Quite an improvement over the previous Wednesday's quartet concert, during which the musicians retuned after every movement.

The next Seal Beach Chamber Music Festival concert occurs at 8 p.m. Wednesday, when the popular California Trio and pianist Albert Dominguez (of the Pasadena-based Southwest Chamber Music Society) perform piano quartets by Johannes Brahms and Aaron Copland. Like all concerts in the series, this concert is free and takes place in the sanctuary of the Church of Religious Science, located at 500 Marina Drive in Seal Beach.

MONEY, MONEY, EVERYWHERE!

Question: How many types of home loans are available to buyers in today's money marketplace?

Answer: How many would you like?

Less than a decade ago, conventional home loans were limited to basically three types: the 80% (loan to value), the 90%, and the 95% loan. Simply put, these loans required a downpayment of 20%, 10% or 5% and carried the current market rate of interest. The loan was generally amortized over thirty years. Period.

"In recent years, however, the sources of home loans (the mortgage brokers, savings and loans, and other lenders) have begun to take a marketing stance. They have created a broad variety of loans designed to meet the changing needs of home buyers. In short, they have adapted their loans plans to buyers' financial needs, instead of requiring buyers to meet existing loan guidelines.

The benefit to buyers has been "a plan for every need." There are now fifteen year, as well as thirty year loans. And interest rates may be lower for shorter loans. There are thirty year loans with bi-weekly payments which are fully amortized after only eighteen years.

Adjustable rate loans, with lower rates in the early years, make it easier to qualify for a larger home. And fixed rate loans can be "bought-down" to lower rates too. Chances are, you qualify for a home loan you might not expect!

[illegible] FREE NO OBLIGATION in depth evaluation of your property. If you are buying or selling, it makes sense to utilize a proven 10 year TOP PRODUCER.

We've recently hosted numerous Merrill Lynch sales personnel. They've toured the office, met with you and previewed our Open Houses. They always comment how impressed they are with you.

I agree! Our record sales, quality listings and professional approach to residential real estate is a source of great pride to me. You are one super sales staff.

RE/MAX agent enjoys coastal housing market

By Ilene Schneider
Daily Pilot Correspondent

"The coastal Orange County real estate market will continue to be exciting," Ron Felsot, an agent at RE/MAX of Newport Beach, said.

Felsot specializes in the gate-guarded community of Belcourt in Newport Beach, while selling and listing homes all over Newport Beach, Irvine and Laguna Beach.

Felsot began his real estate career in 1971, selling VA/no money down new homes in Chino. He continued to progress in real estate, working his way up the corporate ladder by assisting management with marketing and future development plans. The various areas of hands-on involvement led to better job opportunities with different developers in different areas of Southern California in changing market conditions.

In 1974 Felsot moved to Orange County with The Irvine Co. as on-site sales manager for a variety of the company's projects. "The Orange County housing market was just beginning to take off during this period," Felsot said. "I remember the first lotteries that were common at the time."

After two years with The Irvine Co., Felsot was offered an opportunity to work with the J.M. Peters Co. as an on-site sales manager. At Peters he introduced developments such as University Park, Woodside, Northwood and Turtle Rock Ridge to the home-buying public.

In 1982 he was promoted to Peter's showcase development at Belcourt that included custom homesites, tennis court estates and townhomes. The Belcourt position proved very successful; Felcourt had sales of more than $125 million after four years.

Having attained and surpassed all of his goals at Belcourt, Felsot decided to go into business for himself through the RE/MAX realtor program. He joined the offices of broker-owner Craig Batley and helped him to pioneer that office. After joining RE/MAX, Felsot had $2 million in sales during his first month. Since then, he has become one of the premier agents at RE/MAX.

Felsot, a Detroit native, attributes much of his success to his fine-tuned marketing program, which helped him to be the top real estate agent in Belcourt, he said. "I have developed a game plan, stayed with it and concentrated on the top end of the marketplace."

Most recently Felsot sold a Belcourt estate for $2.225 million. He represented both the buyer and the seller, which is typical for Felsot, who sells most of his own new listings.

A traditional ribbon cutting and reception will introduce the new headquarters which is centrally located for serving Orange, San Bernardino and Riverside counties.

In the heart of the platinum triangle with easy access to the Santa Ana, Orange and Garden Grove freeways, the landmark building gives Great Western Real Estate a first class image consistent with the company's already outstanding service.

The new landmark building allows for continued expansion of services and personnel. Sharing the first floor with Kaufman and Broad, Great Western Real Estate's Commercial Division will occupy approximately 7,000 square feet, designed for up to 40 agents to work from that office.

Chicago Title's research expert attributes growth to economy

The longest sustained period of growth and commercial expansion in modern times has helped restore a sense of normalcy and geographic balance in the United States that many once feared we might never see again — at least not in this century.

John Pfister, vice president and market research manager for Chicago Title Insurance Co., the nation's leading insurer of property titles, says the decade of the '80s began with the economy mored in a protracted recession that skewed and distorted traditional geographical growth patterns.

A not uncommon perception of the future projected a frozen wasteland of shuttered factories in the Northeast and in the nation's traditional heartland. A benign and benevolent sun was seen perpetually caressing more temperate areas of the country, courting new growth and expansion at the Frost Belt's expense.

Out-migration characterized the pattern in older, more traditional markets of the North and Midwest, Pfister said. Southern regions of the country were seen absorbing the overflow in an expansive era of prosperity and employment growth.

"For reasons that seemed logical at the time, it was widely assumed that this trend or shift would probably continue indefinitely into the future," he said.

Six years of steady, if not spectacular growth has dramatically altered the picture, Pfister said an analysis of the dollars spent on non-residential construction projects in various regions of the country reveals just how significant the changes that have evolved have been.

Non-residential construction dollar totals reported by the U.S. Department of Commerce for five major construction categories — office, industrial, additions and alterations, retail and "all other" — reveal that the sun hasn't set on southern markets. However, a combination of economic factors have contributed to changing growth patterns, including the global oil glut and subsequent drop in oil prices, transition to a service-oriented economy and the growth of high-tech industries in traditional manufacturing areas of the country, and devaluation of the U.S. dollar, which has made items produced in this country more competitive abroad.

Since 1982, dollars spent in the five construction categories have risen 23 percent in the South census region and 40 percent in the West. But the major improvement has occurred in the Northeast and North Central census regions, where dollars spent were up 87 percent and 91 percent respectively over the same time period.

California, Florida and Texas continue to pace the nation in non-residential construction dollars spent. But among the top 10 states in total non-residential construction dollar volume, six are "Rust Belt" states that have gained momentum during the prolonged recovery period. This list includes Illinois, New York, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Ohio and New Jersey.

Fifth-ranked Virginia is the other state ranked among the leaders, primarily due to its participation in the construction boom that has propelled the Washington, D.C. metropolitan area into the spotlight, as the nation's second-leading non-residential construction market behind Los Angeles.

From a national perspective, Pfister says some areas of the country will continue to outperform others. But the future holds out promise that the country's future growth patterns will avoid the lop-sided regional distortions that developed in the past.

Prior to joining Coldwell Banker this year, experienced agent Beverly Dresnick worked for a local real estate broker in the Huntington Beach area where she established a strong reputation for her exceptional sales skills and real estate knowledge.

When Dresnick moved to the Coto de Caza community, Coldwell Banker offered her an ideal working situation.

Dresnick will work out of the firm's Huntington Beach and El Toro offices.

"Working with Coldwell Banker, I am now able to continue my sales efforts in the Huntington Beach area while pursuing new real estate business around where I live. Both offices have a strong local presence and exciting marketing programs," Dresnick said.

Dresnick has been involved in real estate for 16 years, for most of those years she achieved multi-million-dollar sales status. She is active in the Huntington Beach Fountain Valley Board of Realtors and the National and California Association of Realtors.

Dresnick is also a member of the Kappa Sigma Mother's Club and the Coto De Caza Golf Club. She resides in Coto De Caza with her husband Michael. They have one son, David, who is attending college at the University of Southern California.

Kitchens are becoming centerplace of home

Kitchens are making a comeback in the American home. This traditional center of hearth and home has been gradually shrinking in size as women entered the workplace and families began popping dinners into the microwave in ever-increasing numbers.

Now in 1988, the pendulum is swinging back, and kitchens are regaining its former prominence as "most-important-room-in-the-house." We're choosing to eat out less often, and entertain more at home. The size of our families is growing and economic issues curb us from frivolous spending. And both men and women are discovering a new recreational hobby — gourmet cooking. The big winner in all this: the kitchen.

Is your kitchen as warm and inviting as it could be? And is it as functional as it might be?

1. People spend much of their time in the kitchen sink. It should be positioned beneath a window or, when that is not possible, so it looks out over a living area. "Nothing is more boring than cutting potatoes as you look at a wall," Trupp said.

