INSIDE THE NEWSROOM: Red, White and ... Orange County resident Frank Kazerski, who composed a patriotic song titled "Red, White & Blue — God Bless You," is now red with anger...The songsmith claims Tom Fuentes, chairman of the Orange County Republican Party, kept him from performing the song at a Republican get-together at Knotts Berry Farm over Labor Day...Kazerski, who says Assemblyman Curt Pringle invited him to perform, claims Fuentes scrubbed him because he wasn't a "professional entertainer" ... The song writer says he was all set to perform but, instead, suffered tremendous numiliation. So what song was performed instead of "Red, White & Blue - God Bless You"? ... Well, according to Kazerski, it was a rousing version of "Elvira, Elvira, my heart is on fire for Elvira' Kazerski wants Fuentes to rebook his act. At a Republican event, of course.

Killings called city's worst; police have few clues

3y BOB VAN EYKEN

COSTA MESA - They lived quietly, and by most reports, they died quietly - if a violent death by gunshot can be called quiet. Hahn Thi Duong, 25, her two children and a male friend identified as Oanh Van Le, 30, of Westminster, were found shot to death at about 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in an apartment at 1367 Baker

The two children, 7-year-old Thang Quoc Nguyen and Lan

Ngoc Nguyen, 4, were found in a bedroom. The two adults were found side by side in the living Neighbors were shocked, and also mystified by the killings, saying they had seen no signs of violence in the family, although there were some unconfirmed reports of conflict, possibly with an ex-husband.

'They were real quiet, but they were always friendly; they'd always smile when you said 'hi' to them," said Kathy James, who lives across a narrow courtyard from the victims' apartment.

James' mother, Jeri James, said the slain woman, a man, and the children had lived together in the apartment, leading what appeared to be a normal family life.

"They acted like a family: I always assumed he was her husband, but I don't know that for she said. "She couldn't speak English, but he could. He didn't speak it as fluently as you and I, but well enough. The children were lovely.

She said she did not know whether the man found dead with Hanh Thi Duong was the man who lived with her and Costa Mesa police said Oanh Van Le was not a resident of the apartment. Both women said they were home Wednesday afternoon and evening, but neither said she heard gunshots or any signs of violence or conflict. Kathy James said the family appeared to be moving

"I saw her Tuesday carrying a lot of boxes from a van," she said.

"She seemed like she was in a hurry

Police confirmed Thursday that the family was moving from the apartment, which was nearly empty when the bodies were found

Council won't seat Gaido

By KAREN AUGE

IRVINE - The third time was no charm for City Council hopeful Mary Ann Gaido.

Gaido, who twice has sought to be sworn as a council member since a judge ordered that she be seated, was rebuffed again Thursday, this time by the existing City Council.

In an emotionally charged, special afternoon meeting, the council re-fused to seat Gaido, opting instead to hold a special November election and to pursue an appeal of last Friday's ruling by Superior Court Judge Eileen C. Moore, who ruled Gaido should be seated.

The two-hour meeting was punc-tuated by harsh words from Councilwoman Paula Werner, who charged that the three other council members had made up their minds on the issue before the discussion began. Werner's accusations came after she saw that, in making a motion to pursue the appeal and not seat Gaido, Councilman Barry Ham-mond was reading from a copy of a draft handwritten by City Manager Paul Brady.

"I am extraordinarily dismayed to be the only council member who does not have a copy of that motion, which was just read word for word. I can't believe you did this,' Werner told her colleagues.

The council then recessed briefly at the request of Werner, who later said she had been too upset to continue.

Christopher Mears, attorney for Mary Ann Gaido, charged that the paper, which bore the words "c m's recommendations" at the top, likely constituted a violation of the Brown Act, a state law that mandates public discussion of issues, because it was distributed to three of the four council members.

The memo implies that a majority of the council had reached a decision before Thursday's public meeting, Mears said, calling the meeting nothing but a sham.

The attorney said he was unsure whether he would pursue the issue n court.

Mayor Sally Anne Sheridan labeled Mears' charges "specious." She said she did not know why Werner had not received a copy of the draft motion.

After the recess, Brady explained that the draft motion was written "at the last minute," at the request of Hammond, who asked the city manager for assistance in crafting the wording. "This is not my recommendation. I don't make rec-ommendations on such matters."

The hastily called council meeting followed last Friday's ruling by Judge Moore, which invalidated petitions calling for a special election to fill the council seat Sheridan vacated when she became mayor. In addition, Judge Moore ordered Gaido, the third-highest vote getter in June's election, to be seated on the council.

Following the ruling, City At-torney John Fellows immediately filed a notice that he woud appeal the decision. The council unani-(Please see GAIDO/Back Page)

Kindergarteners walk into future

IRVINE - Five-year-old Brittany Hale did not blink as she walked resolutely into the future

It was her first day of kindergarten.

It was Brittany's mother, Donna Hale, who brushed away something in her eye as she watched her daughter find a seat along with 27 other kindergarteners at Eastshore Elementary School in Irvine on Thursday. "It's hard to see your baby go to school," Hale said. "It seems like she was just a baby the other day. On the first day of school in the Irvine district, anxious moms and dads struggled with camera equipment and emotions as their sometimes eager, sometimes earnest little children passed through one of life's most seminal of experiences. The kindergarten classroom of Eastshore teacher Sylvia Rosenzweig was ablaze with color Thursday. On one wall labeled, "It's a Small World," were large pictures of chil-dren in the native dress of assorted countries. On another wall, primary colors and shapes were brightly illustrated with assorted animals. The children sat in incredibly tiny chairs around tables with bins of scissors and sharp-pointed crayons.

"Up comes the sun, away goes the dew, good morning, good morning, good morning to you," sang the teacher, choreographing the children in arm movements corresponding to the rising of the sun, the evaporation of dew along with a few friendly hand waves for the "good morning"

Lawyer: Biker lawyer trial built on lies

By EMILY ADAMS

SANTA ANA - The six-year prosecution of biker lawyer Thomas Maniscalco was woven together with the testimony of liars who turned on the former "godfather" to avoid prosecution, defense attorneys told a jury Thursday.

One by one, six former "associates" of Maniscalco's — who fingered him as the murderous mastermind - were dismissed by defense lawyer Andrew Roth as criminals who were granted immunity to bring Maniscalco

Accused of orchestrating a Memorial Day 1980 triple murder, Maniscalco has long maintained his innocence. His lawyers speculated the "Hessian lawyer" might have fallen under suspicion because he'd been openly critical of local police departments. Maniscalco requested a grand jury investigation of the Westminster, Huntington Beach and Fountain Valley police departments, among others, in July 1980, defense lawyer Joanne Harrold said. In the request, Maniscalco alleged officers mishandled property, suspects and motorcycle gang wasn't arrested until 1983, Harrold said the investigation focused on Maniscalco

Although the co-founder of the Hessian

"He was not popular with law enforcement," Harrold said.

During the prosecution's rebuttal today, Deputy District Attorney Richard King is expected to re-state his case: That Maniscalco ordered two men to shoot his boyhood friend, Richard "Rabbit" Rizzone, because he believed Rizzone was stealing from their drug and Counterfeit money operation.

Two others killed in the attack were Rizzone's girlfriend, 19-year-old Rena Miley, and Maniscalco's sometime bodyguard, Thomas Monahan, 28. Prosecutors believe Monahan accidentally walked in on the murder scene.

Miley, who lived with Rizzone in the rented Westminster house where they were found, was considered "desert" by her killers, King said. She was raped before being shot three times in the Alleged triggerman Daniel "Shame" Duffy. 46, is scheduled to face trial next September. The other suspected killer, Phillip Ray Warren, was shot to death by Oklahoma police in 1983 after he stabbed two officers.

A fourth suspect in the conspiracy, Robert Robbins, was granted immunity from pros-ecution after he turned state's witness. He's testified that he killed no-one, but was at the Westminster house with Maniscalco when Duffy and Warren shot Rizzone and Monahan.

Defense lawyers questioned Robbins' version of the events, saying Maniscalco — being the mastermind — wouldn't have risked bringing along another witness. Instead, they pointed to testimony that pointed to Robbins and Warren as the gunmen.

By law, the testimony of an accomplice must be corroborated by other evidence. But each of the six men who testified against Maniscalco could be considered an accomplice, Andrew Roth said, making the fabric of the state's case riddled with doubtful testimony.

"It's like the prosecution took a big barrel, threw it at a wall and hoped some of it would stick," Harrold said.

After the prosecution's rebuttal today, the 9month court case will fall into the jury's hands. If convicted of first-degree murder, with the special circumstance of multiple murders, Maniscalco could be sentenced to death.

Operation Cookie under way on Coast

By HOLLY J. WAGNER

IRVINE - While American servicemen are baking in the Middle East's desert, friends, wives, girlfriends, mothers and sympathizers are baking for them at home, some right here.

Welcome to Operation Cookie, a project to airlift home-baked cookies to servicemen overseas that got off the ground in Irvine on Thursday.

Five area women gathered in Gina and Iman Foroutan's kitchen Thursday to bake, wrap, pack about 90 dozen cookies. The cookies will be shipped to Patrick Air Force Base in Palm Bay, Fla., where they will be airlifted to the Middle East on a space-available basis on cargo trans-

"I wanted to do it because sometimes you feel helpless," Gina Foroutan said between batches. "I thought it'd be a nice way to let the soldiers know we're thinking about them and keep them from being homesick.

Foroutan learned of Operation Cookie on the Prodigy interactive computer bulletin board network. which is available only in selected local markets until it went national this week.

One of the bulletin boards is for gourmets and gourmands who like to swap recipes. A bulletin posted

Aug. 20 by a Seattle member asked other cooking aficionados to bake up a storm and contribute cookies.

The idea might have seemed halfbaked to some, but those who use the service rose to the occasion. Bakers coast to coast have recruited scout troops, church groups, home economics classes, veterans and anyone else who'll put on an apron to follow a few simple guidelines and ship a little taste of home overseas. Contributing bakers are asked to bake sturdy cookies. Foroutan suggests ginger snaps, snickerdoodles, oatmeal and sugar cookies, eschewing brownies and others with a high butter content. She adds chocolate chips will not survive the trek but dried fruit cookies travel well.

Packing the treats involves packing two cookies back to back in plastic wrap, surrounding them with styrene foam containers, wrapping the packet in brown paper, packing the packets in large boxes and shipping them through overnight express services to Patrick Air Force Base.

Along with Trina Guenther of Irvine, Forita Bills of Westminster, Jean Joseph of Mission Viejo and Jodi Rasillo of El Toro, Foroutan put the mixers in overdrive in her Irvine kitchen at noon Thursday and was still cooking at 8 p.m.

Newport water users are also big savers

By IRIS YOKOI

NEWPORT BEACH - Heeding warnings of drought conditions, not to mention the threat of a surcharge on their water bill, citizens here used less water this summer, according to city figures.

Utilities Director Bob Dixon reports that during June - the month the city initited a surcharge for overusers - water use in the city was reduced 7.2 percent from the prior year.

Preliminary figures show the public decreased consumption by 8 to 9 percent in July compared to the previous year's figures, Dixon

Meanwhile, city departments reduced water use by 11 percent in June and 18 percent in July through such things as cutting back on park watering.

The city's goal was to reduce department water use by 15 percent, except for water used in firefighting. Dixon credited the city's door-to-door educational campaign and media attention on the drought for the reduction in water use. The 10-percent surcharge the city implemented June 1 may have also helped. But Dixon said the city actually hasn't collected much from surcharges. The only water users who have been paying extra are the "big irrigators" - generally the larger businesses in the city, Dixon said.

Residents who use more than 7,500 gallons of water a month must pay the surcharge on the basic water rate. Commercial overusers are charged a 50-percent surcharge.

Water officials statewide have asked residents to reduce water use since supplies remain below normal in the state's fourth drought year. Water agencies are required to reduce consumption by 10 percent from 1989 levels.

Deserters wait for Jesus' spaceship

By CHUCK SHEPHERD

Six U.S. soldiers who recently deserted sensitive intelligence positions in West Germany were found in Gulf Breeze, Fla., in July, and under questioning revealed that they had been spiritually chosen to greet spaceships and to work toward achieving world nirvana. (Gulf Breeze was the location of a large number of UFO sightings in 1987.)

In June, or earlier, the six had predicted that Jesus' spaceship would land on Aug. 6 and would be accompanied by war in Lebanon. (On Aug. 2, Iraq invaded Kuwait.)

