We're earning — and spending — more money

WASHINGTON (AP) - Americans' personal income rose a strong 0.8 percent in April, the government reported today. It was the biggest one-month gain since last summer. In addition, the Commerce Department report said personal consumption spending rose a full 1 percent, an encouraging signal that sales and production will continue rising.

Today's report said total personal income rose $20.2 billion to an annual rate of $2.679 trillion in April after gaining 0.6 percent in March.

Other details:

American workers' wages and salaries increased $12.8 billion after rising $9.1 billion in March. Interest income on investments rose $2 billion. April's total income translates into $9,741 for every man, woman and child in the United States, based on a population estimate of 233.8 million.

County realizing driving ambition?

May soon be car capital

By KAREN E. KLEIN Of the Daily Pilot Staff

If current growth patterns persist, Orange County some day will be the car capital of the nation, experts predict.

And with that distinction will undoubtedly come more smog and more traffic, they say, but not necessarily more deaths.

Recent statistics from the California Department of Motor Vehicles show that, just as you expected, the Golden State has more cars than anybody - 13,292,130 on the books for 1982, to be exact. And Californians drove 165,-(See COUNTY, Page A2)

Orange County firefighters come to the aid of "victims" injured in a staged train wreck

County learns from 'disaster'

By PHIL SNEIDERMAN
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

There was a major train wreck at the Orange County International Raceway near Irvine Tuesday, involving 100 victims.

The U.S. Marines, California Highway Patrol, county sheriff's deputies and firefighters, Irvine police, six ambulance companies, eight hospitals and Orange County Transit District buses took part in the massive rescue and treatment efforts. Fortunately, the "accident" was only a drill, part of a countywide mass casualty test designed to determine how local health and safety staffs would cope if three serious incidents occurred simultaneously. In addition to the train wreck (staged with buses), a high-rise fire was simulated in Orange, and a shooting and hostage crisis was enacted in Buena Park.

The preliminary indications are that this was a good exercise," said county spokesman John Bushman. He said the results of (See DISASTER, Page A2)

The mercury was expected to top the 90-degree mark in inland Orange County for the second day in a row today, with National Weather Service forecasters saying it will be only a degree or two cooler Thursday.

The heated air prompted Orange County Fire Department officials to issue a red flag warning for brush fires in highrisk areas of the county.

Department spokesman Jeff Taylor said a red flag alert may be issued late today as strong winds and high temperatures continue. The alert would send firefighters and inspectors to patrol wilderness and

A high pressure ridge off the coast sparked the season's first Santa Ana winds, and Tuesday's temperatures were just four degrees shy of a record 96 degrees recorded in Los Angeles May 17, 1982.

So far, the winds have kept the smog at bay, but Jim Birakos, deputy executive officer of the South Coast Air Quality Management District, predicts some unhealthful air beginning Thursday — especially in the Los Angeles basin area.

Bullet train noise 'would be muffled'

By GLENN SCOTT Of the Daily Pilot Staff

A high-speed bullet train would pass through Irvine in an eight-foot-deep trench meant to muffle noise, promoters of the proposed system promised Irvine residents Tuesday night. The trench would be excavated through most of Irvine and Tustin, said Lawrence Gilson, president of sponsoring American High Speed Rail Corp. It would include room for lowering the existing Santa Fe Railway tracks, which Gilson noted has been a city goal for several years.

Speaking at an Irvine City Council study session — in a hot and stuffy meeting room at Deerfield Elementary School — Gilson said feasibility studies on lowering the tracks were finished only last week.

His promise to foot the bill for the multi-million dollar trench project is the first public works commitment made so far to any community along the proposed Los Angeles-to-San Diego line (See BULLET, Page A2)

Woodbridge group nixes apartments

By GLENN SCOTT

Several hundred residents of Irvine's Woodbridge Village objected Tuesday night to Irvine Co. plans to build luxury apartments rather than condominiums on two choice lakeside locations in their neighborhood.

They said the apartments will reduce their property values and overload the area and village recreational facilities with too many people. It seemed everyone who attended a three-hour meeting at Woodbridge High School had questions for Irvine Co. representatives. Some just had comments.

"I want to see landowners there. I don't want to see apartment dwellers," said one man who explained that he bought his home with the understanding that condominiums would be built near him at the southern end of North Lake.

He, like many other speakers, (See APARTMENTS, Page A2)

DISASTER DRILL . . .

Tuesday's drill will be evaluated by the county's Mass Casualty Incidents Committee.

In the train wreck exercise, the volunteer "victims" were examined and tagged according to the seriousness of their injuries.

They were then transported to eight hospitals, including Hoag Memorial. Costa Mesa Medical Center, South Coast Medical Center, Mission Community, Saddleback Community and San Clemente General. The hospital staffs were tested on how they would respond to an unexpected influx of seriously injured people.

Bushman said one aim on Tuesday was to see how local health and safety workers would respond if they could not depend on the help of neighboring cities, which were tied up with their own emergencies.

"We learned a lot yesterday," he said. "There are still a few things to be ironed out in the system. But that's what we hoped this drill would show us.

He noted the firm still must see complete environmental studies and mitigation measures ratified before construction could begin. The environmental reports should take until the middle of next year to complete, he said.

Landscaped berms and retaining walls would vary in height but would average about nine feet above ground level, according to Olsen. Gilson said the trains, sleeker than Japanese models, would rise about 15 feet. Thus, the tops of the trains would be at about the top of the retaining walls, at times slightly above them.

He added that the track lowering would take place concurrent with construction of overpasses at Culver Drive and Jeffrey Road. The work would take about two years, he said.

Trash fees going up again in July

By JEFF ADLER of the Delty Pilot Staff Trashy as it may seem, the cost of throwing it away in Orange County will be going up July 1. Dumping fees will be increased at county landfills, the Board of Supervisors agreed Tuesday, to more fully recover the costs of running the county's dumps.

Supervisors voted 3-1 to increase the gate fee from $4.90 per ton to $6 per ton while the fee at transfer stations will be increased from $8.50 to $13.25 per ton. The $1 surcharge per ton for hard-to-handle loads will remain the same.

A gate fee at the county dumps first was instituted last October by the board. Orange County had been the only county in the state that didn't charge cities, commercial haulers and the public for using its landfills.

Waste management operations cost the county nearly $10 million in 1981-82, the last year the county picked up the entire tab, said Ron Rubino, assistant to the director of the county General Services Agency.

Acting over the objections of Supervisor Thomas Riley, the board adopted the fee schedule recommended by the county's

Waste Management Advisory Committee, composed largely of representatives from the county's 26 cities.

Riley opposed the action because he favored the higher fee suggested by the GSA staff or some guarantee that the fee structure would be reviewed by the board next year.

In order to recover the full costs for operating the landfills, the county would have to assess a fee of $7 per ton at the dumps or a $16.60 transfer fee, Rubino

Other recommendations

embraced by the board's action include:

- Authorization to close the Huntington Beach and Anaheim transfer stations in early 1984 once privately operated transfer stations are open for business.

- Authorization to limit transfer station service to the public to one Saturday a month at the Huntington Beach station beginning July 1.

- Termination of the fee exemption granted to cities for street sweepings, grass clippings and tree trimmings.

said he expects the company to compensate him for his loss. But Keith Greer, the company's community development director, told the crowd he doesn't believe the apartments will affect values.

The company is proposing two separate luxury apartment developments: The North Coves would be 180 units on 10 acres at the North Lake. The South Coves would be 144 units on eight acres on the less-developed South Lake.

Rents would range from $650 to $950 per month for the units, which would include from 800 to 1,300 square feet.

The company's apartment proposal has just been submitted at Irvine City Hall. It still must go through a full public review

Residents also are upset that their village's rules require homeowners to pay $39 per month in community association dues while apartment tenants pay only $13. Some said inclusion of apartments would cause the $39 fee to go up.

anything else can live there. California. COUNTY COMING CAR CAPITAL?

Also not surprising is the fact that Los Angeles County has the most cars registered in the state - 4,044,469. What may be surprising, though, is the phenomenal increase in car ownership in Orange County, said DMV spokesman George Farnham. Since 1946, when Orange County was primarily an agricultural area with 64,697 cars registered, automobiles in the county have mushroomed to 1,198,397 as of last year. That makes Orange County number two, next to Los Angeles County, in the number of cars registered nationwide.

But if Orange County continues to grow the way it has over the years, it will undoubtedly catch up to Los Angeles, said Al Whigham, the DMV's Southern California regional manager:

It's only a matter of time. Does that mean the county will become the highway death capital as well?

Not necessarily, say safety researchers at the Automobile Club of Southern California. Even though registrations and total miles driven increased statewide last year, highway fatalities and injury accidents decreased drastically, said

Steve Bloch, an AAA researcher. So there is no direct relationship between number of cars registered and number of highway deaths and injuries, he said. And, if its any consolation, areas with heavy traffic patterns usually don't have high death rates - the cars can't travel fast enough to cause serious injuries

Study lists shortage of workers

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) -The United States lacks enough trained workers to fill available openings in at least a dozen vocations ranging from aero-astronautic engineering to X-ray technology, two University of Michigan researchers say. More than two dozen other fields face a potential shortage of workers, according to a study by Malcolm S. Cohen and Arthur R. Schwartz of the university's Institute of Labor and Industrial Relations.

Occupations with identified shortages were aero-astronautic engineers, computer programmers and systems analysts, electrical engineers, industrial engineers, nurses, electrical and electronic technicians, physical therapists, medical laboratory technologists, X-ray technologists, surgical technicians, dental assistants, and mechanical engineers.

The study results were based on labor market conditions in 1981. Conditions may have changed since the study was made, Cohen said, adding that conditions during that period are likely to resurface in 1983-84" as the economy moves out of recession.

Among 27 other occupations identified in the study as having potentially insufficient numbers of workers were financial analysts, paralegals, petroleum engineers and a variety of health technologists and technicians.

Another 18 occupations may experience shortages as the economy recovers, including cooks, secretaries, restaurant and bar managers, bakers, tool and die makers, electricians, machinists, and engineers.

The study listed 20 occupations ranked as the least likely to experience shortages. Among them were machine operators, carpet cutters, millwrights, auto body repairers, carpenters, sheet metal workers, butchers, and embalmers.

A "freak" spring storm brought rain and hail to the Great Plains today after dumping up to two feet of snow on Wyoming and Colorado, closing roads, leaving thousands of people without power and forcing some voters in Denver to cast ballots by flashlight.

The mid-May blizzard sent 86 mph winds whistling Tuesday through Fort Carson, near Colorado Springs, Colo., making travel impossible in some areas because of reduced visibility.

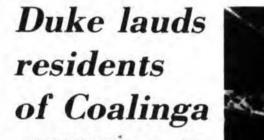

As much as 29 inches of sno fell near Wheatland, in southeastern Wyoming, and Interstate 80 between Cheyenne and Laramie remained closed early today because of heavy buildups.

The blizzard deposited 23 inches of snow on Buckhorn Mountain, 11 miles northwest of Fort Collins, Colo.

The cold front was centered over central Kansas today, bringing heavy rain, wind and hail to south-central Oklahoma.

Elsewhere, cold weather settled over the eastern half of the country and record low temperatures were reported in 17 cities from Wilmington, Del., to Albuquerque, N.M. The mercury dipped into the 20s in Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

> THE PEARL miracle of the sea

Ancient mythology holds that the god Vishnu searched the bottoms of the seas looking for the perfect pearl with which to adorn his daughter on her wedding day. Pearls were (and are) considered symbols of love, happiness and good luck. Whether or not the idea of adorning brides with pearls began with Vishnu, it is certainly one of the most widely-accepted bridal decorations nowadays. Pearls seem to be the natural accompaniment for wedding costumes. Pearls flatter clothes, and they flatter complexions. Want and they liatter complexions. Wain another pearl legend? The Arabs held that pearls were formed from dew drops filled with moonlight, which them fell into the ocean to be swallowed by oysters. The pearl is, of course, formed in the shell of the oyster when a coating called NACRE is formed by the oyster to surround an irritant, such as a grain of sand. Succeeding layers of this substance form the pearl. Cultured pearls are formed the same way after an artificial irritant, in the form of a small bead, is placed in the oyster's shell. Either way, cultured or not, the pearl is one of nature's most-beautiful

Solon to dedicate senior center

Congressman Claude Pepper will visit Irvine Saturday to lend his considerable prestige to dedication ceremonies for a new wing of the Irvine Senior Center.

Organizers of the event — which includes a ribbon cutting, box lunch, tree planting ceremony and banquet - are clearly pleased that Pepper,

D-Fla., agreed to appear.
Jim Felton, chairman of the senior council and the one who arranged Pepper's visit, calls the hero" for old people. He said Pepper is the congressional voice of senior citizens.

Pepper is scheduled to give a speech at the banquet on the status of seniors in the United States, with a discussion on recently passed legislation on Social Security.

Admission to the 7 p.m. banquet at the center is $50 per person. Proceeds will go toward the center's operating expenses.

reserved; many by Orange County-based corporations.

The senior center, at 3 Sandburg Way, has been expanded to include more meeting and office space as well as a larger kitchen. The improvements cost $284,000, of which the city paid $50,000. The remaining money came from a state parklands fund created by voters last year.

The dedication ceremonies will begin Saturday with entertainment at 10:30 a.m. and opening ceremonies, including the ribbon cutting, at 11 a.m.

The $3 per person box lunch will be served at 11:30 a.m. (reservations are required) and planting of a star pine tree in memory of center founder Isadore Schneider will begin at 12:30 p.m.

People wishing to make reservations should call the center immediately at 660-3889.

Ice cream party planned

Turtle Rock Community Park will hold its second annual Family Ice Cream Social and Movie Night Friday in Irvine.

The evening will begin at 6 p.m. when family members can make their own ice cream sundaes, with all ingredients provided. Cartoons will be screened until 7 p.m. Then the main feature, "For the Love of Benji," will be shown.

Cost is $3.50 per person and people can register through today at the park, on Sunnyhill. More information is available by calling the park at 752-6076.

Anti-nuclear walk set in Irvine

The Orange County Alliance for Survival will hold its second annual "Walk for Our Future" Saturday in Irvine.

The activities begin at 10 a.m. at the William Mason Regional Park on University Drive with registration and a small rally. The walk will commence at noon, with participants strolling through rural and residential parts of the city.

The walk-a-thon is intended to raise money for campaigns for a nuclear-free future. Interested people can call the alliance office at 997-9922 for more information or pledge sheets.

Skin cancer linked to birth control pill

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - Prolonged use of birth control pills may increase risk of contracting a form of skin cancer, according to a study by a University of California epidemiologist.

The study done on a group of Washington state residents found that more women with a type of malignant melanoma — the superficial spreading kind — were long-term pill users compared with women who did not have the cancer.

Previous studies had shown a weak link, or none at all, between pill use and malignant melanoma, potentially the most dangerous form of

Melanoma accounts for 2 percent of all cancer cases in the United States. Its overall survival rates are higher than for most other cancers and depend on how deeply the tumor has penetrated the layers of skin tissue

The superficial spreading type of melanoma remains in the outermost layers of skin for a relatively long period. When treated at very early stages, the tumor can be removed by surgery.

The study was conducted by Dr. Elizabeth Holly, an epidemiologist in UC San Francisco's Department of Epidemiology and International Health, and by colleagues at the University of Washington in Seattle. It was published in the May Atlanta-based foundation's senior vice president for issue of the Journal of the National Cancer medical affairs. Institute

Dr. Holly, also with the Northern California Cancer Program, found that more women with superficial spreading melanoma had taken birth control pills for five years or longer.