2. Cabinets represent the single largest surface in the kitchen. The choice of cabinetry can boldly establish the look of the kitchen from contemporary country with pastel or bleached wood cabinetry, or streamlined and sleek with european laminates, now available in every color of the spectrum from pastels to black. Ovens are also on the market now with matching cabinet fronts, so that the eye is not distracted with a black oven window.

3. Kitchens are basically colorless rooms, and colors often are found in wallcoverings to complement and add punch to cabinetry. Colors will continue to be vibrant and compelling in 1988. Look for such hot colors as bronzes, magentas, deep teals and jewel tones with a touch of metallic coloring.

4. For a touch of luxury, consider updating countertops with a new faux finish such as avonite, a simulated marble/granite material.

5. Every kitchen, even the smallest, should have a pantry, says Trupp. A pantry is a floor-to-ceiling cabinet designed specifically for food storage. "Even if it's just one can deep, a pantry provides luxurious space for homeowners," Trupp said.

6. Time to trade in tired linoleum for one of the new bleached-wood floors, now available with polyethylene covering that virtually eliminates scratches. Or, consider Mexican paver tiles for a rich, textured flavor.

7. The most cumbersome appliance in the kitchen is the refrigerator. To open up the room visually and not obstruct traffic flow, the refrigerator should be positioned in a corner. The refrigerator should open in a direction that also allows convenient access.

8. Fluorescent lighting must go. It's not flattering to you or to your food, Trupp said. Instead, invest in a combination of track, or Halogen ceiling lights, with task lighting over work areas. And in the dining room, consider adding a dimmer switch to set the mood.

9. If your kitchen has an available corner, consider installing a built-in desk and cabinet for "homework" such as bill paying or recipe filing. Above the desk, a built-in could accommodate anything from cabinetry for storage or a television, to a wine-rack or a collection of recipe books.

10. It's high time you avail yourself of at least one of the following: a microwave, food processor or videotape player in the kitchen for cooking classes at home.

"The updating of a kitchen is one of the easiest ways to add to the value of your home in 1988," Trupp said. "But after you see the improvements, you probably won't want to sell."

an industry leader with an emphasis on service for real estate investors. This is achieved through an intensive ongoing training program for sales associates. The 240-hour course gives the specific knowledge and background necessary for selling commercial properties. Because of this in-depth training, Del Wall, vice president, Commercial Division, believes that Great Western Real Estate had developed a competitive edge in selling commercial property.

"Our training program for commercial brokerage is the most extensive in the industry. We are proud of our sales associates, as they exemplify the finest in commercial real estate," Wall said.

Currently, the Commercial Division focuses mainly on investment real estate sales and leasing. Future plans for the division include expansion of territory with possible offices in the Inland Empire, San Diego, West Los Angeles and Sacramento Valley areas. A property management division is also in the initial planning stages and would provide a full range of services for investors.

Great Western Real Estate offers full real estate services through residential and commercial brokerage, relocations, new-home sales, market research, mortgage services, escrow and insurance. For more information, call (714) 938-2900 or (213) 935-8359.

Local Realtors offer tips on child-proofing home

Toddlers can be a real joy whether they're your own children or a niece, nephew or grandchild. And now that summertime is here, make sure you are fully prepared for their upcoming visit by child-proofing your home. The Newport Harbor-Costa Mesa Board of Realtors has a few safety suggestions so your house will be ready to cope with a young child's never-ending curiosity. Make sure you check the following areas to prevent accidents and injuries.

Children get hurt by falling on hard surfaces or cutting themselves against square edges. Prevent these kind of mishaps by getting rubber corner protectors available at hardware and furniture stores. Remove any fragile occasional tables and plant stands that can tumble easily.

All cabinets should be locked with latches either inside or out. Lock away such dangerous substances as detergents, bleaches, solvents, polishers and other cleaning supplies to prevent poisonings. Keep all medicines and cosmetics out of reach and in the original containers with child-proof caps.

Again, lock up all household cleaners and place knives high on the wall in an enclosed knife rack. Remember that children can turn on faucets and scald themselves. The American Academy of Pediatrics recommends parents adjust their water heater so water temperature cannot exceed 120 degrees Farenheit.

Gates can only be temporary barriers to keep children from using stairs. Some toddlers learn to climb over them. The traditional accordian gates are particularly easy to master. Buy sturdier gates made of plastic or solid wood frame models that are strung with polyethylene mesh to provide a more effective barrier.

Dangling electric cords are fascinating playthings for children. Buy cord shorteners at the hardware store. These are strips of plastic around which the excess cord is wrapped. Cords that are thin, or frayed should be replaced immediately. Buy small flat covers for outlets not in use to prevent children from inserting their fingers or other objects.

Outdoor swimming pools and ponds are very inviting to children and dangerous as well. Some localities require that a protective barrier such as a fence be put around pools to keep out small children. Make sure at all times that there is adequate supervision when children are playing in an area near a body of water.

In addition, close bathroom doors to keep children from entering and perhaps climbing and slipping into the bathtub. Tack down rugs to prevent falls and pick up all small objects that may be swallowed. While plants are beautiful to look at, some are poisonous and could be fatal if eaten by a child. Keep them safely out of reach. Lastly, never let children play in the garage, attic or basement. There are too many hazards such as tools and paints which could lead to serious injury.

Children are inquisitive by nature and are eager to learn what things feel, smell and taste like. By following the above tips from the Newport Harbor-Costa Mesa Board of Realtors, you can peacefully enjoy your summer by safely allowing the children in your home to investigate the fun world around them.

Associates join Grubb & Ellis

Kelson McDaniel, David Strankus and Chris Francis have joined Grubb & Ellis' San Clemente residential brokerage office as sales associates, announced Paul Yoder, vice president and district manager.

Prior to joining Grubb & Ellis, McDaniel served as Police Chief for the cities of San Clemente and Los Alamitos and has served in public office for the past 26 years. He holds a master's degree from Pepperdine University. McDaniel is a resident of San Clemente.

A resident of San Clemente since 1970, Strankus is involved in many community affairs and currently serves on a committee for the homeless. He holds a bachelor's degree from the University of Massachusetts.

Before joining Grubb & Ellis, Francis was a sales associate with Tarbell Realty. Previously she was a school teacher in Los Angeles for the Newport-Mesa Unified School District. She holds a bachelor's degree from the University of California at Los Angeles.

Grubb & Ellis is the largest independent real estate services firm in the United States with offices nationwide.

Hummel joins Jamboree Realty

Jerry Hummel recently joined Jamboree Realty Corp. of Newport Beach, bringing with him 15 years of experience in the management of shopping centers, office buildings and apartments.

In charge of the firm's commercial accounts, Hummel oversees large commercial developments such as eight shopping centers for Hopkins Development, the Los Altos mall for BCE Development (formerly Daon Corp.), and an industrial building in Brea for Barrington Capital Corp.

Hummel formerly worked as vice president for Diversified Properties. In this role, he was responsible for the company's property management division.

"The 1986 Tax Reform Act required that property be managed more efficiently than ever before," Hummel said. He believes that the age of buying property for tax-deferment purpose is over.

"Now, the bottom line is so much more important, so expenses must be minimized and income must be maximized. But I like it," he said. "It makes good property management companies more in demand than ever before."

Coldwell names top agent

Steve Searby of Coldwell Banker's Irvine office was recently recognized for his outstanding sales achievements for the month of April. Searby was named the top office agent in sales volume and number of transactions for the same month.

Searby, a resident of Irvine, received his real estate license in May, 1986 and joined the Irvine office at that time. "Steve's strengths are his impressive negotiating skills and his admirable tenacity — he is relentless in his search for the right property for his clients," Jane Mitchler, branch manager, said.

In 1987 Searby was among the Top Five Sales Agents - Outgoing Referrals and was a member of Coldwell Banker's Bronze Circle for his sales production.

Prior to his real estate career, Searby worked as an assistant pharmacist in Mammoth Mountain, then moved to New Zealand where he was a professional ski instructor.

For more information contact Coldwell Banker's Irvine office located at 35 Creek Rd., or call (714) 552-2000.

Coldwell Banker, the country's largest full-service real estate firm, is 82 years old and a member of the Sears Financial Network. Coldwell Banker Residential Group, one of three residential real estate units, has more than 2,000 owned and franchised residential real estate offices nationwide. This group owns companies that supply a complete range of services including brokerage, relocation, mortgage, title, escrow and new-homes marketing. The other business units are Coldwell Banker Commercial Group and Homart Development Co.

Interest rate for adjustable rate mortgages (ARM) is a low introductory rate for the first adjustment period. APR for both fixed and ARM loans will be higher. Down payment is amount of cash (% of sales price) paid to lender prior to signing mortgage contract. Points are % of loan balance paid to lender at time of loan closing. Lock-in is the number of days lender guarantees rate prior to closing. Maximum loan ($000) is the maximum lender will loan under given terms. All rates subject to change. Verify rate and terms prior to applying for a loan. All lenders charge other fees in addition to those shown.