In July, police in Taipei arrested seven people, including three army officers, on suspicion of demanding kickbacks on the sale of socks for soldiers. (The maximum penalty for the civilians is seven years in prison; the officers face execution.)

New county airport project has a bumpy takeoff

Just when you thought the Orange County Airport pro-ject would glide smoothly to a peaceful and joyous dedication (public tomorrow, VIPs tonight) there was all this flak over the official post-

Then they unveiled the statue of John Wayne, which Fred had just returned from being Martin all slicked up. Supposedly they were just going to scrub all the pigeon droppings and gull guano off the nine-foot bronze sculpture.

Who knew they were going to treat this tribute to the Duke like one of his old movies and colorize it? Before, he looked larger than life. Now he looks like a wax-museum dummy.

I come from Reardon and McAndrews stock, on my mother's side. At funerals, the Irish insist on laying out the deceased so friends and family can file by for a last look. "Oooh, and doesn't he look wonderful," they always blurt. No, he or she doesn't. He or she looks terrible and dead. That's the way the Duke looks now. Colorized. Thousands of dollars worth of deathly pallor.

Now about this poster business. It seems that one of the airport commissioners, Bob Cashman, is also a printer. He had, most generously, offered to print — for free — a poster commemorating the grand opening of the new Thomas Riley terminal.

But when he saw the artwork the Airport Arts Commission had selected for the poster, Cashman said he wasn't about to reproduce It was an original painting, by New York artist Jim Morphesis (why a foreigner? — but that's another subject), of Icarus, the waxwinged character from Greek mythology. Cashman said it should have been something that related "to the county, John Wayne or Harvey Stearn, chairman of the arts commission, countered that, "The painting is magnificent... a very fine work of art." He added that the fact that Icarus has no clothes on had nothing to do with the controversy.

Cashman said that even though none of Icarus' male equipment shows (that portion of the painting was left in shadow by the artist), "you know it's there." One certainly hopes so, or poor Icarus got a lot worse deal than wax wings.

At first, the arts commission was going to have the poster printed anyway, even if they had to pay for it. (They probably wouldn't have; at least two other printers volunteered to run them gratis.) At a special meeting Saturday, they reversed themselves and decided, no, it was too late.

Then, Morphesis told them to go fly a 737. It was censorship, he said, and he wasn't going to let them have the painting at any price, even the $5,000 fee the county had agreed to pay.

Now, I can understand Bob Cashman's main problems with Icarus. There's just not much aviational about him (unless he was a flighty guy, yuk yuk). You can hardly see his wings, and what you can see looks like big leaves, sycamore maybe. The rest is just some guy with no clothes on and a convenient shadow. What makes no sense at all is that nobody involved seemed to have any concern whatever over the appropriateness of an airport commemorative poster that depicts a flier whose wings fail, causing Irrelevant Followup: As you probably know, and may have predicted long ago, Demetrius Davis was cut by the Los Angeles Raiders. Because he was the last player selected in the NFL draft, Davis was guest of honor at Newport's Irrelevant Week in June.

At the Superstars competition during that wacko week, Demetrius was slipped in as a ringer on one of the teams that battled each other in a day-long Olympiad of irrelevant and oddball

As anchor in the tug of war, Mr. Irrelevant pulled his team's hapless opponents over the line in about nine seconds. After the match, Demetrius told me: "Well, if I don't make it with the Raiders,

I can always sign with the National Tug-of-War League."

Then he laughed. The NTOWL probably sounds pretty good

Weekend Wanderings: Of course, there's the posterless public dedication of the new Thomas Riley Terminal at John Wayne Airport (which most airlines still insist on referring to as "Orange and which is designated as SNA in airline code). Only tumbleweeds love the Santa Ana winds

■ In Orange County: Only the tumbleweeds love the infamous Santa Ana winds — it scatters their seeds through the blowing dust. Santa Ana winds can cause depression and sometimes homicidal drives in people, according to studies. Legend says the Indians called it "The Wind of the Evil Spirits" and the mission fathers labeled it "Satan's Wind." or Santana. We seem to call it a Santa Ana wind as it comes to us from the Santa Ana Canyon, but it occurs all over the Los Angeles Basin. The wind form in fall and winter when air in the interior deserts piles up against the Transverse Ranges and streams down the mountain passes toward the coast. The air heats as it moves downhill and may raise coast temperatures to over 100 degrees.

The dry hot air poses a serious fire threat to coastal hills and may reach gale force — up to 60 mph — that can also cause dangerous waves offshore. Richard Henry Dana described such a wind while loading hides in San Pedro in 1836. His ship captain did what most smart sailing skippers did, he fled to the lee of Catalina what is going on or who I should finten to, or when everything is going to change. What can I do?

Great managers involve employees as a team

— Mrs. JGF, Irvine

Dear SuZette: I manage a depart-ment of 120 people. We as a managefeel will work to get a certain task done. Often we find that the system has been changed by the workers without ever letting any supervisors know that they have instituted a change. I feel we are a progressive company and we are glad to listen to our people if they have an idea that will make things better. But they just cannot arbitrarily change a system without telling us. We, as managers, assume everthing is working and then we find out neither system is working and nothing is being done? What can we do?

- Mr. PRW, Costa Mesa Dear Mrs. JGF and Mr. PRW When the think system was dereloped management thought it was being done their way. Employees thought management could not think and they would do it their way. While everyone is complacently thinking that their way is working. nothing is working.

Managers must learn to think with their people, not for them, against them or without them. Managers are quick to implement systems with directives for usage. They are slow to explain the thought process, the anticipated results, risks and rewards. They are also quick to delegate the think process and assume that if it weren't working somebody would tell them. This suvenile for the great pumpkin which arrives disquised as the great lie.

Good managers get ideas from their people. Great managers work with their people as a team until agers inspect what they expect. Great managers empower their people with self-measurement systems and team measurements that involve them as a unit. Good managers think. Great managers think of ways to tap the genus of their

Dear SuZette: I own a manufacturing company of about 100 people and our Workers Compensation Insurance is killing us. It's not that I don't think we should have the insurance or provide for people who are genuinely burt or disabled from working here. But we are losing our company because people leave and

- Mr. KPS, Irvine Dear Mr. KPS: We have spawned a society of selfish, short-sighted, sufferance fanatics who believe any slight physical or mental infringement of their personal well-being justifies retribution of gargantuan proportions. These socially-accepted -accepted derelicts focus in funnel fashion on their minute miseries with ferocious intensity until a touch is a trauma. These pathetic drones must now be compensated for their own lack of perseverance and intestinal fortitude. The undeserving parasite feeds on self-justification and a peer group who are waiting their turn to beat the system.

Avoid this senseless waste of initiative by hiring people with high self-esteem, who love learning, laughter and life. These people would never jeopardize the future of 100 people to pay for their inability to cope with reality while focusing their talents on an easy way out. Hire people who have productive personal goals and believe in them-selves. Companies increase their own insurance premiums by hiring people who have no future plans. It is far better to hire someone who will work diligently for a shorter period of time, who will eventually progress and work their way out of a job with your company, than to hire a complacent, cynical plodder you may be supporting through in-

Managers for the '90s must look beyond themselves and their companies for the future of their emplayees. You need to embrace career management, outside opportunities and the ability of your employees to progress in their careers in a global job market. While it is critical that employee turnover be kept low, it rarely gets disproportional by helping people help themselves.

Reader laments the lack of exercising good manners

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have read your column since I was in junior high and I think you can get a point across better than anyone in America. What has happened to good manners? We live in a society of pigs. People eat with their mouths open, slurp soup and pick their teeth at the table. My friends say I'm too fussy.

Actually, I'm sick to my stomach. I've tried to bring up my daughters to be ladies. I tell them, "Chew with your mouth closed, and either don't pop your gum or get rid of it."
I would like to know, Ann, how can a person enjoy a meal in a restaurant when someone at the next table is belching out loud? Is it supersensitive to become disgusted when the person seated next to me on a bus is eating cherries and spitting the pits on the floor? I've been in meetings filled with professionals and heard women chomp-ing on peanut brittle and men cracking nuts with their teeth.

How about theaters where the popcorn crunching is so loud that you can't pay attention to the movie? And have you seen the trash they throw on the floor?

The phone is a real thrill. People think nothing of munching an apple, smacking gum or, my personal favorite, blowing their nose without covering the phone or even bothering to say, "Excuse me."

But the nights begin at Nina's.

What has happened to our society that we have become such oinkers? - NAUSEOUS IN VENICE DEAR VENICE: Your letter implies that we are less polite than we used to be? I doubt that this is true. Slobs have been around for a long time. With a little effort on the part of parents, we could help the next generation do a whole lot better. I heartily recommend it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My brother and I were raised by a woman who should never have had children. I have not spoken to nor seen my mother in 10 years, nor do I ever expect to see or talk to her again. It is my choice. My reason is not to get even but self-preservation. If I am to restore my self-esteem and heal from the pain she has caused. I must stay away from her.

You should have told "Columbus" (the woman who hated her mother) that she is at the beginning of a long road back from hell. Her mother did indeed leave her a legacy. My legacy is that I am a recovering alcoholic (22 months sober) and I must work hard to convince myself that I am not all the awful things she said I was "Columbus" should know that reprogramming is where most of the work is. I have to learn to trust, not only others, but my own judgment as well. When someone tells me I am intelligent and accomplished, it seems as if they are talking about someone else.

At the age of 42, I am just now learning to let go of the anger towards my mother because of what she did to me. The destruction this woman wreaked on the lives of her children is incredible. It has taken me this long not to hate her, and now I am at the stage where I can finally let go. I am light years away from forgiving her, but I hope that someday I will be able to do that,

If I can come out of this healthy lraq tightened the screws on apped Westerners on Thursday, arning that anyone trying to leave ithout permission could face life in rison. The Soviet Union raised the ossibility of Kremlin support for ending a U.N. military force to the ersian Gulf.

In a surprise move, President ush said he would be making a atement on Iraqi TV.

Saudi Arabia committed several Illion dollars toward defraying the sormous cost of the U.S. forces to the U.S. forces to the U.S. forces to the U.S. forces to the bornous the kinedom's oil fields. cting the kingdom's oil fields possible Iraqi aggression, U.S. Saudi officials announced.

U.S. officials said the Saudis would, at a minimum, pick up all el, water and transportation costs for the 60,000 American troops now in Saudi Arabia. Earlier this week, cretary of State James Baker told Congress the U.S. presence would cost about $6 billion by year's end. Both U.S. and Saudi officials declined to provide a specific price tag for the commitment.

British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher pledged more forces to bolster the U.S. contingent in the gulf. She did not elaborate on the deployment plans.

Egypt, too, said, it was beefing up its small gulf contingent.

At the United Nations, diplomats said U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar planned to send an envoy to occupied Kuwait to meet with diplomats whose embassies are surrounded by Iraqi troops, and with trapped foreigners. Baghdad would have to give its consent for the visit.

The State Department again blasted Iraq for its treatment of foreign nationals, including the shooting of an American in Kuwait who was trying to avoid capture. Department spokesman Mark hope will bring a break in the nearly

-week-old crisis. President Bush said the United States was determined to force Iraqi President Saddam Hussein to withdraw from Kuwait, which Iraqi troops overran Aug. 2 in a dispute over land, money and oil.
"We will not stand by while one country devours another un-threatening country whole," Bush said at a Kansas fund-raiser. "Our cause may not be easy, but it will always be right."

Bush said he would make a statement for broadcast to the Iraqi people, saying he saw "a real op-portunity" to explain the U.S. view. Baghdad had offered to broadcast an interview with Bush, but the White House said the president would tape statement instead.

Statements by the Iraqi president — which White House wags call "Saddamathons" — have received ample air time in the United States, and the Bush administration was reportedly irritated about this.

Word that Moscow might support a U.N. military force in the gulf came from Soviet Foreign Ministry spokesman Gennady Gerasimov. He indicated Mikhail S. Gorbachev may discuss the idea with Bush at their summit Sunday in Helsinki,

Previously, the Soviets had said only that they might participate if the United Nations decided to deploy a military force.

"We have to go back to the U.N. charter and revive certain clauses of this charter ... which may have armed forces - international armed forces — at its disposal so as to keep international peace and security. Gerasimov told reporters.

Gerasimov spoke a day after Dillen called Iraq's behavior "outrageous."