The increased cancer rates were even more pronounced among women who had used the pill for 10 years or longer.

No effect was found among women who had used the pill for less than five years

The research group also found higher rates of the cancer among women who were older than 30

when they bore their first child. That finding, along with the link to birth control pills, suggests that hormone imbalances might play a role in superficial spreading melanoma

Arthritis prevention near?

ATLANTA (AP) - Preventing some forms of arthritis is within the reach of research scientists. the Arthritis Foundation said in its annual report . released yesterday

"The newest, most promising area of arthritis research is the three-way link between several forms of the disease, heredity and an infectious agent," said Dr. Frederic C. McDuffie, the

Each person has genetic markers, a type of blueprint on snoring, the doctors said. the surface of white blood cells. Apparently some of these markers are the seeds of disease, making a person susceptible to certain types of arthritis.

"But having a certain marker is not enough to cause arthritis," said McDuffie, a former research director at the Mayo Clinic. "Something must transform these substances, which lie peacefully on cells, into disease-causing agents. The evidence today points to bacterial or viral infections.

Arthritis, which means "inflammation of a joint," refers to more than 100 separate diseases that attack joints and connective tissues in the body Each has different symptoms and patterns and requires different treatments. Together they affect 36 million people, including as many as 250,000 children.

BOSTON (AP) - A medical laser that searches out specific colors can destroy growths inside the body with pinpoint accuracy without harming neighboring tissues, a study shows.

It may someday allow doctors to remove birthmarks and even operate on individual cells.

"The major advantage is selectivity," said Dr. John A. Parrish of Massachusetts General Hospital. "You shine a laser on the whole tissue, but only the target is altered. We have demonstrated so far that the target can be as large as a blood vessel or as small as a particle within a cell."

Doctors are just beginning to explore the possible uses of the experimental tool. But Parrish said it may be used to remove large port-wine birth marks and moles, destroy cancers far inside the body and even instantaneously repair the workings of millions of malfunctioning cells.

Drug task force expands to coast

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - Vice President George Bush will head a new national system to fight heroin, cocaine and marijuana smugglers on all U.S. borders using military planes and ships, an official announced today.

Retired Navy Adm. Dan Murphy, Bush's chief of staff, said the cabinet-level South Florida Task Force had been relatively successful in reducing the trafficking of drugs in that area. But he said smugglers simply have altered their routes and are moving drugs through other states.

President Reagan asked Bush to expand the task force into a National Narcotics Border Interdiction System, Murphy said. The system will divide the country into five regions with centers in Los Angeles, New York, Miami, New Orleans and Murphy called drug smuggling a "threat" to the country and said Bush would use his influence to fight the problem with U.S. military forces. Murphy said Army helicopters, Navy fixed wing planes and radar planes, ships and Air Force surveillance planes would be used to help existing enforcement programs.

Murphy, former deputy director of the Central Intelligence Agency under Bush, also said federal intelligence resources would be used to combat smuggling.

Murphy said the Florida task force seized 12,-000 pounds of cocaine over the last 13 months, including raids in Georgia and Louisiana. But he acknowledged that agents have barely made inroads into the U.S. market, which snorts 40 tons of cocaine a year

"The amount of cocaine on the streets doesn't seem to have gone down," Murphy said. "It looks like we might have a glut on the market of cocaine from overseas. We can knock off a ton and they (smugglers) bring in another ton.

MARRIAGE COUNSEL

By DR. E. C. G. INGE

JUST A LITTLE DRINKING PROBLEM?

An alcoholic is a person who can't control his or her intake - alcohol controls the person. Not all alcoholics fit the Hollywood image of a person who spends most of the day in bars, or hiding bottles around the house. An alcoholic does not have to be obviously drunk all the time in order for drinking to interfere with social, business, physical or marital activities. Alcoholism has been recognized as a disease with severe physical and psychological implications. Professional counseling can help an alcoholic recognize that there is a problem; help can be effective once the individual is put in touch with the problem and becomes motivated to seek a cure.

"A little drinking problem" on the part of one marriage partner requires a concerted effort on the part of both partners in order to prevent it from becoming overtly destructive. Groups such as Alcoholics Anonymous have a good record in helping people overcome the problem, once they recognize and accept their alcoholism, and agree that positive corrective action is needed.

Without the help of a marriage partner, many former alcoholics would not be on their feet today

LEASEHOLDER PROPOSAL

The Committee of 4000 was most encouraged by Mr. Bren's remarks to the press last week concerning the leasehold issue. His stated goal 'to resolve it in a manner which is fair and equitable to both the leaseholders and The Irvine Company" echoes the longstanding motto of the Committee of 4000. At last it appears that both sides should be working toward mutual resolution of the leasehold issue. Mr. Bren further stated that "my goal is to develop programs which will insure that no leaseholder will have to leave his residence because of his lease." With the spirit of Mr. Bren's statement in mind, a program was delivered to The Irvine Company that will insure the mutual achievement of our clearly defined goal — a fair and equitable solution for all. We, like Mr. Bren, anticipate that our program will result in a settlement of the leaseholder issue by the end of the month. With Mr. Been active at the helm of The Irvine Company, we are confident that community ensitivity and responsiveness will be restored to he Irvine Company. Then, and only then, can we legin again to work together to insure the quality of the community that our partnership produced the past.

Mansion politics waste our time

George Deukmejian was probably correct in saying that if Tom Bradley, a Democrat, were governor and wanted to live in the governor's residence the state built in Carmichael, he would be living there now. Deukmejian, however, is a Republican at odds with an increasingly partisan and petulant Democratic Senate, and so he lives in an apartment house downtown. Deukmejian is the governor of the most populous state in the union and one of its most prosperous.

There is no point in trying to unravel or retrace all the circumstances — or even the recent political bickering and pettiness — that brought things to this point. In the past decade, all three of California's governors have, for varying reasons, lived in quarters both inappropriate and embarrassing to the office that they occupy and the people they serve.

In that decade there was hardly anyone whose vanity or politics were completely innocent of complicity: Ronald and Nancy Reagan's in designing the ugly, sprawling suburban "Taj Mahal" that Jerry Brown refused to live in; Brown's in that conspicuous non-consumption that led to his refusal and ultimately to the Legislature's decision to sell the place and use the money to buy or build another.

That plan - to construct a decent residence for the governor downtown - still makes the most sense. But the Carmichael residence exists now, Duekmejian wants to live in it, and the Legislature therefore ought to let him, without conditions. That will cost some money at a time when the state's finances are very tight, but hardly as much as the current bickering and pettiness is costing in time, ill will and embarrassment.

The state should still proceed with the construction of a suitable mansion downtown - and eventually get rid of the place in Carmichael - but for now let's let the governor live where he wants to live and get down to more important business.

Stop garbage fees

To the Editor:

Last July, the Orange County Supervisors voted to impose new fees to cover the cost of burying our trash. These fees are scheduled for a substantial increase, next July. When they voted for these new fees, they also voted to give themselves and other top County employees a pay raise amounting to about 4.7 times the local inflation rate.

About 500 citizens became outraged enough about these actions to fight the fees and we w have petitions in circulation If we get 69,591 signatures of people registered to vote within Orange County, the citizens will have the opportunity to vote for a County ordinance that will abolish the fees.

Some of our petition circulators are elderly or have physical handicaps and will not be able to get many signatures, so we are looking for others to get signatures. Those wanting to help can call the Orange County Taxfighters at 537-1543 and petitions will be mailed to them.

The Supervisors have a commission studying other services for possible fees, so I think it is important that we to have the benefits of Prop. 13 taken from us.

Arabs sit and wait

JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON Intelligence sources report, with some amusement, that gas lines have been forming recently in the United Arab Emirates.

The UAE is a collection of oilrich sheikdoms on the Persian Gulf. With a per capita income of $27,000, cash reserves in the tens of billions of dollars and a bevy of prodigal princelings, the emirates are the stereotype of the oil-rich Arab countries that were the target of so much teethgrinding anger and frustration for American motorists as they waited in gas lines in 1974 and

How is it possible that gas lines the dramatic manifestation of shortages - have formed in a country that's sitting on one of the world's biggest oil reserves? In an irony that would make a poet whimper with delight, the emirates' gas lines are caused by the worldwide oil glut that was so largely the result of the oil cartel's greed.

HERE'S WHAT happened:

Like all the oil-exporting countries, the UAE has sustained a huge drop in revenues as world oil prices plummeted over the past year or so. And like the other Arab sheikdoms, the UAE had committed itself to extravagant expenditures that depended on continuing high

When their income fell, the emirates had two choices, neither of them very appealing: Cut back on spending or dip into their huge cash reserves. Risking the wrath of the populace, the UAE decided to slash its budget drastically. Ambitious public projects were put on hold; freespending princes and royal hangers-on were brusquely shoved away from the public trough.

It still wasn't enough.

So the government adopted the tactic familiar to millions of lesser mortals in hard times. It stopped paying its bills. Even to itself. The state-owned oil company coulldn't collect from one of its biggest customers the various government

IN DESPERATION, the state oil company went to work on its other bloc of domestic customers

- the gas station owners. They were told they would get no more gasoline delivered until they paid off their old bills. Even worse, they would have to pay for any new deliveries in advance, cash on the barrelhead.

It was too much for many dealers. They simply closed up shop. Others could scrape together only enough for small shipments of gas.

Bingo! A shortage of gasoline, long lines at the pumps.

Intelligence sources told my associate Lucette Lagnado that the United Arab Emirates' "oil crunch" is not only artificial, but certainly temporary. They warn, though, that this outward sign of governmental incompetence could mean deeper trouble lies ahead.

In fact, some analysts question the basic stability of a regime that allowed itself to get into such a pickle in the first place and shows so little skill in extricating itself. There are reports, for example, that the royal families are investing big chunks of their shrunken incomes drilling for still more oil to feed into the glutted world market. Against all economic reality, they apparently hope to return to the good old days of high living. Like the Bourbon kings, they have learned nothing and forgotten nothing.

WARNING COMES TRUE: The House Ways and Means Committee recently took a swipe at independent oil producers by holding hearings on their tax loopholes. If the independent oilmen saw this as a backlash by the Democratic majority for the industry's overwhelming support of Republicans last fall, they can't say they weren't given fair warning.

Rep. Charles Wilson, D-Texas, longtime champion of independent oil producers, wrote last January to "about 75 independents that I consider above average in political judgment." He wrote in part:

"As a friend of the independent segment of your industry, I feel it is my duty to give the bad (news). It is perceived by the House leadership, as well as the vast majority of Democrats, that the oil and gas industry only supported Republicans in the last election, with the exception of a few oil-state Democrats (fortunately, I was one)

"This comes at a bad time because the House will be much more liberal." Wait till next year.

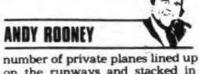

A rich experience

There is a whole world at airports that most of us know nothing about. We all know about waiting at the airline ticket counters, we know the junky gift shops and the mediocre coffee chops and restaurants. But there's a private side to every airport, and it is occupied mostly by the very rich. Most of us never see it.

Across the field from the regular commercial terminal, or down at one corner of it, there's always a smaller area for the people who come in on their own airplanes or in the private jets of big companies.

I can't figure out where all these rich people come from. It seems that no matter how small the town is that the airfield serves, there are always a lot of private airplanes. Today, in the continuing saga of our crosscountry flight by helicopter, we landed briefly at a small airport on Hilton Head Island in South Carolina

I couldn't begin to count the

on the runways and stacked in the hangars, but it seemed to me there were more airplanes in town than there were houses. Some people must own two. There's no longer anything special about a family owning two cars, but inasmuch as no airplane costs less than five times what an expensive car costs, two airplanes seems a little much.

THERE ARE a dozen major companies that serve this clientele. They have their own mechanics, their own little airport terminal building, and they provide all kinds of services for the people who come into the airfield in their own jets or twin-engined Cessnas and Pipers.

There are tens of thousands of tiny airports across the country, and even the simplest ones seem to be better run than the average business. I can't get over how friendly and efficient they are. Today we went into one with the helicopter. The door to the building was open but no one was there. On the counter was a simple note written in pencil:

Be back in hour. If you need transportation, keys to black Oldsmobile are over visor

We went into town, had lunch, then brought the car back. We never did see the owner and no money was exchanged. There's a common bond that ties fliers together. They trust each other. I suspect that kind of trust comes from sharing the dangers inherent in flight.

ONE OF my shortcomings is that I like rich people. Generally speaking, rich people are more interesting than poor people. It seems wrong, nontheless, that airplane owners should get as much from the federal government as they do.

In the first place, almost all privately owned airplanes are tax deductible. They are declared as a business expense no matter where the people who own them go - and no matter for what purpose. I have no objection to this because, for the most part, these are the people who make the world work. But I do object when they take this largesse from the government and then. complain about government. If they had to pay for their own airport facilities, their own weather reports and their own air traffic control systems, many of them wouldn't be able to afford their airplanes.

The people who own their own airplanes belong to one of the most exclusive clubs in the world. It is not like having a swimming pool, three cars, a yacht and belonging to the country club. Owning an airplane of any size takes real money. I'm getting just a touch of the life on this trip and, given a little time, I think I could get to like living this way.

What have we contributed?

When you stop for a moment to think what the world could be like, compared to what it is, you cannot help wondering whether man's presence is a net gain or a net loss to the universe When you consider that everything has been provided for our needs on this planet - fresh air, clean water, wholesome food, fire to warm us, color to delight us, not a thing missing to sustain the body and stimulate the spirit - it is hard not to wonder if we are the ultimate species for whom this tiny speck of dust in galactic space was devised. When you calculate how short is the span of life on this planet, in terms of the cosmic past and future, and how we spend this span in fighting and competing, in killing and hating (and usually in the name of noble abstractions), it seems almost a gruesome caricature of what "civilization" was intended to be, and could be, and should be.

IT WOULD not be so bad if we did not know any better, if we were not created with this vision of possibilities and potentialities, with aspirations that are perpetually defeated and frustrated by our limitations of love and cooperation and mere

It might be tolerable if we were more like other animals, who can see no further than their immediate environment, who comprehend neither life nor death, who exist only in a sensory present.

Instead, we have been granted the ambiguous gift of prescience: we know what is possible and desirable, but we seem condemned, like Sisyphus, to roll a huge boulder up a steep hill, only to see it roll down again just before we reach the summit, time after time. And each time it rolls down, it mortally wounds a larger number of us.

It is a man's singular fate to know that he is an incomplete creature, a kind of monster and angel joined together, with the monster forever betraying the angel and bringing him lower than the beasts. Nothing that other creatures do to each other is nearly as wicked as what we do to our fellows.

THE PAIN is in the knowing In the feeling that we have all the ingredients for a lovely life, except one; the reaching out toward each other in amity, instead of the clenched list, the rock, the club, or, worst of all, the monumental indifference toward out own kind.

Our world is full of challenges as well as delights - challenges to our ingenuity, our imagination, our capacity for expanding our horizons into space and through time enough to occupy our bodies, minds and spirits for the brief duration we are granted on this planet.

What else do we want? What more do we need? And how canwe become what we yearn to be, when it is so easy, and so fatal, to be otherwise?

Ho-made sines! Mis-pelled words! No wunder Jonny can't rede and Jonny can't rite! Look how the parents do it!