DIMES-A-LINE

OUR FAMOUS HAS RETURNED!

Back by popular demand, Dimes-A-Line will run Friday, Saturday and Sunday in its own classification in the Classified Ads.

Since this is a special offer, we have a Thursday noon deadline and ask prepayment for all ads. This is open to all private party advertisers for merchandise not over $150 (price must be listed in ad) and no abbreviations will be accepted. All ads will run Friday, Saturday and Sunday. There is a 5-line minimum at 20¢ per line. So your low cost Dimes-A-Line ad is only ...

$3.00.

DEADLINE: Thursday noon
PRICE: 5 line minimum • 3 days • 20¢ per line = $3.00

- All ads are prepaid by coming into the Daily Pilot to place your ad or use the coupon below.
- Private party merchandise only ads. No commercial ads, pets, livestock, produce or plants.
- Each item must be priced in the ad with no items over $150.

• BOX SCORE! Challenge: Place digits 1 through 6 in boxes of the figure, right, so that the sum of the numbers in any two adjacent spoke-segments of the wheel total the same amount as the sum of the two numbers diagonally opposite. Each number is to be inserted once.

Can you work it out?

Three at top, then clockwise: 6, 7, 2, 9, 4, 5, 8, 1, 10 will do it.

• TURN TALE! Replace X's with a single vowel so the following sentence will read the same backwards and forwards: M X D X M I M X D X M.

Replace X's with the letter A

SOME FOURTH DIMENSIONS!

WHO'S NEWS

Q. Does Atlanta Braves outfielder Dale Murphy have a nickname?
— James Wright
Decatur, Miss.

A. His teammates call him "Buckethead" — someone who does things wrong — because he seems to do everything right. Although struggling this season, Murphy, 32, is a two-time Most Valuable Player and five-time Gold Glove. Vital stats: 6-foot-4, 215 pounds, ambidextrous. Murphy does lots of charity work and gives 10-12 percent of his $2 million annual salary to the Mormon Church. He and wife Nancy have five sons and live in Roswell, Ga.

By Ron Wyatt

MURPHY: Has played in seven All-Star Games

Q. Has the producer of the TV show Tour of Duty been in Vietnam?
— Paul Murphy, Unionville, Mich.

A. No, executive producer Zev Braun has not. But assistant director Tony Mason and props master Richard Mazzochi are Vietnam vets. The actors, of course, were too young.

Q. How long does it take to braid Terence Trent D'Arby's hair?
— Vicki Gardner, Hoosick Falls, N.Y.

A. About 18 hours. A preacher's son, D'Arby wasn't allowed to listen to rock as a kid in De Land, Fla., where he was regional Golden Gloves boxing champ. D'Arby, 26, joined the Army, but went AWOL to pursue music. He found fame in Britain (he lives in London) with his debut album, which spawned the hit USA single Wishing Well.

By Sheila Rock

D'ARBY: Second album is due early next year.

Q. Who is President Reagan's personal secretary?
— Brian Seltzer, Gaithersburg, Md.

A. Kathy Osborne, 44, a divorced mother of two, has been with the Reagans since the '70s, when he was California governor. On call 24 hours, she has an office near the Rose Garden and keeps track of schedules, calls and personal mail (150 pieces daily).

— Bryan Ross
Watsonville, Calif.

A. In Japan, Seagal studied tai chi, kung fu and earned a sixth-degree black belt in aikido. He's the first non-Asian to open a dojo — martial arts academy — in Tokyo, where he says he ran "safe houses" for political refugees. Seagal (pronounced say-GAHL), 38, is writing a screenplay and oversees his L.A. dojo. He lives in Beverly Hills with wife/actress Kelly LeBrock and their daughter.

Q. Who's the lonely Maytag repairman?
— Pam Frazier
Ottumwa, Iowa

A. For 21 years, it's been Jesse White, 69. Familiar to '50s audiences, he played the sanitarium attendant in the film Harvey and Cagey Calhoun in TV's Private Secretary. In real life, he's a popular after-dinner speaker.

— Barbara Gregory, Las Vegas

A. A top-rated disc jockey in the early '70s, Stevens, 41, replaces Casey Kasem as the American Top 40 radio host this month. Born Terry Ingstad in Jamestown, N.D., the silky bass lives in L.A., is married and has a baby girl. Look for Stevens' debut movie, Traxx, on video in August. Also coming: a poster, line of greeting cards and a TV series in which he'll play a Magnum, P.I.-type character. But he'll still be on Squares.

Q. Whatever happened to Jessica McClure, the baby who fell into the well in Texas?
— Amy Kilpatrick
Bethlehem, Pa.

A. She's "doing beautifully and is talking up a storm," says Pete Snelson, a publicist hired to deal with the deluge of inquiries. The Midland 2-year-old apparently doesn't remember much about her 58-hour ordeal last October. And the skin grafts on her amputated toe are doing fine. After much local bickering, Interscope Communications of L.A. won the movie rights. It's scheduled for the fall on ABC, but the writers' strike might cause delays.

— Regina Dennis

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Pick your Rhett and Scarlett

Call in your vote! 1-900-255-LINE Sunday only, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Q. Who will star in the sequel to Gone With the Wind?
— Arthur Porell
Poland Springs, Maine

A. Frankly, the roles are up for grabs. So why don't you tell us who should fill the shoes of Clark Gable and Vivien Leigh? Call in your vote for any actor Sunday on the USA WEEKEND hotline.

Joy Todd, who cast Someone to Watch Over Me, wants to pair the English beauty Greta Scacchi (White Mischief) with Selleck: "In the Clark Gable mold, you need a hunk."

Look for the film after the GWTW book sequel by Alexandra Ripley, due in 1990.

Join in a Tribute to One of America's Greatest Ships

- By acclaimed marine artist Tom Freeman, A.S.M.A.
- Limited edition
- Decorative 23K gold border
- Actual size: 9"

U.S.S. CONSTITUTION

She is docked today in her home port of Boston, very near the site where she was christened in 1797, just 10 years after the signing of our Constitution. She is one of America's greatest and most honored sailing ships—the historic U.S.S. Constitution.

Now, in commemoration of the 200th anniversary of the signing of America's Constitution, The Hamilton Collection has commissioned the creation of a stunning collector plate to honor the ship that has become a symbol of the enduring American spirit. Created by renowned marine artist Tom Freeman, this masterful tribute captures the power, beauty, and speed of this classic sailing ship on fine, shimmering porcelain.

The U.S.S. Constitution is depicted passing the Rock of Gibraltar as she sails to her first major victory, in the Tripolitan Wars of 1804, with the Stars and Stripes flapping proudly in the wind.

Tom Freeman's "U.S.S. Constitution" gains added significance because it marks the collector plate debut of an artist whose original paintings sell for as high as $15,000. A member of the prestigious American Society of Marine Artists, Tom Freeman creates art that is acclaimed for its brilliance, dramatic style, and attention to detail—the very qualities which have the potential to make "U.S.S. Constitution" one of the most sought after collector plates in recent history.

"U.S.S. Constitution" premieres an important collection of eight plates entitled America's Greatest Sailing Ships. Each issue will feature a Tom Freeman original work, framed with a decorative 23K gold border, honoring one of America's classic ships from the "Age of Sail." Each plate will be hand-numbered on its reverse and accompanied by a same-numbered Certificate of Authenticity, attesting to its place within the edition of a total of 14 firing days.

As an owner of "U.S.S. Constitution," you will have the right—but never the obligation—to acquire all subsequent plates at the guaranteed price of just $29.50 each. Furthermore, you may acquire "U.S.S. Constitution" and every plate in the collection at absolutely no risk. The Hamilton Collection 100% Buy-Back Guarantee assures that you may return any plate for a full, unquestioned refund within 30 days of receipt.

Considering the significance of this premiere—and, with the Constitution's Bicentennial celebration adding to the demand, it is important that you respond promptly. Applications will be processed in order of receipt, so send in yours today!

Sitting pretty Liza

Her new Arthur movie is 'On the Rocks,' but her life is clear sailing

Welcome to Liza Minnelli's party. Guests like pal Kathleen Turner are greeted at the door with a full, lingering body hug. New faces get "Hi, I'm Liza" with a big smile, outstretched hand, sincere voice. The introduction startles and charms — after all, who else could she be?

The party's bouncy Brazilian music forces Liza to break into a hip shimmy every so often. Her shocking pink tie-dyed evening pajamas blaze against the black-tie crowd. It's lively, this private party co-hosted by designer Halston at his chic Manhattan home. But look. Liza's leaving. And it's barely midnight.