Washington and Moscow, meanwhile, scrambled to prepare for the weekend superpower summit they hope will bring a break in the nearly 'treachery.'

Expenses escalate daily for the U.S. military deployment, and Treasury Secretary Nicholas Brady arrived Thursday in Seoul, South Korea, the latest stop on a tour to press allies for funds. Baker made the same pitch in Saudi Arabia, where much of the U.S. force is

In Iraq, the outlook grew grimmer for trapped foreigners. Baghdad said those caught trying to leave without permission could face life in prison. Justice Minister Akram Abdul-Kader said authorities were reviving a 1987 law that "a foreigner violating the entry and exit procedures ... will be sentenced to life or temporary imprisonment, and all cash in his possession will be confiscated.

The State Department said Iraqi authorities had informed U.S. officials that an American shot by Iraqi police in Kuwait was expected to be discharged from a hospital shortly but will remain in Iraqi custody. The department spokesman, Dillen, said the American was wounded while attempting to evade capture at his apartment in Kuwait

"We hold the Iraqi government responsible for the health and welfare of all American citizens held against their will in Kuwait and Iraq," Dillen said.

Westerners were continuing to make their way out of Iraq and Kuwait, under Saddam's promise to free foreign women and children. Western men are being held as human shields to protect Iraqi in-

In Sweden, the people who make must constantly adjust in order to get comfortable—sometimes asta much as 20 to 30 times a night. Small wonder so many people wake up tired. And with a backache. The Dux Bed is designed to help eliminate back problems and give you a more restful night's sleep. It's the best made bed in the world. It has two layers of innersprings instead of the usual one. The upper layer moulds itself to the contours of the body, allowing the spine to lie straight.

The bottom layer acts as a buffer against harsh movement and provides firm support.

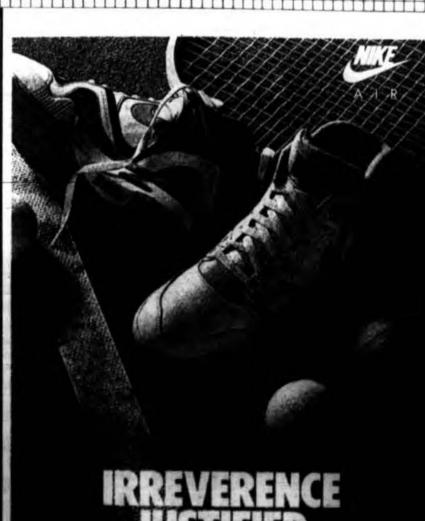

Made of the finest Swedish steel, the innerspring unit is so superior it should last a lifetime. So in the long run the cost of owning a Dux Bed is only a few pennies more per night than the cost of an ordinary

This remarkable bed is available only in our Duxiana Shop in a wide range of mattress sizes, frames and headboards. You'll find a beautiful collection of 100% cotton Dux linens there, too.

A bed is one of the most important purchases you'll ever make. After all, you spend about 8 hours a night in bed—that's one-third of your life. So come in and try the Dux Bed. (And see our luxurious line of Dux linens, comforters and bedroom furnishings.) Lie in it; take a nap. You're going to love it. Your back will, too.

Irvine concerned about rash of stolen bicycles

By KAREN AUGE

IRVINE - When Corinne Goodman's new turquoise 12-speed bike was snatched from her parents' open garage last week, her first thought was that one of her friends was pulling a prank.

After all, the 12-year-old points out, in the four years her family has lived here, "nothing bad has ever happened to us. We have all good neighbors. And Irvine has such a good name, it's supposed to be

But it may be that pervasive feeling of insulation - and residents' willingness to leave garage doors ajar — that has made this affluent community a prime target for bike thieves in recent months. Irvine police records show that as a victim of bike theft this summer, Corinne has lots of company. Between July 26 and Aug. 28, 180 bikes were stolen in the city, a number far higher than ever posted here in a single month, said Sgt. Phil Povey. And many of those were taken, as Corinne's was, out of open garages, Povey said.

Newport Beach police report a similar, although less dramatic, increase this summer as well. The city racked up 100 thefts during August, but the bike stealing wave appears to have crested, said Newport Beach police Sgt. Andy Gonis.

Despite more than a dozen arrests of suspected bike thieves last month in Irvine, investigators there don't really have a handle on what's caused the sudden increase or where the purloined property ends up, Povey said.

But they're certain that, contrary to Corinne's initial suspicion, whoever pedaled away on the seventhgrader's shiny, month-old Huffy wasn't doing it for laughs.

Gone are the days when kids saved their allowances for months to buy a utilitarian Schwinn. And vanished with them is the time when the most likely bike thief was the playground bully.

Swept along by a wave of popularity spawned by the exercise craze, today's bikes are no longer just for kids. They have become high-ticket. high-velocity toys for the well-heeled and the fitness minded.

Brett Sievert, manager of a Per-Barranca and Culver Drive, said that offroad mountain bikes which outsell other types by a margin of five to one — start at $239 apiece and climb to $800 at his Road bikes and racing bikes are priced from $300 to $2,500 at Performance, Sievert said. And that's in addition to locks, water bottles and

The bikes' value and popularity apparently make them irresistible bait for those looking for an easy, if illegal, way to make a fast buck or several hundred bucks.

The thieves who've plagued Irvine cyclists this summer probably aren't kids looking for transportation, and they probably aren't amateurs, Povey said. "This wave has been too intense, too organized.'

Povey said.

Residents have substantiated those suspicions by reporting strangers slowly cruising streets and alleys looking into garages, he added.

But where the bikes end up, police can't say. "We have no evidence of a bike chop-shop (where bikes are dismantled and the parts sold on a black market) and we're not finding abandoned bikes or pieces of bikes, Povey said. And none of the 15 people arrested on suspicion of stealing bikes has been willing to divulge the bikes' destinations, he said. While police are stymied in solving the mystery behind the sudden wave of thefts, they can offer tips to help prevent others from joining Corrine Goodman in the ranks of the suddenly bike-less.

Povey and Gonis recommend recording your cycle's serial number somewhere, so that it can be identified if it turns up after being stolen.

Parts of Huntington Beach lose phone service

HUNTINGTON BEACH -Phone service to about 1,100 GTE California customers was off the hook Thursday as service personnel worked along Garfield Avenue to restore a cut 1,200 pair cable, GTE spokesman Larry Cox said.

tor working on a city sewer line cut the underground cable around 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, Cox said.

Original estimates had service being restored by 9 p.m. Wednesday, but the estimates were revised to midnight Thursuay because repairs were more complex than anticipated, he added.

Ribbing mob boss nearly killed Rickles

LOS ANGELES - Don Rickles, stand-up comedy king of insults, has only had one brush with death related to his act, but that was because the target of his abuse thought he was hilarious.

Rickles was performing at the Copacabana nightclub in New York in 1972 when mob boss Joey Gallo came to see the show. Bodyguards appeared backstage before the show to tell Rickles their boss didn't want to be teased.

"That's like painting a bull's eye on yourself," Rickles said. "A guy sits in the front row smoking a big cigar and surrounded by five bodyguards and I'm supposed to ignore him?"

Rickles hit on Gallo mercilessly and Gallo couldn't stop laughing. Afterwards, Gallo invited Rickles to his 43rd birthday celebration at Umberto's Clam House.

Rickles declined. A few hours later, four men walked into Umberto's and gunned down Gallo.
"Frankly, I didn't go because I was a little nervous. And besides, I didn't like clams," Rickles said.

For four decades, Rickles has tell Frank what he did wrong. survived and prospered on the comedy circuit, thanks in part to his friend and fan Frank Sinatra. He's appearing on stage with Sin-atra and Pia Zadora this Saturday

"Yeah, that's Brad," growled Hector Castel, looking down at the lifeless body. Castel, the county's coronor and most consumate bureaucrat, jammed his hands in his pockets and rocked back on his heels as he watched his deputies slide the body of Brad Andersen into a royal blue body bag. "He was nothing but trouble anyway," Castel mused. "I'm not surprised by this. Not at all."

Fred Nichols paced across the newsroom floor of the Newport Beach Weekly. He didn't like this. He didn't like it one bit.

"Well, it may not surprise you but it sure surprised me," the editor said, still pacing. "I mean, what's a dead deputy coroner doing in the middle of my newsroom?" room?

SHOWOFF! GIVE ME ONE GOOD EASON WHY YOU NEED A CHAUFFEUR!

LOS ANGELES - Don Rickles, stand-up comedy king of insults, has only had one brush with death related to his act, but that was because the target of his abuse thought he was hilarious.

Rickles was performing at the Copacabana nightclub in New York in 1972 when mob boss Joey Gallo came to see the show. Bodyguards appeared backstage before the show to tell Rickles their boss didn't want to be teased.

"That's like painting a bull's eye on yourself," Rickles said. "A guy sits in the front row smoking a big cigar and surrounded by five bodyguards and I'm supposed to ignore him?"

Rickles hit on Gallo mercilessly and Gallo couldn't stop laughing. Afterwards, Gallo invited Rickles to his 43rd birthday celebration at Umberto's Clam House.

Rickles declined. A few hours later, four men walked into Umberto's and gunned down Gallo.
"Frankly, I didn't go because I was a little nervous. And besides,
I didn't like clams," Rickles said.

For four decades, Rickles has survived and prospered on the comedy circuit, thanks in part to his friend and fan Frank Sinatra. He's appearing on stage with Sin-atra and Pia Zadora this Saturday night at the Pacific Amphitheatre.

"We've always had a good time together offstage and onstage, but we've never formally performed together," Rickles said this week. "So now I'll go up and do my the stars thing. Frank will do his thing and insulted. then I'll come back on stage and

These and other interesting — but totally useless — facts can be found on the latest Jim Warren production: Soap Star! collectible cards.

Warren has combined his lifelong love of baseball with an interest in television's daytime dramas. A baseball card collector as a child, he came up with the idea of Soap Star!

cards a couple of years ago. "I'm always thinking up strange things," says Warren, who lives in Los Angeles. But Warren initially filed away the thought of soap star collectible cards — until eight months ago when he heard a couple of others also were mulling over the idea. That pushed him into action. New Kids on the Block have had cards; so have Michael Jackson, Dick Tracy, Batman and the Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles. Coming in the fall will be Simpsons cards based on the popular Fox TV Warren has sold more than 2,000 of the first set of cards and is well on the way to selling even more of the second set. Sets three and four will be out in September.

Soap Star! sets are $6 each and include 12 full-color cards. (Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Red Star, Box 3555, Hollywood, Calif. 90078.)

Instead of a plain cardboard backing to protect the pictures in the mail, Warren includes a full-color postcard of one soap star. ("No, sorry, you can't pick which one!" he said) with each order.

Somewhat surprising, he said, is that men account for one of every eight orders. "Even if a lot of them don't admit it, we know men are watching the soaps, and we know men are into collecting things. What we're seeing now is men who watch soaps also are collecting the cards."

The soap stars aren't paid for posing for the cards, which Warren said helps keep the cost down.

"They don't get paid when they're in magazines, either," he said. "It's just good publicity for them."

Each actor who poses for a Soap Star! card receives one framed copy to keep - "and an extra (framed) one for Mom's purse," he said. The cards are numbered and sold only in pre-selected sets, but Warren doesn't withhold cards to add to their value. "Each set has 12 cards — except for the first one, which also has two bonus cards.

Warren, who, with photographer Jon McKee has taken most of the sixtures on the Soan Starl cards.

pictures on the Soap Star! cards, doesn't use a sophisticated market-ing plan to publicize the cards.

He placed ads in a couple of soap opera magazines, but mostly he has relied on "people telling other people" about the cards.

Warren, who became involved in daytime TV as a page at ABC, has appeared as a bit player in nine of the 12 soap operas.

"Yeah, that's Brad," growled Hector Castel, looking down at the lifeless body. Castel, the county's coronor and most consumate bureaucrat, jammed his hands in his pockets and rocked back on his heels as he watched his deputies slide the body of Brad Andersen into a royal blue body bag.

"He was nothing but trouble anyway," Castel mused. "I'm not

Fred Nichols paced across the newsroom floor of the Newport Beach Weekly. He didn't like this. He didn't like it one bit.

"Well, it may not surprise you but it sure surprised me," the editor said, still pacing. "I mean, what's a dead deputy coroner doing in the middle of my newsroom?"