Three ways to defend an accused rapist

Dixon Wolcott, 37, formerly with the Orange County Public Defender's Office is now in private practice in south Orange County. Since his graduation from Hastings School of Law in 1973, he has defended many accused rapists.

Q: WHAT ARE THE MOST COMMON

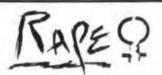

DEFENSES USED IN A RAPE CASE? A: "It wasn't me," consent, and it didn't happen. Q: WHAT KINDS OF QUESTIONS WILL YOU

ASK THE VICTIM? A: I'll ask about her sobriety. Look for inconsistencies between the police report and her testimony. I don't ever ask intimate details about the rape. If the issue is consent, then I'll ask how long she knew the guy, if she had prior sex with

If the case is "I didn't do it," then I'll ask about lighting and whether he had a moustache or a beard. You might ask if he had a scar on his arm even if you know he didn't. Then they'll think that he had a scar. A lot of times you'll create issues that are not issues. You'll see whether they're just trying to make a case.

If a girl accuses a guy of raping her, his chances of being found innocent are much less than 50 percent.

Q: WHAT CHARACTER ASPECTS DO YOU ATTEMPT TO REVEAL ABOUT YOUR CLIENT? A: You'll bring in charater witnesses to show how he treats women. In a trial of an 18-year-old, we brought in a pretty 17-year-old friend who said he'd never done anything.

Q: WHAT MAKES A CASE TOUGH TO

A: The fact that the guy going into trial has an 80 percent chance of losing. If a girl accuses a guy of raping her, his chances of being found innocent are much less than 50 percent.

Q: YOU MAKE IT SOUND LIKE WOMEN ARE JUST POINTING THEIR FINGERS. HAVE YOU SEEN MEN YOU BELIEVED INNOCENT SENT TO PRISON?

A: A friend of mine had a case where a black guy was accused of raping a girl on the pier. He had an alibi. His teacher came in and said he was studying for a test then. His family testified. The first trial ended in a hung jury and he was convicted in the second and sentenced to four years.

He might possibly be innocent.

Q: HOW DO YOU ATTEMPT TO PROVE

Dixon Wolcott . . . Defense for the rapist.

A: If they met in a public place I look for friends and witnesses. If she was hanging on and kissing him, that would be circumstantial evidence.

Q: HOW DO YOU DECIDE WHETHER YOUR CLIENT SHOULD TESTIFY?

A: Unless your defense is "it wasn't me" your client has to testify or he's on his way to prison. I'll ask how long he's known her, where they went, what they did. If it's an alibi I'll ask where he was and when he left. Q: WHAT INFORMATION IN THE VICTIM'S TESTIMONY ARE YOU LOOKING FOR AS A POSSIBLE AID TO YOUR CLIENT?

A: Inconsistencies. I'll send an investigator out to talk with her because you can't always trust the police reports to be complete.

Q: WHAT WEIGHS MOST HEAVILY IN THE JURORS' MINDS IN REACHING AN INNOCENT

VERDICT?

A: It depends on the situation, whether they were strangers or knew each other. If they knew each other then the circumstances and whether there is corroboration.

Rapist: A portrait of anger

(Last in a Series)
By JODI CADENHEAD
of the Daily Pilot Staff

Rape is seldom a crime of passion. Instead, it's an act of anger . . . and hate . . . and violence.

The rapist is a complex individual, so complex that psychologists know little about him . . . just that he's usually a man with a strong rage inside.

Such is the case of Johnny, who, at 32, has spent more time in prison than out. A rape attempt at the age of 17 landed him in the custody of the California Youth Authority for a year and a half.
The list continues from there: two more attempts at 21, two rapes at 25, and another attempt at 30. Black, bearded and with a voice so soft you sometimes have to strain to hear, he could be your brother or your neighbor.

But he's not. He's a patient at Patton State

Hospital, one of about 200 mentally disordered sex offenders ordered by the courts to come to this sprawling mental hospital rather than go to prison.

"If there's one group of people we don't know a whole lot about or what to do with them, it's the rapists," said James Green, a psychologist at Take Johnny. Ask him why he kept raping and he'll tell you he was angry at his mother for marrying his stepfather.

Prison is the only thing Johnny is certain about. He doesn't want to go back. He knows the walls of nearly every prison in California. He knows the scheming, the tactics to survive.

"They don't do anything for your mind. When I came out of prison I had 22-inch arms. I could bench press 175 pounds," he says. "For my size I was the biggest in San Quentin."

After serving 41/2 years on a five-to-lifesentence for two rapes and burglaries, Johnny returned home to Los Angeles where he worked for his dad fixing cars and went back with his wife of nine years.

"I couldn't get back the closeness with my wife," he says. "Wasn't used to the responsibility. It

One year later he was back in court for assault and attempted rape. "I knew there was something wrong with me. 'I've got to see someone,' I said.'

He was sent to Patton for five years, although the average time served is 42 months. Since coming to the San Bernardino hospital

Johnny insists he's changed. "This is the best environment for someone who wants to change. This is a different place. It deals with your mind."

He's wearing a dark brown polyester jacket, the kind you thought nobody wore anymore. On this warm day it seems unbearable, but Robyn folds his slim black hands neatly. Not a wrinkle shows on his tan pants and clean matching shirt.

Around Los Angeles he was known as the "DJ Almighty," he says. But that was before he was arrested three years ago for one rape and two attempted rapes.

With the steadiness of a worn record, the 25-year-old tells how when he was 9, his dad died of a heart attack. He found his father's body in their Oakland apartment. His mother was killed in an automobile accident five years later. But he believes the rape-murder of his girlfriend when he was 17 is what actually drove him to the crime six years later. He picked up a hitchhiker on Sunset Boulevard one night and decided to rape her. Instead, he dropped her off a few blocks away. The thought returned, höwever.

On March 15, 1979, he was driving down Venice Boulevard at 6 a.m. when he spotted a nurse in uniform. He drove his car to a vacant lot where he knew she'd have to pass. She screamed, kicked him in the groin and ran.

The next day she recognized him at a nearby store and he was sent to the county jail. When he got out his reputation was ruined and he was unable to land any radio jobs.

He was hired as a security guard at a Marina del Rey condominium complex, working 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. "There were all kinds of sexy gals coming in and out," he said.

Early one morning he saw a woman getting out of her car. He took off his uniform shirt and began following her.

He watched until she reached a deserted parking lot. "I grabbed her. She didn't fight like the Two weeks later he raped a woman jogging at dawn along Venice Beach. "All the load that I was carrying I vented on this woman. I cut off her air. . I didn't want her doing what the others did."

The next day two plainclothes detectives were waiting for him at work. He has already served 11 months of his two-year sentence.

'It's like I have two personalities," he said. "I like women. But another part hates females."

If you met Frank on the street you probably wouldn't look twice. An average looking 23-year-old guy with blond hair and an easily forgotten face.

But two women positively identified him as the man who raped them in their Orange County condominium complex in late 1977 and early 1978. After 41 months at Patton, Frank has been through the story a thousand times. "I was raised in

Rape victim tells story to only one prosecutor

Victims of sexual crimes in Orange County no longer have to tell the painful details of their assault to a battery of

Beginning last October the Orange County District Attorney's Office started a new sex crime/child abuse unit that guarantees only one prosecutor will handle the case from beginning to end.

In the past, rape and child abuse cases have been handled by as many as four different prosecutors, said Deputy District Attorney Charles Middleton, a member of the seven-member panel.

Victims often became so harried and confused in repeating their story that jurors ended up sometimes not believing their testimony, said Middleton.

"Now the victim can identify with the prosecutor," said Middleton. "She can go over it with him. It will lead to a better conviction rate."

an upper class neighborhood in Northern California," he said.

'I had a lot of problems. I got kicked out of the house at 17 and went to live with my sister and brother-in-law in Orange County," he said.

"I had problems from 13 on. I was molested by my mom's girlfriend, a Mrs. Robinson kind of thing." (From the Dustin Hoffman movie, "The

At 17 he had a girlfriend he was pretty serious about, but after a few weeks she left him and married somebody else.

"My relationhips with women were superficial," he complained. "They'd last maybe a couple of weeks and then they'd dump me.

He was only 18 when he raped a woman living in his condominium complex. "She was very attractive. I didn't feel there was any chance to get her. There was a lot of anger."

He was arrested the next day and out on bail four days later. "I wanted to humiliate women. I felt I was nothing. Rape, that's the worst thing that could happen to her."

Awaiting trial for the first rape, he attacked another woman living in the same complex. "I saw her coming out of the shower. I was really angry at my first victim for reporting me. I thought about going back and getting her.

After meeting with rape victims from the San Bernardino Rape Crisis Center, the 23-year-old says he feels sympathetic.

"Before I didn't do too much thinking about her," he says. "I hope that she's okay out there and has recovered and can resume her life. I don't like to think about it. It's just not a nice thing.'

Patton relies chiefly on research by the Bridewater Institute for the Study of Violence in determining the four classical types of rapists.

There is the aggressive diffusive rapist, who acts on impulse usually triggered by a fight with a wife, mother or boss. He may use a knife or gun, claiming he is protecting himself.

The second type, the sexually aggressive diffusive rapist, usually plans his attack. He may have been raised in a sexually repressive family and has a history of sexually frustrated relationships.

Screaming or struggling will often frighten him off.

The third type is the predatory aggressive who often has a long history of criminal behavior. Robbery is usually his first motive. He may even tell the victim his problems and warn her to lock her doors in the future.

The erotic aggressive type comprises the smallest population of rapists and is considered the most dangerous. He is sadistic and often psychotic. He is stimulated by the victim's pain and terror. He sometimes has a history of sexual abuse as a child. Counselors at Patton use group therapy and a phasing system with rewards for good behavior.

Bob Mone, a psychiatric technician at Patton, has been compiling statistics since 1977 on the those sent to prison from the hospital, instead of being released following treatment, said Mone.

"I can't explain it, but it works," he said.
Cost of one year in a California prison runs about $18,000 to $22,000 compared to $36,000 to $40,000 for hospitalization.

Tennis tourney adopted for charity

By SHIRLEY SCHIEBER

It was 22 years ago this month when 50 members of the Adoption Guild of Orange County successfully staged their first fund-raising charity tennis tournament at the Balboa Bay Club in Newport Beach.

What has become one of the area's most popular and prestigious events, the tournament has mushroomed from seven courts and less than 100 local entrants to 52 courts and 673 teams. Participants come from throughout Southern California and some from out of state. The event is held during the Memorial Day weekend at several area clubs each year with the finals being held at the Newport Beach Tennis Club the following weekend

The event attracts competitors in men's, women's and mixed doubles teams competing in open, A, B, C and D divisions.

The tournament has become well known for its highly organized and dramatically detailed planning, which ranges from green and white posters, banners and uniforms to bright yellow potted plants lining the sides of Center Court.

The work of planning and organizing the annual event is done by 50 members of the Adoption Guild who support Holy Family Services, a non-sectarian, non-profit adoption

Holy Family provides natural parent counseling, adoption services, children's medical and psychological care, child abuse prevention and treatment, educational presentations and foster care. Money raised by the tournament provides funding for the adoption agency.

Making up the 1983 tournament committee are Adoption Guild president Sara Regan, and tournament chairwomen Nancy Short and Wyn Wilson, who are being assisted by Kathy Cook and Betty Svendsen as they train for next year's chairwomen posts.

The tourney is also supported by community and individual contributions. This year's sponsor is Dos Equis, the uncommon import. Manny Fernandez, president of Montezuma Imports, and Dennis Hollow, public relations representative for J.J. Basso and Associates, have joined forces to promote and underwrite the 1983 Adoption Guild Tournament

George Yardley, who has been active in the tourney since its inception, has donated a computer and programmed the software to accept and classify entries. Thomas Temporaries Secretarial Service will furnish the operators to key in the computer when the entries are received.

Charlie Eaton, founder of Palisades Tennis Club and founder of the Adoption Guild Tournament in 1961 and its director for 10 years, assists with publicity.

Tournament master of ceremonies is Glen Turnbull, tennis director at the Balboa Bay Club Donating courts for the first weekend's competition will be the Marriott Hotel Tennis Club, the Balboa Bay Club, Racquet Club, the John Wayne Tennis Club, the Racquet Club of Irvine, the Mesa Verde Racquet Club and Big Canyon Country Club. The Adoption Guild provides the court captains, programs and gifts.

The Newport Beach Tennis Club donates its courts for the final weekend. Ted Winston, tennis director at NBTC, will assist in determining the players' positions and times and act as adviser to the tournament chairmen. During the tourney, Winston will also serve as the final arbitrator of disputes concerning procedure, rules and scoring.

Defending champions expected to enter are Women's Open Champions Gail Glasgow and Susan Warfield, Mixed Open Champions Warfield and Steve Simon, and Men's Open Champion Tim

Pawsat is currently playing number one doubles for the University of Southern California and is ranked number one nationally for men 18 and under

Jerry Van Linge and Tom Leonard are expected to challenge Pawsat and Rick Leach, who is ranked number one boys single champion age 18 and under in Southern California, to regain the open title.

Two new Mixed Open teams, Dick Gude, the Rossignol representative, and Karen Nixon, women's professional at Laguna Niguel Tennis Club, and Dick and Gretchen Galt Miller plan to participate in the tourney.

schedule is returning next season. When "Archie Bunker's Place" gets too old, CBS drops it. Business is business. But CBS' other major hits — "60 Minutes," "Dallas," "Magnum, P.I." — don't appear to be losing their popularity.

CBS has only one new show from its fall 1982-83 schedule - "Newhart" - back next season. This could mean an absence of fresh ideas. That may be a problem sometime, but not now. The network is winning with its veterans. While ABC has eight new programs and NBC nine, CBS has only five - three of them on Monday night. "Scarecrow and Mrs. King," teaming Kate Jackson and Bruce Boxleitner, is about a secret agent and a mother of three kids, who wants to spice up her humdrum existence by becoming a spy.

Nearly three-quarters of CBS' 1982-83

Then comes "After M*A*S*H," with Col. Potter, Cpl. Klinger and Father Mulcahy — all civilians now - working in a veterans hospital in Missouri

Then on Monday night comes "Navy," the fourth prime-time soap on CBS' schedule. It's Dennis Weaver, as a naval commander raising three daughters, against Howard Cosell and "Monday Night Football."

On Wednesday, CBS introduces "Cutter to Houston," about three young doctors in a Texas hospital. On Saturday, CBS has "Whiz Kids," about students using computers to solve mysteries.

Those last two programs are followed by worst bid in the auction was West's two diamond rebid. When your pattern is 6-4, you usually rebid your six-card suit only on minimum hands. With a good hand, you should bid your four-card suit before rebidding your six-card suit, even if it is a major. The opinion of the experts was that West had a clear twoclub rebid on the second round. Despite the fact that West made the worst bid in the auction, most of the blame for missing the game was laid on East. After West had made a cue-bid and then supported East's second suit, the jury felt that East was not allowed to stop short of game, even though East had

If you entered the competition and got both answers right, you will soon be receiving your copy of the magazine that contains the article on the competition. If you entered but did not get both right, you'll be sent a copy of the jury's vote.

How do you choose the best opening lead? Charles Goren has the answer. For a copy of "Winning Opening Leads," send $1.85 to "Goren-Leads," care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 259, Norwood, N.J. 07648. Make checks payable to Newspaperbooks.

FROM FAT TO FANTASTIC IN 10 DAYS!

U.S. Government Grants a Patent for a New Product From Japan That Lets You Burn Off Body Fat 24 Hours a Day, ... Every Single Day!!!