"After a certain age," she says matter-of-factly, "you just slow down."

At 42, Liza may be lollygagging, but her career — no longer sidetracked by drugs and alcohol — is speeding ahead.

On Wednesday, she reunites with Dudley Moore in Arthur 2 on the Rocks, a witty, fast-paced sequel to the 1981 comedy hit that asks if an eccentric, slightly tipsy millionaire and a poor Brooklyn waitress can find marital bliss.

In September, she races through an 11-city concert tour with the reincorporated Rat Pack, sharing the stage with Frank Sinatra and Sammy Davis Jr. Her June TV special, Triple Play, grabbed solid ratings, and a new pop album is in the works.

"I remember when I had success the first time," muses the owner of an Oscar, an Emmy and three Tonys, while sipping tea at her kitchen table. "It was: 'Oh wow, look at all this attention. I guess I must deserve it.' When it happens the second time, it is more in perspective: 'Oh, thank you. Now I'm going to go home to the other part of my life.' "

And that centers around her husband since 1979, modern sculptor Mark Gero. "When people hear we've been married almost 10 years, they say 'Oh.' As in 'Oh, damn, she's happy? Too bad.' " She shakes her head. "They seem disappointed."

After all, Minnelli has swung through two previous marriages (to Peter Allen 1967-72 and to Jack Haley Jr. 1974-78) and a half-dozen headline-making romances (with the likes of Desi Arnaz Jr. and Peter Sellers). But now Minnelli has met her match in low-key Gero, 35, who makes Picasso-esque sculptures of wood and stone. "Our marriage is solid," she says. "No complaints. Really!"

Nights at the Gero household are casual. "We rarely go out to dinner. We spend time around this kitchen" — a comfortable, everywoman's working kitchen, with pots and pans in the sink and a chocolate cake resting on the Spanish tile countertop. But,

Dudley Moore and his new bride, Brogan Lane, received the Minnelli tour while filming Arthur 2 in Manhattan.

"Liza and Mark took us to a little Italian restaurant in the theater district," Moore says. "But, in truth, whenever the four of us got together, we'd simply talk about food. Liza and I are prone to putting on pounds so we would discuss all the foods we couldn't eat. It was one continuous rap session."

And it is one long duet every time Minnelli visits buddy Sammy Davis Jr. "If you just say 'hello' it goes into four choruses," Davis says. "Liza and I have worked everybody's living room in California and New York."

Minnelli is one of the best-liked people in Hollywood; she has a core of lifelong friends but pals around with younger names like Madonna and Cyndi Lauper, too. She has no kids but she's godmother to 11 of her friends' children.

Says Cabaret co-star Joel Grey: "She's the best person to be around because she tends to get very calm in frazzled situations. She's a good anchor, a steady ship. She's had to be — considering plenty of people have tried to sink her."

Minnelli knows how to keep frazzled situations out of her apartment in New York: "I turn it off by shutting that door and turning on the phone service. We have a very good doorman. No one gets up."

Minnelli and Gero often retreat to their home in Lake Tahoe, where he outskis her on the slopes. And they're planning to buy another house in Upstate New York. "We're looking for a country place," she says. "A white picket fence would be nice — as long as it has sharp points." Forty years in the public eye has had its effects.

The world never has stopped comparing Minnelli to her mother, Judy Garland, and expecting the daughter to follow that same self-destructive path. So when her career cooled down a few years ago, and her addictions became public, people were sure she was doomed.

"The misconception has been that I'm out of control. I'm destructive. I'm tortured. Then the capper was when I checked into the Betty Ford Center (in 1984). That gave everyone the chance to say, 'See, I told you she was screwed up.' They didn't realize that it was only those last two years when the medicine for my back (Valium for her mild scoliosis) really took over.

"I think it has helped that I've always been under the microscope," she continues. "I never had to change. Look at the guy who lives in Queens (N.Y.), has a walk-up apartment, scores one hit song and — boom — suddenly he can't walk out on the streets without bodyguards. No one treats you like a normal person. That is a shock to the body and mind that I've never experienced."

Minnelli, in crocheted pink jacket and skirt, patiently signs a stack of 8x10 glossy photos, courteously thanks people who tell her "you're just as good as your mother" and poses for snapshots with fans who briefly squeeze next to her.

"These days are fun," she says. "You're handed old album covers, old playbills (to sign) and you see your whole career pass in front of you. Besides, who wouldn't enjoy receiving a solid hour of compliments in the middle of a fragrance department?"

She's been getting a lot of compliments lately.

"I look 10 years younger in Arthur 2," she reports. "It's so strange. People from the studio stare at me, squint at me. I'm thinner. I can see the difference in my skin. And I'm not tired. During Arthur, I was tired a lot. I didn't know I was ill."

"I look 10 years younger in 'Arthur 2.' It's so strange. People from the studio stare at me, squint at me. I'm thinner. I can see the difference in my skin. And I'm not tired. During 'Arthur,' I was tired a lot."

CLOWNING AROUND: With Dudley Moore, her co-star in Arthur 2 on the Rocks, opening Wednesday.

Through her drug and alcohol rehabilitation, she's learned a new pace. "To be calm, on the edge of boredom," she lectures herself with great conviction, "is the best thing I could possibly achieve. What keeps me together today is knowing that if I relax, if I don't take care, if I get lazy, I'm going to go off track."

So she keeps regular hours now. She's sworn off late-night parties and instead rises at 7 a.m., to run through a series of ballet-inspired stretching exercises before getting down to business. Roni Gallion, her personal assistant of six years, helps field requests for Minnelli's time and talent while working at the star's at-home office.

Minnelli's six-room apartment is decidedly art deco — marble floors, glass tables, black dining room furniture. One wall features a half-dozen paintings by her father, director Vincent Minnelli; another wall displays a simple sketch of a dancer's leg, signed: "To Liza, Andy Warhol." Lucite cigarette holders are everywhere. Smoking "is my one remaining vice."

Almost. She's also a compulsive list-maker. "If I have one main addiction that I like, it is my organization. I can't stand chaos. We make lists every few hours. It grants me a great deal of serenity."

So does watching soap operas while touring. "Look, when you travel a lot, what's the constant? The soaps. If you quizzed me on the plots, I would generally know what's going on. And I go to the theater. I love watching other people work."

Minnelli also loves playing the "If" game. Her rules: "Whenever things get too crazed and we're sitting in the back of a limo going to wherever we have to be, I'll say, 'OK, if we could be anywhere we wanted to be right now, where would it be?'

"Someone will say, for example, Puerto Vallarta. OK, what kind of shoes are we wearing? How hot is it? We get so into it, so detailed. After 10 minutes, we've had a whole vacation. With a little imagination, we can visit a half-dozen cities in an afternoon."

For now, Minnelli's trips center on promoting Arthur 2.

"It would be thrilling if the movie is a hit. The original has wonderful followers, people who quote the movie line-by-line," she says proudly. "Anytime you hear someone say, 'I hate when that happens' or 'I'll alert the media,' that's from Arthur. It has great catch phrases.

"This one is more about Linda and Arthur than the first one. They're now married and want to adopt a baby. It leaves room for Arthur 3 . . . why not?"

Ultimately, it's Liza and the guys

At the time, Liza Minnelli could barely reach the kitchen table where mom Judy Garland and Beverly Hills buddies like Humphrey Bogart and Frank Sinatra played cards till morning. By 1960, the cards were being dealt in Las Vegas and there were new poker faces: Dean Martin, Sammy Davis Jr., Shirley MacLaine, Joey Bishop and the late Peter Lawford.

That's the legendary Rat Pack, at first inseparable, later impossible to reunite. This year, a Sinatra-Davis-Martin tour barely began when Martin dropped out. Now, he's singing in Las Vegas rather than rejoining the tour.

Into the void steps Minnelli. "Sammy and Frank called me about 20 times. It's a major tour and they needed a pal to fill in. First, you know someone as your parents' friends, then you get to an age where they stop patting you on the head and say, 'What are you passionate about?' It turns into an adult friendship. That has happened with Sammy and Frank — though Frank will always think of me as a kid."

"I have known Liza since she made the very first sound on this earth," Sinatra tells USA WEEKEND. "I could go on and on describing my affection for this wonderful little girl. Let's just say I consider her my third daughter."