Castel lit a cigarette and blew a

Amburgey turns a good idea into overkill was an exercise in futility. And a silly one at that. We are talking about Costa Mesa's attack on pushcart vendors. But almost like everything else Councilman Orv Amburgey and his associates are involved in, there was a bit of the overkill.

Amburgey, it appears, refuses to use good sense. That's the pity of it all, there was a germ of a pretty good idea. The Amburgey excesses made it all seem like a bad idea.

Quite frankly, we see nothing wrong with trying to make sure that all vendors, including street vendors, have the proper licenses including health certificates in order to operate within the Costa Mesa city limits.

We see lots wrong with the attempt to throw the baby out with the bath water.

The proposal was advanced by members of the city administration. It was jumped on and embraced by the controversial councilman. It would have banned all street vendors, period. They are, to be sure, banned in Newport Beach, Laguna Beach and Fountain Valley. They are allowed a limited presence in Irvine and Huntington Beach.

That is, certain conditions have to be met by the vendors in order to operate. In the case of Irvine, they are not permitted on public sidewalks or streets. In Huntington Beach, certain permits are required.

Almost any of these solutions would have been more preferable than the heavy-handed attempt to ban the vendors from plying their trade altogether.

The fact is, most of the vendors operate within the Latino neighborhoods of Costa Mesa.

Amburgey's record in dealing with Hispanics and the Hispanic culture is well-documented by now. We think he and his allies have taken what could have been a pretty good idea and all but destroyed it because he refused to be sensible and reasonable. The city, the neighborhood he says he is trying to protect and the people he was dealing with deserved a little

We suggest the city staff go back to the drawing board and see if they can salvage this whole plan so it makes sense to everyone concerned.

Amburgey needs to lighten up

Costa Mesa City Councilman Orv Amburgey's method of searching for the solution to a culturally convergent community - related to the problem of immigration - is unenlightened. I propose that he "lighten up" on his method of analyzing community issues.

The place for him to start lightening up is with his barbarian attitude that in order to maintain relationships with each other, the citizens of Costa Mesa should resort to his caveman compliance policies. By this, I mean that he shouldn't try to solve what he perceives to be a city problem by imposing his own solutions of:

1. Spot checking its population's 2. Forcing its charitable organizations to comply with residency status laws. 3 Wasting the taxpayers' money fighting the federal government about city grant funds.

4. Challenging Housing and Urban Development Secretary Jack Kemp to a debate about the isue.

desirable land which has been ap-give freedom of speech and en-lightened methods of maintaining human relationships a try. I suggest that he initiate a public forum at which the citizens of Costa Mesa may have the opportunity to address the stock issues involved in the total situation we find ourselves caught

To be more specific, I invite the councilman to research, organize and present documented facts and opinions addressing five main ideas that will help the citizens of Costa Mesa judge for themselves whether his plan or Secretary Kemp's plan for interacting with the city's immigrants is the most mutually beneficial one to all involved. The five main ideas are as follows:

1. Is there a significant need to deny city grant funds to illegal

2. Are there substantial amounts of people whose needs are not being met by maintaining our current

3. Is there an inherent reason why we have been unable to solve the problem and an inherent person or I propose that the councilman group with power that can help us solve the problem?

4. Do you have a feasible plan to solve the immigration problem in Costa Mesa?

5. How does your plan offer a mutual benefit to both sides involved in the controversy?

I truly believe that Councilman Amburgey needs to develop some intercultural communication skills in order to maintain relationships in our community. His present methods smack of prejudice and

As a Moxican-American citizen of the United States and resident of Costa Mesa, I strongly urge the councilman to confront our situation of cultural convergence by identifying our cultural clashes and similarities, then arriving at an interculturally cooperative solution for our city. In so doing, the councilman will be lightening up by showing some respect for our ability to empathize and reason with our fellow humans in non-belligerent caveman compliance ways.

U.S buildup in Middle East attracts unlikely desert hawks

WASHINGTON - Members of Congress visiting Saudi Arabia and talking about the threat of real war in the Persian Gulf were flabbergasted last Sunday when King Fahd told them that if sanctions and negotiations don't get Saddam Hussein out of Kuwait, "then force, of course, will have to be used."

Similarly hawkish views were also heard in Cairo and Damascus by traveling American lawmakers. The rapid U.S. military buildup in the Saudi desert following Iraq's annexation of Kuwait has transformed the political leaders of Saudi Arabia, Egypt and Syria into bellicose Saddam haters. Unlikely hawks in a twilight war, they thirst to punish Iraq's strongman. That poses a problem for President Bush. He does not want to be pressured into military adventures that, if gone awry, could wreck his presidency. But having rushed 100,000 American fighters to the front, backed by the most sophisticated array of super-weapons ever placed on a battlefield, the president may have trouble controlling hawks in his military alliance that a month ago he thought would be restraining

For decades, suspicious Saudi Arabia avoided publicizing military contacts with the United States, always viewed as "foreign" and thus to be kept "over the horizon." King Fahd's remarks to the visiting congressional delegation suggest that the Saudi psyche has been transformed overnight from an extreme of xenophobic caution into an easy acceptance of inter-Arab war In Damascus, the shift from U.S. hater to U.S. ally is only slightly less dramatic, based on President Hafez al-Assad's hatred of Saddam Hussein. For Egypt's President Hosni Mubarak, the keystone of America's new military alliance with anti-Saddam Arabs, risking war against another Arab state is more understandable, particularly considering the rewards flooding to Cairo from George Bush. The desire In Damascus, the shift from U.S.

For all of Saddam's threats, the Saudis have put away their worry beads. Bush and his military policymakers (led by Gen. Colin Powell, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff) find themselves counseling patience to Saudi hawks, in person and over Bush's ever-cradled telephone.

The Saudis whisper to Bush and his agents what can be done once U.S. forces are in place. They say Saddam Hussein's command centers and communications, his air bases, offensive missiles and anti-aircraft emplacements can be destroyed by U.S. and Saudi air power in a matter of hours. They are laying out persuasive arguments that Saddam Hussein's army is not what it's cracked up to be. Instead of a million men, they say its effective force is between 200,000 and 300,000. Instead of the 5,100 tanks the United States believes it has, the Saudis insist the effective force is no more than 1,000 late-model T-72s. As for air, Saudi experts say that Iraq can put only 120 MiG-29 and Mirage fighters in the air, with the rest of its force not worth much.

Saudi specialists see Iraq's of-fensive aircraft and ground-launched missiles neutralized by American and Saudi bombing; its anti-air missiles and command centers smashed by sea-launched cruise missiles. Once the skies over the desert are cleared, Iraqi tanks can be systematically destroyed by U.S. aircraft. That would open the way for allied tanks and infantry (almost wholly American) to clear out Kuwait, driving Saddam's forces back toward Iraq or isolating them.

"They will panic," one Saudi official has advised Bush administration aides. "Without communications, how will they know what to U.S. officials have been privately told that morale inside Saddam's army is so low that between 150 and 200 Iraqi troops, at least one with an armored personnel carrier, have defected to Saudi Arabia.

Instead of these tidings giving cheer to George Bush, they are reinforcing his native caution, acting as a brake. "The president wants to sit on the embargo and the blockade he has worked so hard to put in place."

How long? Answers vary, but three to six months is an accurate bracket as of today. His immediate next step: tighten the embargo and give Saddam plenty of room to fall.

That may not be acceptable to the Saudi hawks who own the turf where American power now sits. They want Saddam "taken out" soon. That pressure, coupled with notoriously short American patience for a long watch-and-wait, confronts Bush with a political challenge once he completes his exemplary military

State on the road toward a good budget

SACRAMENTO - This year's protracted wrangle over the state budget was shameful, not only because it dragged on for many weeks, but because it failed to resolve anything fundamental.

Gov. George Deukmejian and the Legislature took the short way out by enacting some short-range spending cuts and some equally superficial revenue increases to close a $3.6 billion gap between projected income and outgo.

However, they left the state's underlying fiscal dilemma all but untouched, and thus shifted the burden onto the next governor and succeeding legislative sessions.

The basic fiscal problem is this: ■ Demands for services, as demonstrated by soaring school enrol-lment, prison population, welfare and health-care caseloads, and other indexes, are increasing rapidly. The demand side of the budgetary equation is driven by inflation, by record levels of population growth, by explosive social and economic change, and by laws that dictate levels of spending, such as the automatic cost-of-living increases in welfare grants.

■ The state's ability to finance those services is constricted by a series of tax-limitation laws that began with Proposition 13 in 1978. In the abstract, state revenues are growing healthily, about 8 percent a year. But the "baseline budget" the amount of money that must be spent to comply with current laws, expanded for caseload and inflation is growing even faster.

■ None of these factors even considers the fact that public services in many cases are falling well below standard. Many rural county governments are sidling toward bankruptcy, and even with the tens of billions of dollars we spend on schools, California is doing no better than a mediocre job of educating a highly diverse student population.

In the final days of the just-concluded legislative session, one of the Legislature's most intelligent and perceptive members dared to declared publicly what everyone concedes privately: The budget process is a mess and getting worse.

Assemblyman Phil Isenberg, D-Sacramento, circulated a memorandum to every member of the Legislature, noting that the legislative budget office had concluded that this year's shortfall is likely to be followed by another next year.

With continuing uncertainty in the Middle East, cutbacks in Pentagon spending in California, and other variables, Isenberg said, "the most obvious conclusion anyone can reach ... is that the new governor will probably face a multimillion (perhaps multibillion) dollar shortfall in January ...

Isenberg suggested a moratorium on new spending and tax bills, including bond issues, until June; establishment of firm spending ceilings for the 1991-92 budget; some pre-election budget discussions by both candidates for governor, and, most importantly, "a complete review of the structural restraints facing state government and potential reforms of state and local financial and governance relationships."

Both parties, Isenberg said, must cleanse themselves of their "original sin" on budgetary matters: Democrats of their "automatic defense" of spending programs, and Republicans of their insistence "that no new taxes should ever be raised but that tax breaks should be granted endlessly ...

Isenberg wanted to be provoca-tive, and he was, in a constructive sort of way. His memo compelled leaders of both parties to indirectly acknowledge that they cannot continue budgeting-by-perpetual-crisis.

In the final hours of the legislative session, both houses approved a resolution, authored by Assembly Speaker Willie Brown, to begin the long-term budgetary review that Isenberg proposed, including spending targets and a request to the gubernatorial candidates to become Capitol politics have a way of grinding away good intentions before they can become reality. It will take great political will, far more than has been exhibited in recent years, to eschew crisis-oriented budgeting next year and take a longer view.

Some signs are encouraging.

Neither of the candidates for governor is committing himself or herself to irrevocable positions on spending and taxes, for instance.

Isenberg has pointed the way toward rationality. The next six months will reveal whether others will follow.

New law puts the squeeze on tipsy boaters boaters might have to forego a drink to remain legally sober under a new law that takes effect next year.

Gov. George Deukmejian said Thursday he has signed a bill to lower the legal blood-alcohol limit for boaters from .10 percent to .08

The new law, which takes effect Jan. I, would conform the boating law to the vehicle driving law. The level for legal drunkenness was lowered on Jan. 1 this year for vehicles.

"Boats can be just as dangerous as cars, if not more so, when they are operated by someone who is under the influence of alcohol," said Sen. Bill Leonard, R-Redlands, author of SACRAMENTO - Boozing SB1808. "This bill gives law enforcement another tool to enforce driving under the influence laws and keep dangerous boaters off our water-

> The new law would also make it illegal for anyone under the age of 18 to operate a motorboat with a bloodalcohol level of .05 percent of more. That is also the same as cars.

Leonard said there were 51 deaths and 33 injuries on California waterways in 1988. He said the state Department of Boating and Waterways studied fatal accidents over two years in 1985 and concluded that 59 percent of them involved alcohol.

"The name of this school, every-body, is what?" queried Rosenzweig of her 16 boys and 12 girls.

"Kindergarten," they all shouted in a confident, unanimous cry. It was their first mistake. The name is Eastshore School, the teacher cor-rected. "Eastshore School," they all cried out, proud of their newly gained insight.

So much is familiar in this kindergarten class of 1990 - the flag salute, the "eensy weensy spider song, the unnaturally clean tennis shoes, no doubt vigilantly preserved by moms for the first day of school.