Have you heard about the latest discovery in the war against fat? It is absolutely amazing. In fact, it's just about the only thing on the market that lets you lose weight without going on a painful diet!

That's right! Believe it or not, this incredible new discovery lets you eat any kind of food you enjoy (not just starches!) and still lose all the weight you want! It's called Glucomannan or "Konjac" Mannan.

This amazing weight-loss formula is so unique it has actually been awarded two U.S. Patents. The patents are #3,973,008, #3,856,945 and together these patents explain how it can help you lose weight incredibly fast.

Our marketing name for this wonderful new discovery is MAN-NAN-TRIM. Here's how it works—all you do is take two MANNAN-TRIM tablets with water about 30 minutes before each meal. This will give you a natural feeling of fullness before you even pick up your fork. Not only that, after you start to eat, this remarkable product will surround much of the fat, protein and carbohydrate calories you have eaten. And give you an immediate start on a brand new slender body!

How much can you lose? Frankly, we don't know. The truth is it all depends on how much excess weight you now have, and your metabolism. All you have to do is follow the simple directions that are included with every package of this powerful new fat fighter. Remember this weight-loss formula is an extremely fast and effective means to conquer obesity. It causes you to lower calorie intake which is essential to the rapid reduction of body fat and weight.

what you want them to be? Of course the amount you lose depends on you. However, there is no reason why you shouldn't lose all your excess weight in record time.

Now, at last, you can do it. You really can. And best of all, thanks to this incredible miracle you can do it and still eat until you feel satisfied. No need to suffer while you lose; no need to exercise; no need to feel deprived and no need to feel guilty!

Also, you should know that this product is 100% safe. It contains no drugs whatsoever and it was first checked out by members of the JMA. (Japanese Medical Association) and then, later, it was awarded the two aforementioned patents by the United States Patent authorities!

But the most amazing thing of all is how fast this new product works! It actually gives you the ability to:

"MELT DOWN POUNDS LIKE FIRE MELTS DOWN ICE!"

Think about it! Wouldn't it be wonderful to stop depriving yourself and start losing weight? Wouldn't it be wonderful to feel like you ate like a football player and look like a model? Wouldn't it be great to have your stomach feel like you feasted and your waistline look like you fasted?

If you really care about your appearance and your health, please don't mess around with drugs or painful diets! Do yourself a great favor and try this remarkable weapon. It is probably the only way in the world to lose weight and still enjoy the foods you love. It is safe, effective and, according to some people, it's just plain magic!

Yes, it's true! With this amazing NEW ANTI-FAT WEAPON you either lose your excess body fat or you get double your money back, and... There Are No Exceptions

Of course, when you lose a significant amount of excess weight it is also quite natural that you will lose a significant amount of excess inches! Just imagine. How would you look if you could carve away up to:

6 inches off your hips!
and up to
3 inches off your thighs!
and up to
4 inches off your buttocks!
and up to
6 inches off your waistline!

Therefore, since this powerful new fat fighting weapon is perfectly safe, why not use it continuously until your measurements are just

As a matter of fact, it is so effective, it is actually being sold with an iron-clad unconditional DOUBLE your money back guarantee. The guarantee is simple. Here is the way it works: If you place your order now, and then follow the simple instructions for a trial period of 30 days, you must be 100% satisfied or you are entitled to an immediate refund of double your entire purchase price! There are no exceptions. This guarantee is iron-clad regardless of your age or your current weight level. All that is required is that you follow the simple instructions and give the product an honest

UC Irvine standouts earn first-team All-SCBA honors. C3.

Irvine's CIF hopes are well-defined

Vaqs in quarterfinals after 9-3 win

y ROGER CARLSON

If you want to find Webster's definition for access, mark Irvine High's baseball story with ese denominators:

1. Pitcher Rodney Poissant. 2. Center fielder dark Webster. 3. Take your pick from the aqueros' lineup, they have a little of everything to around.

The Vaqueros moved into the CIF 2-A uarterfinals Tuesday following a 9-3 victory at lission Viejo High in a game marked by the resence of Poissant (his second straight complete-ame victory in the playoffs) and Webster (3-for-4 vith a two-run homer, a run-scoring single, two uns scored and a key bunt single setting up the

And, there were seven Vaqueros in all who ontributed at the plate, including a two-run single y catcher Jim Martin, a two-run double by inch-hitter Remy Rahmatulla, a 2-for-3 roduction by Doug Brozovich and heads up efensive hands.

The victory sends Coach Bob Flint's Sea View eague co-champions into the quarterfinals against Irvine paid a price in the victory, however, as hortstop John Scott was forced to leave the ame with a possible concussion after being nvolved in a collision with Mission Viejo paserunner Jon Peace in the first inning. Because of welling, X-rays have not yet been taken, but a broken nose and cheekbone are suspected.

Webster's two-run homer in the first inning with Johnny Salinas aboard (via a single) staked Poissant to a two-run cushion, but Mission rallied with two in the fourth to tie the game at 3 to set the tage for the big inning.

Irvine at home Friday

Irvine High's quarterfinals game in CIF 2-A baseball Friday will be on the Vaqueros' diamond following today's coin flip at the CIF

The Vaqueros meet Norwalk, the Suburban League's No. 3 entry, a 15-8 squad which advanced by knocking off No. 3 seeded Mountain View, the Mission Valley League champion, and Antelope Valley of the Golden

The game is scheduled for 3:15.

Norwalk features left-hander Bill Wenrick, a senior with a 1.56 ERA and a 10-4 overall record. He was the winning pitcher at Dodger Stadium last year when Norwalk won Salinas walked and Webster followed with a base hit bunt. Steve Lipton was hit by a pitch to load the bases and Martin followed with his tworun bouncer over third.

Eric Patton relieved Mike Levesque, who had entered at the start of the inning, and got the first batter on strikes, but the Diablos hurt themselves badly when an infield error loaded the bases for Rahmatulla's soft double to left scored a pair, Salinas later plated another with a single to right and the Vaqueros were home free.

"Some things went their way," said Mission Viejo Coach Ron Drake. "You can't have that bad of an inning against a pitcher like Poissant that late in the game."

"We bounced back at 3-3," said Flint. "We talked about maintaining that competitive level and things worked out.'

Irvine's John Scott (9), Mission Viejo's Jon Peace collide. Scott suffered a possible broken nose and cheekbone in Tuesday's CIF baseball action.

6 teams advance in tennis

Sea View League tennis owers Corona del Mar and Iniversity highs didn't find nything different when they ntered the CIF 4-A playoffs

The Sea Kings, 21-0 and ceded first, whipped La Habra 27-1, while the Trojans, 19-2 (the only losses coming to Corona del Mar) routed Millikan by the same score.

Elsewhere in CIF playoff action, the third Sea View League entry, Newport Harbor, squeaked by Long Beach Wilson 141/2-131/2, and the Sunset League's Huntington Beach Oilers and Edison Chargers scored first-round wins.

In 3-A action, top-seeded Laguna Beach outclassed Katella

At Corona del Mar, the Sea Kings had no problems with La Habra. Singles players Jeff Ewing and David Propp won in straight sets, but then just about all the other Sea Kings did, too.

Senior Lance McLean also breezed in straight sets for CdM. The Sea Kings meet Glendale Friday at Glendale.

Irvine High's Remy Rahmatulla tries to score from second base on a single, but Mission Viejo catcher Steve Michiel applies the tag to end the Vaqueros' six-run fifth inning.

Pinckney has a goal He wants a volleyball title for his coach

Irvine's Poissant is MVP

Irvine High's Rodney Poissant, a hard-throwing right-handed senior pitcher, has been named Most Valuable Player in the Sea View League as chosen by the league's baseball coaches.

Poissant, who led the Vaqueros to a co-championship with El Toro and the league's No. 1 entry in the CIF 2-A playoffs, racked up a 7-1 won-loss record and compiled an 0.85 ERA.

Also earning first team honors from Irvine was outfielder Mike Webster, who hit at a .319 clip.

Corona del Mar, which lost its stranglehold on the league championship after four straight titles, placed 1982 All-CIF second baseman Gordon Moss on the first team, while Costa Mesa pitcher Jeff Goettsch, who pitched into hard luck while putting together a 4-3 won-loss record, was a first team choice.

University placed two players on the first team, with Jason Gentile, a .419-hitting shortstop, the only junior on the first team. Also making the first team was first baseman Collin Cate, who

El Toro led the way with three players on the first team (infielder Todd Inglehart, outfielder Doug Maher and pitcher Gary Pifer), and Saddleback, which finished third to El Toro and Irvine, is represented by outfielder Jesus Ochoa and catcher Mike Baker.

"I'm not one of those guys who worries" about Perry's pitching, Carew said after he collected three hits in the Angels' 3-1 victory Tuesday night over the Seattle Mariners Carew ripped a first-inning single and sixth-inning RBI double off Perry, 2-5. In the ninth, Carew added a single off reliever Bill Caudill to raise his average to .449.

"The first two times up I took the first pitch and they were both good pitches," Carew said. The third time he looped the first pitch, a high fastball, over Dave Henderson, playing shallow in center, to score Tim Foli with the game's first run. The Mariners matched that in their half of the sixth when Pat Putnam ripped his fourth homer this season into the second deck in right.

Bob Boone's RBI single in the seventh gave the Angels the lead for keeps, and the Angels added a third run on back-to-back doubles by Juan Beniquez and Elis Valentine in the eighth.

Montreal walks away from Dodgers

MONTREAL (AP) - Four hours and 27 minutes of standing around a chilly ball park had left Montreal Expos infielder Bryan Little cold, tired and hungry.

"I just wanted to go home," he said, and he did just that after drawing a two-out, bases-loaded walk in the 15th inning to provide Montreal with a 3-2 victory Tuesday night over the Los Angeles Dodgers, snapping the Expos' four-game

"You never like to lose a ball game like that," said Dodger Manager Tommy Lasorda. "You always want to make the other club work for it."

An error by Los Angeles third baseman Pedro Guerrero had set the stage for Little. Andre Dawson opened the 15th with an infield single off reliever Steve Howe, 2-1, and moved to second on Al Oliver's groundout. When Howe walked Bobby Ramos, he was replaced by Tom Niedenfuer, who struck out Tim Wallach and got Andre Dawson to hit a sharp bouncer to Guerrero, but the ball rolled up Guerrero's arm for an error to load the

Niedenfuer went to a 3-0 count on Little, threw one strike and then lost him when his next pitch failed to catch the inside

"After he got behind 3-0, I was going to take some pitches until it got to 3-2," said Little. "I knew he had to groove some strikes or the game was over

Ironically, the Expos' pitching staff experienced far greater control problems, issuing 10 walks in the game.

"You're always worried about walks," said Montreal Manager Bill Virdon. "That's what drives a manager crazy.'

Two walks in the first inning were costly for starter Charlie Lea. After yielding a lead-off single to Steve Sax, Lea issued successive walks to Guerrero and Greg Brock with two out. The walk by Brock was one of five he received in the game, tying a National League record.

Ron Roenicke followed with a single into right field that scored both runners. The switch-hitting Roenicke was batting only .161 from the left side before the clutch hit.

After Chris Speier's RBI single made it 2-1 in the second, the Expos managed only three harmless singles and never had a runner past first base until the ninth against starter Fernando Valenzuela. Ochoa and catcher Mike B

Bradshaw facing $1.1 million suit

From AP dispatches
DOYLESTOWN, Pa. -Pittsburgh Steelers quarterback Terry Bradshaw, who is resuming his movie career with another Burt Reynolds film this summer, may have waited too long to return to show business. The co-owners of the Bucks County

Isles win Stanley Cup

UNIONDALE, N.Y. - An exhausted Billy Smith sat before interviewers and summed up the New York Islanders with one word: guts.

"We had the guts to ignore everything that was said and written about us and just concentrate on what we were here for," said Smith, whose spectacular goaltending led the Islanders to their fourth consecutive Stanley Cup Tuesday night with a 4-2 victory over the Edmonton Oilers.

The Islanders, completing a four-game sweep of the finals, got first-period goals 1:37 apart from Bryan Trottier, John Tonelli and Mike Bossy, then preserved that lead in the face of a spirited Edmonton comeback.

Smith, who won the Conn Smythe Trophy as the Most Valuable Player in the National Hockey League playoffs, was the man most responsible for their stunning sweep. His spectacular play kept Edmonton's Wayne Gretzky from scoring a goal in the four games matching the scoring ace's longest streak without a goal during the regular season.

"We're just looking forward to winning it for the coach," says Pinckney. "We just want to do it

Friday's finals, the third appearance in the blue chip game o for Estancia in the past five seasons under Pomeroy, is the coach's finale, barring an All-Star game later.

And it's one last chance to cement amends for a three-set loss on the Eagles' home court when Laguna Beach rolled early in the season during non-league

Estancia has lost twice at home (Costa Mesa turned the trick during league play), which in effect has turned the season into an up-and-down venture until the playoffs. A semifinals five-set come-from-behind victory over San Clemente last week probably sums up Estancia's makeup. "The San Clemente coach

(Jack Iverson) commented about our tendency to refuse to give up," says Pomeroy. "We've done that a lot.' In the Orange County Invitational finals it was a similar situation. Laguna Beach appeared to be on its way to an easy win when suddenly the momentum shifted and Estancia won going away. "Volleyball can go either way so quickly," adds Pinckney. "You have so many chances to come back. You lose one, it's no big deal."

Pinckney was just a shade less than perfect against Laguna Beach in the Orange County Invitational finals and he calls it "my best game."

And, he had an inkling about Friday's matchup.

"I knew," says Pinckney, "if we got to the finals it would be Laguna Beach we'd meet."

Gauchos take title

CARMEL — The Saddleback College golf team has captured its first state community college team championship, and the Gauchos did it with a comfortable eight-stroke cushion over three other teams in competition Monday here.

Coach Bill Cunerty's team was led by Ed Harper who shot a two-round total 149.

Beach riddle? "It's just a matter of execution," says Pinckney.

While Pinckney has enjoyed the recognition, the Eagles are hardly a one-man team. Also primed for Laguna Beach are outside hitters Jim Knowlton and Danny Gass, middle blockers Matt Carrico and Gordon Gust and setter John Wallace in the

"Pinckney gets a lot of credit," continues Pomeroy, "but we could play without him. Our strongest suit is team spirit, they're all together. Danny Gass may be our best all-around player ... he's certainly the most unrecognized."

Losing twice at home, however, hasn't caused the Eagles to suffer any emotional traumas.

"It's just made us all the more determined," explains Pinckney. Every team hits a slump during the year. Laguna has, too.

As an outside hitter Pinckney's abilities surface with his welltimed kills off Wallace's sets, but he is also a known commodity in the back row with his passing, serving and digging.

Right now the only thing still remaining is for the fire to be lit, and Pomeroy says he and the Estancia faithful have the match.

Edison's 16-12 win over visiting Ventura was led by singles player Harry Moloscho, who took three matches and the doubles combination of Lars Wiberg and Larry O'Connell who also won three matches.

Laguna Beach had no trouble with Katella as the doubles team of Rick Leach and Eric Dickerson scored easy victories and Ted Brandt, hampered by illness all season, won his four singles matches. Laguna faces Upland Friday at Upland.

Golfers win

LOS ANGELES - Marie Gray of Big Canyon Country Club and Marianne Towersey of Santa Ana CC have advanced to the second round in the championship flight of the women's state amateur golf championships at Hillcrest CC

Gray, of Newport Beach, defeated Libby La Bella of Valley High CC, 2 and 1, while Towersey defeated Caroline Craddock of Riviera CC.