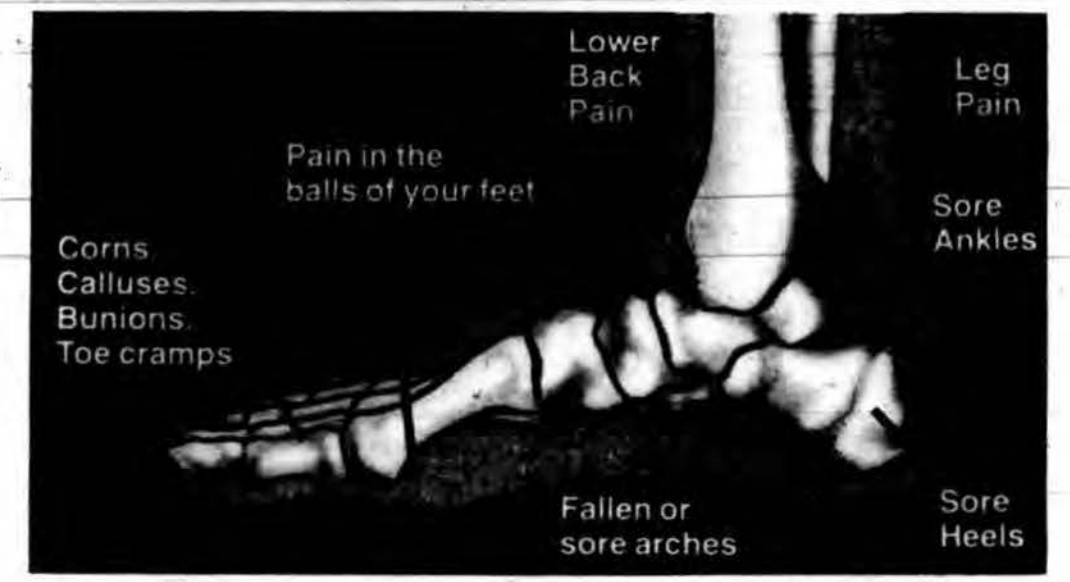

The Sinatra-Minnelli-Davis tour is modestly billed as The Ultimate Event. It hits Houston; Phoenix; Atlanta; Miami; Tampa; Philadelphia; East Rutherford, N.J.; Long Island; Worcester, Mass.; Chicago; Los Angeles.

And while they have yet to decide on the act, never fear. "It's not like Frank and I have to fight over who's going to sing New York, New York," Minnelli laughs. "We have a few other things to pick from."

Foot Pain Is No Laughing Matter

At Last—Here's Instant Relief!

If you suffer from foot pain you know better than anyone it's no laughing matter! Especially when you have corns, calluses, pain in the balls of your feet, burning nerve endings, painful ankles, old injuries, backaches, or just plain sore, aching feet.

Now with SwissCo "FOOT CRADLES" you will look back on suffering needlessly, and laugh at having put up with foot pain when you really didn't have to.

Doctor's Scientific Discovery Ends Foot Pain.

A Swiss doctor who specialized in foot therapy knew that painful feet needed to be properly supported and cushioned in any pair of shoes. No one knew better than he as he watched his patients try one remedy after another. Anything his patients tried never provided long-lasting relief from pain.

Finally, he set out to solve the problem himself. After testing dozens of special shoes and insole supports, he invented the amazingly successful "FOOT CRADLE".

The "Foot Cradle" Insert

A triumph of Swiss inventive genius! "FOOT CRADLE" weighs less than one ounce, yet its unique, contoured design enables it to help support your full body weight while unshackling your feet from their misery.

Works in any shoes—sandals, high heels, sport shoes, sneakers, work shoes, even boots. You won't even realize you're wearing them. See for yourself: Test "FOOT CRADLE" in your shoes entirely at our risk. (See special introductory offer.) Mail this coupon today for a whole new world of blessed foot relief.

How It's Guaranteed To Work For You.

Like all great inventions it was quite simple once he figured it out! The secret of the "FOOT CRADLE" is in the unique, contoured design. Just as your body weight shifts naturally with each step, so does the CRADLE.

It's designed to apply the natural laws of foot motion to pain-racked feet. "FOOT CRADLES", handmade from genuine European leather, easily slips into any pair of shoes you own. Once you start walking or running, you'll feel the difference immediately. Suddenly, you no longer wince when you walk. The pain from your corns and calluses will disappear. So, if you want to experience total foot pain relief and join the many thousands of other men and women who've discovered blessed relief from their foot pain, order today on our 30 day risk-free trial.

30-Day Risk-Free Introductory Offer

Mail the coupon today. Be sure to indicate your correct shoe size and whether ordering for men's or women's shoes. Try a pair of the Swiss doctor's "FOOT CRADLES" for a full month, in any or every pair of shoes you own. You must walk in total comfort, without pain, or return your order for a full refund of purchase price—no questions asked. There's absolutely no risk. You have nothing to lose but your foot pain. To keep the price reasonable, "FOOT CRADLES" are sold direct—not in stores at any price. Now you can get custom comfort at a fraction of the cost. Order today and say goodbye forever to sore, tired, pain-racked feet!

THIS WEEKEND'S FOOD

A blast from the past: Hot Rock cooking heats up

LOS ANGELES No doubt about it: Cooking took a great leap forward when our Cro-Magnon ancestors started slapping their mammoth steaks down on highly heated rocks that seared the meat quickly, leaving it pink on the inside.

Though we're now in the throes of the Micro Age, the newest kitchen gadget may well be the oldest — the Hot Rock, introduced by Chef Raimund Hofmeister of the Garden Pavilion in L.A.'s Century Plaza Hotel.

A special 2-inch-thick slab, mined from the Thüringer Forest in East Germany, is heated to 400 degrees. The rock is brought to your table along with raw ingredients and sauces (hot peanut sauce, Cajun, garlicky aioli). You cook your food directly on the rock.

The technique works for everything from appetizers like satays of chicken and lamb to entrees like Kansas City steaks or Australian bluetail prawns. The rock stays hot (at 300 degrees) for up to an hour, and, as in a Japanese steakhouse, part of the fun is watching the food cook.

"It's been a great success," says Hofmeister, who estimates 65 percent of his diners order Hot Rock entrees. "Since January we've only had one complaint — from a lady who said she didn't expect to cook her own meal when she went out to a restaurant."

By Rob Brown

SELLING SIZZLE: Hofmeister with the Hot Rock. The diner does the cooking honors.

Hulk Hogan on a stick?

PHILADELPHIA Is there anything better than a Dove Bar or a double scoop of Baskin-Robbins' Pralines and Cream? Well, obviously you haven't yet tried a Ghostbuster bar (white and red ice in the shape of the Ghostbusters movie logo) or a World Wrestling Federation Bar (a cookie imprinted with the image of Hulk Hogan or another mat mauler).

Those are just two of the latest ice cream novelties distributed nationwide this summer by Philadelphia's Jack & Jill Ice Cream Co. The firm also will launch some slightly more conventional goodies, all ranging from 49 to 99 cents each:

Convention city's best dining-out spots

ATLANTA When the Democrats meet later this month to choose their presidential slate, they and everybody else in town will be lobbying for the best restaurant seats.

So book tables early, and consider some of the offbeat places around town. Among the dining rooms of note:

▶ Ritz-Carlton Dining Room in Buckhead: Atlanta's finest, most elegant restaurant features European cuisine. About $40-$50 per person, excluding drink, tax, tip; (404) 237-2700.

▶ Pano & Paul's: The flashy dining room boasts very good Continental food, an attentive staff and a great wine list. About $40, (404) 261-3662. Its sister, Capriccio, offers a menu full of excellent Northern Italian pastas and entrees. About $35-$40, (404) 237-0347.

▶ Old South Bar-B-Que in Smyrna and Aleck's Barbecue Heaven: Locals will argue who makes the best barbecue, but the odds-on favorites are these two. Aleck's: about $10, (404) 525-2062. Old South — try their Southern-style pork ribs — about $10, (404) 435-4215.

▶ Lickskillet Farm: For a truly evocative Old South experience, make the 45-minute drive from Atlanta to Roswell, where traditional foods are served in a wonderful old farmhouse setting. About $25-$30, (404) 475-6484.

Back in town, check out some of Atlanta's current trendy spots. 56 East has eclectic New American cooking and one of the USA's great wine bars. About $25-$30, (404) 364-9463. For authentic Southwestern cooking, head for the Sierra Grill. About $25-$30, (404) 873-5630. And check out the hip new Buckhead Diner. About $20, (404) 262-3336.

At Volkswagen, we pride ourselves on our heritage of German design and engineering that produces some of the best performing automobiles available.

We also understand that no matter how responsive the handling, how superb the engineering, or how powerful the brakes, no car can be engineered to perform accurately and safely with alcohol in the driver's system.

For the second year, as part of Volkswagen's corporate commitment to help reduce the number of alcohol-related highway deaths, we will sponsor the Drive for Life Campaign on behalf of Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD).

Your efforts can make a difference.

Last year on the first Drive for Life pledge day, there was nearly a 30% reduction in alcohol-related fatalities.

Between now and September 3, we hope you will visit your Volkswagen dealer to sign the Drive for Life pledge and petition or call 1-800-444-VWUS.

Then on September 3, we hope you will join us in support of MADD and make it a point not to drink and drive on this day.