And yet so much is different. Stressing the developmental side of learning, the Irvine district trains kindergarten teachers in the Assured Readiness for Learning (ARL) techniques. These kindergarteners will learn to write in cursive before printing. Teachers say longhand does not require the more difficult small

And one of the mainstays of the ARL method is the use of blindfolds. Rosenzweig's kindergarteners will wear little red blindfolds around their necks all day long, ready to be pulled over their eyes at a moment's notice. Teachers say the blindfolds boost concentration during specially designed learning exercises.

But before the kids tried out their new blindfolds, they were led around the school on the trail of the elusive Gingerbread Man, meeting the principal, librarian, nurse and school custodian and handyman

Alex Garza along the way.

Back in the classroom, it seemed the Gingerbread Man had come and gone, leaving gingerbread cookies in his wake. After a rousing chorus of "I'm a little teapot, short and stout," snack time began in earnest as the children filed out to the picnic

Looking a little worried among his colleagues at the picnic table, wideeyed, 5-year-old Ryan Vandegriendt munched on a snack and thought hard when asked how he liked kindergarten so far. "Well, this is the first day I came," he explained. "So I don't know yet.'

The first Friday night of prep football is here — and for the Orange Coast Area it is highlighted with major non-league confrontations.

Edison, Estancia and Westminster got their games under their belts Thursday night, and Costa Mesa awaits until Saturday, but for all of the other area schools, tonight's the night.

Among the attractions is a long-time rivalry between Corona del Mar and Huntington Beach with their 11th straight opener. Corona del Mar owns an 8-3 advantage in the series, including a forfeit victory over Huntington a year ago.

Huntington a year ago.

Huntington Beach is ranked No. 10 in Orange County, and Corona del Mar is right on the Oilers' heels at 11.

In a game of major significance in terms of Orange County rankings, Mater Dei takes its No. 8 reputation to Capistrano Valley where the No. 7 Cougars await.

Bohuslaviski goes wild for Estancia in 30-27 triumph

Eagles' wide receiver catches 11 passes for 269 yards and three touchdowns

By PATRICK LARKIN

NEWPORT BEACH - Estancia High wide receiver Will Bohuslaviski had only two words to say after his teams' 30-27 comefrom-behind victory over Los Amigos in non-league action at Newport Harbor High Thursday night.

"I'm tired," Bohuslaviski said. And he had every right to be as the 5-foot-6 senior caught 11 passes for 269 yards and three touchdowns two of which came in the last three minutes as the Eagles rallied from a 27-17 deficit.

For Bohuslaviski, who caught only eight passes last season, it was definitely a night to remember as the under-sized receiver played a nearly uncontested game of catch with quarterback Matt Johner.

Johner, a sophomore didn't have a bad night himself either as he completed 12 of 21 passes for 341 yards. three touchdowns and one inter-

"We knew we could drive on them, we were doing it all night," Johner said. "I wasn't nervous because we had worked on the twominute drill all week.

"This was a lot different compared to the freshman team."

The Eagles ran the two-minute offense to perfection on their last two drives which both resulted in touchdowns with the game-winner coming with 1:14 left.

Estancia had pulled to within four at 27-23 and after stopping the Lobos on three downs, Los Amigos was forced to punt. After a 10-yard return and a holding penalty, the Eagles started their final drive with 2:12 showing on the clock and the ball on their own 37-yard line.

On first down, Johner found Bohuslaviski open for a 27-yarder that put the ball on the Lobo 36. Once again Johner dropped back and hit his favorite target for a 21-yard gain down to the 15. Derick Ragsdale returned Hegazi's kick to the 33-yard line after nearly breaking a long one and the Lobos had one last chance to win the game.

On first down, quarterback Ethan Siddall hit Andre Robertson over the middle for a 36-yard gain and a first down at the Eagle 31. Siddall then connected with Matt McCready on an eight-yarder to put Los Amigos into field goal range.

Los Amigos chances were hurt on the next play when Siddall was stopped for no gain on a broken play and then on third down he threw incomplete. The big blow came when the Lobos marched 15 yards backwards on a personal foul and the out of field goal range. David Hong then sacked Siddall for a seven-yard

Chargers defend reputation with strong 17-7 win

By BARRY FAULKNER

ORANGE - Between an openingseries wake-up call and a bitter nightcap, the Edison High football team put in another quality shift Thursday night, thumping host El Modena. 7-7, to improve to 2-0.

El Modena quarterback Adam Garcia bolted 59 yards into the end zone on the team's fourth offensive play, but a penalty wiped the slate clean.

"That was a wake-up call for us." Edison Coach Dave White said. "But other than that and the final drive. I thought our defense played pretty El Modena capitalized on Edison's only turnover of the night after Brett Hanson's 27-yard field goal made it 17-0 with 1:27 left in the game.

The Charger defense forced a punt. but the ball bounded off an Edison player and was recovered by the Vanguards at their own 36.

Quarterback Jose Prado, filling in for the injured Garcia, then got the hot hand. He connected with Darryll Holguin on a 47-yard slant, then lofted a 17-yard scoring pass to Jay Montano with seven seconds left to avert what would have been the Chargers' second straight shutout.

"I'm really disappointed with the finish." White said. "We talked about not letting down, but that's exactly what we did. I think that will be an important lesson for us." What opponents are learning more and more about these Chargers is that it's tough to move the ball -

After Edison missed a 33-yard field goal on its first possession, El Modena reeled off consecutive gains of 16, 17, 6 and 18 yards against a team that allowed only 24 rushing yards total in a season-opening 12-0 ictory over Iolani in Hawaii.

But the defense settled down and the young offense took over, gaining praise from White in the process.

"Our offense played better." White explained. "We blocked better and we just missed connecting on a couple more passes. Josh (Gingrich, a senior quarterback making his second varsity start) threw the ball pretty well and we ran the ball pretty well. We've got a long way to go, but we have eight days to prepare for Capistrano Valley."

Gingrich, who threw for 128 yards in the opener, connected on 8 of his first 12 attempts, en route to a 168vard performance on 11 of 17.

His primary target was senior standout Mike Cunningham. Cunningham hauled in six Gingrich aerials for 135 yards, including a 2yard touchdown toss to open the scoring with 1:32 in the first quarter. The Cunningham score was set up by the defense Senior Mike Hawks raced in to nail a retreating Garcia inside his own 10-yard line, jarring the ball loose in the process. Travis Balding recovered at the Vanguard 4 and Gingrich found Cunningham deep in the end zone three plays later.

Agassi chews up, spits out Soviet

Grand Slam still within reach, Becker awaits in semifinals

By STEVE WILSTEIN

NEW YORK - Sassy and flashy and psyched to the max. Andre Agassi put on a show of blast-away tennis to set up a fiery match against Boris Becker in the U.S. Open semi-

Agassi, hungry for his first Grand Slam, chewed up Soviet Andrei Cherkasov 6-2, 6-2, 6-3 Thursday night and gave further proof that he isn't just the tennis world's loudest

America's top player and the leader of the pack of young sluggers on the tour, Agassi, 20, walloped deep shots relentlessly with his oversized, neon green, power racket and kept Cherkasov on the defensive in every set. Cherkasov, who beat baseliner Michael Chang in the third round, found that there's more to Agassi than his funky green and black clothes, and more to his game than big groundstrokes. Agassi took every opportunity to charge the net and kill the ball on the run. He didn't show much finesse, but after a year of pumping iron, his power is undeniable.

It was never more so than at the end of the first set and throughout the second. Agassi took a 4-2 lead in the first set with a forehand deep in the corner on game point that whizzed by Cherkasov as if it were a rocket. Agassi took particular pleasure in that shot, gazing at it in admiration before strutting back to the baseline.

Agassi then broke Cherkasov with an assault that had the Soviet sprinting frenetically from side to side. desperately chasing balls and finally hitting them wide or into the net. Agassi finished the set with a service winner to take the game at love.

It was more of the same in the second set and third. Cherkasov breaking Agassi a few times but Agassi coming right back with his relentless assault.

"He has powerful groundstrokes. I think the best in the world," said Cherkasov, a 20-year-old born on the Fourth of July. "He was too good. He was always quicker and quicker. I feel tired.

Agassi, stopped in the semifinals here the past two years and in the finals of the French Open in June, said he counted on taking advantage of Cherkasov's lack of experience. The Soviet played here only once before, losing in the first round last

"I wanted to stay disciplined and discourage him early," Agassi said. Becker, the defending champion, took a slower approach in winning.

awakening from a first-set stupor after a flare-up at the umpire, then breaking down Aaron Krickstein's one-dimensional baseline game. After winning 3-6, 6-3, 6-2, 6-3, Becker smiled slyly and said his chances of capturing his first Grand Slam title this year were "pretty good," now that Ivan Lendl has followed top seed Stefan Edberg out of the tournament.

Becker predicted a long match against Agassi.

For tonight's scores, tune in at 103.1 FM — K-OCEAN, at 11 o'clock for the Orange Coast Dally Pliot's report of the Orange Coast Area's high school football games.

Constant dilemma: Recruiting

As Golden West College waits another week to open its season, head coach Ray Shackleford is mostly drilled with questions about two former players, while Orange Coast, in gear for tonight, sees stars in the Golden West also has the Vikings as its first-round target, but not until next Saturday at Long Beach. Shackleford, who wishes GWC was playing Saturday rather than next week, has been bombarded with inquiries about Glenn Parker and Blaise Bryant, the latter a Heisman Trophy candidate from Iowa State.

Parker never played football at Edison High when Bill Workman was there, but he picked it up at Golden West and earned a full-ride to Arizona before the Buffalo Bills drafted him last April in the third

'Everybody's been calling me and all they want to talk about is Blaise Bryant and Glenn Parker, they don't want to talk about Golden West," Shackleford said. "Parker, apparently, is going to start (at offensive tackle) for the Buffalo Bills and Blaise Bryant has been getting a lot of

Banged-up Broncos wary of opener with Raiders

The Denver Broncos were smart-ing after their 55-10 Super Bowl loss to San Francisco last season, but they're really hurting now.

And that, warned Coach Dan Reeves, should be incentive enough for the Broncos' opening-day foe, the Los Angeles Raiders.

"With us being hurt, there's no question they'll try to mash us," Reeves said.

Most of the NFL opens its 1990-91 season Sunday, while the Super Bowl champion 49ers open up Monday night at New Orleans.

Sunday's games: Minnesota at Kansas City, Phoenix at Washington. Rams at Green Bay, Seattle at Chicago, Tampa Bay at Detroit, Houston at Atlanta, Indianapolis at Buffalo, New York Jets at Cincinnati, Miami at New England, Pittsburgh at Cleveland and San Diego at Dallas. Philadelphia plays at the New York Giants Sunday night.

The Broncos scaled back their workouts this past week just to avoid more injuries. The Broncos have only three healthy defensive linemen, but Reeves doesn't expect that to change the Raiders' approach

"They'll still try to go up top," Reeves said. "They've thrown the ball downfield all preseason, making the big play against everybody. We've got to be ready for that." The Broncos, led by quarterback

John Elway, are one-point favorites at Los Angeles.

Rams at Packers: Green Bay QB Don Majkowski ended his holdout this week but won't start. Instead, the Packers will be led by Anthony Dilweg, making his first career start. "I expect it's going to be a little while until I get back into full form," Majkowski said. "How long it will take we'll have to see." The Rams are three-point favorites, led by the NFC's second-leading passer, im Everett.

Wikings at Chiefs: The Vikings are one-point favorites over Kansas City in a battle of two teams that haven't met since 1981, when Kansas City won, 10-6. Herschel Walker starts his first full season with the Vikings, while the Chiefs' backfield features last year's NFL rushing leader, Christian Okoye, who had 1,480 yards on the ground last year.

Cardinals at Redskins: Phoenix lost all four of its exhibition games.

lost all four of its exhibition games and was outscored, 103-39, while the Redskins won three of four. Washington is a 12½-point favorite, led by QB Mark Rypien, third-rated passer in the NFC last season. Second-year quarterback Timm Rosenbach replaces Gary Hogeboom for the Cardinals, while No. 1 pick Anthony Thompson tries to improve the league's third-worst rushing offense.