Meanwhile, Sandi Alexander-Coffer of Irvine Coast CC fell to Ruth Miller oi California CC, 2 and 1, while Anne Hedley of El Niguel lost her match to Jane Booth, 3 and 2.

Indy track 'very unforgiving'

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The Indianapolis Motor Speedway is a difficult track even for veteran drivers. For rookies, fike 42-year-old Jim Buick, it's "the worst."

"It's fast and it's flat," Buick said Tuesday. "This race has a very rich purse, and that brings a Not of people out. The track is very unforgiving. There is no room for mistakes here."

As Buick talked outside his Gasoline Alley arage, his crew was inside, working on his damaged race car, a testament to the dangerous mix of speed and concrete. Buick was not injured, but the Chevrolet-powered Penske racer suffered extensive damage to the right rear in a fourth-turn crash during practice.

"I got too low too fast," Buick said of the crash. "I was trying to give somebody some room to go by on the right, and the car just got loose.
"I thought I had the wall cleared. I made one complete spin, counter-clockwise, to avoid the wall, then I started to make a second turn and just ran out of room, about two feet too soon.'

The car suffered "pretty good damage" to its suspension, oil cooler and mounting, Buick said. Nevertheless, the four-year-old racer is expected to be ready for practice on Wednesday. That will give Buick just over three days to find the necessary speed before Saturday's qualifications for the May 29 race. In practice so far, he has not topped 190 mph, which would almost assuredly doom any hope of making the race. Don Whittington, the fastest driver in practice, again had the quickest lap on Tuesday, touring the 21/2-mile spedway track at 204.081 mph.

HB's Smyth sails to title

By ALMON LOCKABEY

Skipper Randy Smyth and his crewman Jay Glaser arrived home in Huntington Beach Monday with yet another sailing championship. The pair successfully defended their North American title in the 22-foot Olympic Tornado catamaran class at Hamilton, Second in the seven-race series was Skip Elliott of Newport Beach and his crew, Owen Minney.

Smyth and Glaser placed second in the next-to-last race but still had a large enough lead that they did not have to sail a final race. By throwing out the DNS (did not start) they wound up with a low score of 24

Fourth in the final standings was R. Paul Allen of Newport Beach with 49.4 points under the Olympic scoring

Elliott said he and Minney were pleased with their showing as they came to the regatta, "just hoping to be among the first 10." The second place gave them a U.S. ranking and eligibility to try for the Olympics.

Farmers cuts rates on auto insurance for drivers between 30 and 60

We have rates 30% under standard rates for drivers between the ages of 30 and 60 There's a good reason for this. Farmers knows that these drivers tend to be safer and more careful on the highway You're the drivers who have fewer accidents. That's why Farmers created our 30/60 package auto policy. If you qualify, you could save substantially on your premiums. Farmers Insurance Group is working constantly to keep the costs of insurance down, and the amount of protection up. And this 30/60 package auto policy is one way we do it. Why not call me? Bob Wolfe Agency South Costa Mesa 642-1741 Rabbitt Agency tewport Beach 631-7740 Clarke Agency North Costa Mesa

UCI's Rupp, Ging earn first team All-SCBA honors

UC Irvine catcher Mike Rupp and Anteater freshman third baseman Adam Ging have been named to the All-Southern California Baseball Association first team by the league's coaches.

Rupp, a senior, batted .327 this season for the Anteaters. Last year, Rupp led the team with 55 RBI while hitting .349.

Ging, meanwhile, hit .262 in his freshman campaign for Coach Mike Gerakos' team, which finished third in SCBA play behind co-champs Cal State Fullerton and UC Santa Barbara.

UCI's Cas Soma, a senior right-handed pitcher, earned second-team honors. Soma finished the campaign with a 7-6 record and a 3.57 ERA. Also honored was Anteater second baseman Brad Ditto.

Ditto batted .302 in helping the Anteaters finish the SCBA campaign with a 17-11 record.

UC Santa Barbara shortstop Dan Clark and Cal State Fullerton pitcher Tim Thompson were named the conference's coplayers of the year.

Clark, a junior, led the Gauchos to a 22-6 conference mark by batting .351 this year

He also led the SCBA with nine home runs.

Thompson compiled an 11-3 record and a 3.13 ERA. He was the winningest pitcher in SCBA play with an 8-1 mark and a 2.40

UCSB's Al Ferrer was honored as the SCBA Coach of the Year.

Magic's prediction: 'It's winning time'

INGLEWOOD (AP) - "It's winning time," a playoff proclamation by Earvin "Magic" Johnson, seems to have become the Los Angeles Lakers' theme.

The Lakers, whipped 4-1

during meetings with San Conquerors come back CARPINTERIA - Newport Christian High, down to its last out in the seventh inning and trailing 7-6, used a Steve Dean double and Will Honeycutt single to pull out an 8-7 CIF Small Schools baseball victory Tuesday here. The Conquerors, trailing 5-0 entering the top of the seventh inning, came up with four runs in each of the final two innings to eliminate freelance school Cate from the playoffs and advance to the quarterfinals Friday against Brentwood at Southern Cal College.

Dean had driven in one run in Newport Christian's four-run sixth inning with a sacrifice fly that was misjudged - allowing another run to score.

An RBI triple by Greg Quick and a single by Jeff Motske delivered the Conquerors' other two runs in that inning.

In the seventh, Chris Howard whacked a two-run triple, and Dean and Honeycutt added their heroics. Howard, pitching in relief of David Cillay, picked up the victory

Newport Christian is now 14-7 on the season. The second-place finishers from the Academy League closed out Cate's record

OC volleyball team breezes

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — The Orange County Volleyball Club, a team which includes several area high school standouts, rolled over three opponents Tuesday in pool play at the Open U.S. Volleyball Association women's national championships here.

Coach Charlie Brandt's squad breezed past Illinois State, 15-4, 15-6, Clemson, 15-3, 15-4 and the University of Arizona, 15-4, 15-7. Julie Cook, Kara McGuinnes and Julie Evans came off the bench to help the Orange County squad.

Tonight, the Orange County team will meet Drake University and Fish Market in more pool play. Fish Market is a team of former All-Americans, including former Irvine High standout Kim Antonio during the past regular season, can send the Spurs home for the summer with a victory in tonight's fifth game of their National Basketball Association Western Conference finals.

Los Angeles holds a 3-1 edge going into the 8:30 p.m. contest at the Forum and needs just one more victory to move into the championship finals against either the winner of the Eastern finals in which Philadelphia leads Milwaukee three-gamesto-one.

Despite having won the NBA title two of the past three years

On TV tonight Channel 2 at 8:30 and being the defending champions, the Lakers were rather lightly regarded heading into this year's playoffs. But they've appeared to be building momentum as the playoffs progress

The Lakers took control of this series last weekend in San Antonio, impressively winning two contests there to build a two-game pad in the best-ofseven series.

"The playoffs really are a separate season," said Johnson. What happened during the regular season isn't very important when the playoffs start. We're the defending champions. It's our time.'

The absence of two injured front-line reserves, rookie James Worthy and veteran Bob McAdoo, was expected to hamper the Lakers' playoff chances.

LOS ANGELES (AP)-All-American middle ard George Achica, picked by Baltimore in the tional Football League draft, has signed with the s Angeles Express of the United States Football ague, it was announced Tuesday.

Achica, out of the University of Southern lifornia, was drafted in the third round by the its. He becomes the second high selection by itimore who will not play for the club.

The Colts made Stanford quarterback John

Elway the first pick in the NFL draft, but he refused to negotiate with them and was traded to Achica, a 6-5, 260-pounder, said at a press conference that his desire to stay on the West Coast was a major factor in his decision.

"I'm not being negative about Baltimore or (Colts) Coach Frank Kush," he said. "I've known Coach Kush for a long time, and I know most of the assistants he's got with him. Basically, it's just that I want to stay on the West Coast."

MSI Data Corp. of Costa Mesa has introduced a versatile new programmable data collection terminal so small it fits easily into a coat pocket or

Designed for use by sales people, field service representatives or even customers of a company, the new MSI/80 measures six inches by 3.5 inches and weighs less than a pound. It is capable of storing either 4,000 or 8,000 bytes of information and displaying them via a 16-character liquid crystal display. It has a 33-key, alphanumeric keyboard.

With the MSI/80, a salesman, for example, could log in orders from customers throughout the day, then use the built-in acoustic coupler to attach the MSI/80 to an ordinary telephone and transmit the full day's orders back to the home-office computer.

"This eliminates the need for generating and mailing paperwork, as well as the data entry steps necessry to check and transcribe information prior to processing," said Paul R. Tucker, MSI vice president of marketing.

Auto workers elect new president today

By The Associated Press

By The Associated Press

DALLAS — The United Auto Workers union readied for a historic changing of the guard today as delegates prepared to elect a new president and five other top officials. President Douglas A. Fraser, 66, and the others are retiring because union rules prohibit re-election of officers over 65 years old.

Fraser's designated successor, selected late last year by the UAW's 26-member executive board, is Owen Bieber, 53, vice president in charge of the UAW's General Motors Corp. department. Bieber said earlier this week he was confident he would be earlier this week he was confident he would be elected. There were no other formal candidates, although traditionally dissidents nominate one on the floor the day of the vote.

Jobless figures encouraging

WASHINGTON — Bureau of Labor Statistics show that 41 of 50 states had higher unemployment last March than the same month in 1982, but the changes were not considered extreme by statisticians, who said they could well indicate unemployment had peaked. The highest unemployment rates continued to be found in West Virginia, Michigan and Alabama.

Brown's 'float' bill advances

SACRAMENTO — Assembly Speaker Willie Brown's bill to slash the bank "float," the interest-free use of depositors' funds, has won committee approval.

The Assembly Finance, Insurance and Commerce Committee voted 10-0 to force the banks to give a customer credit for a deposited check within five days.

Currently, banks can put a "hold" on checks—often lasting two weeks or longer for those from out of town—to verify the funds, allowing the banks free use of the money in the meantime.

"In years past, the practice of waiting 10 or 15 days or longer for a check to clear may have been necessary," Brown said. "But now . . . with the advent of instant interbank transfers, this waiting period is no longer necessary "

Oak Industries omits dividend

SAN DIEGO — Oak Industries' board of directors has voted to omit the regular quarterly dividend on common stock and Series C preferred stock. Normal dividends would have been 6 cents a quarter for common stock and 43% cents on the preferred. In a terse, three paragraph news release, the company said it would use the money saved for "operations directed at improving the company's profitability."

U.S. ties worry Lockheed

LOS ANGELES - Lockheed Corp. is worried that the aerospace firm is too reliant on Pentagon contracts, even though its strong military business has been growing.
"By the end of the 1980s, we'd like to be about 75 percent military and 25 percent commercial," Lockheed Chairman Roy A. Anderson said Tuesday after the Burbank-based company's annual meeting at the Sheraton Universal. Last year, military work accounted for 90 percent of the company's $5.6 billion

USING REVOLUTIONARY NEW TECHNOLOGY ...

THE SMART MANS WAY TO FITNESS!

THE RESULTS SPEAK FOR THEMSELVES

How many people you know (including yourself) actually enjoy hard physical exercise — jogging, push-ups, etc. In fact, there's a lot of people who can't exercise, even if they wanted to. Arthritis, broken bones, or other disabilities prevent many individuals from the type of movement necessary to exercise muscle tissue.

Now there's the Bio-tone Effortless Exercisor. A revolutionary new way to exercise and tone muscles electronically. So you can firm, tone and shape-up, effectively, and without effort.

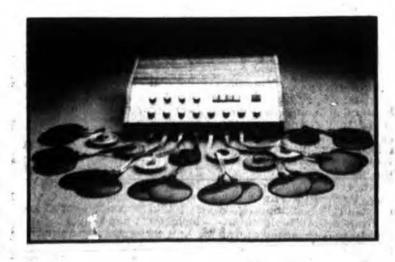

HOW IT WORKS

Bio-tone Effortless Exerciser

Developed 16 years ago and used in Europe by many professional and world class athletes, Bio-tone is a passive exerciser affecting male and female alike. Bio-tone electronically exercises muscles in a natural way, duplicating the tiny impulses sent by the brain during vigoruos exercise. The pleasant sensation of rhythmic, effortless exercise total relaxation creates a soothing, calming feeling as it goes to work firming and toning your waist, hips, thighs and stomach – any area you wish.

It Really Works!

Each 35 minute treatment at Newport Bio-Fitness has the equivalent effect of 1500 situps. And, because Bio-tone stimulates the circulation, muscles are rid of waste products and toxins which cause the familiar soreness following vigorous exercise. Biotone is perfect for persons seeking an alternative to the monotony and regimen of traditional exercise.

Pleasant Massage Cycle

After the 35-minute treatment, persons experience a 10-minute relaxation cycle that feels much like a delicious full body massage.

"My son Danny Pruitt was severly injured 2 years ago. As a result he is paralyzed from the chest down. Danny started E.M.S. (Electronic Muscle Stimulation) recently and has already shown signs of improvement. We are excited, it looks like we have some hope in the right direction."

KATHY PRUITT

"I have found the treatments invigorating as well as relaxing and the inches are coming off."

ante Blanchard

"After suffering with lower back pain for the past two years, to the point of being bed ridden for weeks at a time and forced early disability retirement, I started treatments at NEWPORT BIO-FITNESS in January, 1983.

The results have been simply great. I have never been so mobile or free from pain in years. It feels great!

Your staff is to be commended."

SAM AMBURGEY

"After losing 110 pounds I realized a serious need to begin an exercise program that would tighten and tone my muscles. When I discovered NEWPORT BIO-FITNESS it was a dream come true! After only 12 visits I lost 21 inches. The individualized treatments are great and the staff are truly caring people".

"I recommend NEWPORT BIO-FITNESS to all my friends."

Mison Jappa - Ford

se I find

"Due to my hectic schedule I don't get enough time to properly exercise. I find NEWPORT BIO-FITNESS relaxing and get immediate results. I lost 8 inches in only four treatments with no dieting. Fantastic!"

"Following arthioscopic surgery to my left knee in June of this year, I was unable to run or bend without severe pain. I tried three types of physical therapy with little success and literally couldn't play tennis without hobbling around."

"After only six sessions with John Benson at NEWPORT BIO-FITNESS, I can not only bend my left knee and run without pain, I am on the court and playing tennis again. I can't believe it, but I am a believer now."

Joy of cooking a new venture

By BEA ANDERSON
Of the Daily Pliot Staff

It was only a couple of years ago that Carol Goldstein began having fun with cooking.

The former elementary school teacher said she had cooked for a number of years but she really didn't get into experimenting with recipes and enjoying the challenge until a short time ago.

After she and her husband bought their Harbor View house in Newport Beach and "settled down," they started entertaining . . and that sparked her interest.

She says she's not a gourmet cook, but likes good food and especially enjoys making simple, easy dishes that are attractive and tasty.

Most of these recipes, she said, have been collected from friends. "I find I do better with them than recipes from a cookbook."

Her next venture will be creating ethnic foods, focusing on Japanese dishes — her favorite.

Although she claims she knows "abosolutely nothing about ethnic cooking — not even where to buy the ingredients," she is determined to learn and expand her enjoyment in the kitchen.

Here are some of her recipes for attractive, tasty dishes.