Please join us on September 3.

Jefferson
TEXAS

TODAY'S GUEST EDITOR

This spring, we invited you to tell us about your favorite spots for long weekends. More than 1,200 USA WEEKEND readers sent ideas. Here is our choice for July.

What: Getaway to Jefferson, Texas. Historic homes, antiquing.

Why: "The town's an interesting anachronism. It's out of the way, and it's not over-commercialized. The railroad passed it by in the 1880s, and it hasn't changed much since then. There aren't many places like it left; we've never found another Jefferson. We wish we could go there more often."

By Pam MacDonald, AP

The charming 19th-century hamlet of Jefferson remains a romantic bed and breakfast town, fixed at a time when the railroad bypassed it. With its brick streets lined with antebellum homes, old river port district and antique shops, it's a great find for nostalgia-seekers.

"It's elegant without pretense," says WEEKEND Guest Editor Ted Talley of his favorite weekend getaway. "It's not plastic or fake. It's like a day back in yesteryear.

"It's the kind of place where you can relax rather than get tired on a vacation, and the people are so friendly. If you go into a hotel and it's booked, there's this informal network — they'll get on the phone and call around until they find a place for you to stay. You just don't find that anymore."

Except, of course, in Jefferson. So let's take Talley's advice for an extended weekend there.

☐ Day One. Start the day off the way three U.S. presidents have — Grant, Hayes and LBJ — with breakfast in the sun room of the Excelsior House Hotel. Sample buttery grits, smoked ham, scrambled eggs and orange blossom honey-nut muffins ($5) for "the best breakfast in Texas," touts Texas Magazine. The Excelsior is the Lone Star state's longest continuously operating hotel.

Next, tour Jefferson's historic homes by horse-drawn surrey along brick streets ($3.25). Visit the Cypress Bayou River port — once Texas' leading inland port — and cruise aboard the Bayou Belle ($4.50).

☐ Day Two. It's a toss-up whether there are more bed and breakfast inns or antique shops in town, with more than a dozen of each. After antiquing till your legs ache, you might try your second night at the McKay House B&B (306 East Delta, 214-665-7322, $65 double), where they put out complimentary nightshirts. To finish the day, strut over to Auntie Skinner's Riverboat Club for an evening of rousing Dixieland music, sing-alongs and some down-home cooking (dinners $3.95 to $10.95).

☐ Day Three. Before sunrise, head west out of town on Highway 49 to Lake of the Pines or east to Caddo Lake on the Texas-Louisiana border and treat yourself to some great Texas bass fishing.

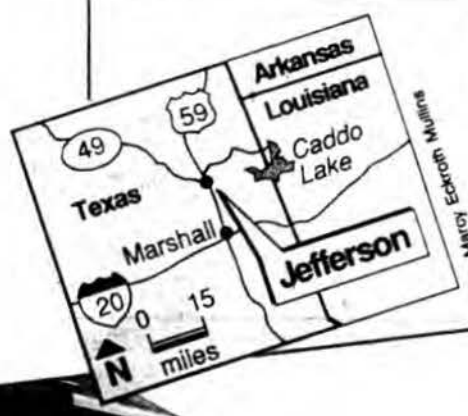

In the afternoon, head south to Marshall Pottery in Marshall for some Texas-size ceramics at the USA's largest maker of red clay pots, and hunt for bargains in the enormous "seconds yard." On the way back to Jefferson along Highway 59, visit Stagecoach House, built in 1852 for weary passengers.

☐ Bonus Day. About 50 miles west along I-20 in Canton is the largest flea market in five states, open Friday through Monday during the first week of each month.

By Michael Williams

FYI:

▶ Getting there: 2½ hours east of Dallas on Interstate 20, then 20 minutes north of Marshall, Texas, on Route 59.

▶ Lodging, a sampling: Lake of the Pine Campground, P.O. Drawer W, (214) 665-2336, $10 for RV, $6 for tents; Quality Inn, 400 S. Walcott, (214) 665-3983, 1-800-228-5151, doubles $40; Excelsior House, 211 West Austin, (214) 665-2513, doubles from $35; the Pride House, 409 Broadway, Jefferson, Texas 75657, (214) 665-2675, doubles $60 to $65, including full breakfast for two.

Here's Guaranteed Term Life Insurance For Every Grandparent Ages 45 to 74

$1.00 a week | NO MEDICAL EXAM— NO HEALTH QUESTIONS

GUARANTEED ACCEPTANCE

No physical exam is required; no health questions are asked. You will be accepted for this TERM life insurance regardless of your health - regardless of your occupation. Even if you have been turned down by other insurance companies, we guarantee to issue your coverage exactly as your Enrollment Form indicates. YOU WILL NOT BE TURNED DOWN FOR ANY REASON.

AS MUCH AS $15,000 IN BENEFITS

Because it's "pure protection," term is the kind of life insurance recommended by many consumer experts. It provides the most coverage when it's needed most, for the least amount of money. And you can tailor this plan for yourself. For instance, if you're under 55 and still have dependent children, today you may want the $15,000 guaranteed maximum to help guard your family's security.

LOW GROUP RATE -

You automatically become a member of the Gerber Grandparents Group when you apply for this group term policy. Through the Gerber Grandparents Group, you pay the kind of low premiums that only group insurance can offer - $1.00 a week for each unit of valuable term coverage.

BENEFIT AMOUNT

IMMEDIATE COVERAGE

During the first two years the policy pays the full face amount for accidental death. In the event of death due to illness during the first two years, benefits are limited to the return of all premiums paid - plus 6% interest. After two years, 100% of the benefit amount is paid for death from any cause.

BENEFICIARY

SUSPENSION

CANCELLATION

RENEWABILITY GUARANTEED

As long as premiums are paid and Master Policy GTL 830 stays in force for the Gerber Grandparents Group, you can keep your coverage until you are 80 years old. When you do reach 80, you can convert to an individual insurance policy from Gerber Life - without a physical exam, health history or proof of insurability of any kind.

EXCLUSIONS

You are not covered for loss due to any act of war, suicide, self-inflicted injury while sane or insane (except in Missouri); acts or attempts of felony or assault; military service.

SUSPENSION

This is a guaranteed no-risk offer. No payment is required until you get your Certificate of Insurance and read it over carefully . . . it's yours to examine FREE. No one will call on you! When you are completely satisfied that it fills your need, just send us your first premium payment within 21 days of the Effective Date printed in your Certificate. Your GUARANTEED TERM LIFE INSURANCE will begin at once. Of course, if you decide not to protect your family with this valuable back-up plan, you pay nothing. We guarantee it!

There is no better time to apply for your own Guaranteed Term Life Plan than today. Just fill in the Enrollment Form and mail.

GUARANTEED BENEFIT CHART

BENEFIT AMOUNTS AT DEATH

AGE	1 UNIT	2 UNITS	3 UNITS	4 UNITS

JULY: A good month for . . .

Sizzling movies

These sexy, scorching films turn stifling summer heat into fiery lovers' paradise

By Susan Wloszczyna

Hot weather and hot flings seem to go together — at least in the movies they do. Here are four sizzlers that'll heat up your VCR. But make sure you send the kids outside to play first.

▶ Body Heat. A long-legged blonde (Kathleen Turner) meets a lawyer short on brains (William Hurt) in a sweltering Florida resort town. The result: spontaneous combustion. When the smoke clears, Hurt finds himself conned into killing Turner's husband. Warner, $24.98, 1980, R.

▶ Last Summer. Life is a beach for fetching Sandy (Barbara Hershey) and her two boyfriends (pre-Waltons Richard Thomas, Bruce Davison). Their endless romps of beer and budding sexuality are interrupted by Rhoda (Cathy Burns), a homely teen who becomes their unwitting victim. This one's still a shocker. Key Video, $59.95, 1969, R.

▶ Lifeguard. As the title character, Sam Elliott (Shakedown) has it all — sun, fun and babes. But after attending his high school reunion, he longs for a bigger challenge. Elliott gives a sensitive portrayal and looks super in a swimsuit. Anne Archer (Fatal Attraction) is his rekindled flame. Paramount Home Video, $59.95, 1976, PG, with nudity.

▶ Summer Lovers. A perfect tease — with plenty of skinny-dipping. Daryl Hannah and Peter Gallagher seek adventure on a seductive Greek island. Enter French archaeologist Valerie Quennessen, who digs sex as much as she enjoys digging up bones and makes it a threesome. Not as lurid as it sounds — no less than Roger Ebert has admitted it's one of his guilty movie pleasures. Nelson, $24.98, 1982, R.

NEW RELEASES

A mesmerizing 'Candidate'

Thriller from 1962 still is innovative

The Manchurian Candidate, with its Hitchcockian climax, off-kilter dialogue and slick black-and-white camera work, feels as if it were shot yesterday.