Seahawks at Bears: The Seahawks' leading receiver, Steve Largent, has retired. Their leading rusher, Curt Warner, signed with the Rams, and 12-year tackle Mike Wilson retired. That leaves QB Dave Krieg to run the Seahawks' new run-and-shoot offense: The Bears meanwhile, had the second best rushing offense in the NFC last season, led by running back Neal Anderson. The Bears lead the NFC with six straight opening day wins and are favored by a touchdown. Buccaneers at Lions: The Lions won their final five games of the 1989-90 season and are 61/2-point favorites to keep alive their longest regular-season streak since 1970. The Lions' offense features QB Rodney Peete and last year's rookie of the year, running back Barry

Oilers at Falcons: The game marks the start of Atlanta's 25th season. QB Chris Miller threw for 862 yards and six touchdowns during preseason for Atlanta, which is favored by a point. The Oilers have gone to a run-and-shoot offense, run by Warren Moon.

Colts at Bills: Neither team won in preseason, although the Colts were outscored by a total of only 15 points, while the Bills were outscored by 58. The Colts offense will suffer from the loss running back Eric Dickerson, who is challenging the team's decision to place him on the non-football injury list after a long holdout. Buffalo is favored by 8.

■ Jets at Bengals: Cincinnati is a 91/2-point favorite over New York, which allowed just 46 points on defense during the preseason. Ken O'Brien will start at quarterback for the Jets over Tony Eason, while Boomer Esiason was the AFC's leading passer last year for the Bengals. New Jets Coach Bruce Coslet returns to Cincinnati where he played from 1969-76 and was an assistant coach from 1981-89.

Dolphins at Patriots: Like Atlanta, Miami is a silver anniversary team this year and is favored by 2 points to start with a win. The Dolphins (1-3) and Jets (2-2) were the only two AFC East teams with preseason victories. Steve Grogan will start his 16th season at quarterback for New England, which leads the AFC with a six-game winning streak on opening day.

ers had the league's worst offense, statistically, last year, but they also have a new offensive coordinator, former Jets coach Joe Walton Although the Steelers won five of their last six regular-season games and one playoff game, the Browns are favored by three.

Aikman retains the starting QB pos-ition over Steve Walsh in Year Two of Jimmy Johnson. The Cowboys were 1-15 last season in Johnson's first as coach. Mark Vlasic will start at quarterback for San Diego, a three-point favorite.

Eagles at Giants: Philadelphia was the only NFC East team to beat the Giants last season, although the Giants are favored by four this year. Six of the last seven games between the teams have been decided by seven points or less. The Giants were undefeated in preseason.

Pre-game shows aplenty as NFL opens on Sunday

The National Football League literally kicks off its 1990-91 campaign on Sunday with two games on network television and another on

And NFL fanatics will have the option of four - count 'em four pro football pre-game shows for the upcoming season.

There are a lot of big names, some former NFL stars and plenty of publicity involved in these shows. but as ESPN's executive vice president Steve Bornstein was quoted as saying, "(It's) window dressing around the event.

Bornstein's "window dressing" is ESPN's "NFL GameDay " Said Bornstein, "The pre-game shows are our signature," implying that all the networks cover the games in pretty much the same way. But it's the network's announcers and its performance in the studio that set it apart from the competition.

ESPN's "GameDay" is taking a big gamble this season, starting 30 minutes later that in the past. That means the final 30 minutes of the one-hour show will be directly opposite NBC's "NFL Live" and CBS's "The NFL Today."

With the debut of its Sunday night NFL package this fall, Turner Network Television will have its own 60-minute pre-game show which will air at 4 p.m., directly opposite ESPN's post-game scores and highlights show, "NFL

PrimeTime." The Sunday pre-game shows look

CBS: "The NFL Today." Greg Gumbel, Terry Bradshaw, Lesley Visser and Pat O'Brien appear at 9:30 a.m. Brent Musburger is gone and so is any semblance of what used to be the most successful pregame show in television.

■ NBC: "NFL Live." Bob Costas. O.J. Simpson and Will McDonough. appear at 9:30 a.m. NBC took away McDonough — CBS' top "insider" — and dropped Ralph Wiley and Bobby Beathard

■ ESPN: "NFL GameDay." Chris Berman, Pete Axthelm, Tom Jackson, Fred Edelstein and Joe Theismann appear at 9 a.m. Theismann moves into the studio for the first nine weeks, or until ESPN's game coverage begins, Nov 11. And Axthelm can't do predictions, per order of the NFL

■ TNT "The Stadium Show " Fred Hickman, Kevin Kiley, Ernie Johnson Jr., Craig Sager, Larry King, Paul Ryden and Pat Haden appear at 4 p.m. Unlike the others. this pre-game show will be done live from the site of TNT's game each week. Five minutes of scores and highlights from games played earlier in the day will air at exactly 4:05 p.m. and again at 4:35 p.m. each

Perhaps the best insights from the NFL can be heard on radio where NFL Preview" returns to KNX (1070) on Sunday at 9:15 a.m.

The show, anchored by ex-Raiders coach John Madden, along with Greg Gumbel, is back for its sixth

The weekly series will run 22 weeks through Fed. 3, 1991. Madden, winner of six consecutive Emmy Awards for "Outstanding Sports Personality/Analyst" 1983-88), joined CBS Sports in 1979. Gumbel joined CBS Radio in 1988 as play-by-play analyst for NFL games. He was formerly with WMAQ-TV in Chicago.

"NFL Preview" will analyze and preview each weekend's games, including reports on players, team standings and coaches' observations.

Madden and Gumbel will also be hosting halftime reports from CBS Radio NFL games.

KNX radio begins its NFL coverage on Monday night with the game between the San Francisco 49ers and New Orleans Saints with a pre-game show at 5:45 p.m.

GARDEN GROVE -- He doesn't look like a quarterback. He doesn't even wear a quarterback's number. So you're thinking, who's this No. 29 playing quarterback for the Westminster High School football team? And isn't it kind of odd he wears a jersey number like ther? jersey number like that?

If you're still puzzled, the name is John Mahaurien.

Think of how perplexed La Quinta must have felt when this sophmore came off then bench in the third quarter, with the Lions (0-2) trailing. 16-0, to rally Westminster to within a touchdown only to have the Aztecs (1-0) hold off the Lions, 16-8, Thursday night at Bolsa Grande High

A year ago, this kid was playing his football games during the afternoon but he seems to have adjusted to the night life. A transfusion Mahaurien doesn't need, but he revitalized a slumping Westminster offense.

With Westminster behind, 16-0, with 6:23 remaining in the third quarter in came Mahaurien. The first play was a 9-yard completion to Enrique Gonzalez, three plays later the 5-10, 175-pound quarterback passed 9 yards to tight end Eric Wilkins.

The two then combined on a spectacular 15-yard pass play to the La Quinta 1-yard line. Mahaurien went back, lofted a pass that Wilkins caught over his shoulder, juggled and then was dragged down. Gabriel Blevins then scored from the 1-yard line and Kirk Pierce passed to Lucas Jones for the two-point coversion. With 2:31 left in the third quarter, the Lions were right back in the hunt. On the ensuing kickoff, La Quin-ta's George Sanchez was leveled by Westminster's Hung Nguy, and the Lions' Dan Moore came up with a fumble recovery on the Aztecs' 21.

Blevins then ran 16 yards to La Quinta's 5-yard line. Vance Senteno then scored an apparent touchdown, but it was nullified because of a holding penalty. Pierce was thrown for a five-yard loss and Mahaurien then had three straight incomplete the Chargers, who continued to unleash a gambling, blitzing front eight. "They really pressured us with their defense," El Modena Coach Bill Backstrom said. "They're linemen are small, but they're quick and they weren't afraid to blitz. To hurt them, you've got to break through their line of scrimmage, but after the first series, we couldn't do that." Hawks added two more sacks, combining with senior defensive end

Chip Anderson on one, while

Anderson got another on his own. Junior linebacker Dan Steinle recorded one sack on a blitz. Cunningham, a strong safety, cornerback Keith Burke and linebacker

Tom Butcher also spearheaded the defensive effort. "We've got a lot of talent on de-fense," White said. "We can play good defense, but we can't let down. I wasn't as much disappointed with losing the shutout as I was with them letting down."

Offensively, senior tailback J.R. Schusterick helped balance out the attack with 76 tough yards on 17 carries. Balding, the fullback, added 20 yards on four attempts. "We mixed it up pretty well," White said.

Edison marched 65 yards on five plays early in the second quarter to solidify its command on the game. Cunningham opened the drive with a brilliant over-the-shoulder catch of a Gingrich toss for 42 yards. Balding went eight yards on the next play and a defensive holding call followed to move the ball to the 10.

Schusterick high-stepped eight yards off right tackle, then found the same hole the following play, carrying a defender on his back into the end zone to make it 14-0 with 8:31 left in the half. Edison's special teams were another concern for White, who saw a 27-yard Hanson field goal attempt blocked in the first period. The muffed punt in the final moments was another sore point.

"We've got some work to do there," White said.

Battle will be for second behind CdM in Sea View

By PATRICK LARKIN Pliot Correspo

It'll be an interesting race for the playoffs in Sea View League girls volleyball this season. But the race will be exclusively for second and third place.

Corona del Mar High enters the season as the No. 2 team in both the nation and the CIF 5-A Division. while University and Woodbridge are ranked in the 5-A top 10 as well.

The mystery team is Newport Harbor. The Sailors could finish anywhere from second to fourth. Saddleback and Tustin are second-division material at best. Here's a team-by-team look at the Sea View

Corona del Mar: It doesn't matter much who'll be coaching the Sea Kings in 1990 because the team is flat out loaded. In fact, this could be the best team ever

"Unless coaching gets in the way, we should be No.
Coach-in-limbo Charlie Brande said. "We've got a lot of experience and competitiveness back."

While Brande will apparently have to make his case to return as head coach, Dale Flickinger has taken over the program. He brings very impressive credentials with him after stints at Arizona State and heading up the club volleyball program in Manhattan Beach.

"I have complete confidence in Dale," Brande said. The Sea Kings return eight lettermen and four starters from the CIF 5-A runner-up squad from a year ago. Senior middle blocker Lara Carlsen was an All-CIF selection in 1989 and senior outside hitter Tracy Schriber and senior setter Prentice Perkins were All-Sea View League picks from a year ago. All three are threeyear starters.

Senior outside hitter Stacy Petersen will captain the team and Rim of the World transfer Tahlia Wagner, who was an All-CIF selection in 1989 as well, is also expected to start. Others competing for starting jobs are senior outside hitter Lynn Randall and juniors Charmayne Conly and Kristin Spataro.

Newport Harbor: Sailors' Coach Danny Glenn

finds himself in an interesting position this year. Instead of battling CdM for the league championship, Newport will have enough trouble staying in the race for a playoff berth.

"We lost two three-year starters and we get Wood-bridge in the league," Glenn said. "University should be a better team as well. "We'll be able to put the ball down, but setting is still a question mark and ball control is a weak spot for

Don't start crying for Glenn just yet. There is a load of talent here including three returning starters in junior outside hitter/middle blocker Tara Kroesch, junior outside hitter Maureen McLaren and senior outside hitter Tamara O'Nan. Senior Dani Foley saw a lot of action at outside hitter as well. Juniors Jenny Hurlbert and Jennifer Glueck and sophomore Amy Evans will fight for the setter's job and juniors Lisa Spiritus and Wendy Eastman along with senior Tess Opincar are expected to contribute as well.

Saddleback: Coach Sue Gregory returns to a program that went 0-10 in the league last season and with Woodbridge taking Estancia's place, the Roadrunners will be hard-pressed to win a game, let alone a match in league play.

The numbers are just not there.

University: If there's a darkhorse in the league this year, all signs point to the Trojans and first-year coach Lisa Mariotti isn't afraid to let anyone know

"I'm going for it, we'll be out to beat CdM," Mariotta said. "I'm looking at the Sea View League as preparation for CIF. I think we'll be war-hardened by the time it's over."

Also expected to start are senior outside hitter K.C. Craig and juniors Holliday Molway, Gina Dimeco. Shelby Samuelson and Lauren Galacia. Molway and Dimeco are listed as middle blockers, while Samuelson and Galacia are outside hitters.

Look for seniors Joanna Conley and Joyce Lee to contribute heavily as well. Woodbridge: After cruising to Pacific Coast League playoff berths the past few years, the Warriors and first-year coach Rich Polk are involved in a whole

"It's going to be tough," Polk said in what may be the understatement of the year. "I would say we have a lot of talent and experience and we can definitely The good news is that Woodbridge returns five of

Outlaws complete season fourth at national tourney

California Outlaws; a 12-and-under softball team based out of Huntington Beach, recently finished fourth at the Amateur Softball Association National Cham-The tournament was held Aug. 8-14 in Salem,

The Outlaws, the defending national champions, went to the semifinals with a perfect record, before dropping a 7-5 decision to Fresno Force. A questionable call at the plate cost the Outlaws two runs and a chance to advance to the championship

The tournament was double-elimination, but since both finalists had perfect records, the Outlaws had to settle for fourth place.