LOBSTER ELEGANTE

- 14 cup minced onion 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
 - 2 tablespoons flour 1/2 teaspoon salt

 - 4 teaspoon pepper 4 teaspoon dry mustard
- 11/2 cups milk 11/2 cups granted American processed cheese
- 1/4 cup sherry
- 4 ounces spinach noodles,
- cooked and drained
 - 2 cups cubed cooked lobster 2 tablespoons lemon juice

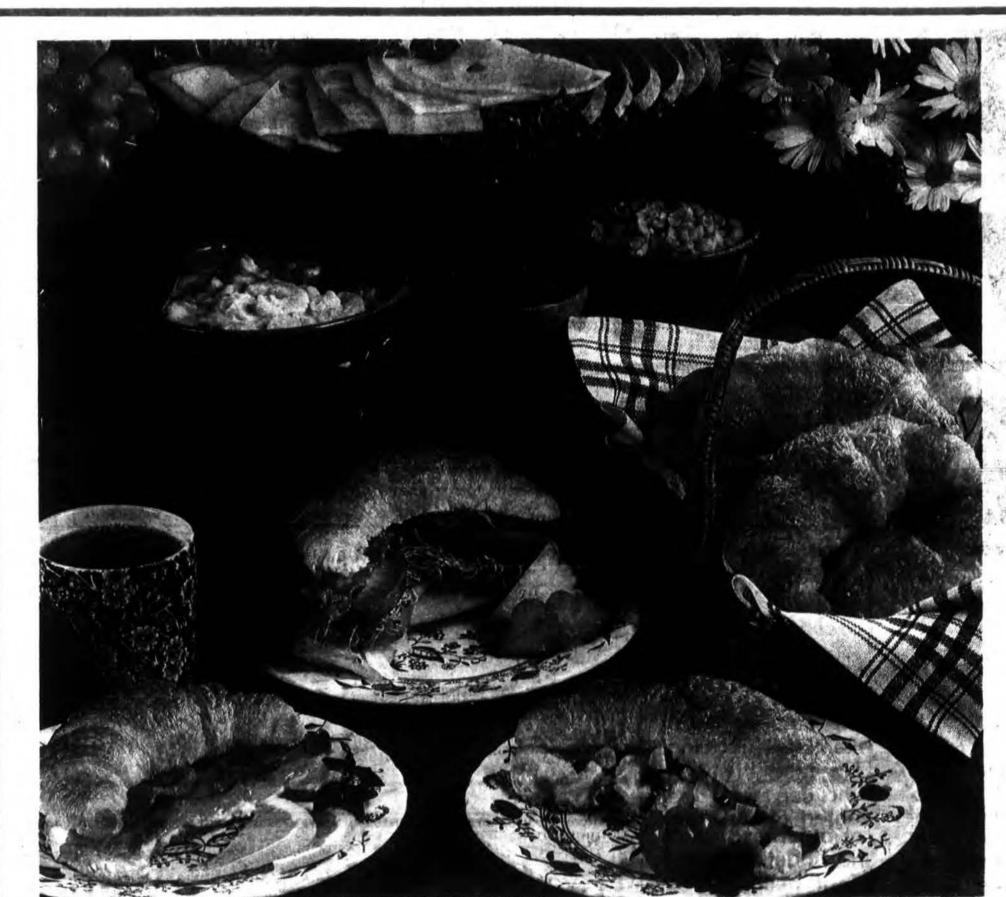

Saute onion in butter until tender. Remove from heat. Blend in flour and seasonings. Cook over low heat, stirring until mixture is bubbly. Remove from heat. Stir in milk. Heat to boiling, stirring constantly. Boil 1 minute.

Add 1 cup cheese, stir over low heat until melted. Stir in sherry. Arrange noodles around sides of 10 x 6 x 1/2-inch baking dish. Place cubed lobster in center and sprinkle with lemon juice. Pour sauce over noodles and lobster and sprinkle with 1/2 cup cheese.

Bake in preheated 375-degree oven 25 minutes, or until mixture is bubbly and lightly browned. (See COOK, Page D3)

New toast roissants —

Across the country an ever-increasing number of Americans are lifting their glasses in appreciation of a flaky, buttery pastry that has long been the "toast" of

Perfect for family or guests, the golden brown, butter-rich croissant adds a touch of class to any meal, whether served at breakfast with butter and preserves, at lunch with your favorite deli or seafood ingredients, or at dinner to dress up last night's leftovers.

Once discovered, croissants are quickly fashioned to suit each cook's individual needs and preferences. The following recipes should assist you in creating your own personal "family favorite."

CURRIED SHRIMP FILLING

- 4 croissants
- 3 tablespoons butter

Chicken a la King rules roost

Around the turn of the century, legend has it, Chicken a la King was concocted by a chef at a beach hotel outside of New York City. Its popularity spread.

By the time the 1920s rolled around, Chicken a la King was considered one of the most festive of dishes.

And it became even more elegant when the toast points it was originally served with were replaced by puffpaste patty shells.

Soy protein 'not a risk'

By BRENDA C. COLEMAN

Research has suggested soy protein may reduce the body's ability to absorb iron, but a new study by the Agriculture Department contradicts that finding.

"No one knowledgeable about human nutrition thought there would be any risk from using soy protein," said Dr. C.E. Bodwell, one of six USDA researchers who conducted the study. "Yet it's a question that had to be addressed.

Millions of school children and military personnel consume ground meat extended with soy protein each year.

Not only does soy extender increase the protein content of ground meat, it saves schools and the Defense Department more than $35 million each year, Bodwell said.

The researchers presented their findings at the 67th annual meeting of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology. A 1981 study at the University of Kansas in Kansas City had indicated that soy protein additives in ground meat patties inhibit the body's absorption of iron by 53 percent to 61 percent.

That result "was greatly exaggerated — it's not what happens in the real world." Bodwell said. He said the conclusions were based on levels of iron measured after a single meal instead of over a long

Also, the soy in that study had been added in dry form to meat, instead of being reconstituted with water before being mixed

The question of iron absorption is most important for two groups: youngsters and women of childbearing age.

The new research covered a six-month period, and included 52 families who consumed ground beef patties composed of 20 percent soy protein. USDA researchers found no significant change in iron absorption levels as compared to 62 family members who consumed 100 percent ground meat.

'Some clinical parameters show a statistically significant change over the 180 days of the study," the researcher said. "However, all changes were in the direction of improved iron status." Bodwell said a recent survey showed schools use more soy extender than the USDA originally estimated.

"Some schools toss it into tuna salad and egg salad," he said.
"It's a very high source of protein 50 percent.

In the military, 15 percent of all personnel are women of child-bearing age, the researchers said.

The Kansas City study never raised doubts serious enough to cause soy to be dropped from school lunches or military menus, Bodwell said.

Co-authors of the study were Carolyn W. Miles, Eugene R. Morris, W. Mertz, J.J. Canary and E.S. Prather,

Lean ground beef prepared in winning ways

Imaginative ground beef dishes win a copy of "Slim Gourmet Sweets & Treats" cookbook in Slim Gourmet Reader Recipe Contest.

Ground meat recipes are particularly useful for dietwise cooks, because you can control the fat and calorie content of the meat by having it ground to

To get the least fattening hamburger, choose a lean bottom round roast or roundsteak and have it trimmed of all fat, then ground. While this is more expensive and less convenient than choosing ready-ground beef, the calorie savings are worth

Ordinary hamburger can be 30 percent fat, about 1,600 calories a pound. Fat-trimmed ground round, on the other hand, is only half

1 teaspoon dried oregano 1/4 teaspoon each: dried thyme and basil

Salt, pepper, to taste 2 medium zucchini, unpeeled

4 ounces part-skim mozzarella, shredded 4 ounces lowfat

cottage cheese 2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese

Brown meat in a large nonstick skillet with no added fat. Turn to brown evenly, breaking into small chunks. Drain and discard fat from pan.

Add onion, garlic, tomatoes, mushrooms, juice, wine and seasonings. Simmer uncovered, 15 minutes or until reduced to a thick saucy mixture.

Meanwhile, slice zucchini in flat quarterinch thick lengthwise slices. Arrange half of zucchini in an 8-inch square nonstick baking pan which has been sprayed with cooking spray. Add a layer of half the mozzarella, then half the cottage cheese, then half the meat mixture.

Repeat these 4 layers. Sprinkle with Parmesan. Bake uncovered, 40 minutes at 350 degrees. Let rest 5 minutes before cutting to serve. Makes four servings, 185 calories each.

Entertaining overnight guests can be lots of fun. But it also means extra work for the entire family, particularly the cook.

Here to help is a new time-saving way of cooking. By preparing extra meat and rice for dinner the night your guests arrive, the next night's meal can be ready-to-eat in minutes.

To start, choose complimentary main dishes. Because chicken and rice have a natural affinity for one another, Brandied Chicken With Confetti Rice (Meal 1) and Mexicali Chicken Rice Salad (Meal 2) work well together. Each dish also is unique in taste and appearance, an important considertion. BRANDIED CHICKEN

Surprise! This souffle is easy

Some of the most notable dishes ever to be created have suffered from a mystique that prevents timid cooks from trying them at home. The souffle is a prime example, reputed to be difficult, temperamental.

Coming to the rescue is a Swiss Cheese Surprise Souffle that can be assembled ahead, frozen, and brought from freezer to oven and from oven to table.

SWISS CHEESE SURPRISE SOUFFLE

3 tablespoons butter or margarine 1/4 cup flour

1/2 teaspoon salt

14 teaspoon pepper

1/2 cup heavy cream 2 cups dry vermouth or dry white wine

2 cups coarsely grated Switzerland Swiss (Emmentaler) or Natural Gruyere cheese or 1 cup

4 eggs, separated 1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar

Melt butter in heavy pan, add flour, salt and pepper; stir over medium heat until well-blended. Slowly stir in cream and vermouth and cook, stirring, over low heat until thickened and smooth. Stir in grated cheese a handful at a time; cook, stirring, over low heat until cheese melts; remove

Beat egg yolks until thick; combine with cheese mixture. Beat egg whites slightly, add cream of tartar, beat until stiff. Carefully fold egg whites into cheese mixture. Pour into ungreased 1-quart freezer-to-oven casserole. Cover; place in freezer. When ready to bake, remove from freezer and place frozen into 325 degree F oven, removing cover. Bake 1 hour and 20 minutes or until well risen.

Serve immediately. Makes 4-6 servings.

If using two 2-cup casseroles or four 1-cup souffle dishes, frozen, bake less time, 40-45 minutes, or until well risen.

If baking immediately, put in buttered souffle dish, bake in moderate oven, 375 degree F until souffle is well risen, about 40-45 minutes for 1-quart casserole, less for individual souffles.

Foil collars should be made for each souffle, about 2 inches high. To make souffle "pop" — or have a higher hat — run the tip of a knife 1 inch in from the edge of foil collar, making a groove.

coarsely chopped 1 soft avocado (optional)

Cut chicken breasts into %-inch pieces. Combine chicken, rice, green pepper, chilies and olives. Blend sour cream, vinegar and salt. Stir into rice mixture; chill. Before serving, stir in tomato. If desired, peel avocado; remove seed. Cut avocado lengthwise into 4-inch slices; cut each slice in thirds. Stir into rice mixture. Makes 6 servings.

Side dish turned into entree

Tabbouleh, a classic Middle Eastern dish, is transformed from a side dish into a flavorful, light entree. Drawing on the culinary ingenuity of California-style cuisine, traditional ingredients are enhanced by fresh new ones, to create an imaginative one-dish meal for spring and summer outdoor menus.

Spring Tabbouleh Salad blends the crunchy texture of bulgur wheat, an Eastern menu mainstay, with garden-fresh California vegetables, herbs and seasonings, then adds a surprise ingredient: yogurt.

SPRING TABBOULEH SALAD

1 cup bulgur wheat 1/2 cup each finely chopped green onion, green pepper and

Onions . flower for dip

Something special that speaks of spring is in the crackly goodness and fresh wholesomeness of a sweet, mild onion.

In addition to being nutritious, an onion is a good source of fiber.

If you want an exciting beginning for your next get-together, the Onion Petal Relish with Olive Cream Dip will be unique and exciting.

To make a flowerlike onion centerpiece, peel a large spring onion. With a sharp knife, cut off the top of the onion. Make several crisscross cuts from top to bottom, cutting almost through the onion. Drop into ice water. If desired, tint water with the food coloring of your choice. Chill several hours.

When ready to serve, remove onion from ice water and place on relish tray. Spread onion petals to form full bloom "flower." The petals are broken apart with the fingers and eaten with olive cream dip. The recipe follows:

OLIVE CREAM DIP 1 cup thick sour cream ¼ cup mayonnaise 1 teaspoon

Worcestershire sauce 14 teaspoon salt

¼ teaspoon basil 2 tablespoons finely minced stuffed olives Dombine sour cream and mayonnaise. Add remaining ingredients and blend well.

Snacks, if nutritious, can be good for children

Snacking has become a way of life for many Americans. For both children and adults snacks may either supplant or supplement regular meals.

A child's snack day might begin, for example, with a "fruit" drink (primarily colored sugar water) and a cookie in place of breakfast and end with potato chips and soft drink eaten while watching an evening TV show. In between there may be other equally non-nutritious snacks.

Yet snacking isn't necessarily bad for children. In fact many youngsters need between-meal food because they have small appetites and small capacities for food. They simply can't eat enough at a meal to hold them over until the next meal or to give them all the food they need for growth and activities.

Because the average child gets as much as 1/4 to 1/3 of the day's calories from snacks, it's vitally important that the snacks be foods that provide other nutrients besides calories. Snacks should give children protein, vitamins, minerals and fiber.

Timing of snacks is important too. Snacks should be provided when children are hungry, but not so close to a meal that their appetite is spoiled for that meal.

Snack times can be used to include foods that are rejected at mealtimes but are needed for good nutrition. Fresh fruits and vegetables are an example. New foods may be accepted more easily by a child who is a fussy eater if they are offered first as a snack.

Making snacks count requires some thought and planning. And buying good-for-you snack foods instead of foods that have few nutrients other than calories will actually save you money.

Children enjoy selecting their own snacks, so have a variety of nutritious foods on hand for them to choose from. Here are some examples:

*Fruits - use fresh fruits in season. Cut up fruit for small children. Dried fruits such as prunes, apricots, and raisins also are nutritious snacks but tend to stick to the teeth and may contribute to tooth decay if not removed by tooth brushing immediately after they're eaten.

*Vegetables - All types of raw veggies can be pre-prepared and available in the refrigerator for munching. Try cherry tomatoes, jicama, zucchini, green pepper strips, cabbage wedges, cauliflower flowerettes, along with the familiar carrot and celery sticks.

*Milk products milk to drink, yogurt, cheese slices, cottage cheese (flavored with yogurt, for example).
Grain products -

whole grain or enriched breads, crackers, tortillas, unsweetened cereal (puffed wheat and puffed rice, for example, make excellent, whole grain, no-sugar snacks). popcorn, bran muffins, and homemade cookies containing ingredients such as oatmeal, bran, dry milk, peanut butter, nuts, and raisins.

Protein foods peanut butter (try it on apple slices, celery, or crackers), nuts, hard dooked eggs, cooked meats.

Seniors focus of market guide

In 1980 more than 25.5 million Americans were over the age of 65. By the year 2000, this group is expected to number 35 million. Ninety-five percent of older citizens live in independent households in the community and represent, as consumers, $26 billion in food sales.