Just re-released, this 1962 film — about a Korean War hero (Laurence Harvey) brainwashed into killing a presidential candidate — had been out of circulation since JFK's assassination. If it didn't make it to your city, catch it on tape.

Its pleasures are plentiful: Harvey's hypnotic games of solitaire; Frank Sinatra's surreal rap with Janet Leigh; the stunning nightmare sequences. But best of all is Angela Lansbury as the Red-baiting wife of a McCarthy-esque senator and Harvey's mom. Think Lady Macbeth crossed with Nancy Reagan. ★★★★ MGM/UA, July 19, $79.95, PG-13

MGM/UA

SINATRA: Card holds a key in Candidate.

▶ Wall Street. Greed as designed by GQ. Charlie Sheen is a young broker who sells his soul for lust, limos and loot. Inside trader/corporate raider Michael Douglas is his corrupter — and a fine slime he is, too. Douglas got an Oscar and he's the payoff for watching this slighter work by director Oliver Stone (Platoon). ★★★ CBS/Fox, July 7, $89.98, R.

▶ Suspect. Cher tones it down and scores as a workaholic public defender assigned to a deaf homeless man accused of murdering a congressional secretary. Dennis Quaid is a milk lobbyist turned juror who could melt dairy products with his smile. ★★★ RCA/Columbia, July 21, $89.95, R.

▶ Housekeeping. Another piece of melancholic whimsy by Scottish director Bill Forsyth (Local Hero). Christine Lahti is a small-town flake who tries to be a mother to two teen nieces. ★★★ RCA/Columbia, July 8, $79.95, PG.

▶ Action Jackson. Carl Weathers invades Dirty Harry's territory and does an OK job as a superbad maverick cop. How bad is he? When his boss complains he almost tore an arm off a suspect, Jackson shrugs and says, "He had a spare." ★★ Lorimar, July 13, $89.95, R.

▶ Leonard Part 6. See it only if the thought of watching Bill Cosby get out-acted by a barking rainbow trout appeals to you. ★ RCA/Columbia, July 8, $89.95, PG.

★★★★ Must see
★★★ Worth watching
★★ If everything else is checked out

Of special interest

Jimmy Connors' Tennis
($39.98 each, Vestron, July 6)

No, Jimbo doesn't give tips on yelling at the linesman. But he does give a fairly comprehensive lesson on two tapes. Winning Fundamentals covers the basics from footwork to serving; Match Strategy gives pointers on how to plot your game, both singles and doubles. The visuals, with clips of pros such as Chris Evert, John McEnroe and Ivan Lendl, are well done. Though Connors shows more grace on court than on camera, he speaks in a friendly, straightforward way. Connors even reveals some personal secrets: He bounces the ball exactly four times before serving. And why does he grunt every time he hits the ball? It's just a habit, not a tactic to scare his opponents.

HOT NEWS FROM THE VIDEO WORLD

Video magazine researched the average price for some video necessities: $269 for a VCR, less than half the average price in 1982; $2.11 for an overnight movie rental, down from $2.25 last year; $3.49 for a blank two-hour VHS tape, down from $3.99 last year. . . . But the average price of blank videotape is likely to rise this year after Japanese firms Maxell, TDK, Fuji and Sony boosted their prices in June by about 15 percent. Shopping by mail-a great American tradition-is now more popular than ever. Everyone appreciates the time-saving convenience, and the wide array of products is truly amazing. On this page are some of the most imaginative and useful items we've come across. So take your pick, and order today. We're sure you'll be delighted. Satisfaction guaranteed. Have a great USA WEEKEND.

INFRARED IMPROVEMENT

Home infrared heat treatments are an increasingly popular form of natural pain relief. Now the means of applying that have been improved. Heating surface has been tripled, the larger contour head comfortably angled for reaching neck and back. The replaceable interior infrared bulb is now 10w, giving 45% more heat. The new Infra-lux relieves muscular aches and pains, sinus headaches, arthritis, bursitis, backache, neuralgia. (Reaches deeper than heating pads or hot water bottles). Dilates blood vessels, increases cell metabolism, soothes irritated nerves. UL-listed. $39.98 ($4.25) #A1524.

A NEW TWIST ON EXERCISE

Just a little bored with your fitness program? Experts (and common sense) tell you to vary your routine — and this U-Bar Exerciser could be just the ticket. Chrome bar has knurled handgrips and durable foam rubber padding for your neck. A 20-page booklet clearly illustrates exercises from sit-ups in various positions (you may find them easier to perform correctly when the U-Bar is in place) to side twists and joggers stretch. For muscle-toning, add your own weights; the bar comes with 4 slide-on clamps that securely attach any standard round weights. $27.98 ($4.00) #A1810.

ORANGE MAGIC

Citrus oil is a remarkably powerful cleaning agent though safe, gentle, natural and pleasant to use. Orange Magic levitates the toughest dirt and stains. Just spray in on, wait, rinse, and see dirt vanish. It is the New York Transit Authority's cleaner of choice for combatting graffiti in the subways. Two 16 oz. pump bottles for $15.98 ($4.00) #A1342.

SAFETY FOR A RAINY DAY

According to Road & Track, "Rain-X merits the attention of every automobile, boat owner." This polymer product coats windshields, side and rear windows, mirror and lights with an invisible shield that disperses rain, sleet and snow on contact. The non-distorting, non-reflective coating also seals and conditions glass against sand, salt, pollutants, tar. Easy-to-use liquid just wipes on; lasts through many cleanings. Two 7-oz. bottles. $12.98 ($3.00) #A1751.

STINKY PINKYS

Just put a Stinky Pinky "sock" in each shoe and overnight odor is gone, absorbed by the special blend of all natural earth materials. Works in running shoes, sneakers, boots, leather shoes, anything that goes on your feet. And keeps on working, too—just put Stinky Pinkys out in the sun for a day every three months or so to restore their odor-catching ability. Three pairs of Stinky Pinkys, enough for 6 shoes or boots, costs $19.98 ($4.00) #A13263.

LIFT THE LINT

Removes lint, fuzz & pills from clothing, fabrics, furniture. This powerful, delicate, fabric shaver restores used sweaters, skirts, etc. FABRIC SHAVER works wonders, on one "C" cell battery (not included). Convenient removable storage bin for easy cleaning. $9.98 ($2.00) #A1794.

SOLVE A SLIPPERY PROBLEM

When it's bath time for baby, a parent needs to become an octopus. Now, Deluxe Baby Sitter™ helps to support a soapy, squirmy tot, while freeing your hands to wash, play and retrieve ducks and boats. (Actually, a loophole allows you to attach some toys to Baby Sitter.) Four large suction cups anchor high-impact polypropylene legs firmly to the bathtub; the support ring (11" diameter) has a special raised backrest. And, contributing to safety and comfort, is a Spongee Seat™ — a soft foam cushion that's contoured and slip-resistant. In yellow; recommended for ages 6 months and up. $15.98 ($3.00) #A1800.

SHARPEST OF THE SHARPENERS

The classic knife sharpening tool is the butcher's steel, but most people find it intimidating. The Chantry Knife Sharpener duplicates butcher steel action but makes it so simple anyone can sharpen and realign a blade edge perfectly in moments. As the knife edge is drawn between a pair of hard (Rockwell 64-65) Sheffield Steel rods, spring-loaded at just the proper angle, both sides of the blade are aligned. Works on stainless or carbon steel knives, straight or serrated edges. The Chantry is made of heavily enameled steel, can be countertop mounted, costs $34.98 ($5.00) #A1878. It is included in the permanent design collection of the Museum of Modern Art.

SPIN WASH, SPIN DRY

The Jet Spin Washer/Dryer for salad greens and vegetables, does a better job with less effort than any other method of preparation. As the stream of water hits the spinning inner basket, it bursts into spray, giving the contents a good drenching before being carried off by centrifugal action. Flywheel action keeps basket spinning with only a few gentle tugs. Spray wash coaxes dirt and grit from innermost lettuce wrinkles. Turn off the faucet and with a few more tugs the remaining water spins away, leaving you with crisp clean salad greens, so dry they are positively perky. Also works for fruits and vegetables. The Jet Salad Washer/Dryer is self-draining, splashfree. $19.98 ($4.50) #A1520.

Camps teach ABC's of adventure sports

SPORTS

Phillips, 37, is enrolled in the Seneca Rocks Climbing School's three-day basic climbing course. He is being introduced to the sport's fundamentals atop celebrated Seneca Rocks, which rise 900 feet above the rolling hills of West Virginia.

"My family thought I was crazy. The guys at work thought I was crazy. But it's something I've always wanted to do," he says.

Phillips is just one of thousands who this summer will chuck traditional vacations and go back to school — schools that teach rock climbing, windsurfing, mountaineering, fly-fishing, kayaking, hang gliding and other sports that test your mettle.