Fifty-six teams competed in the tournament from Arizona, Indiana, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Ohio, Virgina, Oregon and California. California swept the top four spots with the Orange County Batbusters taking first, Montclair Classic in second. Fresno in third and the Outlaws in fourth.

The Batbusters also won the state championship in July finishing ahead of the Outlaws. The 1-2 finish qualified both teams for the nationals. Jackie DeBoard of Whittier and Lana Rae Moran of San Bernardino did the bulk of pitching for the Outlaws over the season. The rest of the team consists of Amy Tanner of Santa Ana, Tynel Humphreys of Cypress, Carrie Shoumaker of Long Beach, Heather Hibben, Nicole Kreipl and Tanisha Austin of Huntington Beach. Julie Luna of La Mirada, Jaclyn Smith of Whittier, Sharon Gillis of Fountain Valley. Brianna Buffington of Bellflower, Natalie Martin of Orange and Robin Henderson of Glendora.

The Outlaws are led by head coach Mitchell Tanner, assistants Jim DeBoard and Bill Smith and manager John Hibben.

UCI drops to 0-2 in soccer

UC Davis and UCI played to a scoreless tie in regulation before the host Aggies' Kelley McClary scored two minutes into overtime and the Davis defense held on for the 1-0 win in women's nonconference soccer action Friday

The loss dropped the Anteaters to 0-2 on the season while the Aggies improve to 2-0. Alicia Miller led UCI with nine saves in goal. UCI is back in action Saturday at Chico State in a 2 p.m. nonconference tilt.

CCI signs Cypress recruit lan Donnely a 6-foot-6, 205-pound forward from Cypress College has signed to play basketball at Christ College Irvine, according to head coach Greg Marshall.

Donnelly, a 1988 graduate of Katella High, holds the single-season free throw percentage record at Cypress. Last season, Donnely connected on 43 of 45 attempts for 96 percent. "Ian comes from a tremendous basketball program," Marshall said. "He's a great rebounder and I'm looking for him to bring a leadership attitude to our team." At Katella, Donnely averaged 18 points and 10.5 rebounds his senior season and garnered All-Empire League first team honors. He originally planned to attend Humboldt State after Cypress.

15-6, 15-9 verdict.

Cal Lutheran 3, Southeast Lutheran 1: Nicole Dyrssen served seven straight points, including three aces, to close out the match as Cal Lutheran of Huntington Beach posted a 15-2, 12-15, 15-10, 15-9 decision. Sarah Geiger had five aces for the winners, who host Pioneer Baptist at Newport Community Gym tonight.

Costello main cog behind Will Jordan Classic

When an event is perpetuated over the years and annually draws more than 300 amateur golfers, there must be something besides a tournament that attracts the players.

Putting on a successful event such as the City of Costa Mesa Wil! Jordan Classic is a major undertaking and has been for the 18 years

When the tournament was first proposed in 1973, Will Jordan was mayor of the city and Joe Costello was president of the men's club at Costa Mesa Golf and Country Club.

"Will asked me to start a golf tournament on the city-owned course," Costello recalled recently. 'We didn't want just an ordinary event that would die out in a couple of years but one that would continue well into the future.

"Fred Sorsabol was also instrumental in getting the tour-nament started back in 1973 and between the three of us, we hit upon a city championship for amateur golfers with a solid foundation.

"We have had some outstanding champions and some who didn't win here who have gone on to considerable fame on the PGA Tour. Scott Simpson won here in 1974, Mark O'Meara in 1979 and Brian Lindley in 1980 among those who have made names for themselves.

"It has been a lot of fun and also a lot of hard work but I think it has been well worth the effort," Costello adds. "I think I will continue for another two years after this one to make it 20 all together, then turn it over to someone else. I have a good man working with me right now and I feel he will continue the tournament in the years ahead in the same dimensions that I have strived

One of the big reasons the Will Jordan Classic has been a continuous event for the past 18 years is the enthusiasm and determination of Joe Costello. He checks every little detail long before the dates of the tournament and sees to it that all golf clubs in the Southern California area know of the tournament.

He is also on hand during the week preceding the tournament and for two long days during the running of the event handling any and all problems as they arise. He is also the official greeter and knows many of the players by their first name. By Sunday night, he is ready for a long rest.

The prize money has increased to the point where winners this year in the four flights will receive some $6,000 in prizes. The U.S.G.A. maximum amateur prize for each flight winner is $500 and the Fourth Flight victor gets the same as the Championship Flight winner.

At least 10 places per flight will be paid and the nominal entry fee of $70 includes tee prizes, greens fees for both days and a brunch all day Sunday with the prize and awards ceremoney at 6 p.m. on the final

The tournament will be staged on both the Mesa Linda and Los Lagos courses at Costa Mesa Golf and Country Club. The championships flight this year will have 112 of the 310 entrants competing.

They play Mesa Linda on Saturday and Los Lagos on Sunday with handicaps of 0-4.3 on the Slope Index. The second or B flight handicaps are from 4.4 to 9.2; the C flight from 9.3 to 13.1; and the D flight from 13.2 to 18.0. Any handicap over 18 must play to that figure.

over 18 must play to that figure.
"One other thing I wish you would mention," Costello says. "As you know, the low 16 scorers in the championship flight on Saturday are seeded for Sunday's play. The four leaders will tee off last with the other groups right in front of them.
"These featured groups tee off on

Los Lagos around noon on Sunday. The public is invited to witness these outstanding young amateurs free of charge either or both days and we encourage them to come out and see some of the future stars of the professional ranks.

Here's a list of the past champions and the year they won the event with Rich Greenwood the only two-time winner in the previous 17 years of

Dennis Paulson, a graduate of Costa Mesa High and Orange Coast College, recently captured the California State Open pro championship at Mission Hills Country Club Old Course and Resort Course along with the La Quinta Hotel Dunes

Paulson shot a 274 in the four-day event to pick up the first place check for $13,500. Paulson is currently a golf professional in Palm Desert. He plays on the Golden State Tour and will be seeking his PGA Tour card once again this fall. There were 258 professionals and 30 amateurs in the original field for the state championship with the field cut to the low 70 scores and ties for the final round Brad Greer of Huntington Beach finished in a tie for 11th and picked up $1,800 for his efforts. Others from the area who finished in the money included: John Burckle of Laguna Beach ($810); Randy Peterson of Huntington Beach ($583); along with Michael Miles of Huntington Beach and James Varnam of Newport Beach, each winning $121.

No strong favorite seen in Sunset League volleyball

By PATRICK LARKIN

This is shaping up to be sort of a strange season for Sunset League girls volleyball. For the first time in awhile, there is no clear-cut division between the top

Here's a team-by-team look at the Sunset League: ■ Edison: In a league that's difficult at best to call, the Chargers may end up anywhere from first to fifth, but compared with the rest of the league, first is probably a better bet.

Edison will count most on senior middle blocker Debbie Howard, the only Charger with any kind of varsity experience. She is, however, a veteran club volleyball player and Mohs thinks she could be one of the Sunset's best this season. Literally the biggest Charger will be middle blocker Alicia Liniger, who's listed as an incredible 6-foot-4 and she's only a sophomore. A pair of 6-1 junior outside hitters, Dru Obade and Robin Smith, will also give Edison some more height and senior Shelly Blanco, who's been in the program four years and will captain

Fountain Valley: The defending league champs return only two seniors, but the juniors are something

"Having only two seniors won't hurt us because the juniors are all experienced," first-year coach Misty Sano said. "I think we have a real good shot at repeating. The Barons are led by senior setter Shelby Snyder, who should be heavily recruited by four-year institu-tions. The only other senior on the team is middle blocker Devan Carey.

The juniors are outside hitters Colleen Moro and Jodi Bixler and middle blocker/outside hitter Debbie Huey, a transfer from Magnolia High. One sophomore expected to start is 6-foot middle blocker Lisa Brown.

Huntington Beach: First-year coach Mike Homer is optimistic about his team's chances and with good reason. The Sunset is down this year and Huntington Beach is a program on the rise.

"From what I've seen, I'm impressed," Homer said. "I wasn't quite sure what to expect, but I'm pretty happy with what I've found out."

The biggest competition for the Oilers will be at setter where senior Heather Peters and junior Tera Walker will duel for the job. Walker is a transfer from Newport Christian and appears to have the early nod. Either way, both will more than likely find starting

Also back for Huntington is senior outside hitter Kris Clemens, junior middle blocker Katie Wood and junior right side hitter Shana Perdue.

Marina: It's been awhile since the Vikings have been a force in the league, but the groundwork has been laid by Coach Dennis Creighton to make Marina a contender for years to come. The Vikings' offense is geared around senior middle blocker Cristin Rossman, who was limited last season by ankle sprains on two separate occasions. Rossman should prove to be one of the league's best Two other returning starters will bolster the front line in seniors Julie Muche at middle blocker and

Stacey Blackburn at outside hitter. Also figuring to start is senior setter Tricia Snyder. Ocean View: There's a lot of hope at Ocean View, bu that won't get it done in the Sunset League, Coach Tim Mennealy saw his top six players graduate, so it might take another year for the Seahawks to seriously The Hawks return just one starter in sophomore, Lisa Dacquisto, who'll move up to outside hitter after playing the back row last season. She'll most likely be joined up front by junior middle blocker Kristin Brun and senior outside hitter Shannon Pouelson. Junior Karrie Donahue will set and the rest of the back row is to be decided between juniors Tracy Lu, Shannon Speaker, Nikki Vivion and Melissa Wind and senior Kristin Lueck, who's up from last year's JV

Woodbridge runners set sights on Sea View, CIF crowns

By PATRICK LARKIN

Whether the coaches like it or not. Woodbridge has moved into the Sea View League and will be the favorite to capture the league cross country cham-

The Warriors, who were the top-ranked team in Orange County a year ago, return four runners from that team and could once again challenge for a CTF title. Corona del Mar, the defending champion, has five runners back, but doesn't appear to have enough quality to upend Woodbridge. Newport Harbor is hoping to stop the slide after the graduation of Kim Robinson and Julie Thomas and although University has the talent of Tanya Brix, the added depth doesn't appear to be there. Corona del Mar: After winning its first Sea View League title in 10 years, the Sea Kings and Coach Tom Cheese are optimistic about 1990. The only team that potentially stands in the way of a CdM repeat is Woodbridge and it will take a formidable effort for any team to outrun the Warriors.

'They were the No. I team in Orange County last year," Cheese said. "They look like they have five of their top seven back, so we're going to have to make an improvement over last year to beat them."

CdM also returns five of their top six from a year ago, most notably junior Kirsten McFarland, who figures to be the top runner in the program this year. Also expecting to help carry the load are seniors Christa Shryock, Holly Hannam and Sharlyn Kerr, sophomore Heather Brady and freshman Alicia Boice.

Newport Harbor: From a team that made won the state championship two years ago and five-straight Sea View League titles prior to last year, it's hard to count out the Sailors. But there's a major holes in the program that were created by the graduation of Julie Thomas and Kim Robinson, who were two of the league's top runners the past four years. "We're really going to miss those two." Coach Eric Tweit said. At least Tweit has the second-best runner from last year's squad in senior Eva Mattson, but after that there's a lot of unproven talent.

The only other senior in the hunt is Megan Powers. but there appears to be help on the way from the lower levels. Juniors Kendra Cosky and Michelle Bonner should make an impact, as well as a pair of sophomores, Kristi Weber and Brittany Leslie.

■ Saddleback: Here's a program that needs some major help, mostly in numbers. Every year the Road-runners don't get runners out until they're seniors and then the whole varsity team graduates.

But maybe there's help on the way in the form of sophomore Thania Cruz, who finished third in the league in the freshman finals. Add to that senior Veronica Virgen and juniors Yasna Sandoval, Akilyn Dreyer and Delmy Bollanos and the Roadrunners have a basis for a program — but that's it just a basis. ■ University: You can have the best runner in the world, but if you can't find six more to go with them. you'll never contend in cross country.