As a result of these statistics and other research trends, the Food Marketing Institute (FMI) and the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) developed a joint program designed to help food retailers better understand and meet the needs of older consumers

The institute believes it is important to work with an organization such as AARP in developing this program because of their involvement with and understanding of older citizens.

Program suggestions came from food retailers who have already established community programs to serve older citizens. The project was guided by an advisory committee of both FMI and AARP members. In addition, input from the food marketing industry came from the consumer affairs, home economics, advertising, communications and personnel training sectors of

The program package, titled "Aging — Everybody's Doing It: A Supermarket Guide to Older Shoppers," provides suggestions and ideas for store level and community programs to enhance the shopping experience of older consumers. The program is divided into four specialized Community Program Guide for Supermarkets. This booklet provides specific information and ideas on how to establish community-based programs to meet the shopping needs of older consumers.

- Store Manager's Guide offers specific suggestions to improve store services and enhance the shopping environment to make the trip easier and more enjoyable for older consumers.

Store Employee's Guide highlights the physical and social changes that occur with age. It offers simple and practical tips for employees on how to provide extra assistance to older shoppers.

Make Your Food Dollars Count is a consumer information brochure designed to help older persons get the most nutrition for their food dollar. It includes a menu plan and shopping list for budget conscious consumers.

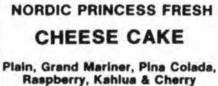

Even though research has revealed that older men and women generally have a positive attitude toward supermarket shopping, they do have some unique needs. This joint FMI-AARP program seeks to identify these needs and to enhance the shopping experience of older consumers.

Give eggs European overtone

America consumes more eggs than any country in the world, and eggs are increasingly in demand as a substitute for high-priced meat and

All egg dishes are not cheap, of course. Fried or boiled, they may be easy on the pocketbook. But there are also gourmet specialties like Eggs Benedict on a ham bed and smothered in Hollandaise sauce, or eggs in aspic, where poached eggs are molded with slices of pate de foie gras or fancifully cut truffles.

A classic egg dish is the omelet that lends itself to innumerable variations by adding fresh herbs, grated cheese, bits of fish, poultry, meat or vegetables.

A cousin of the omelet is scrambled eggs that are soft and creamy only if they are cooked as slowly as possible.

One popular version is Scotch Woodcock in which scallions, parsley, anchovies and capers combine with scrambled eggs to create a dish with continental overtones.

Festive brunch frugal

When you are looking for a way to entertain that is economical and novel, why not pick a weekend morning to prepare a festive brunch? Our recipe is for Herb Sauced Eggs and Ham, a simple poached egg variation. High among the favorite continental brunch dishes of fine restaurants are poached eggs, set on split toasted English muffins, with sauteed ham slices, all topped with a rich sauce.

HERB SAUCED EGGS AND HAM

1 freeze-dried packet pesto sauce 2 tablespoons butter

margarine

2 tablespoons flour 1 cup milk

Salt and pepper 4 English muffins, split and toasted 8 slices ham, sauteed in 2 tablespoons butter or margarine

8 poached eggs

Prepare pesto mix according to package directions. In a saucepan melt butter and stir in flour. Gradually stir in milk and prepared sauce. Stir over low heat until sauce bubbles and thickens. Season to taste with salt and pepper.

Top English muffin halves with sauteed ham slices and poached eggs. Spoon over pesto sauce. Serve at once garnished with parsley. Makes 4 servings.

Chilean Salad sweet 'n' spicy

This surprising combination of fruits and vegetables makes a nutritious luncheon salad.

Thinly sliced Spanish onions are tossed with table grapes and other fruits and vegetables to create a Chilean Grape Salad sweet and spicy, just the way South Americans like their food.

If you wish to add some hearty protein to this lunch, toss in chunks of cooked chicken or turkey, and for a perfect complement to this South American salad, serve corn muffins fresh from the oven. CHILEAN GRAPE SALAD 2 cups halved seedless green or seeded red grapes

1/2 cup thin slices sweet red

1/2 cup thin strips red or green sweet pepper
1/2 cup thin half slices

1 quart small lettuce leaves, or coarsely shredded lettuce 1 large firm-ripe banana

Herbed Dressing Use seedless green or red grapes or a combination of both. Rinse and stem grapes; seed red grapes if used. Leave grapes whole or cut in half as desired. Prepare vegetables and chill along with grapes. When ready to serve, turn lettuce into chilled salad bowl. Peel and slice banana. Arrange grapes, banana and vegetables on lettuce. Toss with Herbed Dressing when served. Makes 4 servings. Herbed Dressing: Beat together well: ¼ cup garlic flavored wine vinegar, ¼ cup salad oil, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1/2 teaspoon seasoned salt, 1/4 teaspoon finely crumbled oregano and 3 drops liquid hot pepper sauce. Beat again before

Variation: Add 1 cup strips cooked chicken or ham, if

Storms affect market

The series of storms that hit California and the other parts of the country during February and March are catching up with us now in terms of short supplies of fresh vegetables.

Many of the leafy green vegetable varieties will continue on an upand-down market until mid-June reflecting times when growers were unable to get into their flooded fields to

On the other hand, the first sign of summer sunshine is seen with some early varieties of fresh fruits becoming available.

Harvest has started on the California cherry crop, although volume on the early Burlat variety is extremely light because of the heavy rains during the critical part of the growing season. By the end of May the Bing cherries are expected to be in good production and if the weather remains clear it should be a good season for cherries.

The crisp, green apple from New Zealand, the Granny Smith, will start appearing in the stores this week. Prices on this excellent quality eating apple are expected to come within range of the domestic apples. Prices will be lower on both the red and golden delicious apples and quality is remaining consistently Northern California are showing up in light supplies. Production will pick up by next week and prices should gradually start coming down.

The tomato market has been fluctuating regularly. Supplies from Mexico are dwindling steadily while the California growing districts are slowly getting under way. Meanwhile, prices should remain high but look for better buys on the smaller sizes.

Short supplies and high prices are the result of a rain gap in lettuce crops. Iceberg, romaine, red and green leaf lettuces are suffering from the early spring wet weather. Consumers will continue to see scarcities one week and good supplies another which will characterize the lettuce market until mid-June.

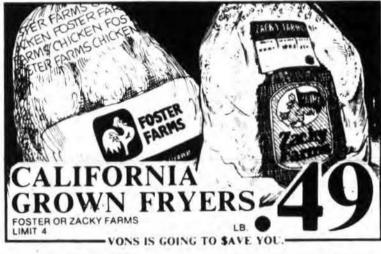

On the other hand, green onions, parsley, cabbage, leeks and carrots are good values in the vegetable departments this week. All of these items are reasonably priced, good quality and fresh from local farms.

Prices are reasonable and supplies are good on the new crop White Rose potatoes from Bakersfield. The new crop of Red Rose and russet potatoes are expected to start harvest time in about two weeks. Yellow onions are plentiful and extremely reasonable. Both yellow and white onions are coming from the desert growing districts and the quality is excellent.

int of mint refreshing

For after-dinner flavors, mint is most likely America's favorite. Here are two dinner-capping desserts blending this refreshing flavor with summer's freshest green eating apple — Cape Granny Smith

One spectacular dessert is a Frozen Apple Ice Milk Pie. A chocolate wafer crust is filled with shredded apple and ice milk laced with creme de menthe. The deep green color of the filling and the chocolate cookies lining the sides create a striking color contrast for refreshing warm weather fare.

Minted Poached Apples, a dish that's every bit as elegant as it is easy to prepare, pleases mint and apple lovers alike. Refrigerated before serving, the minted apples can be used as a sophisticated dessert or as a side dish with package (8½ ounces) chocolate wafers

2 large Granny Smith apples, cored, pared and shredded (2 cups)

2 tablespoons green creme de menthe*

3 pints vanilla ice milk,

softened slightly 1 Granny Smith apple, sliced Chocolate wafer crumbs Fresh mint leaves

Line bottom and sides of a 9-inch pie plate with chocolate wafers, cutting cookies where necessary to fill in spaces. In a large bowl, toss apples with creme de menthe. Blend in softened ice milk; mix well.

Spoon into prepared pie shell. Freeze until firm (about 2 hours). Garnish with apple slices, chocolate wafer crumbs or mint leaves. Yield: 8 servings.

*Substitute ¼ teaspoon peppermint extract and green food coloring for creme de menthe, if desired.

MINTED POACHED APPLES

2 cups sugar 2 cups water 1 cinnamin stick (1-inch) 4 Granny Smith apples, pared and left whole

1/2 cup mint jelly In large saucepan, combine sugar, water and cinnamon stick. Heat, stirring to dissolve sugar. Bring to boiling; boil, uncovered, 5 minutes; stir in vanilla. Add apples, simmer, uncovered, over low heat, stirring frequently, about 20 to 30 minutes, until apples are tender.

Remove and drain on paper towels. In small saucepan melt jelly. Brush jelly on apples, coating well. Chill before serving. Yield: 4 servings.

> Delectably cooling and light on calories, Frozen Apple Ice Milk Pie makes an ideal dessert for hot summer days.

Cream puffs just simple dessert mix

These cream puffs can be made ahead, kept refrigerated and served at a planned occasion or spur-of-the-moment entertaining. There are many reasons for Washington's rapid growth as a wine producing region, but the main one is that the wines are exceptional, and the potential is there for even better wines. Washington's vineyards are located on an almost identical latitude line with the great vineyards of France, and climatically the region is actually better suited to growing certain varieties than in California.

Andre Tchelistcheff. often called the "dean of California winemakers," has long been a consultant to the Washington wine industry. He noted, "The Northwest will eventually have a finer international reputation as a wine region than California, because California is saddled with the sins of the past . and Andre Tchelistcheff is one of those sins." One of those California "sins" Andre was referring to, was the California practice of naming American wines after European winegrowing regions, Burgundy, Chablis and Champagne being three examples. Washington and Oregon have not made that mistake. By regulation, no socalled generic wines are made using European place-names. The wineries of the Northwest are doing their own thing, making stylistic, individual wines, and using unique appellations, with no copy-cat European names.

Their technology and viticulture are the most modern, and they are not saddled with old equipment, technology or ideas.

Andre's inclusion of himself as one of the sins meant only that he had been a part of the pioneer California industry that traded on those old practices and old ideas. Andre is a very young thinker for a man who has been making wine for over half a century.

Could thwart Lebanon withdrawal agreement

By The Associated Press

Syria announced today it will not receive U.S. presidential envoy Philip C. Habib, calling "one of the most hostile American officials," and Libya recalled its ambassador from Beirut to protest Lebanon's troop withdrawal pact with Israel.

But Syria, which has denounced the Lebanese-Israeli accord signed Tuesday, also eased its blockade of Lebanon's roads to the rest of the Arab world.

President Reagan dispatched Habib to the Middle East for an effort to persuade Syrian troops to pull out of Lebanon. Unless Syria and the Palestine Liberation Organization agree to withdraw their forces, the Israeli-Lebanese agreement will not take effect.

A statement issued in Damascus through Syria's official news agency said the government would not receive Habib "because we have nothing to discuss with him, and especially because he is one of the most hostile American officials to the Arabs and their causes.

According to the Beirut newspaper Al-Amal, which is affiliated with the Christian Phalange Party of President Amin Gemayel, Habib was to go to Damascus Thursday.

As the Habib ban was announced, the Libyan Embassy in Beirut said that Col. Moammar

It said the Libyan government also had asked Lebanese Ambassador Nizar Farhat to leave Tripoli, the Libyan capital.

The leftist Lebanese newspaper As-Safir, which reported the recall before it was confirmed, said Libya also "has asked the Arab League to apply against Lebanon the same measures taken against Egypt when it signed its peace treaty with Israel" - measures which included an economic boycott.

Meanwhile, Lebanese police reported that Syria had relaxed a day-old blockade of road traffic between Lebanon and the rest of the Arab world.

Police in Beirut said the coastal highway linking the capital with Syrian-controlled northern Lebanon was reopened for normal traffic at daybreak today.

Local taxicab services in Beirut reported trips to Syria on the northern highway resumed. But they said travel on the main international highway through Syrian-controlled areas of the central Lebanese mountains remained suspended for a second straight day.

Lebanon and Israel on Tuesday signed a U.S.-mediated agreement calling for the withdrawal of Israel's 25,000 troops from Lebanon. The Khadafy's government had agreement will not be recalled Ambassador Saleh Drouki from the Lebanese Palestine Liberation Organization withdraw their estimated 50,000 troops from Lebanon, and Syria thus far has rejected the accord.

Syria and Libya, both allied with the Soviet Union, were the only Arab countries to react angrily to the signing of the withdrawal accord. Other Arab countries either have declared support for Lebanon or kept the recent publicity given the state's functional literacy tests for students. "The standardized testing disease has reached an epidemic stage and is causing premature death by testing strangulation," says education professor Walter Mercer at redominantly black Florida A&M University.

Mercer and other black educators find it alarming that 65 percent of the black applicants flunked Florida's teacher-licensing test given in February, compared to a 10 percent failure rate for whites.

Despite objections from black educators, Gov. Bob Graham and the six-member state Cabinet ordered the exam upgraded so it's tougher to pass. The governor and all-white Cabinet school board denied their serve as Florida's Board of Education. Those who fail the teacher test, such as Johnson, can teach up to three years with temporary licenses - if they can find jobs.

"If I don't pass the test in June, I'm out," sums up Johnson, 49, fearing her contract won't be renewed. Johnson, who attended Florida

A&M, first took the exam last October and again in February. She teaches third- and fourth-graders who have learning disabilities at an elementary school in Perry, about 50 miles south of Tallahassee.

The four-part test covers math, reading, writing and professional abilities. Applicants, who may take the test as many times as they want, must pass all four parts. Twenty states have teacher licensing exams, and racial disparity in results is a national concern, says Chris Pipho of the Education Commission of the States in Denver.

Anti-test litigation is pending in Alabama and North Carolina, and civil rights leaders have threatened to sue over Florida's exam.

Some black educators are also troubled by the state's plan to withdraw certification from teacher training programs that have produced too many graduates who failed the licensing test.

"From a public relations standpoint, it would be disastrous," predicts Florida A&M Education Dean Joseph Martin. "Decertification would seriously damage the employability of our students."

Last fall, fewer than one-third of Florida A&M's teacher graduates ssed the licensing test.

Florida also wants high school students to pass a literacy test in order to receive a diploma. The state announced Tuesday it will deny diplomas to 1,300 high school seniors who flunked the test in March, the last time the test was given for this year's graduating class.

U.S. District Judge George C. Carr then refused to interfere with the state's decision, denying a request for an injunction while opponents of the exam appeal.

Two-thirds of those students who failed the test are black, although blacks comprise only one-fifth of Florida's student population. The exam, introduced in 1977, was designed to find out if high school students had learned minimum skills needed to function in society, such as making change, writing checks and calculating interest.

Nationally, the Florida literacy test ruling was viewed as a victory for state authority to establish education standards and a setback for testing critics such as the National Education Association, a teachers' union.

"It's unfair to use a single instrument, such as a test, to determine one's future," says Frances Quinto, a professional associate at NEA headquarters in Washington.

But despite criticism by civil rights lawyers and some educators, increased use of standardized tests enjoys widespread public support.

Targeted bank now an arcade

ISLA VISTA (AP) - The former Bank of America branch in Isla Vista that was burned down during student anti-war riots in 1970 has been turned into a video game arcade.

The establishment opened for business Friday under the management of Food and Fun, a local firm that operates similar game parlors in the Santa Barbara County communities of Carpinteria and Solvang.