Sports camps are booming, say those in the business. "You see cycles," says John Markwell, director of the Seneca Rocks Climbing School, "but interest is way up."

Seneca Rocks' enrollment has risen steadily in the last few years, from 350 in 1986 to 500 last year, and 600-plus projected this year.

Sports courses usually run three days to a week, but one-day classes are available in a few sports. Cost: About $70 to $100 a day. Some camps include lodging and meals for an additional charge. Phillips' introduction to rigging and rappelling cost $210.

Egged on by her brother and sister-in-law, the 30-year-old assistant bank manager took the plunge.

"At first I thought, 'Oh my, I'm never going to make it.' But my confidence soared after I got out on the river."

By the end of the course, she had learned several paddling techniques and the "Eskimo roll," a tricky maneuver kayakers do to right a capsized boat.

If you prefer an airborne adventure, you can try your wings a la hang gliding. Mission Soaring Center in Milpitas, Calif., offers one-day to weeklong classes.

"It's great, so quiet with this wonderful feeling of weightlessness," says Serena Reile, 19, of Newark, Calif., who went to her first class with her mother. "It has to be an OK sport because I won't even ride on a roller coaster."

Student pilots get the basics in equipment usage, safety tips and glider control, culminating in a ground run down a 50-foot slope, which gets them about 5 feet off the ground for about 100 feet.

If you can't decide between hang gliding and kayaking, split the difference. At Hood River Windsurfing in Hood River, Ore., you can learn "high-wind" windsurfing, done on a smaller-than-conventional board at higher-than-usual speeds.

Says Jerome Maeder, a 58-year-old lawyer from Wausau, Wis.: "You learn how to do a flying tack and jibe. It's a different ball game than conventional boardsailing."

By Jonathan Walters

ON THE ROPES: A climber rappels down Seneca Rocks. Women often are superior climbers to men, says one expert. "They're better thinkers, have better balance and a lower center of gravity."

WHAT'S NEXT

WEEKEND TO WEEKEND

RIDE 'EM, COWBOY: They're saddling up in Mobridge, S.D., this weekend for the 43rd Annual Sitting Bull Stampede, which kicks off with a colossal Main Street parade. Mobridge is located on the shores of Lake Oahe, but the action will be at the rodeo grounds, where professional cowboys and cowgirls are competing for prizes in rodeo and barrel races. Prizes for the rodeo queen and rodeo princess are personalized rodeo buckles with the likeness of Indian warrior Sitting Bull, whose burial site is just outside town.

By Mark Kayser

WILD RIDE: Bronc rider goes for it at Mobridge, S.D., Stampede.

CRAFTY: It's time for the residents of State College, Pa., and the Penn State campus to strut their artistic stuff at the 22nd Annual Central Pennsylvania Festival of the Arts. Today through Sunday, more than 350 sidewalk booths will display wares ranging from pottery and jewelry to metal sculpture and photographs. And there's more: Entertainment from classical to rock 'n' roll music, plus a puppet show and a festival favorite, the roving jester. The celebration is expected to attract close to a quarter of a million art aficionados.

GIVE A CHEER: More than 150,000 people will gather today in Indianapolis for a four-day celebration of black advancement, the 18th Annual Indiana Black Expo. The event showcases such luminaries as Stevie Wonder, Stephanie Mills, Muhammad Ali and Stanley Turrentine, among others. The 1988 theme, Reach Out For the Children . . . Our Future . . . Our Responsibility, will be highlighted by seminars concentrating on today's black child.

EXPO LEADER: The Rev. Charles Williams

DOMINO DAYS: People certainly will be seeing dots in Andalusia, Ala., this weekend at the 13th Annual World Championship Domino Tournament. More than 4,000 dominoes will be in play during the course of the tourney, which draws 1,500 experts in the game. "When we say 'Play dominoes' at the start of the tournament, it makes as much noise as it does when they say 'Start your engines' at the Indianapolis 500," says Dr. Charles Tomberlin, co-chairman of the massive domino derby . . . While dot-dueling continues in Alabama, Finns and their friends will celebrate the 350th anniversary of the first Finnish settlement in the USA in Newark, Del. Congress designated 1988 the National Year of Friendship with Finland; FinnFest USA commemorates Finnish culture and Finnish-American relations through Nordic and American arts, crafts, folk dancing, food and workshops. Finland's Speaker of Parliament Matti Ahde (equivalent to the USA's vice president) will be guest of honor.

KOI-BOOM

PONDerous trend: More fish pools pop up

The trend in backyard pools is positively piscatorial: More of us are dabbling in koi ponds.

Koi are carp-like fish that have long been cultivated in Japan. Now, "we can hardly keep up with orders from Utah to Wisconsin to Florida," says koi-farm manager Bill Ward of Fallbrook, Calif.

Ponds cost from $200 to $150,000, and fish from $50 to $200 — but up to $40,000 depending on pattern and size.

The koi boom has created a new service industry, too. Marv Stanton, "fishmonger to the stars," has a 24-hour service for accounts which have included Bill Cosby and Pat Sajak. "People get very emotional about a sick fish," he says.

'89 calendars: Beefcake, Beefentails, Batman

This is the month when 1989 calendars start hitting store shelves. Think they're getting ahead of themselves? Just keep in mind that more calendar companies are expanding to 16 months, starting in the fall of the previous year.

▶ If it's real beefcake you want, there's a "Second Glance" calendar, which focuses on male faces, and "Hardbody Men," which does not.

▶ Anniversary calendars will honor Batman and Hanna-Barbera's Jetsons and Flintstones. They'll come with a 3-D poster and glasses. Also big: "Star Struck" soap opera idols.

▶ Perennial picks still going strong: Marilyn Monroe and Heather Thomas. And Georgia O'Keeffe art will be available in three '89 updates.

SMART READING

New magazines focus on what's hip, hot, happening

The trend toward hip, high-gloss fashion and lifestyle magazines continues with the debut next month of Smart.

A New York-based national quarterly, Smart will look at the "new cultural mix" — fashion, film, food, music, etc. — with lush photographs and notable writers such as George Plimpton and Hunter Thompson.

Other mags in the same vein: Exposure, L.A.'s eight-month-old offering for a young, purchase-happy audience, following in the footsteps of Sunset Strip veteran L.A. Style. Also: Inside Chicago, a bi-monthly with glitzy graphics and off-beat feature angles. Example: a feature on two women who train rats to perform on stage.

And coming next? An upscale read called Fame. Due in October, it will include a monthly column called "Love and the Law" by a top divorce lawyer.

JAY BOBBIN
Tribune TV Log

If Tom Wopat's hopes come true, there could be plenty of "Blue Skies" ahead for him.

The rugged actor, whose first big claim to TV fame was his starring role as country boy Luke on the comedy-adventure series "The Dukes of Hazzard," has returned to CBS' weekly lineup in a much different vehicle. The drama "Blue Skies" casts him as a widowed family man trying to cope with two major adjustments: his brand-new second marriage to a divorcee (played by Season Hubley), which also has brought together their respective children from their previous unions, and his return from the hectic pace of San Francisco to a quieter life in the Oregon town where he has taken over operation of the sawmill founded by his father (Pat Hingle).

Now a resident of Nashville - where he is building a second career as a country-music artist - Wopat initially thought that "Blue Skies" would be scheduled earlier in the year, since the episodes have been ready to air since January. However, he adds, "I think it's the type of show that made (CBS executives) not want to throw it to the wolves, during 'sweeps' periods and times like that. I think they want to give it more of a chance, so putting it on now, when there's so little new programming on, gives it a running shot."

Still, Wopat maintains that he's still surprised to be involved in another weekly show. "Once I got done with 'Dukes'," he reflects, "I wasn't really looking for another program. I had never really envisioned making a career out of doing series television, but this was a situation where the part was good enough, and the whole thrust of the show made it seem like a real chance for me to establish some credibility that, quite honestly, was lacking from 'The Dukes of Hazzard.' This is a chance to show the audience that I can do something else, that I am an actor and not just a one-trick pony."

The way that Wopat landed the lead role in "Blue Skies" is a story in itself, and one that sprang from stage work he had been doing in New York. "I was working on an Off-Broadway show," he recalls, "and during that time, I appeared on 'CBS Morning News,' wearing my little tweed jacket, blue jeans and boots." On that particular morning, the show was being watched by a man named Nigel McKeand... the co-executive producer of "Blue Skies."

AMOENA CAMP

"I feel good about myself . . .

"Following my double mastectomy, I decided against reconstructive surgery. Instead, I decided to wear Camp/Amoena breastforms. They're unusually like your own breast tissue. They become warm with you and they're very pliable. They feel like a natural extension of yourself. My choice is Amoena breastforms. I recommend them to any woman who's had a mastectomy."