Such is the story with the Trojans and Tanya Brix. Brix, a junior, has been one of the best cross country and track runners in Orange County for the last two years. Now if Coach Janice Rolfi can put a skeleton crew of runners behind her, Uni can contend.

So far only a couple of runners have come forward and they're both underclassmen in Christie Creed, a sophomore and Laurie Schrage, a freshman. Both show a lot of potential and both are promising, but once again it's Brix leading the way.

■ Woodbridge: The Warriors makes a step up to the Sea View, but won't let that stop them. Over the past five years or so, Coach George Varvas has built Woodbridge into one of Orange County's best pro-

The experience comes from two seniors, Amy Robles and Shannon Modeer and two juniors, Jenny Park and Kim Tardif. Robles is one of the top runners in Orange County.

The youth will be provided by sophomore Katie Durham and potential freshman phenom Kay Nekota. Nekota has plenty of past running experience according to Varvas and he expects her to be one of the Warnors'

Oilers choice in Sunset League cross country

By PATRICK LARKIN Daily Pilot Corresponde

Though it was Fountain Valley High that opened in the top 10 of the CIF Division I preseason boys cross country rankings, Huntington Beach is the consensus pick among the Sunset coaches to take the league title.

Oiler Coach Paul Wood returns his two top runners from last season, but that's not to say that Huntington has a lock on the championship. The Barons are loaded as well and plna to figure in the standings as well.

The mystery team in the league is newcomer Santa Ana, which competed successfully in the Century League in 1989. This, however, is the Sunset League and the Saints may find themselves a bit overmatched.

Edison: First-year Coach Gordon Duff inherits a program that was decimated by graduation last year. As of this point, Duff only has four runners he can count on for the starting

"Summer workouts are going well and I think we'll be able to do something," Duff said. "These guys aren't used to formal summer workouts, but they're responding well."

The Chargers will be anchored by a trio of upper classmen including seniors Eddie Sakai and Jefferson Murray and junior Matt Locher. Duff said that a sophomore, Ian McGraw, will probably crack the starting lineup.

Fountain Valley: Coach Matt Simpson and the Barons will be out to win their fourth straight Sunset League title and try to improve on their sixth-place finish in CIF. According to Simpson, the only team that stands in their way is Huntington Beach.

Fountain Valley will contend with senior

Mark White, who finished fourth in last year's league championship and junior Mark Sanchez a top-10 league finisher and top-20 CIF runner. A trio of seniors also figuring to make the starting seven are Mark Algarme, Trevor Hartley and Carl Hansen. Junior Josh Arimond is hopeful along with sophomore Kamden Drake. Huntington Beach: The Oilers hope to avenge their only loss in league last year to Fountain Valley and appear to have the person-

Huntington Beach returns its top two run-Here's a team-by-team look at the Sunset ners last year for Coach Paul Wood in seniors Jeremy Patapoff and Scott Urner. Both were top-10 finishers at last season's league meet. "We have a lot of runners back, but we still have to see what they can do," Wood said. "I think a league championship should be within Wood has the advantage of fielding the league's best freshman, sophomore and junior varsity teams last year, so the hardest part is finding the right combination.

A pair of sophomores, Jeremy Buttson and Phillip Adam, were the top two ninth graders in the Sunset last year and junior Danny Costanzo is up after being leading an excellent sophomore team. Also back are seniors Ian Adam, Matt Kovach and Lee Nguyen and juniors Ryan Harschburger and Jim Healy.

Marina: Mitch Eddie is the new coach for the Vikings after coaching at Bonita High in Chula Vista. Unfortunately for Marina, Eddie was just recently hired and the program is way behind schedule.

Senior Alan Grant should anchor the team followed by sophomore Tom Mullaney and junior Randy Kallich. After that it's anybody's Ocean View: After going winless in the Sunset last year, the Seahawks have no where to go but up and that's what Coach Beth Chilcott expects this season.

"I think Huntington Beach and Fountain Valley will both be strong," Chilcott said. "But after that, I don't see any school that's stronger than we are. Ocean View will be anchored by six returning lettermen in seniors Troy Hanson, Tom Armstrong, Caine Ceraolo, Rene Molina and Chris LePage and junior Jayson Holmgren. Chilcott said that they all have the potential to run in the 16-minute range.

Sunset League handicap

Huntington Beach (2-1)—depth is key Fountain Valley (3-1)—Nos: 1 and 2 back
Ocean View (4-1)—four lettermen return
Edison (8-1)—new coach, bad summer
Santa Ana (10-1)—strong, but tough league
Marina (10-1)—only three ran in summer
Westminster (15-1)—an unknown returning starting quarterback in the Central Division of the Mission Conference is Angelovic, who runs as well as he throws. So with the addition of freshman quarterback Don-nie Smith (Edison), Workman found a rather desolate recruiting pasture.

If Workman had it tough, imagine how impossible it was for Rancho Santiago Coach Dave Ogas to recruit running backs with Estrus Crayton coming back.

"We couldn't get anybody," Ogas said. "We had Garner Hicks from Santa Ana (High) here and we lost him to Golden West, we had Adrian Steen (Texas) here and we lost him to Orange Coast and we had Kenny Barnes (Santa Ana Valley) here and we lost him to Fullerton.

Crayton, who rushed for 1,340 yards as a freshman, set school records for touchdowns (20), points (126), carries (204) and all-purpose yards (1,946). Along with numerous post-season honors, Crayton was a first team JC grid-wire All-American.

Wait until it's over ... Saddleback College, under the direction of 15year coach Ken Swearingen, hopes to reverse its 1-9 record of a year ago.

We have very few returning guys," Swearingen said, "and we're

Swearingen, handling the defense for the first time this season in 35 years of coaching, says you never know how good your team's going to

El Camino No. 1? ... El Camino edged out defending co-national champion Riverside to be favored in the preseason edition of the Southland JC football poll, which has been conducted by Southern California's sports information directors since Seven of the Southland's top 10 teams are from the Mission Conference, which kicks off Saturday.

Riverside, undefeated last year in 11 games, knocked off El Camino (21-14) in the Orange County Bowl last season, giving the Warriors their only setback of the year.

He's cooking ... One of the top Mission Conference receivers this year will be Saddleback's Mike Cook (6-5, 185), a Fountain Valley High product who had 45 receptions for 558 yards as a freshman last year. He was, by far, the Gauchos' leading pass-catcher.

Improvement in marlin fishing expected soon

Marlin fishing continues slow off our Southland coast as billfish action hasn't yet to get into high gear this summer.

Hopefully, September and Octo-ber, which traditionally are good striped marlin fishing months in local waters, will show an improvement in the number of fish caught.

There are a few billfish being caught on the Osborne Bank and around the 209 Spot, but the 14 Mile Bank and east end of Catalina haven't been yielding any quantity

Jaye Apperson of Newport Beach caught her first marlin last week while fishing on the deluxe sportfisher "Hana Pa" skippered by fom Pfleger of Newport.

The striper was caught near the 9 Mile Bank off Point Loma and weighed about 130 pounds and was released. The marlin struck a custom made black and purple jig. Also catching his first marlin this past week was David Belna of Newport Beach who weighed in a 140 pound billfish at the Balboa Angling Club. Belna was fishing aboard the "Que Paso" captained by Bill Burdick while working the 209 Spot. Fishing with light tackle can be a lot of fun especially when you hook into a big marlin. Jerry Garrett, fishing on board the yacht "Jeramar" boated a 176 pound marlin and was fishing with only 8pound test dacron. For an update on billfish catches locally and where the hot spot is contact the BAC at 673-6316.

Tuna, yellowtail and skipjack continue to highlight the salt water scene for local sportfishers and multi-day boats. Good fishing is reported from most all landings and the bait supply is OK. This week's full moon might cause some problems for weekend anglers.

A wide open bite on yellowfin tuna and dorado took place last week off Baja while this writer, and son Brook, were fishing on the deluxe sportfisher "Spirit of AdvenOUTDOORS

ture." Working an area about 230 miles south of Point Loma, on a four day limited load trip, we found anglers getting into some red hot fishing. Limits of yellowfin and dorado were taken during a twohour's stop when the fish just went crazy and bit every bait that hit the

This area of school after school of tuna, dorado and yellowtail should be moving up to local waters this coming week and could well be in reach of the local sport fleet.

Anglers looking to get in on this year's fantastic fishing should con-sider a late season fishing trip on board the "Spirit of Adventure" which has some openings left on five-day trips this fall. For more information, call (619) 573-0591.

The 21st annual Newport Beach Chapter of Ducks Unlimited will be holding a fund raising dinner and auction at the Balboa Bay Club on Wednesday, Oct. 10. This year's move to the popular bay club should make for a fun evening for all those attending this event.

It's a drake-only affair, and ticket donation includes cocktails, dinner (with wine) and door prizes. There will be lots of hunting art, high quality firearms and outdoor equipment raffled and auctioned off during the evening.

This is one fund-raiser that is a lot of fun for hunters and young duck shooters. Seating is limited to only 250 guests this year.

NEW YORK - Dante Bichette, who tied the game with a ninth-inning home run, doubled home the go-ahead run in a six-run 11th to lift the California Angels to a 12-6 vic-tory over the New York Yankees

Friday night.

Bichette's double off Lee Guet-terman (9-5) broke a 6-6 tie and the Angels poured across five more runs on a bases-loaded walk to Rich Schu, two-run single by Johnny Ray and RBI singles by Devon White and Luis Polonia.

The rally made a winner of Bob McClure (1-0), the fifth Angels

California built a 5-0 lead in the first two innings but the Yankees knocked out Angels starter Mark Langston in a four-run fourth, and tied the game in the fifth.

The game was enlivened by a controversial umpires' call reversal that nullified a two-run first-inning homer by the Yankees' Jim Leyritz. Television replays indicated the ball was comfortably fair.

Leyritz eventually struck out and was tossed out of the game for arguing with the umpires along with Yankees Manager Stump Merrill and first base coach Mike Ferraro. By The Associated Press

Pittsburgh pads lead to 31/2 games

Rookie Randy Tomlin pitched a three-hitter for his second major league complete game as left-handers continued to dominate the Mets, leading the Pittsburgh Pirates past New York, 7-1, Thursday night at Three Rivers Stadium and increasing their National League East lead to 3½ games.

The Pirates' first three-game sweep over the Mets since Sept. 5-6, 1978, ran their winning streak to six, matching their season high. The Mets' four-game losing streak, all against left-handers, also ties their longest of

P/T COUNTER HELP

Whatever one might think of the bidding, there was a certain poetry in the way South handled the play. After taking the opening lead in hand perforce, declarer cashed one high heart, crossed to the king of spades and finessed the jack of trumps

Had that lost to the queen, declarer intended winning the club continuation while discarding a spade from hand, then cashing the ace of spades and ruffing a spade high, hoping for a 3-2 split. Dummy's seven of trumps would serve as an entry for two diamond discards on the good spades. When the trump finesse won, an alternative plan was ready to be tapped for a possibly lucrative overtrick, an important consideration in a pairs contest. Declarer crossed to the ace of spades, discarded a spade on the ace of clubs and finessed the queen of diamonds. That lost, but the slam was still home. Declarer won the diamond continuation with the ace, ruffed a diamond on the Neither North nor South had table and returned to hand by ruffmuch to spare for any of their ac- ing a black card to draw the last tions. By bidding four hearts, North trump and claim the contract.

DELINQUENT TAX LIST

Pursuant to Sections 3381 through 3385, Revenue and Taxation de, the Published Delinquent List in and for Orange County. late of California, has been divided and distributed to various newspapers of general circulation published in said county, for publication of a portion thereof in each of said newspapers.

PUBLISHED DELINQUENT LIST

L. Robert L. Citron, Orange County Tax Collector, State of California,

That notice is hereby given that because of non-payment of the total amount due for taxes, assessments and other charges levied in the Year 1988 for the Fiscal Year 1988-1989, shown in dollars and cents opposite the description of the property contained in the list below, the real properties on which such amounts were a lien. were by operation of law, in my office in Orange County, declared to be in default at 5 p.m., on the 30th day of June, 1989.

Tax-defaulted real property may be redeemed by payment of all unpaid taxes and assessments together with additional penalties and fees as prescribed by law, or may be redeemed under an installment plan of redemption.

All information concerning redemption, or the initiation of an installment plan of redemption, of tax-defaulted property will, upon request, be furnished by Robert L. Citron, Orange County Tax Collector, Santa Ana, California.

I certify under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and