Food and Fun is leasing the stone-and-masonry building from the bank, which closed its office last August and transferred deposits to a nearby branch. Bank officials cited duplication of services and a lack of business during summer months as the reason for closing the branch in Isla Vista, a Santa Barbara suburb where many University of California-Santa Barbara students live.

Her harvest not off the hook

HESPERIA (AP) - Get Gayle Brockman talking about her farm, and you're really opening up a can of worms - or seven beds of them, to be exact.

Mrs. Brockman, her husband Jerry and her father James Lawler raise the slimy little critters by the thousands and sell them to gardeners, pet stores and, of course, fishermen. The latter clients apparently prompted Mrs. Brockman to name the enterprise the Happy Hooker Worm Farm.

On an individual basis, worms have a way of turning up in places people least want to see them—apples, tomatoes and sidewalks after it rains. But mass producing them is another matter entirely, and not an easy one.

"It takes lots of water, lots of manure and lots and lots of work," Mrs. Brockman says. Without proper feeding and care, worms won't grow, mature and reproduce. At the Happy Hooker farm, Red Wigglers are

At least once every two weeks, Mrs. Brockman and her family use pitchforks to turn the soil in the beds - a task performed by special machines at larger worm farms. More manure has to be spread regularly over each bed to keep the worms plump and happy.

Every 30 days — weather permitting — the beds are harvested with a special worm harvester consisting of a rotating screen cylinder. The machine separates the worms from their castings and puts the creatures into boxes at one end of the cylinder. The collected worms are sorted so that breeders and immature worms can be returned to the beds. The salable worms, which measure about two inches long and one-eighth inch in diameter, are cleaned, counted, weighed and placed in cartons of moist peat moss for shipping.

Laguna's not kidding about nylon freeway

County realizing driving ambition?

By KAREN E. KLEIN

If current growth patterns persist, Orange County some day will be the car capital of the nation, experts predict.

And with that distinction will undoubtedly come more smog and more traffic, they say, but

Recens statistics from the California Department of Motor Vehicles show that, just as you expected, the Golden State has more cars than anybody - 13,292,130 on the books for 1982, to be exact. And Californians drove 165,-(See COUNTY, Page A2)

Orange County firefighters come to the aid of "victims" injured in a staged train wreck

County learns from 'disaster'

By PHIL SNEIDERMAN Of the Daily Pilot Staff

There was a major train wreck at the Orange County International Raceway near Irvine Tuesday, involving 100 victims.

The U.S. Marines, California Highway Patrol, county sheriff's deputies and firefighters, Irvine police, six ambulance companies, eight hospitals and Orange County Transit District buses took part in the massive rescue and treatment efforts. Fortunately, the "accident" was only a drill, part of a countywide mass casualty test designed to determine how local health and safety staffs would cope if three serious incidents occurred simultaneously. In addition to the train wreck (staged with buses), a high-rise fire was simulated in Orange, and a shooting and hostage crisis was enacted in Buena Park.

'The preliminary indications are that this was a good exercise," said county spokesman John Bushman. He said the results of (See DISASTER, Page A2)

The mercury was expected to top the 90-degree mark in inland Orange County for the second day in a row today, with National Weather Service forecasters saying it will be only a degree or two cooler Thursday.

The heated air prompted Orange County Fire Department officials to issue a red flag warning for brush fires in highrisk areas of the county.

. Department spokesman Jeff Taylor said a red flag alert may be issued late today as strong winds and high temperatures

The alert would send firefighters and inspectors to patrol wilderness and undeveloped areas, looking for

A high sure ridge off the coast sparked the season's first Santa Ana winds, and Tuesday's temperatures were just four degrees shy of a record 96 degrees recorded in Los Angeles May 17, 1982.

So far, the winds have kept the smog at bay, but Jim Birakos, deputy executive officer of the South Coast Air Quality Management District, predicts some unhealthful air beginning Thursday — especially in the Los Angeles basin area.

Southern California's spring

smog season is more than a month old, but AQMD officials say it's been one of the clearest on record.

Bullet train noise 'would be muffled'

By GLENN SCOTT Of the Delty Pilot Staff

A high-speed bullet train would pass through Irvine in an eight-foot-deep trench meant to muffle noise, promoters of the proposed system promised Irvine residents Tuesday night.

The trench would be excavated through most of Irvine and Tustin, said Lawrence Gilson, president of sponsoring American High Speed Rail Corp. It would include room for lowering the existing Santa Fe Railway tracks, which Gilson noted has been a city goal for several years. Speaking at an Irvine City Council study session — in a hot and stuffy meeting room at Deerfield Elementary School — Gilson said feasibility studies on lowering the tracks were finished only last week.

His promise to foot the bill for the multi-million dollar trench project is the first public works commitment made so far to any community along the proposed Los Angeles-to-San Diego line (See BULLET, Page A2)

NB tap water has 'pool level' chlorine

Officials say it's 'not unusual'

By STEVE MARBLE
Of the Daily Pilot Staff

Chlorine at swimming pool levels has been discovered in Newport Beach drinking water but city water quality authorities report the amount of chlorine is neither high nor unusual.

The chlorine level, which has been measured at one part per million in areas of the beach city, was brought into question when a Corona del Mar pool supply company owner was trying out a chlorine test kit.

The kit repeatedly showed city tap water registering chlorine levels equally the amount of chlorine commonly used to sustain a swimming pool.

Peter Antista, a city water quality expert, said the city strives to keep chlorine levels between .2 and .8 parts per million but that levels sometimes are higher. Michael Wehner, a health specialist with Orange County's Division of Environmental (See WATER, Page A2)

DISASTER DRILL . . .

Tuesday's drill will be evaluated by the county's Mass Casualty Incidents Committee.

In the train wreck exercise, the volunteer "victims" were examined and tagged according to the seriousness of their injuries.

They were then transported to eight hospitals, including Hoag Memorial. Costa Mesa Medical Center, South Coast Medical Center, Mission Community, Saddleback Community and San Clemente General. The hospital staffs were tested on how they would respond to an unexpected influx of seriously injured people.

Bushman said one aim on Tuesday was to see how local health and safety workers would respond if they could not depend on the help of neighboring cities, which were tied up with their own emergencies.

"We learned a lot yesterday," he said. "There are still a few things to be ironed out in the system. But that's what we hoped this drill would show us.

like the 24-mile nylon fence Christo created in northern California.

"All he can do is say no," Bellerue shrugged. That prompted Mayor Robert Gentry to quip, "it's got to be easier than wrapping all those islands."

The mayor was referring to the artist's latest project surrounding 11 Islands in Florida's Biscayne Bay with hot pink colored plastic.

City Manager Ken Frank said he'd write a letter for the mayor's signature. In the meantime, the council approved spending $500 for posts, signs and paint to illustrate the size of the proposed route to motorists on Laguna Canyon and El Toro

WATER CHLORINE. . .

Health, said research shows chlorine can reach levels of 50 parts per million in drinking water before being considered a health hazard.

He said residents closest to reservoirs typically get higher doses of chlorine than water users "further down the line."

In Newport Beach, all the drinking water is purchased from the Metropolitan Water District. Some of the purchased water, Antista said, is stored at the Big Canyon Reservoir on the east side of Upper Newport Bay.

Water first chlorinated by MWD is re-chlorinated at the reservoir, where it sometimes sits for up to 14 days before being

Trash fees going up again

By JEFF ADLER
of the Delly Pilot Steff
Trashy as it may seem, the cost of throwing it away in Orange County will be going up July 1. Dumping fees will be increased at county landfills, the Board of Supervisors agreed Tuesday, to more fully recover the costs of running the county's dumps.

Supervisors voted 3-1 to increase the gate fee from $4.90 per ton to $6 per ton while the fee at transfer stations will be increased from $8.50 to $13.25 per ton. The $1 surcharge per ton for hard-to-handle loads will remain the same.

A gate fee at the county dumps first was instituted last October by the board. Orange County had been the only county in the state that didn't charge cities, commercial haulers and the public for using its landfills.

Waste management operations cost the county nearly $10 million in 1981-82, the last year the county picked up the entire tab, said Ron Rubino, assistant to the director of the county General Services Agency.

Acting over the objections of Supervisor Thomas Riley, the board adopted the fee schedule recommended by the county's

Waste Management Advisory Committee, composed largely of representatives from the county's 26 cities.

Riley opposed the action because he favored the higher fee suggested by the GSA staff or some guarantee that the fee structure would be reviewed by the board next year.

In order to recover the full costs for operating the landfills, the county would have to assess a fee of $7 per ton at the dumps or a $16.60 transfer fee, Rubino

OC child welfare overhauled

By JEFF ADLER of the Delty Pilot Staff

Adopting what was characterized as a "whole new approach" to Orange County's child welfare system, the Board of Supervisors approved a major overhaul Tuesday.

Child welfare and other social services intended to protect abused and neglected children will be restructured under the plan to emphasize reunifying children with their families maintaining the fanily unit under close supervision, while minimizing the court's intrusion into such matters, explained county Social Services Agency Director Larry Leaman.

The overhaul was prompted by new stats and federal law that required the changes.

Supervisors unanimously approved the plan, which calls for the hiring of 48 additional employees. Among those to be hired are 21 social workers and 10 supervisors.

The cost of the changes will add $1.3 million to the agency's budget for the coming fiscal year, Leaman said.

COUNTY BECOMING CAR CAPITAL?

330,000 miles last year.

Also not surprising is the fact that Los Angeles County has the most cars registered in the state - 4,044,469.

What may be surprising, though, is the phenomenal increase in car ownership in Orange County, said DMV spokesman George Farnham. Since 1946, when Orange County was primarily an agricultural area with 64,697 cars registered, automobiles in the county have mushroomed to 1,198,397 as of last year.

That makes Orange County number two, next to Los Angeles County, in the number of cars registered nationwide.

But if Orange County continues to grow the way it has over the years, it will undoubtedly catch up to Los Angeles, said Al Whigham, the DMV's Southern California regional manager. It's only a matter of time. Does that mean the county will become the highway death capital as well?

Not necessarily, say safety researchers at the Automobile Club of Southern California. Even though registrations and total miles driven increased statewide last year, highway fatalities and injury accidents decreased drastically, said

Steve Bloch, an AAA researcher. So there is no direct relationship between number of cars registered and number of highway deaths and injuries, he said. And, if its any consolation, areas with heavy traffic patterns usually don't have high death rates - the cars can't travel fast enough to cause serious injuries

olon to dedicate senior center

Congressman Claude Pepper will visit Irvine Saturday to lend his considerable prestige to dedication ceremonies for a new wing of the Irvine Senior Center.

Organizers of the event — which includes a ribbon cutting, box lunch, tree planting ceremony and banquet — are clearly pleased that Pepper,

D-Fla., agreed to appear.

Jim Felton, chairman of the senior council and the one who arranged Pepper's visit, calls the hero" for old people. He said Pepper is the congressional voice of senior citizens.

Pepper is scheduled to give a speech at the banquet on the status of seniors in the United States, with a discussion on recently passed legislation on Social Security.

Admission to the 7 p.m. banquet at the center is $50 per person. Proceeds will go toward the center's operating expenses.

So far, 100 seats have been reserved; many by Orange County-based corporations.

The senior center, at 3 Sandburg Way, has been expanded to include more meeting and office space as well as a larger kitchen. The improvements cost $284,000, of which the city paid $50,000. The remaining money came from a state parklands fund created by voters last year.

The dedication ceremonies will begin Saturday with entertainment at 10:30 a.m. and opening ceremonies, including the ribbon cutting, at 11 a.m.

The $3 per person box lunch will be served at 11:30 a.m. (reservations are required) and planting of a star pine tree in memory of center founder Isadore Schneider will begin at 12:30 p.m.

People wishing to make reservations should call the center immediately at 660-3889.

HB hospital aids local charities

Eleven charitable organizations have received checks totaling $3,-525 from Humana Hospital Huntington Beach (formerly called Huntington Intercommunity.) The organizations were selected from among more than 30 agencies which applied for the grants by an advisory panel consisting of hospital representatives and civic leaders. Receiving awards were Huntington Beach Community Clinic; L.Y.N.N. — Love Your Neighbor Now (Huntington Beach); Boys and Girls Clubs of Huntington Beach-Fountain Valley; Oak View Benevolent Fund (Huntington Beach); Huntington Beach Council on Aging; Assistance League of Huntington Beach.

Also receiving grants were Mission Successful for Multiple Sclerosis (Huntington Beach); Harbor Area Adult Day Care Center (Costa Mesa); Interval House (Seal Beach); Hospice Orange County (Laguna Hills); and Community Advisory Committee for Special Education (Huntington Beach.)

The grants range from $250 to $500 each.

Hospital Executive Director Michael B. McCallister said the funds for the community grants program were made available by Humana, Inc. of Louisville, Ky., a national hospital management company

Rummage sale aids prom party

A rummage sale to benefit the Senior All Night Party at Laguna Beach High School will be held Saturday from 8 a.m. p.m. in the parking lot across from the high school. Sale items include clothing, household items, furniture,

Auto workers elect new president today

By The Associated Press

DALLAS — The United Auto Workers union readied for a historic changing of the guard today as delegates prepared to elect a new president and five other top officials. President Douglas A. Fraser, 66, and the others are retiring because union rules prohibit re-election of officers over 65 years old.

Fraser's designated successor, selected late last year by the UAW's 26-member executive board, is Owen Bieber, 53, vice president in charge of the UAW's General Motors Corp. department. Bieber said earlier this week he was confident he would be elected. There were no other formal candidates, although traditionally dissidents nominate one on the floor the day of the vote.

Jobless figures encouraging

WASHINGTON — Bureau of Labor Statistics show that 41 of 50 states had higher unemployment last March than the same month in 1982, but the changes were not considered extreme by statisticians, who said they could well indicate unemployment had peaked. The highest unemployment rates continued to be found in West Virginia, Michigan and Alabama.

Brown's 'float' bill advances

SACRAMENTO — Assembly Speaker Willie Brown's bill to slash the bank "float," the interest-free Brown's bill to slash the bank "float," the interest-free use of depositors' funds, has won committee approval. The Assembly Finance, Insurance and Commerce Committee voted 10-0 to force the banks to give a customer credit for a deposited check within five days.

Currently, banks can put a "hold" on checks—often lasting two weeks or longer for those from out of town—to verify the funds allowing the banks force.

town - to verify the funds, allowing the banks free use of the money in the meantime.

"In years past, the practice of waiting 10 or 15 days or longer for a check to clear may have been necessary," Brown said. "But now . . . with the advent of instant interbank transfers, this waiting period is no longer necessary . . .

Oak Industries omits dividend

SAN DIEGO - Oak Industries' board of directors has voted to omit the regular quarterly dividend on common stock and Series C preferred stock. Normal dividends would have been 6 cents a quarter for common stock and 43% cents on the preferred. In a terse, three paragraph news release, the company said it would use the money saved for "operations directed at improving the company's profitability."

U.S. ties worry Lockheed

LOS ANGELES - Lockheed Corp. is worried that the aerospace firm is too reliant on Pentagon contracts, even though its strong military business has growing

"By the end of the 1980s, we'd like to be about 75 percent military and 25 percent commercial," Lockheed Chairman Roy A. Anderson said Tuesday after the Burbank-based company's annual meeting at the Sheraton Universal. Last year, military work accounted for 90 percent of the company's $5.6 billion in revenues, and Anderson said that was "a little too
